THE rapid advance of learning in recent years in the fields of history, archæology, and language has thrown new light upon every part of the Bible. At the same time our changing English speech has carried us farther and farther from the sixteenth-century diction in which all our standard versions of it are clothed.

Yet the great messages of the Old and New Testaments were never more necessary than in our present confused and hurried life. We have, therefore, sought to produce a new translation of them, based upon the assured results of modern study, and put in the familiar language of today. We do this in the hope that, through its use, the literary appreciation, the historical understanding, and the religious influence of the Bible may be furthered in our generation.

We cannot do better in introducing this American translation to the public than to repeat some sentences from the noble Preface of the King James Version of 1611, which was the third Authorized Version, and the sixth revision of the English Bible, and is itself now being revised for the seventh time:

“We are so farre off from condemning any of their labours that traueiled before vs in this kinde, either in this land or beyond sea that we acknowledge them to have beene raised vp of God, and that they deserue to be had of vs and of posteritie in everlasting remembrance. Therefore blessed be they, and most honoured be their name, that breake the yce and give the onset vpon that which helpeth forward to the saving of soules. Now what can bee more auailable thereto, than to deliuer Gods booke vnto Gods people in a tongue which they vnderstand?

“So, if we building vpon their foundation that went before vs, and being holpen by their labours, doe endeavour to make that better which they left so good; no man, we are sure, hath cause to mislike vs; they, we perswade ourselues, if they were aliue, would thanke vs.

“For is the kingdome of God become words or syllables? Why should wee be in bondage to them if we may be free. . . . ?”

PREFACE

Why should anyone make a new English translation of the Old Testament? With the Authorized Version of King James and the British and American revisions, to say nothing of unofficial renderings, have we not enough? This question may quite fairly be asked. The only possible basis for a satisfactory answer must be either in a better knowledge of Hebrew than was possible at the time when the earlier translations were made, or in a fuller appreciation of fundamental textual problems, or in a clearer recognition of poetic structures, or in such a change in our own language as would render the language of the older translations more or less unintelligible to the average man of our day. As a matter of fact, our answer is to be found in all of these areas.

The most urgent demand for a new translation comes from the field of Hebrew scholarship. The control of the Hebrew vocabulary and syntax available to the scholar of today is vastly greater than that at the command of the translators of the Authorized Version or of its revisers. This is due partly to the greater degree of scientific methodology now practiced in the study of language in general and of Hebrew in particular, and partly to the contributions made to our knowledge of Hebrew by the decipherment of the hieroglyphic and cuneiform writings. The first requirement of a translation is that it should reproduce as fully and accurately as possible the meaning of the original documents. To this end the translators should know the language of the original as well as it can be known.

Modern studies of textual problems reinforce the need for a new rendering. These have brought out more and more clearly the uncertain state of the Hebrew text and have perfected the technique of critical method. The science of textual criticism has made great progress in recent years, and no translation of the Old Testament can afford to ignore its results. Our guiding principle has been that the official Massoretic text must be adhered to as long as it made satisfactory sense. We have not tried to create a new text; but rather to translate the received text wherever translation was possible. Where departure from this text was imperative we have sought a substitute for it along generally approved lines, depending primarily upon the collateral versions, having recourse to scientific conjecture only when the versions failed to afford adequate help. The reader who wishes to check the translation from the point of view of its loyalty to the original will find the passages in which textual change has been made listed in the Appendix.¹ If the number of such passages seems to him unduly large, he should bear in mind certain facts. The oldest known Hebrew manuscript of the Old Testament dates from the ninth century A.D. This means that at least eighteen centuries elapsed between the earliest Hebrew written documents and our oldest manuscript; and that between the latest Hebrew document now found in the Old Testament and our oldest manuscript there was a lapse of approximately eleven centuries. Moreover, the original Hebrew text included only the consonants. The vowels were not added until about the seventh century A.D.² Naturally many more errors are found in the vocalic part of the text than in the much older consonantal element. In the list of changes to be found in the Appendix it may be noted that in a large measure the vowels only have been touched. A vowel change naturally involves a very much slighter correction than is involved in a change of consonants. Anyone who has had experience in handling ancient manuscripts will be surprised, not that there are so many corrupt passages, but rather that under the circumstances there are so few. We trust that our attitude in this fundamentally important matter will commend itself to careful and cautious scholars.

The last half-century has developed a great interest in the stylistic qualities of Hebrew poetry. Much of the text that had long passed for prose is now recognized as really poetic in both form and spirit. This adds to the necessity for a new translation. Poetry should not be printed as prose. The present translation brings into clear light many of the hidden beauties of Hebrew poetry. The text is printed in poetic lines as clearly indicated by the parallelism of the structure. In cases where the elegiac measure is employed in Hebrew, the text indicates it by a deep indentation of the second or short line. Where the content and the form both point to the presence of strophes the text has been printed in stanzas. Where such structure is not clearly shown, the poetic lines are left to follow one another without a break.

The English of King James's day is not wholly natural or clear to the average man at the present time. In common everyday speech "thou," "thee," and "thy" are no longer used; they have been retained here when they occur in language addressed to God, since they convey a more reverent feeling than the blunt "you." The endings "est" for the second person and "eth" for the third person singular of verbs are now archaic. The same holds true of "ye" for "you," "waxen" for "waxed," and "lade" for "load." The use of "vinegar" in the sense of a wine or liquor for drinking has long since ceased to be recognized. "To ear" in the sense of "to plow" or "to till" is obsolete; so are "marish" for "marsh," "scrabble" for "scratch," "in the audience of" for "in the hearing of," "all to" for "altogether," and many others like them. Time has wrought changes in the usage of words. The translators of the King James Version were casting no aspersion upon the character of womankind in general when they said, "Who can find a virtuous woman?" The word "virtuous" for them had its old force brought over from the Latin virtus. But today, when applied to woman, the word will almost inevitably be taken in a more specialized sense, and so be misunderstood. The same charge lies against "virtuously." The word "prevent" once meant "to anticipate," but is now used in the sense of "to hinder"; consequently its old usage in passages like Psalms 119:147 f. puzzles modern readers. Facts like these make the reading of the Bible a scholarly rather than a religious exercise, and clearly point toward the need of a new translation.

The translator to do his best work must be in sympathy with his subject matter and be able to put himself into mental and spiritual contact with its authors. From this side of his work the demand made upon him is a very heavy one. On the other hand, a translation should read well. It should be in a vocabulary and style appropriate to the thought which it is designed to express. If the original be dignified, impressive, and eloquent, those qualities must not be lacking in the translation; if it be trivial, commonplace, and prosaic, the translation must take on the same character. The content of the Old Testament is, with little exception, upon a high literary plane. The language of the translation, therefore, cannot be allowed to fall to the level of the street. In this translation the foregoing principles have been kept constantly in mind. It tries to be American in the sense that the writings of Lincoln, Roosevelt, and Wilson are American. This does not imply any limitation of our mother-tongue, but if anything an enrichment of it. Least of all does it mean that the translation is for Americans only; it aims at being easily understood wherever English is spoken. In general we have been loyal to the Hebrew in its use of symbolic and figurative language; occasionally where such figures would not be clear to the reader, we have translated the figure into more familiar terms.

One detail of the translation which requires explanation is the treatment of the divine name. As nearly as we can now tell, the Hebrews called their Deity by the name Yahweh, and in a shorter form, Yah, used in relatively few cases. In course of time they came to regard this name as too sacred for utterance. They therefore substituted for it the Hebrew word for "Lord." When vowels were added to the text, the consonants of "Yahweh" were given the vowels of "Lord." Somewhere in the fourteenth century A.D. Christian scholars, not understanding this usage, took the vowels and consonants exactly as they were written and produced the artificial name "Jehovah" which has persisted ever since. In this translation we have followed the orthodox Jewish tradition and substituted "the Lord" for the name "Yahweh" and the phrase "the Lord God" for the phrase "the Lord Yahweh." In all cases where "Lord" or "God" represents an original "Yahweh" small capitals are employed. Anyone, therefore, who desires to retain the flavor of the original text has but to read "Yahweh" wherever he sees LORD or GOD.

The translators and the University Press have sought to give this work the appearance of a modern book. This purpose has determined the make-up of the page and has led to the addition of headings for paragraphs, and to the insertion of some half-titles. It has also kept the verse numbers out of the text and relegated them to the margin, so that the reading of the text may not be interrupted.

The work of translation has been shared by four men: Professor Alex. R. Gordon, of the United Theological College and McGill University, Montreal; Professor Theophile J. Meek, of the University of Toronto; Professor Leroy Waterman, of the University of Michigan; and the Editor. Each of them carries the primary responsibility for his own work. The Editor has left his fellow-workers free to express themselves as they would, and has aimed at uniformity only in the most essential matters. If it be felt that each translator has his own style, this should not be regarded as a defect, for each document in the Old Testament has a style of its own, and the extent to which such stylistic characteristics are ignored by translators is a measure of their failure. Each book ought to speak its own message in its own way, even in a translation.

The Editor wishes to express his appreciation of the self-sacrificing labor of his fellow-translators, of their conscientious devotion to the work and of their prompt responsiveness to his few suggestions. Only by such faithful and hearty co-operation could our common task have attained any measure of success.

We are well aware that in undertaking the task of presenting the Old Testament to the modern world in its own speech we have undertaken the impossible. No translation can preserve intact the full content and the symmetrical beauty of the original; in the transition from the old language to the new, much must be lost by the way. We can but hope that we have not fallen too far short of the summit of perfection; and that our work may at least serve as a stepping-stone toward those greater translations which time will surely bring.

GENESIS, EXODUS, LEVITICUS, NUMBERS, AND DEUTERONOMY;
Translated by THEOPHILE J. MEEK

THE BOOK OF GENESIS

THE STORY OF CREATION, 1:1—2:3

- 12 When God began to create the heavens and the earth, the earth was a desolate waste, with darkness covering the abyss and a tempestuous
3 wind raging over the surface of the waters. Then God said, “Let there be light!”
- 4 And there was light; and God saw that the light was good. God
5 then separated the light from the darkness. God called the light day, and the darkness night. Evening came, and morning, the first day.
- 6 Then God said,
“Let there be a firmament in the middle of the waters to divide the waters in two!”
- 7 And so it was. God made the firmament, dividing the waters that 8 were below the firmament from those that were above it; and God called the firmament sky. Evening came, and morning, the second day.
- 9 Then God said,
“Let the waters below the sky be gathered into one place so that the dry land may appear!”
- 10 And so it was. God called the dry land earth, and the gathered waters seas. God saw that it was good.
- 11 Then God said,
“Let the earth produce vegetation, seed-bearing plants and the various kinds of fruit-trees that bear fruit containing their seed!”
- 12 And so it was. The earth brought forth vegetation, the various kinds of seed-bearing plants and the various kinds of trees that bear 13 fruit containing their seed. God saw that it was good. Evening came, and morning, the third day.
- 14 Then God said,
“Let there be luminaries in the firmament of the sky to separate day from night; let them serve as signs and as indicators of times, days, 15 and years; and let them serve as luminaries in the firmament of the sky to shed light on the earth!”
- 16 And so it was. God made the two great luminaries, the greater luminary to rule the day and the smaller one to rule the night—and 17 the stars also. God set them in the firmament of the sky to shed light
18 on the earth, to rule by day and by night, and to separate the light

19 from the darkness. God saw that it was good. Evening came, and morning, the fourth day.

20 Then God said,

“Let the waters teem with shoals of living creatures, and let birds fly over the earth across the firmament of the sky!”

21 And so it was. God created the great sea-monsters and all the various kinds of living, gliding creatures with which the waters teem, and all the various kinds of winged birds. God saw that it was good,

22 and God blessed them, saying,

“Be fruitful, multiply, and fill the waters in the seas; and let the birds multiply on the earth!”

23 Evening came, and morning, the fifth day.

24 Then God said,

“Let the earth bring forth the various kinds of living creatures, the various kinds of domestic animals, reptiles, and wild beasts!”

25 And so it was. God made the various kinds of wild beasts, the various kinds of domestic animals, and all the various kinds of land reptiles; and God saw that it was good.

26 Then God said,

“Let us make man in our image, after our likeness, and let him have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the domestic animals, the wild beasts, and all the land reptiles!”

27 So God created man in his own image; in the image of God he created him; he created both male and female. Then God blessed them, and God said to them,

“Be fruitful, multiply, fill the earth, and subdue it; have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the domestic animals, and all the living things that crawl on the earth!”

29 Further, God said,

“See, I give you all the seed-bearing plants that are found all over the earth, and all the trees which have seed-bearing fruit; it shall be yours to eat. To all the wild beasts of the earth, to all the birds of the air, and to all the land reptiles, in which there is a living spirit, I give all the green plants for food.”

31 And so it was. God saw that all that he had made was very good. Evening came, and morning, the sixth day.

2 Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all their host.

2 On the seventh day God brought his work to an end on which he had been engaged, desisting on the seventh day from all the work in which he had been engaged. So God blessed the seventh day, and consecrated it, because on it he had desisted from all his work, in doing which God had brought about creation.

THE CREATION AND FALL OF MAN, 2:4—3:24

4 The following are the origins of the heavens and the earth in their creation.

At the time when the LORD God made the earth and the heavens, 5 there were as yet no field shrubs on the earth, and no field plants had as yet sprung up; for the LORD God had sent no rain on the earth, and 6 there was no man to till the soil—although a mist used to rise from 7 the earth and water all the surface of the ground. Then the LORD God molded man out of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his 8 nostrils the breath of life, so that man became a living being. Then the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, to the east, and put there the 9 man whom he had molded. Out of the ground the LORD God made all sorts of trees grow that were pleasant to the sight and good for food, as well as the tree of life in the middle of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

10 There was a river flowing out of Eden to water the garden, and 11 leaving there it divided into four branches; the name of the first being Pishon (the one which encircles all the land of Havilah, where 12 there is gold—the gold of that land is fine—and bdellium and onyx 13 stone); the name of the second river, Gihon (the one which encircles 14 all the land of Cush); the name of the third river, the Tigris (the one which flows east of Ashur); and the name of the fourth river, the Euphrates.

15 The LORD God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden 16 to till it and look after it; and the LORD God laid this command upon the man:

17 “From any tree in the garden you are free to eat; but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you must not eat; for the day that you eat of it you shall certainly die.”

18 Then the LORD God said,

“It is not good for the man to be alone; I must make a helper for him who is like him.”

19 So the LORD God molded out of the ground all the wild beasts and all the birds of the air, and brought them to the man to see what he would call them; whatever the man called each living creature, that 20 was its name. So the man gave names to all the domestic animals, the birds of the air, and all the wild beasts; but for man himself no helper

21 was found who was like him. Then the LORD God had a trance fall upon the man; and when he had gone to sleep, he took one of his ribs, 22 closing up its place with flesh. The rib which he took from the man 23 the LORD God built up into a woman, and brought her to the man, whereupon the man said,

“This at last is bone of my bone,
And flesh of my flesh;
She shall be called woman,
For from man was she taken.”

24 (That is why a man leaves his father and mother, and clings to his wife, so that they form one flesh.)

25 Both of them were naked, the man and his wife, but they felt no shame.

3 Now the serpent was the most clever of all the wild beasts that the LORD God had made.

“And so God has said that you are not to eat from any tree in the garden?” he said to the woman.

2 “From the fruit of the trees in the garden we may eat,” the woman 3 said to the serpent; “it is only concerning the fruit of the tree which is in the middle of the garden that God has said, ‘You may not eat any of it, nor touch it, lest you die.’”

4 But the serpent said to the woman,

5 “You would not die at all; for God knows that the very day you eat of it, your eyes will be opened, and you will be like gods who know good from evil.”

6 So when the woman realized that the tree was good for food and attractive to the eye, and further, that the tree was desirable for its gift of wisdom, she took some of its fruit, and ate it; she also gave some to 7 her husband with her, and he ate. Then the eyes of both of them were opened, and they realized that they were naked; so they sewed fig- 8 leaves together, and made themselves girdles. But when they heard the sound of the LORD God taking a walk in the garden for the breezes of the day, the man and his wife hid themselves from the LORD God 9 among the trees in the garden. The LORD God called to the man.

“Where are you?” he said to him.

10 “I heard the sound of you in the garden,” he replied, “and I was afraid, because I was naked; so I hid myself.”

11 “Who told you that you were naked?” he said. “Have you eaten from the tree from which I commanded you not to eat?”

- 12 The man said,
"The woman whom you set at my side, it was she who gave me fruit from the tree; so I ate it."
- 13 Then the LORD God said to the woman,
"What ever have you done?"
The woman said,
"It was the serpent that misled me, and so I ate it."
- 14 So the LORD God said to the serpent,
"Because you have done this,
The most cursed of all animals shall you be,
And of all wild beasts.
On your belly you shall crawl, and eat dust,
As long as you live.
- 15 I will put enmity between you and the woman,
And between your posterity and hers;
They shall attack you in the head,
And you shall attack them in the heel."
- 16 To the woman he said,
"I will make your pain at child-birth very great;
In pain shall you bear children;
And yet you shall be devoted to your husband,
While he shall rule over you."
- 17 And to the man he said,
"Because you followed your wife's suggestions, and ate from the tree from which I commanded you not to eat,
Cursed shall be the ground through you,
In suffering shall you gain your living from it as long as you live;
- 18 Thorns and thistles shall it produce for you,
So that you will have to eat wild plants.
- 19 By the sweat of your brow shall you earn your living,
Until you return to the ground,
Since it was from it that you were taken;
For dust you are,
And to dust you must return."
- 20 The man called his wife's name Eve [mother], because she was the mother of all living beings.
- 21 The LORD God made skin tunics for the man and his wife, and clothed them.
- 22 Then the LORD God said,
"See, the man has become like one of us, in knowing good from evil; and now, suppose he were to reach out his hand and take the fruit of the tree of life also, and eating it, live forever!"

- 23 So the LORD God expelled him from the garden of Eden, to till 24 the ground from which he had been taken; he drove the man out, and stationed the cherubs east of the garden of Eden, with the flaming, whirling sword to guard the way to the tree of life.

THE EARLY DESCENDANTS OF ADAM, 4:1—5:32

- 4 The man had intercourse with his wife Eve; so she conceived and bore Cain. Then she said,

"I have won back my husband; the LORD is with me!"

- 2 Later she bore his brother, Abel. Abel was a shepherd, while Cain was a farmer.

- 3 In the course of time Cain brought some produce of the soil as an 4 offering to the LORD, while Abel on his part brought some firstlings from his flock, that is, some fat pieces from them. The LORD took 5 notice of Abel and his offering; but of Cain and his offering he took 6 no notice. So Cain became very angry and downcast. Then the LORD said to Cain,

- 7 "Why are you angry, and why are you downcast? If you have been doing right, should you not be happy? But if you have not, sin will be lurking at the door. And yet he is devoted to you, while you rule over him."

- 8 Then Cain said to his brother Abel,

"Let us go off into the country."

When they were out in the country, Cain attacked his brother Abel, and murdered him.

- 9 Then the LORD said to Cain,

"Where is your brother Abel?"

"I do not know," he said. "Am I my brother's keeper?"

- 10 Whereupon he said,

- "What have you done? Hark, your brother's blood is crying to me 11 from the ground! And now, cursed shall you be in banishment from the soil which has opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood 12 from your hand. Though you were to till the soil, never again would it yield you its full produce; a vagrant and a vagabond shall you be on the earth."

- 13 Cain said to the LORD,

- 14 "My punishment is too great to bear. Seeing that thou hast today driven me off the soil, I must remain hidden from thee; I must be a vagrant and a vagabond in the earth, and then anyone who comes across me will kill me.”

15 So the LORD said to him,

“In that case, sevenfold vengeance shall be taken on anyone who kills Cain.”

Then the LORD prescribed a mark for Cain, to prevent anyone who came across him from hurting him. So Cain left the presence of the LORD, and settled in the land of Nod, east of Eden.

17 Cain had intercourse with his wife; so she conceived and bore Enoch. Then he became the builder of a city, and named the city after his son, Enoch. To Enoch was born Irad; and Irad was the father of Mehujael. Mehujael was the father of Methushael, and Methushael of Lamech. Lamech married two wives, the name of one being Adah, and the name of the other Zillah. Adah bore Jabal, who was the ancestor of those who live in tents as shepherds; his brother's name was Jubal, who was the ancestor of all who play the lyre and pipe. Zillah in turn bore Tubal-cain, the forger of bronze and iron utensils; and the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

23 Lamech said to his wives,

“Adah and Zillah, hear my voice,

You wives of Lamech, give ear to my words:

I kill a man for wounding me,

And a boy for striking me.

24 If Cain is to be avenged sevenfold,

Then Lamech seventy and sevenfold!”

25 Adam again had intercourse with his wife, who bore a son, and called his name Seth, saying,

“God has given me another child in place of Abel; since Cain slew him.”

26 Seth in turn had a son born to him, and called his name Enosh. It was then that men began to call upon the name of the LORD.

5 The following is the list of Adam's descendants.

When God created man, it was in the likeness of God that he made him; both male and female he created; he blessed them, and at the time of their creation he called them man.

3 After living one hundred and thirty years Adam had a child born to him in his own likeness, resembling himself, and he called his name 4 Seth. Adam lived eight hundred years after the birth of Seth, and 5 was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Adam lived altogether nine hundred and thirty years; and then he died.

6 After living one hundred and five years Seth became the father of 7 Enosh; Seth lived eight hundred and seven years after the birth of 8 Enosh, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Seth lived altogether nine hundred and twelve years; and then he died.

9 After living ninety years Enosh became the father of Kenan;
10 Enosh lived eight hundred and fifteen years after the birth of Kenan, 11 and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Enosh lived altogether nine hundred and five years; and then he died.

12 After living seventy years Kenan became the father of Mahalalel;
13 Kenan lived eight hundred and forty years after the birth of Maha-14 lalel, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Kenan lived altogether nine hundred and ten years; and then he died.

15 After living sixty-five years Mahalalel became the father of Jared; 16 Mahalalel lived eight hundred and thirty years after the birth of 17 Jared, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Maha-lalel lived altogether eight hundred and ninety-five years; and then he died.

18 After living one hundred and sixty-two years Jared became the 19 father of Enoch; Jared lived eight hundred years after the birth of 20 Enoch, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Jared lived altogether nine hundred and sixty-two years; and then he died.

21 After living sixty-five years Enoch became the father of Methuse-
22 lah; Enoch walked with God for three hundred years after the birth 23 of Methuselah, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus 24 Enoch lived altogether three hundred and sixty-five years. Enoch walked with God, and then he disappeared; for God took him away.

25 After living one hundred and eighty-seven years Methuselah be-26 came the father of Lamech; Methuselah lived seven hundred and eighty-two years after the birth of Lamech, and was the father of 27 other sons and daughters. Thus Methuselah lived altogether nine hundred and sixty-nine years; and then he died.

28 After living one hundred and eighty-two years Lamech had a son
29 born to him, and called his name Noah, saying,

“This is the one, after our work and the labor of our hands, to bring us consolation from the very soil which the LORD cursed.”

30 Lamech lived five hundred and ninety-five years after the birth of 31 Noah, and was the father of other sons and daughters. Thus Lamech lived altogether seven hundred and seventy-seven years; and then he died.

12 After Noah had become five hundred years old, he became the father of Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

THE ORIGIN OF THE GIANTS, 6:1-4

6 Presently when men began to grow numerous over the earth, and 2 had daughters born to them, the gods noticed that the daughters of 3 men were attractive; so they married those whom they liked best.
 Then the LORD said,

“My spirit must not remain in man forever, inasmuch as he is flesh. Accordingly, his lifetime shall be one hundred and twenty years.”

4 In those days, as well as afterwards, there were giants in the earth, who were born to the gods whenever they had intercourse with the daughters of men; these were the heroes who were men of note in days of old.

THE STORY OF THE FLOOD, 6:5—9:17

5 When the LORD saw that the wickedness of man on the earth was great, and that the whole bent of his thinking was never anything
 6 but evil, the LORD regretted that he had ever made man on the earth,
 7 and he was grieved to the heart. So the LORD said,

“I will blot the men that I have created off the face of the ground, both men and animals, reptiles, and birds of the air; for I regret that I ever made them.”

8 Noah, however, had found favor with the LORD.

9 The following are the descendants of Noah. Noah alone among his contemporaries was a pious and exceedingly good man; Noah
 10 walked with God. Noah had three sons born to him, Shem, Ham, 11 and Japheth. Now in God's sight, the earth was corrupt; the earth 12 was full of wrong-doing; God saw that the earth was corrupt; for 13 every mortal on the earth had corrupted his life. So God said to Noah,

“I have resolved on the extermination of all mortals; for the earth is full of wrong-doing through them; I am going to exterminate
 14 them from the earth. Make yourself an ark of oleander wood; make 15 the ark with cabins, and smear it with bitumen inside and out. This is how you are to make it: the length of the ark is to be three hundred
 16 cubits, its breadth fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits; you are to make a roof for the ark, finishing it off on top to the width of a cubit; and the doorway of the ark you are to put in its side; you are to make

¹⁷ it with lower, second, and third decks. I on my part am about to bring a flood upon the earth, to destroy every mortal from under the heavens, who has the breath of life in him; everything that is on the earth shall perish. But with you I will make a covenant; you shall enter the ark, accompanied by your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives. Also, of all living creatures, of all animals, you must have two of every kind enter the ark, to keep them alive with you; they are to be a male and a female. Of the various kinds of birds, the various kinds of animals, and all the various kinds of reptiles, two of every kind are to join you, that you may keep them alive. Take also some of every kind of edible food, and store it by you, to be food for yourself and them."

⁷ The LORD said to Noah,

"Enter the ark, with all your household; for you alone of the present age have I found righteous. Of all clean-animals, you are to take seven pairs, a male with its mate; but of the animals that are not clean a pair, a male with its mate; likewise, of the birds of the air seven pairs, a male and a female—to keep their kind alive all over the earth. For in seven days' time I am going to make it rain for forty days and nights on the earth, to blot off the face of the earth every living thing that I have made."

⁵ Noah did just as God had commanded him.

¹¹ In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, on the seventeenth day of the second month, on that very day the fountains of the great abyss were all broken open, and the windows of the heavens were opened. ¹² (The rain fell on the earth for forty days and nights.) ¹³ That same day Noah, with Shem, Ham, and Japheth, Noah's sons, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons accompanying them, went into the ark, together with all the various kinds of wild beasts, all the various kinds of domestic animals, all the various kinds of land reptiles, and all the various kinds of birds, everything with feathers and wings; ¹⁵ of all creatures in which there was the breath of life, a pair of each

¹⁷ The flood continued for forty days upon the earth. The waters ¹⁸ mounted, and lifted the ark so that it rose above the earth. The waters rose and increased greatly on the earth, so that the ark floated ¹⁹ on the surface of the waters. The waters rose higher and higher on the earth, until the highest mountains everywhere under the heavens ²⁰ were all covered. Fifteen cubits above them the waters rose, so that ²¹ the mountains were covered. Every creature that moved on the earth perished, including birds, domestic animals, wild beasts, all the land ²² reptiles, and all mankind. Of all that was on the land, everything in ²³ whose nostrils was the breath of life died; every living thing was blotted off the face of the earth, both men and animals and reptiles and birds; they were blotted off the earth, so that Noah alone was ²⁴ left, and those that were with him in the ark. The waters rose on the earth for one hundred and fifty days.

8 Then God remembered Noah, and all the wild and domestic animals that were with him in the ark; so God made a wind blow over ² the earth, and the waters subsided. Likewise, the fountains of the abyss and the windows of the heavens were closed. The rain from ³ the heavens ceased, and the waters abated steadily from the earth. At ⁴ the end of one hundred and fifty days the waters subsided, so that on the seventeenth day of the seventh month the ark grounded on the ⁵ mountains of Ararat. The waters subsided steadily until the tenth month; and on the first day of the tenth month the tops of the mountains became visible.

⁶ At the end of forty days Noah opened the window that he had ⁷ made in the ark, and released a raven, which went flying back and ⁸ forth until the waters had dried off the earth. Then he released a dove, to see whether the waters had subsided from the surface of the ⁹ land; but the dove could find no resting-place for the sole of her foot, so she came back to him into the ark; for there was water all over the earth. He put out his hand, and catching her, drew her into the ark ¹⁰ with him. After waiting another seven days, he again released the ¹¹ dove from the ark; in the evening the dove came back to him, and there, in her beak, was a freshly picked olive leaf! So Noah knew ¹² that the waters had subsided off the earth. After waiting another seven ¹³ days, he released the dove, but she never came back to him. By the first day of the first month of the six hundred and first year of Noah's life the waters had dried off the earth. So Noah removed the covering of the ark to look out, and found that the surface of the ground was 14 quite dry. By the twenty-seventh day of the second month the earth was dry.

15 Then God said to Noah,

16 "Come out of the ark, your wife, your sons, and your sons' wives 17 accompanying you; bring out with you every animal of every sort that is with you, birds, quadrupeds, and all land reptiles, that they may breed freely on the earth, and be fruitful and multiply on the earth."

18 So Noah came out, his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives accom-19 panying him. Every animal, every reptile, and every bird, everything that moves on the earth came out of the ark by their species.

20 Then Noah built an altar to the LORD, and taking some clean animals and birds of every kind, he offered them as burnt-offerings on 21 the altar. When the LORD smelled the soothing odor, the LORD said to himself,

"I will never again curse the soil because of man, though the bent of man's mind may be evil from his very youth; nor will I ever again 22 destroy all life, as I have just done. As long as the earth endures, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall never cease."

9 God blessed Noah and his sons, and said to them,

2 "Be fruitful, multiply, and fill the earth. The fear and dread of you shall be on every beast of the earth and on every bird of the air; as in the case of all the reptiles on the ground and all the fish of the 3 sea, they have been delivered into your power. Everything that moves, that is alive, is to be food for you; as I once gave you the green plants, 4 I now give you everything. Only, you must never eat flesh with the 5 life (that is, the blood) in it. For your own life-blood, however, I will require an account; I will hold every animal accountable for it, 6 and I will hold men accountable for one another's lives; whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed; for God made 7 man in his own image. As for you then, be fruitful, and multiply; be prolific in the earth and multiply in it."

8 God then said to Noah and to his sons with him,

9 "As for me, I do hereby establish my covenant with you and your 10 descendants, and with every living creature that is with you, the birds, the domestic animals, and all the wild beasts with you, as many of 11 them as came out of the ark; I establish my covenant with you, that never again shall all flesh be destroyed by the waters of a flood, and never again shall there be a flood to ravage the earth."

12 Further, God said,

"This shall be the symbol of the covenant which I am making between myself and you and every living creature that is with you, to 13 endless generations: I will put my rainbow in the clouds, and it shall 14 be a symbol of the covenant between myself and the world. Whenever I bring clouds over the earth, the rainbow will appear in the 15 clouds, and then I will remember my covenant, which obtains between myself and you and every living creature of every sort, and the waters
16 shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh. When the rainbow appears in the clouds, I will see it, and remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of every sort that is on the earth."

17 God said to Noah,

"This shall be the symbol of the covenant which I am making between myself and all flesh that is on the earth."

THE CURSE OF CANAAN, 9:18-29

18 The sons of Noah who came out of the ark were Shem, Ham, and 19 Japheth; and Ham was the father of Canaan. These three were the 20 sons of Noah, and from them sprang the whole world. Now Noah 21 was the first farmer to plant a vineyard. Having drunk some of the 22 wine, he became intoxicated, and lay uncovered in his tent. When Ham, the father of Canaan, saw his father lying naked, he told his 23 two brothers outside; whereupon Shem and Japheth took a robe, which they put on their shoulders, and walking backward, they covered up their father's nakedness, their faces being turned away so that 24 they could not see their father's nakedness. When Noah awoke from 25 his wine, and learned what his youngest son had done to him, he said,

"Cursed be Canaan!

The meanest of slaves shall he be to his brothers."

26 Also he said,

"Blessed of the LORD my God may Shem be;

And let Canaan be his slave!

27 May God expand Japheth, and dwell in the tents of Shem;

But let Canaan be his slave!"

28 Noah lived three hundred and fifty years after the flood; thus Noah 29 lived altogether nine hundred and fifty years, and then he died.

THE TABLE OF NATIONS, 10:1-32

- 10 The following are the descendants of Noah's sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, who were born to them after the flood.
- 2 The descendants of Japheth were Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, 3 Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. The descendants of Gomer were Ash- 4 kenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah. The descendants of Javan were 5 Elishah, Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. It was from these that the islands of the nations were populated, country by country, each with its respective language, according to the various clans, nation by nation.
- 6 The descendants of Ham were Cush, Egypt, Put, and Canaan. The descendants of Cush were Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and 7 Sabteca. The descendants of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan. Cush was the father of Nimrod, who was the first person on the earth to be 9 a despot. He was a mighty hunter in the sight of the LORD; hence the saying, "As mighty a hunter in the sight of the LORD as Nimrod."
- 10 The nucleus of his kingdom was Babylon, Erech, Accad, and Calneh 11 in the land of Shinar; from that region he pushed out into Assyria, 12 and built Nineveh, Rehoboth-ir, Calah, and Resen, the large city 13 lying between Nineveh and Calah. Egypt was the father of Ludim, 14 Anamim, Lehabim, Naphtuhim, Pathrusim, Casluhim, and Caphto- 15 rim, from whom the Philistines sprang. Canaan was the father of 16 Sidon, his first-born, and then of Heth—also the Jebusites, the Amo- 17 rites, the Girgashites, the Hivvites, the Arkites, the Sinites, the Arva- 18 dites, the Zemarites, and the Hamathites. Later the Canaanite clans 19 scattered, until the territory of the Canaanites extended from Sidon in the direction of Gerar, as far as Gaza, and in the direction of 20 Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zchoiim, as far as Lasha. These were the descendants of Ham, by clans and languages, country by country, nation by nation.
- 21 Children were also born to Shem, the ancestor of all the Hebrews, 22 and the older brother of Japheth. The sons of Shem were Elam, 23 Assyria, Arpachshad, Lud, and Aram. The sons of Aram were Uz, 24 Hul, Gether, and Mash. Arpachshad was the father of Shelah, and 25 Shelah of Eber. To Eber were born two sons, the name of the one being Peleg [division] (for in his time the world was divided), and the 26 name of his brother Joktan. Joktan was the father of Almodad, She- 27 leph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, Obal, Abima- 28 el, Sheba, Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab—all these were sons of Joktan, 29 and the region inhabited by them extended from Mesha in the direc- 30 tion of Sephar, to the mountains of the East. These were the descend- 31 ants of Shem, by clans and languages, country by country, nation by nation.

- 32 These were the clans descended from Noah, arranged according to their descendants by nationalities; and from these the nations of the earth were populated after the flood.

THE TOWER OF BABEL, 11:1-9

- 11 Now the whole earth used only one language, with few words.

2 On the occasion of a migration from the east, men discovered a plain
3 in the land of Shinar, and settled there. Then they said to one another,

“Come, let us make bricks, burning them well.”

- 4 So they used bricks for stone, and bitumen for mortar. Then they said,

“Come, let us build ourselves a city with a tower whose top shall reach the heavens (thus making a name for ourselves), so that we may not be scattered all over the earth.”

- 5 Then the LORD came down to look at the city and tower which 6 human beings had built. The LORD said,

“They are just one people, and they all have the same language. If this is what they can do as a beginning, then nothing that they resolve to do will be impossible for them. Come, let us go down, and there make such a babble of their language that they will not understand one another’s speech.”

- 8 Thus the LORD dispersed them from there all over the earth, so 9 that they had to stop building the city. That was why its name was called Babel, because it was there that the LORD made a babble of the language of the whole earth, and it was from there that the LORD dispersed them all over the earth.

THE DESCENDANTS OF SHEM, 11:10-26

- 10 The following are the descendants of Shem.

When Shem was one hundred years old, he became the father of 11 Arpachshad, two years after the flood. Shem lived five hundred years after the birth of Arpachshad, and was the father of other sons and daughters.

- 12 After living thirty-five years Arpachshad became the father of 13 Shelah. Arpachshad lived four hundred and three years after the birth of Shelah, and was the father of other sons and daughters.

- 14 After living thirty years Shelah became the father of Eber.

- ¹⁵ Shelah lived four hundred and three years after the birth of Eber, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ¹⁶ After living thirty-four years Eber became the father of Peleg.
- ¹⁷ Eber lived four hundred and thirty years after the birth of Peleg, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ¹⁸ After living thirty years Peleg became the father of Reu. Peleg
- ¹⁹ lived two hundred and nine years after the birth of Reu, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ²⁰ After living thirty-two years Reu became the father of Serug.
- ²¹ Reu lived two hundred and seven years after the birth of Serug, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ²² After living thirty years Serug became the father of Nahor.
- ²³ Serug lived two hundred years after the birth of Nahor, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ²⁴ After living twenty-nine years Nahor became the father of Terah.
- ²⁵ Nahor lived one hundred and nineteen years after the birth of Terah, and was the father of other sons and daughters.
- ²⁶ After living seventy years Terah became the father of Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

THE DESCENDANTS OF TERAH, 11:27-32

- ²⁷ The following are the descendants of Terah.
- Terah was the father of Abram, Nahor, and Haran, and Haran of
- ²⁸ Lot. Haran died during the lifetime of his father Terah in the land
- ²⁹ of his birth, the Chaldean city of Ur. Abram and Nahor both married, the name of Abram's wife being Sarai, and that of Nahor's Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah and Jiscah.
- ³⁰ Sarai was barren; she had no children.
- ³¹ Terah took his son Abram, his grandson Lot, the son of Haran, and his daughter-in-law Sarai, the wife of his son Abram, and emigrated with them from the Chaldean city of Ur, to go to the land of
- ³² Canaan. But when they reached Haran, they settled there. The lifetime of Terah was two hundred and five years; then Terah died in Haran.

THE STORY OF ABRAHAM, 12:1—25:18

- 12 The LORD said to Abram,
- “Leave your land, your relatives, and your father's home, for the
- ² land that I will show you; and I will make a great nation of you; I will bless you, and make your name so great that it will be used for

3 blessings. I will bless those who bless you, and anyone who curses you I will curse; through you shall all the families of the earth invoke blessings on one another."

4 So Abram departed, as the LORD had told him, and Lot went with 5 him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he left Haran. Abram took his wife Sarai and his nephew Lot, with all the property that they had accumulated, and the persons that they had acquired in Haran, and they started out for the land of Canaan; and to the land of Canaan they came.

6 Abram travelled through the land as far as the sanctuary of Shechem at the terebinth of Moreh, the Canaanites being then in the 7 land. Then the LORD appeared to Abram, and said,

"To your descendants I am going to give this land."

So he built an altar there to the LORD, who had appeared to him.

8 From there he moved on to the hills east of Bethel, and pitched his tent, with Bethel on the west and Ai on the east. There he built an 9 altar to the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD. Then Abram set out, continuing on his way to the Negeb.

10 Now there came a famine in the land; and because the famine was so severe in the land, Abram went down to Egypt to reside there.

11 When he was on the point of entering Egypt, he said to his wife Sarai, 12 "See now, I know that you are such a beautiful woman, that when the Egyptians see you, they will say, 'This is his wife,' and then they 13 will kill me in order to keep you. Please say that you are my sister, so that I may be well treated for your sake, and my life spared through you."

14 When Abram arrived in Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the wom-
15 an was very beautiful. Pharaoh's courtiers also saw her, and praised 16 her so highly to Pharaoh that the woman was taken into Pharaoh's household. Abram, too, was well treated for her sake, and was the recipient of sheep, cattle, he-asses, male and female slaves, she-asses, and camels.

17 The LORD, however, struck Pharaoh and his household with severe 18 diseases because of Abram's wife, Sarai. So Pharaoh summoned Abram, and said,

"What a way for you to treat me! Why did you not tell me that 19 she was your wife? Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' and let me marry her? Well, there is your wife; take her and begone!"

20 Then Pharaoh ordered an escort for him, to see him off, with his wife and all that belonged to him.

- 13 So Abram went up from Egypt to the Negeb, accompanied by his 2 wife and all that belonged to him, and Lot. Abram was now very 3 rich in cattle, silver, and gold. From the Negeb he journeyed by stages as far as Bethel, to the place where his tent had previously been, 4 between Bethel and Ai, to the site of the altar which he had previously erected there, and where he had called upon the name of the LORD.
- 5 Lot, who accompanied Abram, also had flocks and herds, as well
6 as tents. The land could not support them both; for their possessions
7 were so great that they could not live together. Trouble arose accordingly between the herdsmen of Abram's stock and those of Lot's.
(The Canaanites and Perizzites were living in the land at that time.)
- 8 "There simply must be no quarrel between you and me," Abram said to Lot, "nor between your herdsmen and mine; for we are kins-9 men. The whole land is open to you, is it not? Please part from me then. If you go to the left, I will go to the right; or if you go to the right, I will go to the left."
- 10 Then Lot looked out, and saw that the whole basin of the Jordan was well watered everywhere (this was before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah) like the LORD's own garden, like the land of 11 Egypt in the vicinity of Zoar. So Lot chose the whole Jordan basin.
12 Lot set off eastward, and thus they parted from each other. Abram settled in the land of Canaan, while Lot settled in the cities of the 13 basin, extending his tents as far as Sodom. (Now the men of Sodom were wicked, being great sinners against the LORD.)
- 14 After Lot had parted from him, the LORD said to Abram,
"Raise your eyes now, and look out from the place where you are,
15 north, south, east, and west; for all the land that you see, I am going 16 to give to you and your descendants for all time. I am going to make your descendants like the dust of the earth, so that it will be as possible 17 to count the dust of the earth as to count your descendants. Go and travel the length and breadth of the land; for I am giving it to you."
- 18 So Abram moved his tent, and went to live beside the terebinth of Mamre at Hebron, where he built an altar to the LORD.
- 14 It was in the time of Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arioch, king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer, king of Elam, and Tidal, king of Goiim, 2 that war was made by them with Bera, king of Sodom, Birsha, king of Gomorrah, Shinab, king of Admah, Shemeber, king of Zeboiim, and 3 the king of Bela (that is, Zoar), all of whom had gathered in alliance

4 at the valley of Siddim (that is, the Salt Sea). For twelve years they had been subject to Chedorlaomer, but in the thirteenth year they re-5 volted. So in the fourteenth year there came Chedorlaomer and his confederate kings. They crushed the Rephaim at Ashteroth and Kar-naim, then the Zuzim at Ham, the Emim at Shaveh and Kirjathaim, 6 and the Horites in the highlands of Seir, penetrating as far as El-
 7 paran, which is close to the desert. Retracing their steps, they reached En-mishpat (that is, Kadesh), and ravaged all the country of the Amalekites, and likewise that of the Amorites who were living at 8 Hazazon-tamar. Thereupon the king of Sodom marched forth, along with the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar). They drew up in battle array 9 against them in the valley of Siddim, against Chedorlaomer, king of Elam, Tidal, king of Goiim, Amraphel, king of Shinar, and Arioch, 10 king of Ellasar—four kings against the five. The valley of Siddim was so full of bitumen wells that on the flight of the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah some fell into them, but the survivors fled to the hills.
 11 The victors captured all the goods and provisions of Sodom and 12 Gomorrah, and then made off. They also carried off Lot, the nephew of Abram, and his goods, since he was living in Sodom.

13 A fugitive came and told Abram, the Hebrew, who was living beside the terebinth of Mamre, the Amorite, a kinsman of Eshcol and 14 Aner, who were allies of Abram. When Abram heard that his kinsman had been taken prisoner, he called out his retainers, his household slaves, to the number of three hundred and eighteen, and went in pur-15 suit as far as Dan. With his slaves he fell upon them at night, and defeated them. After pursuing them as far as Hobah, which is north 16 of Damascus, he recovered all the goods; he also recovered his kinsman Lot and his goods, together with the women and the rest of the people.

17 On his return from the defeat of Chedorlaomer and his confederate kings, the king of Sodom came out to the valley of Shaveh (that is, 18 the king's valley) to meet him, while Melchizedek, king of Salem, 19 brought out bread and wine, and as priest of God Most High, blessed him, saying,

“Blessed be Abram by God Most High,
 The creator of the heavens and the earth!

20 And blessed be God Most High,
 Who delivered your foes into your power!”

Thereupon he gave him a portion of everything.

- 21 The king of Sodom said to Abram,
“Give me the people, but keep the goods yourself.”
- 22 But Abram said to the king of Sodom,
“I have sworn by uplifted hand to the LORD, God Most High, the 23 creator of the heavens and the earth, that I would not take anything that belongs to you, not even so much as a thread or a sandal-lace, lest 24 you should say, ‘It was I who made Abram rich.’ Apart from what my servants have eaten, let the men who accompanied me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre, take their share.”
- 15 After these events the word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision,
“Do not be afraid, Abram; I am your shield; your reward shall be very great.”
- 2 But Abram said,
“O Lord GOD, what canst thou give me, seeing that I am childless, and that my heir is a Damascene, Eliezer.”
- 3 “Since you have given me no posterity, my-household slave will be my heir,” said Abram.
- 4 But there came to him this message from the LORD, “No such person is to be your heir, but one born of your own body is to be your heir.”
- 5 Then he took him outside, and said, “Now look at the sky, and count the stars if you can.” “So shall be your descendants,” he said to him.
- 6 And he trusted the LORD, who counted it to his credit, and said
7 to him,
“I am the LORD, who brought you out of the Chaldean city of Ur to give you possession of this land.”
- 8 But he said,
“O Lord GOD, how am I to know that I shall possess it?”
- 9 So he said to him,
“Procure a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old she-goat, a three-year-old he-goat, a dove, and a young pigeon.”
- 10 Procuring all these, he cut them in two—but not the birds—and 11 placed the pieces opposite each other. The birds of prey swooped down 12 on the carcasses, but Abram drove them off. Then, as the sun was going down, a trance fell on Abram; indeed a great and awful gloom 13 fell upon him. Then the LORD said to Abram, “Know of a surety that your descendants shall be immigrants in a land not their own, where they shall be slaves, and be oppressed for 14 four hundred years; but I will in turn bring judgment upon the nation that made slaves of them, after which they shall escape with 15 great wealth. (As for yourself, you shall join your fathers in peace, 16 and be buried at a ripe old age.) It will only be in the fourth generation, however, that they will return here; for the guilt of the Amorites is not yet complete.”

17 When the sun had set and it was quite dark, there appeared a smoking fire-pot and a blazing torch that passed between the pieces.
 18 That day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying,

“To your descendants I give this land, from the River of Egypt
 19 as far as the Great River, the river Euphrates—that of the Kenites, 20 Kenizzites, Kadmonites, Hittites, Perizzites, Rephaim, Amorites, 21 Canaanites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.”

16 Abram's wife Sarai had borne him no children, but she had an
 2 Egyptian maid whose name was Hagar. So Sarai said to Abram,

“Seeing now that the LORD has prevented me from having children, suppose you marry my maid; I might perhaps build up a family through her.”

3 Abram agreed to the suggestion of Sarai; so Abram's wife Sarai took Hagar, her Egyptian maid (it was after Abram had been living in the land of Canaan for ten years), and gave her in marriage to her
 4 husband Abram. He had intercourse with Hagar, and she conceived. When she found that she had conceived, she looked with disdain upon
 5 her mistress. So Sarai said to Abram,

“May the wrong done me fall on you! It was I who put my maid in your arms, but when she found that she had conceived, she looked with disdain upon me. May the LORD judge between you and me!”

6 “Your maid is in your power,” Abram said to Sarai; “do what you like with her.”

Then Sarai treated her so cruelly that she ran away from her.
 7 But the angel of the LORD came upon her beside a spring in the desert
 8 (the spring on the road to Shur), and said,

“Hagar, maid of Sarai, where have you come from, and where are you going?”

“I am running away from my mistress Sarai,” she said.

9 The angel of the LORD said to her,

“Return to your mistress, and submit to her authority.”

10 Further, the angel of the LORD said to her,

“I will make your descendants so numerous that they will be too many to count.”

- 11 The angel of the LORD also said to her,
“You are with child, and are going to bear a son; you are to call his name Ishmael [God hears], because the LORD has heard of your ill-
- 12 treatment. He will be a wild-ass of a man, with his hand against everyone, and everyone’s hand against him; he will live on the outskirts of all his kindred.”
- 13 So she named the LORD who spoke to her El-roi [a God who can be seen].
“For,” said she, “I have actually seen God, and am still alive after seeing him.”
- 14 That was how the spring came to be called Beer-lahai-roi [the spring where one saw (God) and still lived]; it is between Kadesh and Bered.
- 15 So Hagar bore a son to Abram, and Abram gave the name of Ish-
- 16 mael to his son, whom Hagar bore. Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to him.
- 17 When Abram was ninety-nine years old, the LORD appeared to Abram, and said to him, “I am God Almighty; conduct yourself before me so as to be
- 2 blameless, and then I will establish my covenant between you and me, and will make you grow more and more numerous.”
- 3 Thereupon Abram fell on his face; and God said to him,
- 4 “This is my covenant with you: you shall be the ancestor of a com-
- 5 pany of nations. Accordingly, your name shall no longer be called Abram, but your name shall be Abraham; for I am making you the
- 6 ancestor of a company of nations. I will make you more and more prolific, and will make nations of you, and kings shall spring from
- 7 you. Between myself and you and your descendants, for generation after generation in perpetuity, I am establishing my covenant, to be
- 8 God to you and your descendants. I will give you and your descendants the land in which you are now only an immigrant, the whole of the land of Canaan, as a possession for all time, and I will be their God.”
- 9 Further, God said to Abraham,
“You on your part must keep my covenant, and likewise your de-
- 10 scendants from generation to generation. The covenant between myself and you and your descendants which you are to keep is this:
- 11 everyone of your males must be circumcised; you are to be circum-
- 12 cised in your foreskin, and this shall be the symbol of the covenant between you and me. At the age of eight days, every male among you, from generation to generation, must be circumcised, as well as the slaves born in the house or purchased from any foreigner who is not of your race—slaves, whether born in your house or purchased by you, are to be circumcised. Thus shall my covenant stand imprinted on your flesh as a perpetual covenant. If there is an uncircumcised male, one who has not been circumcised in the foreskin, that person must be cut off from his people, in view of the fact that he has broken my covenant.”

15 God also said to Abraham,

“As for your wife Sarai, you are not to call her Sarai, but Sarah. I will bless her, and furthermore, I will give you a son by her; I will bless her, so that she shall become the mother of nations, with kings of peoples coming from her.”

17 Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed, saying to himself,

“Can he who is one hundred years old become a father, or can Sarah at the age of ninety bear a child?”

18 So Abraham said to God,

“May Ishmael live in thy favor!”

19 But God said,

“No, it is a fact; your wife Sarah is to bear you a son, and you are to call his name Isaac [laughter]; I will establish my covenant with him as an everlasting covenant for his descendants. With reference to Ishmael, I have heard you, and will indeed bless him; I will make him prolific, and will make him grow more and more numerous; he shall be the ancestor of twelve princes; I will make a great nation of him. I will likewise establish my covenant with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you at this time next year.”

22 Having finished speaking with him, God left Abraham.

23 Then Abraham took his son Ishmael and all the slaves born in his house and all those purchased by him—every male in Abraham’s household—and circumcised them in the foreskin that very same day, as God had commanded him. Abraham himself was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the foreskin, while his son Ishmael was thirteen when he was circumcised. That very day was Abraham circumcised, as well as his son Ishmael; and all the men of his household, the slaves born in the house and those purchased from foreigners, were circumcised with him.

18 The LORD appeared to him at the terebinth of Mamre, as he was sitting at the doorway of his tent in the heat of the day. Raising his eyes, he saw three men standing near him. On seeing them, he ran

3 from the door of his tent to meet them, and bowing to the earth, said, “O sirs, if perchance I find favor with you, please do not pass by 4 without stopping with your servant. Let a little water be brought to 5 wash your feet, and stretch yourselves out under the tree, while I fetch a bit of food that you may refresh yourselves. Afterward you may proceed on your way, since you will then have paid your servant a visit.”

“Do as you propose,” they said.

6 So Abraham hurried into the tent to Sarah, and said, “Quick, three seahs of the best flour! Knead it, and make it into cakes.”

7 Abraham then ran to the herd, and picked out a bullock, tender and 8 plump, which he gave to a servant, who quickly prepared it. Then, taking curds and milk and the bullock that he had prepared, he set them before them, and as he waited on them under the tree, they ate.

9 “Where is your wife Sarah?” they said to him.

“Inside the tent there,” said he.

10 Then he said,

“I will come back to you at the time for life to appear, when your wife Sarah shall have a son.”

11 Now Sarah was behind the door of the tent listening. Since both Abraham and Sarah were old, being well advanced in life, and 12 woman’s periods had ceased with Sarah, Sarah laughed to herself, saying,

“Now that I am worn out and my husband old, can there be marriage pleasure for me?”

13 The LORD said to Abraham,

“Why is it that Sarah laughs, saying, ‘Can I really bear a child 14 when I am so old?’ Is anything too wonderful for the LORD? I will come back to you at the appointed time, at the time for life to appear, and Sarah shall have a son.”

15 Because she was afraid, Sarah denied it, saying,

“I did not laugh.”

“No, but you did laugh,” he said.

16 Setting out from there, the men directed their steps toward Sodom, 17 while Abraham went with them to see them off. Then the LORD thought,

18 “Shall I hide what I am about to do from Abraham, seeing that Abraham is bound to become a great and powerful nation, and through him all the nations of the earth will invoke blessings on one another?
19 No, I will make it known to him, in order that he may give instructions to his sons and his family after him to keep to the way of the LORD by doing what is good and right, so that the LORD may fulfil for Abraham what he promised him."

20 So the LORD said,

"Because the outcry against Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and 21 their sin very grave, I must go down and see whether or not their conduct entirely answers to the outcry against them that has reached me; I would know."

22 So the men departed from there, and went off to Sodom, while the 23 LORD remained standing before Abraham. Abraham then went up to him, and said,

24 "Wilt thou really sweep away good along with bad? Suppose there are fifty good men in the city, wilt thou really sweep it away, and not spare the place for the sake of the fifty good men that are in 25 it? Far be it from thee to do such a thing as this, to make the good perish with the bad, so that good and bad fare alike! Far be it from thee! Shall not the judge of the whole earth himself act justly?"

26 So the LORD said,

"If I find fifty good men in the city of Sodom, I will spare the whole place for their sake."

27 Abraham rejoined,

"Here I am venturing to speak to the LORD, and I mere dust and 28 ashes! Suppose there are five short of the fifty good men; wouldst thou destroy the whole city by reason of the five?"

"I will not destroy it, if I find forty-five there," he replied.

29 Once more he said to him,

"Suppose only forty are to be found there?"

"I will not do it for the sake of the forty," he replied.

30 Then he said,

"Pray, let not my Lord be angry if I should say: suppose only thirty are to be found there?"

"I will not do it, if I find thirty there," he said.

31 "Here I am venturing to speak to the Lord; suppose only twenty are to be found there?" he said.

"I will not destroy it for the sake of the twenty," he said.

32 Then he said,

"Pray, let not my Lord be angry if I should speak just once more;
suppose only ten are to be found there?"

"I will not destroy it for the sake of the ten," he said.

33 As soon as he finished speaking to Abraham, the LORD went away, while Abraham returned home.

19 The two angels arrived at Sodom in the evening while Lot was sitting at the gate of Sodom. When Lot saw them, he rose to greet² them, bowing his face to the ground, and saying,

“If you please, sirs, come over to your servant’s house to pass the night and wash your feet; in the morning you may rise early, and go on your way.”

But they said,

“No, we will pass the night in the open.”

3 He pressed them so strongly, however, that they went over to his home and entered his house, where he prepared a feast for them, and⁴ baked unleavened cakes for them to eat. Before they lay down, the townsmen, the men of Sodom, from the youngest to the oldest, all the⁵ people to the last man, surrounded the house, and shouted to Lot,

“Where are the men who came to your house tonight? Bring them out to us that we may have intercourse with them.”

6 Then Lot went out to the doorway to them, and shutting the door⁷ after him, said,

8 “Please, my friends, do not be so depraved. See, I have two daughters who have never had intercourse with a man; let me bring them out to you to do what you like with them; only do nothing to these men, inasmuch as they have come under the shelter of my roof.”

9 But they said,

“This fellow came in as an immigrant,” they said, “and now he would make himself a judge! Here, we will treat you worse than them!”

Then they pressed hard against the man, Lot, and tried to reach the¹⁰ door to break it in; but the men reached out their hands, and pulling¹¹ Lot into the house with them, shut the door; while those who were at the entrance to the house, from the least to the greatest, they struck¹² with blindness, so that they searched in vain for the entrance. Then the men said to Lot,

“If there is anyone else belonging to you here, sons-in-law, sons, daughters, or anyone at all that belongs to you in the city, take them¹³ out of the place; for we are about to destroy this place, because the outcry against it that has come to the LORD is so great that the LORD has sent us to destroy it.”

14 So Lot went out, and said to his sons-in-law who had married his daughters,

“Leave this place at once; for the LORD is about to destroy the city.”

But his sons-in-law thought that he was jesting.

15 When dawn appeared, the angels urged Lot on, saying,

“Bestir yourself; take away your wife and the two daughters that are at hand, lest you be swept away in the punishment of the city.”

16 When he hesitated, the men, because of the LORD's pity on him, seized his hand and those of his wife and two daughters, and bringing 17 him out, they left him outside the city. After they had brought them outside, they said,

“Fly for your life; do not look behind you, nor stop anywhere in the valley; fly to the hills, lest you be swept away.”

18 Lot said to them,

19 “O no, sirs! Your servant has indeed found favor with you, and great is the kindness that you have done me in saving my life, but I cannot possibly fly to the hills, lest the disaster overtake me and I perish. Here is this town near enough to fly to, and quite small; pray, let 20 me fly there (is it not small?) to save my life.”

21 The LORD said to him,

“See, I grant you this request as well, in that I will not overthrow 22 the town of which you speak. Hurry and fly there; for I can do nothing until you reach there.”

Thus the name of the town came to be called Zoar [small].

23 Just as the sun rose over the earth and Lot entered Zoar, the LORD
24 rained sulphur and fire from the sky on Sodom and Gomorrah, devastating those cities and all the valley, with all the inhabitants of the 25 cities and the vegetation on the land. And Lot's wife had looked back, and had become a pillar of salt.

27 Next morning when Abraham went early to the place where he 28 had stood before the LORD, he gazed toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and all the region of the valley, and saw smoke from the land rising like smoke from a kiln.

29 Thus it was that God remembered Abraham when he destroyed the cities of the valley, by sending Lot away from the catastrophe when he devastated the cities where Lot lived.

30 Accompanied by his two daughters, Lot left Zoar to go up and live in the hills; for he was afraid to live in Zoar; and he lived in a cave 31 with his two daughters. The older one said to the younger,

“Since our father is old, and there is no one in the land to marry

- 12 us, as is customary for all the earth, come, let us make our father drunk with wine, and then lie with him, and so preserve our race through our father.”
- 33 So that night they made their father drunk with wine, and the older one went in and lay with her father, but he was unaware of her lying
- 34 down or getting up. Next morning the older said to the younger,
“I lay with my father last night; let us make him drunk with wine again tonight, and then you go in and lie with him, so that we may preserve our race through our father.”
- 35 So that night too they made their father drunk with wine, and the younger went and lay with him, but he was unaware of her lying
- 36 down or getting up. Thus the two daughters of Lot were with child
- 37 by their father. The older bore a son, and called his name Moab (he
- 38 is the ancestor of the present-day Moabites). The younger also bore a son, and called his name Ben-ammi (he is the ancestor of the present-day Ammonites).
- 20 From there Abraham set out for the region of the Negeb, and settling between Kadesh and Shur, he established himself as an immigrant at Gerar. Since Abraham had said of his wife Sarah, “She is my
- 3 sister,” Abimelech, king of Gerar, had sent and taken Sarah; but God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and said to him,
“You are going to die because of the woman whom you have taken, since she is married.”
- 4 Now Abimelech had not approached her, so he said,
- 5 “O Lord, wilt thou slay one who is clearly innocent? Did he not himself say to me, ‘She is my sister,’ while she herself said, ‘He is my brother.’ In purity of heart and innocence of hand have I done this.”
- 6 Then God said to him in the dream,
“I do indeed know that it was in purity of heart that you did this; and furthermore, it was I who kept you from sinning against me.
- 7 That is why I did not let you touch her. Now then, restore the man’s wife, and so save your life; for he is a prophet, and will intercede for you. But if you do not restore her, be assured that you and all who belong to you shall die.”
- 8 So next morning Abimelech rose early, and summoning all his slaves, he recounted all these words to them, so that the men were
- 9 much terrified. Abimelech then summoned Abraham, and said to him, “What have you done to us? What harm have I done to you that you should bring such a great sin on me and my kingdom? You have done to me things that should not be done.”

10 "What ever possessed you to do this?" Abimelech said to Abraham.

11 Abraham said,

"I simply thought that, since there was no reverence for God in this 12 place, I should be slain for the sake of my wife. Besides, she really was my sister when I married her, being the daughter of my father, 13 but not of my mother. Accordingly, when God sent me wandering from my father's home, I said to her, 'This is the kindness that you must do me: at every place to which we come, say of me, "He is my brother." ' ' "

14 Thereupon Abimelech took sheep, oxen, and male and female slaves, and gave them to Abraham, and restored his wife Sarah to him.

15 "My country is at your disposal," said Abimelech; "settle wherever you like."

16 To Sarah he said,

"See, I have given your brother a thousand shekels of silver; it shall compensate you for all that has befallen you, and you yourself shall be completely exonerated."

17 Then Abraham prayed to God, and God cured Abimelech, as well 18 as his wife and female slaves, so that they could bear children; for the LORD had completely closed the wombs of all in Abimelech's household on account of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

21 The LORD dealt with Sarah, as he had said; the LORD did to Sarah 2 as he had promised. Sarah conceived, and at the time that God had 3 indicated she bore Abraham a son in his old age. Abraham gave the name of Isaac to his son that had been born to him, whom Sarah bore
4 him; and as God had commanded him, Abraham circumcised his son 5 Isaac when he was eight days old, Abraham himself being one hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him.

6 "God has made me a laughing-stock; everyone that hears of it will 7 laugh at me," Sarah said. "Who ever would have ventured to tell Abraham," she added, "that Sarah would be giving suck to children?
And yet I have borne him a son in his old age!"

8 So the child grew and was weaned; and on the day that Isaac was 9 weaned Abraham held a great feast. But Sarah noticed the son of Hagar, the Egyptian, whom she had borne to Abraham, playing with 10 her son Isaac; so she said to Abraham,

"Get rid of this slave-girl and her son; for this slave-girl's son must not share the inheritance with my son Isaac."

11 The proposal, however, was very displeasing to Abraham, for his 12 son's sake; but God said to Abraham,

“Do not be distressed for the boy and your slave; follow Sarah’s bidding in all that she tells you; for it is through Isaac that you are 13 to have descendants bearing your name. As for the slave-girl’s son, I will make a nation of him too, because he is your child.”

14 So next morning Abraham rose early, and taking some bread and a skin of water, he gave them to Hagar, along with her son, and putting them on her shoulder, he sent her away. So she departed, and wandered about in the desert of Beersheba. Then the water in the skin became exhausted, and throwing the child under one of the bushes, 15 she went and sat down about a bowshot away; “For,” said she, “I cannot bear to see the child die!” So she sat down some way off, and lifted up her voice in weeping.

17 God, however, heard the boy’s cry, and the angel of God called from the heavens to Hagar, and said to her,

“What is the matter with you, Hagar? Fear not; for God has 18 heard the boy’s cry, even here where he is. Come, pick up the boy, and hold fast to him; for I am going to make a great nation of him.”

19 Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water, whereupon she went and filled the skin with water, and gave the boy a 20 drink. So God was with the boy, and he grew up. He lived in the 21 desert, and became expert with the bow. He settled in the desert of Paran, and his mother got a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

22 It was at that time that Abimelech and the general of his army, Phicol, said to Abraham,

23 “God is with you in all that you do; swear to me, then, by God here that you will never be false to me, nor to my children, nor to my descendants, but that you will treat me and the land in which you have settled as an immigrant as kindly as I have treated you.”

24 “I swear it,” said Abraham.

27 So Abraham took some sheep and oxen, which he gave to Abimelech, and the two of them made a covenant. Hence that place came 31 to be called Beersheba [well of the oath], because it was there that the two took the oath.

25 Abraham kept making complaints to Abimelech about a well which 26 the slaves of Abimelech had seized; but Abimelech said,

“I do not know who did this. Neither have you informed me of it, nor have I heard of it, until today.”

28 Then Abraham set seven ewe lambs apart by themselves, whereupon 29 Abimelech said to Abraham,

“What is the significance of these seven ewe lambs which you have set apart?”

30 “You will accept the seven ewe lambs from my hand,” he said, “to serve as witness for me that I dug this well.”

32 After they had made the covenant at Beersheba, Abimelech and the general of his army, Phicol, went and returned to the land of the 33 Philistines, while Abraham planted a tamarisk at Beersheba, and 34 there called upon the name of the LORD, the eternal God. Abraham resided for a long time in the land of the Philistines.

22 Some time after this God put Abraham to the test.

“Abraham!” he said to him.

“Here am I,” he said.

2 “Take your son,” he said, “your only son Isaac, whom you love so well, and go to the land of Moriah, and there offer him as a burnt-offering on one of the hills which I shall designate to you.”

3 So next morning Abraham rose early, and harnessing his ass, he took two of his servants with him and his son Isaac, and having cut wood for the burnt-offering, he started off for the sanctuary which God had 4 designated to him. On the third day, when Abraham raised his eyes,
5 he saw the sanctuary in the distance. So Abraham said to his servants,
“Stay here with the ass, while I and the boy go yonder to perform our devotions, after which we shall return to you.”

6 So Abraham took the wood for the burnt-offering and put it on the back of his son Isaac, while he carried in his own hand the fire and the knife. So the two of them went off together.

7 “Father!” said Isaac to his father Abraham.

“Yes, my son,” he responded.

“Here are the fire and the wood,” he said, “but where is the sheep for a burnt-offering?”

8 “God will provide himself with the sheep for a burnt-offering, my son,” said Abraham.

Thereupon the two of them proceeded on their way together.

9 When they arrived at the sanctuary which God had designated to him, Abraham built the altar there, arranged the wood, and binding
10 his son Isaac, laid him on the altar on top of the wood. But as Abra-11 ham put out his hand to grasp the knife to slay his son, the angel of the LORD called to him from the heavens,

“Abraham, Abraham!”

“Here am I,” he replied.

12 “Do not lay hands on the boy,” he said, “do nothing of the sort to him; for I know now that you revere God, in that you have not withheld your son, your only son, from me.”

13 When Abraham looked up, there behind him was a ram caught in the brushwood by its horns! So Abraham went and took the ram, and 14 offered it up as a burnt-offering in place of his son. Then Abraham called the name of that sanctuary Yahweh-jireh, which is today interpreted as “At the hill of the LORD provision is made.”

15 A second time the angel of the LORD called to Abraham from the heavens,

16 “I swear by myself”—it is the oracle of the LORD—“that since you have done this, and have not withheld your son, your only son,
17 I will indeed bless you, and will surely make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky, or the sands on the seashore, so that your descendants shall take possession of the cities of their ene-
18 mies, and through your descendants all the nations of the earth shall invoke blessings on one another—just because you heeded my injunction.”

19 Abraham then returned to his servants, and together they started off for Beersheba; and in Beersheba Abraham made his home.

20 Some time after this word came to Abraham as follows: “Milcah, 21 too, has borne children to your brother Nahor: Uz, the first-born, 22 Buz, his brother, Kemuel (the ancestor of the Arameans), Chesed, 23 Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel”—which Bethuel became the father of Rebekah. These eight did Milcah bear to Nahor, Abra-24 ham’s brother. Moreover, his consort, whose name was Reumah, also bore Tebah, Gaham, Tahash, and Maacah.

23 The length of Sarah’s life was one hundred and twenty-seven
2 years. Sarah died at Kirjath-arba (that is, Hebron), in the land of 3 Canaan, and Abraham proceeded to wail and weep for Sarah. Rising from the side of his dead, Abraham said to the Hittites,

4 “Since I am an immigrant and a serf under you, give me some property with you as a burial-ground, that I may inter my dead.”

5 The Hittites answered Abraham,

6 “Listen, sir; you are a mighty prince among us; bury your dead in the choicest of our sepulchres; none of us will deny you his sepulchre for the burial of your dead.”

7 Abraham rose, and bowing to the Hittites, the natives of the land,
8 he said to them,

“If your consent to the burial of my dead is assured, listen to me; approach Ephron, the son of Zohar, on my behalf, that he may give me the cave of Machpelah which belongs to him, on the edge of his field. Let him sell it to me in your presence for its full value, as a burial-ground of my own."

¹⁰ Now Ephron was sitting among the Hittites. So Ephron, the Hittite, answered Abraham in the hearing of the Hittites, namely all those accustomed to enter the gates of his city,

¹¹ "Not at all, sir; listen to me; I make you a present of the field; I make you a present of the cave as well; in the presence of my fellow-countrymen I present it to you; bury your dead in it."

¹² Bowing to the natives of the land, Abraham said to Ephron in the ¹³ hearing of the natives of the land,

"If really you are so obliging, please listen to me; I offer you money for the field; accept it from me, that I may bury my dead there."

¹⁴ Ephron answered Abraham,

¹⁵ "Sir, listen to me; a piece of land worth four hundred shekels of silver—what is that between us; bury your dead in it."

¹⁶ So Abraham accepted Ephron's terms, and Abraham paid over to Ephron the sum which he had named in the hearing of the Hittites, four hundred shekels of silver of commercial standard.

¹⁷ Thus the field of Ephron at Machpelah, which faces Mamre, the field together with the cave in it and all the trees that were in the ¹⁸ field, throughout its whole area, was conveyed in the presence of the Hittites, namely all those accustomed to enter the gates of his city, to ¹⁹ Abraham as his property. Following that Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the cave in the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre (that is ²⁰ Hebron), in the land of Canaan. Thus the field with the cave that was in it passed from the possession of the Hittites to that of Abraham for use as a burial-ground.

²⁴ Now that Abraham was old and well advanced in life, having been ² blessed by the LORD in all things, Abraham said to the oldest slave of his household, who had charge of everything that belonged to him,

³ "Put your hand under my thigh, while I make you swear by the LORD, the God of the heavens and the earth, that you will not marry
⁴ my son to a daughter of the Canaanites, among whom I am living, but that you will go to my own land and kindred to get a wife for my son Isaac."

⁵ The slave said to him,

"Suppose the woman is unwilling to follow me to this land; am I to take your son back to the land that you left?"

6 Abraham said to him,

7 "See to it that you do not take my son back there! It was the LORD, the God of the heavens, who took me from my father's home and the land of my birth, who spoke to me and made me this promise, 'It is to your descendants that I am going to give this land'—it is he who will send his angel ahead of you, so that you shall get a wife for my 8 son there. But if the woman should be unwilling to follow you, then you will be absolved from this oath to me; only you must never take my son back there."

9 So the slave put his hand under the thigh of his master, Abraham, and swore to him to this effect.

10 The slave took ten of his master's camels, and set out on his journey, taking with him all kinds of valuables from his master; he started off, and eventually arrived at Aram-naharaim, the city of 11 Nahor. Toward evening, at the time that the women came out to draw water, he made the camels kneel by the well outside the city.

12 "O LORD, the God of my master Abraham," he said, "pray give 13 me success today, and so be gracious to my master Abraham. Here I am taking my stand beside the spring, as the daughters of the towns-
14 men come out to draw water. Let the girl, then, to whom I say, 'Will you please let down your pitcher for me to drink?' and who says, 'Drink, and let me water your camels as well'—let her be the one whom thou hast allotted to thy servant Isaac. By this I shall be assured that thou wilt really be gracious to my master."

15 Before he had finished speaking, out came Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milcah, the wife of Abraham's brother Nahor, 16 with her pitcher on her shoulder. The girl was very beautiful, a virgin with whom no man had ever had intercourse. She went down to 17 the spring to fill her pitcher, and when she came up, the slave ran to her and said,

"Will you please let me drink a little water from your pitcher?"

18 "Drink, sir," she said; and quickly lowering the pitcher to her 19 hand, she gave him a drink. When she had finished giving him a drink, she said,

"For your camels too, I will draw water, until they finish drinking."

20 So she quickly emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran back to the well to draw more water. Thus she drew water for all his cam-
21 els, while the man gazed after her, eager to learn whether the LORD 22 had brought his errand to a successful issue or not. Accordingly, as soon as the camels finished drinking, the man took a gold ring weighing half a shekel, and put it in her nose, as well as two gold bracelets weighing ten shekels on her wrists. Then he said,

“Whose daughter are you? Pray tell me. Is there room in your father’s house for us to spend the night?”

“I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor,” she replied. “We have plenty of both straw and fodder,” she added, “and there is also room to spend the night.”

Thereupon the man bowed in homage to the LORD, and said,

“Blessed be the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who has not failed to be gracious and true to my master. I am on the right road; the LORD has led me to the home of my master’s kinsfolk.”

Then the girl ran, and gave an account of these things to her mother’s household. Now Rebekah had a brother, whose name was Laban. So Laban ran out to the man at the spring, when he saw the ring and the bracelets on his sister’s wrists and heard his sister Rebekah saying, “This is what the man said to me.” When he reached the man, there he was, standing beside the camels near the spring.

“Come in,” he said; “the LORD’s blessings on you! Why do you stand outside, when I have the house ready, as well as a place for the camels?”

So he brought the man into the house, and unharnessed the camels. He brought straw and fodder for the camels, and water for him and the men that were with him to wash their feet. Food was then set before him to eat, but he said,

“I will not eat until I have told my story.”

“Say on,” he said.

So he said,

“I am Abraham’s slave. The LORD has richly blessed my master, so that he is a great man; he has given him flocks and herds, silver and gold, male and female slaves, camels and asses. Now Sarah, my master’s wife, after she was quite old, bore a son to my master, and to him he is leaving everything that belongs to him. My master made me take this oath: ‘You must not marry my son to any daughter of the Canaanites in whose land I am living; but you must go to my father’s home and my own kindred to get a wife for my son.’ I said to my master, ‘Suppose the woman will not follow me?’ He said to me, ‘The LORD, in whose favor I have lived, will send his angel along with you, and will bring your errand to a successful issue, so that you shall get a wife for my son from my own kindred and my father’s

41 home. Then you shall be absolved from the oath to me; when you come to my kindred, if they refuse you, you shall be absolved from 42 the oath to me.' So today when I came to the spring, I said, 'O LORD, God of my master Abraham, if thou wouldst really bring success to 43 this errand in which I am engaged, grant that, as I stand beside the spring, the girl who comes out to draw water, and to whom I say,
"Will you please give me a little water to drink out of your pitcher?" 44 and who says to me, "Not only drink yourself, but let me draw water for your camels as well"—let that woman be the one whom the LORD 45 has allotted to my master's son.' Before I could finish my meditations, out came Rebekah, with her pitcher on her shoulder, and went down to the spring to draw water. So I said to her, 'Will you please 46 give me a drink?' whereupon she quickly lowered her pitcher from her shoulder, and said, 'Drink, and let me water your camels as well.'
47 So I drank, and she gave the camels a drink too. Then I asked her,
'Whose daughter are you?' and she said, 'The daughter of Bethuel, the son of Nahor, whom Milcah bore to him.' Then I put the ring 48 in her nose, and the bracelets on her wrists; and I bowed in homage to the LORD, blessing the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who had led me by the right road to get the daughter of my master's kins-49 man for his son. Now then, tell me whether you are ready to treat my master kindly and honorably or not, so that I may turn one way or the other."

50 Laban and Bethuel answered,

"This is the LORD's doing; we dare not answer you adversely or 51 favorably. Here is Rebekah for you; take her and go; let her become the wife of your master's son, as the LORD has signified."

52 As soon as the slave of Abraham heard their words, he bowed to 53 the earth before the LORD. The slave then brought out articles of silver and gold, and clothing, which he gave to Rebekah; he also gave 54 costly presents to her brother and mother. Then he and the men that were with him had something to eat and drink, and retired for the night.

When they rose next morning, he said,

"Let me go to my master."

55 But her brother and mother said,

"Let the girl stay with us a while longer, or at least ten days, after which she may go."

56 "Do not hinder me," he said to them; "since the LORD has brought my errand to such a successful issue, let me go that I may return to my master."

57 "We will call the girl, and consult her wishes," they said.

58 So they called Rebekah, and said to her,

"Will you go with this man?"

"I will," said she.

59 So they let their sister Rebekah go, and her nurse, and Abraham's

60 slave and his men. They blessed Rebekah, saying to her,

"May you, our sister, become a thousand myriads!

And may your descendants conquer the cities of their foes!"

61 Then Rebekah started off with her maids, and riding on the camels, they followed the man. Thus the slave took Rebekah and departed.

62 Now Isaac had moved from the neighborhood of Beer-lahai-roi, 63 and was living in the land of the Negeb. One evening Isaac went out to stroll in the fields, and raising his eyes, he saw camels coming.

64 Rebekah too raised her eyes, and seeing Isaac, she dismounted from 65 her camel, saying to the slave,

"Who is the man yonder that is walking through the field toward us?"

"He is my master," said the slave.

Then she took her veil, and covered herself.

66 The slave told Isaac all that he had done; so Isaac brought her into 67 his tent. He married Rebekah and she became his wife; and in loving her, Isaac found consolation for the death of his mother.

25² Abraham married another wife whose name was Keturah, who

3 bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. Jokshan was the father of Sheba and Dedan. The descendants of Dedan

4 were the Ashurim, the Letushim, and the Leummim, while the descendants of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoah, Abida, and Eldaah.

5 All these were Keturah's children. To Isaac Abraham gave every-

6 thing that he had, while to the children that Abraham had by consorts, while he was still alive, Abraham gave presents, and sent them away eastward to the land of Kedem, so that they might not interfere with his son Isaac.

7 This was the total length of Abraham's life—one hundred and sev-

8 enty-five years. So Abraham came to his death, dying at a ripe old age, an old man, satisfied with life; and he was gathered to his

9 fathers. His sons, Isaac and Ishmael, buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron, the son of Zohar, the Hittite, which 10 faces Mamre, the field which Abraham had bought from the Hittites.

- ¹¹ There Abraham was buried, along with his wife Sarah. After the death of Abraham, God blessed his son Isaac, who made his home close to Beer-lahai-roi.
- ¹² The following are the descendants of Ishmael, the son of Abraham, whom Hagar, the Egyptian, Sarah's maid, bore to Abraham;
- ¹³ the following are the names of the sons of Ishmael, named in the order of their birth: Nebaioth, Ishmael's first-born, Kedar, Adbeel,
- ¹⁴ Mibsam, Mishma, Dumah, Massa, Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish,
- ¹⁵ and Kedemah. These were the sons of Ishmael; these were their names as arranged by villages and encampments—twelve princes arranged by peoples.
- ¹⁷ This was the length of Ishmael's life—one hundred and thirty-seven years. So he came to his death; he died, and was gathered to his
- ¹⁸ fathers. He inhabited the region from Havilah as far as Shur, which is on the border of Egypt, in the vicinity of Ashur, having settled on the outskirts of all his kindred.

THE STORY OF JACOB, 25:19—37:1

- ¹⁹ The following are the descendants of Isaac, the son of Abraham.
- ²⁰ Abraham was the father of Isaac, and Isaac was forty years old when he married Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel, the Aramean of Paddan-aram, and the sister of Laban, the Aramean. Isaac besought the LORD on behalf of his wife, because she was barren; so the LORD
- ²² yielded to his entreaty, and his wife Rebekah conceived. While in her womb, the children jostled each other, so that she said,
- “If it is to be thus, on whose side am I to be?”
- ²³ So she went off to consult the LORD, and the LORD said to her,
- “Two nations are in your womb,
And the two peoples have been hostile ever since conception in you;
The one people shall master the other,
And the older shall serve the younger.”
- ²⁴ When the time of her delivery came, there were indeed twins in
- ²⁵ her womb. The first one was born red, his whole body like a hairy
- ²⁶ garment; so his name was called Esau [hairy(?)]. Then his brother was born, with his hand gripping Esau's heel; so his name was called Jacob [heel-gripper]. Isaac was sixty years old when she bore them.
- ²⁷ The boys grew up. Esau became a skilful hunter, a man of the open country, while Jacob became a man of peaceful pursuits, making 28 his home in tents. Isaac favored Esau, because he was fond of game, while Rebekah favored Jacob.

29 Once when Jacob was making a stew, Esau came in from the fields famishing; whereupon Esau said to Jacob,

30 "Let me have a swallow of that red stuff there; for I am famishing."

(That was how his name came to be called Edom [red].)

31 "First sell me your birthright," said Jacob.

32 So Esau said,

"Here I am at the point of death; so of what use is a birthright to me?"

33 "First give me your oath," said Jacob.

34 So he gave him his oath, and sold his birthright to Jacob. Jacob then gave Esau bread and stewed lentils. He ate and drank; then rose and went away. Thus lightly did Esau value his birthright.

26 A famine occurred in the land—a different one from the first famine which occurred in the time of Abraham—so Isaac went to 2 Gerar, to Abimelech, king of the Philistines. The LORD then appeared to him, and said,

"Do not go down to Egypt; settle in the land that I shall designate 3 to you. If you establish yourself as an immigrant in this land, I will be with you, and bless you; for to you and your descendants I am going to give this whole country, and so fulfill the oath which I made 4 to your father Abraham. I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky, and I will give your descendants this whole country, so that all the nations of the earth will invoke blessings on 5 one another through your descendants—just because Abraham heeded my instructions and kept my charge, my commands, statutes, and laws."

6 So Isaac settled at Gerar. When the men of the place asked him about his wife, he said,

"She is my sister."

For he was afraid to say, "She is my wife," lest the men of the place should slay him for the sake of Rebekah, since she was so good looking.

8 After he had been there quite a long time, Abimelech, king of the Philistines, looked out of his window, and saw Isaac fondling his wife 9 Rebekah. So Abimelech summoned Isaac, and said,

"So she really is your wife; then why did you say, 'She is my sister?'"

"I said so, that I might not lose my life through her," Isaac said to him.

¹⁰ "What a way to treat us!" said Abimelech. "One of my people might easily have lain with your wife, and then you would have brought guilt on us."

¹¹ So Abimelech warned all his people,

"Anyone laying hands on this man or his wife shall be put to death."

¹² Isaac sowed a crop in that country, using that year one hundred ¹³ measures of barley, and the LORD blessed him. The man grew rich, and kept on growing richer and richer, until he became very rich indeed; he had flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, and so many work-
¹⁴ animals that the Philistines vented their spite on him. All the wells which his father's slaves had dug in the time of his father Abraham, ¹⁵ the Philistines stopped up and filled with dirt. Accordingly, when Abimelech said to Isaac, "Leave our midst; for you are much too
¹⁶ powerful for us," Isaac left there, and camping in the valley of ¹⁷ Gerar, he settled there. Isaac then re-opened the wells which had been dug in the time of his father Abraham, but which the Philistines had stopped up after Abraham's death; and he gave them the same ¹⁸ names as his father had given them. But when Isaac's slaves dug in ¹⁹ the valley, and found a well of running water, the shepherds of Gerar got into a dispute with Isaac's shepherds, saying, "The water is ours." Hence the name of the well came to be called Esek [trou-²⁰ ble], because they got into trouble with him. Then they dug another well, but they got into a dispute over that too; so its name came to be ²¹ called Sitnah [hostility]. Moving from there, he dug another well, and there was no dispute over this; so he called its name Rehoboth [room], saying, "At last the LORD has made room for us, so that we shall become numerous in the land."

²³ From there he went up to Beersheba; and that very night the LORD
²⁴ appeared to him, saying,

"I am the God of your father Abraham; do not be afraid; for I am with you. I will bless you and make your descendants numerous, for the sake of my servant Abraham."

²⁵ So Isaac built an altar there, and called upon the name of the LORD. He pitched his tent there, and there also his slaves dug a well.

²⁶ Then Abimelech came to him from Gerar, with Ahuzzath, one of ²⁷ his ministers, and Phicol, the general of his army. Isaac said to them,

“Why have you come to me, seeing that you hate me, and drove me from your midst?”

28 They said,

“We see very clearly that the LORD is with you, so we make this proposal: ‘Let there be an oath between us—between ourselves and 29 you; let us reach an agreement with you that you will do us no harm, since we did not hurt you, but only did you good, and let you go amicably.’ And now, the LORD’s blessings on you!”

30 Thereupon he made a feast for them, at which they ate and drank.
31 Rising early next morning, they took oath with each other, and then Isaac let them go, and they departed from him on friendly terms. It 32 was that same day that Isaac’s slaves came and told him about the well that they had dug; “We have found water,” they told him.
33 So he called it Shibah [oath]. That is why the name of the city is Beersheba [the well of the oath] to this day.

34 When Esau was forty years old, he married Judith, the daughter of Beerri, the Hittite, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon, the Hittite; and they were a source of distress to Isaac and Rebekah.

27 One day, after Isaac had become old and his eyes so dim that he could not see, he called his older son Esau.

“My son!” he said to him.

“Here I am,” he replied.

2 He said,

3 “Here I am an old man, not knowing what day I may die. Get your weapons, then, your quiver and bow, and go out into the fields,
4 and hunt some game for me. Then make me a tasty dish, such as I like, and bring it to me to eat, that I may give you my blessing before I die.”

5 Now Rebekah was listening when Isaac spoke to his son Esau; so
6 when Esau went off to the fields to hunt game for his father, Rebekah said to her son Jacob,

7 “I have just heard your father say to your brother Esau, ‘Bring me some game, and make me a tasty dish to eat, that I may bless you be-
8 fore the LORD before I die.’ Now then, my son, obey me in the 9 charge that I am giving you. Go to the flock and get two fat kids for me there, that I may make them into a tasty dish for your father,
10 such as he likes. Then you shall take it to your father to eat, that he may bless you before he dies.”

11 But Jacob said to his mother Rebekah,

“Ah, but my brother Esau is a hairy man, while I am smooth.

- 12 Suppose my father were to feel me? I should look like an impious person to him, and bring a curse on myself, and not a blessing.”
- 13 “Let any curse for you, my son, fall on me!” his mother replied. “Only obey me, and go and get them for me.”
- 14 So he went and got them, and brought them to his mother. His
- 15 mother then made a tasty dish, such as his father liked; and taking the best clothes of her older son Esau, which she had in the house,
- 16 Rebekah dressed her younger son Jacob in them; she put the skins of
- 17 the kids on his hands and on the smooth parts of his neck, and committed the tasty dish and bread which she had made into the hands of
- 18 her son Jacob. Then he went in to his father, and said, “Father!”
“Yes,” he said. “Who are you, my son?”
- 19 Jacob said to his father,
“I am Esau, your first-born; I have done as you told me; now sit up and eat once more of my game, that you may give me your blessing.”
- 20 But Isaac said to his son,
“How ever did you come to find it so quickly, my son?”
“Because the LORD your God brought it in my path,” he said.
- 21 Isaac then said to Jacob,
“Come up close that I may feel you, my son, to see whether you really are my son Esau or not.”
- 22 So Jacob went up to his father Isaac, who felt him, and said,
“The voice is Jacob’s voice, but the hands are those of Esau.”
- 23 Hence he did not detect him, because his hands were hairy, like those of his brother Esau; so he blessed him.
- 24 “Are you really my son Esau?” he said.
“I am,” he replied.
- 25 So he said,
“Bring me some of your game to eat, my son, that I may give you my blessing.”
So he brought it to him, and he ate; he also brought him wine, and
- 26 he drank. Then his father Isaac said to him, “Come here and kiss me, my son.”
- 27 So he went up and kissed him; and when he smelt his clothes, he blessed him, saying, “Ah, my son’s smell is like that of a field that the LORD has blessed.

- 28 May God give you of the heavens' dew,
 Of earth's fatness, with plenty of grain and wine!
- 29 Nations shall serve you,
 And peoples bow down to you.
 Be master of your brothers,
 And let your mother's sons bow down to you!
 Cursed be they who curse you,
 And blessed be they who bless you!"
- 30 No sooner had Isaac finished blessing Jacob, indeed Jacob had just left the presence of his father Isaac, when his brother Esau came in
- 31 from his hunt. He too made a tasty dish, and brought it to his father.
 "Let my father sit up," he said to his father, "and eat some of his son's game, that you may give me your blessing."
- 32 "Who are you?" his father Isaac said to him.
 "I am your son," he said, "your first-born, Esau."
- 33 Thereupon Isaac was very greatly agitated, and said,
 "Who was it then who got some game and brought it to me? I ate heartily of it before you came, and blessed him, so that he is indeed blessed."
- 34 On hearing his father's words, Esau cried loud and bitterly, and said to his father,
 "Bless me also, my father!"
- 35 But he said,
 "Your brother came under false colors, and stole your blessing."
- 36 "Is it because he is named Jacob that he has twice now got the better of me?" he said. "He stole my birthright, and now he has stolen my blessing!" "Have you not kept a blessing for me?" he added.
- 37 But Isaac in reply said to Esau, "Since I have made him master over you, and have made all his brothers his slaves, and have provided grain and wine for his sustenance, what then is there that I can do for you, my son?"
- 38 Esau said to his father,
 "Have you only one blessing, my father? Bless me too, my father."
- 39 Whereupon Esau lifted up his voice in weeping. So his father Isaac complied, and said to him,
 "Away from the fat of the earth shall your dwelling be,
 Away from the dew of the heavens on high.
- 40 By your sword you shall live,
 And your brother you shall serve;

But when you become restive,
You shall break his yoke off your neck."

41 So Esau had a grudge against Jacob because of the blessing which his father had bestowed on him.

"It will soon be time to mourn for my father," Esau said to himself, "and then I will slay my brother Jacob."

42 But Rebekah was informed of the designs of her older son Esau, so she sent for her younger son Jacob, and said to him,

"Here is your brother Esau threatening to take revenge on you by 43 murdering you! Now my son, listen to me; flee at once to my 44 brother Laban at Haran, and stay awhile with him, until your broth-45 er's anger subsides—until your brother's wrath against you relents, and he forgets what you have done to him; then I will send and fetch you from there. Why should I be bereft of both of you on the same day?"

46 So Rebekah said to Isaac,

"I am tired to death of the Hittite women. If Jacob marries a Hittite woman like these, one of the natives of the land, what good will life be to me?"

28 So Isaac called Jacob, and blessing him, gave him this charge:

2 "You must not marry any Canaanite woman; go at once to Paddan-aram, to the home of Bethuel, your mother's father, and procure a wife there from the daughters of Laban, your mother's brother.
3 May God Almighty bless you, and make you prolific, and so numer-4 ous that you become a company of peoples! May he bestow the blessing vouchsafed to Abraham on you, and likewise on your descendants, that you may take possession of the land in which you are now only an immigrant, which God gave to Abraham."

5 So Isaac sent Jacob away, and he went to Paddan-aram, to Laban, the son of Bethuel, the Aramean, the brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

6 When Esau discovered that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and had sent him off to Paddan-aram to procure a wife there, and on blessing him,
7 had charged him not to marry any Canaanite woman, and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother, and had gone to Paddan-aram,
8 Esau realized that his father Isaac disliked Canaanite women, so he 9 went to Ishmael, and married Mahalath, the daughter of Abraham's son Ishmael, the sister of Nebaioth, in addition to the wives that he had.

10 Leaving Beersheba, Jacob set out for Haran. Reaching a certain sanctuary, he spent the night there; for the sun had set. He took one of the stones in the sanctuary, and using it for a pillow, he lay down in that sanctuary. He had a dream in which he saw a ladder set up on the earth, with its top reaching the sky, and angels of God were ascending and descending on it. Then the LORD stood over him, and said,

“I am the LORD, the God of your father Abraham and of Isaac.

The land on which you are lying, I am going to give to you and your descendants. Your descendants shall be like the dust on the ground; you shall spread to the west, to the east, to the north, and to the south, so that all races in the earth will invoke blessings on one another through you and your descendants. I will be with you, and guard you wherever you go, until I bring you back to this land; for I will never forsake you, until I have done what I have promised you.”

When Jacob woke from his sleep, he said,

“The LORD must surely be in this place—and I did not know it!”

He was awe-struck, and said,

“What an awesome place this is! This can be nothing other than the house of God, and that the gate of the sky.”

Accordingly, he called the name of that sanctuary Bethel [house of God], whereas the earlier name of the city had been Luz.

So when Jacob rose in the morning, he took the stone which he had used as a pillow, and setting it up as a sacred pillar, he poured oil on its top. Jacob then made this vow:

“If God will go with me, and watch over me on this journey that I am making, and give me food to eat and clothes to wear, so that I come home safely to my father’s house, then the LORD shall be my God, and this stone which I have set up as a sacred pillar shall be God’s house, and I will give to thee a portion of everything that thou givest me.”

Jacob then continued his journey, and came to the land of the Kcdemites. Looking round, he saw a well in the open, with three flocks of sheep lying beside it; for it was from this well that the flocks were watered, but the stone over the mouth of the well was so large that it was only after all the shepherds had collected there that they could roll the stone off the mouth of the well, and water the sheep, after which they would replace the stone over the mouth of the well.

“My friends, where do you come from?” Jacob said to them.

“We come from Haran,” they said.

- 5 "Do you know Laban, the son of Nahor?" he said to them.
"We do," said they.
- 6 "Is he well?" he said to them.
"He is," they said, "and here is his daughter Rachel coming with his sheep!"
- 7 "Why," said he, "the day has still long to run! It is not yet time for the live stock to be gathered in; water the sheep, and go on pasturing them."
- 8 But they said,
"We cannot until all the shepherds assemble, and roll the stone off the mouth of the well so that we can water the sheep."
- 9 While he was still talking with them, Rachel arrived with her
- 10 father's flock; for she was a shepherdess. As soon as Jacob saw Rachel, the daughter of Laban, his mother's brother, with the flock of Laban, his mother's brother, Jacob went up, and rolling the stone off the mouth of the well, watered the flock of Laban, his mother's
- 11 brother. Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice in weeping.
- 12 When Jacob told Rachel that he was a relative of her father and
- 13 the son of Rebekah, she ran and told her father. As soon as Laban heard about Jacob, his sister's son, he ran to meet him, embraced him, kissed him, and brought him home. Jacob then told Laban his whole
- 14 story, whereupon Laban said to him,
"You are my very own flesh and blood!"
So he stayed with him for a whole month.
- 15 Then Laban said to Jacob,
"Should you, just because you are a relative of mine, work for me for nothing? Let me know what your wages should be."
- 16 Now Laban had two daughters, the name of the older being Leah,
- 17 and that of the younger Rachel; Leah had weak eyes, while Rachel
- 18 was beautiful and lovely. Jacob had fallen in love with Rachel, so he said,
"I will work seven years for you in return for Rachel, your younger daughter."
- 19 Whereupon Laban said,
"It is better for me to give her to you than to anyone else; stay with me."
- 20 So Jacob worked seven years for Rachel, and they seemed to him
- 21 but a few days, because he loved her. Then Jacob said to Laban,
"Give me my wife; for my time is up, and I want to marry her."

22 So Laban gathered all the men of the place, and held a feast;
23 but in the course of the evening he took his daughter Leah and 24 brought her to Jacob, who married her. Laban gave his slave Zilpah to his daughter Leah as her maid.

25 Next morning, however, Jacob discovered that it was Leah! So he said to Laban,

“What a way for you to treat me! Did I not work with you for Rachel? Why then have you cheated me?”

26 “It is not customary in our country to marry the younger daughter 27 before the older,” Laban said. “Finish the week’s festivities for this one, and then I will give you the other also, in return for another seven years’ service with me.”

28 Jacob did so; he finished her week’s festivities, and then Laban
29 gave him his daughter Rachel in marriage; and to his daughter 30 Rachel he gave his slave Bilhah as her maid. So he married Rachel also, and besides, he loved Rachel more than Leah. Thus he had to work with Laban another seven years.

31 When the LORD saw that Leah was slighted, he made her pregnant, 32 while Rachel remained barren. So Leah conceived and bore a son, whom she named Reuben [behold a son]; “For,” said she, “the LORD has taken note of my distress; now my husband will love me.”

33 Again she conceived and bore a son; so she said,

“Because the LORD heard that I was slighted, he has given me this one also.”

Hence she called his name Simeon [hearing].

34 Again she conceived and bore a son; “This time,” she said, “my husband will surely become attached to me, seeing that I have borne him three sons.”

That was how he came to be called Levi [attachment].

35 Once more she conceived and bore a son, whereupon she said,
“Now do I praise the LORD!”

That was why she called his name Judah [praise].

Then she stopped bearing children.

30 When Rachel realized that she was not bearing children to Jacob, she became jealous of her sister, and said to Jacob,

“Give me children, or else I die!”

2 Jacob blazed with anger against Rachel, and said,

“Can I take the place of God, who has kept you from having children?”

3 Then she said,

"Here is my slave Bilhah; have intercourse with her, that she may bear children for my knees, and that I too may build up a family through her."

4 So she gave him her maid Bilhah in marriage, and Jacob had intercourse with her. Bilhah conceived and bore Jacob a son, whereupon Rachel said,

"God brought judgment upon me, but now he has heeded my cry and given me a son."

That was why she called his name Dan [he brought judgment].

7 Again Rachel's maid, Bilhah, conceived and bore Jacob a second son. Then Rachel said,

8 "It was a clever trick that I played my sister, and I succeeded too!"

So she called his name Naphtali [trick].

9 When Leah discovered that she had stopped bearing children, she took her maid Zilpah and gave her to Jacob in marriage. Zilpah,

10 Leah's maid, bore Jacob a son, whereupon Leah said,

"How lucky!"

So she called his name Gad [luck].

12 Zilpah, Leah's maid, bore Jacob another son. So Leah said,

13 "How fortunate I am; for women will certainly call me fortunate!"

So she called his name Asher [fortune].

14 At the time of the wheat-harvest Reuben went out into the fields, where he found some mandrakes which he brought home to his mother Leah.

"Please give me some of your son's mandrakes," Rachel said to Leah.

15 But she said to her,

"Is the fact that you took away my husband such a trifle that you should want to take my son's mandrakes as well?"

"Well then," said Rachel, "he may lie with you tonight in exchange for your son's mandrakes."

16 So when Jacob came home from the fields in the evening, Leah went out to meet him, and said,

"You must come home with me; for I have hired you with my son's mandrakes."

So he lay with her that night.

17 God gave heed to Leah, so that she conceived and bore a fifth son

18 to Jacob, whereupon Leah said,

"God has given me my reward for giving my maid to my husband."

So she called his name Issachar [reward].

¹⁹ Again Leah conceived and bore a sixth son to Jacob. Then Leah ²⁰ said,

"God has made me a magnificent present; my husband will surely stay with me now; for I have borne him six sons."

So she called his name Zebulun [abode].

²¹ She afterwards bore a daughter, whom she named Dinah.

²² God also remembered Rachel; God gave heed to her, and made her ²³ pregnant, so that she conceived and bore a son, whereupon she said,

"God has taken away my reproach."

²⁴ So she called his name Joseph [may he add], saying,

"May the LORD give me another son!"

²⁵ It was after Rachel had given birth to Joseph that Jacob said to Laban,

"Let me go, that I may depart for my own home and country.

²⁶ Give me my wives and children, for whom I have worked for you, that I may go; for you know how well I have worked for you."

²⁷ But Laban said to him,

"If I may have your permission to say so, I have learned from ²⁸ the omens that the LORD has blessed me because of you." "Name me your wage," he added, "and I will pay it."

²⁹ But he said to him,

"You know yourself how I have worked for you, and what your ³⁰ stock has become under my care; for it was little that you had before I came, whereas now it has expanded into a great deal, since the LORD blessed you upon my arrival. But when am I to make provision for my own household?"

³¹ "What should I give you?" he said.

"Give me nothing of the sort," said Jacob. "I will go on pasturing
³² and tending your flock, if you will do this for me: go through all the flock today, and remove from it every speckled and spotted sheep, every one of the lambs that is black, and any of the goats that is ³³ spotted and speckled; such shall be my pay. At some future time, whenever you may come, my honesty toward you will answer for me in the matter of my hire; if there is any one among the goats that is not speckled and spotted, or among the lambs that is not black, it came into my possession by theft."

³⁴ "Good," said Laban, "let it be as you say."

35 So that same day he removed the striped and spotted he-goats, all the speckled and spotted she-goats, every one with white on it, and all of the lambs that were black; and handing them over to his sons
36 he put a distance of three days' journey between himself and Jacob, while Jacob remained in charge of the rest of Laban's flock.

37 Then Jacob procured some fresh boughs of poplar, almond, and plane, and peeled white stripes in them, thus laying bare the white 38 on the boughs. He then placed the boughs which he had peeled in front of the sheep in the troughs, that is, the water-troughs, where the 39 sheep came to drink. Since they bred when they came to drink, the sheep bred among the boughs, and so had lambs that were striped,
40 speckled, and spotted. Jacob set the lambs apart, and so added the best sheep in Laban's flock to those that were striped and all black. He put his own flock off by themselves, and did not add them to 41 Laban's flock. Whenever the hardier ewes were breeding, Jacob used to put the boughs in the troughs in front of the flock so that they 42 might breed among the boughs, but not in the case of the weaker ones.
43 Thus the weaker ones fell to Laban, and the hardier to Jacob. The man, accordingly, grew richer and richer, and had large flocks, as well as male and female slaves, camels and asses.

31 Now Jacob heard Laban's sons saying, "Jacob has taken all that our father had; it is out of what our father had that he has acquired 2 all this wealth." Jacob saw too that the attitude of Laban toward 3 him was not what it used to be; so the LORD said to Jacob,

"Return to the land of your fathers and to your relatives; I will be with you."

4 So Jacob sent for Rachel and Leah to come to his flock in the 5 fields, and said to them,

"I see that your father's attitude toward me is not what it used to 6 be. However, the God of my father is with me. You know yourselves that I have worked for your father to the best of my ability,
7 whereas your father has cheated me, and has changed my wages ten
8 times. But God has not allowed him to do me any harm. Whenever he said, 'The speckled animals are to be your wage,' then all the sheep had speckled lambs; and whenever he said, 'The striped animals are 9 to be your wage,' all the sheep had striped lambs. Thus God has 10 taken away your father's stock, and given it to me.

"Once when the sheep were breeding, I had a dream, and raising my eyes, I saw that the rams that were leaping on the goats were 11 striped, speckled, and mottled. Then the angel of God said to me in 12 the dream, 'Jacob!' 'Here I am,' said I. Whereupon he said, 'Raise your eyes, and look; all the rams that are leaping on the goats are striped, speckled, and mottled—for I have seen all that Laban has 13 been doing to you. I am the God who appeared to you at Bethel, where you anointed a sacred pillar and made a vow to me. Come then, leave this land, and return to the land of your birth.' "

14 In response Rachel and Leah said to him,

"Is there any share or heritage left to us in our father's house?
15 Are we not considered foreigners by him? For he sold us; and should 16 he also use up all the proceeds from us himself? All the property which God has taken from our father really belongs to us and our children; so do just what God has told you to do."

17 So Jacob proceeded to mount his sons and wives on camels, and 18 drove off all his stock, all the live stock which he had acquired, his accumulated stock, which he had acquired in Paddan-aram, to go home to his father Isaac in the land of Canaan.

19 When Laban was away shearing his sheep, Rachel stole the household gods that belonged to her father; and Jacob outwitted Laban, 20 the Aramean, by not telling him that he was going to flee. So he fled, with all that belonged to him; starting forth, he crossed the River, and set his face toward the highlands of Gilead.

22 Three days later Laban was told that Jacob had fled; so he took his 23 fellow-tribesmen with him, and pursued him for seven days, overtaking him in the highlands of Gilead. But God had come to Laban, the Aramean, in a dream one night, and had said to him, "Take care 25 to say nothing to Jacob, either good or bad." So when Laban came up with Jacob, Jacob having pitched his tent on Mount Mispah, and 26 Laban having encamped with his fellow-tribesmen on Mount Gilead, Laban said to Jacob,

"What do you mean by outwitting me, and carrying off my daughters like prisoners of war? Why did you flee in secret without telling me, and rob me? I would have sent you off with mirth and songs, 28 with tambourine and lyre. You did not even allow me to kiss my grandsons and daughters goodbye! How foolishly you have acted!
29 I had it in my power to do you harm, but the God of your father said to me the other night, 'Take care to say nothing to Jacob, either good 30 or bad.' So now you are off, because of course you longed for your father's home! But why did you steal my gods?"

31 In reply Jacob said to Laban,

“I was afraid; for I thought that you would take your daughters 32 from me by force. The one in whose possession you find your gods shall not live; in the presence of our tribesmen identify whatever is yours among my belongings, and take it.”

(But Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen them.)

33 So Laban went into the tent of Jacob, the tent of Leah, and that of the two maids, but found nothing. Leaving Leah's tent, he went 34 into Rachel's. Now Rachel had taken the household gods, and putting them in the camel's saddle, had sat down on them. So when 35 Laban had felt all over the tent without finding anything, she said to her father,

“Let not my lord be angry that I cannot rise in your presence; for the ailment common to women is on me.”

So he searched thoroughly, but did not find the household gods.

36 Then Jacob grew angry, and took Laban to task; Jacob spoke up, and said to Laban,

“What is my offense; what is my misdeed, that you should have 37 come raging after me, and have felt all through my goods? Whatever goods you have found belonging to your house, set out here in the sight of my tribesmen and yours, that they may decide the issue 38 between us two. For the past twenty years I have been with you; your ewes and she-goats have never miscarried; and I have never 39 eaten the rams of your flock. I never reported to you the animals torn by wild beasts—I bore the loss myself. You held me responsible 40 for anything stolen by day or night. It was my lot to have the heat wear me out in the day-time, and the cold at night, and to lose my 41 sleep. For twenty years now I have been a member of your household; I worked fourteen years for you for your two daughters, and 42 six years for your sheep. Ten times you changed my wages; and if the God of my father, the God of Abraham and the Awe of Isaac, had not been on my side, you would now have sent me away empty-handed. God saw my suffering and the fruits of my toil, and he has just recently set it right.”

43 In reply Laban said to Jacob,

“The girls are my daughters, the children are my grandchildren, the flocks are my flocks—indeed everything that you see is mine; but what can I do now about these daughters of mine, or the children 44 that they have borne? Come then, let us make a covenant, you and me, and let the LORD be witness between us.”

45 So Jacob took a stone and set it up as a sacred pillar.

46 Jacob said to his men,
"Gather stones."

So they procured stones, and made a cairn. Then they had a meal 47 there beside the cairn. Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha [Aramaic for "cairn of witness"], while Jacob called it Galeed [Hebrew for
"cairn of witness"].

48 "This cairn," said Laban, "is a witness between you and me today."

49 That was how it came to be named Galeed. Of the sacred pillar
he said,

"May the LORD keep watch between you and me when we are out 50 of one another's sight. If you illtreat my daughters, or marry other wives beside my daughters, although there may be no man to watch us, remember that God is witness between you and me."

51 Further, Laban said to Jacob,

"See, this cairn and the sacred pillar which I have erected stand 52 between you and me. This cairn is a witness, and the sacred pillar a witness that I will not pass this cairn to harm you, and that you will 53 not pass this cairn and sacred pillar to harm me. May the God of Abraham and the God of Nahor (the gods of their ancestors) be judge between us!"

54 So Jacob swore to it by the Awe of his father Isaac. Jacob then offered a sacrifice on the hill, and invited his relatives to partake of the meal. They did so, and then spent the night on the hill.

55 Next morning Laban rose early, and after kissing his grandchildren and his daughters, and giving them his blessing, he left and went 32 home, while Jacob resumed his journey. Then the angels of God
2 encountered him; and as soon as he saw them, Jacob said, "This is God's camp," and so called the name of that place Mahanaim [camps].

3 Jacob sent messengers ahead of him to his brother Esau in the land
4 of Seir, the country of Edom, commanding them as follows:

"Thus shall you speak to my lord Esau: 'Thus says your servant
Jacob: "I have been residing with Laban, and having stayed right up 5 to now, I have oxen, asses, flocks, male and female slaves; so I am sending to tell my lord in the hope of finding favor with you."'"

6 The messengers returned to Jacob, saying,

"We came to your brother Esau as he was on his way to meet you, accompanied by four hundred men."

7 Very much terrified and distressed, Jacob divided the people that were with him into two companies, as well as the flocks, herds, and 8 camels. "If Esau comes on one company and destroys it," he thought, "then the remaining company can escape."

9 Then Jacob said,

"O LORD, God of my father Abraham and my father Isaac, who didst say to me, 'Return to your country and your kindred, and I will 10 make you prosperous,' I do not deserve all the acts of kindness and fidelity that thou hast shown thy servant; for with nothing but my staff I crossed the Jordan here, but now I have become two com-
11 panies. Save me, I beseech thee, from the power of my brother Esau; for I am afraid that he will come and slay me, as well as the mothers
12 and children. But thou didst say, 'I will be sure to make you prosperous, and I will make your descendants like the sands of the sea, which are too numerous to count.'"

13 So Jacob stayed there that night.

From what he had at hand he selected a present for his brother
14 Esau: two hundred she-goats and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes 15 and twenty rams, thirty milch camels with their colts, forty cows and 16 ten bulls, twenty she-asses and ten he-asses. Putting them in charge of his slaves, with each drove by itself, he said to his slaves,

"Proceed ahead of me, and leave a space between one drove and another."

17 To the leader he gave this order,

"When my brother Esau meets you, and asks you, 'To whom do you belong; where are you going; and to whom do these animals belong that you are driving?' say, 'To your servant Jacob; they are a present, sent to my lord Esau, while he himself is just behind us.'"

19 He gave the same orders to the second, and the third, and to all the others who were driving the droves, saying,

20 "Give this same message to Esau, when you meet him. Also be sure to say, 'Your servant Jacob is just behind us.'"

"For," thought he, "I may appease him with the present that precedes me, and then when he does see me, he may perhaps receive me kindly."

21 So the present went on ahead of him, while he himself spent that night in the camp.

22 That same night he rose, and taking his two wives, his two female slaves, and his eleven children, he sent them across the ford of the 23 Jabbok. He took them, and sent them across the stream, and sent 24 everything that belonged to him across. Jacob himself was left be-25 hind all alone. Then a man wrestled with him until daybreak, and when he found that he could not master him, he touched the socket of his thigh, so that the socket of Jacob's thigh was dislocated as he 26 wrestled with him. Then he said,

“Let me go; for the dawn is breaking.”

But he replied,

“I will not let you go, unless you bless me.”

27 “What is your name?” he said to him.

“Jacob,” he replied.

28 Then he said,

“Your name shall no longer be Jacob, but Israel [wrestler with God], because you have wrestled with God and man, and have been the victor.”

29 “Please tell me your name,” requested Jacob.

“Why is it that you ask for my name?” he replied; nevertheless he blessed him there.

30 So Jacob called the name of that place Peniel [face of God];
“For,” said he, “I have seen God face to face, and yet my life has been spared.”

31 The sun rose on him just as he passed Penuel, limping because of 32 his thigh. That is why to this day the Israelites do not eat the hip muscle which is on the socket of the thigh; for the socket of Jacob's thigh was touched on the hip muscle.

33 Raising his eyes, Jacob saw Esau coming, accompanied by four hundred men; so he divided the children among Leah, Rachel, and 2 the two maids, and put the maids with their children in front, then Leah with her children, and finally Rachel and Joseph in the rear, 3 while he himself went on ahead of them, bowing seven times to the 4 earth until he reached his brother. Then Esau ran to meet him, and embracing him, fell on his neck, and kissed him, so that they wept.
5 When he raised his eyes, he saw the women and children, and said,

“What relation are these to you?”

“The children whom God has graciously bestowed on your servant,” he replied.

6 Whereupon the maids came up with their children and bowed;
7 and likewise Leah with her children came up and bowed; and then Joseph and Rachel came up and bowed.

8 “What do you mean by all this company that I met?” he said.

“To win my lord's favor,” he replied.

9 "I have plenty, my brother," said Esau; "keep what you have."

10 But Jacob said,

"Not at all; if perchance I find favor with you, accept my present from me, since it is like seeing the face of God for me to see your 11 face, and you have received me favorably. Please accept my gift of greeting that has been brought to you; for God has been good to me, and I have all I need."

12 Thus he urged him until he took it, whereupon he said,

"Let us set out on our way; I will go alongside you."

13 But he replied,

"My lord can see for himself that the children are frail, and that the sheep and cattle giving suck are a care to me; if they were to be 14 over-driven a single day, the whole flock would die. Pray let my lord go on ahead of his servant, and I will proceed leisurely, at the pace of the stock that I am driving, and at the pace of the children, until I join my lord at Seir."

15 "At least," said Esau, "let me leave with you some of the troops accompanying me."

"How can I thank my lord?" he said.

16 So Esau started back that day on his way to Seir, while Jacob set 17 out for Succoth, where he built a house for himself, and constructed sheds for his cattle. That was how the place came to be named Succoth [sheds].

18 In the course of his journey from Paddan-aram, Jacob arrived safely at the city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, and 19 camped in front of the city. For one hundred kesitas he bought the piece of ground on which he had pitched his tent from the sons of 20 Hamor, the father of Shechem. There he erected an altar, which he called El-elohe-Israel [El, the God of Israel].

34 Now Dinah, the daughter that Leah had borne to Jacob, went out
2 to visit the women of the district. When Shechem, the son of Hamor, the Hivvite, the prince of the district, saw her, he seized her, and lay
3 with her, and ravished her. He had a passionate longing for Dinah, the daughter of Jacob; he loved the girl, and spoke endearingly to 4 her. So Shechem said to his father Hamor,

"Get this girl for me in marriage."

5 Jacob heard that his daughter Dinah had been violated, but since his sons were out in the country with the stock, Jacob took no action until their return.

6 Hamor, the father of Shechem, went to Jacob to speak with him.

7 The sons of Jacob had come in from the country as soon as they heard the news, and the men were distressed and very angry that such a shameless act had been committed in Israel as the violation of Jacob's
8 daughter—which thing ought not to be done. But Hamor said to them,

“My son Shechem has set his heart on your daughter; pray give 9 her to him in marriage. Intermarry with us, giving us your daughters in marriage, and marrying ours. If you will make your home
10 with us, the land will be at your disposal; settle down, engage in trade, and acquire property in it.”

11 Shechem said to her father and brothers,

“If I may find favor with you, I will pay anything that you de-
12 mand of me. Ask me ever so much in the way of marriage-price and presents, and I will pay you just what you demand of me; only give me the girl in marriage.”

13 But the sons of Jacob answered Shechem and his father Hamor craftily, and refused, because he had violated Dinah their sister; and 14 they said to them,

“We cannot do such a thing as to give our sister to a man that is 15 uncircumcised; for that would be a disgrace to us. Only on this condition will we accede to your request, that you become like us, every 16 male among you becoming circumcised. Then we will give you our daughters in marriage, and marry yours; we will make our home with 17 you, and become a single people. If you will not agree to our proposal to become circumcised, we will take our daughters and go away.”

18 The proposal was agreeable to Hamor, and to Shechem, the son of Hamor.

19 The young man made no delay in carrying the matter through; for he was in love with Jacob's daughter, and he himself was the most important member in his father's family.

20 So Hamor and his son Shechem came to their city gate, and said to their fellow-citizens,

21 “These men are well disposed towards us; let them make their home in the land, and engage in trade in it, since the land is quite spacious enough for them; let us marry their daughters, and give 22 them our daughters in marriage. It is only on this condition, however, that the men will agree to make their home with us, and form a single people,—that all the males among us become circumcised 23 as they are. Will not their live stock and possessions and all their cat-

- tie be to our advantage? If we will but agree to their proposal, they will make their home with us.”
- 24 All those accustomed to go out through the gates of his city agreed with Hamor and his son Shechem, and all the males were circumcised, namely, all those accustomed to go out through the gates of his city.
- 25 On the third day, when they were sore, the two sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah’s brothers, each took his sword, and advancing boldly against the city, they slew every male. Hamor and his son Shechem they put to the sword, and taking Dinah from the house of
- 27 Shechem, they made off. Coming upon the slain, the sons of Jacob
- 28 sacked the city that had violated their sister, taking its flocks, herds,
- 29 and asses, what was in the city and in the fields; all its wealth, and all its women and children they captured, and took as spoil everything that was in the houses.
- 30 Then Jacob said to Simeon and Levi,
“You have brought trouble on me by bringing me into bad odor with the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites and Perizzites. My numbers are small, and if they combine against me and attack me, I shall be destroyed, both I and my family.”
- 31 But they replied,
“Could our sister be treated like a harlot?”
- 35 Then God said to Jacob,
“Rise, go up to Bethel to live, and construct an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you fled from your brother Esau.”
- 2 So Jacob said to his household and all who were with him, “Get rid of the foreign gods that are in your midst, purify yourselves, and change your garments. Then we can set out and go up to Bethel, where I am to construct an altar to the God who answered me at the time of my distress, and has accompanied me wherever I have gone.”
- 4 So they handed over to Jacob all the foreign gods that they had, as well as the rings that were in their ears, and Jacob buried them at the
- 5 foot of the terebinth near Shechem. Then they set out, and so great was the terror of God on the cities around them that they did not
- 6 pursue the sons of Jacob. So Jacob and all the people that were with him reached Luz (that is, Bethel), which is in the land of Canaan,
- 7 and there he built an altar, calling the sanctuary El-Bethel, because it was there that God had revealed himself to him when he fled from his brother.

8 When Deborah, Rebekah's nurse, died, she was buried below Bethel, at the foot of the oak; so it came to be named the Oak of Weeping.

9 On his journey from Paddan-aram, God again appeared to Jacob,
10 and blessed him. God said to him,

"Your name has been Jacob; you shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel is to be your name."

So he came to be named Israel.

11 Further, God said to him,

"I am God Almighty; be fruitful and multiply; a nation, or rather a company of nations shall come from you, and kings shall 12 spring from you. The land which I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I will give to you, and to your descendants after you I will give it."

13 God then left him at the place where he spoke with him, where-14 upon Jacob erected a sacred pillar at the place where he spoke with him, a pillar of stone, poured a libation on it, and anointed it with 15 oil. So Jacob called the name of the place where God spoke with him Bethel.

16 They then set out from Bethel, and while it was still some little distance to the vicinity of Ephrath, Rachel gave birth to a child, with 17 terrible labor. In the midst of her labor, the midwife said to her,

"Do not be afraid; for here is another son for you."

18 Just as her spirit left her (for she died), she called his name Ben-19 oni, but his father called him Benjamin. Thus Rachel died, and was 20 buried on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem). At her grave Jacob set up a sacred pillar; it remains to this day as the Pillar of Rachel's Grave.

21 Israel then moved on, and pitched his tent on the further side of 22 Migdal-eder. It was while Israel was living in that land that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah, his father's consort; and Israel heard of it.

23 The sons of Jacob were twelve in number: the sons of Leah: Reuben, Jacob's first-born, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebu-
24 lun; the sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin; the sons of Bilhah, 25 Rachel's maid: Dan and Naphtali; and the sons of Zilpah, Leah's
26 maid: Gad and Asher. These were the sons of Jacob that were born to him in Paddan-aram.

27 Then Jacob joined his father Isaac at Mamre or Kirjath-arba (that is, Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac had settled as immigrants.

28 The length of Isaac's life was one hundred and eighty years; then 29

- Isaac came to his death; he died and was gathered to his fathers, an old man, satisfied with life; and his sons, Esau and Jacob, buried him.
- 36² The following are the descendants of Esau (that is, Edom). Esau married Canaanite women: Adah, the daughter of Elon, the Hittite, Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the son of Zibeon, the Hivvite, ³ and Basemath, the daughter of Ishmael, the sister of Nebaioth. Adah ⁴ bore Eliphaz to Esau, Basemath bore Reuel, and Oholibamah bore ⁵ Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These were the sons of Esau that were born to him in the land of Canaan.
- ⁶ Then Esau took his wives, his sons, his daughters, all the members of his household, his flocks, all his cattle, and all the property that he had acquired in the land of Canaan, and went away to another land ⁷ out of the way of his brother Jacob; for their possessions were too great for them to live together, and the land in which they were living ⁸ as immigrants could not support them because of their live stock. So Esau made his home in the highlands of Seir (Esau being Edom).
- ⁹ The following are the descendants of Esau, the ancestor of Edom ¹⁰ in the highlands of Seir; the following are the names of the sons of Esau: Eliphaz, the son of Esau's wife Adah, and Reuel, the son of ¹¹ Esau's wife Basemath. The sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, ¹² Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz; while Timna was a consort of Esau's son Eliphaz, and bore Amalek to Eliphaz. These were the descendants of Esau's wife Adah.
- ¹³ The following are the sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These were the descendants of Esau's wife Basemath.
- ¹⁴ The following are the sons of Esau's wife Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the son of Zibeon: she bore Jeush, Jalam, and Korah to Esau.
- ¹⁵ The following are the chieftains of the Esauites. The sons of Eliphaz, the first-born of Esau: the chieftains of Teman, Omar, ¹⁶ Zepho, Kenaz, Korah, Gatam, and Amalek. These were the chieftains of Eliphaz in the land of Edom, the same being the descendants of Adah.
- ¹⁷ The following are the sons of Esau's son Reuel: the chieftains of Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These were the chieftains of Reuel in the land of Edom, the same being the descendants of Esau's wife Basemath.
- ¹⁸ The following are the sons of Esau's wife Oholibamah: the chieftains of Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These were the chieftains of Esau's wife Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah.

19 These were the sons of Esau (that is, Edom), and these their chieftains.

20 The following are the sons of Seir, the Horite, the inhabitants of 21 the land: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan.

These were the chieftains of the Horites, the descendants of Seir in 22 the land of Edom. The sons of Lotan were Hori and Hemam, while 23 Lotan's sister was Timna. The following are the sons of Shobal:
24 Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam. The following are the sons of Zibeon: Aiah and Anah (he is the Anah who found the hot springs in the desert while he was pasturing the asses of his father 25 Zibeon). The following are the sons of Anah: Dishon and Oholi-
26 bamah, the daughter of Anah. The following are the sons of Dishon:
27 Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran. The following are the sons 28 of Ezer: Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan. The following are the sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran.

29 The following are the chieftains of the Horites: the chieftains of 30 Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. These were the chieftains of the Horites in the land of Seir, chieftain by chieftain.

31 The following are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom be-32 fore the Israelites had a king. Bela, the son of Beor, reigned in Edom, 33 the name of his capital being Dinhabah. After the death of Bela, 34 Jobab, the son of Zerah of Bozrah, succeeded to the throne. After the death of Jobab, Husham from the land of the Temanites suc-35 ceeded to the throne. After the death of Husham, Hadad, the son of Bedad, who defeated the Midianites in the country of Moab, suc-36 ceeded to the throne, the name of his capital being Avith. After the 37 death of Hadad, Samlah of Masrekah succeeded to the throne. After the death of Samlah, Shaul of Rehoboth-nahar succeeded to the 38 throne. After the death of Shaul, Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor, 39 succeeded to the throne. After the death of Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor, Hadar succeeded to the throne, the name of his capital being Pcor, and his wife's name Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the son of Me-zahab.

40 The following are the names of the chieftains of Esau, arranged according to their clans and places of residence, in the order of their 41 names: the chieftains of Timna, Alvah, Jetheth, Oholibamah, Elah, 42 Pinon, Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar, Magdiel, and Iram. These were 43 the chieftains of Edom (that is Esau, the ancestor of Edom), arranged according to their places of residence in the regions that they held.

37 Jacob, however, made his home in the land where his father had lived as an immigrant, the land of Canaan.

THE STORY OF JOSEPH, 37:2—48:22

2 The following are the descendants of Jacob.

At the age of seventeen Joseph used to accompany his brothers in looking after the flocks, being a mere lad alongside the sons of Bilhah and Zilpah, his father's wives; and Joseph brought a bad report of them to their father.

3 Now Israel loved Joseph more than any of his other sons, because he was the son of his old age; so he made a long cloak for him.

4 When his brothers saw that their father loved him more than any of his brothers, they hated him, and could not say a good word about him.

5 Joseph had a dream, which he told to his brothers, so that they 6 hated him all the more. He said to them,

7 "Listen to this dream that I have had. While we were binding sheaves in the field, my sheaf rose up and remained standing, while your sheaves gathered round it, and made obeisance to my sheaf!"

8 His brothers said to him,

"Are you indeed to be king over us; would you actually rule us?"

So they hated him still more because of his dream and his telling it.

9 Then he had another dream which he recounted to his brothers.

"I have just had another dream," he said, "and the sun, moon, and eleven stars made obeisance to me!"

10 When he recounted it to his father and his brothers, his father re-proved him, saying to him,

"What is this dream that you have had? Am I actually to come with your mother and your brothers, and make obeisance to the earth to you?"

11 But while his brothers became jealous of him, his father kept the matter in mind.

12 After his brothers had gone off to pasture their father's flocks at 13 Shechem, Israel said to Joseph,

"Are not your brothers pasturing the flocks at Shechem? Come, let me send you to them."

"I am ready," he replied.

14 So he said to him,

“Go and see how your brothers are, and the flocks; and bring me back word.”

So he despatched him from the valley of Hebron; and he arrived 15 at Shechem. But a man found him wandering about the country; so the man asked him,

“What are you looking for?”

16 “I am looking for my brothers,” he said; “do tell me where they are pasturing the flocks.”

17 The man said,

“They have moved from here; for I heard them say, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’”

18 So Joseph followed his brothers, and found them at Dothan. But they saw him in the distance, and before he could reach them, they plotted to kill him.

19 “There comes the dreamer yonder!” they said to one another. “Come now, let us kill him, and throw him into one of the pits. We can say that a wild beast devoured him. Then we shall see what his dreams will come to.”

21 But when Reuben heard this, he tried to save him from their hands; so he said,

“Let us not take his life.”

22 “Do not shed any blood,” Reuben said to them; “throw him into the pit here in the wilderness, but do not lay hands on him;” (his idea being to save him from their hands, and restore him to his father).

23 As soon as Joseph reached his brothers, they stripped him of his 24 cloak (the long cloak that he was wearing), and seizing him, they threw him into the pit. The pit, however, was empty, with no water in it.

25 Then they sat down to eat a meal; but raising their eyes, they saw a caravan of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead, with their camels carrying gum, balm, and laudanum, which they were engaged in tak-
26 ing down to Egypt. Thereupon Judah said to his brothers,

“What is the good of killing our brother and covering up his 27 blood? Come, let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and not lay hands on him; for after all he is our brother, our own flesh.”

28 His brothers agreed. Some Midianite traders passed by, so pulling Joseph up, they lifted him out of the pit. They sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty shekels of silver; and they took him to Egypt.

29 So when Reuben went back to the pit, there was no Joseph in the 30 pit! Then he tore his clothes, and returning to his brothers, said,

“The boy is gone! And I, how can I go home?”

31 Then they took Joseph’s cloak, and killing a goat, they dipped the 32 cloak in the blood. So they soiled the long cloak, and then they brought it to their father, saying,

“We found this; see whether it is your son’s cloak or not.”

33 Examining it, he said,

“It is my son’s cloak! Some wild beast has devoured him; Joseph must be torn to pieces.”

34 Then Jacob tore his clothes, and girded himself with sackcloth, 35 and mourned for his son for a long time. His sons and daughters all tried to console him, but he would not be consoled.

“No,” he said, “I will go down mourning to my son to Sheol.”

Thus did his father weep for him.

36 Meanwhile the Midianites had sold him in Egypt to Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, his head steward.

38 It was at that time that Judah separated from his family, and joined 2 an Adullamite whose name was Hirah. There Judah saw the daughter of a Canaanite whose name was Shua. Marrying her, he had in-3 tercourse with her, and she conceived and bore a son, whom he named 4 Er. Again she conceived and bore a son, whom she named Onan.
5 She bore still another son whom she named Shelah. It was at Chezib that she bore him..

6 For Er, his first-born, Judah chose a wife whose name was Tamar;
7 but Er, Judah’s first-born, was so displeasing to the LORD that the 8 LORD killed him. Then Judah said to Onan, “Marry your brother’s widow; do the duty of a brother-in-law to her, and rear a family for your brother.”

9 But Onan, knowing that the family would not be his, took preventive measures whenever he had intercourse with his brother’s 10 widow, so as not to give his brother a family. What he did was so 11 displeasing to the LORD that he killed him too. So Judah said to his daughter-in-law Tamar,

“Remain a widow in your father’s house until my son Shelah grows up.” “Lest,” thought he, “he too should perish like his brothers.”

So Tamar went away, and lived in her father’s house.

12 In the course of time Judah’s wife, the daughter of Shua, died.
After completing the mourning ceremonies, Judah went up to Timnah with his friend Hirah, the Adullamite, to look after the shearing of 13 his sheep; and news of it was brought to Tamar, “Your father-in-law

14 is going up to Timnah to shear his sheep." So she took off her widow's dress, and covered herself with a veil; and thus veiled, she sat down at the gate-way of Enaim, which was on the road to Timnah; for she realized that although Shelah had grown up she would not be given 15 to him in marriage. When Judah saw her, he took her for a harlot, 16 because she had veiled her face. So he stepped over to her at the roadside, and said,

"Here, let me have intercourse with you" (for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law).

"What will you give me," she said, "for having intercourse with me?"

17 "I will send you a kid from the flock," he said.

"Will you give me a pledge until you send it?" she asked.

18 "What pledge would you have of me?" he said.

"Your signet-ring," she said, "your cord for it, and the staff that is in your hand."

So he gave them to her, and then had intercourse with her, and she 19 conceived by him. Then she rose and went away, and taking off her veil, she put on her widow's dress.

20 When Judah sent the kid by his friend, the Adullamite, to recover
21 the pledge from the woman, he could not find her. So he asked the men of the place, "Where is the temple-prostitute who was by the roadside at Enaim?"

"No temple-prostitute has been here," they said.

22 He then went back to Judah, and said,

"I cannot find her, and further, the men of the place say, 'No temple-prostitute has been here.'"

23 So Judah said,

"Let her keep the things, lest we incur a scandal; anyway I sent the kid, but you could not find her."

24 It was some three months later that Judah was told, "Tamar, your daughter-in-law, has played the harlot, and further, she is with child as a result of the harlotry."

"Bring her out, and let her be burned," said Judah.

25 But as she was being brought out, she sent word to her father-in-law,

"By the man to whom these things belong, I am with child."
"Please note whose they are," she said, "this signet-ring and cord and staff."

- 26 Judah acknowledged them, and said,
“She is more in the right than I, inasmuch as I did not marry her to my son Shelah.”
But never again did he have intercourse with her.
- 27 When the time of her delivery came, there were twins in her 28 womb! In the course of her delivery one put out his hand, whereupon the midwife took a scarlet thread and tied it on his hand, saying,
“This one should be born first.”
- 29 But just as he drew back his hand, his brother was born.
“How you have forged your way through!” she said.
So he was named Perez [a forging through].
- 30 Afterwards his brother was born, who had the scarlet thread on his hand; so he was named Zerah [scarlet].
- 39 When Joseph was taken down to Egypt, Potiphar, an Egyptian, an officer of Pharaoh, his head steward, bought him from the Ishmaelites who had taken him down there. The LORD was with Joseph, so that he became prosperous. He lived in the house of his master, the 3 Egyptian; and his master noticed that the LORD was with him and that the LORD made everything prosper with him that he undertook;
4 so Joseph found favor with him, and was made his personal attendant; then he made him superintendent of his household, and put him
5 in charge of all his property. From the time that he made him superintendent of his household and all his property, the LORD blessed the house of the Egyptian for Joseph’s sake, the LORD’s blessing resting
6 on everything that belonged to him, both indoors and outdoors. So he left everything that he had to Joseph’s charge, and having him, gave no concern to anything, except the food that he ate.
- 7 Now Joseph was so handsome and good-looking that some time later the wife of his master took a fancy to Joseph, and said,
“Lie with me.”
- 8 But he refused, saying to his master’s wife, “Having me, my master is giving no concern to anything in the 9 house, but has committed all his property to my charge; there is no one in this house greater than I; he has kept nothing from me except yourself, and that because you are his wife. How then can I commit this great crime, and sin against God?”
- 10 Though she spoke to Joseph day after day, he would not listen to 11 her solicitations to lie with her, or be with her. One day, however, when he went into the house to do his work, none of the household

12 servants being anywhere in the house, she caught hold of his coat, saying,

“Lie with me.”

But he fled, leaving the coat in her hands, and went outdoors.

13 When she saw that he had fled outdoors, leaving his coat in her hands,

14 she called her household servants, and said to them,

“See how he has brought this Hebrew fellow into our house to violate us! He came into my room to lie with me, but I screamed; 15 and as soon as he heard me scream and call, he fled, leaving his coat beside me, and went outdoors.”

16 So she left the coat beside her until his master came home, and 17 then told him this same story,

“The Hebrew slave whom you brought into our house came into 18 my room to violate me, but as soon as I screamed and called, he fled outdoors, leaving his coat beside me.”

19 When Joseph’s master heard the statements of his wife who said
20 to him, “This is the way your slave treated me,” his anger blazed, and Joseph’s master took him and threw him into the prison where state prisoners were confined. So he lay there in prison.

21 The LORD, however, was with Joseph and was kind to him, and 22 got him into the good graces of the jailer, so that the jailer put Joseph in charge of all the prisoners who were in the jail, and he looked after 23 everything that was done there. The jailer exercised no oversight over anything in his charge, because the LORD was with him, and the LORD made whatever he undertook prosper.

40 Some time after these events the butler and the baker of the king
2 of Egypt offended their lord, the king of Egypt, so that Pharaoh became angry with his two officers, the chief butler and the chief baker,
3 and put them in custody in the head steward’s house, in the prison
4 where Joseph was confined. The head steward entrusted Joseph with them, and he waited on them. After they had been in custody some 5 time, they both had dreams on the same night, each having a dream of different meaning—the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt
6 who were confined in the prison. When Joseph came to them in the 7 morning, he saw that they were worried, so he asked Pharaoh’s officers who were in custody with him in his master’s house,

“Why do you look so gloomy today?”

8 “We have had dreams,” they replied, “and there is no one to interpret them.”

Joseph said to them,

“Does not dream interpretation belong to God? Pray recount them to me.”

9 So the chief butler recounted his dream to Joseph.

“In my dream,” he said to him, “there was a vine in front of me, and on the vine were three branches. As soon as it budded, its blossoms shot up, its clusters ripened into grapes. With Pharaoh’s cup in my hand, I took the grapes, and squeezing them into Pharaoh’s cup, I placed the cup in Pharaoh’s hand.”

12 Joseph said to him,

“This is the interpretation: the three branches represent three days; within three days Pharaoh shall summon you, and restore you to your position, so that you shall place Pharaoh’s cup in his hand as you used to do when you were his butler; so, if you will be good enough to keep me in mind when prosperity comes to you, do me the kindness of mentioning me to Pharaoh, and so liberate me from this house; for I was really kidnapped from the land of the Hebrews, and further, I have done nothing here that I should be put into a dungeon.”

16 When the chief baker found that the interpretation was favorable, he said to Joseph,

“I too had a dream; in mine there were three open-work baskets on my head, and in the top basket was some of every kind of baked food for Pharaoh, but the birds were eating it out of the basket on my head.”

18 Joseph answered,

“This is the interpretation: the three baskets represent three days; within three days Pharaoh shall summon you, and hang you on a tree, and the birds shall eat the flesh off you.”

20 On the third day, which was Pharaoh’s birthday, he held a feast for all his officials; and among his officials he summoned the chief butler and the chief baker. The chief butler he restored to his duties, so that he again placed the cup in Pharaoh’s hand; but the chief baker he hanged, as Joseph had told them in his interpretation. The chief butler, however, did not keep Joseph in mind, but forgot him.

41 Two whole years later Pharaoh dreamed that he was standing beside the Nile, when seven beautiful, fat cows came up out of the Nile, and browsed in the sedge. After them seven other cows came up out of the Nile, ugly and thin, and stood beside the other cows on the bank of the Nile. Then the thin, ugly cows ate up the seven beautiful, fat cows, whereupon Pharaoh awoke. When he fell asleep again, he had a second dream: there were seven ears of grain growing on a

6 single stalk, fine and plump, and after them there sprouted seven 7 other ears, thin and blasted by the east wind. Then the thin ears swallowed up the seven fine, full ears, whereupon Pharaoh awoke, only to find it a dream!

8 Next morning he was so perturbed that he sent for all the magicians and wise men of Egypt. To them Pharaoh recounted his dreams, 9 but no one could interpret them for Pharaoh. Then the chief butler said to Pharaoh,

10 "I would today recall my offence, how Pharaoh became angry with his servants, and put them in custody in the house of the head steward, 11 myself and the chief baker. One night we had dreams, he and I, each 12 of us having a dream of different meaning. With us there was a Hebrew youth, a slave belonging to the head steward, and when we recounted our dreams to him, he interpreted them for us, giving each 13 the proper interpretation of his dream. And it fell out just as he had indicated in the interpretation; I was restored to my position, while the other was hanged."

14 Thereupon Pharaoh sent for Joseph, and he was brought hurriedly from the dungeon. After he had shaved and changed his clothes, he came into Pharaoh's presence.

15 "I have had a dream," Pharaoh said to Joseph, "but there is no one to interpret it. However, I have heard it said of you that you know how to interpret dreams."

16 "Apart from God can Pharaoh be given a favorable response?"
Joseph answered Pharaoh.

17 Then Pharaoh said to Joseph,

18 "I dreamed that I was standing on the bank of the Nile, when seven fat and beautiful cows came up out of the Nile, and browsed 19 in the sedge. After them there came up seven other cows, thin and very ugly and lean—I have never seen such poor cows in all the land 20 of Egypt. Then the lean, ugly cows ate up the first seven fat cows; 21 they passed right into them, but no one would have known that they had done so—they looked just as bad as before. Then I awoke.

22 "In another dream I saw seven ears of grain growing on a single 23 stalk, full and plump, and after them there sprouted seven other ears, 24 withered, thin, and blasted by the east wind. Then the thin ears swallowed up the seven plump ears. I told this to the magicians, but there was no one to explain it to me."

25 Joseph said to Pharaoh,

"Pharaoh's dream is simple; God would reveal to Pharaoh what 26 he is about to do. The seven fat cows represent seven years, and the 27 seven plump ears represent seven years—it is a single dream. The seven lean and ugly cows that came up after them represent seven years, and so do the seven empty ears blasted by the east wind; there 28 are to be seven years of famine. It is as I told Pharaoh, God would 29 show Pharaoh what he is about to do. Seven years of great plenty are 30 coming throughout all the land of Egypt, but following them there will be seven years of famine, so that the plenty will all be forgotten 31 in the land of Egypt; the famine will devastate the land, and the plenty will become quite unknown in the land because of that famine 32 which is to follow; for it will be very severe. The fact that the dream was sent twice to Pharaoh in two forms means that the matter is absolutely settled by God, and that God will soon bring it about.

33 Now then, let Pharaoh find a shrewd and prudent man, and put him 34 in control of the land of Egypt. Let Pharaoh proceed to appoint officials over the land to forearm the land of Egypt during the seven 35 years of plenty; let them collect all the food of these good years that are coming, and under the authority of Pharaoh store up grain for 36 food in the cities, and hold it there. The food shall serve as a reserve for the land against the seven years of famine that are to befall the land of Egypt, so that the land may not perish from the famine.”

37 The proposal commended itself to Pharaoh and all his courtiers, 38 and Pharaoh said to his courtiers,

“Can we find a man with the spirit of God in him like this one?”

39 So Pharaoh said to Joseph,

“Since God has made all this known to you, there is no one so 40 shrewd and prudent as you; you shall be in charge of my palace, and all my people shall be obedient to your commands; it is only in the matter of the throne itself that I shall be your superior.”

41 Thereupon Pharaoh said to Joseph,

“I hereby put you in charge of the whole land of Egypt.”

42 And taking the signet ring from his finger, Pharaoh put it on Joseph’s finger; he dressed him in linen robes, put a gold chain round 43 his neck, and had him ride in the second of his chariots, with people shouting “Bow down!” before him, thus putting him in charge of the whole land of Egypt.

44 “Although I continue as Pharaoh,” said Pharaoh to Joseph, “yet without your consent shall no one stir hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.”

45 Then Pharaoh called Joseph's name Zaphenath-paneah, and married him to Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of On; and Joseph's fame spread throughout the land of Egypt.

46 Joseph was thirty years old when he entered the service of Pharaoh, king of Egypt.

After leaving the presence of Pharaoh, Joseph made a tour through 47 the whole land of Egypt. During the seven years of plenty the land 48 produced abundant crops; so he collected all the food of the seven years when there was plenty in the land of Egypt, and thus stored food in the cities, storing in each city the food from the fields around 49 it. Joseph stored up grain like the sands of the sea, in great quantities, until he ceased to keep account of it; for it was past measuring.

50 Before the years of famine came, two sons were born to Joseph by 51 Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of On. Joseph called the name of the first-born Manasseh [forgetfulness]; "For," said he,
"God has made me forget all about my hardships and my father's 52 home." The name of the second he called Ephraim [fruitfulness];
"For God has made me fruitful in the land of my misfortune."

53 When the seven years of plenty that had prevailed in the land of 54 Egypt came to an end, the seven years of famine set in, as Joseph had said.

There was famine in all lands, but throughout all the land of Egypt there was food.

55 When the land of Egypt became quite famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for food; so Pharaoh announced to all Egypt,

"Go to Joseph, and do what he tells you."

56 The famine spread all over the land, so Joseph threw open all that he had locked up, and sold grain to the Egyptians, since the famine 57 was severe in the land of Egypt. People from all lands came to Joseph in Egypt to buy grain; for the famine was severe all over the earth.

42 When Jacob learned that there was grain to be had in Egypt, he said to his sons,

2 "Why do you stare at one another?" "I have just heard," he said, "that there is grain to be had in Egypt; go down there, and buy some for us there, that we may live and not die."

3 So ten of Joseph's brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt,
4 since Jacob would not let Joseph's brother Benjamin go with his other 5 brothers; "Lest," thought he, "harm should befall him." Thus the Israelites came with the rest to buy grain; for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

- 6 Now Joseph was the vizier of the land; it was he who sold the grain to all the people of the land. So Joseph's brothers came and prostrated themselves before him, with their faces to the ground.
7 When Joseph saw his brothers, he recognized them, but he treated them as if he were a stranger, and spoke harshly to them.

"Where have you come from?" he said to them.

"From the land of Canaan to buy food," they said.

- 8 Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him.
9 Remembering the dreams that he had had about them, Joseph said to them,

"You are spies; you have come to find out the condition of the land!"

- 10 "No, my lord," they said to him, "your servants have come to buy 11 food. We are all sons of one man; we are honest men; your servants are not spies."

- 12 "Not so," he said to them; "but you have come to find out the condition of the land."

- 13 But they said,

"Your servants are brothers, twelve in all; we are sons of a certain man in the land of Canaan; the youngest is at present with our father, while the other is no more."

- 14 But Joseph said to them,

- 15 "It is as I told you; you are spies. By this you shall be put to the proof: as Pharaoh lives, you shall not leave this place unless your 16 youngest brother comes here. Send one of your number to fetch your brother, while the rest of you remain in custody. Thus shall your statements be put to the proof as to whether you are truthful or not. As Pharaoh lives, you are spies!"

- 17 So he bundled them off to prison for three days, but on the third day Joseph said to them,

- 18 "Since I am one who fears God, you may save your lives, if you 19 do this: if you are honest men, let one of you brothers remain confined in the prison where you are, and then the rest of you, go and 20 take grain home to your starving households; but you must bring me your youngest brother. Thus shall your words be verified, and you shall not die."

- 21 They proceeded to do so, saying to one another,

"Unfortunately, we were to blame about our brother, upon whose distress, when he pleaded with us for mercy, we gazed unmoved; that is why this distress has come to us."

22 Then Reuben spoke up and said to them,

"Did I not say to you, 'Do not sin against the lad'? But you paid no attention; so now comes a reckoning for his blood!"

23 They did not know that Joseph heard them; for the intermediary 24 was between them. He turned from them, and wept. On coming back to them, he spoke to them, took Simeon from them, and im-25 prisoned him in their presence. Joseph then ordered their receptacles to be filled with grain, the money of each of them to be replaced in his sack, and provisions to be given them for the journey. This was 26 done for them. Then they loaded their asses with their grain, and departed.

27 At the camping-place for the night one of them opened his sack to give his ass some fodder, and there he saw his money in the mouth of his sack!

28 "My money has been put back! It is right here inside my sack!" he said to his brothers.

Thereupon their hearts sank, and they turned to one another in fear, saying,

"What is this that God has done to us?"

29 On reaching their father Jacob in the land of Canaan, they told him all that had befallen them:

30 "The man who is lord of the land talked harshly to us, making us
31 out to be spies of the land. But we said to him, 'We are honest men; 32 we are not spies. We are brothers on our father's side, twelve in all;
one is no more, and the youngest is at present with our father in the 33 land of Canaan.' Then the man who is lord of the land said to us, 'By this I shall find out whether you are honest men: leave one of your brothers with me, and taking something for your famishing 34 households, be off; and then bring me your youngest brother. Thus shall I know that you are not spies, but honest men. I will restore your brother to you, and you will be free to trade in the land.'"

35 When they came to empty their sacks, there was the money-pocket of each in his sack! On seeing their money-packets, both they and 36 their father were dismayed, and their father Jacob said to them,

"It is I that you bereave. Joseph is no more, Simeon is no more, and now you would take Benjamin! It is on me that all this falls."

37 Reuben said to his father,

"You may kill my two sons if I do not bring him home to you!

Put him in my charge, and I will bring him back to you.”

38 But he said,

“My son shall not go down with you; for his brother is dead, and he alone is left. If any harm were to befall him on the journey that you make, you would bring my gray hairs down to Sheol in sorrow.”

43² The famine continued severe in the land, so when they had finished eating all the grain which they had brought from Egypt, their father said to them,

“Go again, and buy us a little food.”

3 But Judah said to him,

“The man strictly warned us: ‘You cannot have audience with me unless your brother is with you.’ If you are ready to let our brother go with us, we will go down and buy food for you; but if you are not ready to let him go, we cannot go down; for the man said to us, ‘You cannot have audience with me unless your brother is with you.’”

6 “Why did you bring this trouble on me,” said Israel, “by telling the man that you had another brother?”

7 They said,

“The man persisted in asking about ourselves and our family—‘Is your father still living? Have you another brother?’ We only gave him the information demanded by these questions of his. How could we possibly know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother down?’”

8 “Let the lad go with me,” said Judah to his father Israel; “but we must go at once, if we would save our lives and not die, both we, you, 9 and our dependants. I will be surety for him; you may hold me responsible for him. If I do not bring him back to you and set him 10 before you, you may blame me for it all my life; in fact if we had not wasted so much time, we could have made a second trip by now.”

11 Then their father Israel said to them,

“If it must be so, then do this: take some of the country’s best in your receptacles, and take it down to the man as a present—a little balm, a little honey, gum, laudanum, pistachio nuts, and almonds. 12 Also take double the money with you, and so take back with you the money that was replaced in the mouths of your sacks—perhaps there 13 was a mistake. Take your brother too, and go, return to the man. 14 May God Almighty grant you such kindness with the man that he will release your other brother for you, as well as Benjamin. As for me, as I have already suffered bereavement, I may have to do so again.”

15 So the men took this present, and taking double the money with them, as well as Benjamin, they started off, went down to Egypt, and stood in the presence of Joseph. When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to his house-steward, “Take the men home, kill an animal, and get it ready; for the men are to dine with me at noon.”

The man did as Joseph told him, and brought the men to Joseph’s house. On being brought to Joseph’s house the men became frightened, saying,

“It is because of the money which reappeared in our sacks the first time that we are being brought into the house, in order that he may devise some pretext against us, and falling upon us, take us into slavery, together with our asses.”

So they went up to Joseph’s house-steward, and spoke to him at the doorway of the house.

“If you please sir,” they said, “we came down the first time specially to buy food, but when we reached the camping-place for the night, and opened our sacks, there was each man’s money in the mouth of his sack—our money in full. Accordingly we have brought it back with us, and we have brought other money down with us to buy food. We do not know who put our money in our sacks.”

“Be at ease,” he said, “do not be afraid! It must have been your God, the God of your fathers, who put treasure in your sacks for you. I received your money.”

Then he brought Simeon out to them.

After bringing the men into Joseph’s house, the man gave them water to wash their feet, and he gave them fodder for their asses. Then they set out the present in anticipation of Joseph’s arrival at noon; for they had heard that they were to dine there. When Joseph came home, they brought him the present that they had carried into the house, and bowed to the ground before him. He asked after their health.

“Is your father well,” he said, “the old man of whom you spoke? Is he still living?”

“Your servant, our father, is well; he is still living,” they said, bowing in homage to him.

Raising his eyes, he saw his brother Benjamin, the son of his own mother, and said,

“Is this your youngest brother, of whom you told me?”

“May God be gracious to you, my son!” he said.

Thereupon Joseph hastily sought a place to weep; for his heart was deeply stirred at sight of his brother; he retired to his room, and 31 wept there. Then he bathed his face, and came out, and controlling himself, said,

“Serve the meal.”

32 The meal was served, separately for him, for them, and for the Egyptians that were dining with him; for the Egyptians could not eat with the Hebrews, because that would be abhorrent to the Egyp-33 tians. They were seated in his presence in order of age, from the oldest to the youngest, so that the men stared at one another in 34 amazement. He carried portions from his own table to them, but Benjamin’s portion was five times as much as any other’s. So they feasted, and drank with him.

44 He then gave orders to his house-steward,

“Fill the men’s sacks as full as they will hold with food, and put 2 each man’s money in the mouth of his sack; in the mouth of the sack belonging to the youngest put my cup, the silver cup, along with his money for the grain.”

He followed the instructions which Joseph gave.

3 With the dawn of morning the men with their asses were sent on 4 their way. Although they had left the city, they had not gone far, when Joseph said to his house-steward,

“Run at once after the men, and when you overtake them, say to them, ‘Why have you returned evil for good? Why have you stolen 5 my silver cup? Is not this the one from which my lord drinks, which in fact he uses for divination? It is a wicked thing that you have done.’”

6 So he overtook them, and addressed these words to them; but they 7 said to him,

“Why should my lord speak like this? Your servants would never 8 think of doing such a thing! Why, we even brought you back from the land of Canaan the money that we found in the mouths of our sacks. How then could we steal silver or gold from your master’s 9 house? That one of your servants in whose possession it is found shall die, and the rest of us will become slaves to my lord.”

10 “Although it may indeed be just as you say,” he said, “yet the one in whose possession it is found shall become my slave, but the rest of you shall be held blameless.”

11 Then each of them quickly lowered his sack to the ground, and 12 opened it, and search being made, beginning with the oldest and end-13 ing with the youngest, the cup was found in Benjamin’s sack. Thereupon they tore their clothes, and each having reloaded his ass, they returned to the city.

14 Judah and his brothers arrived at the house of Joseph, while he was still there, so they flung themselves on the ground before him.

15 "What is this that you have done?" Joseph said to them. "Did you not know that a man like me would be sure to use divination?"

16 Judah said,

"What can we say to my lord? What can we urge? How can we prove our innocence? God has discovered the crime of your servants; here we are, the slaves of my lord, both we and he in whose possession the cup has been found."

17 "I could not think of doing such a thing," he said; "only the man in whose possession the cup has been found shall be my slave; the rest of you are free to go back to your father."

18 Then Judah went up to him, and said,

"If you please, my lord, let your servant speak a word in the ear of my lord, and your anger not blaze against your servant; for you are the equal of Pharaoh himself. My lord asked his servants, 'Have you a father or a brother?' And we said to my lord, 'We have an aged father, and a young brother, the child of his old age; his brother is dead, so that he alone is left of his mother's children, and his father loves him.' Then you said to your servants, 'Bring him down to me that I may see him.' But we told my lord, 'The boy cannot leave his father; his father would die if he were to leave him.' Whereupon you said to your servants, 'Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, you cannot have audience with me again.'

24 "When we went back to your servant, my father, we reported to him the words of my lord. Then our father said, 'Go again and buy a little food for us.' But we said, 'We cannot go down; if our youngest brother accompanies us, we can go down; for we shall not be allowed to have audience with the man unless our youngest brother is with us.' Then your servant, my father, said to us, 'You know that my wife bore me only two children; then one of them left me, and I think he must surely have been torn to pieces; for I have never seen him since. If then you take this one from me too, and harm befall him, you will bring down my gray hairs to Sheol in trouble.'

30 "And now, when I rejoin your servant, my father, and the boy not with us, his life is so bound up with the boy's that he will die when he sees that there is no boy, and your servants will bring down the gray hairs of your servant, our father, to Sheol in sorrow; for your servant went surety for the boy to my father, saying, 'If I do not 33 bring him back to you, you may blame me for it all my life.' Now then, pray let your servant remain in the boy's place as my lord's 34 slave, but let the boy go back with his brothers; for how can I go back to my father unless the boy is with me, and witness the agony that would come to my father?"

45 Joseph could no longer control himself before all his attendants, so he cried out,

"Have everyone withdraw from me."

So there was no one with Joseph when he made himself known to 2 his brothers; but he wept so loudly that the Egyptians heard it, and 3 Pharaoh's household heard it. Joseph said to his brothers,

"I am Joseph. Is my father still living?"

But his brothers could not answer him, because they were so dis-
4 mayed at being in his presence. So Joseph said to his brothers,

"Come nearer to me."

When they came nearer, he said,

5 "I am your brother Joseph whom you sold into Egypt. Now do not be distressed nor angry with yourselves that you sold me here; for 6 it was to save life that God sent me ahead of you; for it is two years now that the famine has prevailed in the land, but there are still five 7 years in which there will be no ploughing or reaping. God sent me ahead of you to insure you a remnant in the earth, and to be the 8 means of a remarkable escape for you. So then it was not you, but God who sent me here, and made me a father to Pharaoh, lord of all 9 his house, and ruler over all the land of Egypt. Hurry back to my father and say to him, "Thus speaks your son Joseph: "Since God has 10 made me lord of all Egypt, come down to me without delay. You shall live in the land of Goshen, and be near me, you, your sons, your grandsons, your flocks, your herds, and all that belong to you;
11 and there I will provide for you, lest you, your household and all that belong to you come to want; for there are still five years of famine 12 to come." You can see for yourselves and my brother Benjamin for 13 himself that it is I who speak to you. You must tell my father all about my splendor in Egypt, and all that you have seen; hurry and bring my father here."

14 Then he fell on the neck of his brother Benjamin and wept, while 15 Benjamin wept on his neck. He kissed all his brothers, and wept on their shoulders, after which his brothers talked with him.

16 When the news was received at Pharaoh's palace that Joseph's brothers had arrived, Pharaoh was delighted, as were also his court-17 iers. Pharaoh said to Joseph,

“Say to your brothers, ‘Do this: load your animals, go back to the 18 land of Canaan, and taking your father and your households, come to me, and I will give you the best of the land of Egypt, so that you 19 shall eat the fat of the land. Also, carry out this order: take wagons from the land of Egypt for your little ones and your wives; convey 20 your father in them, and come back. Never mind your goods; for the best of the whole land of Egypt will be yours.’”

21 The sons of Israel did so. Joseph gave them wagons in accord with the command of Pharaoh, and he also gave them provisions for the 22 journey. To each of them he gave a festal garment, but to Benjamin 23 he gave three hundred shekels of silver and five festal garments. To his father he sent likewise ten asses loaded with the best products of Egypt, and ten she-asses loaded with grain, bread, and provisions for 24 his father on the journey. Then he sent his brothers away; and as they left, he said to them,

“Do not get too excited on the way.”

25 So they went up from Egypt, and came to the land of Canaan, to their father Jacob.

26 “Joseph is still living, and he is ruler over all the land of Egypt,” they told him.

27 But he was so stunned that he would not believe them. However, when they told him all that Joseph had said to them, and he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent to convey him, their father Jacob recovered.

28 “Enough!” said Israel; “my son Joseph is still living; I will go and see him before I die.”

46 So Israel set out with all that belonged to him. On reaching Beer-
2 sheba, he offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. In a vision by night God spoke to Israel.

“Jacob! Jacob!” he said.

“Here I am,” he said.

3 “I am El, the God of your father,” he said; “do not be afraid to 4 go down to Egypt; for there I will make you a great nation. I will myself go down to Egypt with you—yes, and I will bring you up again, when Joseph’s hand shall close your eyes.”

5 Then Jacob set out from Beersheba; and the sons of Israel conveyed their father Jacob, with their little ones and their wives, in the 6 wagons which Pharaoh had sent to convey him. Taking their live stock and the property which they had acquired in the land of Canaan, 7 Jacob and all his descendants migrated to Egypt; his sons and his grandsons accompanied him, as well as his daughters and his granddaughters; he brought all his descendants with him into Egypt.

8 The following are the names of the Israelites, Jacob and his children, who migrated to Egypt: Reuben, Jacob's first-born, and the sons 9 of Reuben, Hanoah, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi; the sons of Simeon, 10 Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman; the sons of Levi, Gershon, Kohath, and Merari; 11 the sons of Judah, Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah, of whom Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan, and the sons of Perez were 12 Hezron and Hamul; the sons of Issachar, Tola, Puvvah, Job, and 13 Shimron; the sons of Zebulun, Sered, Elon, and Jahleel (these were 14 the sons which Leah bore to Jacob in Paddan-aram, together with 15 his daughter Dinah, the total number of his sons and daughters being 16 thirty-three); the sons of Gad, Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, 17 Arodi, and Areli; the sons of Asher, Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah, with their sister Serah, and the sons of Beriah, Heber and Malchiel (these were the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to his daughter Leah; these she bore to Jacob—sixteen persons); the sons of 18 Jacob's wife Rachel, Joseph and Benjamin, and to Joseph in the land of Egypt were born Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, the 19 daughter of Potiphera, priest of On, bore to him; the sons of Benjamin, Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim, and Ard (these were the sons of Rachel, who were born to 20 Jacob—a total of fourteen persons); the son of Dan, Hushim; the 21 sons of Naphtali, Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem (these were the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to his daughter Rachel; these she 22 bore to Jacob—a total of seven persons). The total number of persons belonging to Jacob who came to Egypt, his direct descendants, 23 excluding the wives of his sons, was sixty-six; but the sons of Joseph that were born to him in Egypt were two, the total number of persons 24 belonging to Jacob's household who migrated to Egypt being seventy.

25 Israel sent Judah ahead of him to Joseph in Goshen, to appear before him. On their arrival in the land of Goshen Joseph hitched up his chariot, and went up to meet his father Israel in Goshen. When he presented himself to him, he fell on his neck, weeping again and again on his neck.

30 "Now at last I can die," Israel said to Joseph, "now that I have seen from your very self that you are still alive."

31 Then Joseph said to his brothers and his father's household,

"I will go and tell Pharaoh, and say to him, 'My brothers and my father's household who used to live in the land of Canaan have come to me. Since the men are shepherds, having to do with live stock, they have brought their flocks and herds and everything that they own.' Accordingly, when Pharaoh summons you, and says to you, 'What is your occupation?' you must say, 'Your servants have been concerned with live stock from our youth until now, both we and our fathers'—in order that you may settle in the land of Goshen; for shepherds are all abhorrent to the Egyptians."

47 So Joseph came and told Pharaoh.

"My father and brothers," he said, "together with their flocks and herds and everything that they own, have come from the land of Canaan, and are now in the land of Goshen."

2 Taking five of the ablest of his brothers, he presented them to Pharaoh.

3 "What is your occupation?" Pharaoh said to his brothers.

"Your servants are shepherds," they said to Pharaoh, "both we and our fathers." "We have come to settle as immigrants in the land," they said to Pharaoh; "for there is no pasture for the flocks belonging to your servants, because the famine is so severe in the land of Canaan. Pray let your servants settle, then, in the land of Goshen."

5 Then Pharaoh said to Joseph,

6 "Now that your father and brothers have joined you, the land of Egypt is at your disposal; settle your father and brothers in the best part of the land; let them settle in the land of Goshen, and if you know of any competent men among them, put them in charge of my own live stock."

7 Then Joseph brought his father Jacob and presented him to Pharaoh, and Jacob paid his respects to Pharaoh.

8 "How old are you?" Pharaoh said to Jacob.

9 "The length of my life as an immigrant has been one hundred and thirty years," Jacob said to Pharaoh; "few and hard have been the years of my life; they have not equaled the number of years that my fathers lived in their lifetime as immigrants."

10 After paying his respects to Pharaoh, Jacob withdrew from the presence of Pharaoh.

11 So Joseph settled his father and brothers, giving them property in the land of Egypt in the very best part of the land, in the land of 12 Rameses, as Pharaoh had commanded. Joseph provided his father and brothers and all his father's household with food sufficient for the needs of the dependants.

13 There was now no food anywhere in the land; for the famine was very severe, so that the lands of Egypt and Canaan were languishing
14 because of the famine. Joseph had gathered up all the money that was to be found in the lands of Egypt and Canaan in payment for the grain which was bought, and had brought the money to Pharaoh's 15 palace. So when the money was exhausted in the lands of Egypt and Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph, saying,

"Give us food; why should we die right under your eyes, just because our money is gone?"

16 "Give me your live stock," said Joseph; "I will give you food in exchange for your live stock, if your money is gone."

17 So they brought their live stock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them food in exchange for horses, sheep, cattle, and asses; thus he supported them with food that year in exchange for all their live stock.

18 When that year was over, they came to him the next year, and said to him,

"We would hide nothing from my lord; but our money is gone, and our live stock has come into the possession of my lord; there is 19 nothing left for my lord except our persons and our lands. Why should we perish before your very eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land in exchange for food, and we and our land shall become feudatory to Pharaoh; but give us seed that we may live and not die, and the land not become a waste."

20 So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for everyone of the Egyptians sold his field, because the famine was so severe on 21 them. Thus the land became Pharaoh's, and the people themselves he transferred to the towns from one end of Egypt's domain to the 22 other. It was only the priests' land that he did not buy; for the priests had a subvention from Pharaoh, and lived off the subvention which Pharaoh gave them; that was why they did not have to sell their land.

23 "Observe," said Joseph to the people, "that I have today bought you and your land for Pharaoh. Here is seed for you to sow the land;
24 one-fifth of the crop you shall give to Pharaoh, and four-fifths shall go to yourselves as seed for the fields, and as food for yourselves and your households, and as food for your little ones."

25 "You have saved our lives," they said; "we would thank my lord; and we will become slaves to Pharaoh."

26 So Joseph made it a statute for the land in Egypt, which continues to this day, that a fifth of the produce should go to Pharaoh, the land of the priests alone being exempt from Pharaoh's claims.

27 So the Israelites settled in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen, where they acquired property, were prolific, and became very numerous.

28 Jacob lived in the land of Egypt for seventeen years, so that the length of Jacob's life was one hundred and forty-seven years.

29 When the time approached for Israel to die, he summoned his son Joseph, and said to him,

"If I have found favor with you, pray put your hand under my thigh and swear that you will deal kindly and faithfully by me; please do not bury me in Egypt, but let me sleep with my fathers; take me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burial-place."

"I will do as you say," he said.

31 "Give me your oath," he said.

So he gave him his oath, whereupon Israel settled back on the head of his bed.

48 Some time after this word was brought to Joseph,

"Your father is ill."

So he took his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, with him, and came to see Jacob. Then Jacob was told,

"Your son Joseph has just come to see you."

Collecting his strength, Israel sat up in bed.

3 "God Almighty appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessed me," Jacob said to Joseph; "he said to me, 'I will make you prolific and numerous, I will make you a company of peoples, and I will give this land to your descendants as a possession for all time.'

5 I do therefore adopt your two sons that were born to you in the land of Egypt before I joined you in Egypt; Ephraim and Manasseh shall

6 be as much mine as Reuben and Simeon. But the children that were born to you after them are to be counted to you; upon receiving their

7 heritage they shall be called by the names of their brothers. It was when I was coming from Paddan that Rachel to my sorrow died in the land of Canaan, some little distance from the vicinity of Ephrath, and I buried her there on the road to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem)."

8 When Israel saw Joseph's sons, he said,

"Who are these?"

- 9 Joseph said to his father,
“They are my sons, whom God has given me here.”
“Bring them to me,” he said, “that I may bless them.”
- 10 (Now Israel’s eyes were so dim with age that he could not see.)
So Joseph brought them up to him, and he kissed them, and embraced them.
- 11 “I never expected to see even you,” Israel said to Joseph, “and here God has let me see your children as well!”
- 12 Then Joseph removed them from his knees, and bowed on his face to the ground.
- 13 Joseph took the two of them, Ephraim in his right hand at Israel’s left, and Manasseh in his left hand at Israel’s right, and he brought
- 14 them up to him. But Israel stretched out his right hand and put it on the head of Ephraim, although he was the younger, and his left hand on the head of Manasseh, confusing his hands, because Manasseh was the first-born.
- 15 He blessed Joseph, saying,
“May the God in whose favor my fathers, Abraham and Isaac, lived, the God who has been my shepherd all my life long until this
- 16 day, the angel who has delivered me from all harm—may he bless the lads, so that my name may be carried on through them, together with the names of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac; may they grow into multitudes in the earth.”
- 17 When Joseph saw that his father was putting his right hand on the head of Ephraim, it distressed him; so he seized his father’s hand in order to remove it from the head of Ephraim to that of Manasseh.
- 18 “Not so, my father,” Joseph said to his father; “for this one is the first-born; put your right hand on his head.”
- 19 But his father refused, saying,
“I know, my son, I know; he too shall become a people, and he too shall be great, but his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his descendants shall fill the world.”
- 20 So he blessed them that day, saying,
“The Israelites will invoke blessings on one another through you, saying, ‘May God make you like Ephraim and Manasseh!’”—thus putting Ephraim before Manasseh.
- 21 Then Israel said to Joseph,
“I am about to die, but God will be with you, and will bring you
- 22 back to the land of your fathers. As the one above your brothers I hereby give you Shechem, which I captured from the Amorites with my sword and bow."

THE BLESSING OF JACOB, 49:1-28

- 49 Then Jacob summoned his sons, and said,
 "Come together that I may tell you what is to befall you in days to come:
- 2 Gather round and listen, you sons of Jacob;
 Listen to Israel, your father.
- 3 Reuben, you are my first-born,
 My strength and the first issue of my manly vigor;
 Excessively proud and excessively fierce,
- 4 Turbulent as water—you shall no longer excel;
 For you went up to your father's bed;
 So I degraded him who went up to my couch.
- 5 Simeon and Levi are brothers;
 Ruthless weapons are their daggers.
- 6 I will never enter their circle;
 I will never join in their assembly;
 For in their anger they slay men,
 And in their normal mood they hamstring oxen.
- 7 Cursed be their anger, for it is fierce,
 And their wrath, for it is cruel!
 I will disperse them throughout Jacob,
 And scatter them throughout Israel.
- 8 Your brothers shall praise you, O Judah;
 With your hand on the necks of your foes,
 Your father's sons shall bow down to you.
- 9 A lion's whelp is Judah;
 On prey you have grown up, my son.
 He crouches, he couches as a lion,
 As an old lion; who dare disturb him?
- 10 The sceptre shall never depart from Judah,
 Nor the staff from between his feet,
 Until his ruler comes,
 To whom the peoples shall be obedient.
- 11 He tethers his ass to the vine,

- And his ass's colt to the choicest vine;
He washes his garments in wine,
And his robes in the blood of grapes;
12 His eyes are darker than wine,
And his teeth whiter than milk.
- 13 Zebulun shall dwell by the seashore;
He shall be a haven for ships,
With his flank at Sidon.
- 14 Issachar is a sturdy ass,
Lounging among the ravines;
15 He saw that settled life was good,
And that the land was pleasant;
So he offered his shoulder to bear burdens,
And became a gang-slave.
- 16 Dan shall judge his people,
As any other of the tribes of Israel.
17 May Dan be a serpent by the roadside,
A viper beside the path,
That bites the horse's hoofs,
So that its rider tumbles backward.
- 18 For succor from thee, O LORD, I wait!
19 As for Gad, raiders shall raid him,
But he shall raid their rear.
- 20 As for Asher, his food shall be rich,
And he shall yield royal dainties.
- 21 Naphtali is a free-ranging deer,
That bears beautiful fawns.
- 22 Joseph is a young bull,
A young bull at a spring,
A wild-ass at Shur.
23 Shooting at him in enmity,
The archers fiercely assailed him;
24 But their bow was broken by the Eternal,
And their arms and hands trembled,

- At the might of the Mighty One of Jacob,
 At the name of the Shepherd, the Rock of Israel,
 25 At your father's God, who helps you,
 And God Almighty, who blesses you
 With the blessings of the heavens above,
 The blessings of the abyss couching below;
 The blessings of breast and of womb,
 26 The blessings of fatherhood, yea of man and child;
 The blessings of the ancient mountains,
 The dainties of the eternal hills—
 May these rest on the head of Joseph,
 And on the brow of him who was cursed by his brothers!
- 27 Benjamin is a ravenous wolf;
 Devouring prey in the morning,
 And dividing spoil at evening."

28 All these constituted the twelve tribes of Israel, and this was what their father said to them. He blessed them, bestowing on each the blessing suited to him.

THE DEATH AND BURIAL OF JACOB, AND THE DEATH OF JOSEPH, 49:29—50:26

29 He then gave them a charge.

"I am about to be gathered to my fathers," he said to them; "bury me with my fathers in the cave which is in the field of Ephron, the 30 Hittite, the cave in the field at Machpelah, which faces Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which along with the field Abraham bought from 31 Ephron, the Hittite, for use as a burial-ground of his own. It was there that Abraham and his wife Sarah were buried; it was there that Isaac and his wife Rebekah were buried; and it was there that I bur-
 32 ied Leah—the field with the cave in it having been purchased from the Hittites."

33 After Jacob had finished giving his instructions to his sons, he drew his feet up into the bed, breathed his last, and was gathered to his fathers.

50 Joseph fell on his father's face, weeping over him, and kissing him.
 2 He then ordered the physicians among his slaves to embalm his father.
 3 So the physicians embalmed Israel, spending forty days at it; for that is the time that it takes to embalm. There was weeping for him in Egypt for seventy days.

4 After the days of weeping for him were over, Joseph said to Pharaoh's household,

5 "If perchance I find favor with you, please tell Pharaoh this: 'My father exacted an oath of me, saying, "Here am I at the point of death; you must bury me in the sepulchre that I dug for myself in the land of Canaan." Now then, let me go up and bury my father, after which I will return.'"

6 Whereupon Pharaoh said,

"Go up and bury your father, as he made you swear."

7 So Joseph went up to bury his father, and with him went all of Pharaoh's courtiers, the elders of his household, and all the elders of 8 the land of Egypt, as well as all of Joseph's own household, his brothers, and his father's household, leaving only their children and their 9 flocks and herds in the land of Goshen. Both chariotry and cavalry went up with him, so that there was a very large caravan.

10 Arriving at Goren-Atad, which is beyond the Jordan, they held a very great and sorrowful lamentation there; and Joseph observed a 11 seven day period of mourning for his father. When the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, saw the mourning at Goren-Atad, they said,

"This is a sorrowful mourning that the Egyptians are observing."

That is how its name came to be called Abel-Mizraim [mourning of the Egyptians], which is beyond the Jordan.

12 Jacob's sons did with him just as he had commanded them; his sons
13 carried him to the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave in the field at Machpelah, which faces Mamre, which field Abraham had bought for use as a burial-ground of his own from Ephron, the Hittite. After burying his father, Joseph returned to Egypt with his brothers and all who had gone up with him to bury his father.

14 Realizing that their father was dead, Joseph's brothers said,

"Suppose Joseph should take an aversion to us, and pay us back for all the harm that we did him!"

15 So they sent a message to Joseph, saying,

16 "Before his death your father gave this command: 'Thus shall you say to Joseph: "Pray forgive the crime and sin of your brothers in doing you harm."' So now, please forgive the crime of the servants of your father's God."

18 Joseph wept when they spoke to him, and his brothers themselves went and fell down before him, saying,

“Here we are, your slaves!”

19 But Joseph said to them,

20 “Do not be afraid; for can I take God’s place? You meant to do me harm, but God accounted it good, in order to do as he has done to-day: save the lives of many people. So now, do not be afraid; I myself will provide for you and your dependants.”

Thus he reassured them, speaking kindly to them.

22 So Joseph and his father’s household lived in Egypt. Joseph lived 23 one hundred and ten years, living to see the third generation of Ephraim’s children; the sons, too, of Machir, the son of Manasseh, were born on the knees of Joseph.

24 Then Joseph said to his brothers,

“I am about to die; but God will be sure to take note of you, and take you up out of this land to the land which he promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.”

25 Joseph then made the sons of Israel swear,

“When God does indeed take note of you, you must take my bones up with you from here.”

26 So Joseph died at the age of one hundred and ten years; and he was embalmed, and placed in a coffin in Egypt.

THE BOOK OF EXODUS

THE OPPRESSION OF THE HEBREWS IN EGYPT, 1:1-22

1 The following are the names of the sons of Israel who came to 2 Egypt in the company of Jacob, each with his household: Reuben, 3 Simeon, Levi, and Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, Dan and 4 Naphtali, Gad and Asher. The total number of persons that were 5 direct descendants of Jacob was seventy, Joseph being already in 6 Egypt. Then Joseph died, and likewise all his brothers and all that 7 generation; but the Israelites were fruitful and prolific; they increased in numbers, and grew greater and greater, so that the land was filled with them.

8 Then a new king rose over Egypt, who knew nothing about Joseph;
9 he said to his people,

“See, the Israelite people have become too numerous and too strong 10 for us; come, let us take precautions against them lest they become so numerous that in the case of a war they should join forces with our enemies and fight against us, and so escape from the land.”

11 Accordingly, gang-foremen were put in charge of them, to oppress them with their heavy labor; and they built Pithom and Raamses as 12 store-cities for Pharaoh. But the more they oppressed them, the more they multiplied and expanded, so that they became apprehensive about the Israelites.

13 The Egyptians reduced the Israelites to rigorous slavery; they 14 made life bitter for them in hard work with mortar and bricks, and in all kinds of work in the fields, all the work that they exacted of them being rigorous.

15 Then the king of Egypt spoke to the midwives attending the Hebrew women, of whom the name of one was Shiphrah and that of the other Puah.

16 “When you act as midwives for the Hebrew women,” he said, “you are to look at the genitals; if it is a boy, you must kill him, but if it is a girl, she may live.”

17 But the midwives stood in awe of God, and so did not do as the 18 king of Egypt told them, but let the male children live. So the king of Egypt summoned the midwives, and said to them,

“Why have you done this: let the male children live?”

- 19 The midwives said to Pharaoh,
 “Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women; but are animals, in that they are delivered before the midwife reaches them!”
- 20 So God was good to the midwives; the people multiplied and grew 21 very numerous, and because the midwives stood in awe of God, they established families for them.
- 22 So Pharaoh commanded all his people,
 “Every boy that is born to the Hebrews, you must throw into the Nile, but you are to let all the girls live.”

THE RISE OF THE DELIVERER, MOSES, 2:1—7:13

- 2 Now a man belonging to the house of Levi went and married the 2 daughter of Levi. The woman conceived and bore a son, and seeing that he was robust, she hid him for three months. When she could no
 3 longer hide him, she procured an ark of papyrus reeds for him, and daubing it with bitumen and pitch, she put the child in it, and placed 4 it among the reeds beside the bank of the Nile. His sister posted herself some distance away to see what would happen to him.
- 5 Presently Pharaoh’s daughter came down to bathe at the Nile, while her maids walked on the bank of the Nile. Then she saw the 6 ark among the reeds and sent her maid to get it. On opening it, she saw the child, and it was a boy crying! She took pity on him, and said, “This is one of the Hebrews’ children.”
- 7 Thereupon his sister said to Pharaoh’s daughter, “Shall I go and summon a nurse for you from the Hebrew women, to nurse the child for you?”
- 8 “Go,” said Pharaoh’s daughter to her.
- 9 So the girl went and called the child’s mother, to whom Pharaoh’s daughter said, “Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will pay the wages due you.”
- 10 So the woman took the child and nursed him; and when the child grew up, she brought him to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son. She called his name Moses [drawn out]; “For,” said she, “I drew him out of the water.”
- 11 It was in those days that Moses, now grown up, went out to visit his fellow-countrymen and noted their heavy labor. He saw an Egyptian kill a Hebrew, one of his own countrymen; so, looking this way and that, and seeing that there was no one in sight, he killed the 13 Egyptian, and hid him in the sand. Another day, when he went out, there were two Hebrews fighting! So he said to him that was in the wrong,
- 12

“Why do you strike your companion?”

14 He replied,

“Who made you ruler and judge over us? Are you thinking of murdering me as you did the Egyptian?”

Then was Moses afraid. “The incident must surely be known,”
he thought.

15 When Pharaoh heard about the matter, he tried to kill Moses, but Moses fled from Pharaoh and went to the land of Midian, and sat down beside a well.

16 Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters, who came to draw 17 water, and fill the troughs to water their father’s flock, but some shepherds came and drove them off. So Moses went to their rescue 18 and watered their flock. When they came home to their father Reuel,
he said,

“How did you come to get home so soon today?”

19 They said,

“An Egyptian protected us against the shepherds; he even drew water for us, and watered the flock.”

20 “Then where is he?” he said to his daughters. “Why did you leave the man behind? Invite him to have a meal.”

21 When Moses agreed to live with the man, he gave Moses his 22 daughter Zipporah in marriage; and she bore a son, whom he named Gershom [immigrant]; “For,” said he, “I am an immigrant in a foreign land.”

23 In the course of this long time the king of Egypt died. The Israelites, groaning under their bondage, cried for help, and their cry 24 because of their bondage came up to God. God heard their moaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob;
25 God saw the plight of Israel, and took cognizance of it.

3 While Moses was tending the flock of his father-in-law, Jethro, the priest of Midian, he led the flock to the western side of the desert, 2 and came to the mountain of God, Horeb. Then the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire, rising out of a bush. He looked, and there was the bush burning with fire without being con-3 sumed! So Moses said,

"I will turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not burned up."

4 When the LORD saw that he had turned aside to look at it, God called to him out of the bush.

"Moses, Moses!" he said.

"Here I am!" said he.

5 "Do not come near here," he said; "take your sandals off your feet; for the place on which you are standing is holy ground." "I am the God of your father," he said, "the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob."

Then Moses hid his face; for he was afraid to look at God.

7 "I have indeed seen the plight of my people who are in Egypt," the LORD said, "and I have heard their cry under their oppressors; for 8 I know their sorrows, and I have come down to rescue them from the Egyptians and bring them up out of that land to a land, fine and large, to a land abounding in milk and honey, to the country of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites. Now the cry of the Israelites has reached me, and I have also seen how the 10 Egyptians are oppressing them; so come now, let me send you to Pharaoh, that you may bring my people, the Israelites, out of Egypt."

11 But Moses said to God,

"Who am I, to go to Pharaoh and bring the Israelites out of Egypt?"

12 "I will be with you," he said; "and this shall be the sign for you that I have sent you. When you bring the people out of Egypt, you shall serve God at this mountain."

13 "But," said Moses to God, "in case I go to the Israelites and say to them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you,' and they say to me, 'What is his name?' what am I to say to them?"

14 "I am who I am," God said to Moses. Then he said, "This is what you are to say to the Israelites: 'I am' has sent me to you.'"

15 God said further to Moses,

"This is what you are to say to the Israelites: 'The LORD, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, has sent me to you.' This is my name for all time, and this is my title for age after 16 age. Go and assemble the elders of Israel, and say to them, 'The LORD, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, has appeared to me, saying, 'I have given careful heed to you and 17 your treatment in Egypt, and I have resolved to bring you up out of your tribulation in Egypt to the land of the Canaanites, Hittites,

Amorites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites, to a land abounding in 18 milk and honey.” They will heed your appeal; and then you and the elders of Israel shall come to the king of Egypt and say to him, “The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has paid us a visit; so now, let us make a three days’ journey into the desert to offer sacrifices to the 19 LORD our God.” I know, however, that the king of Egypt will not 20 let you go without the use of force; so I will stretch out my hand and smite Egypt with all the marvels that I shall perform in it; after that 21 he will let you go. And I will bring this people into such favor with the Egyptians that you shall not go away empty-handed when you do 22 leave; each woman must ask her neighbor and the guest in her home for articles of silver and gold, and for clothing, which you are to put on your sons and daughters. Thus shall you despoil the Egyptians.” 4 “But suppose they will not believe me,” answered Moses, “nor heed my plea, but say, ‘The LORD did not appear to you.’”

2 The LORD said to him,
“What have you in your hand?”
“A staff,” he said.

3 “Throw it on the ground,” said he.

He threw it on the ground, and it became a snake. Moses ran away
4 from it, but the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand and lay hold of its tail”—stretching out his 5 hand, he seized it, and it became a staff in his hand—“in order that they may be convinced that the LORD, the God of their fathers, did appear to you, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.”

6 The LORD said further to him,
“Put your hand into your bosom.”

He put his hand into his bosom, and when he took it out, there was his hand leprous, as white as snow!

7 “Put your hand back into your bosom,” he said.

He put his hand back into his bosom, and when he took it out of his bosom, there it was, like the rest of his body again.

8 “If they will not believe you, nor accept the evidence of the first 9 sign, they may acknowledge the evidence of the second. If they will not be convinced by even these two signs, nor heed your plea, you are to take some water from the Nile and pour it on the dry ground; and the water that you take from the Nile shall become blood on the dry ground.”

10 But Moses said to the LORD,

“Pray, O Lord, I have been no speaker, neither in the past nor recently, nor since thou hast spoken to thy servant; but I am slow of speech and slow of tongue."

11 The LORD said to him,

"Who gives man a mouth, or makes him dumb, or deaf, or lame, or blind? Is it not I, the LORD? Now go; I will help you to speak, and will instruct you what to say."

12 But he said,

"Pray, O Lord, commission whom thou wilt."

13 Then the anger of the LORD blazed against Moses, and he said,

"Is there not your brother Aaron, the Levite? I know that he is a ready speaker, and further, he is just coming out to meet you, and will be overjoyed at seeing you. You must speak to him, and put the words in his mouth; I will help both you and him to speak, and I will instruct you both what to do. He shall speak for you to the people; he shall serve as a mouthpiece for you, and you shall act the part of God to him. You must take this staff in your hand, with which to perform the signs."

14 Then Moses went off, and returning to his father-in-law Jethro, said to him,

"Pray let me go back to my relatives in Egypt, to see whether they are still living."

"Go in peace," said Jethro to Moses.

15 The LORD said to Moses in Midian,

"Go, return to Egypt; for all the men who sought your life are dead."

16 So Moses took his wife and sons, and mounted them on asses, to return to the land of Egypt; Moses also took the staff of God in his hand.

17 The LORD said to Moses,

"When you return to Egypt, see that you perform before Pharaoh all the portents which I have put in your power; but I will make him obstinate, so that he will not let the people go. You are to say to Pharaoh, 'Thus says the LORD: "Israel is my first-born son; so I said to you, 'Let my son go, that he may serve me; but you refused to let him go; accordingly I am going to slay your first-born son.''" "

18 At a camping place in the course of the journey the LORD encountered him, and tried to kill him. So Zipporah took a flint, and cutting off her son's foreskin, she touched his person with it, saying,

"You are my bridegroom in blood."

19 Then he let him alone.

At that time a person when circumcised was spoken of as a bridegroom in blood.

27 The LORD said to Aaron,

“Go into the desert to meet Moses.”

So he went; and he met him at the mountain of God and kissed

28 him. Then Moses told Aaron all that the LORD had commissioned 29 him to say and all the signs that he had commanded him to perform.

30 So Moses and Aaron went and assembled all the elders of the Israel-

31 ites, and Aaron spoke all the words that the LORD had spoken to

Moses, and performed the signs in the sight of the people, so that the people believed. When they heard that the LORD had taken note of the Israelites and had marked their plight, they bowed their heads in homage.

5 Following this, Moses and Aaron came and said to Pharaoh,

“Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: ‘Let my people go, that they may hold a feast for me in the desert.’”

2 But Pharaoh said,

“Who is the LORD that I should heed his plea to let Israel go? I know nothing about the LORD, and besides, I will not let Israel go.”

3 They said,

“The God of the Hebrews has paid us a visit; pray let us make a three days’ journey into the desert to offer sacrifices to the LORD our God, lest he strike us with pestilence or sword.”

4 “Moses and Aaron,” said the king of Egypt to them, “why would you draw the people from their work? Mind your own business.”

5 “The people of the land are lazy as it is,” said Pharaoh, “and yet you would relieve them of their burdens!”

6 So that same day Pharaoh commanded the taskmasters in charge of the people and their foremen,

7 “You must no longer provide the people with straw for making

8 bricks as previously; let them go and gather straw for themselves. But you must require of them the same quantity of bricks that they have been making in the past, without diminishing it at all; for they are lazy; that is why they are crying, ‘Let us go and offer sacrifices to our

9 God.’ Let heavier work be loaded on the men, that they may give their attention to it and not to lying words.”

10 So the taskmasters and foremen of the people departed, and said to the people,

“Thus says Pharaoh: ‘I am not going to provide you with straw;

11 go and get straw for yourselves wherever you can find it; but there is to be no reduction in your output.”

12 So the people scattered all over the land of Egypt in search of stubble for straw, while the taskmasters urged them on, saying,

“Complete your quota of work day by day, as when the straw was provided for you.”

14 The Israelite foremen were beaten, and Pharaoh’s taskmasters took them to task, saying,

“Why have you not completed your prescribed amount of brick-making as usual, today just as previously?”

15 Then the Israelite foremen came and appealed to Pharaoh,

16 “Why do you treat your servants like this? There is no straw provided for your servants, and yet we are told to make bricks, and your servants get beaten, whereas the fault lies with you.”

17 But he said,

“You are lazy, lazy; that is why you say, ‘Let us go and offer sacrifices to the LORD.’ Be off now to your work; straw shall not be provided for you, but you must deliver the set quantity of bricks.”

19 Then the Israelite foremen saw that they were in an evil plight in having to say, “You must make no reduction in your daily quota of bricks.”

20 On leaving the presence of Pharaoh they met Moses and Aaron who were waiting for them, and said to them,

“May the LORD turn his attention to you, and punish you for giving us an unsavory reputation with Pharaoh and his courtiers, by putting a sword into their hands to slay us!”

22 Then Moses turned again to the LORD, and said,

“O Lord, why hast thou brought evil on this people? Why didst thou ever send me? Ever since I came to Pharaoh to speak in thy name, he has ill-treated this people; and thou hast done nothing to deliver thy people!”

6 The LORD said to Moses,

“Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh; compelled by a mighty power he will not only let them go, but will drive them out of his land.”

2 God spoke to Moses, saying to him,

3 “I am the LORD; I appeared to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as God Almighty, but did not make myself known to them by my name

4 Yahweh [the LORD]. I also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land in which they settled as immi-

- 5 grants. And it is I too, who have heard the groaning of the Israelites whom the Egyptians have enslaved, and I remember my covenant.
- 6 Accordingly, say to the Israelites, 'I am the LORD; I will free you from the burdens of the Egyptians, and will deliver you from their bondage, and will rescue you by an outstretched arm and by mighty
- 7 acts of judgment; I will take you as my own people, and I will be your God, and you shall know that it is I, the LORD your God, who
- 8 shall free you from the burdens of the Egyptians. I will bring you to the land which by uplifted hand I promised to give to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and I will give it to you as your very own, I, the LORD.' "
- 9 Moses told this to the Israelites, but they would not listen to Moses
- 10 because of their impatience and hard service. Then the LORD said to Moses,
- 11 "Go in and speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, about letting the Israelites leave his land."
- 12 But Moses protested to the LORD,
- "Seeing that the Israelites have not listened to me, how will Pharaoh ever listen to me, poor speaker that I am?"
- 13 The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, and gave them a commission to the Israelites and to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to bring the Israelites out of the land of Egypt.
- 14 The following were the heads of their clans: the sons of Reuben, Israel's first-born, Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi, these being the
- 15 families of Reuben; the sons of Simeon, Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman, these being the families of Simeon.
- 16 The following are the names of the sons of Levi in their genealogical order: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari (the length of Levi's life
- 17 being one hundred and thirty-seven years); the sons of Gershon, arranged by families, Libni and Shimei; the sons of Kohath, Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel (the length of Kohath's life being one
- 18 hundred and thirty-three years); the sons of Merari, Mahli and Mushi. These were the families of the Levites in their genealogical order.
- 19
- 20 Now Amram married his father's sister Jochebed, who bore him Aaron and Moses (the length of Amram's life being one hundred
- 21 and thirty-seven years). The sons of Izhar were Korah, Nepheg, and
- 22 Zichri; and the sons of Uzziel, Mishaël, Elzaphan, and Sithri. Aaron
- 23 married Elisheba, the daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon,
- 24 who bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. The sons of Korah were Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph; these were the families of 25 the Korahites. Aaron's son, Eleazar, married one of the daughters of Putiel, who bore him Phinehas. These were the heads of the Levitical clans, arranged by families.

26 Such were the Aaron and Moses, to whom the LORD said,

“Bring the Israelites out of the land of Egypt with their hosts.”

27 It was they who spoke to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, about bringing the Israelites out of Egypt; it was that Moses and Aaron.

28 The day that the LORD spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, the 29 LORD said to Moses,

“I am the LORD; tell Pharaoh, king of Egypt, all that I am telling you.”

30 But Moses protested to the LORD,

“Seeing that I am a poor speaker, how will Pharaoh ever listen to me?”

7 The LORD said to Moses,

“See, I make you a god to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron shall

2 serve as your spokesman. You must tell him all that I command you, and then your brother Aaron shall tell it to Pharaoh, to the end that he

3 may let the Israelites leave his land. But I will make Pharaoh obstinate; then I will perform many signs and portents in the land of 4 Egypt, and if Pharaoh will not listen to you, I will lay my hand on Egypt and will bring my hosts, my people, the Israelites, out of the 5 land of Egypt by mighty acts of judgment. Then shall the Egyptians know that I am the LORD, when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring the Israelites from their midst.”

6 Moses and Aaron did so; they did just as the LORD commanded 7 them. Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty-three, when they spoke to Pharaoh.

8 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

9 “If Pharaoh says to you, ‘Produce a portent,’ you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down in front of Pharaoh,’ and it will become a reptile.”

10 So Moses and Aaron obtained audience with Pharaoh and did just as the LORD had commanded them; Aaron threw his staff down in 11 front of Pharaoh and his courtiers, and it became a reptile. Then Pharaoh on his part summoned the sages and sorcerers, and they too,

12 the magicians of Egypt, did the same with their secret arts; each threw down his staff, and they became reptiles; but Aaron's staff swal-

13 lowed up theirs. Pharaoh, however, remained obstinate and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said.

THE PLAGUES ON EGYPT, 7:14—12:28

14 The LORD said to Moses,

15 "Pharaoh is stubborn; he refuses to let the people go. Go to Pharaoh in the morning, just as he is leaving the water; take your stand on the banks of the Nile so as to meet him, and take in your hand the staff that was turned into a snake. You shall say to him, 'The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, sent me to you to say, "Let my people go, that they may serve me in the desert."' Since you have not as yet 16 obeyed, thus says the LORD, "By this you shall know that I am the LORD—I am going to strike the water in the Nile with the staff that 17 is in my hand, and it will turn into blood, so that the fish in the Nile shall die and the Nile itself shall become foul, and the Egyptians shall search in vain for water to drink out of the Nile."'"

19 The LORD said to Moses,

"Say to Aaron, 'Take your staff, and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over its rivers, streams, ponds, and all its reservoirs, that they may become blood, so that there may be blood all through the land of Egypt, in both pails and stone jars.'"

20 Moses and Aaron did so, just as the LORD commanded; he raised the staff and struck the water in the Nile in the sight of Pharaoh and 21 his courtiers, and all the water in the Nile turned into blood, while the fish in the Nile died, and the Nile itself became so foul that the Egyptians could not drink the water from the Nile; there was blood 22 all through the land of Egypt. But the magicians of Egypt did the same with their secret arts, so that Pharaoh remained obstinate and 23 would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said. Pharaoh turned 24 and went home, with no concern even for this. The Egyptians had to dig all around the Nile for water to drink; for they could not drink the water of the Nile itself.

25 When seven days had passed after the LORD had struck the Nile,
8 the LORD said to Moses,

"Obtain audience with Pharaoh, and say to him, 'Thus says the 2 LORD: "Let my people go, that they may serve me. If you refuse to 3 let them go, I will smite all your country with frogs; the Nile shall swarm with frogs, and they shall come up and enter your palace, your bedroom, your bed, the houses of your courtiers and your people, your

- 4 ovens, and your kneading-bowls; the frogs shall climb up on you, your people, and all your courtiers.” ’ ’ ”
- 5 The LORD said to Moses,
“Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch your hand with your staff over the rivers, the streams, and ponds, and make frogs come up on the land of Egypt.’ ”
- 6 So Aaron stretched his hand over the waters of Egypt, and frogs 7 came up, and covered the land of Egypt. But the magicians did the same with their secret arts, making frogs come up on the land of Egypt.
- 8 Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron, and said,
“Beseech the LORD to take the frogs away from me and my people, and then I will let the people go, to sacrifice to the LORD.”
- 9 So Moses said to Pharaoh,
“Make clear to me when I am to make supplication for you, your courtiers, and your people, that the frogs be removed from you and your houses, and be left only in the Nile.”
- 10 “Tomorrow,” he replied.
So he said,
“It shall be as you say, that you may know that there is no one like 11 the LORD, our God. The frogs shall leave you, your houses, your courtiers, and your people, being left only in the Nile.”
- 12 Moses and Aaron then left the presence of Pharaoh; and Moses cried to the LORD in regard to the promise about the frogs that he had 13 made to Pharaoh, and the LORD did as Moses had promised; the frogs 14 perished from the houses, the courtyards, and the fields; they were gathered into one heap after another, so that the land had a bad smell.
- 15 But when Pharaoh saw that relief had come, he became stubborn and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said.
- 16 The LORD then said to Moses,
“Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your staff, and strike the dust of the ground, that it may become mosquitoes all through the land of Egypt.’ ”
- 17 They did so; Aaron stretched out his hand with his staff, and struck the dust of the ground, and mosquitoes infested man and beast; all the 18 dust of the ground became mosquitoes all through the land of Egypt.
The magicians similarly tried to produce mosquitoes with their 19 secret arts, but they could not. The mosquitoes infested man and beast; so the magicians said to Pharaoh,
“This is the finger of God!”

But Pharaoh was obstinate, and would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said.

20 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Rise early in the morning and present yourself before Pharaoh, just as he leaves the water, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD: “Let

21 my people go, that they may serve me; for if you will not let my people go, I will send swarms of gnats on you, your courtiers, your people, and into your houses, so that the houses of the Egyptians shall

22 teem with gnats, as well as the ground on which they stand. At that time, however, I will set apart the land of Goshen in which my people are living, so that there shall be no gnats there, in order that you

23 may know that I, the LORD, am in the land; thus will I make a distinction between my people and your people. Tomorrow shall this sign occur.”’”

24 The LORD did so; masses of gnats entered the palace of Pharaoh, the houses of his courtiers, and all the land of Egypt, the land being ruined by reason of the gnats.

25 Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron, and said,

“Go, sacrifice to your God in the land.”

26 But Moses said,

“It would not be proper to do so; for we would have to offer to the LORD our God sacrifices abhorrent to the Egyptians; if we were to offer sacrifices abhorrent to the Egyptians before their very eyes, 27 would they not stone us? We wish to travel a three days’ journey into the desert to offer sacrifices to the LORD our God, as he tells us.”

28 So Pharaoh said,

“I will let you go, that you may offer sacrifices to the LORD your God in the desert; only you must not go very far away; make supplication on my behalf.”

29 Moses said,

“I now withdraw from your presence, but I will make supplication to the LORD that the gnats leave Pharaoh, his courtiers, and his people tomorrow; only Pharaoh must not again play false, by not letting the people go, to offer sacrifices to the LORD.”

30 After leaving the presence of Pharaoh, Moses made supplication to

31 the LORD, and the LORD did as Moses promised; he removed the gnats

32 from Pharaoh, his courtiers, and his people, not one being left. But this time also Pharaoh became stubborn and would not let the people go.

- 9 Then the LORD said to Moses,
"Obtain audience with Pharaoh, and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: "Let my people go, that they may serve me." For if you refuse to let them go and continue to detain them, the hand of the LORD will fall on your live stock in the fields, on horses, asses, camels, herds, and flocks, with a very severe pest. But the LORD will make a distinction between the live stock of Israel and that of Egypt, so that nothing shall die of all that belongs to the Israelites.'"
- 5 Then the LORD fixed a time for it, saying,
"Tomorrow the LORD will do this in the land."
- 6 And next day the LORD did it; the live stock of the Egyptians all died, but of the live stock of the Israelites not one died. Pharaoh sent and found that not so much as a single one of the live stock of Israel had died. But Pharaoh remained stubborn and would not let the people go.
- 8 Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,
"Take two handfuls of soot from a kiln, and let Moses toss it up to the sky in the sight of Pharaoh; it shall become fine dust over all the land of Egypt, and produce sores that break into pustules on man and beast all through the land of Egypt."
- 10 So they took some soot from a kiln, and as they stood in front of Pharaoh, Moses tossed it up to the sky, and it produced sores that break into pustules on man and beast. The magicians could not appear before Moses because of the sores; for the sores attacked the magicians, as well as all the Egyptians. But the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, so that he would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said to Moses.
- 13 Then the LORD said to Moses,
"Rise early in the morning and present yourself before Pharaoh, and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: "Let my people go, that they may serve me; for this time I am going to send all my plagues on you, your courtiers, and your people, in order that you may know that there is no one like me in all the earth. For by now I could have stretched out my hand and struck you and your people with pestilence, so that you would have been effaced from the earth; but this is why I have spared you: to show you my power, and to have my fame recounted throughout all the earth. Since you continue still to make a toy of my people by not letting them go, about this time tomorrow I am going to send down a very heavy fall of hail, such as there has never been in Egypt from the day that it was found-

- 19 ed until now. Send therefore, and bring your live stock and everything that belongs to you in the fields, to a place of safety; for the hail shall fall on every man and beast that is found in the fields and is not brought indoors, and they shall die.” ’ ’ ”
- 20 Then those of Pharaoh's courtiers who stood in awe of the word of
- 21 the LORD made their slaves and live stock hurry indoors, while those that disregarded the word of the LORD left their slaves and live stock out in the fields.
- 22 The LORD said to Moses,
“Stretch your hand up to the sky, that hail may fall all through the land of Egypt on man and beast, and on all vegetation in the fields throughout the land of Egypt.”
- 23 So Moses stretched his staff up to the sky, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and fire descended on the earth; the LORD rained hail on
- 24 the land of Egypt, and there was hail with fire darting in the midst of the hail, very severe, such as there had never been in all the land of
- 25 Egypt since it became a nation. The hail struck down everything in the fields throughout all the land of Egypt, both man and beast; the hail struck down all the vegetation in the fields, and shattered every
- 26 tree in the fields; only in the land of Goshen, where the Israelites were, there was no hail.
- 27 Then Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron and said to them, “I have sinned this time; the LORD is in the right, while I and my
- 28 people are in the wrong. Make supplication to the LORD; for there has been enough of God's thunder and hail; so I will let you go, you need not stay any longer.”
- 29 Moses said to him,
“As soon as I leave the city, I will spread out my hands to the LORD; the thunder shall cease, and there shall be no more hail, in order that you may know that the earth belongs to the LORD. But as for you and your courtiers, I know that you do not yet stand in awe of the LORD God.”
- 31 The flax and barley were ruined, for the barley was in ear, and the
- 32 flax in bud; but the wheat and spelt were not ruined, for they were still under ground.
- 33 After retiring from the presence of Pharaoh outside the city, Moses spread out his hands to the LORD, and the thunder and hail
- 34 ceased, and rain was no longer poured on the earth. When Pharaoh saw that the rain, hail, and thunder had ceased, he sinned again and
- 35 became stubborn, both he and his courtiers. Pharaoh became obstinate, and would not let the Israelites go, just as the LORD had declared through Moses.

10 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Obtain audience with Pharaoh; for I have made him and his courtiers stubborn, that I may perform these signs of mine among² them, and that you may tell your sons and grandsons how I made a toy of the Egyptians and what signs I performed among them; so that you may know that I am the LORD.”

3 So Moses and Aaron obtained audience with Pharaoh, and said to him,

“Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: ‘How long are you going to refuse to submit to me? Let my people go, that they may⁴ serve me; for if you refuse to let my people go, then tomorrow I will⁵ bring locusts on your country; they shall cover the surface of the earth, so that the earth will not be visible; they shall eat up the residue that escaped, that was left to you from the hail; they shall eat up all⁶ the trees that you have growing out of the fields; and your palaces, the houses of your courtiers, and the houses of all the Egyptians shall be filled with them, as neither your fathers nor grandfathers have ever seen from the time that they appeared on the earth to this day.’ ”

Then he turned, and left the presence of Pharaoh.

7 Thereupon Pharaoh’s courtiers said to him,

“How long is this fellow going to endanger us? Let the men go, that they may serve the LORD their God. Are you not yet aware that Egypt is ruined?”

8 So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh, and he said to them,

“Go and serve the LORD your God. But which ones are to go?”

9 Moses said,

“We would go with our young and our old, with our sons and our daughters; we would go with our flocks and our herds; for it is the LORD’s festival that we have to celebrate.”

10 “May the LORD be with you,” he said to them, “just as soon as I let you and your dependants go! See, you have some evil purpose in¹¹ mind. Not so; but you that are warriors, go and serve the LORD; for that is what you want.”

Whereupon they were driven out of Pharaoh’s presence.

12 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt for locusts, that they may come up on the land of Egypt, and eat up all the vegetation of the land, all that the hail has left."

13 So Moses stretched out his staff over the land of Egypt, and the LORD directed an east wind on the land all that day and night. As 14 morning came, the east wind brought the locusts, and the locusts came up over all the land of Egypt, and settled down on the whole country of Egypt, a great mass of them; never previous to them had 15 there been so many locusts, nor would there ever be after them; they covered the surface of the whole land, so that the land was dark; they ate up all the vegetation of the land, and all the fruit on the trees that the hail had left, so that nothing green was left on tree or shrub in the fields throughout the whole land of Egypt.

16 Then Pharaoh hurriedly summoned Moses and Aaron, and said,
17 "I have sinned against the LORD your God and against you; pray then, forgive my sin just this once, and make supplication to the LORD your God, that he at least remove from me this deadly thing."

18 After leaving the presence of Pharaoh, Moses made supplication
19 to the LORD, and the LORD changed the wind into a very strong west wind, which caught up the locusts and blew them into the Red Sea, 20 not a single locust being left in all the territory of Egypt. Nevertheless, the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, so that he would not let the Israelites go.

21 Then the LORD said to Moses,
"Stretch out your hand to the sky, that darkness may fall on the land of Egypt, and people grope in darkness."

22 So Moses stretched out his hand to the sky, and there was thick
23 darkness throughout the whole land of Egypt for three days; people could not see one another, nor could anyone leave his place for three days, although the Israelites all had light in their places of abode.

24 Then Pharaoh summoned Moses, and said,
"Go and serve the LORD; your dependants may go with you; it is only your flocks and herds that are to be detained."

25 But Moses said,
"In that case you would have to provide us with sacrifices and 26 burnt-offerings to make to the LORD our God; so our live stock must also go with us; not a hoof can be left behind; for we will have to take some of them to use in the service of the LORD our God, and we do not know what we shall have to use in the service of the LORD until we arrive there."

27 But the LORD made Pharaoh obstinate, so that he would not agree to let them go.

28 "Leave my presence," Pharaoh said to him; "beware; never come to see me again; for the day that you come to see me you die."

29 "Just as you say," said Moses; "never again will I come to see you."

11 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"One more plague will I bring on Pharaoh and on Egypt; after that he will let you go from here; indeed when he does let you go, he will absolutely drive you out of here. So announce to the people that each man is to ask his neighbor, and each woman her neighbor, for articles of silver and gold."

3 Now the LORD put the people in favor with the Egyptians; besides, the man Moses came to be very greatly esteemed in the land of Egypt by Pharaoh's courtiers and by the people.

4 So Moses said,

"Thus says the LORD: 'At midnight I am going to go forth among the Egyptians, when all the first-born in the land of Egypt shall die, from Pharaoh's first-born who is to sit on his throne to the first-born of the slave-girl who sits behind the mill, as well as the first-born of the live stock; all through the land of Egypt there shall be loud wailing, such as there never has been and never will be again.' But against none of the Israelites, either man or beast, shall even a dog bark, in order that you may know that the LORD does make a distinction between Egypt and Israel. Then shall all these courtiers of yours come down to me and make obeisance to me, saying, 'Depart with all your followers.' Then only will I leave."

Thereupon he left the presence of Pharaoh in hot anger.

9 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"Pharaoh does not listen to you, in order that my portents may be multiplied in the land of Egypt."

10 So Moses and Aaron performed all these portents before Pharaoh; but the LORD made Pharaoh stubborn, so that he would not let the Israelites leave his land.

12 Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt,

2 " 'This month shall be the first of the months for you; it shall be the first month of the year for you,' announce to the whole community of Israel; 'on the tenth day of this month they must provide for themselves one sheep each for their several families, a sheep per household; if any household is too small for a sheep, it shall provide one along with its neighbor who is nearest to its own household in the number of persons, charging each for the proportionate amount of the 5 sheep that it ate. Your sheep must be a perfect male, a year old; you 6 may take one of the lambs or goats. You must keep it until the fourteenth day of this same month, and then the whole assembly of the 7 community of Israel shall slaughter it at twilight, and taking some of the blood, they shall apply it to the two door-posts and the lintels for 8 the sake of the houses in which they eat it. That same night they must eat the flesh, eating it roasted, along with unleavened cakes and bitter 9 herbs; do not eat any of it raw, nor cooked in any way with water, but 10 roasted, its head as well as its legs and entrails; and you must not leave any of it over until morning; any that might be left over until 11 morning you must burn up. This is how you are to eat it: with your loins girded, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand; 12 you shall eat it in trepidation, since it is a passover to the LORD. This very night I will pass through the land of Egypt, striking down all the first-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beast, and executing 13 judgment on all the gods of Egypt, I, the LORD. The blood will serve as a sign for you on the houses where you live; and when I see the blood, I will pass by you, so that no deadly plague will fall on you 14 when I smite the land of Egypt. This day shall be a memorial for you, and you shall keep it as a festival to the LORD; age after age shall 15 you keep it as a perpetual ordinance. For seven days you shall eat unleavened cakes; on the very first day you must clear your houses of leaven; for if anyone eats leavened bread from the first day to the 16 seventh, that person shall be cut off from Israel. On the first day you shall hold a religious assembly, and on the seventh day a religious assembly; no work at all is to be done on these days; only what every 17 person has to have to eat, that alone may be prepared by you. You must observe this command; for it was on this day that I brought your hosts out of the land of Egypt; so you must observe this day, age after 18 age, as a perpetual ordinance. On the evening of the fourteenth day of the first month you shall eat unleavened cakes, and so on until the 19 evening of the twenty-first day of the month; for the seven days no leaven must be found in your houses; for if anyone eats anything leavened, that person shall be cut off from the community of Israel, 20 whether he is a proselyte or a native of the land; you must not eat anything leavened; in all your places of abode you are to eat unleavened cakes.' "

21 Then Moses summoned all the elders of Israel, and said to them,

“Go and provide yourselves with sheep, family by family, and kill it as a passover-sacrifice. Then you are to take a bunch of hyssop, and dipping it in the blood that is in the basin, smear the lintel and the two door-posts with the blood in the basin, and none of you is to go outside his house until morning; for the LORD will be passing through to strike down the Egyptians, and when he sees the blood on the lintel and the two door-posts, the LORD will pass by that door, and not let the destroyer enter your houses to strike you down. You must observe this as a rite prescribed for you and your descendants forever. And when you enter the land which the LORD shall give you, as he promised, you must observe this service. When your children say to you, ‘What do you mean by this service?’ you shall say, ‘It is the passover-sacrifice to the LORD, who passed by the houses of the Israelites in Egypt when he struck down the Egyptians, but spared our houses.’”

Then the people bowed their heads in reverence. The Israelites went and did so; they did just as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron.

THE EXODUS FROM EGYPT, 12:29—15:21

At midnight the LORD struck down all the first-born in the land of Egypt, from Pharaoh’s first-born who was to sit on his throne to the first-born of the captive in the dungeon, as well as all the first-born of the live stock. Then Pharaoh rose in the night, he and his courtiers and all the Egyptians, and there arose a loud cry in Egypt; for there was not a house where there was not someone dead. So he summoned Moses and Aaron in the night, and said, “Withdraw at once from my people, both you and the Israelites, and go, serve the LORD as you suggested. Take both your flocks and herds as you suggested, and begone; also ask a blessing on me.”

The Egyptians became urgent with the people in their hurry to get them out of the land; “For,” said they, “we shall all be dead.” So the people snatched up their dough before it was leavened, and shouldered their kneading-bowls, wrapped up in their cloaks.

The Israelites followed the instructions of Moses; they asked the Egyptians for articles of silver and gold and for clothing, and the LORD had put the people in such favor with the Egyptians that they granted them their requests, and thus they despoiled the Egyptians.

So the Israelites set out from Rameses for Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides the dependants; a great crowd went up with them, as well as very much live stock, both flocks and 39 herds. With the dough that they brought out of Egypt they baked unleavened cakes; for it was not leavened, because they had been driven out of Egypt and could not wait, nor had they prepared any provisions for themselves.

40 The length of time that the Israelites lived in Egypt was four hundred and thirty years; and at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, on that very day all the hosts of the LORD left the land of Egypt; that was a night of vigil on the part of the LORD to bring them out of the land of Egypt, and so this night shall be one of vigil for the LORD on the part of all the Israelites from one generation to another.

43 Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

“This is the regulation for the passover: no foreigner may eat of it, but any slave that has been purchased may eat of it after you have circumcised him; no serf or hired laborer may eat of it. It must be eaten in one house; you may not take any of the flesh outside the house; nor may you break a bone in it. The whole community of Israel must offer it. If a proselyte is residing with you and would offer a passover-sacrifice to the LORD, all the male members of his family must be circumcised; then he may draw near to offer it; he shall count as a native of the land; but no uncircumcised person shall eat of it, the same law holding for the native born and the proselyte who resides among you.”

50 Thus did all the Israelites; they did just as the LORD commanded Moses and Aaron. And that very day the LORD brought the Israelites out of the land of Egypt with their hosts.

13 Then the LORD said to Moses,

2 “Consecrate to me every first-born, everything that first opens the womb among the Israelites, both man and beast, since it is mine.”

3 Moses said to the people,

“Commemorate this day, in which you came out of Egypt, out of a state of slavery; for it was by a strong hand that the LORD brought you out of there; so no leavened bread must be eaten. Today you are about to leave, on the new moon of Abib. And when the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Hivvites, and Jebusites, which he swore to your fathers to give you, a land abounding in milk and honey, you must hold this service on this new moon; for seven days you shall eat unleavened cakes, and on the seventh day there shall be a festival to the LORD; unleavened cakes shall be eaten throughout the seven days; nothing leavened must be seen in your

8 possession, nor any leaven anywhere in your territory. And you must tell your son on that day, 'It is because of what the LORD did for me 9 when I left Egypt.' It shall serve you as a sign on your hand and a memorial on your forehead, in order that instruction about the LORD may be in your mouth, how the LORD with a strong hand brought you 10 out of Egypt. So you must observe this institution at its proper time from year to year.

11 "When the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as he 12 swore to you and your fathers, and gives it to you, you must make over to the LORD whatever first opens the womb, and all the firstlings of 13 the live stock that you have, that are males, shall go to the LORD. Every firstling ass, however, you may redeem with a sheep, but if you do not redeem it, you must break its neck; and every first-born son of 14 yours you must redeem. And if in time to come your son asks you, 'What does this mean?' you must say to him, 'By a strong hand the 15 LORD brought us out of Egypt, out of a state of slavery; and when Pharaoh put obstacles in the way of letting us go, the LORD slew every first-born in the land of Egypt, the first-born of both man and beast; that is why I sacrifice to the LORD all the males that first open the 16 womb, but every first-born of my sons I redeem. It shall serve as a sign on your hand, and as a mark on your forehead, that the LORD by a strong hand brought us out of Egypt.' "

17 Now when Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them in the direction of the land of the Philistines, although that was near at hand. "Lest," thought God, "the people be filled with regret when 18 they experience war, and return to Egypt." So God turned the people in the direction of the desert and the Red Sea. And the Israelites went 19 up armed out of the land of Egypt. Moses took the bones of Joseph with him; for he had made the Israelites take a solemn oath, saying, "God will be sure to take note of you, and then you must take my bones up from here with you."

20 Setting out from Succoth, they camped at Etham on the edge of 21 the desert. The LORD used to go in front of them, in a column of cloud by day to guide them along the road, and in a column of fire by night to give them light, in order that they might travel by day and 22 night; the column of cloud by day and the column of fire by night never moved from the head of the people.

14 Then the LORD said to Moses,

2 "Tell the Israelites to turn back and camp in front of Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, in front of Baal-zephon; you must camp

3 opposite it, beside the sea. Pharaoh will say of the Israelites, 'They are wandering aimlessly in the land; the desert has shut them in.'
4 Then I will make Pharaoh obstinate, so that he will pursue them, and thus I will gain honor through Pharaoh and all his army, and the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD."

They did so.

5 When the news was brought to the king of Egypt that the people had fled, Pharaoh and his courtiers changed their minds about the people.

"What ever have we done," they said, "to let Israel leave our service?"

6 So he hitched the horses to his chariot, and took his people with him;
7 he took six hundred chariots, picked from all the chariots of Egypt,
8 with charioteers in charge of them all. The LORD made Pharaoh, king of Egypt, obstinate, so that he pursued the Israelites, as they were going
9 triumphantly out; the Egyptians pursued them, all of Pharaoh's horses and chariots, his cavalry and infantry, and overtook them,
10 camping by the sea, near Pi-hahiroth, in front of Baal-zephon. As Pharaoh drew near, the Israelites raised their eyes, and there were the Egyptians setting out in pursuit of them! The Israelites were terribly 11 afraid, and cried to the LORD. And they said to Moses,

"Was it because there were no graves in Egypt that you have taken us away to die in the desert? What a way to treat us, bringing us out 12 of Egypt! Isn't this what we told you in Egypt would happen, when we said, 'Leave us alone and let us serve the Egyptians; for it is better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in the desert.'"

13 But Moses said to the people,

"Do not be afraid; stand by and see how the LORD is going to save you today; for although you see the Egyptians today, you shall never 14 see them again. The LORD will fight for you, while you have only to keep still."

15 Then the LORD said to Moses,

16 "Why do you cry to me? Tell the Israelites to set forth; and then raise your staff and stretch out your hand over the sea, and thus divide it in two, so that the Israelites may proceed on dry ground right into 17 the sea. Then I will make the Egyptians obstinate, so that they will go in after them, and thus I will gain honor through Pharaoh and all 18 his infantry, chariotry, and cavalry, so that the Egyptians may know that I am the LORD, when I have gained honor through Pharaoh, his chariotry and cavalry."

19 Then the angel of God who was accustomed to go in front of the army of Israel left his position and went behind them; the column of cloud also left its position in front of them and took its place behind them, and came between the army of Egypt and that of Israel, so that the cloud was there with its darkness, and the night passed by without the one coming near the other all night.

21 Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the LORD moved the sea away by means of a strong east wind all night, and turned the sea into dry land. The waters were divided, so that the Israelites proceeded on dry ground right into the sea, the waters forming a wall for them to right and left of them. Pursuing them, the Egyptians followed them right into the sea, all of Pharaoh's horses, his chariotry and cavalry. At the morning watch the LORD lowered himself toward the Egyptian army in the column of fire and cloud, and threw the Egyptian army into a panic. He clogged their chariot-wheels, and caused them to proceed with such difficulty that the Egyptians said,

26 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Stretch out your hand over the sea, that the water may flow back upon the Egyptians, upon their chariotry and cavalry.”

27 So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and as morning broke, the sea returned to its steady flow; and as the Egyptians fled before it, the LORD shook the Egyptians right into the sea. The water returned, and covered the chariotry and cavalry belonging to the whole army of Pharaoh that had followed them into the sea, not so much as one being left. But the Israelites had walked through the middle of the sea on dry ground, the water forming a wall for them to right and left of them.

30 Thus did the LORD save Israel that day from the power of the Egyptians. So Israel saw the Egyptians lying dead on the seashore; and when Israel saw the mighty act which the LORD had performed against the Egyptians, the people stood in awe of the LORD and trusted the LORD and his servant Moses.

15 Then Moses and the Israelites sang this song to the LORD; they said,

“I will sing to the LORD, for he has completely triumphed;
The horse and its rider he has hurled into the sea.

2 The LORD is my strength and song, for he saved me;

He is my God whom I shall praise, my father's God whom I shall extol.

- 3 The LORD is a warrior, the LORD is his name.
4 Pharaoh's chariots and his army he cast into the sea,
And the best of his charioteers were engulfed in the Red Sea;
5 The floods covered them, they sank into the depths like a stone.
6 It was thy right hand, O LORD, glorious in power,
It was thy right hand, O LORD, that shattered the foe.
7 By the greatness of thy majesty thou didst overthrow thy adversaries;
Thou didst let loose thy wrath, it consumed them like stubble.
8 By the blast of thy nostrils the waters were piled up;
The streams stood up like a heap, the floods were congealed in the heart of the sea.
9 The foe said, 'I will pursue them, I will overtake them,
I will divide the spoil, I will work my will on them;
I will unsheath my sword, my hand shall conquer them.'
10 Thou didst blow with thy breath, the sea covered them;
They sank like lead in the mighty waters.
11 Who is there like thee among the gods, O LORD?
Who is there like thee, so glorious in holiness,
So awe-inspiring in renown, such a wonder worker?
12 Thou didst stretch out thy right hand, the earth swallowed them.
13 In thy grace thou didst lead the people whom thou didst redeem;
In thy strength thou didst guide them to thy holy abode.
14 When the nations heard of it, they trembled,
Agony seized the inhabitants of Philistia;
15 Then were the chieftains of Edom dismayed;
The lords of Moab—trembling seized them;
All the inhabitants of Canaan melted away,
16 Terror and dread fell upon them;
Because of the greatness of thy arm they became as dumb as a stone,
Until thy people, O LORD, passed over;
Until the people whom thou didst acquire passed over.
17 Thou hast brought them and planted them in the highlands of thy own,
The place of thy abode which thou, O LORD, hast made,
The sanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have established.
18 The LORD shall reign for ever and ever!"

- 19 For the horses of Pharaoh, with his chariotry and cavalry, entered the sea, and the LORD made the waters of the sea flow back on them, while the Israelites had walked through the middle of the sea on dry ground.
- 20 Then the prophetess Miriam, the sister of Aaron, took a tambourine in her hand, and all the women went out after her with tambourines and dancing, while Miriam responded to them in song, “Sing to the LORD, for he has completely triumphed;
 The horse and its rider he has hurled into the sea.”

THE JOURNEY FROM THE RED SEA TO SINAI, 15:22—18:27

- 22 Then Moses had Israel set out from the Red Sea, and they proceeded to the desert of Shur; they journeyed for three days in the desert without finding water. Then they reached Marah, but they could not drink the water at Marah because it was so bitter. That was how it came to be named Marah [bitterness]. So the people grumbled against Moses, saying,
 “What are we to drink?”
- 25 So he cried to the LORD, and the LORD showed him a tree, which he threw into the water, so that the water became sweet.
- It was there that he made a statute and ordinance for them, and put them to the test.
- 26 “If you will but heed the injunction of the LORD your God,” he said, “and do what is right in his eyes, and pay attention to his commands, and observe all his statutes, I will inflict none of the diseases on you which I inflicted on the Egyptians; for I, the LORD, make you immune to them.”
- 27 Then they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm-trees; and they camped there beside the water.
- 16 Setting out from Elim, the whole Israelite community came to the desert of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from the land of Egypt.
- 2 Then the whole Israelite community grumbled against Moses and Aaron in the desert.
- 3 “O that we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by pots of flesh and had plenty of food to eat,” the Israelites said to them; “for you have brought us into this desert, to make this whole crowd die of famine.”
- 4 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"I am going to rain food out of the sky for you, but the people are to go out and gather only a day's ration each day, in order that I may test them to see whether they will follow my instructions or not. On every sixth day, however, when they measure what they bring home, it shall be twice as much as what they gather from day to day."

6 So Moses and Aaron said to all the Israelites,

"At evening you shall know that it was the LORD who brought you out of the land of Egypt; and in the morning you shall see the glory of the LORD, since he has heard your grumbling against the LORD; for what are we that you should grumble against us?"

8 "This shall be," said Moses, "when the LORD gives you flesh to eat in the evening, and plenty of bread to satisfy you in the morning, since the LORD has heard the grumbling that you have muttered against him; for what are we? Your grumbling has really not been against us, but against the LORD."

9 Then Moses said to Aaron,

"Say to the whole Israelite community, 'Present yourselves before the LORD; for he has heard your grumbling.'"

10 When Aaron said this to the whole Israelite community, they looked toward the desert, whereupon the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud.

11 Then the LORD said to Moses,

12 "I have heard the grumbling of the Israelites; say to them, 'At twilight you shall have flesh to eat, and in the morning plenty of bread to satisfy you; and thus shall you know that I am the LORD your God.'"

13 So it came about at evening that quails came up and covered the camp, and in the morning there was a fall of dew around the camp;

14 when the fall of dew evaporated, there, on the surface of the desert, was a fine scaly substance, as fine as hoar-frost on the ground! When the Israelites saw it, they said to one another,

"What is it?"—for they did not know what it was.

Then Moses said to them,

16 "That is the bread which the LORD is giving you to eat. This is the command which the LORD has given: 'Each of you gather as much of it as he can use, an omer apiece, according to the number of your members, each taking it for those in his tent.'"

17 The Israelites did so; they gathered it, some a large amount, some 18 a small amount; but when they measured it with an omer, he who had gathered much did not have too much, and he who had gathered little did not have too little, each having gathered only as much as he could use.

19 Then Moses said to them,

“No one is to leave any of it over until morning.”

20 But they did not obey Moses; certain ones left some of it over until morning, and it bred maggots and became foul. So Moses became angry with them.

21 Morning after morning they gathered it, each as much as he could 22 use; and when the sun grew hot, it melted. On the sixth day they gathered twice as much food, two omers apiece; and when the leaders
23 of the community all came and told Moses, he said to them,

“That is what the LORD meant; tomorrow is to be a day of complete rest, a sabbath sacred to the LORD; bake what you need to bake, and boil what you need to boil, and all that is left over put aside as a reserve until tomorrow morning.”

24 So they put it aside until next morning, as Moses had commanded 25 them, and it did not become foul, nor did maggots appear in it. Then Moses said to them,

“Eat this today; for today is a sabbath to the LORD; you will not 26 find any in the fields today. It is only for six days that you are to gather it; on the seventh day which is a sabbath there will be none.”

27 On the seventh day, however, some of the people did go out to 28 gather it, but they found none. Then the LORD said to Moses,

“How long are you going to refuse to keep my commands and in-29 structions? Mark this: since the LORD has given you the sabbath, he will accordingly give you enough food on the sixth day for two days; stay everyone of you in his place; let no one leave his home on the seventh day.”

30 So the people rested on the seventh day.

31 The Israelites called it manna; it was as white as coriander seed, and its taste was like that of wafers made with honey.

32 “This is the command,” said Moses, “which the LORD has given: ‘Keep an omerful of it for your descendants, that they may see the food with which I fed you in the desert when I brought you out of the land of Egypt.’”

33 So Moses said to Aaron,

“Take a jar and put an omerful of manna in it, and deposit it before the LORD, to be kept for your descendants.”

34 As the LORD had commanded Moses, Aaron deposited it in front of the decrees for safe keeping.

35 For forty years the Israelites ate manna, until they reached an inhabited land; they ate manna until they reached the outskirts of the land of Canaan.

36 (Now an omer is the tenth of an ephah.)

17 From the desert of Sin the whole Israelite community traveled by stages, in accord with the command of the LORD, and camped at 2 Rephidim. As there was no water for the people to drink, the people found fault with Moses.

“Give us water to drink,” they said.

“Why do you find fault with me?” Moses said to them. “Why do you put the LORD to the test?”

3 The people became so thirsty for water there that they grumbled against Moses, and said,

“Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to have us and our children and live stock die of thirst?”

4 So Moses cried to the LORD,

“What am I to do with this people? They are almost ready to stone me.”

5 The LORD said to Moses,

“Pass on ahead of the people, taking with you some of the elders of Israel; take the staff in your hand with which you struck the Nile, 6 and go on. I will station myself there before you on the rock at Horeb, and when you strike the rock, water will gush out of it, so that the people may drink.”

Moses did so, in sight of the elders of Israel.

7 So he called the name of the place Massah [testing], as well as Meribah [finding fault], because of the fault-finding of the Israelites, and their testing of the LORD by saying, “Is the LORD in our midst, or not?”

8 Then came Amalek, and fought with Israel at Rephidim. So Moses said to Joshua,

“Pick out some men for us, and hurry out to fight with Amalek, while I will take my stand on the top of the hill, with the staff of God in my hand.”

10 Joshua did as Moses told him, and went out to fight against Amalek, while Moses, Aaron, and Hur ascended to the top of the hill.

11 Whenever Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed; and whenever

12 he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed. When Moses' hands became tired, they took a stone and put it under him to sit on, while Aaron and Hur held his hands up, the one on one side, and the other on the other

- 13 side. Thus it was that his hands were kept stationary until sunset, so that Joshua put Amalek and his people to the sword.
- 14 Then the LORD said to Moses,
“Write this as a memorandum in a book, and recite it to Joshua; for I will blot out the very memory of Amalek from under the heavens.”
- 15 Then Moses built an altar, and called its name Yahweh-nissi [the LORD is my banner].
- 16 “Because a hand has been raised against the throne of the LORD,” he said, “the LORD has had war with Amalek from age to age.”
- 18 Now Jethro, the priest of Midian, the father-in-law of Moses, heard of all that God had done for Moses and his people Israel, how the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt. Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, had taken Moses’ wife, Zipporah, after her dismissal, along with her two sons, of whom the name of the one was Gershom [immigrant] (“For,” said he, “I am an immigrant in a foreign land”), and the name of the other was Eliezer [My God is a help] (“For the God of my father has been my help, in delivering me from the sword of Pharaoh”). Then Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, came with his sons and his wife to Moses, to the place in the desert where he was camped, namely, the mountain of God. When Moses was told, “Here is your father-in-law Jethro coming to see you, accompanied by your wife and her two sons,” Moses went out to meet his father-in-law; he bowed before him, and kissed him, and when they had asked after each other’s health, they entered the tent. Moses then told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians for Israel’s sake, all the hardship that they had encountered on the journey, and how the LORD had delivered them. Jethro rejoiced over all the goodness which the LORD had shown Israel, in delivering them from the power of the Egyptians.
- 10 “Blessed be the LORD,” said Jethro, “who delivered you from the power of the Egyptians and the power of Pharaoh, who delivered the people from under the power of the Egyptians. Now I know that the LORD is greater than all other gods, in that his power prevailed over them.”
- 12 So Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, procured a burnt-offering and sacrifices for God, whereupon Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to participate with Moses’ father-in-law in the meal before God.
- 13 Next day Moses held court for the people, and the people stood ¹⁴ about Moses from morning until evening. When Moses' father-in-law saw all that he had to do for the people, he said,

"What ever is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you hold court all alone, with the people all standing about you from morning until evening?"

¹⁵ "Because the people come to me to inquire of God," said Moses to ¹⁶ his father-in-law. "Whenever they have a dispute, they come to me, that I may decide between one man and another, and let them know the statutes of God and his decisions."

¹⁷ "You are not doing right," said Moses' father-in-law to him.

¹⁸ "You will wear yourself out, both you and the people here with you;

¹⁹ for the task is too heavy for you; you cannot do it alone. Now listen to me; let me advise you, that God may be with you: You be the peo-

²⁰ ple's advocate with God, and bring the cases to God; instruct them in the statutes and decisions, and let them know the way in which they

²¹ are to walk and what they are to do; but do you yourself select out of all the people some capable, God-fearing, honest men, with an aver-

²² sion to improper gain, and set them over them as captains of divisions of a thousand, of a hundred, of fifty, and of ten; let them act as judges for the people on ordinary occasions; all important cases they shall bring to you, but all ordinary cases they shall judge themselves.

Thus it will be lighter for you, since they will share the burden with ²³ you. If you do this—and God so commands you—you will be able to stand it, and also, this whole people can then have their cases settled near home."

²⁴ Moses agreed with the suggestion of his father-in-law, and did all

²⁵ that he said; Moses chose capable men out of all Israel, and set them as chieftains over the people, as captains of divisions of a thousand, of

²⁶ a hundred, of fifty, and of ten; they acted as judges for the people on ordinary occasions; the difficult cases they brought to Moses, but all

²⁷ ordinary cases they judged themselves. Then Moses saw his father-in-law off, and he betook himself to his own land.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI, 19:1—40:38

¹⁹ On the third new moon after leaving the land of Egypt, on that

² very day the Israelites entered the desert of Sinai. Setting out from Rephidim, they entered the desert of Sinai, and camped in the desert;

³ Israel camped there in front of the mountain, while Moses went up to God. Then the LORD called to him from the mountain, saying,

"Thus shall you say to the house of Jacob, and tell the Israelites:

4 'You have seen for yourselves what I did to the Egyptians, and how I 5 bore you on eagles' wings, and brought you to myself. Now then, if 6 you will but heed my injunctions, and keep my covenant, you shall 7 be my very own out of all the peoples (for all the earth is mine), and 8 you shall be a kingdom of priests to me, and a holy nation.' These 9 are the words that you are to speak to the Israelites."

10 So Moses came and summoned all the elders of the people, and set 11 before them all these words which the LORD had commanded him.

12 Then the people all answered together,
13 "Whatever the LORD says we will do."

14 And Moses reported the words of the people to the LORD.

15 The LORD said to Moses,

16 "See, I am coming to you in a thick cloud, in order that the people 17 may hear me speaking with you, and may then always trust you too."

18 When Moses reported the words of the people to the LORD, the 19 LORD said to Moses,

20 "Go to the people, and have them go through a period of conse-
21 cration today and tomorrow; let them wash their clothes, and be ready
22 by the day after tomorrow; for on the day after tomorrow the LORD
23 is going to descend on Mount Sinai in sight of all the people. You 24 must mark off the mountain all around, saying, 'Take care not to 25 ascend the mountain, nor even to touch the edge of it; whoever 26 touches the mountain must be put to death, having no hand touch him, 27 but being stoned or shot; whether it is man or beast, he shall not be 28 allowed to live. When a long blast is blown on the ram's horn, they 29 may come up to the mountain.'"

30 So Moses descended from the mountain to the people; he conse-
31 crated the people, and they washed their clothes.

32 "Be ready by the day after tomorrow," he said to the people; "ap-33 proach no woman."

34 On the third day, when morning came, there was thunder and 35 lightning, with a heavy cloud over the mountain, and a very loud 36 trumpet-blast, so that all the people that were in the camp trembled.

37 Then Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet God, and 38 they took their stand at the foot of the mountain. Mount Sinai was 39 completely enveloped in smoke, because the LORD had descended upon 40 it in fire; its smoke ascended like the smoke from a kiln, so that the 41 people all trembled violently. As the blast of the trumpet grew louder
42 and louder, Moses spoke, and God answered him with a thunder-43 peal. The LORD descended upon Mount Sinai, to the top of the mountain; the LORD then summoned Moses to the top of the mountain, and when Moses went up, the LORD said to Moses,

“Go down and warn the people not to break through to the LORD to see him, or many of them will fall. The priests, also, whose place it is to approach the LORD, are to sanctify themselves, lest the LORD break loose upon them.”

Moses said to the LORD,

“The people may not come up to Mount Sinai; for thou thyself didst charge us, saying, ‘Mark off the mountain, and make it taboo.’”

The LORD said to him,

“Go down, and then come up again, accompanied by Aaron; but the priests and the people are not to break through to come up to the LORD, lest he break loose upon them.”

So Moses went down to the people, and told them.

God spoke all these words, saying,

“I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery. You must have no other gods beside me.

“You must not carve an image for yourself in the shape of anything that is in the heavens above, or that is on the earth below, or that is in the waters under the earth; you must not pay homage to them, nor serve them; for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God, punishing children for the sins of their fathers, to the third or fourth generation of those who hate me, but showing grace to the thousandth generation of those who love me and keep my commands.

“You must not invoke the name of the LORD your God to evil intent; for the LORD will not excuse anyone who invokes his name to evil intent.

“Remember to keep the sabbath day holy. Six days you are to labor and do all your work, but on the seventh day, a sabbath to the LORD your God, you must not do any work at all, neither you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your male or female slave, nor your cattle, nor the alien in your employ residing in your community; for in six days the LORD made the heavens, the earth, and the sea, together with all that is in them, but rested on the seventh day; that is how the LORD came to bless the seventh day and to hallow it.

“Honor your father and mother, that you may live long in the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

“You must not commit murder.

“You must not commit adultery.

- 15 "You must not steal.
- 16 "You must not bring a false charge against your fellow.
- 17 "You must not covet your neighbor's home; you must not covet your neighbor's wife, nor his male or female slave, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything at all that is your neighbor's."
- 18 As the people all perceived the thunder and lightning, the blast of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking, the people became afraid, and fell back, standing off at a distance.
- 19 "If you yourself will speak to us," they said to Moses, "we will listen; but do not let God speak to us, lest we die."
- 20 "Fear not," said Moses to the people; "for it is only to test you that God has come, and in order that the fear of him may be present with you to keep you from sinning."
- 21 The people, however, stood off at a distance, while Moses approached the dense darkness where God was.
- 22 Then the LORD said to Moses,
"Thus shall you say to the Israelites: 'You have seen for yourselves that I have been talking with you out of the heavens. Gods of silver, and gods of gold you must not make for yourselves. You must construct an altar of earth for me, and sacrifice on it your burnt-offerings, your thank-offerings, your sheep, and your oxen; at every sanctuary where I record my name, I will come to you and bless you. If, however, you construct an altar of stones for me, you must not build it of dressed stones; for if you were to use your tools on it, you would pollute it. Further, you must never ascend my altar on steps, so that your nakedness may not be exposed on it.'
- 21 "The following are the ordinances which you are to lay before them:
- 2 "When you buy a Hebrew slave, he is to work for you for six years, but in the seventh year he is to go free without paying anything.
- 3 If he came in single, he shall go out single; if he was married, his wife shall go out with him. If his master gives him a wife, and she bears him sons or daughters, the wife with her children shall belong to her master, while he shall go out alone. But if the slave declares, "I am fond of my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go free," his master shall bring him up to God; he shall bring him up to the door or the door-post, and his master shall pierce his ear with an awl; he shall then be his slave permanently.
- 7 "If a man sells his daughter as a slave, she shall not go free as

8 the male slaves do. If she is displeasing to her master, who acquired her for himself, he shall let her be redeemed; he shall have no right
9 to sell her to a foreign people, since he has treated her unfairly. If he 10 acquires her for his son, he must treat her like a daughter. If he marries another, he must not diminish her food, nor her clothes, nor her 11 conjugal rights; if he does not observe these three duties to her, she shall go free without any money payment whatsoever.

12 “Whoever strikes another, so that he dies, must be put to death; if, however, he did not lie in wait for him, but God let him fall into 13 his hands, I will designate a place for you to which he may flee. If a man wilfully plans to murder another treacherously, even from my 14 altar you must take him, that he may be put to death.

15 “Whoever strikes his father or mother must be put to death.

16 “Whoever kidnaps a man, and sells him, or if he is found in his possession, must be put to death.

17 “Whoever reviles his father or mother must be put to death.

18 “If men get into a quarrel, and one strikes the other with a stone
19 or with his fist, so that he does not die, but is laid up in bed, if he gets up again, and can go out walking on his staff, the one who struck him shall be let off, except that he must pay for his loss of time, and have him thoroughly restored to health.

20 “If a man strikes his male or female slave with a stick, so that 21 he dies under his hand, he must be avenged. If, however, he survives a day or two, he is not to be avenged; for he is his own property.

22 “If men get into a fight, and hurt a pregnant woman so that she has a miscarriage, without further harm, he must pay such fine as the woman’s husband imposes on him, and so pay for the miscarriage;
23 but if there is further harm, you must give life for life, eye for eye,
24 tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, burn for burn, wound for wound, lash for lash.

26 “If a man strikes the eye of his male or female slave, and destroys 27 it, he must let him go free in compensation for his eye; if he knocks out the tooth of his male or female slave, he must let him go free in compensation for his tooth.

28 “If an ox gores a man or a woman to death, the ox must be stoned to death, but its flesh is not to be eaten; the owner of the ox is blameless. If, however, the ox has been in the habit of goring, and its owner has been warned, but still does not keep it in, and it kills a man or a woman, the ox must be stoned, and its owner must also be put to 30 death. If only a fine is imposed on him, he must pay in redemption of

- 31 his life whatever amount is imposed on him. Whether it is a free man or a free woman that it gores, he is to be dealt with in accordance with this same ordinance. If the ox gores a male or a female slave, he must pay their master thirty shekels of silver, and the ox must be stoned.
- 33 “If a man opens a cistern, or if a man digs a cistern and does not cover it, and an ox or an ass falls into it, the owner of the cistern must make restitution by reimbursing its owner with money, but the carcass is to be his.
- 35 “If a man’s ox hurt another’s ox, so that it dies, they shall sell the live ox and divide its price between them, and the dead animal as well.
- 36 Or, if the ox is known to have been in the habit of goring, and its owner has not been keeping it in, he must make restitution with an ox for the ox, but the dead animal is to be his.
- 22 “If a man steals an ox or a sheep, and kills it or sells it, he must pay an indemnity of five oxen for the ox, and four sheep for the sheep; he must surely make restitution; if he has nothing, he must be sold to pay for what he stole. If the stolen animal is found alive in his possession, whether it is an ox, an ass, or a sheep, he must make two-fold restitution.
- 2 “If the thief is caught in the act of breaking in, and is struck a fatal blow, there is no guilt of blood in his case; if the sun has risen on him, then there is guilt of blood.
- 5 “If a man in burning over a field or vineyard lets the fire spread so that it burns in another man’s field, he must make restitution with the very best of his own field or vineyard. If fire breaks out and catches in a thorn-hedge, so that the shocks of grain or the standing grain or the field itself is consumed, he who lit the fire must make restitution.
- 7 “If a man gives money or other articles to another to keep, and it is stolen from the latter’s house, if the thief is found, he must make two-fold restitution; if the thief is not found, the owner of the house must be brought into the presence of God to determine whether he himself has not laid hands on the other’s property.
- 9 “In every case of dispute, whether it concerns ox, or ass, or sheep, or clothing, or any article at all that has disappeared, concerning which claim is made, “This is it,” the case of both parties shall come before God; he whom God convicts must make two-fold restitution to the other.
- 10 “If a man gives an ass, or an ox, or a sheep, or any kind of animal

- to another to keep, and it dies, or is injured, or is taken as booty when 11 no one was looking, there must be an oath by the LORD between the two of them as to whether one did not lay hands on the other's property; the owner must then accept it, and no restitution shall be made.
12 But if it is really stolen from him, he must make restitution to its 13 owner. If it is torn in pieces, let him bring it as evidence; he need not make good what has been torn.
- 14 "If a man borrows an animal from another, and it is injured or dies, its owner not being employed with it, he must make restitution; 15 if the owner is employed with it, he need not make restitution; if it was hired, the owner is to receive the price of its hire.
- 16 "If a man seduces a virgin who is not betrothed, and lies with her, 17 he must pay the marriage-price for her, and marry her; if her father absolutely refuses to give her to him, he must pay money equivalent to the marriage-price of virgins.
- 18 "You must not let a sorceress live.
- 19 "Whoever lies with an animal must be put to death.
- 20 "He who sacrifices to any god except the LORD alone must be destroyed.
- 21 "You must not ill-treat a resident alien, nor oppress him; for you 22 were once resident aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt. You must 23 not wrong any widow or orphan. If you ever wrong them and they 24 cry aloud to me, I will be sure to hear their cry, and my anger will blaze, and I will slay you with the sword; thus shall your own wives become widows and your children orphans.
- 25 "If you lend money to my people, to any poor person among you, you must not behave like a creditor toward him; you must not charge 26 him any interest. If you ever take another's cloak in pledge, you must 27 return it to him by sunset; for that is his only covering; it is his cloak for his body. What else could he sleep in? And if he should cry to me, I would respond; for I am kind.
- 28 "You must not revile God, nor curse a ruler of your people.
- 29 "You must not be dilatory with your offering, whether much or 30 little. You must give me the first-born of your sons; you must do the same with your oxen and your sheep; for seven days it may remain with its dam; on the eighth day you must give it to me.
- 31 "Since you are men sacred to me, you must not eat flesh that has been torn in the field; you must throw it to the dogs.
- 23 "You must not give false, hearsay evidence; do not join hands
2 with a wicked person by being a malicious witness. You must not fol-

- low the majority by doing wrong, nor give evidence in a suit so as to 3 pervert justice, by turning aside with the majority. Neither must you favor a poor man in his case.
- 4 “If you come across your enemy’s ox or ass going astray, you must be sure to take it home to him.
- 5 “If you see the ass of one who hates you lying prostrate under its load, you must refrain from deserting him; you must be sure to help him get it up.
- 6 “You must not pervert the justice due your poor in his case. Avoid 7 false charges; do not have innocent and guiltless people put to death, 8 nor acquit the wicked. You must never take a bribe; for a bribe blinds the open-eyed, and subverts even a just case.
- 9 “You must not oppress a resident alien, since you know the feelings of an alien; for you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt.
- 10 “For six years you may sow your land and gather in its crops, but 11 during the seventh year you must leave it alone and let it lie fallow, so that the poor of your people may eat of it, and what they leave the wild animals may eat. You must do the same with your vineyards and olive groves.
- 12 “Six days you are to do your work, but on the seventh day you must desist, in order that your ox and ass may rest, and that your slave and the resident alien may refresh themselves.
- 13 “Give heed to all that I have told you; never mention the names of alien gods; do not let them be heard on your lips.
- 14 “Three times a year you are to hold a festival for me. You must 15 keep the festival of unleavened cakes, eating unleavened cakes for seven days, as I commanded you, at the appointed time, the new moon of Abib (for it was then that you came out of Egypt); none may come 16 to see me empty-handed. There is also the harvest festival, that of the first-fruits of your labor, of what you sowed in the field; and the fes-17 tival of ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in the fruit of your labor from the field. Three times a year all your males must appear before the Lord God.
- 18 “You must not offer the blood of any sacrifice to me with leaven, nor may the fat of my festivals be left over night until morning.
- 19 “The very first of the first-fruits of your soil you must bring to the house of the LORD your God.
- “You must not boil a kid in its mother’s milk.
- 20 “See, I am sending an angel before you, to guard you on the way,

21 and to bring you to the place that I have prepared. Pay attention to him and heed his injunctions; do not oppose him, because he will not 22 pardon your offense; for I will manifest myself in him. But if you do heed his injunctions, and do just what I say, I will be an enemy to 23 your enemies, and an adversary to your adversaries. When my angel goes before you, and brings you to the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites,
24 Canaanites, Hivvites, and Jebusites, and I exterminate them, you must not pay homage to their gods, nor serve them, nor make anything like them; but you must be sure to overthrow them, and smash their sacred
25 pillars. You must serve the LORD your God, and then I will bless 26 your food and water, and I will free you from disease; there shall be none in your land who miscarries or is barren; I will bring to com-
27 pletion the full number of your days. I will send my terror before you, and will throw all the peoples to whom you come into a panic; I
28 will make all your enemies turn their backs to you; I will send leprosy ahead of you to drive the Hivvites, Canaanites, and Hittites out
29 of your way; I will not drive them out of your way in a single year, lest the land become desolate, and the wild beasts become too numer-
30 ous for you; I will drive them out of your way little by little, until 31 you grow in numbers and can take full possession of the land. I will make your domain the region from the Red Sea as far as the sea of the Philistines, and from the desert as far as the Euphrates; for I will 32 deliver the inhabitants of the land into your power, and drive them out of your way. You must make no covenant with them, nor with 33 their gods; they must not remain in your land lest they make you sin against me; for if you were to serve their gods, it would endanger you.' ”

24 “Come up to the LORD,” he said to Moses, “you, and Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, and worship at a distance; Moses alone is to come near the LORD; the others are not to come near, nor are the people to go up with him.”

3 Then Moses came, and recounted to the people all the regulations of the LORD and all the ordinances; and the people all answered with one voice,

“All the regulations that the LORD has given we will observe.”

4 So Moses wrote down all the regulations of the LORD, and rising early next morning, he built an altar at the foot of the mountain, along with twelve sacred pillars, one for each of the twelve tribes of 5 Israel. Then he sent the young men of the Israelites to offer burnt-

- 6 offerings and to sacrifice oxen as thank-offerings to the LORD, while Moses himself took half of the blood, and put it in basins, dashing the 7 other half on the altar. He then took the book of the covenant, and read it in the hearing of the people, who said,
“All that the LORD has directed we will obediently do.”
- 8 Then Moses took the blood and dashed it on the people, saying, “That is the blood of the covenant which the LORD has made with you on the basis of all these regulations.”
- 9 Moses then went up, with Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of 10 the elders of Israel, and they saw the God of Israel, with something like a sapphire pavement under his feet, as clear as the sky itself.
11 And God did not lay hands on the leaders of the Israelites, but they beheld God, and ate and drank.
- 12 The LORD said to Moses, “Ascend the mountain to me, and be present there, that I may give you the stone tablets, with the instructions and commands that I have written on them for their instruction.”
- 13 So Moses, with his attendant Joshua, rose; and Moses ascended the 14 mountain of God, saying to the elders, “Wait here for us until we come back to you. Aaron and Hur are here with you; whoever has a dispute may bring it to them.”
- 15 So Moses ascended the mountain, while the cloud covered the 16 mountain, and the glory of the LORD rested on Mount Sinai; for six days the cloud covered it, but on the seventh day he called to Moses 17 from the midst of the cloud. The glory of the LORD looked to the 18 Israelites like a consuming fire on the top of the mountain. Moses penetrated the cloud, and ascended the mountain; Moses remained on the mountain for forty days and nights.
- 25 The LORD said to Moses,
2 “Tell the Israelites to procure a contribution for me; get the con-3 tribution for me from everyone whose heart makes him willing. And this is the contribution that you are to procure from them: gold, sil-4 ver, and bronze, violet, purple, and scarlet material, fine linen, goats’
5 hair, tanned rams’ skins, porpoise skins, acacia wood, oil for the lamps, 6 spices for the anointing oil and the fragrant incense, onyx stones, and 7 set stones for the sacred apron and pouch.
- 8 “They must also make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among 9 them; you must make it exactly as I have shown you, after the plan for the dwelling and all its fittings.
- 10 “They must also make an ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits

¹¹ long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high; you must overlay it with pure gold, overlaying it both inside and outside, and ¹² run a molding of gold around it. You must cast four rings of gold for it, and fasten them on its four feet, with two rings on one side of ¹³ it and two rings on the other side of it; then you must make poles of ¹⁴ acacia wood, overlaying them with gold, and put the poles through the ¹⁵ rings on the sides of the ark, with which to carry the ark; the poles are to remain in the rings of the ark, never to be removed from it.
¹⁶ Inside the ark you must place the decrees which I give you. You must ¹⁷ also make a propitiatory of pure gold, two and a half cubits long, and ¹⁸ a cubit and a half wide; and make two cherubs of gold at the two
¹⁹ ends of the propitiatory, making them of beaten work, making one cherub at one end and the other cherub at the other end, and making
²¹ the cherubs directed toward the propitiatory. You must place the propitiatory on top of the ark, and inside the ark you must place the decrees that I give you. I will meet you there; from the place above the propitiatory, between the two cherubs on the ark of the decrees, I will communicate to you all the commands that I have to give you for the Israelites.

²³ “You must also make a table of acacia wood, two cubits long, a
²⁴ cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high; you must overlay it with pure ²⁵ gold, and run a molding of gold around it; you must make a rail around it a handbreadth wide, and run a molding of gold around its ²⁶ rail; you must make four rings of gold for it, and fasten the rings on ²⁷ the four corners of its four feet; the rings are to lie close to the rail
²⁸ as holders for the poles for carrying the table. You must make the poles of acacia wood, overlaying them with gold, that the table may ²⁹ be carried with them. You must also make its plates, its cups, its flagons, and its bowls with which libations are made, making them of pure ³⁰ gold. You must always have Presence-bread set out on the table before me.

³¹ “You must also make a lampstand of pure gold; the base and shaft of the lampstand are to be made of beaten work, its cups, each with ³² its calyx and petals, to be of one piece with it; six branches are to extend from its sides, three branches of the lampstand from the one side of it, and three branches of the lampstand from the other side of ³³ it; there are to be three cups, shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on one branch, three cups, shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on another branch, and so for the 34 six branches extending from the lampstand; and on the lampstand itself there are to be four cups, shaped like almond-blossoms, each 35 with its calyx and petals; there is to be a calyx of one piece with it under two branches, another calyx of one piece with it under two branches, and another calyx of one piece with it under two branches, 36 for the six branches extending from the lampstand; their calyxes and branches are to be of one piece with it, the whole of it forming a single 37 piece of beaten work of pure gold. You must then make the seven lamps for it; and its lamps are to be put up so as to shed light on the 38 space in front of it. Its snuffers and snuffdishes are to be of pure gold.

39 A talent of pure gold is to be used to make it, with all these fittings.
40 And see that you make them after the model for them that was shown you on the mountain.

26 "The dwelling itself you must make out of ten curtains, making them of fine twisted linen, violet, purple, and scarlet material, with 2 cherubs, the work of artists; the length of each curtain is to be twenty-eight cubits, and the width of each curtain four cubits, all the curtains to have the same measurements. Five of the curtains are to be 3 joined to one another, and the other five curtains joined to one another; 4 and on the edge of the outermost curtain in the one set you are to make loops of violet, and you are to make the same on the edge of the 5 outermost curtain in the other set, making fifty loops on the one curtain, and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain in the other set, the 6 loops to be opposite each other. You must then make fifty gold clasps, and join the curtains to one another with the clasps, so that the dwelling may be a unit.

7 "Further, you must make curtains of goats' hair for a tent over the 8 dwelling, making eleven curtains in all, the length of each curtain to be thirty cubits, and the width of each curtain four cubits, the eleven 9 curtains to have the same measurements. You must join five of the curtains by themselves, and the other six curtains by themselves, doubling 10 the sixth curtain to hang in front of the tent. Then you must make fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in the one set, 11 and fifty loops on the edge of that in the other set, and you must also make fifty bronze clasps, and put the clasps into the loops, thus joining 12 the tent together so that it becomes a unit. The overhanging part that is left over in the tent curtains, the half curtain that is left over, is to 13 hang over the rear of the dwelling, while the cubit left over on each side in the length of the tent curtains is to hang over each side of the 14 dwelling to cover it. Also, you must make a covering for the tent of tanned rams' skins, and above that a covering of porpoise skins.

15 "You must make the frames for the dwelling of durable acacia
16 wood, ten cubits to be the length of the frames, and a cubit and a half 17 the width of each frame; each frame is to have two arms, joined to each other by cross rungs; you are to do the same with all the frames 18 for the dwelling. You must make the frames for the dwelling as follows: twenty frames for the side toward the Negeb to the south, 19 making forty silver pedestals as bases for the twenty frames, two pedestals as bases for one frame with its two arms, and two pedestals as 20 bases for another frame with its two arms; twenty frames for the 21 second side of the dwelling, the northern side, with their forty silver pedestals, two pedestals as bases for one frame, and two pedestals as 22 bases for another frame; and you must make six frames for the rear 23 of the dwelling to the west, as well as two frames for the corners of 24 the dwelling at the rear; they are to be double at the bottom, and likewise double at the top of it, up to the first ring, and so with both of 25 them; they are to form the two corners; thus there shall be eight frames, with their sixteen silver pedestals, two pedestals as bases for 26 one frame, and two pedestals as bases for another frame. You must also make bars of acacia wood, five for the frames on the one side of 27 the dwelling, and five bars for the frames on the other side of the dwelling, and five bars for the frames on the side of the dwelling at 28 the rear to the west; the middle bar in the centre of the frames is to 29 run through from end to end. You must overlay the frames with gold, and make the rings on them of gold as holders for the bars, and 30 also overlay the bars with gold. So you must erect the dwelling after the plan for it that was shown you on the mountain.

31 "You must also make a veil of violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, and it is to be made with cherubs, the work of 32 artists; you must fasten it on four columns of acacia wood overlaid with gold, with their hooks of gold, standing on four silver pedestals; 33 you must hang the veil from the clasps, and you must bring the ark of the decrees in there, inside the veil, so that the veil shall divide the 34 sacred place from the most sacred place for you. You must put the 35 propitiatory on the ark of the decrees in the most sacred place, and place the table outside the veil, and the lampstand opposite the table at 36 the south side of the dwelling, placing the table at the north side. You must also make a screen for the doorway of the tent of violet, purple, 37 and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, in variegated work; and for the screen you must make five columns of acacia wood, and overlay them with gold; their hooks are to be gold, and you must cast five bronze pedestals for them.

27 “You must make the altar of acacia wood, five cubits long, and five cubits wide; the altar is to be square, and its height three cubits; you must make the horns for it on its four corners, its horns to be of one piece with it; and you must overlay it with bronze. You must make its ash-pans, its shovels, its basins, its forks, and its firepans, making all its utensils of bronze. You must make a bronze grating of network for it, and on the net you must make four bronze rings at its four corners; you must then place it under the ledge around the altar, that the net may reach half-way up the altar. You must also make poles for the altar, poles of acacia wood, and overlay them with bronze; its poles are to be put through the rings, with the poles resting on the two sides of the altar when it is carried. You are to make it hollow, with boards; it is to be made just as it was shown you on the mountain.

9 “Then you must make the court of the dwelling: for the southern side toward the Negeb there are to be hangings for the court of fine twisted linen, extending one hundred cubits along the one side, with twenty columns for them, and twenty bronze pedestals for these, the hooks of the columns and their bands to be silver. Similarly, for the north side there are to be hangings, extending to a length of one hundred cubits, and twenty columns for them, with twenty bronze pedestals for these, the hooks of the columns and their bands to be silver. 12 For the west side, the width of the court, there are to be hangings extending for fifty cubits, ten columns for them, and ten pedestals for these; and the width of the court at the front, the east side, is to be fifty cubits, with hangings on the one wing for fifteen cubits, three columns for them, and three pedestals for these, and hangings on the other wing for fifteen cubits, three columns for them, and three pedestals for these; while the gate of the court is to have a screen measuring twenty cubits, of violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, in variegated work, with four columns for it, and four pedestals for these. All the columns around the court are to be bound with silver, their hooks also to be silver, but their pedestals bronze. 18 The length of the court is to be one hundred cubits, the width fifty cubits, and the height five cubits, hung with fine twisted linen. All the utensils of the dwelling, used in all its service, as well as all its pegs, and all the pegs for the court are to be bronze.

- 20 “You must order the Israelites to provide you with pure oil from crushed olives for the lights, so that there may always be a lamp to 21 lift in place; in the tent of meeting, outside the veil which screens the decrees, Aaron and his sons are to keep it supplied from evening until morning before the LORD; it is to be a perpetual statute with the Israelites, age after age.
- 28 “From among the Israelites have your brother Aaron, accompanied by his sons, present himself to you to serve as priest to me, Aaron and 2 his sons, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. You must make sacred vestments for your brother Aaron to his honor and adornment;
3 you must tell all the skilful persons, whom I have endowed with skill, to make vestments for Aaron, to consecrate him to serve as priest to 4 me. The following are the vestments that they must make: a pouch, an apron, a robe, a tunic in checkered work, a turban, and a sash. They must make the sacred vestments for your brother Aaron and his 5 sons, that he may serve as priest to me; and they must use gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine linen.
- 6 “They must make the apron of gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, in skilled work; it must have two shoulder-
7 straps joined to it at the two ends, and thus be joined. The skilfully made girdle on it must be made like it, of one piece with it, of 8 gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen. You must then procure two onyx stones, and engrave on them the names of 9 the Israelites, six of their names on the one stone, and the remaining
10 six on the other stone, in the order of their origin; with seal engravings, the work of a jeweler, you must engrave the two stones with the various names of the Israelites, setting them in filigree work of gold;
11 and you must fasten the two stones on the shoulder-straps of the apron, as memorial stones for the Israelites, and so Aaron shall carry their names on his shoulders in the presence of the LORD as a memorial.
- 12 “You must also make filigree objects of gold, and two chains of 13 pure gold, making them of twisted material, of cordage-work, and you must fasten the corded chains to the filigree objects.
- 14 “Further, you must make an oracle pouch in skilled work; you must make it in the same way as the apron, making it of gold, violet, 15 purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen; it is to be square, 16 and folded double, a span long, and a span wide; and you must insert in it a setting of stones, four rows of stones, the first row to be a row of 17 carnelian, topaz, and emerald, the second row a ruby, a sapphire, and a 18 crystal, the third row a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst, and the 19 fourth row a chrysolite, an onyx, and a jasper; they are to be inclosed 21 with gold in their settings. The stones, corresponding to the names of the Israelites, are to be twelve in number, as their names are, each to be 22 engraved like a seal with its proper name for the twelve tribes. On the pouch you must make chains of twisted material, of cordage-work 23 of pure gold; you must then make two rings of gold on the pouch, 24 fastening the two rings at the two ends of the pouch; you must fasten 25 the two gold cords to the two rings at the ends of the pouch, while the other two ends of the two cords you must fasten to the two filigree objects, fastening them to the shoulder-straps of the apron on the 26 front of it. You must make two rings of gold, and attach them to the 27 two ends of the pouch, on its inner edge next to the apron. You must then make two rings of gold, and fasten them to the shoulder-straps in front of the apron, underneath, close to the place where it is joined, 28 above the skilfully made girdle; and the pouch is to be tied by its rings to the rings of the apron with a violet cord, so as to lie on the skilfully made girdle, so that the pouch may not swing loose from the 29 apron. Aaron shall carry the names of the Israelites on the oracle pouch over his heart whenever he enters the sacred place, as a mem-30 orial before the LORD always. You must put the Urim and Thum-mim in the oracle pouch, that they may lie over Aaron's heart whenever he enters the presence of the LORD, that Aaron may always carry the oracle of the Israelites over his heart in the presence of the LORD.

31 "You must make the robe belonging to the apron entirely of violet 32 material; and it must have an opening at the top, in the middle of it; its opening is to have a binding of woven work around it; it is to have 33 an opening like that of a corselet, so that it may not be torn. On its skirts you must make pomegranates of violet, purple, and scarlet ma-34 terial, all around its skirts, with gold bells among them all around, a gold bell alternating with a pomegranate all around the skirts of the 35 robe. Aaron must wear it in ministering, that the tinkling of it may be heard when he enters the sacred place in the presence of the LORD, and when he leaves it, and then he will not die.

36 "You must also make a diadem of pure gold, and with seal engrav-37 ings you must engrave on it, 'Sacred to the LORD;' you must attach it to a violet cord, and it is to rest on the turban; at the front of the 38 turban shall it be; it is to rest on Aaron's forehead, so that Aaron himself shall bear any guilt connected with the sacred offerings which the Israelites may ever make as their sacred gifts; it must always be on his forehead to win acceptance for them before the LORD.

- 39 "You must weave the tunic of fine linen; and make a turban of fine linen, and a sash in variegated work.
- 40 "For Aaron's sons, too, you must make tunics; you must make sashes for them, and you must also make caps for them, to their honor
- 41 and adornment. You must dress your brother Aaron in these, and his sons along with him, anointing them, installing them, and consecrating them to serve as priests to me. You must also make linen breeches
- 42 for them, to cover their bare flesh, reaching from the loins to the
- 43 thighs; and Aaron and his sons must wear them whenever they enter the tent of meeting, or approach the altar to minister in the sacred place, lest they incur guilt, and so die; it is to be a perpetual statute for him and his descendants.
- 29 "The following is what you must do with them in consecrating them to serve as priests to me: take a young bullock, two perfect rams,
- 2 unleavened bread, unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened
- 3 wafers smeared with oil, making them of fine wheat flour; you must put them in a basket, and present them in the basket, along with the
- 4 bullock and the two rams. Then you must have Aaron and his sons come up to the doorway of the tent of meeting, and wash them with
- 5 water; and taking the vestments, you must dress Aaron in the tunic, the robe belonging to the apron, the apron itself, and the pouch, and
- 6 gird him with the skilfully made girdle; you must set the turban on
- 7 his head, and place the sacred crown on the turban; you must then
- 8 take the anointing oil, and pouring it on his head, anoint him. You
- 9 must also have his sons come up, and then dress them in tunics, gird them with sashes, namely Aaron and his sons, and fasten caps on them; they are to have the priesthood by a perpetual statute. Thus shall you install Aaron and his sons.
- 10 "You must then bring the bullock to the front of the tent of meeting; Aaron and his sons must lay their hands on the head of the bul-
- 11 lock, and then you must slaughter the bullock before the LORD at the
- 12 doorway of the tent of meeting; you must take some of the bullock's blood, and put it on the horns of the altar with your finger, pouring
- 13 out all the rest of the blood at the base of the altar; you must take all the fat covering the entrails, the lobe on the liver, and the two kidneys
- 14 with the fat that is on them, and burn them on the altar; but the flesh of the bullock, with its hide and offal, you must burn up outside the
- 15 camp; it is a sin-offering. You must then take one of the rams; Aaron and his sons must lay their hands on the head of the ram, and then
- 16 you must slaughter the ram, and taking its blood, dash it all around the

- 17 altar; you must cut the ram into pieces, and washing its entrails and 18 legs, put them with its other pieces and its head, and then burn the whole ram on the altar; it is a burnt-offering to the LORD, a soothing 19 odor, a sacrifice to the LORD. You must then take the other ram; 20 Aaron and his sons must lay their hands on the head of the ram, and then you must slaughter the ram, and taking some of its blood, put it on the tip of Aaron's ear, on the tips of his sons' right ears, on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the great toes of their right feet, 21 dashing the rest of the blood all around the altar; you must then take some of the blood that is on the altar and some of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his vestments, as well as on his sons and the vestments of his sons with him, so that he and his vestments may be consecrated, as well as his sons and the vestments of his sons with him.
22 You must also take the fat from the ram, the fat tail, the fat covering the entrails, the lobe of the liver, the two kidneys with the fat that is 23 on them, and the right thigh (for it is an installation ram), together with a loaf of bread, a cake made with oil, and a wafer from the 24 basket of unleavened cakes which lies before the LORD; you must lay all this in the hands of Aaron and his sons, and present them as a 25 wave-offering before the LORD; then you must take them from their hands, and burn them on the altar for burnt-offerings, as a soothing 26 odor to the LORD; it is a sacrifice to the LORD. You must take the breast of Aaron's installation ram, and wave it as a wave-offering be-27 fore the LORD, after which it is to become your share. You must consecrate the waved breast of the ram used for the installation of Aaron and his sons, which was waved, and the thigh which was contributed; 28 it must go to Aaron and his sons as their due for all time from the Israelites; for it is a contribution; it is a contribution from the Israelites out of their thanksgiving sacrifices, their contribution to the LORD.
29 "The sacred vestments of Aaron shall pass to his sons after him, 30 that they may be anointed and installed in them; for seven days shall that one of his sons who is to be priest in his place wear them when he enters the tent of meeting to minister in the sacred place.
31 "Taking the installation ram, you must boil its flesh at a sacred 32 place, and then Aaron and his sons must eat the flesh of the ram and 33 the bread in the basket at the doorway of the tent of meeting; they may eat these things for whose installation and consecration atonement was made by them, but no layman may eat them; for they are 34 sacred. If any of the flesh used in the installation, or any of the bread is left over until morning, you must burn up what is left; it is not to be eaten, because it is sacred.

35 “This, then, is what you must do with Aaron and his sons, just as I have commanded you. You must spend seven days installing them; 36 each day you must offer a bullock as a sin-offering to make atonement; you must make a sin-offering on the altar when you make 37 atonement for it, and then anoint it to make it sacred; you must spend seven days making atonement for the altar in order to make it sacred; the altar will then be completely taboo, so that everyone touching the altar will become taboo.

38 “This is what you are to offer on the altar: two yearling lambs 39 regularly each day, offering one lamb in the morning, and the other 40 lamb at twilight, and with the former lamb a tenth of an ephah of fine meal mixed with a fourth of a hin of oil from crushed olives, 41 and a libation of a fourth of a hin of wine; and the other lamb you must offer at twilight as a soothing odor, a sacrifice to the LORD, accompanying it with the same cereal-offering and libation as the 42 offering in the morning—a regular burnt-offering to be made by you from generation to generation at the doorway of the tent of meeting before the LORD, where I will meet you to speak to you there.

43 “I will meet the Israelites there, and it shall be consecrated by my 44 glory; I will consecrate the tent of meeting and the altar, and I will 45 also consecrate Aaron and his sons to serve as priests to me; I will 46 dwell in the midst of the Israelites, and will be their God; they shall know that I, the LORD, am their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt that I might dwell in the midst of them, I, the LORD their God.

30 “You must also make an altar for burning incense, making it of 2 acacia wood; it is to be square, a cubit long and a cubit wide, while its 3 height is to be two cubits, with its horns of one piece with it; you must overlay it with pure gold, its top, its sides all around, and its horns; 4 and you must run a gold molding around it. You must make two gold rings for it underneath its molding, on its two sides, making them on the two opposite sides of it, as holders for the poles by which 5 to carry it. You must make the poles of acacia wood, and overlay 6 them with gold. You must then place it in front of the veil which screens the ark of the decrees, in front of the propitiatory that lies 7 over the decrees, where I will meet you. On it Aaron must burn spices as incense, burning it from morning to morning when he trims 8 the lamps; also when Aaron puts up the lamps at twilight, he must burn it, as a regular incense-offering before the LORD throughout 9 your generations. You must not offer improper incense on it, nor 10 burnt-offerings, nor cereal-offerings, nor pour libations on it. Once a year Aaron must make atonement on its horns; with the blood of the sin-offering of atonement he must make atonement on it once a year throughout your generations, since it is most sacred to the LORD.”

11 The LORD said to Moses,

12 “When you take a census of the Israelites, each of them must pay a ransom for himself to the LORD at the time that they are numbered, 13 that no plague may fall on them when they are numbered. And this is what every one must pay as he joins those already numbered, a halfshekel, in terms of the sacred shekel, the shekel of twenty gerahs, a 14 half-shekel as a contribution to the LORD; every one from twenty years old and upward, as he joins those already numbered, must make 15 this contribution to the LORD; the rich are not to give more, nor the poor less than a half-shekel in making the contribution to the LORD 16 to make atonement for yourselves. On taking the atonement money from the Israelites you must use it for the service of the tent of meeting, that it may be for the Israelites a memorial before the LORD to make atonement for yourselves.”

17 The LORD said to Moses,

18 “You must make a bronze laver with a bronze base for washing, and place it between the tent of meeting and the altar, putting water 19 in it, so that Aaron and his sons may wash their hands and feet from 20 it; whenever they enter the tent of meeting, they must wash themselves with water, that they die not; or whenever they approach the 21 altar to minister, by burning a sacrifice to the LORD. So they must wash their hands and feet, that they die not, and it is to be a perpetual statute for them, for him and his descendants from generation to generation.”

22 The LORD said to Moses,

23 “Procure the finest spices, five hundred shekels of pure myrrh, half that amount of fragrant cinnamon, namely two hundred and fifty 24 shekels, two hundred and fifty shekels of fragrant calamus, five hundred shekels of cassia, in terms of the sacred shekel, and a hin of olive 25 oil; you must then make it into a sacred anointing oil, a compound made according to the art of the compounder of oils; it is to be a 26 sacred anointing oil, and with it you must anoint the tent of meeting, 27 the ark of the decrees, the table and all its fittings, the lampstand and 28 its fittings, the incense altar, the altar for burnt-offerings and all its

29 fittings, the laver and its base, and thus make them sacred, so that they become completely taboo, with everyone touching them becoming 30 taboo. You must also anoint Aaron and his sons, consecrating them to 31 serve as priests to me. You must then say to the Israelites, 'This is to 32 be a sacred anointing oil for me throughout your generations; it is not to be used for anointing the body of an ordinary person, nor are you to make anything like it in composition for yourselves; being 33 sacred, it is taboo to you. Whoever compounds anything like it, or puts any of it on a layman, shall be cut off from his people.' "

34 The LORD said to Moses,

"Procure spices, stacte, onycha, galbanum, spices, and pure frank-35 incense, the same amount of each, and make it into incense, a com-36 pound made by the compounder's art, clarified, pure and sacred. You must pulverize some of it very fine, and place some of it in front of the decrees in the tent of meeting, where I will meet you; it is to be 37 completely taboo to you. The incense which you are to make according to its formula, you must never make for yourselves; you must 38 regard it as sacred to the LORD; whoever makes anything like it just to smell shall be cut off from his people."

31 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "See, I have specifically chosen Bezalel, the son of Uri, the son of 3 Hur, belonging to the tribe of Judah, filling him with the spirit of 4 God, in skill, intelligence, and knowledge in every craft, to devise 5 ingenious things in working with gold, silver, and bronze, and in the cutting of stones to be set, and in wood carving, that he may work at 6 every craft. However, along with him I have also appointed Oholiab, the son of Ahisamach, belonging to the tribe of Dan, and I have endowed all those of skilful mind with skill to make all that I have 7 commanded you, the tent of meeting, the ark of the decrees, and the 8 propitiatory on it, all the fittings of the tent, the table and its fittings,
9 the lampstand of pure gold and its fittings, the incense altar, the altar 10 for burnt-offerings and all its fittings, the laver and its base, the woven vestments, the sacred vestments for Aaron, the priest, and the 11 vestments for his sons, to serve as priests, the anointing oil, and the incense made of spices for the sacred place; they shall make them just as I have commanded you."

12 The LORD said to Moses,

13 "Say to the Israelites, 'You must be sure to keep my sabbaths; for that will be a sign between me and you throughout your generations, 14 so that it may be known that I, the LORD, am consecrating you. So you must keep the sabbath; for it is to be sacred to you; anyone desecrating it must be put to death; if there is anyone who does work on 15 it, that person is to be cut off from his people. For six days work may be done, but on the seventh day there is to be the sabbath of complete rest, sacred to the LORD; anyone who does work on the sabbath day

 16 must be put to death. So the Israelites must keep the sabbath, observing the sabbath from generation to generation as a perpetual cove-
 17 nant; it is a sign between me and the Israelites forever; for in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, but on the seventh day he rested and refreshed himself.' ”

18 As soon as he had finished talking with Moses on Mount Sinai, he gave him the two tablets of the decrees, the stone tablets, inscribed by God's own finger.

32 When the people saw that Moses was long in coming down from the mountain, the people gathered about Aaron, and said to him,

“Come, make us a god to go ahead of us; for this is the way it is with Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt,—we do not know what has become of him.”

2 So Aaron said to them,

“Tear off the gold rings which are in the ears of your wives, your sons, and your daughters, and bring them to me.”

3 So all the people tore off the gold rings which were in their ears,
 4 and brought them to Aaron, who took the material from them, and pouring it into a mold, made it into a molten bull, whereupon they said,

“Here is your god, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!”

5 On seeing this, Aaron built an altar in front of it, and Aaron made proclamation,

“Tomorrow a festival shall be held to the LORD.”

6 So next day the people rose early, and offered burnt-offerings, and presented thank-offerings; the people sat down to eat and drink, after which they rose to make merry.

7 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Go down at once; for your people whom you brought up out of 8 the land of Egypt have acted perniciously, in that they have been quick to swerve from the path that I appointed them, by making themselves a molten bull, doing homage to it, sacrificing to it, and saying, ‘This is your god, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!’ ”

- 9 Further, the LORD said to Moses,
- 10 "I have watched this people, and it is indeed a stiff-necked people. Now then, let me alone, that my anger may blaze against them, and that I may consume them; and then I will make a great nation of you."
- 11 But Moses tried to mollify the LORD his God.
- "O LORD," he said, "why does thy anger blaze against thy own people whom thou didst bring out of the land of Egypt by great power
- 12 and a strong hand? Why should the Egyptians say, 'It was at a bad time that he brought them out, slaying them in the highlands and obliterating them from the face of the earth?' Turn from thy fierce
- 13 anger, and change thy mind about doing evil to thy people. Remember concerning Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, thy servants, that thou didst swear by thyself to them, saying to them, 'I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky, and all this land that I have spoken of, I will give to your descendants to have as their own forever.'"
- 14 So the LORD changed his mind about the evil that he said he would do to his people.
- 15 Moses then turned and descended from the mountain, with the two tablets of the decrees in his hand, tablets written on both their
- 16 sides, being written on one side and on the other. The tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, engraved upon the tablets.
- 17 When Joshua heard the sound of the people shouting, he said to Moses,
- "There is the sound of war in the camp."
- 18 But he said,
- "It is not the sound of the cry of might, nor is it the sound of the cry of defeat; it is the sound of singing that I hear."
- 19 As soon as he came near the camp, he saw the bull and the dancing, whereupon Moses' anger blazed, and he flung the tablets from his
- 20 hands, and broke them at the foot of the mountain; then he took the bull which they had made, and burned it up, and grinding it to powder, he scattered it on the surface of the water, and made the Israel-
- 21 ites drink it. Then Moses said to Aaron,
- "What did this people do to you, that you have let them incur such great guilt?"
- 22 Aaron said,
- "Let not my lord's anger blaze; you know yourself how bad the 23 people are. They said to me, 'Make us a god to go ahead of us; for this is the way it is with Moses, the man who brought us up out of the 24 land of Egypt,—we do not know what has become of him.' So I said to them, 'Whoever has any gold, let them tear it off'; and when they gave it to me, I threw it into the fire, and out came this bull!"

25 When Moses saw that the people had become unruly (for Aaron had let them get unruly, to be a derision among their assailants)

26 Moses stood at the gate of the camp, and said,

"To me, whoever is for the LORD!"

27 Whereupon all the Levites gathered to him. Then he said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Let each fasten his sword on his hip, and go back and forth from gate to gate in the camp, slaying each his kinsman, his friend, and his neighbor.'" "

28 The Levites followed Moses' instructions, so that about three thousand of the people fell that day.

29 Then Moses said,

"You have installed yourselves today as priests to the LORD, each at the cost of his son and his kinsman, that he may bestow a blessing on you today."

30 Next day Moses said to the people,

"You have committed a great sin; so now I will go up to the LORD; perhaps I may make atonement for your sin."

31 So Moses returned to the LORD, and said,

"Alas, this people has committed a great sin, in that they have 32 made a god of gold for themselves. But now, if thou wilt forgive their sin, . . .; but if not, pray blot me out of thy book which thou hast written."

33 But the LORD said to Moses,

34 "Whoever sins against me, him only I blot out of my book. Now go, lead the people where I told you; see, my angel shall go ahead of you; but on the day that I do punish, I will punish them for their sin."

35 So the LORD smote the people for having had the bull made which Aaron made.

33 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"Depart, you and the people that you have brought up out of the land of Egypt, go up from here to the land which I promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, when I said, 'To your descendants I
2 will give it' (I will send an angel ahead of you, and I will drive out the Canaanites, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebu-
3 sites), to a land abounding in milk and honey; for I will not go up with you myself, lest I destroy you on the way; for you are a stiff-necked people.”

4 When the people heard this bad news, they mourned, and none of them wore his ornaments.

5 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Say to the Israelites, ‘You are such a stiff-necked people that if I were to go up with you for a single moment, I would destroy you; take off your ornaments then, that I may know what to do to you.’”

6 So the Israelites stripped off their Mount Horeb ornaments.

7 Now Moses used to take the tent and pitch it outside the camp, at a distance from the camp. It was called the tent of meeting; if there was anyone who wanted to consult the LORD, he would go out to the 8 tent of meeting which was outside the camp. Whenever Moses went out to the tent, the people would all rise and stand, each at the doorway of his tent, and gaze after Moses until he entered the tent;

9 and as soon as Moses entered the tent, the column of cloud would descend, and stand at the doorway of the tent while he conversed

10 with Moses; and whenever the people saw the column of cloud standing at the doorway of the tent, the people would all rise, and make

11 obeisance, each at the doorway of his tent. The LORD used to speak to Moses face to face, as one man would speak to another; and then he would return to the camp; but his attendant, Joshua, the son of Nun, as servant was not accustomed to leave the tent.

12 Moses said to the LORD,

“See, thou sayest to me, ‘Lead this people up,’ but thou hast not let me know whom thou wilt send with me. Yet thou hast said, ‘I know

13 you by name, and you have found favor with me too.’ Now then, if I have really found favor with thee, pray let me know thy ways, and so know thee, that I may continue to find favor with thee. Consider, too, that this nation is thy own people.”

14 “I will go along myself,” he said, “and lead you.”

15 He said to him,

“If thou art not to go along thyself, do not make us go up from 16 here. For how then could it be known that I and thy people have found favor with thee? Is it not by thy going with us, so that we may be distinguished, I and thy people, from all other people that are on the face of the ground?”

17 So the LORD said to Moses,

“This request also, which you have just made, I will carry out; for you have found favor with me, and I know you by name.”

18 Then he said,
"Show me thy glory."

19 But he said,

"I will make all my goodness pass before your view, and will proclaim the name of the LORD before you, and how I am gracious to those to whom I am gracious, and compassionate with those with 20 whom I am compassionate." "But you may not see my face," he said; "for man cannot see me, and live."

21 However, the LORD said,

22 "Here is a place by me; station yourself on the rock; and when my glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock, and cover you 23 with my hand until I pass by; then I will take away my hand, so that you may see my back, while my face shall not be seen."

34 The LORD said to Moses,

"Cut two stone tablets like the former ones, and I will write on the tablets the words that were on the former tablets which you broke.

2 Be ready by morning, and in the morning ascend Mount Sinai, and
3 present yourself there to me on the top of the mountain. No one is to ascend with you, nor is anyone to be seen anywhere on the mountain, nor must the flocks and herds graze in front of that mountain."

4 So Moses cut two stone tablets like the former ones, and rising early next morning, he ascended Mount Sinai, as the LORD had com-
5 manded him, taking the two stone tablets in his hand. Then the LORD descended in a cloud, and took up a position with him there, while 6 he called upon the name of the LORD. The LORD passed in front of him, proclaiming,

"The LORD, the LORD, a God compassionate and gracious, slow to 7 anger, rich in grace and fidelity, showing grace to the thousandth generation, forgiving iniquity, transgression, and sin, without leaving it unpunished however, but avenging the iniquity of fathers upon their children and grandchildren down to the third or even the fourth generation."

8 Then Moses quickly bowed his head to the ground, and made obeisance.

9 "If I have really found favor with thee, O Lord," he said, "pray let the Lord go with us; for this is a stiff-necked people; but do thou pardon our iniquity and our sin, and make us thy very own."

10 So he said,

"I hereby make a covenant: before all your people I will perform such wonders as have never occurred anywhere on the earth nor in any nation, so that all the people among whom you are living shall see that it is an awful deed that I, the LORD, am going to do along with 11 you. Mark what I command you today. I am going to drive the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites out 12 of your way; so you must take care not to make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land which you are about to enter, lest they become 13 a snare among you; but you must tear down their altars, smash their 14 sacred pillars, and cut down their sacred poles (for you must not pay homage to any other god, because the LORD, being jealous by nature, 15 is a jealous God), lest in making a covenant with the inhabitants of the land you run wantonly after their gods, sacrificing to their gods,

16 and whenever anyone invites you, partaking of his sacrifice, and you marry your sons to their daughters, which daughters will run wantonly after their gods, and make your sons run wantonly after their gods.

17 "You must not make any molten gods for yourselves.

18 "You must keep the festival of unleavened cakes, eating unleavened cakes for seven days, as I commanded you, at the appointed time, the new moon of Abib; for it was on the new moon of Abib that you came out of Egypt.

19 "Whatever first opens the womb belongs to me, in the case of all 20 your live stock that are male, the firstlings of oxen and sheep; a firstling ass, however, you may redeem with a sheep, but if you do not redeem it, you must break its neck; any first-born son of yours you may redeem.

"None may come to see me empty-handed.

21 "Six days you are to labor, but on the seventh day you must rest, resting at ploughing-time and at harvest.

22 "You must observe the festival of weeks, that of the first-fruits of the wheat harvest, and also the festival of ingathering at the close of 23 the year; three times a year must all your males come to see the Lord
24 God, the God of Israel. For I will drive nations out of your way, and enlarge your territory; and no one shall covet your land when you go up to see the LORD your God three times a year.

25 "You must not offer the blood of any sacrifice to me with leavened bread, nor must the sacrifice of the passover festival be left over night until morning.

26 "The very first of the first-fruits of your land you must bring to the house of the LORD your God.

"You must not boil a kid in its mother's milk."

27 Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Write down these words; for it is on the basis of these words that I have made a covenant with you and Israel.”

28 So he remained there with the LORD for forty days and nights, without eating bread or drinking water; and he wrote on the tablets the terms of the covenant, the decalogue.

29 When Moses descended from Mount Sinai (the two tablets of the decrees being in Moses' hand as he descended from the mountain), Moses himself did not know that the skin of his face was in a glow
30 after conversing with God; but Aaron and the Israelites all saw that the skin of Moses' face was in a glow, and they were afraid to ap-
31 proach him. But Moses called to them, and then Aaron and all the leaders of the community rejoined him, and Moses talked to them.
32 After that all the Israelites came up, and he enjoined on them all the things about which the LORD had conversed with him on Mount Sinai.
33 When Moses had finished conversing with them, he put a veil on his 34 face; but whenever Moses entered the presence of the LORD to converse with him, he used to remove the veil until he came out again; and whenever he came out, he would tell the Israelites what he had 35 been commanded, and the Israelites would see that the skin of Moses' face was in a glow, so Moses would replace the veil on his face until he came again to converse with him.

35 Then Moses assembled the whole Israelite community, and said to them,

“These are the things which the LORD has commanded to be done.

2 For six days work may be done, but the seventh day you are to keep sacred as a sabbath of complete rest to the LORD; whoever does any 3 work on it must be put to death; you must not even light a fire in any of your dwellings on the sabbath day.”

4 Further, Moses said to the whole Israelite community,

5 “This is the command that the LORD has given: ‘Procure for your company a contribution for the LORD; everyone whose heart is willing is to bring it, the LORD's contribution, gold, silver, and bronze,
6 violet, purple, and scarlet material, fine linen, goats' hair, tanned 7 rams' skins, porpoise skins, acacia wood, oil for the lights, spices for 8 the anointing oil and the fragrant incense, onyx stones, and set stones
9 for the sacred apron and pouch. Also every skilful person among you 10 is to come, and make all that the LORD has commanded, the dwelling with its tent, its covering, its clasps, its frames, its bars, its columns,
11 and its pedestals, the ark with its poles, the propitiatory, and the veil

13 for the screen, the table with its poles and all its fittings, and the pres-14 ence-bread, the lampstand for the lights with its fittings, its lamps, 15 and the oil for the lights, the incense altar with its poles, the anointing oil, the fragrant incense, and the screen for the doorway to the dwell-16 ing, the altar for burnt-offerings with its bronze grating, its poles, 17 and all its fittings, the laver with its base, the hangings for the court, with its columns and pedestals, and the screen for the gate of the 18 court, the pegs for the dwelling, the pegs for the court and their ropes, 19 the woven vestments for ministering in the sacred place, the sacred vestments for Aaron, the priest, and his sons' vestments, when they serve as priests.' "

20 The whole assembly of Israelites then left the presence of Moses; 21 and everyone who had confidence in his ability, and everyone whose mind made him willing came, bringing the contributions for the LORD, for the construction of the tent of meeting, for all its service, 22 and for the sacred vestments. They came, both men and women, all whose hearts were willing, bringing brooches, earrings, signet-rings, necklaces, and all sorts of gold objects—everyone who could make an 23 offering of gold to the LORD. Everyone who possessed violet, purple, or scarlet material, fine linen, goats' hair, tanned rams' skins, or por-24 poise skins, brought them. Everyone who could make a contribution of silver or bronze brought it as a contribution to the LORD; and everyone who possessed acacia wood, suitable for any of the construc-25 tion work, brought it. All the skilled women spun with their own hands, and brought the material that was spun, violet, purple, and 26 scarlet material, and fine linen; and all the women who had confi-27 dence in their ability spun the goats' hair. The rulers brought the 28 onyx stones, and the set stones for the sacred apron and pouch, the spices, and the oil for the lights, for the anointing oil, and for the 29 fragrant incense. The Israelites brought voluntary offerings to the LORD, every man and woman what his heart prompted him to bring for all the work which the LORD through Moses had commanded to be done.

30 Then Moses said to the Israelites,

"See, the LORD has specifically chosen Bezalel, the son of Uri, the 31 son of Hur, belonging to the tribe of Judah, filling him with the spirit of God, in skill, intelligence, and knowledge in every craft, 32 to devise ingenious things in working with gold, silver, and bronze, 33 and in the cutting of stones to be set, and in wood carving, that he

34 may work at every craft; and he has given him ability to instruct others. Both him and Oholiab, the son of Ahisamach, belonging to the 35 tribe of Dan, he has endowed with skill to do all kinds of work, that of the engraver, the artisan, the worker in violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine linen, and the weaver, makers of all kinds of work,
36 and devisers of ingenious things. Bezalel and Oholiab are to do the work, along with every skilled person whom the LORD has endowed with skill and intelligence to know how to carry out all the work of construction on the sanctuary, just as the LORD has commanded.”

2 So Moses summoned Bezalel and Oholiab, and every skilled person whom the LORD had endowed with skill, everyone who felt that he
3 had the ability to undertake the work, to carry it out. Under the supervision of Moses they received all the contributions which the Israelites had brought for the work of construction on the sanctuary, to carry it out, while they still continued to bring him voluntary of-
4 ferings from morning to morning; so much so that all the craftsmen who were carrying out the construction of the sanctuary left every
5 man the work that he was doing, and said to Moses,

“The people are bringing much more than is necessary for the work of construction that the LORD gave command to carry out.”

6 So Moses issued a command which was proclaimed throughout the camp,

“Neither man nor woman must make anything more for the contribution to the sanctuary.”

7 Thus the people were stopped from bringing any more, since the material in hand was sufficient to carry out all the work; indeed there was too much.

8 All the skilled persons among those engaged in the work made the dwelling out of ten curtains, making them of fine twisted linen, and violet, purple and scarlet material, with cherubs, the work of artists.

9 The length of each curtain was twenty-eight cubits, and the width of each curtain four cubits, all the curtains having the same measurements. They joined five of the curtains to one another, and the other
10 five curtains they joined to one another; and on the edge of the outermost curtain in the one set they made loops of violet, and they made
11 the same on the edge of the outermost curtain in the other set, making fifty loops on the one curtain, and fifty loops on the edge of the 12 curtain in the other set, the loops being opposite each other. Then they made fifty gold clasps, and joined the curtains to one another with the clasps, so that the dwelling was a unit.

14 Further, they made curtains of goats' hair, for a tent over the 15 dwelling, making eleven of these curtains, the length of each curtain being thirty cubits, and the width of each curtain four cubits, the 16 eleven curtains having the same measurements. They joined five of 17 the curtains by themselves, and the other six by themselves; and they made fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in the one set, 18 and fifty loops on the edge of that in the other set; and they made 19 fifty bronze clasps to join the tent together to become a unit. They also made a covering for the tent itself of tanned rams' skins, and above that a covering of porpoise skins.

20 Then they made the frames for the dwelling of durable acacia
21 wood, ten cubits being the length of the frames, and a cubit and a half 22 the width of each frame; each frame had two arms, joined to each other by cross rungs; they did the same with all the frames for the 23 dwelling. They made the frames for the dwelling: twenty frames
24 for the side toward the Negeb to the south, making forty silver pedes-25 tals as bases for the twenty frames, two pedestals as bases for one frame with its two arms, and two pedestals as bases for another frame with its two arms; for the second side of the dwelling, the northern 26 side, they made twenty frames, with their forty silver pedestals, two pedestals as bases for one frame, and two pedestals as bases for another 27 frame; and for the rear of the dwelling to the west they made six 28 frames, and they also made two frames for the corners of the dwell-29 ing at the rear; they were double at the bottom, and likewise double at the top of it, up to the first ring; they did the same with both of them 30 for the two corners; thus there were eight frames, and their silver pedestals were sixteen in number, two pedestals as bases for each 31 frame. They also made bars of acacia wood, five for the frames on 32 the one side of the dwelling, and five bars for the frames on the other side of the dwelling, and five bars for the frames of the dwelling at 33 the rear to the west; and they made the middle bar in the centre of 34 the frames run through from end to end. They overlaid the frames with gold, and they made the rings on them of gold as holders for the bars, and also overlaid the bars with gold.

35 They also made a veil of violet, purple, and scarlet material, and 36 fine twisted linen, making it with cherubs, the work of artists. They made four columns of acacia wood for it, and overlaid them with gold, with their hooks of gold; and they cast four silver pedestals for 37 them. They also made a screen for the doorway of the tent of violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, in variegated

38 work, as well as five columns for it, with their hooks; they overlaid their capitals and bands with gold, and their five pedestals were bronze.

37 Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, 2 a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high; he overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside, and ran a gold molding around it. 3 He cast four gold rings for it on its four corners, two rings on one side of it, and two rings on the other side of it. He also made poles of 5 acacia wood, and overlaid them with gold; and he put the poles 6 through the rings on the sides of the ark, to carry the ark. He made a propitiatory of pure gold, two and a half cubits long, and a cubit and 7 a half wide. He made two cherubs of gold, making them of beaten 8 work, at the two ends of the propitiatory, one cherub at one end and the other cherub at the other end; he made the cherubs of one piece 9 with the propitiatory at the two ends of it; and the cherubs had their wings spread out on high, overshadowing the propitiatory with their wings and facing each other, with the faces of the cherubs directed toward the propitiatory.

10 Then he made the table of acacia wood, two cubits long, a cubit 11 wide, and a cubit and a half high; he overlaid it with pure gold, and 12 ran a gold molding around it; he made a rail around it a handbreadth 13 wide, and ran a gold molding around its rail; he cast four gold rings for it, and fastened the rings on the four corners of its four feet, 14 with the rings lying close to the rail as holders for the poles for carry- 15 ing the table. He made the poles for carrying the table of acacia 16 wood, overlaying them with gold; and he made the dishes that were to be used on the table of pure gold, its plates, its cups, its flagons, and its bowls for pouring libations.

17 He also made the lampstand of pure gold, making the lampstand itself and its base and shaft of beaten work, with its cups, each with 18 calyx and petals, of one piece with it; there were six branches extending from its sides, three branches of the lampstand from the one side of it, and three branches of the lampstand from the other side of it; 19 there were three cups, shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on one branch, three cups, shaped like almond blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on another branch, and so for the six 20 branches extending from the lampstand; there were four cups, shaped like almond-blossoms, each with its calyx and petals, on the lampstand 21 itself; and there was a calyx of one piece with it under two branches, another calyx of one piece with it under two branches, and another calyx of one piece with it under two branches, for the six branches 22 extending from it; their calyxes and branches were of one piece with it, the whole of it forming a single piece of beaten work of pure gold.

23 He then made the seven lamps for it, with its snuffers and snuff-24 dishes, of pure gold, using a talent of gold to make it and all its fittings.

25 He made the incense altar of acacia wood, square, a cubit long and a cubit wide, while its height was two cubits, with its horns of one 26 piece with it; he overlaid it with pure gold, its top, its sides all around, 27 and its horns; and he ran a gold molding around it. He made two gold rings for it underneath its molding, on its two sides, on the two opposite sides of it, as holders for the poles, with which to carry it.
28 He made the poles of acacia wood, and overlaid them with gold.
29 By the compounders' art he made the anointing oil sacred, and the incense of fragrant spices pure.

38 He made the altar for burnt-offerings of acacia wood, square, five cubits long, and five cubits wide, while its height was three cubits;
2 he made the horns for it on its four corners, with its horns of one 3 piece with it; and he overlaid it with bronze. He made all the utensils for the altar, the ash-pans, the shovels, the basins, the forks, and 4 the firepans, making all its utensils of bronze. He made a bronze grating of network for the altar, underneath the ledge around it, 5 reaching half-way up it. He cast four rings for the four corners of 6 the bronze grating as holders for the poles. He made the poles of 7 acacia wood, and overlaid them with bronze; and he put the poles through the rings on the sides of the altar with which to carry it, making it hollow, with boards.

8 He made the laver of bronze, and its base of bronze, out of the mirrors of the serving-women who served at the door of the tent of meeting.

9 He then made the court; for the southern side toward the Negeb there were hangings for the court of fine twisted linen, extending for 10 one hundred cubits, with twenty columns for them, and twenty bronze pedestals for these, the hooks of the columns and their bands 11 being of silver; so for the north side, extending for one hundred cubits, with twenty columns for them, and twenty bronze pedestals for these, the hooks of the columns and their bands being of silver; 12 for the west side there were hangings, extending for fifty cubits, ten columns for them, and ten pedestals for these, the hooks of the col-13 umns and their bands being of silver; and so for the front, the east

14 side, extending for fifty cubits, with hangings on the one wing for fifteen cubits, three columns for them, and three pedestals for these, 15 and so for the other wing; on each side of the gate of the court there were hangings extending for fifteen cubits, with three columns for 16 them, and three pedestals for these. All the hangings around the 17 court were of fine twisted linen; the pedestals for the columns were of bronze; the hooks on the columns and their bands of silver; the plating on the capitals of silver; and all the columns of the court were 18 bound with silver. The screen for the gate of the court was varie-gated work, in violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, twenty cubits long, and five cubits high in its breadth, corre-19 sponding to the hangings of the court; there were four columns for it, and four bronze pedestals for these; their hooks were silver, and 20 the plating on their capitals and bands silver; while all the pegs for the dwelling and the court around it were bronze.

21 The following are the reckonings for the dwelling, the dwelling of the decrees, which were made by command of Moses as the work of the Levites under the supervision of Ithamar, the son of Aaron, 22 the priest. (It was Bezalel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur, belonging to the tribe of Judah, who made all that the LORD commanded Moses; 23 and associated with him was Oholiab, the son of Ahisamach, belonging to the tribe of Dan, an engraver, an artisan, and a worker in violet, 24 purple, and scarlet material, and fine linen.) The total amount of gold that was used for the work in the complete construction of the sanctuary, the gold from the contributions, was twenty-nine talents, and 25 seven hundred and thirty shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel, while the silver from those of the community that were numbered amounted to one hundred talents, and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-26 five shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel, a beka per head (that is, a half-shekel, in terms of the sacred shekel), for all that joined those already numbered, from twenty years old and upward, namely, six 27 hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty persons; the hundred talents of silver were used for casting the pedestals of the sanctuary and the pedestals for the veil, the hundred talents for the hundred 28 pedestals, a talent per pedestal; and out of the thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels the hooks for the columns were made, 29 the capitals overlaid, and their bands made. The bronze from the contributions amounted to seventy talents, and two thousand four 30 hundred shekels, with which the pedestals for the doorway of the tent of meeting were made, the bronze altar with its bronze grating, all

- 31 the fittings of the altar, the pedestals around the court, the pedestals for the gate of the court, all the pegs for the dwelling, and all the pegs for the court around it.
- 39 From the violet, purple, and scarlet material were made the woyen vestments for ministering in the sanctuary, as well as the sacred vestments for Aaron, as the LORD had commanded Moses.
- 2 The apron was made of gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, 3 and fine twisted linen; the gold was beaten into thin plates, and then cut into wires, to be worked into the violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine linen, the work of artists. Shoulder-straps were 5 made for it, joined to it, being joined to it at its two ends; and the skilfully made girdle on it was of one piece with it, and like it worked in gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted linen, as 6 the LORD had commanded Moses. The onyx stones were made, set in filigree work of gold, engraved with seal engravings, with the various names of the Israelites; and they were fastened on the shoulder-straps of the apron, as memorial stones for the Israelites, as the LORD had commanded Moses.
- 8 Then the pouch was made, the work of artists, like that of the apron, in gold, violet, purple, and scarlet material, and fine twisted 9 linen; the pouch was square, being made double, a span long, and a 10 span wide, folded double; and on it were set four rows of stones, the 11 first row a row of carnelian, topaz, and emerald, the second row a 12 ruby, a sapphire, and a crystal, the third row a jacinth, an agate, and 13 an amethyst, and the fourth row a chrysolite, an onyx, and a jasper; 14 they were inclosed in gold filigree in their settings. The stones, corresponding to the names of the Israelites, were twelve in number, as their names are, each engraved like a seal with its proper name for the 15 twelve tribes. On the pouch were made chains of twisted material, of 16 cordage-work of pure gold. Then two gold filigree objects and two gold rings were made; the two rings were fastened to the two ends of 17 the pouch, and the two gold cords were fastened to the two rings at 18 the ends of the pouch, while the other two ends of the two cords were fastened to the two filigree objects, being fastened to the shoulder-straps of the apron, on the front of it. Two gold rings were made, and attached to the two ends of the pouch, on its inner edge next to the 20 apron. Two gold rings were then made, and fastened to the two shoulder-straps in the front of the apron, underneath, close to the 21 place where it was joined, above the skilfully made girdle; and the pouch was tied by its rings to the rings of the apron with a violet cord, so as to lie on the skilfully made girdle, so that the pouch might not swing loose from the apron, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

22 The robe belonging to the apron was woven entirely of violet material, with an opening in the middle of the robe like that of a corselet, with a binding around the opening in it, so that it might not be 24 torn. On the skirts of the robe pomegranates were made of violet, 25 purple, scarlet, and twisted material; bells of pure gold were also made, and the bells were placed among the pomegranates all around 26 the skirts of the robe, a bell alternating with a pomegranate all around the skirts of the robe, for use in ministering, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

27 The tunics were woven of fine linen for Aaron and his sons, the 28 turban of fine linen, the ornamental caps of fine linen, the linen breeches of fine twisted linen, and the sashes of fine twisted linen and violet, purple, and scarlet material in variegated work, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

29 The diadem, the sacred crown, was made of pure gold, and with seal engravings there was engraved on it the inscription, "Sacred to 31 the LORD;" and a violet cord was attached to it, to fasten it to the top of the turban, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

32 So all the work on the dwelling of the tent of meeting was finished, and the Israelites did just as the LORD had commanded Moses. 33 They brought the dwelling to Moses, the tent and all its fittings, its 34 clasps, its frames, its bars, its columns, and its pedestals, the covering of tanned rams' skins, the covering of porpoise skins, the veil for the 35 screen, the ark of the decrees with its poles and the propitiatory, the 36 table with all its dishes and the Presence-bread, the lampstand of pure gold with its lamps (the lamps all fitted out) and all its fittings and 38 the oil for the lights, the gold altar, the anointing oil, the fragrant 39 incense, the screen for the doorway of the tent, the bronze altar with its bronze grating, its poles, and all its fittings, the laver with its base, 40 the hangings for the court with its columns and pedestals, the screen for the gate of the court with its ropes and pegs, all the utensils for 41 the service of the dwelling of the tent of meeting, the woven vestments for ministering in the sacred place, the sacred vestments for Aaron, the priest, and his sons' vestments, when serving as priests. 42 The Israelites carried out all the work, just as the LORD had com- 43 manded Moses; and when Moses saw that they had carried out all the work and that they had done exactly as the LORD had commanded, Moses blessed them.

40 Then the LORD said to Moses,

2 "On the first day of the first month you must erect the dwelling
3 of the tent of meeting; you must put the ark of the decrees in it, 4 screening the ark with the veil; you must bring the table in, and get it ready; you must bring the lampstand in, and put up its lamps.
5 You must place the gold incense altar in front of the ark of the de-6 crees, and put up the screen for the doorway of the dwelling. You must place the altar for burnt-offerings in front of the doorway of 7 the dwelling of the tent of meeting, and place the laver between the 8 tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it. You must set up the court all around, and put up the screen for the gate of the court.
9 You must take the anointing oil, and anoint the dwelling and everything in it, thereby consecrating it and all its fittings, so that it be-10 comes sacred; you must anoint the altar for burnt-offerings and all its fittings, thus consecrating the altar, so that the altar becomes most 11 sacred; and you must anoint the laver and its base, and thus consecrate 12 it. You must then bring Aaron and his sons up to the doorway of the 13 tent of meeting, and wash them with water, and then put the sacred vestments on Aaron; you must anoint him, and so consecrate him to 14 serve as priest to me. You must also bring his sons up, put tunics on 15 them, and anoint them as you did their father, to serve as priests to me; and their anointing shall qualify them as a priesthood for all time, from one generation to another."

16 Moses did so; he did just as the LORD had commanded him. On 17 the first day of the first month, in the second year, the dwelling was 18 erected; Moses erected the dwelling, putting up its pedestals, setting 19 up its frames, inserting its bars, and erecting its columns. He spread the tent over the dwelling, and put the covering for the tent on top 20 of it, as the LORD had commanded Moses. Taking the decrees, he put them inside the ark, placed the poles on the ark, and put the pro-21 pitatory on top of the ark; then he brought the ark into the dwelling, and set up the veil for the screen, thus screening the ark of the decrees, 22 as the LORD had commanded Moses. He put the table in the tent of 23 meeting, on the northern side of the dwelling, outside the veil, and set out the proper supply of bread on it before the LORD, as the LORD 24 had commanded Moses. He placed the lampstand in the tent of meet-25 ing, opposite the table, on the southern side of the dwelling, and he put up the lamps before the LORD, as the LORD had commanded 26 Moses. He placed the gold altar in the tent of meeting in front of 27 the veil, and burned incense of fragrant spices on it, as the LORD had 28 commanded Moses. He set up the screen for the doorway of the 29 dwelling, and placed the altar for burnt-offerings at the doorway of the dwelling in the tent of meeting, offering on it the burnt-offerings 30 and the cereal-offerings, as the LORD had commanded Moses. He placed the laver between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put 31 water in it for washing. It was from it that Moses and Aaron and 32 his sons used to wash their hands and feet, washing whenever they entered the tent of meeting, or approached the altar, as the LORD had 33 commanded Moses. He erected the court around the dwelling and the altar, and set up the screen for the gate of the court. So Moses finished the work.

34 Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the 35 LORD filled the dwelling; Moses could not enter the tent of meeting because the cloud hung over it and the glory of the LORD filled the 36 dwelling. Whenever the cloud was lifted from the dwelling, the 37 Israelites always used to set out on their journey, but if the cloud was not lifted, they would not set out until the day that it was lifted; 38 for the cloud of the LORD hung over the dwelling by day, while there was fire in it by night, in sight of all the house of Israel throughout all their journeys.

THE BOOK OF LEVITICUS

LAWS RELATING TO SACRIFICE, 1:1—7:38

- 1 The LORD called Moses, and from the tent of meeting said to him,
2 "Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, 'When any of you would 3 present one of your domestic animals as an offering to the LORD, you
4 must present one of your herd or flock as your offering. If his offer-
5 ing is to be a burnt-offering from his herd, he must offer a perfect
6 male, offering it at the doorway of the tent of meeting so as to make 7 him acceptable before the LORD. He must lay his hand on the head of 8 the burnt-offering victim, that it may be accepted as atonement for 9 him. He must slaughter the bullock before the LORD, whereupon 10 Aaron's sons, the priests, shall present the blood, dashing the blood all 11 around the altar that is at the doorway of the tent of meeting. He 12 must then flay the burnt-offering victim and cut it into pieces, where-13 upon the sons of Aaron, the priest, shall put fire on the altar, arrange 14 wood on the fire, and then Aaron's sons, the priests, shall arrange the 15 pieces, with the head and suet, on the wood which is on the fire on the 16 altar, while its entrails and legs are to be washed with water. The 17 priest shall then burn the whole of it on the altar as a burnt-offering, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD.
- 10 "If his offering is to come from the flock, one of the sheep or the 11 goats as a burnt-offering, he must offer a perfect male. He must 12 slaughter it before the LORD on the north side of the altar, whereupon 13 Aaron's sons, the priests, shall dash its blood all around the altar. He 14 must then cut it into pieces, whereupon the priest shall arrange them, 15 with its head and suet, on the wood which is on the fire on the altar,
16 while the entrails and legs are to be washed with water. The priest 17 shall then offer the whole, burning it on the altar as a burnt-offering, that is, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD.
- 14 "If his offering to the LORD is to be a burnt-offering from the 15 birds, he must present a turtle-dove or a young pigeon as his offering.
16 The priest shall bring it to the altar, and knocking off its head, burn 17 it on the altar, while its blood is to be drained off on the side of the 18 altar. He shall then remove its crop with its feathers and throw it 19 into the ash-pit at the east side of the altar. He shall split it open 20 with his hands, without completely dividing it, whereupon the priest shall burn it on the altar on the wood which is on the fire; it is to be a burnt-offering, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD.

2 “When any person would present a cereal-offering to the LORD, his offering must be fine flour. He must pour oil on it, put frankincense on it, and bring it to Aaron’s sons, the priests, whereupon the priest shall take from it his handful of the fine flour and oil, with all its frankincense, and offer it as its memorial sacrifice on the altar, 3 a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, while the remainder of the cereal-offering is to go to Aaron and his sons as being the most sacred part of the LORD’s sacrifices.

4 “When you would present a cereal-offering baked in the oven, it must be unleavened cakes of fine flour mixed with oil, or unleavened 5 wafers smeared with oil. If your offering is to be a cereal-offering prepared on a griddle, it must consist of unleavened fine flour mixed 6 with oil; you must break it in pieces, and pour oil on it, as a cereal- 7 offering. If your offering is to be a cereal-offering prepared in a pan, 8 it must be made of fine flour mixed with oil. You must bring the cereal-offering that is made in any of these ways to the LORD; it shall 9 be presented to the priest, who shall bring it to the altar. The priest shall take some of the cereal-offering as its memorial sacrifice, and 10 burn it on the altar as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, while the remainder of the cereal-offering shall go to Aaron and his sons as 11 being the most sacred part of the LORD’s sacrifices. No cereal-offering which you present to the LORD may be made with leaven; for you must never offer any leaven or honey at all as a sacrifice to the LORD. 12 You may present them to the LORD as an offering of first-fruits, but 13 they must never be offered up on the altar as a soothing odor. You must season every cereal-offering of yours with salt; you must not omit the salt of the covenant of your God from your cereal-offering; you must offer salt with all your offerings.

14 “If you would present a cereal-offering of first-fruits to the LORD, you must present young ears of grain roasted with fire, crushed new 15 grain, as your cereal-offering of first-fruits. You must add oil to it, 16 and put frankincense on it, as a cereal-offering. As its memorial sacrifice the priest shall burn some of its crushed grain and oil, with all its frankincense, as a sacrifice to the LORD.

3 “If his offering is to be a thanksgiving sacrifice, if he is to offer one of his herd, whether male or female, he must offer before the 2 LORD one that is perfect. He must lay his hand on the head of his offering, and slaughter it at the doorway of the tent of meeting, whereupon Aaron's sons, the priests, shall dash the blood all around 3 the altar. He must present part of the thanksgiving sacrifice as a sacrifice to the LORD, the fat covering the entrails, all the fat that is on 4 the entrails, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them near the loins, and the lobe on the liver which is to be removed with the kid-5 neys. Aaron's sons shall burn it on the altar for burnt-offerings, on the wood which is on the fire, as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD.

6 "If his offering is to be one of his flock as a thanksgiving sacrifice, 7 whether male or female, he must offer one that is perfect. If it is a lamb that he is to present as his offering, he must present it before the 8 LORD, lay his hand on the head of his offering, and slaughter it in front of the tent of meeting, whereupon Aaron's sons shall dash its 9 blood all around the altar. He must present part of the thanksgiving sacrifice as a sacrifice to the LORD, the fat of it, the entire fat tail which is to be removed close to the backbone, the fat covering the 10 entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them near the loins, and the lobe on the liver which is to be 11 removed with the kidneys. The priest shall burn it on the altar as food, a sacrifice to the LORD.

12 "If his offering is to be a goat, he must present it before the LORD, 13 lay his hand on its head, and slaughter it in front of the tent of meeting, whereupon Aaron's sons shall dash its blood all around the altar.
14 He must offer part of it as a sacrifice to the LORD, the fat covering the 15 entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them near the loins, and the lobe on the liver which is to 16 be removed with the kidneys. The priest shall burn them on the altar as food, as a sacrifice, a soothing odor, all the fat going to the 17 LORD. It is to be a perpetual statute throughout your generations in all your places of abode that you are never to eat any fat or blood.' "

4 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "Say to the Israelites, 'When any person sins inadvertently in the case of any of the things which the LORD has forbidden to be done, 3 and does one of them, if it is the anointed priest who sins, thus bringing guilt on the people, he must offer to the LORD for the sin that he 4 has committed a perfect young bullock as a sin-offering. He must bring the bullock to the doorway of the tent of meeting into the presence of the LORD, lay his hand on the head of the bullock, and slaugh-5 ter the bullock before the LORD; whereupon the anointed priest shall take some of the blood of the bullock, and bringing it into the tent of 6 meeting, the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle some of the blood seven times before the LORD in front of the veil of the 7 sanctuary. The priest must also put some of the blood on the horns of the altar for fragrant incense, which is before the LORD in the tent of meeting, while all the rest of the bullock's blood he must pour out at the base of the altar for burnt-offerings, which is at the doorway 8 of the tent of meeting. He must remove all the fat from the bullock of the sin-offering, the fat covering the entrails, all the fat that is on 9 the entrails, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them near the loins, and the lobe on the liver which is to be removed with the kid- 10 neys, just as these were removed from the ox used in the thanksgiving sacrifice; and the priest shall burn them on the altar for burnt-offer- 11 ings. The hide of the bullock and all its flesh, with its head, legs, 12 entrails, and offal, that is, all the rest of the bullock, must be carried out to a clean place outside the camp at the ash-dump, and burned up on a wood-fire, being burned at the ash-dump.

13 "If the whole community of Israel makes a mistake which es- 14 capes the notice of the community, and does any of the things which the LORD has forbidden, and so incurs guilt, when the sin which they committed is discovered, the community must offer a young bullock as a sin-offering. They must bring it to the front of the tent of meet- 15 ing, whereupon the elders of the community shall lay their hands on the head of the bullock in the presence of the LORD, and then the bul- 16 lock shall be slaughtered before the LORD. The anointed priest shall 17 bring some of the blood of the bullock to the tent of meeting and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times be- 18 fore the LORD in front of the veil. He must also put some of the blood on the horns of the altar which is before the LORD in the tent of meeting, while all the rest of the blood he must pour out at the base of the altar for burnt-offerings, which is at the doorway of the 19 tent of meeting. He must remove all the fat from it, and burn it on 20 the altar. Thus shall he do with the bullock, treating it just as he treated the bullock of the sin-offering, and thus the priest shall make 21 atonement for them, and they shall be forgiven. The bullock itself must be carried outside the camp, and burned as the first bullock was burned. It is to be a sin-offering for the community.

22 "When a ruler sins and inadvertently does any one of all the things which the LORD his God has forbidden, he shall incur guilt, 23 provided that the sin which he has committed has been made known 24 to him. So he must bring a perfect male goat as his offering. He must lay his hand on the head of the goat, and slaughter it at the place where the burnt-offering victims are slaughtered before the LORD; it 25 is to be a sin-offering. The priest shall take some of the blood of the sin-offering with his finger, and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt-offerings, while the rest of the blood he shall pour out at the 26 base of the altar for burnt-offerings, and burn all the fat on the altar, as in the case of the fat of the thanksgiving sacrifice. Thus shall the priest make atonement for him for his sin, and he shall be forgiven.

27 “If any of the common people sins inadvertently by doing any of 28 the things which the LORD has forbidden, he shall incur guilt, provided that the sin which he has committed has been made known to him. So he must bring a perfect female goat as his offering for the 29 sin which he has committed. He must lay his hand on the head of the sin-offering victim, and slaughter the sin-offering victim at the place
30 where the burnt-offering victims are slaughtered, whereupon the priest shall take some of the blood with his finger, and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt-offerings, while all the rest of the blood
31 he shall pour out at the base of the altar, and removing all the fat as the fat was removed from the thanksgiving sacrifice, the priest shall burn it on the altar as a soothing odor to the LORD. Thus shall the priest make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

32 “If it is a lamb that he would bring as his offering for sin, he 33 must bring a perfect female. He must lay his hand on the head of the sin-offering victim, and slaughter it as a sin-offering at the place
34 where the burnt-offering victims are slaughtered, whereupon the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin-offering with his finger, and put it on the horns of the altar for burnt-offerings, while all the rest
35 of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar, and removing all the fat as the fat was removed from the lamb in the thanksgiving sacrifice, the priest shall burn it on the altar used for sacrifices to the LORD. Thus shall the priest make atonement for him for the sin that he committed, and he shall be forgiven.

5 “If any person sins by not giving information when as a witness, either as one who has seen it or knows of it, he hears the oath of ad-
2 juration, he must answer for his iniquity. Or, if any person touches any unclean thing, either the carcass of an unclean wild animal, or that of an unclean domestic animal, or that of an unclean reptile, without being aware of it, when he does come to know of it, he shall
3 incur guilt; or if he touches any human uncleanness of whatsoever sort the uncleanness may be, without being aware of it, when he does

4 come to know of it, he shall incur guilt. Or, if any person utters a rash oath, either to do evil or to do good, however rash the person has been in his oath, and he is unaware of its import, when he does come
5 to know it, he shall incur guilt in any of these cases. When he does incur guilt in any one of these cases, he must confess the sin that he
6 has committed, and bring to the LORD as his guilt-offering for the sin that he has committed a female animal from the flock, a lamb or a goat, as a sin-offering, and the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin.

7 “If he cannot afford a lamb, the person who has sinned must bring as his guilt-offering to the LORD two turtle-doves or two young
8 pigeons, the one as a sin-offering, the other as a burnt-offering. He must bring them to the priest, who shall offer the one for the sin-offering first. He shall crush its head near its neck, without dividing
9 it into two, and sprinkle some of the blood of the sin-offering on the side of the altar, while the rest of the blood shall be drained out at 10 the base of the altar; it is a sin-offering. Then he shall offer the other as a burnt-offering as prescribed. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin that he committed, and he shall be forgiven.

11 “If he cannot afford two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, he who sinned may bring as his offering a tenth of an ephah of fine flour as a sin-offering, without pouring any oil on it or putting any frankin-
12 cense on it, because it is a sin-offering. He must bring it to the priest, and the priest shall remove his handful from it as the memorial sacrifice, and burn it on the altar used for sacrifices to the LORD; it is a 13 sin-offering. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he committed in any one of these ways, and he shall be forgiven. The rest shall go to the priest, as in the case of the cereal-offering.’ ”

14 The LORD said to Moses,

15 “If any person commits fraud, sinning inadvertently in the matter of sacred gifts to the LORD, he must bring as his guilt-offering to the LORD a perfect ram from the flock of the proper value in silver 16 shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel; he must also make good the sacred gift concerning which he sinned, adding a fifth to it, and giving it to the priest, and the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt-offering, and he shall be forgiven.

17 “If any person sins by doing any one of all the things which the LORD has forbidden, even though he is unaware of it, he is guilty, and 18 must answer for his iniquity. He must bring a perfect ram from the flock of the proper value to the priest as a guilt-offering, and the priest shall make atonement for him for the mistake which he made inadvertently, without being aware of it, and he shall be forgiven. It is a guilt-offering, since he is assuredly guilty before the LORD."

6 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "If any person sins by committing fraud against the LORD, and cheating his neighbor in the matter of some deposit or pledge, or by robbing or defrauding his neighbor, or by lying about it and swearing falsely, when he has found something that was lost, sinning in any one of all the things that men may do, then, if he sins, and feels guilty, and would restore what he took by robbery, or what he got by fraud, or what was deposited with him, or the lost article that he found, or anything about which he swore falsely, he must make restitution in full, and add a fifth to it, giving it to the one to whom it belongs on the day of his guilt-offering; and he must bring his guilt-offering to the LORD, to the priest, a perfect ram from the flock of the proper value as a guilt-offering. The priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD, and he shall be forgiven for whatsoever he may have done to incur guilt."

8 The LORD said to Moses,

9 "Give Aaron and his sons this command: "This is the law for the burnt-offering: the burnt-offering must remain on the hearth upon the altar all night until morning, while the fire of the altar must be kept burning on it. The priest must put on his linen vestments, and put his linen breeches on his body, and then remove the ashes to which the fire has reduced the burnt-offering on the altar, and place them beside the altar; then, taking off his garments and putting on others, he must take the ashes to a clean place outside the camp. The fire must be kept burning on the altar, it must never go out; the priest must light wood on it every morning, arrange the burnt-offering on it, and burn the fat of the thank-offerings on it. Fire must be kept burning on the altar continually; it must never go out.

14 "This is the law for the cereal-offering: the sons of Aaron must offer it before the LORD in front of the altar. A handful shall be removed from it, from the fine flour of the cereal-offering, with its oil and all the frankincense on the cereal-offering, and it shall be offered on the altar as a soothing odor, its memorial sacrifice to the LORD. The remainder of it Aaron and his sons shall eat; it must be eaten as unleavened cakes in a sacred place; in the court of the tent of meeting they must eat it; it must not be baked with leaven. I designite it as their portion of my sacrifices; it is most sacred, like the sin-offering and guilt-offering. Any male among the sons of Aaron may eat it, as his perpetual due from the sacrifices to the LORD throughout your generations; whatsoever touches them becomes taboo.' ”

19 The LORD said to Moses,

20 “This is the offering which Aaron and his sons must present to the LORD on the anniversary of his anointing: a tenth of an ephah of fine flour as a regular cereal-offering, half of it in the morning and half of it in the evening. It must be prepared on a griddle, mixed with oil; you must bring it in, break the cereal-offering into pieces, and offer it as a soothing odor to the LORD. The anointed priest who of his descendants succeeds him must supply it, the whole of it to be burned as a perpetual due to the LORD. In the case of every cereal-offering of a priest it is to be the whole; it is not to be eaten.”

24 The LORD said to Moses,

25 “Say to Aaron and his sons, “This is the law for the sin-offering: at the place where the burnt-offering victims are slaughtered the sin-offering victim must be slaughtered before the LORD; it is most sacred. The priest who offers it for sin shall eat it; in a sacred place must it be eaten, in the court of the tent of meeting. Whatsoever touches its flesh shall become taboo, and if any of its blood is sprinkled on a garment, you must wash the part that was sprinkled in a sacred place. The earthen vessel in which it was boiled must be broken; but if it was boiled in a bronze vessel, it need only be scoured and rinsed with water. Any male among the priests may eat it, since it is most sacred; but no sin-offering of which any of the blood is brought into the tent of meeting to make atonement in the sanctuary may be eaten; it must be burned up.

7 “This is the law for the guilt-offering: since it is most sacred, the guilt-offering victim must be slaughtered at the place where the burnt-offering victims are slaughtered, its blood must be dashed all around the altar, and all its fat offered, the fat tail, the fat covering the entrails, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them near the loins, and the lobe on the liver which is to be removed with the kidneys. The priest shall burn them on the altar as a sacrifice to the LORD; it is a guilt-offering. Any male among the priests may eat it; it is to be eaten only in a sacred place; it is most sacred. The guilt-offering is like the sin-offering; the same law holds for both; the priest who makes atonement with it is to receive it. The priest who offers anyone's burnt-offering, that priest is to have for himself the hide of the

- 9 burnt-offering which he offered, and every cereal-offering that is baked in the oven, and whatsoever is prepared in a pan or on a griddle
- 10 shall go to the priest who offers it, while every cereal-offering, mixed with oil or dry, shall go to the sons of Aaron, to all alike.
- 11 “This is the law for the thanksgiving sacrifice: if the one who
- 12 offers it to the LORD would offer it as a praise-offering, he must offer, in addition to the sacrifice of the praise-offering, unleavened cakes mixed with oil, unleavened wafers smeared with oil, and cakes mixed
- 13 with oil, of fine flour well mixed. In addition to his sacrifice in praise for prosperity he must present cakes of leavened bread along with his
- 14 offering, and from each kind of offering he must present one cake as a contribution to the LORD, to go to the priest who dashes the blood of
- 15 the thank-offering. The flesh of the victim sacrificed as his praise-offering for prosperity must be eaten on the day that it is offered; he
- 16 must leave none of it over until morning. But if the sacrifice that is offered is a votive-offering or a voluntary offering, while it should be eaten on the day that he offers his sacrifice, any of it left over may be
- 17 eaten on the next day, but any of the flesh of the sacrifice that is left
- 18 over on the third day must be burned up. If any of the flesh of his thanksgiving sacrifice should ever be eaten on the third day, it shall not be accepted; it shall not count for the one who offered it; it shall be but refuse, and anyone eating any of it shall answer for his in-
- 19 iquity. Also, any flesh that touches any unclean thing may not be eaten; it must be burned up. Other flesh anyone that is clean may eat.
- 20 Any person who eats the flesh of the thanksgiving sacrifice which belongs to the LORD, while in a state of uncleanness, that person shall be
- 21 cut off from his people. If any person touches any unclean thing, whether it is human uncleanness, or an unclean animal, or any unclean reptile, and then eats some of the flesh of the thanksgiving sacrifice, which belongs to the LORD, that person shall be cut off from his people.’ ”
- 22 The LORD said to Moses,
- 23 “Say to the Israelites, ‘You must never eat the fat of ox, or sheep,
- 24 or goat. The fat of an animal that has died a natural death, or from being torn, may be put to any other use, but you must never eat it.
- 25 For whosoever eats the fat of any animal, part of which is offered as a sacrifice to the LORD, the person so eating shall be cut off from his
- 26 people. Also, you must never eat blood in any of your places of
- 27 abode, either of bird or beast; whosoever eats any blood at all, that person shall be cut off from his people.’ ”

28 The LORD said to Moses,

29 "Say to the Israelites, 'Whoever offers a thanksgiving sacrifice to the LORD must bring part of his thanksgiving sacrifice as his offering
30 to the LORD, bringing the sacrifices for the LORD with his own hands, bringing the fat along with the breast, that the breast may be waved 31 as a wave-offering before the LORD. The priest shall burn the fat on 32 the altar, but the breast shall go to Aaron and his sons, while you are to give the right thigh to the priest as a contribution out of your 33 thanksgiving sacrifices. He of the sons of Aaron who offers the blood of the thank-offerings and the fat shall receive the right thigh as his 34 share. For I have taken the waved breast and the thigh that was contributed from the thanksgiving sacrifices of the Israelites, and have assigned them to Aaron, the priest, and his sons as their perpetual due 35 from the Israelites. This shall be the emolument of Aaron and his sons from the sacrifices to the LORD, as prescribed on the day that 36 they were presented to serve as priests to the LORD, which the LORD commanded to be given them from the Israelites on the day that he had them anointed, as their perpetual due from generation to generation.' "

37 This was the law for the burnt-offering, for the cereal-offering, for the sin-offering, for the guilt-offering, for the installation-offering,
38 and for the thanksgiving sacrifice, which the LORD enjoined on Moses at Mount Sinai on the day that he commanded the Israelites to present their offerings to the LORD in the desert of Sinai.

THE INSTALLATION OF THE AARONIC PRIESTHOOD, 8:1—10:20

8 The LORD then said to Moses,

2 "Take Aaron, along with his sons, the vestments, the anointing oil, the bullock of the sin-offering, the two rams, and the basket of unleavened cakes, and assemble the whole community at the doorway of the tent of meeting."

4 Moses did as the LORD commanded him. When the community had been assembled at the doorway of the tent of meeting, Moses said to the community,

"This is what the LORD has commanded to be done."

6 Thereupon Moses brought Aaron and his sons forward, and 7 washed them with water. He then put the tunic on him, girded him with the sash, clothed him with the robe, put the apron on him, girding him with the skilfully made girdle of the apron and fastening it
8 around him with it, placed the pouch on him, putting the Urim and

9 Thummim in the pouch, and set the turban on his head, placing the gold diadem, the sacred crown, on the front of the turban, as the LORD
10 had commanded Moses. Then Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the dwelling and everything in it, and thus consecrated them.
11 He then sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times, and anointed the altar with all its utensils and the laver with its base, to consecrate
12 them. He also poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head, and 13 anointed him to consecrate him. Moses then brought Aaron's sons forward, clothed them with tunics, girded them with sashes, and 14 fastened caps on them, as the LORD had commanded Moses. He brought forward the bullock of the sin-offering; Aaron and his sons
15 laid their hands on the head of the bullock of the sin-offering, and then Moses slaughtered it, and taking the blood, put it all around the horns of the altar with his finger to rid the altar of sin, while the rest of the blood he poured out at the base of the altar, thus consecrat-
16 ing it by making atonement for it. Taking all the fat on the entrails, the lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, Moses
17 burned it on the altar, while the bullock itself, its hide, flesh, and offal he burned up outside the camp, as the LORD had commanded 18 Moses. He then brought forward the ram of the burnt-offering;
19 Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the ram, and then
20 Moses slaughtered it, and dashed the blood all around the altar, while the ram itself he cut into pieces, whereupon Moses burned the head
21 along with the other pieces and the suet. Having washed the entrails and legs with water, Moses burned the whole ram on the altar as a burnt-offering for a soothing odor, as a sacrifice to the LORD, as the 22 LORD had commanded Moses. He then brought forward the other ram, the installation ram; Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the 23 head of the ram, and then Moses slaughtered it, and taking some of its blood, he put it on the tip of Aaron's right ear, on the thumb of his 24 right hand, and on the great toe of his right foot. He then had Aaron's sons come forward, whereupon Moses put some of the blood on the tips of their right ears, on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the great toes of their right feet, and Moses dashed the rest of the 25 blood all around the altar. Taking the fat, the fat tail, all the fat on the entrails, the lobe of the liver, the two kidneys with their fat, and 26 the right thigh, and taking from the basket of unleavened cakes, which was before the LORD, one unleavened cake, one loaf of bread made with oil, and one wafer, he added them to the fat and right
27 thigh, and laid the whole in the hands of Aaron and his sons, and then

28 waved them as a wave-offering before the LORD. Then Moses took them from their hands, and burned them on the altar for burnt-offerings; they were an installation-offering for a soothing odor, a 29 sacrifice to the LORD. Taking the breast, Moses waved it as a wave-offering before the LORD, which went to Moses as his share of the 30 installation ram, as the LORD had commanded Moses. Moses then took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood which was on the altar and sprinkled it on Aaron and his vestments, and on his sons with him and on the vestments of his sons, thus consecrating Aaron and his vestments, as well as his sons with him and the vestments of his 31 sons. Then Moses said to Aaron and his sons,

“Boil the flesh at the doorway of the tent of meeting, and eat it there, together with the bread in the installation basket, as I was com- 32 manded when told, ‘Aaron and his sons must eat it.’ The remainder 33 of the flesh and bread you must burn up. For seven days you must not leave the doorway of the tent of meeting, not until the days for your installation are over; for it will take seven days to install you. 34 As has been done today, the LORD commanded to be done, that atone- 35 ment might be made for you. So you must remain at the doorway of the tent of meeting day and night for seven days, and observe the behest of the LORD, that you die not—for so I was commanded.”

36 Aaron and his sons carried out all the commands which the LORD gave through Moses.

9 On the eighth day Moses summoned Aaron and his sons and the 2 elders of Israel, and said to Aaron,

“Take a bull calf for a sin-offering and a ram for a burnt-offering, 3 both perfect, and offer them before the LORD, while you must say to the Israelites, ‘Take a he-goat for a sin-offering, and a calf and a 4 lamb, both yearlings and perfect, as a burnt-offering, together with an ox and a ram as a thank-offering, to sacrifice before the LORD, as well as a cereal-offering mixed with oil; for today the LORD is to appear to you.’ ”

5 So they brought what Moses commanded to the front of the tent of meeting, and the whole community came forward and stood before 6 the LORD, whereupon Moses said,

“This is what the LORD has commanded you to do, that the glory of the LORD may appear to you.”

7 “Come up to the altar,” Moses said to Aaron, “and offer your sin-offering and burnt-offering, and make atonement for yourself and the people, presenting the offering of the people and making atonement for them, as the LORD commanded.”

- 8 So Aaron went up to the altar, and slaughtered the sin-offering calf 9 that was for himself, whereupon the sons of Aaron brought the blood to him, and he dipped his finger into the blood, and put it on the horns of the altar, pouring out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar, 10 while the fat, the kidneys, and the lobe of the liver of the sin-offering victim he burned on the altar, as the LORD had commanded Moses, 11 burning up the flesh and hide outside the camp. He then slaughtered 12 the burnt-offering victim, whereupon Aaron's sons handed him the 13 blood, and he dashed it all around the altar. Then they handed him the various pieces of the burnt-offering along with the head, and he 14 burned them on the altar. He washed the entrails and legs, and 15 burned them on the altar with the rest of the burnt-offering. He then presented the people's offering; taking the sin-offering goat that was for the people, he slaughtered it, and offered it for sin as in the case of 16 the former. He presented the burnt-offering, and offered it as pre-17 scribed. He presented the cereal-offering, taking a handful from it, and burning it on the altar in addition to the morning burnt-offering.
18 He slaughtered the ox and the ram, the thanksgiving sacrifice that was for the people, whereupon the sons of Aaron handed him the blood, 19 and he dashed it all around the altar, while the fat pieces of the ox and ram, the fat tail, that covering the entrails, the kidneys, and the lobe 20 of the liver, these fat pieces they added to the breasts, and he burned 21 the fat pieces on the altar, while the breasts and the right thigh Aaron waved as a wave-offering before the LORD, as Moses commanded.
22 Then Aaron raised his hands toward the people, and blessed them, whereupon he came down from offering the sin-offering, burnt-off-23 ering, and thank-offering. Moses and Aaron then entered the tent of meeting, and when they came out, they blessed the people, where-24 upon the glory of the LORD appeared to all the people. Fire came forth from the presence of the LORD, and consumed the burnt-offering and the pieces of fat on the altar. When all the people saw it, they shouted, and fell on their faces.
- 10 Now the sons of Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, took each his fire-pan, and putting fire on them, they placed incense on it, and offered improper fire before the LORD, which he had not commanded them,
2 whereupon fire came forth from the presence of the LORD, and con-
3 sumed them, so that they died at the hands of the LORD. Then Moses said to Aaron,

“This must be what the LORD meant by saying,

‘By those near me I must be treated as holy,

That I may reveal myself in glory to the people at large.’”

4 But Aaron was silent. Then Moses summoned Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel, Aaron’s uncle, and said to them,

“Go up and carry your kinsmen away from the front of the sanctuary outside the camp.”

5 So they went up and carried them away in their tunics outside the 6 camp, as Moses said. Then said Moses to Aaron and his sons, Eleazar and Ithamar,

“Do not let the hair on your heads hang loose, nor tear your clothes, that you die not, and wrath be brought upon the whole community, when your kinsmen, the whole house of Israel, are weeping over the 7 conflagration which the LORD himself has brought about. You must not leave the doorway of the tent of meeting, lest you die; for it is the LORD’s anointing oil that is on you.”

They did as Moses directed.

8 The LORD said to Moses,

9 “Drink no wine or liquor, neither you nor your sons with you, when you enter the tent of meeting, that you die not; it is to be a
10 perpetual statute throughout your generations, that a distinction may be made between the sacred and the profane, and between the unclean
11 and the clean, and that the Israelites may be taught all the statutes which the LORD has communicated to them through Moses.”

12 Moses said to Aaron and his remaining sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, “Take the cereal-offering that is left over from the sacrifices to the LORD, and eat it as unleavened cakes beside the altar; for it is most 13 sacred; so you must eat it in a sacred place, because it is the due of you and your sons from the sacrifices to the LORD; for so was I com-

14 manded. The waved breast and the thigh that was contributed you may eat in a clean place, along with your sons and daughters; for they have been designated as the due of you and your sons out of the 15 thanksgiving sacrifices of the Israelites. The thigh that is to be contributed and the breast that is to be waved must be brought, along with the fat pieces for the sacrifices, to be waved as a wave-offering before the LORD; they are to go to you and your sons with you as a perpetual due, as the LORD has commanded.”

16 When Moses made careful search for the goat of the sin-offering, he found that it had been burned! So he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the remaining sons of Aaron, and said,

- 17 “Why have you not eaten the sin-offering at the sanctuary? For it is most sacred and was given to you to bear the iniquity of the community, that atonement might be made for them before the LORD.
- 18 See, the blood from it was not brought inside the sanctuary; you ought certainly to have eaten it in the sanctuary, as I commanded.”
- 19 Whereupon Aaron said to Moses,
“Yes, they have offered their sin-offering and burnt-offering before the LORD today, but then such dreadful things have happened to me! But even if I had eaten the sin-offering today, would it have been acceptable to the LORD?”
- 20 When Moses heard that, he was satisfied.

LAWS RELATING TO UNCLEANNESS, 11:1—16:34

- 11 The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying to them,
2 “Say to the Israelites, ‘The following are the creatures that you
3 may eat, of all the animals that are on the earth. Any of the animals with a cloven hoof, that has the hoof completely divided, and that
4 chews the cud, you may eat. However, of those that chew the cud or have the hoof completely cloven, you must not eat the following: the camel, because, though chewing the cud, it does not have the hoof
5 cloven—it is unclean for you; the rock-badger, because, though chewing the cud, it does not have the hoof cloven—it is unclean for you;
6 the hare, because, though chewing the cud, it does not have the hoof
7 cloven—it is unclean for you; and the pig, because, though having the hoof cloven and completely divided, it does not chew the cud—it is 8 unclean for you. Of their flesh you must not eat, and their carcasses you must not touch, since they are unclean for you.
- 9 “‘Of all the things that live in the water you may eat the following: whatsoever has fins and scales, living in the water, whether in 10 sea or stream, you may eat, but whatsoever has not fins and scales, living in sea or stream, either any kind of water reptile or any living
11 creature at all that lives in the water, they are detestable for you, and must be detested by you; you must not eat of their flesh, and their 12 carcasses you must detest; everything in the water that does not have fins and scales is detestable for you.
- 13 “‘Of birds you must detest the following; they are not to be eaten, 14 since they are detestable: the griffon, the vulture, the eagle, the buzzard, the kite in its several species, the raven in all its species, the os-
15 trich, the night-hawk, the sea-mew, the hawk in its several species, the 16 screech-owl, the cormorant, the eagle-owl, the horned owl, the jack-

19 daw, the carrion-vulture, the stork, the heron in its several species, the bittern, and the bat.

20 “All winged insects that walk on all fours are detestable for you.

21 However, of all winged insects that walk on all fours you may eat the following: whatever has jointed legs above its feet with which to

22 leap upon the ground, of these you may eat the following: the common locust in its several species, the devastating locust in its several species, the flying locust in its several species, and the grasshopper in 23 its several species. But all winged insects which simply have four feet are detestable for you.

24 “In the case of the following you shall become unclean; whosoever touches any carcass of them shall remain unclean until evening,

25 and whosoever carries any of their carcasses must wash his clothes, remaining unclean until evening. In the case of every animal that

26 has the hoof cloven, but not completely divided, and does not chew the cud, such are unclean for you; whosoever touches them shall be-

27 come unclean. Whatsoever walks on its paws, any of the animals that walk on all fours are unclean for you; whosoever touches their car-

28 casses shall remain unclean until evening, and anyone carrying their carcasses must wash his clothes, remaining unclean until evening; they are unclean for you.

29 “Among the reptiles that swarm on the earth the following are unclean for you: the weasel, the mouse, the lizard in its several spe-

30 cies, the croaking lizard, the agama, the gecko, the chameleon, and the basilisk. Among all the reptiles these are the ones that are unclean

31 for you; whosoever touches them when they are dead shall remain unclean until evening, and whatsoever any of them falls upon when

32 dead shall become unclean, whether it be any wooden article, or a garment, or a skin, or a sack, any article at all of which use is made;

33 it must be put into water, remaining unclean until evening, when it shall become clean. Any earthen vessel into which any of them falls,

34 since whatever is in it becomes unclean, you must break; of all the food that was edible, that which has had contact with water shall

35 be unclean, and all the liquid in any such vessel that was drinkable shall be unclean. Whatsoever any of their dead bodies falls upon

36 shall become unclean; an oven or a fire-pot must be broken in pieces; they are unclean, and must be unclean for you. However, a fountain

37 or a cistern for collecting water shall be clean, but he who touches a dead body of theirs shall be unclean. If any of their dead bodies falls

38 upon seed for sowing that is to be sown, it shall be clean; but if water is put on the seed, and any of their dead bodies falls on it, it shall be unclean for you.

39 “If any animal which you use for food dies, whoever touches its 40 carcass shall remain unclean until evening; whoever eats any of its carcass must wash his clothes, remaining unclean until evening; and whoever carries its carcass must wash his clothes, remaining unclean until evening.

41 “Every insect that swarms on the earth is detestable; it must not 42 be eaten. Whatsoever crawls on its belly, anything that crawls upon four legs or anything that has many legs, any kind of insect at all that swarms on the earth, you must not eat; for they are detestable.
43 You must not render yourselves detestable through any swarming insect, nor make yourself unclean through them, and so defile yourselves;
44 for I, the LORD, am your God. Consecrate yourselves, therefore, and be holy; for I am holy; so you must not defile yourselves
45 with any kind of insect that crawls on the earth. For I am the LORD who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God, and so you must be holy; for I am holy.

46 “This is the law regarding animals, birds, all living creatures that move in the water, and all creatures that swarm on the earth, 47 that a distinction may be made between the unclean and the clean, between animals that are to be eaten and those that are not to be eaten.’ ”

12 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Say to the Israelites, ‘When a woman is delivered and gives birth to a boy, she shall be unclean for seven days, being unclean as at the
3 time of menstruation. On the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised, while she shall remain continent for thirty-three 4 days, the time for her purification, touching nothing sacred, nor entering the sanctuary, until the time for her purification is over. But if she gives birth to a girl, she shall be unclean for two weeks as at 5 menstruation, and she shall remain continent for sixty-six days, as the 6 time for her purification. When the time for her purification is over for either son or daughter, she shall bring to the priest at the doorway of the tent of meeting a yearling lamb as a burnt-offering, and a
7 young pigeon or a turtle-dove as a sin-offering, and he shall offer it before the LORD, and thus make atonement for her, that she may be cleansed from her flow of blood. This is the law for her who gives 8 birth to a child, whether male or female. If she cannot afford a lamb, she must take two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, the one for a burnt-offering, and the other for a sin-offering; the priest shall make atonement for her, and she shall be clean.' ”

13 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

2 “When anyone has a swelling or an eruption or an inflamed spot on the skin of his body, and it develops into an attack of leprosy on the skin of his body, he must be brought to Aaron, the priest, or to one of
3 his sons, the priests; the priest shall look at the mark on the skin of his body, and if the hair on the mark has turned white, while the mark itself has the appearance of being deeper than the skin of his body, it is an attack of leprosy, and the priest upon looking at him, must pro-
4 nounce him unclean. But if the inflamed spot on the skin of his body is white and has no appearance of being deeper than the skin, while the hair has not turned white, the priest shall quarantine the afflicted per-
5 son for seven days; the priest shall look at him on the seventh day, and if he finds that the mark is unchanged in color, and that the mark has not spread on the skin, the priest shall quarantine him for another sev-
6 en days; on the seventh day the priest shall look at him again, and if he finds that the mark has grown dim, and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean; it is only an eruption; so the
7 man shall wash his clothes, and be clean. But if the eruption spreads on the skin, after he has shown himself to the priest to be pronounced
8 clean, he must show himself to the priest again, and the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that the eruption has spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean, since it is leprosy.

9 “When anyone has an attack of leprosy, he must be brought to the 10 priest; the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that there is a white swelling on the skin, which has turned the hair white, and that there is 11 quick raw flesh in the swelling, it is chronic leprosy on the skin of his body; so the priest must pronounce him unclean, without quar-
12 antining him, for he is unclean. If the leprosy breaks out all over the skin, so that the leprosy completely covers the skin of the afflicted
13 person, from head to foot, in so far as the priest can see, the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that the leprosy has covered his whole body, he shall pronounce him clean; since it has all turned white, he 14 is clean. But whenever raw flesh appears on him, he shall become un-15 clean; when the priest sees the raw flesh, he must pronounce him un-
16 clean, raw flesh being unclean, indicating leprosy. On the other hand, 17 if the raw flesh turns white again, he must come to the priest, and the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that the mark has turned white, the priest shall pronounce the afflicted person clean, since he is clean.

¹⁸ “When anyone has a boil on the skin of his body, and it heals, leaving a white swelling or a reddish-white inflamed spot, it must be shown to the priest; the priest shall look at it, and if he finds that it has the appearance of being deeper than the skin and that the hair is turned white, the priest shall pronounce him unclean, since it is an attack of leprosy, which has broken out in the boil. But if the priest, upon looking at it, finds no white hair on it, and it is not deeper than the skin, but has become dim, the priest shall quarantine him for seven days; if it then spreads all over the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean, since it is an attack; but if the inflamed spot remains where it is, without spreading, it is only the scar of the boil, so the priest shall pronounce him clean.

²⁹ “When a man or a woman has a sore on the head or the beard, the priest must look at the sore, and if he finds that it has the appearance of being deeper than the skin, and that there is thin yellow hair on it, the priest shall pronounce him unclean, since it is ringworm, a leprous disease of the head or beard. If the priest, upon looking at the sore of the ringworm, finds that it has no appearance of being deeper than the skin, and that there is no black hair on it, the priest shall quarantine the person afflicted with the ringworm for seven days; on the seventh day the priest shall look at the sore, and if he finds that the ringworm has not spread, that there is no yellow hair on it, and that the ringworm has no appearance of being deeper than the skin, the person shall shave himself, but not shave the ringworm, and then the priest shall quarantine the person with the ringworm for another seven days; on the seventh day the priest shall look at the ringworm, and if he finds that the ringworm has not spread on the skin, and that it has no appearance of being deeper than the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean; he shall wash his clothes, and be clean. But if the ringworm spreads on the skin after he has been pronounced clean, the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that the ringworm has spread on the skin, the priest need not look for yellow hair; he is unclean. But if the ringworm is unchanged in color, and black hair has grown on it, the ringworm is healed; he is clean, and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

“When a man or a woman has inflamed spots on the skin of his body, white inflamed spots, the priest shall look at them, and if he finds that the inflamed spots on the skin of his body are a dull white, it is only tetter, which has broken out on the skin, so he is clean.

“When a man loses the hair on his head, he is bald, but he is clean. If he loses the hair from the front of his head, he is bald on the forehead, but he is clean. But if there is a reddish-white mark on the bald head or bald forehead, it is leprosy breaking out on his bald head or bald forehead; so the priest shall look at it, and if he finds that the swelling from the affection on his bald head or bald forehead is reddish-white, like the appearance of leprosy on the skin of the body, he is a leprous man, he is unclean; the priest must be sure to pronounce him unclean, since the affection is on his head.

“In the case of any leper who has the affection, his clothes must be torn, and the hair on his head worn loose; he must cover his mustache, and cry, ‘Unclean! Unclean!’ All the time that he has the affection, he shall be unclean; being unclean, he must live alone, his domicile must be outside the camp.

“When a garment has a leprous affection on it, whether it is a woolen garment or a linen garment, whether it is woven or knitted material of linen or wool, whether it is skin or anything made of skin, if the affection on the garment or the skin, or the woven or knitted material, or the article of skin whatever it may be, is greenish or reddish, it is a leprous affection, and must be shown to the priest. The priest shall look at the affection, and isolate the thing affected for seven days; on the seventh day he shall look at the affection, and if the affection has spread on the garment, or the woven or knitted material, or the skin, whatever may be the use to which the skin is put, the affec-

52 tion is a malignant leprosy; it is unclean; so he must burn the garment, or the woven or knitted material of wool or linen, or the article of skin whatever it may be, which has the affection; for it is a malignant 53 leprosy; it must be burned up. But if the priest, upon looking at it, finds that the affection has not spread on the garment, or the woven 54 or knitted material, or the article of skin whatever it may be, the priest shall order the thing that has the affection to be washed, and then iso-55 late it for another seven days. After the affected thing has been washed, the priest shall look at it, and if he finds that the affection has not changed its color, nor the affection itself spread, it is unclean; you must burn it up, whether the virus has produced bareness on the 56 back or the front. If the priest, upon looking at it, finds that the affection has become dim after being washed, he shall tear it out of the 57 garment, or the skin, or the woven or knitted material; and if it still appears on the garment, or the woven or knitted material, or the article of skin whatever it may be, it is breaking out again; you must 58 burn up the thing that has the affection on it. But if the affection disappears from the garment, or the woven or knitted material, or the article of skin whatever it may be, which has been washed, it shall be washed a second time, and then it shall be clean.

59 "This is the law for leprous affections on any garment of wool or linen, or on woven or knitted material, or on any article of skin whatsoever, having to do with its pronouncement as clean or unclean."

14 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "This is the law for the leper at the time that he is pronounced 3 clean. His case must be brought to the priest, and the priest shall go outside the camp, and the priest shall look at him, and if he finds that 4 the attack of leprosy has been healed in the leper, the priest shall order two clean live birds, some cedar wood, scarlet string, and hyssop to be 5 procured for the one who is to be cleansed, and then the priest shall order one of the birds to be killed over fresh water in an earthen ves-6 sel. He shall then take the live bird, with the cedar wood, scarlet string, and hyssop, and dip them and the live bird in the blood of the 7 bird that was killed over the fresh water, and sprinkling it seven times upon the one who is to be cleansed from leprosy, he shall pronounce 8 him clean, and set the live bird free in the open country. He that is to be cleansed must then wash his clothes, shave off all his hair, and bathe himself in water, and so become clean. After that he may re-9 enter the camp, but must stay outside his tent for seven days; on the seventh day he shall shave off all the hair on his head, his beard, and his eyebrows; and when he has shaved off all his hair, he shall wash his 10 clothes, and bathe his body in water, and so become clean. On the eighth day he shall take two perfect male lambs and one perfect yearling ewe-lamb, along with three-tenths of an ephah of fine flour 11 mixed with oil as a cereal-offering, and one log of oil. Then the priest who is to do the cleansing shall set the man to be cleansed and the other things before the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meet-12 ing. Taking one male lamb, the priest shall offer it as a guilt-offering, along with the log of oil, and wave them as a wave-offering before 13 the LORD, slaughtering the lamb at the place where the sin-offering and burnt-offering victims are slaughtered, at the place where the sanctuary is; for the guilt-offering like the sin-offering shall go to 14 the priest, since it is most sacred. Taking some of the blood of the guilt-offering, the priest shall put it on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and the great toe 15 of his right foot. Taking some of the log of oil, the priest shall pour 16 it into the palm of his own left hand, whereupon the priest shall dip his right finger in the oil that is in the palm of his left hand, and sprinkle some of the oil with his finger seven times before the LORD; 17 of the rest of the oil that is in his palm the priest shall put some on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and the great toe of his right foot, on top of the blood of 18 the guilt-offering, while the remainder of the oil that is in his palm, the priest shall put on the head of the one to be cleansed. Thus shall 19 the priest make atonement for him before the LORD. The priest shall then offer the sin-offering, and make atonement for the one to be cleansed because of his uncleanness, after which he shall slaughter 20 the burnt-offering victim, and the priest shall offer up the burnt-offering and the cereal-offering on the altar. Thus shall the priest make atonement for him, and he shall become clean.

21 "If, however, he is poor, and cannot afford so much, he may take one male lamb as a guilt-offering to be waved in atonement for him, and one-tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as a cereal-22 offering, and a log of oil, together with two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, such as he can afford, the one to be a sin-offering, and 23 the other a burnt-offering. On the eighth day he shall bring them for his cleansing to the priest at the doorway of the tent of meeting, 24 before the LORD, whereupon the priest shall take the lamb of the guilt-offering and the log of oil, and the priest shall wave them as a 25 wave-offering before the LORD. He shall then slaughter the lamb of the guilt-offering, and taking some of the blood of the guilt-offering, the priest shall put it on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and the great toe of his right foot, while the priest shall pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand, and the priest shall then sprinkle with his right finger some of the oil that is in the palm of his left hand seven times before the LORD. The priest shall put some of the oil that remains in his palm on the tip of the right ear of the one to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and the great toe of his right foot, on the place where the blood of the guilt-offering is, while the remainder of the oil that is in his palm the priest shall put on the head of the one to be cleansed, to make atonement for him before the LORD. Of the turtle-doves or young pigeons, such as he can afford, he shall offer the one as a sin-offering and the other as a burnt-offering, along with the cereal-offering. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for the one to be cleansed. This is the law for him who has an attack of leprosy, who cannot afford the regular offerings for his cleansing."

33 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

34 "When you enter the land of Canaan which I am giving you as your own, if I bring a leprous affection on a house in the land that you hold, the owner of the house shall come and inform the priest, saying, 'There appears to me to be some kind of affection in my house': whereupon the priest shall order the house to be emptied before he goes in to look at the affection, so that everything that is in the house may not be made unclean, after which the priest shall go in to look at the house. If, upon looking at the affection, he finds that the affection on the walls of the house is in greenish or reddish patches, and that they have the appearance of being deeper than the surface of the wall, the priest shall come out of the house to the doorway of the house, and quarantine the house for seven days. On the seventh day the priest shall come back, and look at it, and if he finds that the affection has spread on the walls of the house, the priest shall order the stones which have the affection on them to be pulled out and thrown into an unclean place outside the city, while he shall have the inside of the house itself scraped all around, and the mortar that is scraped off is to be dumped into an unclean place outside the city; fresh stones shall be procured and the other stones be replaced with them, and fresh mortar shall be procured and the house replastered. If the affection breaks out again in the house, after the stones have been pulled

44 out, and the house has been scraped and replastered, the priest shall go in and look at it, and if he finds that the affection has spread in the 45 house, it is malignant leprosy in the house; it is unclean. So he must pull down the house, its stones, its timbers, and all the mortar of the 46 house, and take them to an unclean place outside the city. Moreover, anyone who enters the house while it is quarantined shall be unclean 47 until evening; anyone who sleeps in the house must wash his clothes, 48 and anyone who eats in the house must wash his clothes. If, however, the priest should come in, and upon looking at it, find that the affection has not spread in the house, after the house has been replastered, the priest shall pronounce the house clean, since the affection has been 49 remedied. To cleanse the house he shall take two birds, along with 50 some cedar wood, scarlet string, and hyssop, and killing one bird over 51 fresh water in an earthen vessel, he shall take the cedar wood, hyssop, and scarlet string, along with the live bird, and dipping them in the blood of the bird that was killed and in the fresh water, he shall 52 sprinkle the house seven times; he shall cleanse the house with the blood of the bird and the fresh water, along with the live bird, the 53 cedar wood, hyssop, and scarlet string, and then he shall set the live bird free outside the city in the open country. Thus he shall make atonement for the house, and it shall become clean.

54 "That is the law for every kind of leprous affection, for ringworm, 55 for leprosy on a garment or in a house, for a swelling, for an erup-56 tion, and for inflamed spots, to indicate when it is unclean and when it is clean; this is the law for leprosy."

15 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

2 "Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, 'When any man has a 3 discharge from his body, the discharge is unclean, and such shall be the uncleanness from his discharge that he shall be unclean whether his body runs with the discharge, or is stopped up to prevent the dis-
 4 charge. Every bed on which he who has the discharge lies shall be un-5 clean, and every chair on which he sits shall be unclean. Anyone who 6 touches his bed must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening. Whoever sits on the chair on which he who has the discharge may have sat must wash his clothes, and 7 bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening. Whoever touches the body of him who has the discharge must wash his clothes, 8 and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening. If he who has the discharge spits on one who is clean, he must wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening.

- 9 Every seat on which he who has the discharge rides shall be unclean.
10 Whoever touches anything at all that has been under him shall be unclean until evening; whoever carries such things must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening.
11 Anyone whom he who has the discharge touches, without having rinsed his hands in water, must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in 12 water, remaining unclean until evening. Any earthen pot which he who has the discharge touches must be broken, and every wooden article must be rinsed with water.
- 13 “When he who has the discharge is to be cleansed of his discharge, he must allow seven days for his cleansing; he must wash his clothes,
14 and bathe his body in fresh water, and so become clean. On the eighth day he shall procure two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, and appear before the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meeting, 15 and give them to the priest, whereupon the priest shall offer them, one as a sin-offering and the other as a burnt-offering. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for him because of his discharge.
- 16 “If a man has an emission of semen, he must bathe his whole body 17 in water, remaining unclean until evening; and every garment and every skin that has the semen on it must be washed with water, remaining unclean until evening. If a man lies with a woman and has 18 an emission of semen, they must bathe themselves in water, remaining unclean until evening.
- 19 “If a woman has a discharge, her discharge being menstruation, she shall continue for seven days in her impurity; and whosoever 20 touches her shall be unclean until evening. Everything on which she lies while in her impurity shall be unclean, and every chair on which 21 she sits shall be unclean. Whoever touches her bed must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening.
22 Whoever touches any chair on which she sits must wash his clothes,
23 and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening. If she herself is on the bed or the chair, when he touches it, he shall be un-
24 clean until evening. If a man should ever lie with her, her impurity shall be transmitted to him; he shall be unclean for seven days; and every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.
- 25 “If a woman has a discharge of blood for a long time, when it is not her menstruation period, or if she has a discharge beyond her 26 period, she shall be unclean during all the time of her unclean discharge, as she is during the time of her menstruation. Every bed on which she lies during all the time of her discharge shall be affected by her in the same way as a bed in her period, and every chair on which she sits shall be unclean as it is unclean in her period. Whoever touches them shall become unclean; he must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening. If she is to be cleansed of her discharge, she must allow seven days for it, after which she shall be clean. On the eighth day she must procure two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, and bring them to the priest at the doorway of the tent of meeting, whereupon the priest shall offer one as a sin-offering and the other as a burnt-offering. Thus shall the priest make atonement before the LORD for her because of her unclean discharge.

“Thus shall you rid the Israelites of their uncleanness, lest they die for their uncleanness, by defiling my dwelling that is in their midst.

“That is the law for one having a discharge, or for one who has an emission of semen and is made unclean by it, for her who is suffering from menstruation, for anyone who has a discharge, whether man or woman, and for any man who lies with an unclean woman.”

After the death of Aaron's two sons, when they approached the presence of the LORD and died, the LORD spoke to Moses.

“Tell your brother Aaron,” the LORD said to Moses, “that he must under no circumstances enter the sacred place inside the veil in front of the propitiatory which is on the ark, that he die not; for I manifest myself in the cloud on the propitiatory; it is only with this that Aaron may enter the sacred place: with a young bullock as a sin-offering and a ram as a burnt-offering. He must put on the sacred linen tunic, wear the linen breeches on his body, be girded with the linen sash, and wind on the linen turban, these being the sacred vestments; when he has bathed his body in water he shall put them on. From the Israelite community he shall procure two he-goats as a sin-offering and one ram as a burnt-offering. Aaron shall offer the sin-offering bullock which is for himself, and so make atonement for himself and his household. He shall then take the two goats, and set them before the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meeting, whereupon Aaron shall place lots on the two goats, one lot for the LORD and the other for Azazel. Aaron shall then bring forward the goat which has the lot of the LORD on it, and offer it as a sin-offering, while the goat that has the lot of Azazel on it shall be set alive before the LORD, that atonement may be made through it by sending it off to Azazel in the desert.

11 Aaron shall offer the sin-offering bullock which is for himself, and so 12 make atonement for himself and his household. He must slaughter 13 the sin-offering bullock which is for himself, and taking a pan full of 14 coals of fire from the altar before the LORD and with his hands full 15 of finely ground, fragrant incense, he must bring them inside the 16 veil, and put the incense on the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of 17 incense may cover the propitiatory which is over the decrees, that he 18 die not. Taking some of the blood of the bullock, he must sprinkle 19 it with his finger on the east side of the propitiatory, and then sprinkle 20 some of the blood with his finger seven times in front of the propitia-21 tory. He must then slaughter the sin-offering goat which is for the 22 people, and bring its blood inside the veil; he must do with its blood as 23 he did in the case of the bullock's blood, sprinkling it on the propi-
24 tiatory and in front of the propitiatory. Thus he shall make atone-
25 ment for the sanctuary because of the uncleanness of the Israelites 26 and their transgressions in all their sins. And he shall do the same for the tent of meeting that has its abode with them in the midst of their uncleanness. When he goes in to make atonement in the sacred place, there must be no one present in the tent of meeting until he comes out, that he may make atonement for himself, his own household, and the whole community of Israel. He must then go outside to the altar which is before the LORD, and make atonement for it; taking some of the bullock's blood and some of the goat's blood, he must put it all around the horns of the altar, and sprinkle some of the blood on it with his finger seven times, to cleanse and sanctify it from the un-cleanness of the Israelites. When he has finished making atonement for the sacred place, the tent of meeting, and the altar, he shall bring forward the live goat, and laying both his hands on the head of the live goat, Aaron shall confess over it all the iniquities of the Israelites and all their transgressions in all their sins, and laying them on the head of the goat, send it off to the desert by a man standing in readiness. Thus the goat shall carry all their iniquities away with it into a desolate region; and he shall set the goat free in the desert. Then Aaron shall re-enter the tent of meeting, and removing the linen vestments which he put on when he entered the sacred place, he shall leave them there; he shall bathe his body in water at a sacred place, put on his other clothes, and then come out and offer his own burnt-offering and the people's burnt-offering, making atonement for himself and the people, while the fat of the sin-offering he shall burn on the altar. The one who lets the goat go for Azazel must wash his clothes, and bathe his body in water, after which he may re-enter the 27 camp. The sin-offering bullock and the sin-offering goat, whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the sacred place, must be taken outside the camp, and their hides, flesh, and offal burned up; 28 while the one who burns them must wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, after which he may re-enter the camp.

29 "It shall be a perpetual statute for you that on the tenth day of the seventh month you shall mortify yourselves and not do any work at all, 30 neither the native born nor the proselyte who resides among you; for on this day shall atonement be made for you to cleanse you, that you may 31 be cleansed from all your sins before the LORD. It shall be a sabbath of complete rest for you, and you must mortify yourselves; it is to be 32 a perpetual statute. The priest who shall be anointed and installed as priest in his father's place shall make the atonement; he shall put on 33 the linen vestments, the sacred vestments, and make atonement for the most sacred place, make atonement for the tent of meeting and the altar, and make atonement for the priests and all the people of the 34 community. This is to be a perpetual statute for you, for making atonement once a year for the Israelites because of all their sins."

It was done as the LORD commanded Moses.

LAWS RELATING TO HOLINESS, 17:1—26:46

17 The Lord said to Moses,

2 "Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the Israelites, and say to them, 3 "This is the command that the LORD has given: "Anyone at all belonging to the house of Israel who slaughters an ox or a lamb or a 4 goat in the camp, or slaughters it outside the camp, and does not bring it to the doorway of the tent of meeting, to present it as an offering to the LORD in front of the LORD's dwelling, that man shall be held guilty of bloodshed, since he has shed blood; hence that man shall be 5 cut off from his people, to the end that the Israelites may bring in their sacrifices, which they have been accustomed to sacrifice in the country at large, and bring them to the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meeting, to the priest, and sacrifice them as thanksgiving sacri-6 fices to the LORD; whereupon the priest shall dash the blood upon the altar of the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meeting, and burn 7 the fat as a soothing odor to the LORD. They must no longer offer their sacrifices to the satyrs after whom they have been running in wanton fashion. This shall be a perpetual statute for them throughout their generations." "

- 8 “You must also say to them, ‘Anyone at all belonging to the house of Israel, or the proselytes who reside among them, who offers a burnt-9 offering or a sacrifice, and does not bring it to the doorway of the tent of meeting to offer it to the LORD, that man shall be cut off from his people.
- 10 “‘If anyone at all belonging to the house of Israel or the proselytes who reside among them eats any blood at all, against the person who 11 eats blood I will set my face, and will cut him off from his people; for the life of the creature is in the blood, and I direct you to place it upon the altar, to make atonement for you; for it is the blood which as the 12 life makes atonement. That is why I say to the Israelites, “No person among you may eat blood, nor may the proselyte who resides among you eat blood.”
- 13 “‘Anyone at all of the Israelites, or the proselytes who reside among them, who in hunting catches an animal or a bird that may be eaten,
14 must pour out its blood, and cover it with dust; for the life of every creature is identical with its blood; hence I say to the Israelites, “You may not eat the blood of any creature at all”; for the life of every 15 creature is its blood; whosoever eats it shall be cut off. Every person who eats anything that has died a natural death or from being torn, whether he is a native born or a proselyte, must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, remaining unclean until evening, when he 16 shall become clean. If he does not wash them, nor bathe his body, he shall answer for his iniquity.’”
- 18 The LORD said to Moses,
2 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘I, the LORD, am your
3 God. You must not imitate the practices of the land of Egypt in which you lived, nor imitate the practices of the land of Canaan to 4 which I am about to bring you, nor walk in their statutes. It is my ordinances that you must observe, and my statutes that you must keep,
5 by walking in them, since I, the LORD, am your God. So you must keep my statutes and ordinances, by the observance of which man shall live, since I am the LORD.
- 6 “‘None of you shall approach anyone closely related to him, to 7 have intercourse with her; since I am the LORD. You must not have intercourse with her who belongs to your father, namely, your 8 mother; since she is your mother, you must not have intercourse with her. You must not have intercourse with a wife of your father, since 9 she belongs to your father. You must not have intercourse with your 10 sister, whether full sister or half sister, legitimate or illegitimate. You must not have intercourse with your son's daughter nor your daughter's daughter; for they are your own flesh. You must not have intercourse with your father's wife's daughter, begotten by your father, since she is your sister. You must not have intercourse with your father's sister, since she is your father's relative. You must not have intercourse with your mother's sister, for she is your mother's relative. You must not have intercourse with her who belongs to your father's brother; you must not approach his wife, since she is your aunt. You must not have intercourse with your daughter-in-law; since she is your son's wife, you must not have intercourse with her. You must not have intercourse with your brother's wife, since she belongs to your brother. You must not have intercourse with a woman and her daughter as well; you must not take her son's daughter and her daughter's daughter to have intercourse with them; since they are relatives, it would be lewdness. You must not marry a woman in addition to her sister as a rival wife, having intercourse with her as well as with the other, while she is alive. You must not approach a woman while she is unclean from menstruation, to have intercourse with her. You must not have sexual intercourse with your neighbor's wife, defiling yourself with her. You must not dedicate any of your children to the service of Molech; you must not profane the name of your God, of me, the LORD. You must not lie with a male as with a woman, since that would be abominable. You must not have sexual intercourse with any animal at all, defiling yourself with it; nor must a woman stand in front of an animal, to lie down for it, since that would be bestial. Do not defile yourselves in any of these ways; for it was in all these ways that the nations whom I am driving out of your way defiled themselves, so that the land became defiled, and I punished it for its iniquity and the land vomited out its inhabitants. So keep my statutes and ordinances, and do not follow any of these abominable practices, neither the native born nor the proselytes who reside among you (for it was all these abominable practices that the natives of the land who preceded you followed, so that the land became defiled, lest the land vomit you out when you defile it, as it vomited out the nations who preceded you. For whoever follows any of these abominable practices—the persons who do so shall be cut off from their people. So keep my charge by not observing any of the abominable customs which were observed before you, and do not defile yourselves with them, since I, the LORD, am your God.' "

19 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "Speak to the whole Israelite community, and say to them, 'You
3 must be holy; for I, the LORD your God, am holy. You must each 4 revere his father and mother, and you must keep my sabbaths, since I,
5 the LORD, am your God. Do not turn to unreal gods, nor make your-
6 selves molten gods, since I, the LORD, am your God.

7 "When you offer a thanksgiving sacrifice to the LORD, sacrificing 8 it so as to make you acceptable, you must eat it on the day that you sac-9 rifice it, or on the next day; any left over until the third day must be 10 burned up. If it should ever be eaten on the third day, it would be 11 mere refuse; it would not be acceptable; anyone eating it shall answer
12 for his iniquity, because he has profaned what is sacred to the LORD;
13 so that person shall be cut off from his people.

14 "When you reap the harvest of your land, you must not reap your 15 field to the very corners, nor gather the gleanings of your harvest;
16 you must not glean your vineyards bare, nor gather the fallen fruit
17 of your vineyard; you must leave them for the poor and the resident 18 alien, since I, the LORD, am your God.

19 "You must not steal, nor cheat, nor lie to one another. You must 20 not take a false oath in my name, and so profane the name of your 21 God, of me, the LORD.

22 "You must not defraud your fellow, nor rob him; the wages of a 23 hired laborer are not to remain all night with you until morning.

24 "You must not curse a deaf person, nor place an obstacle in the 25 way of a blind person; you must stand in awe of your God, of me, the 26 LORD.

27 "You must do no injustice in a case, neither showing partiality to 28 the poor, nor deferring to the powerful, but judging your fellow 29 fairly.

30 "You must not play the part of a talebearer against your people;
31 you must not secure yourself by the life of another, since I am the 32 LORD.

33 "You must not cherish hate against your fellow-countryman; you 34 must be sure to reprove your fellow, but not incur sin because of him.
35 You must not avenge yourself, nor bear a grudge against the members
36 of your own race, but you must love your fellow, since he is the same 37 as yourself, for I am the LORD.

38 "You must keep my statutes; you must not let your cattle breed
39 with a different species; you must not sow your field with two kinds 40 of seed, nor put on a garment made of two kinds of material.

20 “If a man has sexual intercourse with a woman, who is a slave, betrothed to another man, but who has never been redeemed, nor given her freedom, there shall be an investigation; they shall not be put
21 to death, because she was not free, but he must bring his guilt-offering to the LORD at the doorway of the tent of meeting, a ram as a
22 guilt-offering, whereupon the priest shall make atonement for him with the guilt-offering ram before the LORD for the sin that he committed, and he shall be forgiven for the sin that he committed.

23 “When you enter the land, and plant all kinds of trees for food, you must treat their fruit as uncircumcised; for three years it must 24 be held by you to be uncircumcised; it is not to be eaten; and in the fourth year all their fruit is to be sacred, a praise-offering to the 25 LORD; it is only in the fifth year that you may eat their fruit, that their produce may enrich you, since I, the LORD, am your God.

26 “You must not eat anything with the blood.

“You must not practice augury or soothsaying.

27 “You must not shave around your temples, nor do away with the 28 corners of your beard; you must not make incisions in your body for the dead, nor tattoo any marks on yourselves, since I am the LORD.

29 “Do not degrade your daughter by making a harlot of her, lest the land fall into harlotry, and become full of lewdness.

30 “You must keep my sabbaths, and stand in awe of my sanctuary, since I am the LORD.

31 “Do not turn to mediums or magicians; do not defile yourselves with them by consulting them, since I, the LORD, am your God.

32 “You must rise in the presence of the hoary-headed, and defer to the aged, and so stand in awe of your God, of me, the LORD.

33 “If a proselyte is residing with you in your land, you must not 34 mistreat him; you must treat the proselyte who resides with you like the native born among you, and love him as one of your own race, since I, the LORD, am your God; for you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt.

35 “You must do no injustice in a case, with rule, or weight, or 36 measure; you must have just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin, since it was I, the LORD your God, who brought you out of 37 the land of Egypt. So you must be careful to observe all my statutes and ordinances, since I am the LORD.’ ”

20 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Say to the Israelites, ‘Anyone at all of the Israelites or the proselytes who reside in Israel, who dedicates any of his children to Molech, must

- 3 be put to death; the people of the land must stone him. I, too, will set my face against that man, and cut him off from his people, because he has dedicated some of his children to Molech, defiling my 4 sanctuary and profaning my holy name. If the people of the land should ever shut their eyes to such a man when he dedicates some of 5 his children to Molech by not putting him to death, I myself will set my face against that man and his family, and cut him off from his people, as well as all those who run wantonly after him by running wantonly after Molech.
- 6 “If any person turns to mediums and magicians by running wantonly after them, I will set my face against that person, and cut him off from his people.
- 7 “Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be holy; for I, the LORD, am 8 your God; be careful to observe my statutes, since it is I, the LORD, 9 who sanctify you. For anyone at all who curses his father or mother must be put to death; since he has cursed his father or mother, his blood shall be on his head.
- 10 “In the case of any man who commits adultery with another
11 man’s wife, who commits adultery with his neighbor’s wife, both the adulterer and the adulteress must be put to death. In the case of any man who lies with his father’s wife, having intercourse with her who belongs to his father, both of them must be put to death; their blood
12 shall be on their heads. In the case of any man who lies with his daughter-in-law, both of them must be put to death; since they have
13 committed a bestial act, their blood shall be on their heads. If any man lies with a male as with a woman, since they have both committed an abominable act, they must be put to death; their blood
14 shall be on their heads. In the case of a man who marries a woman and her mother as well, it is lewdness; both he and they must be 15 burned up, that there may be no lewdness in your midst. Any man who has sexual intercourse with an animal must be put to death, and 16 the animal must be slain. If a woman goes up to any animal to lie down for it, you must slay both the woman and the animal; they
17 must be put to death; their blood shall be on their heads. If a man takes his sister, either his full sister or his half sister, and they have intercourse with each other, it is a shameful deed; so they must be cut off in sight of the members of their own race; since he has had 18 intercourse with his sister, he must answer for his iniquity. If a man lies with a woman while she is menstruating, and has intercourse with her, he has bared her fountain, and she has let the fountain of her

- blood be uncovered, so they must both be cut off from their people.
- 19 You must not have intercourse with your mother's sister nor your father's sister; for such a one would have made his relative bare; they
- 20 must answer for their iniquity. In the case of a man who lies with his aunt, he has had intercourse with her who belongs to his uncle; they
- 21 shall answer for their sin by dying childless. If a man takes his brother's wife, it is an impure deed; since he has had intercourse with her who belongs to his brother, they shall be childless.
- 22 "Be careful, then, to observe all my statutes and ordinances, lest the land, into which I am about to bring you to live, vomit you out.
- 23 You must not follow the customs of the nations whom I am driving out of your way; it was because they did all of these things that I
- 24 abhor them, and say to you, "You shall take possession of their land; I give it to you to possess, a land abounding in milk and honey." I, the LORD, am your God, who have separated you from other peoples,
- 25 so you must make a distinction between clean and unclean animals, between unclean and clean birds; you must not make yourselves detestable by animal or bird or any land reptile, which I have set apart
- 26 for you to hold as unclean. You must be holy to me; for I, the LORD, am holy, and have separated you from other peoples to be mine.
- 27 "If there is a man or woman who is a medium or a magician, they must be put to death by being stoned; their blood shall be on their heads."
- 21 The LORD said to Moses,
- "Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them, 'No one
- 2 is to defile himself for a dead person among his relatives, except for his nearest kin, his mother, his father, his son, his daughter, his
- 3 brother, his sister if she is an unmarried virgin and hence still related to him; for such he may defile himself; he must not defile himself
- 4 for those related to him by marriage by profaning himself. They must not shave part of their heads bald, nor shave off the corners of
- 5 their beards, nor make incisions in their bodies. They must be holy to their God, and not profane the name of their God; for it is the LORD's sacrifices, their God's food, that they offer, so they must be
- 6 holy. They must not marry a harlot or a woman who has been violated; they must not marry a woman who has been divorced from her
- 7 husband; for he is to be holy to his God. Consecrate him therefore; for it is your God's food that he offers; you must treat him as holy;
- 8 for I, the LORD, who consecrate them, am holy. If a priest's daughter degrades herself by playing the harlot, she degrades her father; she must be burned up.
- 9

10 “The priest who is the highest of his fellows, on whose head the anointing oil has been poured, and who has been installed to wear the vestments, must not let his hair hang loose, nor tear his clothes; 11 he must never approach any corpse, defiling himself for neither his 12 father nor his mother; he must not leave the sanctuary, nor profane the sanctuary of his God; for it is the consecration of his God’s anointing oil that is on him; I am the LORD.

13 “He must marry a virgin; a widow, or a divorced woman, or a 14 woman who has been violated, or a harlot, such he may not marry, 15 but a virgin of his own class he must marry, that he may not degrade his children among his clansmen; for it is I, the LORD, who consecrate him.’”

16 The LORD said to Moses,

17 “Say to Aaron, ‘None of your descendants, from generation to generation, who has a defect, may draw near to offer his God’s food; 18 for no one who has a defect may come near, no one who is blind, or 19 lame, or has any perforations, or has a limb too long; no one who has 20 a fractured foot, or a fractured hand, or is a hunchback, or has a cataract, or a defect of eyesight, or scurvy, or scabs, or crushed testicles—no one of the descendants of Aaron, the priest, who has a defect, may come near to offer the LORD’s sacrifices; since he has a defect, he may not come near to offer his God’s food. He may eat his 22 God’s food, some of the most sacred as well as the sacred; only he must not approach the veil, nor come near the altar, because he has a defect in him, lest he profane my sanctuaries; for it is I, the LORD, who consecrate them.’”

24 So Moses spoke to Aaron and his sons and all the Israelites.

22 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Tell Aaron and his sons to be careful about the sacred gifts of the Israelites, which they consecrate to me, and not to profane my holy 3 name, since I am the LORD. Say to them, ‘Anyone at all out of all your descendants throughout your generations who approaches the sacred gifts which the Israelites consecrate to the LORD, while he is unclean, that person shall be cut off from my presence, since I am the 4 LORD. No one at all of the descendants of Aaron, who is a leper, or has a discharge, may eat any of the sacred gifts until he is clean. Whoever touches anyone who has been made unclean through contact 5 with a corpse, or anyone who has had an emission of semen, or anyone who touches any insect through which he may contract uncleanness, or any person through whom he may contract whatever uncleanness he has—the person who touches such shall be unclean until evening, and must not eat of the sacred gifts unless he has bathed his body in water. When the sun sets, he shall be clean, after which he may eat of the sacred gifts; for these are his food. Anything that has died a natural death or from being torn, he must not eat to be defiled by it, since I am the LORD. So they must keep my charge, that they may not incur sin in the matter, and die because of it, for profaning it, since it is I, the LORD, who consecrate them. No layman may ever eat a sacred gift; a priest's serf or hired servant may not eat a sacred gift; but if a priest buys a slave, he may eat of it, and those that are born in his house may eat of his food. If a priest's daughter is married to a layman, she must not eat of the sacred contributions; but if a priest's daughter is a widow or is divorced, and having no child, has returned to her father's home as in her youth, she may eat of her father's food; but no layman may ever eat of it. If anyone eats a sacred gift inadvertently, he must add a fifth to it, and give the sacred gift to the priest. They must not profane the sacred gifts of the Israelites, which they contribute to the LORD, and so make them incur iniquity requiring a guilt-offering by eating their sacred gifts; for it is I, the LORD, who consecrate them.' ”

17 The LORD said to Moses,

18 “Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the Israelites, and say to them, ‘If anyone at all belonging to the house of Israel or the proselytes in Israel presents his offering, any votive offering or voluntary offering at all of theirs, which they present as a burnt-offering to the LORD—in order that you may be accepted, it must be a perfect male, in the case of either oxen, or lambs, or goats; you must not offer anything that has a blemish on it; for it would not be accepted for you. If anyone offers a thanksgiving sacrifice to the LORD as a special votive offering or voluntary offering, either in oxen or sheep, it must be perfect to be accepted, with no blemish on it at all. Anything blind, or maimed, or mutilated, or suppurating, or scurvy, or scabbed, such you must not offer to the LORD, nor offer any of them on the altar as a sacrifice to the LORD. An ox or a sheep, however, which has a limb too long or too short, you may offer as a voluntary offering, but as a votive offering it will not be accepted. Anything that has its testicles bruised or crushed or torn off or cut off, you must not offer to the LORD: you must not do such things in your land. Neither may you offer any such as food for your God when received from a foreigner; for they are marred; since they have blemishes on them, they will not be accepted for you.' ”

26 The LORD said to Moses,

27 “When an ox, or a sheep, or a goat, is born, it must remain seven days with its mother, and only from the eighth day onward will it be 28 acceptable as a sacrificial offering to the LORD; and in the case of a cow or ewe, you must not slaughter it and its young on the same day.

29 “When you make a praise-offering sacrifice to the LORD, you must 30 sacrifice it so as to win acceptance for you; you must eat it that very day, leaving none of it over until morning, since I am the LORD.

31 “So you must be careful to observe my commands, since I am the 32 LORD. You must not profane my holy name; but I must be hallowed 33 among the Israelites, since it is I, the LORD, who hallow you, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God, I, the LORD.”

23 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘The fixed festivals of the LORD which you must proclaim as religious assemblies—the following 3 are my fixed festivals. For six days work may be done, but on the seventh day there is to be a sabbath of complete rest, a religious assembly, when you must not do any work at all; it is to be a sabbath for the LORD in all your places of abode.

4 “The following are the fixed festivals of the LORD, the religious 5 assemblies which you must proclaim at their proper season. On the fourteenth day of the first month at twilight is the passover to the 6 LORD. On the fifteenth day of the same month is the festival of unleavened cakes to the LORD; for seven days you must eat unleavened
7 cakes. On the first day you must hold a religious assembly, doing no
8 hard work at all; and for seven days you must offer sacrifices to the LORD; on the seventh day there is to be a religious assembly, when you must do no hard work at all.’ ”

9 The LORD said to Moses,

10 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you enter the land which I am about to give you, and reap its harvest, you must bring the 11 sheaf of the first-fruits of your harvest to the priest, who shall wave the sheaf before the LORD that you may be accepted; it is on the day
12 following the sabbath that the priest shall wave it. On the day when you wave the sheaf, you must offer a perfect yearling male lamb as a 13 burnt-offering to the LORD, while its cereal-offering shall be two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil, as a sacrifice to the LORD, a soothing odor, and its libation shall be a fourth of a hin of 14 wine. You must eat neither bread nor parched grain nor new grain until this same day, until you have brought your God's offering; it is to be a perpetual statute throughout your generations in all your places of abode.

15 "From the day following the sabbath, from the day that you brought the sheaf of the wave-offering, you must count seven full 16 weeks, counting fifty days to the day following the seventh sabbath, and then you must offer a cereal-offering of new grain to the LORD.
17 From your dwellings you must bring two loaves of bread as a wave-offering, made of two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour, baked with 18 leaven, as first-fruits for the LORD. With the bread you must offer seven perfect yearling male lambs, one young bullock, and two rams;
they are to be a burnt-offering to the LORD, along with their cereal-19 offering and libations, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD. You must also offer one he-goat as a sin-offering, and two yearling male 20 lambs as a thanksgiving sacrifice; the priest shall wave them along with the bread of the first-fruits as a wave-offering before the LORD, in addition to the two lambs; they are to be sacred to the LORD, to the 21 priest. On that same day you must proclaim and hold a religious assembly, when you must do no hard work at all; it is to be a perpetual statute in all your places of abode throughout your generations.

22 "When you reap the harvest of your land, you must not reap your field to the very corners, nor gather the gleanings of your harvest;
you must leave them for the poor and the resident alien, since I, the LORD, am your God.' "

23 The LORD said to Moses,

24 "Say to the Israelites, 'On the first day of the seventh month you must observe a memorial day of complete rest, celebrated by the 25 blowing of trumpets, a religious assembly, when you must do no hard work at all, but offer a sacrifice to the LORD.' "

26 The LORD said to Moses,

27 "On exactly the tenth day of this seventh month is the day of atonement, when you must hold a religious assembly, and mortify 28 yourselves, and offer a sacrifice to the LORD. You must do no work at all on that same day; for it is a day of atonement, on which to 29 make atonement for you before the LORD your God. For every person who will not mortify himself on that same day shall be cut off 30 from his people, and any person who does any work at all on that same day, that person I will destroy from the midst of his people,

31 since you must do no work at all; it is to be a perpetual statute through-32 out your generations in all your places of abode. You must observe it as a sabbath of complete rest, and you must mortify yourselves; on the ninth day of the month at evening, from one evening to the next, you must keep your sabbath."

33 The LORD said to Moses,

34 "Say to the Israelites, 'On the fifteenth day of this seventh month 35 is the seven-day festival of booths for the LORD. On the first day there is to be a religious assembly, when you must do no hard work at 36 all. For seven days you must offer sacrifices to the LORD; on the eighth day you must hold a religious assembly, and offer a sacrifice to the LORD; since it is a sacred assembly, you must do no hard work at all.

37 "These are the fixed festivals of the LORD, which you must proclaim as religious assemblies to make offerings to the LORD, a burnt-offering, a cereal-offering, a sacrifice, and libations, each on its proper 38 day, in addition to the sabbaths of the LORD, and the gifts, votiveofferings, and voluntary offerings, which you give to the LORD.

39 "On exactly the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you have gathered in the produce of your land, you must observe the fes-40 tival of the LORD for seven days. On the first day there is to be a sabbath of complete rest, and on the eighth day there is to be a sabbath of complete rest. On the first day you must procure boughs of beautiful trees, branches of palm trees, limbs of leafy trees, and water-41 willows, and rejoice before the LORD your God for seven days. You must observe it as a festival to the LORD for seven days a year (a perpetual statute throughout your generations), observing it in the sev-42 enth month. For seven days you must live in booths; all the native 43 born in Israel must live in booths, that your descendants may know that it was in booths that I made the Israelites live when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, I, the LORD your God.' "

44 So Moses announced to the Israelites the fixed festivals of the LORD.

24 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "Order the Israelites to provide you with pure oil from crushed olives for the light, so that there may always be a lamp to lift in place;
3 in the tent of meeting, outside the veil which screens the decrees, Aaron must keep it continually supplied from evening until morning before the LORD; it is to be a perpetual statute throughout your gen-

4 erations; he must keep the lamps on the lampstand of pure gold continually supplied before the LORD.

5 “Taking fine flour, you must bake twelve cakes of it, with two-
6 tenths of an ephah to each cake. You must place them in two lots, 7 six in each lot, on the table of pure gold before the LORD, and put pure frankincense on each lot, to serve as memorial bread, a sacrifice
8 to the LORD. Regularly on every sabbath day it must be set out before 9 the LORD—a perpetual covenant on the part of the Israelites. It shall go to Aaron and his sons, who shall eat it in a sacred place; for it is the most sacred part of the LORD’s sacrifices for him, a perpetual due.”

10 The son of an Israelite woman, whose father was an Egyptian, had come out with the Israelites; the son of the Israelite woman and an 11 Israelite had a quarrel in the camp, and the son of the Israelite woman blasphemed the Name, and cursed, so they brought him to Moses. His mother’s name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, belonging to 12 the tribe of Dan. He was put in custody, so that the LORD’s will 13 might be made clear for them. So the LORD said to Moses,

14 “Take the one who has cursed outside the camp, and let all who heard him lay their hands on his head, and then let the whole com-15 munity stone him. To the Israelites themselves say, ‘When anyone at 16 all curses his God, he must answer for his sin; whoever blasphemes the name of the LORD must be put to death by having the whole community stone him; the proselyte like the native born must be put to 17 death when he blasphemes the Name. If anyone takes any other per-18 son’s life, he must be put to death. Whoever takes an animal’s life 19 must make it good—a life for a life. If anyone disfigures another, as 20 he did, so it shall be done to him, fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth; as he disfigured the other, so shall he be disfigured.
21 Whoever kills an animal must make it good, but whoever kills a man
22 must be put to death. You shall have the one ordinance, with proselyte and native born to be treated alike; for I, the LORD, am your God.’”

23 Moses told the Israelites, so they took the one who had cursed outside the camp, and stoned him; the Israelites did as the LORD had commanded Moses.

25 The LORD said to Moses at Mount Sinai,

2 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you enter the land which I am about to give you, the land shall enjoy a sabbath to the 3 LORD. For six years you may sow your field, and for six years prune
4 your vineyard and gather in its produce; but during the seventh year there is to be a sabbath of complete rest for the land, a sabbath to the LORD, when you must not sow your field nor prune your vineyard, 5 not even reaping the aftergrowth of your harvest, nor gathering the grapes of your undressed vines, since it is to be a year of complete rest 6 for the land. The sabbath of the land, in the matter of working it, shall be incumbent on you yourself, your male and female slaves, 7 your hired laborer and your serf, who live with you, and your live stock, while all its produce shall serve as food for the wild beasts.

8 “You must count seven weeks of years, seven times seven years; 9 you must have a full seven weeks of years, forty-nine years. Then, on the tenth day of the seventh month, you must sound a loud trumpet-blast everywhere, sounding the trumpet-blast everywhere through- 10 out your whole land on the day of atonement. You must hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants; it is to be a jubilee for you, when each of you shall return to his own possessions, and each of you shall return to his own family. 11 The fiftieth year shall be a jubilee for you, when you must not sow, nor reap any aftergrowth in it, nor gather grapes from the undressed 12 vines in it; for, being a jubilee, it is to be sacred for you; you must 13 eat its produce out of the field. In this year of jubilee each of you 14 shall return to his own possessions. When you make a sale to your neighbor or a purchase from your neighbor, you must not cheat each 15 other; you must buy from your neighbor on the basis of the number of years that are to follow the jubilee, while he must sell to you on 16 the basis of the number of years for crops; if the years are many, the price shall be proportionately high; if the years are few, the price shall be proportionately low; for it is the number of crops that is to 17 be sold to you. So you must not cheat each other, but stand in awe of your God; for I, the LORD, am your God.

18 “You must observe my statutes, and be careful to observe my ordinances, that you may live in security upon the earth; then shall the earth yield its fruitage, and you shall eat your fill, and live in security 19 upon it. If you should say, “What are we going to eat in the seventh 20 year, seeing that we may not sow, nor gather in our crops?” I will command such a blessing for you in the sixth year that a three years’ 21 crop will be produced; then in the eighth year you shall sow, but live on the old crop, eating the old crop until the ninth year’s crop comes 22 in. The land must not be sold in perpetuity; for the land is mine, 23 since you are only resident aliens and serfs under me. Hence, throughout all the land that you hold you must allow redemption for the land.

25 “If a fellow-countryman of yours becomes poor, and sells some of his property, his nearest kinsman must come and redeem what his 26 countryman sold. If a man has no one to redeem it, but becomes rich 27 enough to find the means to redeem it himself, he must count up the years since its sale, and make a refund for the remainder to the man 28 to whom he sold it, whereupon he may return to his property. But if he does not have sufficient means to recover it, what he sold shall remain in the hands of the purchaser until the year of jubilee; at the jubilee it shall be released, and he shall return to his property.

29 “If anyone sells a dwelling-house in a walled city, the right to redeem it shall hold until the completion of the year following its 30 sale; the right to redeem it shall hold throughout that time. If it is not redeemed, however, by the completion of a full year, the house in the walled city shall be made over in perpetuity to its purchaser 31 and his descendants, not to be released at the jubilee. But the houses of villages which have no walls around them shall be reckoned as belonging to the country-fields; the right of redemption shall hold 32 for such, and at the jubilee they shall be released. In the case of the cities of the Levites, however, in the case of the houses of the cities in their possession, the Levites shall have a perpetual right of redemp-33 tion; anything belonging to the Levites may be redeemed, while any houses sold in a city in their possession must be released at the jubilee; for the houses in the cities of the Levites are their property among 34 the Israelites. But the fields in the pasture-lands of their cities may not be sold; for that is their inalienable possession.

35 “If a fellow-countryman of yours becomes poor, so that his ability to meet his obligation with you fails, and you force on him the status 36 of a resident alien or a serf, and he lives under you, take no interest from him in money or in kind, but stand in awe of your God, while 37 your countryman lives under you. You must not lend him your money 38 at interest, nor give him your food for a return, since I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan, and be your God.

39 “If a fellow countryman of yours under obligation to you becomes poor, and sells himself to you, you must not make him serve as a 40 slave; he shall have the status of a hired laborer or a serf with you, 41 working for you until the year of jubilee, when he shall be released from your service, along with his children, and return to his own 42 family, and return to his ancestral property; because they are my slaves, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt, they must not be 43 sold as slaves. You must not exert your authority over him harshly, 44 but stand in awe of your God. As for the male and female slaves that you may have, it is only from the nations that surround you 45 that you may buy male and female slaves; although you may also buy them from the children of the serfs who may be living under you, and from their descendants in your employ who may have been 46 born in your land. They may become your property, and you may bequeath them to your children after you to hold as property; you may make permanent slaves of them; but over your fellow-Israelites you must not exert your authority harshly, the one over the other.

47 “If an alien or a serf under you becomes rich, and a fellow-countryman of yours under obligation to him becomes poor, and sells himself to the alien or serf under you, or to a member of the alien’s fam-48 ily, even after he has sold himself, the right of redemption shall hold 49 for him; one of his brothers may redeem him, or his uncle or his uncle’s son may redeem him, or any of his near relatives belonging to his family may redeem him, or if he becomes rich enough, he may 50 redeem himself. He shall reckon with his purchaser from the year that he sold himself to him down to the year of jubilee, and the price for his release shall be based on the number of years; he is to have the 51 status of a hired laborer with him. If there are still many years to run, he must refund as redemption for himself a proportionate amount 52 of his purchase price; if there are only a few years left until the year of jubilee, he must make a reckoning with him, refunding as redemp-53 tion for himself an amount proportionate to the years left him. He shall have the same status with him as that of a laborer hired year by year; he must not exert his authority over him harshly, while you see it.
54 If he is not redeemed in any of these ways, he shall go free at the year 55 of jubilee, along with his children. For it is to me that the Israelites are slaves, being my slaves whom I brought out of the land of Egypt,
I, the LORD, your God.

26 “You must make no idols for yourselves, nor erect a carved image or sacred pillar for yourselves, nor locate a figured stone in your land 2 to pay homage to it; for I, the LORD, am your God. You must keep my sabbaths, and stand in awe of my sanctuary, since I am the LORD.

3 “If you walk in my statutes, and are careful to observe my com-
4 mands, I will give rain for you in due season, the land shall yield its 5 crops, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit; threshing shall last for you until the time of vintage, and the time of vintage shall

6 food, and live securely in your land. I will establish peace in the land, so that you shall lie down with none to frighten you; I will clear the land of wild beasts, and no sword shall pass through your 7 land; you shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall by the sword 8 before you; five of you shall chase a hundred, and a hundred of you shall chase a myriad, so that your enemies shall fall by the sword 9 before you. I will give my attention to you, and make you fruitful, 10 and multiply you; I will establish my covenant with you. You shall have so much of old stores to eat, that you shall cast out the old to 11 make way for the new. I will set my dwelling in your midst, and 12 will not hold you in contempt, but will move about among you, and 13 be your God, while you shall be my people, since I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery to them, and broke the bars of your yoke, and made you walk upright.

14 “ ‘But if you will not listen to me, nor observe all these commands; 15 if you reject my statutes, and treat my ordinances as abhorrent by not 16 observing all my commands, by breaking my covenant, I on my part will do this to you: I will inflict consumption and fever upon you as terrors, exhausting your eyes and depressing your spirits; you shall 17 sow your seed in vain, since your enemies shall consume it. I will set my face against you, so that you shall be laid low before your enemies, and your foes shall rule over you, and you shall flee when no one is 18 pursuing you. If you will not listen to me even for these things, I 19 will punish you seven more times for your sins; I will shatter your vaunted power; I will make your sky like iron, and your earth like 20 bronze, so that your strength shall be spent in vain, since your land shall not yield its crops, nor the trees of the land yield their fruit. 21 If you live at enmity with me, and will not listen to me, I will bring 22 seven more afflictions upon you, as your sins deserve; I will let wild beasts loose among you, that shall rob you of your children, destroy your cattle, and reduce you in numbers, so that your roads shall be 23 desolate. And if by this discipline you are not turned to me, but live 24 at enmity with me, then I in turn will live at enmity with you, and I 25 will afflict you seven times for your sins; I will bring a sword upon you that shall wreak vengeance for the covenant, so that you shall huddle together in your cities; I will send pestilence among you, and 26 you shall be delivered into the power of the enemy. When I deprive you of the sustenance of bread, there will be ten women to bake your bread in a single oven, and your bread shall be doled out in rations,

27 and you shall not have enough to eat to satisfy you. And if you will 28 not listen to me for all this, but live at enmity with me, I will live at fierce enmity with you, and I on my part will punish you seven times 29 for your sins; you will have to eat the flesh of your sons, and the flesh 30 of your daughters, too, you will have to eat; I will destroy your high places, cut down your incense altars, and cast your carcasses on the ruins 31 of your idols; I will abhor you; I will make your cities a waste, and 32 desolating your sanctuaries, I will not smell your soothing odors; I will also desolate the land, so that your enemies who come to live in it 33 shall be amazed at it; while you yourselves I will scatter among the nations, and unsheathe the sword on you, so that your land shall be-34 come a desolation and your cities a waste. Then shall the land enjoy its sabbaths, as long as it lies desolate, and you remain in your enemies' 35 land; then shall the land have rest, and enjoy its sabbaths; as long as it lies desolate, it shall have rest, which it did not have on the sabbaths 36 when you lived in it. As for those of you that may be left, I will inject faintness into their hearts in the lands of their enemies, so that the sound of a driven leaf shall chase them, and they shall flee as 37 from the sword, and fall when there is no one in pursuit; they shall trip over one another, as if in flight from the sword, although there is no one in pursuit. You shall have no power to stand before your 38 enemies; you shall perish among the nations; and the land of your 39 enemies shall consume you. Those of you that may be left shall pine away in their enemies' lands because of their iniquity, and also because 40 of their fathers' iniquities shall they pine away. But if they confess their iniquity and the iniquity of their fathers through the perfidy which they committed against me, and also through living at enmity 41 with me, so that I in turn had to live at enmity with them, and bring them into the land of their enemies, or if their uncircumcised heart shall then be humbled, and they shall then make amends for their 42 iniquity, I will remember my covenant with Jacob, my covenant with Isaac too, and my covenant with Abraham also, I will remember, and 43 I will remember the land. But the land shall be deserted by them, and shall enjoy its sabbaths, while it lies desolate without them, and they themselves shall make amends for their iniquity for the reason, for the very reason that they rejected my ordinances, and abhorred 44 my statutes. And yet even so, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not reject them, nor abhor them, so as to put an end to them by breaking my covenant with them; for I, the LORD, am 45 their God; but in their favor I will remember the covenant with their ancestors, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt in sight of the nations, that I might be their God, I, the LORD.' ”

- 46 Those were the statutes, ordinances, and laws which the LORD established between himself and the Israelites through Moses at Mount Sinai.

THE COMMUTATION OF VOTIVE OFFERINGS AND DUES, 27:1-34

27 The LORD said to Moses,

- 2 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When anyone makes a special votive offering to the LORD with the money value of the persons, the valuation of males from twenty years old up to sixty years old shall be, the valuation shall be fifty shekels of silver, in terms of 3 the sacred shekel; if it is a female, the valuation shall be thirty 4 shekels. If they run from five years old up to twenty years old, the valuation of males shall be twenty shekels, and for females ten 5 shekels. If they run from a month old up to five years old, the valuation of males shall be five shekels of silver, and for females the val- 6 uation shall be three shekels of silver. If they run from sixty years 7 old and upward, if a male, the valuation shall be fifteen shekels, and 8 for a female ten shekels. But if he is too poor to pay the valuation, he must be set before the priest, and the priest shall value him; the priest shall value him proportionately to what the maker of the vow can afford.

- 9 “‘If it is an animal, of a kind which may be presented as an offering to the LORD, whatsoever anyone gives of such to the LORD shall 10 be taboo; he must not substitute something else for it, nor exchange it, a good one for a bad one, or a bad one for a good one; if he should ever exchange the one animal for another, then both it and the one 11 exchanged for it shall become taboo. If it is any unclean animal at all, of a kind which may not be presented as an offering to the LORD, 12 he shall set the animal before the priest, and the priest shall value it midway between high and low; as the priest values it, so shall it be. 13 If he should ever wish to redeem it, he must add a fifth to the valuation.

- 14 “‘When anyone consecrates his house as sacred to the LORD, the priest shall value it midway between high and low; as the priest values 15 it, so shall it stand. If the one who dedicated his house would redeem it, he must add a fifth of the money value to it, and it shall be his.

- 16 “‘If anyone consecrates to the LORD part of the field that he owns, the valuation shall be proportionate to the seed for it, fifty shekels of 17 silver in the case of a homer of barley seed. If he consecrates his field

18 from the year of jubilee on, it shall stand as valued; but if he consecrates his field after the jubilee, the priest shall reckon for it money proportionate to the years remaining until the next year of jubilee,
19 and a reduction shall be made in the valuation. If the person who consecrated the field should ever wish to redeem it, he must add a fifth
20 of its money value to it, and it shall pass to him. If, instead of redeeming the field, he has sold the field to another man, it may not be 21 redeemed any more; but the field, when released at the jubilee, shall be sacred to the LORD, like a field that has been devoted; the possession 22 of it shall go to the priest. If one consecrates to the LORD a field that 23 he has bought, which was not a part of his hereditary estate, the priest shall reckon for it the amount of the valuation up to the year of jubilee, and he shall give the valuation on that day as a sacred gift to 24 the LORD. At the year of jubilee the field shall revert to him from 25 whom it was bought, to whom it belonged as hereditary land. Every valuation must be in terms of the sacred shekel, the shekel of twenty gerahs.

26 “‘However, no firstling among the animals, which as such belongs to the LORD, can anyone consecrate; whether it is ox or sheep,
27 it belongs to the LORD. If it belongs to the unclean animals, it must be bought in at its valuation, with a fifth added to it; and if it is not redeemed, it must be sold at its valuation.

28 “‘However, nothing at all which anyone devotes to the LORD out of all his possessions, whether of man or beast, or of field in his heritage, can be sold, or redeemed, since everything devoted is most 29 sacred to the LORD. No one at all of men who becomes devoted may be ransomed; he must be put to death.

30 “‘All the dues of the land, whether from the grain of the land or the fruit of the trees, belong to the LORD; they are sacred to the LORD.
31 If anyone should ever wish to redeem any of his dues, he must add a 32 fifth to it. As for all the dues of the herd and flock, all that pass under 33 the staff, the tenth is sacred to the LORD. One must not inquire whether it is good or bad, nor exchange it; if he should ever exchange it, then both it and the one exchanged for it shall be taboo, it cannot be redeemed.’”

34 These were the commands which the LORD gave Moses for the Israelites at Mount Sinai.

THE BOOK OF NUMBERS

THE CENSUS OF THE ISRAELITES AT SINAI, 1:1—4:49

1 On the first day of the second month, in the second year after the exodus from the land of Egypt, the LORD said to Moses in the tent of meeting in the desert of Sinai,

2 "Take a census of the whole Israelite community, clan by clan, family by family, counting the various individuals, that is, all the 3 males, a head at a time; all in Israel from twenty years old and upward who can go out to war, you and Aaron must number, company
4 by company. One man from each tribe is to accompany you, each one
5 the head of his family, and the following are the names of the men who are to stand with you: from Reuben, Elizur, the son of Shedeur;
6 from Simeon, Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai; from Judah, Nah-7 shon, the son of Amminadab; from Issachar, Nethanel, the son of 8 Zuar; from Zebulun, Eliab, the son of Helon; from the Josephites—9 from Ephraim, Elishama, the son of Ammihud, and from Manasseh, 10 Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur; from Benjamin, Abidan, the son of 11 Gideon; from Dan, Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai; from Asher, 12 Pagiël, the son of Ocran; from Gad, Eliasaph, the son of Deuel;
13 from Naphtali, Ahira, the son of Enan."

14 These were the select men of the community, the leaders of their 15 ancestral tribes, who were the heads of the clans of Israel. Moses and 16 Aaron took these men who have been indicated by name, and assembled the whole community on the first day of the second month, when they had themselves registered by clans, family by family, with the various individuals counted from twenty years old and upward, a 17 head at a time. Moses numbered them in the desert of Sinai, as the 18 LORD had commanded him.

19 The descendants of Reuben, Israel's first-born, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, a head at a time, that is, all the males from twenty years old and upward, all who 20 could go out to war, those of the tribe of Reuben that were num-
21 bered by them were forty-six thousand five hundred. Of the descendants of Simeon, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, a head at a time, that is, all the males from twenty years old and upward, all who could go out to war,

23 those of the tribe of Simeon that were numbered by them were fifty-
24 nine thousand three hundred. Of the descendants of Gad, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, all who could go out to war, 25 those of the tribe of Gad that were numbered by them were forty-five 26 thousand six hundred and fifty. Of the descendants of Judah, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals,
27 from twenty years old and upward, all who could go out to war, those of the tribe of Judah that were numbered by them were seventy-four 28 thousand six hundred. Of the descendants of Issachar, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from 29 twenty years old and upward, all who could go out to war, those of the tribe of Issachar that were numbered by them were fifty-four 30 thousand four hundred. Of the descendants of Zebulun, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, all who could go out to war, 31 those of the tribe of Zebulun that were numbered by them were fifty-32 seven thousand four hundred. Of the descendants of Joseph—of the descendants of Ephraim, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, 33 all who could go out to war, those of the tribe of Ephraim that were 34 numbered by them were forty thousand five hundred; and of the descendants of Manasseh, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward,
35 all who could go out to war, those of the tribe of Manasseh that were 36 numbered by them were thirty-two thousand two hundred. Of the descendants of Benjamin, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals from twenty years old and upward, 37 all who could go out to war, those of the tribe of Benjamin that were 38 numbered by them were thirty-five thousand four hundred. Of the descendants of Dan, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, all who 39 could go out to war, those of the tribe of Dan that were numbered by 40 them were sixty-two thousand seven hundred. Of the descendants of Asher, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, all who could go
41 out to war, those of the tribe of Asher that were numbered by them
42 were forty-one thousand five hundred. Of the descendants of Naph-tali, their registration clan by clan, family by family, as counted by individuals, from twenty years old and upward, all who could go out

43 to war, those of the tribe of Naphtali that were numbered by them were fifty-three thousand four hundred.

44 These were the ones numbered, whom Moses numbered, along with Aaron and the twelve leaders of Israel, there being one from 45 each tribe, to represent his family. All the Israelites that were numbered family by family, from twenty years old and upward, all in 46 Israel who could go out to war, all that were numbered were six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

47 The Levites, however, were not numbered by their ancestral tribes 48 along with the others, since the LORD had said to Moses,

49 "Under no circumstances must you number the tribe of Levi, nor 50 take a census of it with the other Israelites; but you must put the Levites in charge of the dwelling of the decrees and all its equipment and all its belongings; they are to carry the dwelling and all its equip- 51 ment, and take care of it, encamping around the dwelling; whenever the dwelling has to move on, the Levites must take it down, and whenever the dwelling has to be pitched, the Levites must put it up; 52 any layman who approaches it must be put to death. The Israelites must encamp by companies, each on his own camping-ground and 53 with his own standard, while the Levites must encamp around the dwelling of the decrees, that there may be no outburst of wrath against the Israelite community; and the Levites must take charge of the dwelling of the decrees."

54 The Israelites did so; they did just as the LORD commanded Moses.

2 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

2 "The Israelites must encamp, each by his own standard, marked with the family device, encamping around the tent of meeting facing 3 it. Those who are to encamp on the east side, toward the dawn, are the standard of the camp of Judah, arranged by companies, with 4 Nahshon, the son of Amminadab as leader of the Judeans, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, amounted to seventy- 5 four thousand six hundred. Those who are to encamp next to him are the tribe of Issachar, with Nethanel, the son of Zuar, as leader of 6 the Issacharites, whose host, that is, those in it that were numbered, 7 amounted to fifty-four thousand four hundred. Then the tribe of Zebulun, with Eliab, the son of Helon, as leader of the Zebulunites, 8 whose host, that is, those in it that were numbered, amounted to fifty- 9 seven thousand four hundred. The total number of those belonging to the camp of Judah is one hundred and eighty-six thousand four hundred, arranged by companies; they are always to be the first to set out.

10 "To the south is to be the standard of the camp of Reuben arranged by companies, with Elizur, the son of Shedeur, as leader of the Reu-11 benites, whose host, that is, those in it that were numbered, amounted 12 to forty-six thousand five hundred. Those who are to encamp next to him are the tribe of Simeon, with Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai, 13 as leader of the Simeonites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, amounted to fifty-nine thousand three hundred.
14 Then the tribe of Gad with Eliasaph, the son of Deuel, as leader of 15 the Gadites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, 16 amounted to forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty. The total number of those belonging to the camp of Reuben is one hundred and fifty-one thousand four hundred and fifty, arranged by com-17 panies; they are always to be the second to set out, after which the tent of meeting is to move forward, with the army of the Levites, in the middle of the other armies; they are to set out exactly as they encamp, each in his place, one standard after another.

18 "To the west is to be the standard of the camp of Ephraim, arranged by companies, with Elishama, the son of Ammihud, as leader 19 of the Ephraimites, whose host, that is, those of them that were num-20 bered, amounted to forty thousand five hundred. Next to him is to be the tribe of Manasseh, with Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur, as leader 21 of the Manassites, whose host, that is, those of them that were num-22 bered, amounted to thirty-two thousand two hundred. Then the tribe of Benjamin, with Abidan, the son of Gideon, as leader of the Ben-23 jaminites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, 24 amounted to thirty-five thousand four hundred. The total number of those belonging to the camp of Ephraim is one hundred and eight thousand one hundred, arranged by companies; they are always to be the third to set out.

25 "To the north is to be the standard of the camp of Dan, arranged by companies, with Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai, as leader of the 26 Danites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, 27 amounted to sixty-two thousand seven hundred. Those who are to encamp next to him are the tribe of Asher, with Pagiël, the son of 28 Ochran, as leader of the Asherites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, amounted to forty-one thousand five hundred.
29 Then the tribe of Naphtali, with Ahira, the son of Enan, as leader
30 of the Naphtalites, whose host, that is, those of them that were numbered, amounted to fifty-three thousand four hundred. The total number of those belonging to the camp of Dan is one hundred and fifty-seven thousand six hundred; they are always to set out in the rear, one standard after another.”

{ 32 (Such were the Israelites as numbered by families; the total of the armies as numbered by companies amounted to six hundred and three 33 thousand five hundred and fifty. The Levites, however, were not numbered with the other Israelites, as the LORD had commanded Moses.)

34 The Israelites did so: just as the LORD had commanded Moses, they encamped by standards, and they set out clan by clan, family by family.

3 The following are the descendants of Aaron and Moses at the 2 time that the LORD spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai. These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab, the first-born, Abihu, Eleazar,
3 and Ithamar. These were the names of the sons of Aaron, the priests
4 that were anointed, who were installed to serve as priests. Nadab and Abihu met death at the hands of the LORD, because they offered improper fire before the LORD in the desert of Sinai; they had no children. Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests during the lifetime of their father Aaron.

5 The LORD said to Moses,

6 “Have the tribe of Levi come forward and take their stand before
7 Aaron, the priest, to minister to him; they shall do duty for him and for the whole community before the tent of meeting, to look after 8 the dwelling, taking charge of all the equipment of the tent of meeting, as well as the duties for the Israelites, to look after the dwelling.
9 You must assign the Levites to Aaron and his sons; they are to be 10 assigned to him from the rest of the Israelites as servants. Aaron and his sons you are to appoint to take charge of their priestly duties; any layman who dares to approach must be put to death.”

11 The LORD said to Moses,

12 “See, I am taking the Levites from among the Israelites instead of all the first-born of the Israelites, those who first open the womb;
13 the Levites belong to me, because all the first-born belong to me; at the time that I slew all the first-born in the land of Egypt, I consecrated to myself all the first-born in Israel, both man and beast; they belong to me, to myself, the LORD.”

14 In the desert of Sinai the LORD said to Moses,

15 "Number the descendants of Levi family by family, clan by clan, numbering every male from a month old and upward."

16 So Moses numbered them by command of the LORD, as he was 17 commanded. The following were the sons of Levi in the order of 18 their names: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari; while these were the names of the sons of Gershon arranged by clans: Libni and Shimei;
19 the sons of Kohath arranged by clans were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, 20 and Uzziel; and the sons of Merari arranged by clans were Mahli and Mushi. These were the clans of the Levites, family by family.

21 To Gershon belonged the clan of the Libnites and the clan of the 22 Shimeites; these were the clans of the Gershonites. Those of them that were numbered in the census of all the males, from a month old and upward, those of them that were numbered amounted to seven 23 thousand five hundred. The clans of the Gershonites were to encamp 24 behind the dwelling to the west, with Eliasaph, the son of Lael, as 25 leader of the families belonging to the Gershonites, and in the tent of meeting the sons of Gershon had to take charge of the dwelling, the tent with its covering, the screen for the doorway of the tent of 26 meeting, the hangings of the court, the screen for the doorway into the court inclosing the dwelling and the altar, and the ropes for it, in short all its appurtenances.

27 To Kohath belonged the clan of the Amramites, the clan of the Izharites, the clan of the Hebronites, and the clan of the Uzzielites; 28 these were the clans of the Kohathites. Those of them that were numbered in the census of all the males, from a month old and upward, amounted to eight thousand six hundred, who had charge of the 29 sacred objects. The clans of the sons of Kohath were to encamp on 30 the south side of the dwelling, with Elizaphan, the son of Uzziel, as 31 leader of the families belonging to the clans of the Kohathites, and they had to take charge of the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the utensils of the sanctuary that were used for ministering, and the 32 screen, in short all their appurtenances, with Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, as chief leader of the Levites and supervisor of those having charge of the sacred objects.

33 To Merari belonged the clan of the Mahlites and the clan of the 34 Mushites; these were the clans of Merari. Those of them that were numbered in the census of all the males, from a month old and up-35 ward, amounted to six thousand two hundred, with Zuriel, the son of Abihail, as leader of the families belonging to the clans of Merari.
36 They were to encamp on the north side of the dwelling, and the sons of Merari were given charge of the frames of the dwelling, its bars, its columns, its pedestals, and all its fittings, in short all its appurtenances, as well as the columns around the court, their pedestals, pegs, and ropes.

Those that were to encamp in front of the dwelling, to the east, in front of the tent of meeting toward the dawn, were Moses and Aaron with his sons, who had charge of the sanctuary in the matter of duties for the Israelites; any layman who dared to approach was to be put to death.

The total of the Levites numbered, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by command of the LORD, clan by clan, all the males from a month old and upward, amounted to twenty-two thousand.

The LORD said to Moses,

“Number all the first-born males of the Israelites from a month old and upward, and take a census of them by individuals. But you are to take the Levites for me, myself, the LORD, instead of all the first-born among the Israelites, and the cattle of the Levites instead of all the first-born among the cattle of the Israelites.”

So Moses numbered all the first-born among the Israelites, as the LORD commanded him; and all the first-born males of those that were numbered, as counted by individuals, from a month old and upward, amounted to twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.

Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Take the Levites instead of all the first-born among the Israelites, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle, and the Levites shall belong to me, to myself, the LORD. As redemption for the two hundred and seventy-three of the first-born of the Israelites that exceed the number of the Levites, you must take five shekels each per head, taking it in sacred shekels, the shekel of twenty gerahs, and you must give the money for the redemption of those in excess among them to Aaron and his sons.”

So Moses took the redemption-money from those that were left over from the number redeemed by the Levites, taking from the first-born of the Israelites the sum of one thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels in sacred shekels, and Moses gave the redemption-money to Aaron and his sons at the command of the LORD, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

“Take a census of the Kohathite division of the Levites, clan by

3 clan, family by family, from thirty years old up to fifty, all who 4 entered the service to do work in the tent of meeting. The following 5 are to be the duties of the Kohathites in the tent of meeting with re-6 gard to the most sacred object: when the camp is about to break up,
7 Aaron and his sons must go in and take down the veil of the screen
8 and cover the ark of the decrees with it; they must then place a cover-
9 ing of porpoise skin over it, and on top of that spread a cloth made 10 entirely of violet material, and put its poles in place. Over the table 11 of Presence-bread they must spread a cloth of violet material, putting 12 the plates on it, the cups, the flagons, and the libation-bowls, with the 13 ever present bread remaining on it; they must then spread a cloth of 14 scarlet material over them, and cover this with a covering of porpoise 15 skin, and put its poles in place. Taking a cloth of violet material, they 16 must cover the lampstand for the lights, along with its lamps, snuf-17 fers, snuffdishes, and all its oil containers from which it is supplied;
18 they must then put it and all its fittings into a covering of porpoise
19 skin, and place it on a stretcher. Over the gold altar they must spread 20 a cloth of violet material, and then cover it with a covering of por-21 poise skin, and put its poles in place. Taking all the service utensils 22 that were used in the service in the sanctuary, they must put them in a 23 cloth of violet material, and cover them with a covering of porpoise
24 skin, and place them on a stretcher. They must remove the ashes
25 from the other altar, and spread a purple cloth over it, placing on it 26 all its utensils that were used in the service connected with it, the fire-27 pans, forks, shovels, and basins, all the utensils of the altar; they must 28 then spread a covering of porpoise skin over it, and put its poles in 29 place. When Aaron and his sons have finished packing up the sacred 30 objects and all the fittings of the sacred objects when the camp breaks 31 up, after that the Kohathites must come to carry them, but without 32 touching the sacred objects themselves, in which case they would die.
33 These are to be the duties of the Kohathites in the tent of meeting.
34 Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, is to have charge of the oil for 35 the lights, the fragrant incense, the ever-present cereal-offering, and 36 the anointing oil; he is to have charge of the whole dwelling and of 37 all that is in it, whether it pertains to the sanctuary itself or its fit-38 tings."

17 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

18 "Do not cut the tribe of Kohathite families off from the Levites;
19 but that they may live, and not die, when they approach the most 20 sacred objects, deal with them as follows: Aaron and his sons are to 20 go in, assigning to each of them his task and his load; but they themselves must not go in to look on while the sacred objects are being packed, in which case they would die."

21 The LORD said to Moses,

22 "Take a census of the Gershonites also, family by family, clan by 23 clan, numbering those from thirty years old up to fifty, all who un-24 dertook to engage in service to do work in the tent of meeting. The following are to be the duties of the Gershonite clans in serving and 25 carrying: they must carry the curtains of the dwelling, the tent of meeting with its covering and the covering of porpoise skin that is on 26 top of it, the screen for the doorway of the tent of meeting, the hangings of the court, the screen for the doorway of the gate of the court which incloses the dwelling and the altar, with the ropes for them and all the appurtenances connected with their service; whatever 27 needs to be done with these things, they must do. All the duties of the Gershonites, in all that they have to carry and in all that they have to do, are to be under the direction of Aaron and his sons, and you are to appoint the latter over them to look out for what they are to carry.
28 These are to be the duties of the Gershonite clans in the tent of meeting, and their work is to be under the supervision of Ithamar, the son of Aaron, the priest."

29 "As for the Merarites, you must number them, clan by clan, fam-30 ily by family, numbering those from thirty years old up to fifty, all 31 who entered the service to do the work of the tent of meeting. In the course of all their duties in the tent of meeting the following are to be their responsibility for transport: the frames of the dwelling, 32 with its bars, columns, and pedestals, the columns of the surrounding court, with their pedestals, pegs, and ropes, in short all their fittings and all their appurtenances; you must tell them off individually to the 33 objects that are to be their responsibility for transport. These are to be the duties of the Merarite clans in the course of all their duties in the tent of meeting, under the supervision of Ithamar, the son of Aaron, the priest."

34 So Moses and Aaron and the leaders of the community numbered 35 the Kohathites clan by clan and family by family, from thirty years old up to fifty, all who entered the service for work in the tent of 36 meeting; and those that were numbered by them, clan by clan, 37 amounted to two thousand seven hundred and fifty. These were the Kohathite clans that were numbered, all who served in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by the command of the LORD through Moses.

38 The Gershonites that were numbered, clan by clan, and family by 39 family, from thirty years old up to fifty, all who entered the service 40 for work in the tent of meeting—those of them that were numbered, clan by clan, family by family, amounted to two thousand six hundred 41 and thirty. These were the Gershonite clans that were numbered, all who served in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron numbered at the command of the LORD.

42 The Merarite clans that were numbered, clan by clan, family by 43 family, from thirty years old up to fifty, all who entered the service
44 for work in the tent of meeting—those of them that were numbered, 45 clan by clan, amounted to three thousand two hundred. These were the Merarite clans that were numbered, whom Moses and Aaron numbered at the command of the LORD through Moses.

46 All the Levites that were numbered, whom Moses and Aaron and 47 the leaders of Israel numbered, clan by clan, family by family, from thirty years old up to fifty, all who undertook to do the work of serv-48 ing and the work of transport in the tent of meeting—those of them that were numbered amounted to eight thousand five hundred and 49 eighty. At the command of the LORD through Moses, they were appointed each to his proper task of serving or carrying, those namely that were numbered by him, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

VARIOUS LAWS AND REGULATIONS, 5:1—6:27

5 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Command the Israelites to drive from the camp every leper, everyone who has a discharge, and everyone unclean through contact 3 with a corpse; you must drive out both male and female, driving them outside the camp, that they may not defile the camp of those in whose midst I myself dwell.”

4 The Israelites did so; they drove them outside the camp; the Israelites did just as the LORD had told Moses.

5 The LORD said to Moses,

6 “Say to the Israelites, ‘If a man or woman commits any of the sins of mankind, by breaking faith with the LORD, and that person 7 feels guilty, he must confess the sin that he has committed, and restore his ill-gotten gains in its original amount, adding a fifth to it 8 and giving it to him whom he wronged. But if the man has no next-of-kin to whom the property wrongfully held may be restored, the property wrongfully held that is to be restored must go to the LORD, to the priest, in addition to the atonement ram with which atonement 9 is to be made for him. And every contribution, indeed all the sacred gifts that the Israelites present to the priest shall become his property;

10 anyone's sacred offerings shall become his; whatever anyone gives to the priest becomes his.' ”

11 The LORD said to Moses,

12 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘If any man's wife goes 13 wrong and proves unfaithful to him, and another man lies with her in sexual intercourse, and it is hidden from the eyes of her husband, and she is undetected, although she has defiled herself, and there are
14 no witnesses against her, since she was not caught in the act, and a fit of suspicion comes upon him and he becomes suspicious of his wife, seeing that she has defiled herself, or a fit of suspicion comes over him and he becomes suspicious of his wife, although she may not have de-
15 filed herself, the man must bring his wife to the priest, and bring her offering for her, a tenth of an ephah of barley meal, without pouring oil on it or adding frankincense to it, since it is a cereal-offering having to do with suspicion, a memorial cereal-offering, intended to re-
16 call iniquity; the priest must then have her come up and take her
17 stand before the LORD, whereupon the priest must take holy water in an earthen jar, and taking some of the dust that is on the floor of 18 the dwelling, the priest must put it in the water; the priest must then have the woman stand before the LORD, loosening the hair of the woman's head, and putting the memorial cereal-offering in her hands (that is, the cereal-offering having to do with suspicion), with the priest himself holding the water that produces pain, that brings a
19 curse; the priest must then have her take an oath, saying to the woman, “If no man has lain with you, and if you have not turned aside to indecent acts while married to your husband, be immune to this water
20 that produces pain, that brings a curse; but if you have gone wrong while married to your husband, and if you have defiled yourself, and
21 some man besides your husband has lain with you”—then the priest must have the woman take the oath of execration, and the priest must say to the woman—“may the LORD make you an execration and an oath among your people by making you have miscarriages, along with 22 a womb easily fertilized; may this water that brings a curse enter your bowels, causing your womb to be easily fertilized, but making you have miscarriages”; and the woman must say, “So be it; so be it.”
23 The priest must write these curses in a book, and then wash them off

24 into the water that produces pain; he must make the woman drink the water that produces pain, that brings a curse, so that the water
25 that brings a curse enter into her and cause pain. The priest must then take the cereal-offering having to do with suspicion from the woman's hand, and wave the cereal-offering before the LORD, and
26 bringing it up to the altar, the priest must take a handful of the cereal-offering as the memorial part of it, and burn it on the altar, after 27 which he must make the woman drink the water. When he has made her drink the water, if she has defiled herself and has been unfaithful to her husband, then the water that brings a curse, on entering into her, shall cause pain, her womb shall become easily fertilized, but she shall have miscarriages, so that the woman shall become an execration
28 among her people. But if the woman is not defiled, but pure, she shall 29 be immune, and shall bear children. This is the law in cases of suspicion, when a woman while married to her husband goes wrong and 30 defiles herself, or when a fit of suspicion comes over a man and he becomes suspicious of his wife, in which case he shall have the woman stand before the LORD, and the priest shall deal with her in strict accord with this law. The man shall be free from guilt, but that woman must answer for her guilt.' ”

6 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘If a man or woman makes a special vow, the vow of a Nazirite, to set himself apart to the 3 LORD, he must abstain from wine and liquor, drinking no fermented wine, nor hard liquor, and drinking no grape-juice at all, nor eating
4 fresh grapes or dried; as long as he remains a Nazirite, he must eat nothing that is borne by the grape-vine, neither unripe grapes nor tendrils. As long as his vow to be a Nazirite holds, no razor is to be used on his head; until the time is completed for which he set himself apart to the LORD, he is to be consecrated; he must let the locks of 6 hair on his head go loose. For all the time that he set himself apart to the LORD he must not come near a dead body; he must not defile himself for his father or mother, for his brother or sister, when they 8 die; for a crown to his God rests on his head. As long as he remains 9 a Nazirite, he remains consecrated to the LORD. If someone should die very suddenly beside him, and he defiles his head with its crown, he must shave his head on the day of his cleansing, shaving it on the 10 seventh day, and on the eighth day he must bring two turtle-doves or two young pigeons to the priest at the doorway of the tent of meet-11 ing; the priest shall offer one as a sin-offering and the other as a burnt-offering, and so make atonement for him, because he incurred sin through the corpse. That same day he must reconsecrate his head, 12 and set apart to the LORD the period that he was to be a Nazirite, bringing a yearling male lamb as a guilt-offering; the previous period becomes void, since his crown was defiled.

13 "The following is the law for the Nazirite when the period is completed for which he was to be a Nazirite: he must be brought to 14 the doorway of the tent of meeting, and then he must present his offering to the LORD, one perfect yearling male lamb as a burnt-offering, one perfect yearling ewe-lamb as a sin-offering, one perfect ram
 15 as a thank-offering, a basket of unleavened bread, cakes of fine flour mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers smeared with oil, along with 16 their cereal-offering and libations. The priest must then bring them into the presence of the LORD, offering his sin-offering and his burnt-
 17 offering, and offering the ram as a thanksgiving sacrifice to the LORD, with the basket of unleavened cakes, as well as its cereal-offering and 18 libation. Then the Nazirite must shave off the crown of his head at the doorway of the tent of meeting, and taking his crown, the hair of his head, lay it on the fire which is under the thanksgiving sacrifice. The priest must take the shoulder of the ram when it is cooked, 19 one unleavened cake from the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and place them in the hands of the Nazirite after he has shaved off his 20 crown; then the priest must wave them as a wave-offering before the LORD, these being consecrated to the priest, along with the waved breast and the thigh of the contribution. Thereafter the Nazirite may 21 drink wine. This is the law for the Nazirite who takes a vow—his offering to the LORD as a Nazirite, besides anything else that he can afford; he must carry out the terms of the vow that he took in accord with the law pertaining to his position as a Nazirite.' "

22 The LORD said to Moses,

23 "Say to Aaron and his sons, "This is the way that you are to bless the Israelites; say to them,

24 "The LORD bless you, and guard you;

25 The LORD make his face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you;

26 The LORD lift up his countenance upon you, and make you prosper!" "

27 "So shall they invoke my name in behalf of the Israelites, and I will bless them."

THE OFFERINGS OF THE TRIBAL LEADERS, 7:1-89

7 On the day that Moses had finished the erection of the dwelling, and had anointed and consecrated it and all its equipment, along with the altar and all its equipment, having anointed and consecrated them, 2 the leaders of Israel, the heads of their families (that is, the leaders of the tribes, those that were at the head of those numbered), made 3 offerings, bringing their offerings into the presence of the LORD, six draught wagons and twelve oxen, a wagon for every two leaders and an ox for each of them; and they presented them in front of the 4 dwelling. Then the LORD said to Moses,

5 "Take the things from them, that they may be used to do the work of the tent of meeting, and give them to the Levites, to each in proportion to the amount of his work."

6 So Moses took the wagons and oxen, and gave them to the Levites; 7 two wagons and four oxen he gave to the Gershonites in proportion 8 to the amount of their work, and four wagons and eight oxen he gave to the Merarites in proportion to the amount of their work, under the 9 direction of Ithamar, the son of Aaron, the priest; but to the Kohathites he gave nothing, because the care of the sacred objects devolved upon them, and they had to carry them on their shoulders.

10 The leaders also presented dedication gifts for the altar on the day 11 that it was anointed, making their offerings before the altar, whereupon the LORD said to Moses,

"They must present their offerings, one leader each day, for the dedication of the altar."

12 The one who presented his offering on the first day was Nahshon, 13 the son of Amminadab, belonging to the tribe of Judah; his offering was one silver plate, weighing one hundred and thirty shekels, one silver basin of seventy shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel, both of 14 them full of fine flour mixed with oil as a cereal-offering; one gold 15 cup of ten shekels, full of incense; one young bullock, one ram, and 16 one yearling male lamb, as a burnt-offering; one male goat as a sin- 17 offering; and as a thanksgiving sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five yearling male lambs. ³⁵ was the offering of Elizur, the son of Shedeur.

³⁶ On the fifth day came the leader of the Simeonites, Shelumiel, the ³⁷ son of Zurishaddai, with his offering, one silver plate, weighing one hundred and thirty shekels, one silver basin of seventy shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel, both of them full of fine flour mixed with ³⁸ oil as a cereal-offering; one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense;
³⁹ one young bullock, one ram, and one yearling male lamb, as a burnt-
⁴⁰ offering; one male goat as a sin-offering; and as a thanksgiving sac-
⁴¹ rifice, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five yearling male lambs. This was the offering of Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai.

⁴² On the sixth day came the leader of the Gadites, Eliasaph, the son ⁴³ of Deuel, with his offering, one silver plate, weighing one hundred and thirty shekels, one silver basin of seventy shekels, in terms of the sacred shekel, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil as a ⁴⁴ cereal-offering; one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; one

53 fice, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five yearling male lambs.
This was the offering of Elishama, the son of Ammihud.

54 On the eighth day came the leader of the Manassites, Gamaliel,

⁸⁹ When Moses went into the tent of meeting to converse with him, he heard the voice speaking to him from above the propitiatory that was on the ark of the decrees, from between the two cherubs; and he spoke to him.

VARIOUS INSTRUCTIONS, 8:1—10:10

8 The LORD said to Moses,

² "Speak to Aaron, and say to him, 'When you put up the lamps, the seven lamps are to shed light on the space in front of the lampstand.'"

³ Aaron did so; he put up the lamps of the lampstand so as to shed light on the space in front of it, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁴ And this was the material of the lampstand, gold beaten work, being beaten work in both its base and its calyxes; Moses had made the lampstand in strict accord with the pattern that the LORD had shown him.

5 The LORD said to Moses,

6 "Separate the Levites from the Israelites, and cleanse them; and 7 this is what you are to do to them in cleansing them: the water for use in case of sin is to be sprinkled on them; they are to use a razor all 8 over their bodies, and wash their clothes, and cleanse themselves; they must then take a young bullock, with its cereal-offering consisting of fine flour mixed with oil, while you take another young bullock as a 9 sin-offering; you must present the Levites before the tent of meeting;
10 assembling the whole Israelite community, you must present the Levites before the LORD; the Israelites shall lay their hands on the 11 Levites, and Aaron shall present the Levites before the LORD as a wave-offering from the Israelites, that they may be qualified to per-12 form the service of the LORD; the Levites shall lay their hands on the heads of the bullocks; then sacrifice the one as a sin-offering, and the other as a burnt-offering, to the LORD, to make atonement for the 13 Levites. You must then have the Levites stand before Aaron and his 14 sons, who shall present them as a wave-offering to the LORD. Thus shall you separate the Levites from the rest of the Israelites that the 15 Levites may become mine. Thereafter the Levites may enter upon their duties in the tent of meeting, after you have cleansed them, and 16 presented them as a wave-offering; for they have been assigned to me from the rest of the Israelites as servants; I have taken them for myself instead of all who first open the womb, the first-born of all of the 17 Israelites; for all the first-born among the Israelites belong to me, both man and beast; it was on the day that I slew all the first-born in 18 the land of Egypt that I consecrated them to myself; so I have taken 19 the Levites instead of all the first-born among the Israelites, assigning the Levites from among the Israelites as servants to Aaron and his sons to perform the service for the Israelites in the tent of meeting, and to make atonement for the Israelites, so that there may be no plague among the Israelites when the Israelites approach the sanctuary."

20 Thus did Moses and Aaron and the whole Israelite community to the Levites; the Israelites did to the Levites just as the LORD had 21 given Moses command concerning them. The Levites purified themselves, and washed their clothes; then Aaron presented them as a wave-offering before the LORD, and Aaron also made atonement for 22 them to cleanse them, after which the Levites entered upon the performance of their duties in the tent of meeting as assistants to Aaron and his sons; they did to the Levites just as the LORD had given Moses command concerning them.

23 The LORD said to Moses,

24 "This is the law which pertains to the Levites: from twenty-five years old and upward he shall enter upon the service connected with 25 the care of the tent of meeting, but after fifty years of age he must 26 retire from active service, and not work any more; he may help his fellows in the tent of meeting in the performance of their duties, but he must do no menial work. This is what you are to do with the Levites in the matter of their duties."

9 At the first new moon of the second year after the exodus from the land of Egypt the LORD said to Moses in the desert of Sinai,

3 "The Israelites must observe the passover at its proper time; you must observe it at its proper time, on the fourteenth day of this month, at twilight, observing it in conformity with all the statutes and ordinances for it."

4 So Moses told the Israelites to observe the passover; and they accordingly observed the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month, at twilight, in the desert of Sinai; the Israelites did just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

6 There were some, however, who were unclean through contact with a corpse, and so could not observe the passover on that day. So these men presented themselves to Moses and Aaron that day,
7 and said to him,

"We are unclean through contact with a corpse, why should we be prevented from presenting the offering of the LORD at its proper time along with the other Israelites?"

8 Moses said to them,

"Wait until I hear what command the LORD has to give concerning you."

9 So the LORD said to Moses,

10 "Say to the Israelites, 'If anyone of you or your descendants is unclean through contact with a dead body, or is absent on a journey,
11 he may still offer the passover-sacrifice to the LORD. Such persons are to offer it on the fourteenth day of the second month, at twilight;
12 they must eat it with unleavened cakes and bitter herbs, without leaving any of it over until morning, nor breaking a bone in it, offering it 13 in strict accord with the statute for the passover. Any man, however, who is clean and is not on a journey, and yet fails to offer the passover-sacrifice, that person must be cut off from his people, because he did not present the offering to the LORD at its proper time; that person must answer for his sin.

14 “If a proselyte is residing with you, and would observe the passover to the LORD, he must follow the statute for the passover and its ordinance; you must have the same statute for the proselyte as for the native born of the land.’”

15 On the day that the dwelling was erected the cloud covered the dwelling, that is, the tent of meeting, while at evening it had the 16 form of fire over the dwelling until morning. It was always so; the 17 cloud used to cover it by day, but in the form of fire by night. Whenever the cloud was lifted from the tent, after that the Israelites would set out, and at the place where it stopped, there the Israelites would 18 camp; it was at the bidding of the LORD that the Israelites set out, and it was at the bidding of the LORD that they camped, remaining in 19 camp all the time that the cloud stayed over the dwelling. Even when the cloud stayed over the dwelling for many days, the Israelites 20 would keep the instructions of the LORD, and not set out. Sometimes the cloud would remain a few days over the dwelling. It was at the bidding of the LORD that they camped, and it was at the bidding of 21 the LORD that they set out. Sometimes the cloud would remain from evening until morning, and then the cloud would be lifted in the 22 morning, and they would set out; or it would remain during the daytime, and then at night the cloud would be lifted, and they would set out; or it would remain two days, or a whole month. As long as the cloud stayed over the dwelling, the Israelites would remain in camp,
23 and not set out; but when it was lifted, they would set out. It was at the bidding of the LORD that they camped, and it was at the bidding of the LORD that they set out; they kept the instructions of the LORD in accordance with the LORD’s command through Moses.

10 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Make two silver trumpets, making them of beaten work. You are to use them to summon the community and to start the camps on 3 the march. When both are blown, the whole community shall gather 4 to you at the doorway of the tent of meeting; but if only one is blown, the chieftains, the heads of the clans of Israel, shall gather to you.
5 When you blow an alarm, those encamped on the east side shall set
6 out; when you blow a second alarm, those encamped on the south side
7 shall set out; an alarm is to be blown for them to set out. When convoking the assembly however, you are to blow without sounding an 8 alarm. The sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow the trumpets, and your use of them shall be a perpetual statute for you from one generation to another. When you engage in war in your own land against an adversary that is oppressing you, you must sound an alarm with the trumpets, so that you may be remembered before the LORD your God, and be saved from your enemies. Also on your days of celebration, on your fixed festivals, and on the first day of the month you must blow the trumpets over your burnt-offerings and thanksgiving sacrifices; they will serve as a reminder for you before your God, since I, the LORD, am your God."

THE JOURNEY FROM SINAI TO PARAN, 10:11—12:16

On the twentieth day of the second month of the second year the cloud was lifted from the dwelling of the decrees; so the Israelites set out from the desert of Sinai in successive stages, until the cloud stopped at the desert of Paran. It was the first time that they ever set out at the bidding of the LORD through Moses. The standard of the camp of the Judeans, arranged by companies, was the first to set out, with Nahshon, the son of Amminadab, in charge of their host, while Nethanel, the son of Zuar, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Issacharites, and Eliab, the son of Helon, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Zebulunites. Whenever the dwelling was taken down, the Gershonites and Merarites, who carried the dwelling, would set out; and then the standard of the camp of Reuben, arranged by companies, would set out, with Elizur, the son of Shedeur, in charge of his host, while Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Simeonites, and Eliasaph, the son of Deuel, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Gadites. Then the Kohathites, who carried the sacred objects, would set out, and the dwelling would be erected in anticipation of their arrival. Then the standard of the camp of the Ephraimites, arranged by companies, would set out, with Elishama, the son of Ammihud, in charge of their host, while Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Manassites, and Abidan, the son of Gideoni, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Benjaminites. Then the standard of the camp of the Danites, arranged by companies, would set out as the rearguard for all the other camps, with Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai, in charge of their host, while Pagiél, the son of Ocran, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Asherites, and Ahira, the son of Enan, was in charge of the host of the tribe of Naphtalites. This was the - order of march for the Israelites when they set out, arranged by companies.

- 29 Moses said to Hobab, the son of Reuel, the Midianite, the father-in-law of Moses,
“We are setting out for the region of which the LORD said, ‘I will give it to you’; come along with us, and we will do well by you; for the LORD has promised Israel prosperity.”
- 30 But he said to him,
“I will not go; since I must go to my own land and kindred.”
- 31 “Please do not leave us,” he said. “Inasmuch as you know the 32 camping-places for us in the desert, you will serve as eyes for us. And then, if you go with us, when that prosperity comes which the LORD will bring to us, we will do well by you.”
- 33 Leaving the mountain of the LORD, they journeyed for three days, while the ark of the covenant of the LORD journeyed in front of them 34 for the three days, to look for a resting-place for them, and the cloud of the LORD was over them by day, whenever they set out from the camp.
- 35 Whenever the ark would start, Moses would say, “Arise, O LORD, that thy foes may be scattered,
36 That those who hate thee may flee before thee.”
And whenever it would halt, he would say,
“Halt, O LORD, and bless the clans of Israel.”
- 11 Now the people were complaining of misfortune in the hearing of the LORD; and when the LORD heard it, his anger blazed, so that the fire of the LORD burned among them, and consumed some of the best
2 parts of the camp. Then the people cried to Moses; so Moses prayed
3 to the LORD, and the fire abated. Hence the name of that place came to be called Taberah [burning], because the fire of the LORD had burned among them.
- 4 Now the rabble among them had a craving for flesh, and the Israelites also wept, and said, 5 “O that we had flesh to eat! We remember the fish that we used to eat for nothing in Egypt, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the 6 onions, and the garlic; but now we are hungry, and there is not a thing, except that we have the manna to look at.”
- 7 Now the manna was like coriander seed, and its color was like that 8 of resinous gum. The people used to go about and gather it, then grind it between millstones or pound it in a mortar, boil it in a pot, and make cakes of it; its taste was like that of a cake baked with oil.

- 9 Whenever the dew fell on the camp at night, the manna used to fall with it.
- 10 Moses heard the people weeping, family by family, each at the doorway of his tent; the anger of the LORD blazed exceedingly, and Moses was displeased.
- 11 "Why hast thou been so hard on thy servant?" said Moses to the LORD. "Why have I not found favor with thee, that thou shouldst
- 12 put the burden of all this people on me? Was it I who conceived all this people? Or was it I who gave them birth, that thou shouldst say to me, 'Carry them in your bosom, as a nurse would carry a sucking child, to the land which thou didst promise on oath to their fathers?'
- 13 Where can I get flesh to give to all this people? For they weep on my
- 14 shoulder, saying, 'Give us flesh to eat.' I am not able to carry all this
- 15 people by myself, because they are too heavy for me. If this is the way thou art going to deal with me, pray kill me at once, if I find any favor with thee, and let me see no more of my trouble."
- 16 The LORD said to Moses,
- "Gather to me seventy of the elders of Israel, whom you know to be elders and officers of the people; and bring them to the tent of
- 17 meeting that they may take their stand there with you. I will come down and speak with you there, and I will withdraw some of the spirit that is upon you and put it upon them, that they may share the
- 18 burden of the people with you, and you not bear it by yourself. Say to the people, 'Sanctify yourselves in readiness for tomorrow, that you may eat flesh; for you have wept in the hearing of the LORD, saying, 'O that we had flesh to eat! For we were prosperous in Egypt.'" So
- 19 the LORD will give you flesh to eat; you shall eat, not one day, nor
- 20 two days, nor five days, nor ten days, nor twenty days, but a whole month, until it comes out of your very nostrils and becomes loathsome to you—because you have spurned the LORD who is in your midst, and have wept before him, saying, "Why did we ever leave Egypt?" ' ' "
- 21 But Moses said,
- "The people, among whom I am, are six hundred thousand men on foot, and yet thou sayest, 'I will give them flesh to eat for a whole
- 22 month.' Can enough flocks and herds be slaughtered for them to be sufficient for them? Or if all the fish of the sea are caught for them, will it be sufficient for them?"
- 23 The LORD said to Moses,

“Is the LORD’s power so limited? You shall see now whether my word will come true for you or not.”

- 24 So Moses went out and told the people the words of the LORD. He gathered seventy elders of the people, and had them stand around the 25 tent. Then the LORD came down in the cloud and spoke to him; he withdrew some of the spirit that was upon him and put it upon the seventy elders, and as soon as the spirit came upon them, they prophesied—but never again. Now two men had been left in the camp, the name of the one being Eldad, and the name of the other Medad. The spirit rested upon them too (they were among those recorded, but had not gone out to the tent), and they prophesied in the camp.
27 Whereupon a youth ran and told Moses.

“Eldad and Medad,” he said, “are prophesying in the camp.”

- 28 So Joshua, the son of Nun, the attendant of Moses from his youth up, spoke up and said,

“My lord Moses, put a stop to them!”

- 29 But Moses said to him,

“Are you jealous on my account? O that all the LORD’s people were prophets, that the LORD might put his spirit upon them!”

- 30 Then Moses withdrew to the camp, along with the elders of Israel.
31 There went forth a wind from the LORD, and bringing quails across from the sea, it dropped them near the camp, about a day’s journey on each side all around the camp, and about two cubits thick upon 32 the surface of the ground. All that day and night, and all the next day, the people spent in gathering the quails, the one who got the least gathering ten homers; then they spread them out all around the 33 camp. While the meat was still between their teeth, before it was exhausted, the anger of the LORD blazed against the people, and the 34 LORD smote them with a very great plague. Hence the name of that place came to be called Kibroth-hattaavah [the graves of craving], because it was there that they buried the people who had the craving.
35 From Kibroth-hattaavah the people set out for Hazeroth, and stayed at Hazeroth.

- 12 Then Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married; for he had married an Ethiopian woman.

2 “Is it only through Moses alone that the LORD has spoken?” they said. “Has he not spoken through us as well?”

And the LORD heard it.

- 3 Now the man Moses was very modest, more so than all men upon the face of the earth.
- 4 Suddenly the LORD said to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam,
"Come out, you three, to the tent of meeting."
- 5 So the three of them went out, and the LORD came down in a column of cloud, and stood at the doorway of the tent.
"Aaron and Miriam!" he called.
- 6 Whereupon both of them went forward, and then he said,
"Hear my words!
If either of you were a prophet of the LORD,
In visions would I make myself known to him,
In dreams would I speak through him.
- 7 Not so with my servant Moses;
With all my house he has been entrusted;
- 8 Mouth to mouth do I speak with him,
Plainly, and not in riddles,
And the very form of the LORD does he behold.
Why then were you not afraid
To speak against my servant Moses?"
- 9 So the anger of the LORD blazed against them; and when he departed, and the cloud withdrew from the tent, there was Miriam leprous, as white as snow! When Aaron turned to look at Miriam, there she was leprous!
- 11 "O my lord!" Aaron said to Moses, "do not punish us for the 12 folly that we have done and the sin that we have committed. Do not let her become like one dead, who when coming forth from his mother's womb has half his flesh consumed."
- 13 So Moses cried to the LORD,
"Pray, O God, heal her!"
- 14 But the LORD said to Moses,
"If her father had but spit in her face, would she not hide in shame for seven days? Let her be shut up for seven days outside the camp, and after that she may be taken back."
- 15 So Miriam was shut up for seven days outside the camp, and the 16 people did not start again until Miriam was taken back. After that, however, the people set out from Hazeroth, and camped in the desert of Paran.

THE STORY OF THE SPIES, 13:1—14:45

- 13 Then the LORD said to Moses,
- 2 "Send men to spy out the land of Canaan, which I am going to give the Israelites; you must send a man from each of their ancestral tribes, everyone a chieftain among them."
- 3 So Moses despatched them from the desert of Paran in accord with the command of the LORD, all of them being head men of the Israelites. The following were their names: from the tribe of Reuben, 4 Shammua, the son of Zaccur; from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat, the 5 son of Hori; from the tribe of Judah, Caleb, the son of Jephunneh; 6 from the tribe of Issachar, Igal, the son of Joseph; from the tribe of 7 Ephraim, Hoshea, the son of Nun; from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti, 8 the son of Raphu; from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel, the son of 9 Sodi; from the tribe of Joseph (that is, from the tribe of Manasseh), 10 Gaddi, the son of Susi; from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel, the son of 11 Gemalli; from the tribe of Asher, Sethur, the son of Michael; from 12 the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi, the son of Vophsi; from the tribe of 13 Gad, Geuel, the son of Machi. These were the names of the men 14 whom Moses sent to spy out the land, but Moses called Hoshea, the 15 son of Nun, Joshua. When Moses sent them to spy out the land of 16 Canaan, he said to them,
- 17 "Go up now into the Negeb; go up into the highlands, and see what the land is like, and whether the people who are living in it are strong 18 or weak, whether they are few or many; and what the land is like in 19 which they are living, whether it is good or bad; and what the cities are like in which they are living, whether it is in camps or in strong- 20 holds; and what the land is like, whether it is rich or poor, whether there is wood in it or not. Do your best to get some of the fruit of the land." (Now the season was that of the first ripe grapes.)
- 21 So they went up, and spied out the land from the desert of Zin as far 22 as Rehob, toward the approach to Hamath. They went up into the Negeb, and reached Hebron, where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmi, the sons of Anak, lived. (Now Hebron was built seven years before 23 Zoan in Egypt.) Reaching the valley of Eshcol, they cut a branch from there with a single cluster of grapes, and it took two of them to carry it on a stretcher, along with some pomegranates and some figs. 24 That place came to be called the valley of Eshcol [cluster] because of the cluster which the Israelites cut from there.
- 25 At the end of forty days they came back from spying out the land.
- 26 They left and came to Moses and Aaron and the whole Israelite community in the desert of Paran, at Kadesh; they brought back a report to them and the whole community, and showed them the fruit of the land.

27 “We reached the land to which you sent us,” they told him, “and 28 it surely does abound in milk and honey, and here is its fruit. The people, however, who live in the land are strong, and the cities are fortified and very large; and besides, we saw the Anakim [giants] 29 there. Amalek is living in the land of the Negeb, and the Hittites, Jebusites, and Amorites are living in the highlands, while the Canaanites are living along the sea and the banks of the Jordan.”

30 Caleb, however, broke through the people to Moses, and said,
“We ought to go up and sieze it; for we are quite able to do so.”

31 But the men who went up with him said,
“We are not able to go up against the people; for they are too strong for us.”

32 So they gave the Israelites a bad report of the land that they had spied out, saying,

“The land through which we passed in spying it out is a land that destroys its inhabitants, and all the people that we saw in it are men of 33 great stature. We saw the Nephilim [titans] there (the Anakim belong to the Nephilim); to ourselves we looked like grasshoppers, and we must have looked the same to them.”

14 Then the whole community lifted up their voices and cried; the 2 people wept that night; the Israelites all grumbled against Moses and Aaron.

“Would that we had died in the land of Egypt!” the whole community said to them. “Or would that we had died in this desert!
3 Why is the LORD bringing us into this land, only to fall by the sword?
Our wives and little ones will become a prey. Would it not be better 4 for us to return to Egypt?” “Let us take our own course and return to Egypt,” they said to one another.

5 Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before the whole assem-6 bly of the Israelite community, while Joshua, the son of Nun, and Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, who belonged to those who had spied out 7 the land, tore their clothes, and said to the whole Israelite community,

“The land through which we passed in spying it out is a very, very 8 fine land. If the LORD is pleased with us, he will bring us into this land, and give it to us—a land which abounds in milk and honey.
9 Only do not rebel against the LORD; and do not be afraid of the people of the land; for they will simply be food for us; their protection has left them, while the LORD is with us; do not be afraid of them."

10 But the whole community had determined to stone them, when the glory of the LORD appeared to all the Israelites at the tent of meeting.

11 "How long are this people going to despise me?" the LORD said to Moses. "How long is it that they are not going to trust me, in spite 12 of all the signs that I performed in their midst? I will smite them with pestilence, and disinherit them, and I will make you into a nation greater and stronger than they."

13 But Moses said to the LORD,

"When the Egyptians hear of it (for thou didst bring this people 14 out of their midst by thy might), they will say,—when all the inhabitants of this land have heard that thou, LORD, art in the midst of this people, thou, LORD, being one who is seen eye to eye, while thy cloud stands over them, and thou thyself goest before them in a column of 15 cloud by day and a column of fire by night—indeed, if thou slayest this people to a man, the nations who have heard about thee will say, 16 'It was because the LORD could not bring this people into the land which he promised on oath to them that he slaughtered them in the 17 desert.' But now, pray let the forbearance of the Lord be as great 18 as thou didst declare in saying, 'The LORD is slow to anger, rich in grace, forgiving iniquity and transgression, but one who does not leave it completely unpunished, avenging the iniquity of fathers upon their 19 children down to the third or even the fourth generation.' Pray pardon the sin of this people according to the abundance of thy grace, even as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypt until now."

20 So the LORD said,

21 "I will pardon them in accordance with your request; but as surely 22 as I live and the whole earth is full of the glory of the LORD, none of the men who have seen my glory and my signs which I performed in Egypt and the desert, and yet have put me to the test for ten times
23 now, and have not heeded my injunctions, shall see the land which I promised on oath to their fathers, and none of those who despised me
24 shall see it. But my servant Caleb, because he is of a different spirit, and has corroborated me, I will bring into the land which he entered,
25 and he shall pass it on as a heritage to his descendants. Since, however, the Amalekites and Canaanites are living in the valleys, turn tomorrow, and set out for the desert in the direction of the Red Sea."

26 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

27 "How long is this wicked community going to keep up their grumbling against me? I have heard the grumbling of the Israelites which 28 they have been muttering against me. Say to them, 'As I live'—it is the oracle of the LORD—'I will do to you just as I have heard you 29 say: your corpses shall fall in this desert, and none of you that were numbered, none of you that were counted from twenty years old and 30 upward, who have grumbled against me, shall enter the land in which I swore by uplifted hand to settle you, except Caleb, the son of Jeph-31 unneh, and Joshua, the son of Nun. Your little ones, however, who you said would become a prey, I will bring in, and they shall come to 32 know the land that you have despised. But as for yourselves, your 33 corpses shall fall in this desert, while your children shall be shepherds for forty years in the desert, and shall suffer for your wantonness, 34 until the last of your corpses lies in the desert. According to the number of the days that you took to spy out the land, forty days, one year for each day shall you suffer for your iniquities, that is, forty years, 35 and you shall experience opposition from me. I, the LORD, declare that this is what I will do to all this wicked community that are gathered against me: in this desert they shall die to the last man.' "

36 So the men whom Moses had sent to spy out the land, and who on their return made the whole community grumble against him by giv-37 ing out a bad report concerning the land, the men who gave out a bad 38 report of the land died by a plague at the hands of the LORD; but Joshua, the son of Nun, and Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, remained alive out of those men who went to spy out the land.

39 When Moses told these things to all the Israelites, the people 40 mourned greatly. Next morning they rose early, and proceeded up to the mountain headlands, saying,

"Here we are, ready to go up to the place of which the LORD spoke;
for we have indeed sinned."

41 But Moses said,

"Why is it that you go on violating the injunctions of the LORD, 42 when that cannot succeed? Do not go up, lest you be struck down in front of your enemies; for the LORD will not be in the midst of you.
43 For the Amalekites and Canaanites will face you there, and you will fall by the sword, inasmuch as you have turned from following the LORD, so that the LORD will not be with you."

44 But they presumptuously went up to the mountain headlands, although neither the ark of the covenant of the LORD nor Moses left 45 the camp. Then the Amalekites and Canaanites who were living in those highlands came down and attacked them, and harassed them all the way to Hormah.

MISCELLANEOUS LAWS AND NARRATIVES, 15:1—19:22

15 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, 'When you come into your 3 homeland which I am giving you, and would make an offering to the LORD, a burnt-offering, or a sacrifice as a special votive offering or as a voluntary offering, or an offering at your stated festivals, to make 4 a soothing odor to the LORD with an ox or a sheep, the person making the offering must present as a cereal-offering to the LORD a tenth of 5 an ephah of fine flour mixed with a fourth of a hin of oil, and as wine for the libation, you must supply a fourth of a hin with the burnt-6 offering or sacrifice for each lamb. Or in the case of a ram, you must supply as a cereal-offering two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed 7 with a third of a hin of oil, and as wine for the libation you must pre-8 sent a third of a hin as a soothing odor to the LORD. When you provide a bullock as a burnt-offering, or as a sacrifice as a special votive 9 offering, or as a thank-offering to the LORD, there must be presented as a cereal-offering with the bullock three tenths of an ephah of fine 10 flour mixed with half a hin of oil, and as wine for the libation you must present half a hin as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD.
11 This is what is to be done in the case of each bullock or ram or lamb 12 or kid; according to the number that you provide, this is what you are 13 to do in the case of each, whatever their number. Every native born is to do these things in this way, in presenting a sacrifice as a soothing 14 odor to the LORD; and if there is a proselyte who resides with you, or one living permanently in your midst, and he wishes to make a sacrifice 15 as a soothing odor to the LORD, he must do just as you do. As for the community, there shall be the one statute for you and the proselyte, a perpetual statute throughout your generations; the proselyte and you 16 shall be alike before the LORD; there shall be one law and one ordinance for you and the proselyte residing with you.'"

17 The LORD said to Moses,

18 "Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, 'When you come into the 19 land to which I am bringing you, then, when you eat of the food of 20 the land, you must set aside a portion for the LORD; in the case of the first batch of baking you must set aside a cake as a contribution, setting 21 it aside as a contribution from the threshing-floor; out of your first batch of baking you must give a portion to the LORD throughout your generations.

22 “If you should make a mistake and not carry out all these com-
23 mands that the LORD has communicated to Moses, all that the LORD commanded you through Moses, from the day that the LORD first gave 24 you a command, down through your various generations, then, if it was done inadvertently, through lack of knowledge on the part of the community, the whole community must offer one bullock as a burnt-offering, as a soothing odor to the LORD, along with the cereal-offering and libation as prescribed for it, and one he-goat as a sin-offering.
25 Then the priest shall make atonement for the whole Israelite community, and they shall be forgiven; for it was a mistake, and they have brought their offering as a sacrifice to the LORD, and their sin-26 offering into the presence of the LORD for their mistake. So the whole Israelite community shall be forgiven, including the proselyte who resides among them; for in the case of a mistake he is included in the sum total of the people.

27 “If an individual sins inadvertently, he must offer a yearling she-28 goat as a sin-offering, and the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the person that made a mistake, in sinning inadvertently, 29 making atonement for him that he may be forgiven. In the case of either the native born among the Israelites or the proselyte who resides among them, you must have the one law for him who does anything 30 inadvertently. But the person who sins wilfully, whether he belongs to the native born or the proselytes, is reviling the LORD; so that person 31 must be cut off from his people. Because it is the word of the LORD that he has despised, and his command that he has broken, that person must be completely cut off, his iniquity being on his own head.’ ”

32 When the Israelites were in the desert, they found a man gathering
33 wood on the sabbath day. Those who found him gathering wood 34 brought him to Moses and Aaron and the whole community, and they put him in custody, because it had not been clearly explained what 35 should be done to him. Then the LORD said to Moses,

“The man must be put to death by having the whole community stone him outside the camp.”

36 So the whole community took him outside the camp, and stoned him to death, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

37 The LORD said to Moses,

38 “Speak to the Israelites and tell them that from one generation to another they must make tassels for themselves on the corners of their garments, fastening the tassel of each corner with a violet string.

39 They shall serve you as tassels to look at and by which to be reminded to carry out all the commands of the LORD and not to follow your 40 own desires and fancies, which you used to follow so wantonly, in order that you may remember to carry out all my commands, and be 41 consecrated to your God, since I the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to become your God, I, the LORD, your God."

16 Now Korah, the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, along with Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and On, the son
2 of Peleth, the son of Reuben, became arrogant and took their stand before Moses, along with two hundred and fifty of the Israelites, leaders
3 of the community, picked men of the assembly, men of note. They gathered in a body against Moses and Aaron, and said to them,

"Enough of you; for all the community are holy, every one of them, since the LORD is in their midst; why then do you exalt yourselves above the LORD's assembly?"

4 When Moses heard this, he fell on his face; then he said to Korah and all his company,

"In the morning the LORD will show who belongs to him and who is holy, that he may have him come near him; and whomsoever he 6 chooses he will have come near him. Do this: take fire-pans (that is, 7 Korah and all his company), and putting fire in them, place incense upon them in the presence of the LORD tomorrow; and then the man whom the LORD chooses shall be the holy one. Enough of you, you Levites!"

8 "Listen, you Levites," said Moses to Korah, "is it too little for you that the God of Israel has singled you out from the community of Israel to have you come near him to look after the LORD's dwelling,
10 and to stand before the community to serve them, and that he has had you come near him, and all your fellow-Levites with you, that you
11 should seek the priesthood as well? It is accordingly against the LORD that you and all your company are gathered; for what is there about Aaron that you should grumble against him?"

12 Moses sent for Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, but they said, 13 "We will not go up. Is it such a trifle that you have brought us up from a land abounding in milk and honey to kill us in the desert, that 14 you should also play the prince over us? Moreover, you have not brought us into a land abounding in milk and honey, nor given us a heritage of fields and vineyards. Are you trying to blind the eyes of these men? We will not go up."

15 Then Moses became very angry, and said to the LORD,

"Pay no attention to an offering from them. Not a single ass have I taken from them, nor done any harm to any of them."

16 Moses said to Korah,

"Tomorrow you and all your company are to appear before the LORD—you, and they, and Aaron; each of you take his fire-pan, and putting incense on it, each of you is to bring his fire-pan before the LORD, that is, two hundred and fifty fire-pans; you also, and Aaron, each with his fire-pan."

18 So each of them took his fire-pan, and putting fire on them, they placed incense on them, and then took their stand at the doorway of the tent of meeting, along with Moses and Aaron. Korah had gathered the whole community against them at the doorway of the tent of meeting, whereupon the glory of the LORD appeared to the whole community. Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

21 "Separate yourselves from this community that I may consume them instantly."

22 But they fell on their faces, and said,

"O God, the God of the spirits of all mankind, when only one man sins, shouldst thou become angry with the whole community?"

23 So the LORD said to Moses,

24 "Say to the community, 'Withdraw from the neighborhood of the dwelling where Korah, Dathan and Abiram are.'"

25 Moses rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel followed him. Then he said to the community,

"Move away from the tents of these wicked men, and do not touch anything at all that belongs to them, lest you be swept away with all their sins."

27 So they withdrew from the neighborhood of the dwelling where Korah, Dathan, and Abiram were.

As Dathan and Abiram came out and stood at the doorways of their tents, with their wives and sons and little ones, Moses said,

"Hereby shall you know that the LORD has sent me to do all these deeds, and that it has not been of my own choice: if these men die as all men die, and suffer the fate of all men, it is not the LORD who has sent me; but if the LORD does something new, and the ground opens its mouth, and swallows them up, with all that belongs to them, and they descend into Sheol alive, then you shall know that these men have despised the LORD.”

31 And then, just as he finished saying these words, the ground under 32 them split open; the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, with all their households, and all the men who belonged to Korah and 33 all their goods. So they and all that belonged to them descended into Sheol alive; and the earth closed over them, and they perished from 34 the community. Then all the Israelites that were in their neighborhood fled at their cries; “Lest,” said they, “the earth swallow us up.”

35 Fire having come forth from the LORD, it consumed the two hundred and fifty men offering the incense.

36 Then the LORD said to Moses,

37 “Tell Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, to pick up the fire-pans out of the conflagration, and then you must scatter the fire far and 38 wide; for these sinners have made the fire-pans taboo at the cost of their lives. So they must be made into beaten plates as a covering for the altar, that they may become a sign to the Israelites; for they were presented before the LORD, and so have become taboo.”

39 So Eleazar, the priest, took the bronze fire-pans which those who had been burned had presented, and they were beaten out as a cover-40 ing for the altar, a reminder to the Israelites, so that no layman, who was not one of the descendants of Aaron, might draw near to burn incense before the LORD, lest he fare like Korah and his company—just as the LORD had directed him through Moses.

41 But next day the whole Israelite community grumbled against Moses and Aaron, saying,

“It is you who have slain the LORD’s people.”

42 But when the community gathered against Moses and Aaron, they turned toward the tent of meeting, and there was the cloud covering 43 it and the glory of the LORD visible! Then Moses and Aaron came 44 to the front of the tent of meeting, whereupon the LORD said to Moses,

45 “Withdraw from this community, that I may instantly consume them.”

46 But they fell on their faces, and Moses said to Aaron, “Take your fire-pan, put fire from the altar on it, place incense on it, and then carry it quickly to the community, and make atonement for them; for wrath has gone forth from the LORD; the plague has begun.”

47 So Aaron took it, as Moses had said, and ran into the midst of the community, but the plague had already begun among the people; he 48 put on the incense, and making atonement for the people, he stood be-49 tween the living and the dead, so that the plague was checked. But those who died from the plague amounted to fourteen thousand seven 50 hundred, in addition to those who died in the affair of Korah. Then Aaron returned to Moses at the doorway of the tent of meeting, now that the plague had been checked.

17 The LORD said to Moses,

2 "Speak to the Israelites, and take from them one staff for each clan, in all twelve staffs from the leaders of their clans, writing the name
 3 of each upon his staff, and Aaron's name upon the staff of Levi (for 4 there is to be a special staff for the head of their clan); you must then deposit them in the tent of meeting in front of the decrees, where I 5 am accustomed to meet you; and then the staff of the man whom I choose shall sprout. Thus will I rid myself of the grumbling of the Israelites, which they have been muttering against you."

6 So Moses spoke to the Israelites, and they gave him one staff for everyone of the leaders of their clans, twelve staffs in all, with 7 Aaron's staff among theirs. Then Moses deposited the staffs before 8 the LORD in the tent of the decrees; and next day, when Moses entered the tent of the decrees, he found that the staff of Aaron, representing the clan of Levi, had sprouted, it had put forth sprouts, it had pro-9 duced blossoms and borne ripe almonds. Moses then brought out all the staffs from the presence of the LORD to all the Israelites, and after inspecting them, each of them took his staff.

10 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"Put Aaron's staff back in front of the decrees, to be kept as a sign for the rebels; and you must rid me of their grumbling, that they die not."

11 Moses did so; he did just as the LORD commanded him.

12 The Israelites said to Moses,

13 "We perish! We are lost, we are all lost! If everyone who dares to approach the dwelling of the LORD is to die, shall we ever stop dying?"

18 So the LORD said to Aaron,

"You and your sons, along with your clan, shall answer for any guilt in connection with the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you shall answer for any guilt in connection with your priesthood.
 2 Have your fellows too, the tribe of Levi, your ancestral tribe, present themselves with you, that they may be associated with you, and minister to you, while you and your sons with you are in front of the tent 3 of the decrees; they shall attend to you and all the tent; only they must not come near the sacred vessels or the altar, that neither they 4 nor you die. They shall be associated with you, and take charge of the tent of meeting in all the work connected with the tent, since no lay-5 man may come near you. You are to take charge of the sanctuary and 6 the altar, that wrath may never again fall on the Israelites. For my part, see, I have selected your fellow-Levites from the Israelites as a gift for you, made over to the LORD to look after the tent of meet-7 ing, while you and your sons with you must reserve your priestly functions for everything connected with the altar and inside the veil, and look after them. It is a lucrative office that I am making your priesthood, while any layman who draws near shall be put to death.”

8 Then the LORD said to Aaron,

“For my part, see, I give you the office connected with the contributions to me; in the case of all the sacred gifts of the Israelites, I give them to you as your share, and to your sons as their perpetual due.
9 The following is to go to you from the most sacred offerings, from the sacrifices: in the case of every offering of theirs, that is, every cereal-offering of theirs, in the case of every sin-offering of theirs, and every guilt-offering of theirs with which they make restitution to 10 me, it shall be most sacred to you and your sons; as a most sacred thing shall you eat it, that is, every male eating it, since it is sacred to you.
11 This also shall be yours, the contributions from their gift in the case of every wave-offering of the Israelites; I give it to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as your perpetual due, to be eaten by ev-12 eryone in your family who is clean. All the best of the oil, all the best of the wine and grain. The first-fruits which they give to the 13 LORD, I give to you. The first-ripe fruits of all that is in their land which they bring to the LORD, shall be yours, to be eaten by everyone 14 in your family who is clean. Every devoted thing in Israel is to go to 15 you. Everything that first opens the womb, in the case of every creature that they offer to the LORD, whether man or beast, shall be yours; only you must be sure to have the first-born of man redeemed, and the 16 first-born of unclean animals you must have redeemed. The redemption-price of the former (you must have them redeemed at a month old) shall be fixed by you at five shekels of silver in terms of the 17 sacred shekel, which is twenty gerahs. The firstling of a cow, however, or the firstling of a sheep, or that of a goat, you must not have redeemed, since they are sacred; you must dash their blood upon the altar, and burn their fat in sacrifice as a soothing odor to the LORD; but their flesh shall be yours, becoming yours like the waved breast and the right thigh. All the contributions from the sacred gifts which the Israelites contribute to the LORD, I give to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as your perpetual due, to be an inviolable covenant forever before the LORD for you and your family with you."

20 The LORD said to Aaron,

"You are to have no heritage in their land, nor own any property among them; I am to be your property and heritage among the Israelites. To the Levites, however, I give all the dues in Israel as their heritage, in return for the service that they perform in connection with the tent of meeting. The Israelites must never again come near the tent of meeting, to answer for their sin by death, but the Levites alone shall look after the tent of meeting, while the rest shall answer for their iniquity. It is to be a statute forever throughout your generations that they are to have no heritage among the Israelites; for the dues which the Israelites contribute to the LORD I give to the Levites as a heritage; that is why I have told them that they are not to have any heritage among the Israelites."

25 The LORD said to Moses,

26 "You must speak to the Levites, and say to them, 'When you take from the Israelites the dues that I have given you from them as your heritage, you must set apart some of it as a contribution to the LORD, a due from the dues. The contribution made to you is to be credited to you like the grain from the threshing-floor, or the produce of the winepress; in the same way you, too, must set apart some of all the dues that you receive from the Israelites as a contribution to the LORD, and give the LORD's contribution from it to Aaron, the priest. From all the gifts made to you, from the best of them, you must set apart the LORD's full contribution, the most sacred of them.' Also say to them, 'When you have contributed the best of them, the rest is to be credited to the Levites as in the case of the produce of the threshing-floor and that of the winepress; you may eat it anywhere, you and your households; for it is your reward in return for your services at the tent of meeting. You will not have to answer for any sin through it when you set apart the best of it; but you must not profane the sacred gifts of the Israelites, that you die not.'"

19 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

2 "This is the statute of the law which the LORD has commanded: 'Tell the Israelites to bring you a red cow, sound, in which there is

3 no defect, and upon which a yoke has never come; you must then give it to Eleazar, the priest, to be taken outside the camp, and slain in his 4 presence. Eleazar, the priest, shall take some of its blood with his finger, and sprinkle some of its blood toward the front of the tent of 5 meeting seven times. The cow is then to be burned in his sight; its 6 hide, flesh, and blood, as well as its offal, are to be burned, and the priest is to take cedar wood, hyssop, and scarlet string, and throw them 7 into the burning body of the cow. Then the priest is to wash his clothes, and bathe his body in water, after which he may re-enter the 8 camp, but the priest shall remain unclean until evening. He who burns it must also wash his clothes in water, and bathe his body in 9 water, and shall remain unclean until evening. A man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the cow, and deposit them in a clean place outside the camp, to do duty for the Israelite community as water for 10 impurity, to be used in the case of sin. He who gathers the ashes of the cow must wash his clothes, and shall remain unclean until evening. This is to be a perpetual statute for the Israelites and the pros-11 elytes who reside among them. Anyone who touches a dead body, that 12 is, any human body, shall remain unclean for seven days; on the third day and the seventh day he must cleanse himself from sin with it, and so become clean; if he does not cleanse himself from sin on the third day 13 and the seventh day, he will not become clean. Whoever touches a dead body, the corpse of a man who may have died, and does not cleanse himself from sin, since he has polluted the dwelling of the LORD, that person must be cut off from Israel; because the water used for impurity was not thrown over him, he remains unclean, his un-cleanness being still with him.

14 “This is to be the law when a man dies in a tent: everyone entering the tent and everyone in the tent shall be unclean for seven days;
15 and every open vessel which has no cover tied down on it shall be un-16 clean. Also, whoever in the open fields touches a person slain by the sword, or one who has died a natural death, or a human bone, or a 17 grave, shall be unclean for seven days. Then some of the ashes prepared for use in case of sin are to be taken, and fresh water is to be 18 added to them in a vessel; a man that is clean must then take hyssop, dip it into the water, and sprinkle it upon the tent, upon all the furniture, and upon the persons that were present, and him who touched the bone, or the person slain, or the person dead from natural causes, 19 or the grave; the clean person must sprinkle it upon the unclean person on the third day and the seventh day, thus cleansing him from sin on the seventh day; he must then wash his clothes, and bathe himself 20 in water, and at evening he shall be clean. But the man who becomes unclean and does not cleanse himself from sin, that person shall be cut off from the community, because he has polluted the sanctuary of the LORD; since the water for use in case of impurity was not thrown 21 over him, he remains unclean. This shall be a perpetual statute for them. He who sprinkles the water for use in case of impurity must wash his clothes, while he who touches the water for use in case of 22 impurity shall remain unclean until evening; whatever the unclean person touches shall become unclean, and the person who touches it shall remain unclean until evening.' ”

THE LATER YEARS OF THE DESERT JOURNEY, 20:1—27:23

20 In the first month the Israelites, the whole community of them, arrived at the desert of Zin, and the people established themselves at 2 Kadesh. Miriam died there, and was buried there. Since there was no water for the community, they gathered in a body against Moses 3 and Aaron; and the people found fault with Moses.

“Would that we had perished when our fellows perished at the 4 hands of the LORD!” they said. “Why have you brought the LORD’s 5 community into this desert, to die there, both we and our cattle? Why have you brought us up out of Egypt, to bring us to this wretched place, since it is no place for grain, or figs, or vines, or pomegranates, nor is there any water to drink?”

6 Then Moses and Aaron came away from the presence of the assembly to the doorway of the tent of meeting, and fell on their faces, 7 whereupon the glory of the LORD appeared to them, and the LORD said to Moses,

8 “Take the staff, and assemble the community, you and your brother Aaron; and then in their presence tell the rock to yield its waters; you shall produce water from the rock for them, and thus give the community and their cattle a drink.”

9 So Moses took the staff from its place before the LORD, as he had 10 commanded him. Then Moses and Aaron gathered the assembly in front of the rock, and he said to them,

“Listen, you rebels; is it from this rock that we have to produce water for you?”

11 And raising his hand, Moses struck the rock with his staff twice, whereupon water in abundance gushed out, and the community and their cattle drank.

- 12 But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron,
"Because you did not trust me by paying me due honor in the presence of the Israelites, that is why you shall not bring this community into the land which I have given them."
- 13 These are the waters of Meribah [finding fault], where the Israelites found fault with the LORD, but where he vindicated himself among them.
- 14 From Kadesh Moses sent messengers to the king of Edom:
"Thus says your brother Israel: 'You know all the hardships that 15 have befallen us, how our fathers went down to Egypt, how we remained a long time in Egypt, how badly the Egyptians treated us and 16 our fathers, and how, when we cried to the LORD, he heeded our cry, and sent an angel to bring us out of Egypt. So here we are at Kadesh, 17 a city on the edge of your territory. Pray let us pass through your land; we will not pass through field or vineyard, nor drink the water of the wells; we will go only by the royal road, turning neither to the right nor to the left, until we cross your territory.'"
- 18 But Edom said to him,
"You must not pass through my territory, lest I come out with the sword against you."
- 19 "We will go up only by the road," the Israelites said to him; "and if we drink any of your water, we and our live stock, we will pay for it; let us just walk through, a matter of no consequence."
- 20 But he said,
"You shall not pass through."
- So Edom came out against them with a large army and a strong 21 force. Thus Edom refused to grant Israel passage through his territory; so Israel turned aside from him.
- 22 The Israelites then set out from Kadesh, the whole community of them, and came to Mount Hor. At Mount Hor, near the frontier of 23 the land of Edom, the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, 24 "Aaron is to be gathered to his fathers; for he is not to enter the land which I have given the Israelites, because you rebelled against my 25 instructions in connection with the waters of Meribah. Take Aaron 26 and his son Eleazar, and bring them up Mount Hor; then strip Aaron of his robes, and put them on his son Eleazar, whereupon Aaron shall be gathered in death there."
- 27 Moses did as the LORD commanded; they ascended Mount Hor in 28 view of the whole community, and when Moses had stripped Aaron of his robes, and put them on his son Eleazar, Aaron died there on the top of the mountain. Then Moses and Eleazar descended the mountain, and when the whole community saw that Aaron was dead, the whole house of Israel wept for Aaron thirty days.

21 When the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb, heard that Israel was coming toward Atharim, he fought against Israel, and took some of them captive. Then Israel made a vow to the LORD, and said,

“If thou wilt but deliver this people into my power, I will annihilate their cities.”

3 The LORD acceded to Israel’s request, and delivered up the Canaanites; so they annihilated them and their cities. Hence the name of the place came to be called Hormah [annihilation].

4 From Mount Hor they set out in the direction of the Red Sea to make a circuit of the land of Edom, and the people grew impatient over the journey; so the people reproached God and Moses,

“Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to die in the desert? For there is neither food nor water, and we loathe this wretched food.”

6 Then the LORD sent stinging serpents among the people, and they bit the people, so that many of Israel died. So the people came to Moses, and said,

“We have sinned, in that we have reproached the LORD and you; pray to the LORD that he remove the serpents from us.”

8 So Moses prayed for the people, whereupon the LORD said to Moses,

“Make a serpent, and mount it on a pole, and then everyone that is bitten shall live if he looks at it.”

9 So Moses made a bronze serpent, and mounted it on a pole; accordingly, if a serpent bit anyone, he looked at the bronze serpent, and lived.

10 The Israelites set out, and then camped at Oboth. Setting out from Oboth, they camped at Ije-abarim, in the desert opposite Moab, to the east. Setting out from there, they camped in the valley of Zered. Setting out from there, they camped on the other side of the Arnon, which is in the desert extending from the frontier of the Amorites; for the Arnon constitutes the frontier of Moab between Moab and the Amorites. That is why it is said in the Book of the Wars of the LORD,

15 “ . . . Waheb in Suphah, and the Arnon valleys; the slope of the valleys, which extends to the site of Ar, and leans toward the frontier of Moab”

16 From there they proceeded to Beer [well], which is the well where the LORD said to Moses, “Collect the people that I may give them 17 water.” It was then that Israel sang this song:

“Spring up, O well! Sing to it;

18 The well which the princes dug,
Which the nobles of the people sunk,
With the scepters, with their staffs.”

19 From the desert they proceeded to Mattanah, from Mattanah to 20 Nahaliel, from Nahaliel to Bamoth, and from Bamoth to the valley which is in the country of Moab, at the headland of Pisgah, which overlooks Jeshimon.

21 Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon, king of the Amorites, saying, 22 “Let us pass through your land; we will not turn off into field or vineyard; we will not drink the water from the wells; we will go only by the royal road, until we pass through your territory.”

23 But Sihon would not let Israel pass through his territory; Sihon collected all his forces, and sallied forth against Israel in the desert.

24 Arriving at Jahaz, he fought against Israel, but Israel put him to the sword, and siezed his land from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok, that is, as far as the Ammonites; for Jazer was the frontier of the Am- 25 monites. Israel captured all the cities here, and Israel settled in all 26 the cities of the Amorites, in Heshbon and all its dependencies. For Heshbon was the capital of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab and had wrested from him 27 all his land as far as the Arnon. That is how the bards came to say,

“Come to Heshbon! Let it be built!

Let the capital of Sihon be established!

28 For fire issued from Heshbon,
Flame from Sihon’s city;
It consumed Ar of Moab,
It extended up to the heights of the Arnon.

29 Woe to you, O Moab!
You are undone, O people of Chemosh!
He has made his sons fugitives,
And his daughters captives,
To an Amorite king, Sihon;

30 So their children perished from Heshbon as far as Dibon,
And their wives as far as Nophah, which is near Medeba.”

³¹ So Israel settled in the land of the Amorites. After Moses had ³² sent the men to spy out Jazer, they captured its dependencies, and ³³ evicted the Amorites that were there. Then they moved on, and proceeded up the road to Bashan, whereupon Og, king of Bashan, together with all his people, sallied forth for battle against them at ³⁴ Edrei, but the LORD said to Moses,

“Do not be afraid of him; for I am delivering him, all his people, and his land into your power, so that you shall do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.”

³⁵ So they harried him and his sons and all his people until not a sur-²² vivor was left to him, and took possession of his land. The Israelites then moved on, and camped in the steppes of Moab on the other side of the Jordan at Jericho.

² Now Balak, the son of Zippor, saw all that Israel did to the Amor-³ ites, so that Moab stood in great fear of the people, because they were so many; Moab stood in dread of the Israelites.

⁴ “Now this horde will lick up all the pasture around us, as an ox licks up the grass of a field,” said Moab to the elders of Midian.

⁵ Balak, the son of Zippor, was king of Moab at that time; so he sent messengers to Balaam, the son of Beor, at Pethor, which is near the Euphrates, to the land of the Ammonites, to summon him, saying,

“Here is a people come out of Egypt! They cover the whole face
⁶ of the earth, and are settled opposite me. Now then, come and curse this people for me; for they are too strong for me; perhaps I may be able to defeat them and drive them out of the land; for I know that he whom you bless is blessed, and he whom you curse is cursed.”

⁷ So the elders of Moab and of Midian departed, they themselves being skilled in enchantment, and coming to Balaam, they gave Ballak’s message to him.

⁸ “Stay here tonight,” he said to them, “and I will bring you back such word as the LORD delivers to me.”

⁹ So the chieftains of Moab stayed with Balaam. Then God came to Balaam, and said,

“What business have these men with you?”

¹⁰ Balaam said to God,

“Balak, the son of Zippor, king of Moab, has sent word to me,

¹¹ ‘Here is the people that came out of Egypt covering the face of the earth! Come now, and curse them for me; perhaps I may be able to fight against them and drive them out.’”

¹² God said to Balaam,

"You must not go with them; you must not curse the people; for they are to be blessed."

13 So, when Balaam rose next morning, he said to Balak's chieftains, "Go home to your own land; for the LORD has refused to let me go with you."

14 So the chieftains of Moab started off, and coming to Balak, said, "Balaam refused to leave with us."

15 Then Balak again sent chieftains, more in number and more distinguished than the others, and coming to Balaam, they said to him,

16 "Thus says Balak, the son of Zippor: 'Pray let nothing hinder you from coming to me; for I will reward you handsomely, and do for you whatever you indicate to me; pray come then and curse this people for me.'"

18 But Balaam in reply said to Balak's ministers,

19 "Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not violate the instructions of the LORD my God to do any thing, either small or great. But do you also remain here tonight, and I will ascertain what else the LORD may have to say to me."

20 Then God came to Balaam in the night, and said to him,

"If it is to summon you that the men have come, be off and go with them; but it is only the message that I give you that you are to give."

21 So, when Balaam rose next morning, he harnessed his ass, and went off with the chieftains of Moab.

22 The anger of God blazed at his going, and the angel of the LORD stationed himself on the road to obstruct him, as he rode on his ass,

23 accompanied by his two slaves. When the ass saw the angel of the LORD standing on the road with his drawn sword in his hand, the ass turned out of the road, and went into the fields; but Balaam struck

24 the ass to turn her back into the road. Then the angel of the LORD took his stand on a lane between vineyards, with a wall on either side;

25 and when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she pressed herself against the wall, and crushed Balaam's foot against the wall, so that

26 he struck her again. Then the angel of the LORD passed on further, and took his stand at a narrow place where there was no room to turn

27 either to the right or to the left; and when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she lay down under Balaam, so that Balaam's anger blazed,

28 and he struck the ass with his staff. Then the LORD opened the mouth of the ass, and she said to Balaam,

"What have I done to you that you should have struck me three times now?"

29 "Because you have made a toy of me," said Balaam to the ass.
"Would that I had a sword in my hand; for then I would kill you."

30 The ass said to Balaam,

"Am I not your own ass, upon which you have ridden all your life long until this day? Have I ever been accustomed to deal thus with you?"

"No," he said.

31 Then the LORD opened Balaam's eyes, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing on the road, with his drawn sword in his hand, whereupon he bowed his head, and fell on his face.

32 "Why have you struck your ass these three times?" the angel of the LORD said to him. "See, it was I who came forth to obstruct you; for your errand is displeasing to me. The ass saw me, and swerved from me these three times; unless she had swerved from me, I would surely have slain you just now, but would have spared her."

34 "I have sinned," said Balaam to the angel of the LORD; "for I did not know that it was you who stationed yourself on the road against me. Now then, if it is displeasing to you, I will go back."

35 But the angel of the LORD said to Balaam,

"Go with the men; but it is only the message that I give you that you are to give."

So Balaam went along with Balak's chieftains.

36 When Balak heard that Balaam was coming, he went out to meet him at Ir-Moab, which is on the Arnon frontier, at the end of the frontier.

37 "Did I not send urgently for you?" Balak said to Balaam. "Why did you not come to me? Am I really unable to honor you?"

38 Whereupon Balaam said to Balak,

"See, I have come to you! Have I now any power of myself to say anything at all to you? It is only the message that God puts in my mouth that I can speak."

39 Then Balaam went along with Balak, and when they came to Kirjath-huzoth, Balak sacrificed oxen and sheep, and sent some to Balaam and the chieftains who were with him.

41 Next morning Balak took Balaam and brought him up to Bamoth-baal, from which he could see the nearest of the people.

23 Then Balaam said to Balak,

"Build seven altars for me here, and offer seven bullocks and seven rams for me here."

2 Balak did as Balaam had indicated, and offered a bullock and a ram

- 3 on each altar. Then Balaam said to Balak,
"Stay beside your burnt-offering, while I go aside; perhaps the LORD will come to meet me; whatever message he reveals to me I will tell you."
- 4 So he went off by himself. Then God came to meet Balaam, whereupon he said to him,
"I have arranged the seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on each altar."
- 5 Then the LORD put a message in Balaam's mouth.
"Return to Balak," he said, "and thus shall you speak."
- 6 So he returned to him, and found him standing beside his burnt-offering, together with all the chieftains of Moab. Then he gave utterance to his oracle, saying,
"From Aram has Balak brought me,
The king of Moab, from the mountains of the east:
'Come, curse Jacob for me,
Come, execrate Israel.'
- 8 How can I curse one whom God has not cursed?
How can I execrate one whom the LORD has not execrated?
- 9 For from the top of the rocks I see them,
From the hills I behold them—
Lo, a people living by themselves,
Not accounting themselves as one of the nations.
- 10 Who can count Jacob's masses,
Or number Israel's myriads?
Let me die the death of the righteous,
Let my end be like theirs!"
- 11 "How have you treated me?" Balak said to Balaam. "It was to curse my enemies that I took you, and here you have actually blessed them."
- 12 "Is it not what the LORD puts in my mouth that I must be careful to speak?" he answered.
- 13 Then Balak said to him,
"Pray come with me to another place, from which you may see them, although it will be only the nearest of them that you shall see, and not all of them; curse them for me from there."
- 14 So he took him to the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, where he built seven altars and offered up a bullock and a ram on each altar.
- 15 "Stay here beside your burnt-offering," he said to Balak, "while I go to meet him yonder."

- 16 Then the LORD came to meet Balaam, and putting a message in his mouth, said,
"Return to Balak, and thus shall you speak."
- 17 So he came back to him, and found him standing beside his burnt-offering, together with the chieftains of Moab.
"What has the LORD said," Balak said to him.
- 18 Whereupon he gave utterance to his oracle, saying,
"Come, Balak, and hear;
Give ear unto me, son of Zippor!
19 God is not a man that he should break his word,
Nor a human being that he should change his mind.
When he has said something, will he not do it?
When he has asserted something, will he not make it good?
20 See, it is a blessing that I have received;
He has given a blessing, so I cannot change it.
21 No misfortune is to be observed in Jacob,
No trouble is to be seen in Israel;
The LORD their God is with them,
The King is pleased with them.
22 God who brought them out of Egypt
Is like the horns of a wild-ox for them;
23 For there can be no enchantment against Jacob,
And no divination against Israel,
Since the times are declared to Jacob,
And what God shall do, to Israel.
24 Here is a people that rises like an old lion,
That rears itself like a lion;
It never lies down until it devours prey,
And drinks slain creatures' blood."
- 25 "Then," said Balak to Balaam, "neither curse nor bless them at all!"
- 26 But Balaam in reply said to Balak,
"Did I not say to you, 'Whatsoever the LORD declares, that I must do?'"
- 27 Then Balak said to Balaam,
"Come, let me take you to another place; perhaps God will see fit to have you curse them for me from there."
- 28 So Balak took Balaam to the top of Peor, which overlooks Jeshimon.

29 "Build seven altars for me here," said Balaam to Balak, "and offer seven bullocks and seven rams for me here."

30 Balak did as Balaam said; he offered up a bullock and a ram on 24 each altar. When Balaam saw that the LORD saw fit to bless Israel, he did not go in search of oracles as usual, but directed his gaze toward 2 the desert. Raising his eyes, Balaam saw Israel grouped into their several tribes, whereupon the spirit of God came upon him, and he gave utterance to his oracle, saying,

"The oracle of Balaam, the son of Beor,

The oracle of the man who had evil designs,

4 The oracle of him who hears the words of God,

Who has a vision of the Almighty,

Prostrate, but with eyes opened:

5 How fine your tents are, O Jacob,

Your dwellings, O Israel!

6 Like far-stretching valleys,

Like gardens beside a river,

Like aloes planted by the LORD,

Like cedars beside a stream.

7 Water shall flow from their buckets,

And their seed shall have abundant water;

Their king shall be taller than Agag,

And their kingdom shall be exalted.

8 God who brought them out of Egypt

Is like the horns of a wild-ox for them.

They shall devour nations that are their adversaries,

And break their bones in pieces,

And shatter their loins;

9 They crouch, they lurk as a lion,

As an old lion; who dare disturb them?

Blessed are they who bless you,

And cursed are they who curse you."

10 Then Balak's anger blazed against Balaam, and he struck his fists together.

"It was to curse my enemies that I summoned you," said Balak to Balaam; "and here you have actually blessed them three times now.

11 So then, hurry back to your home! I intended to honor you greatly, but, as it is, the LORD has held you back from honor."

12 But Balaam said to Balak,

"Was it not indeed to the messengers whom you sent to me that I

13 said, 'If Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not violate the instructions of the LORD to do either good or bad of my own accord?' It is only what the LORD tells me that I can say.
14 Now then, I leave at once for my own people; come, let me advise you what this people will do to your people in days to come."

15 Whereupon he gave utterance to his oracle, saying,
 "The oracle of Balaam, the son of Beor,
 The oracle of the man who had evil designs,
16 The oracle of him who hears the words of God,
 And is acquainted with the knowledge of the Most High,
 Who has a vision of the Almighty,
 Prostrate, but with eyes opened:
17 I see them, but not as they are now,
 I behold them, but not as they are at present;
 A star has come forth from Jacob,
 A comet has risen from Israel,
 He has shattered the temples of Moab,
 And the skulls of all the sons of Seth;
18 Edom has become a possession,
 Seir has become a possession;
 Israel has performed valiantly,
19 Jacob has conquered his enemies,
 And has exterminated any survivors from Ar."

20 Then he looked at Amalek, and gave utterance to his oracle, saying,

 "The first of the nations was Amalek,
 But in the end he shall perish forever."

21 Then he looked at the Kenites, and gave utterance to his oracle, saying,

 "Though your dwelling-place is enduring,
 And your nest set on a rock,
22 Nevertheless it shall be annihilated, O Kain;
 How long will Ashur make captives of you?"

23 Then he gave utterance to his oracle, saying,
 "Alas, who can live longer than God has appointed him?
24 Ships shall come from the coast of Kittim,
 They shall harass Ashur, they shall harass Eber,
 So that he in turn shall perish forever."

25 Then Balaam rose, and departing, returned home; while Balak also went his way.

25 When Israel settled down at Shittim, the people began to have illicit relations with the women of Moab, who invited the people to the sacrifices to their gods, so that the people ate them, and paid homage to their gods. Israel paired themselves off in honor of the Baal of Peor, so that the anger of the LORD blazed against Israel.

4 "Take all the ringleaders of the people," said the LORD to Moses, "and execute them for the LORD in broad daylight, so that the fierce anger of the LORD may be averted from Israel."

5 So Moses said to the tribes of Israel,

"Slay each of you those of your members who paired themselves off in honor of the Baal of Peor."

6 Now one of the Israelites came and introduced a Midianite woman into his family in plain sight of Moses and the whole assembly of the Israelites, while they were weeping at the doorway of the tent of meeting. When Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, saw it, he withdrew from the assembly, and taking a spear in his hand, followed the Israelite into the room, and stabbed both of them, the Israelite and the woman in her abdomen. Thus the plague was stopped in its attack on the Israelites, but those who died from the plague amounted to twenty-four thousand.

10 Then the LORD said to Moses,

11 "Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, has averted my wrath from the Israelites by showing the same jealousy among them as I would, and so I did not put an end to the Israelites in my jealousy. Announce therefore, 'I hereby give him my pledge of friendship, which shall serve him and his descendants as the pledge of a perpetual priesthood, because he was jealous for his God, and made atonement for the Israelites.' "

14 Now the name of the slain Israelite, who was killed with the Midianite woman, was Zimri, the son of Salu, the leader of a Simeonite clan, while the name of the Midianite woman who was killed was Cozbi, the daughter of Zur, who was the head of a clan division in Midian.

16 The LORD said to Moses,

17 "Open hostilities with the Midianites, and attack them; for they have been showing hostility toward you by their tricks which they have played against you in the affair of Peor and that of their countrywoman Cozbi, the daughter of a Midianite chieftain, who was killed on the day of the plague, in the affair of Peor."

¹⁹ After the plague the LORD said to Moses and Eleazar, the son of ²⁶ Aaron, the priest,

² "Take a census of the whole Israelite community from twenty years old and upward, clan by clan, all who can go out to war in Israel."

³ So Moses and Eleazar, the priest, had them pass in review on the ⁴ steppes of Moab, beside the Jordan at Jericho, those from twenty years old and upward, as the LORD had commanded Moses—that is,
⁵ the Israelites who came out of the land of Egypt: Reuben, Israel's first-born, and the descendants of Reuben, Hanoch of the Hanochite
⁶ family, the Palluite family of Pallu, the Hezronite family of Hezron, and the Carmite family of Carmi. These constituted the families of the Reubenites, whose numbers amounted to forty-three thousand seven hundred and thirty.

⁸ The son of Pallu, Eliab, and the sons of Eliab, Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram, the latter being the Dathan and Abiram, the select men of the community, who took their stand with Korah's company against ¹⁰ Moses and Aaron when they ranged themselves against the LORD, and whom the earth, opening its mouth, swallowed up, along with Korah, when his company died, when the fire consumed two hundred and ¹¹ fifty men, so that they became a warning. (The sons of Korah, however, did not die.)

¹² The descendants of Simeon, arranged by families: the Nemuelite family of Nemuel, the Jaminite family of Jamin, the Jachinite family of Jachin, the Zerahite family of Zerah, and the Shaulite family ¹³ of Shaul. These constituted the families of the Simeonites, twenty-two thousand two hundred.

¹⁵ The descendants of Gad, arranged by families: the Zephonite family of Zephon, the Haggite family of Haggi, the Shunite family
¹⁶ of Shuni, the Oznite family of Ozni, the Erite family of Eri, ¹⁷ the Arodite family of Arod, and the Arelite family of Areli. These constituted the families of the descendants of Gad that were numbered, forty thousand five hundred.

¹⁹ The sons of Judah, Er and Onan, but Er and Onan died in the ²⁰ land of Canaan, so the descendants of Judah as arranged by families were the Shelanite family of Shelah, the Perezite family of Perez, ²¹ and the Zerahite family of Zerah, while the descendants of Perez were the Hezronite family of Hezron and the Hamulite family of ²² Hamul. These constituted the families of Judah that were numbered, seventy-six thousand five hundred.

23 The descendants of Issachar, arranged by families: the Tolaite 24 family of Tola, the Punite family of Puvah, the Jashubite family of 25 Jashub, and the Shimronite family of Shimron. These constituted the families of Issachar that were numbered, sixty-four thousand three hundred.

26 The descendants of Zebulun, arranged by families: the Seredite family of Sered, the Elonite family of Elon, and the Jahleelite fam-27 ily of Jahleel. These constituted the families of the Zebulunites that were numbered, sixty thousand five hundred.

28 The descendants of Joseph, arranged by families: Manasseh and 29 Ephraim; the descendants of Manasseh: the Machirite family of Machir and the Gileadite family of Gilead, Machir having also been 30 the father of Gilead. The following are the descendants of Gilead:
31 the Iezerite family of Iezer, the Helekite family of Helek, the Asriel-
32 ite family of Asriel, the Shechemite family of Shechem, the Shemi-33 daite family of Shemida, and the Hopherite family of Hopher. Zelophehad, the son of Hopher, had no sons, but only daughters, the names of the daughters of Zelophehad being Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, 34 Milcah, and Tirzah. These constituted the families of Manasseh, whose numbers amounted to fifty-two thousand seven hundred.

35 The following are the descendants of Ephraim, arranged by families: the Shuthelahite family of Shuthelah, the Becherite family of 36 Becher, and the Tahanite family of Tahan, while the following are 37 the descendants of Shuthelah: the Eranite family of Eran. These constituted the families of the descendants of Ephraim that were numbered, thirty-two thousand five hundred. These constituted the descendants of Joseph as arranged by families.

38 The descendants of Benjamin, arranged by families: the Belaite family of Bela, the Ashbelite family of Ashbel, the Ahiramite family 39 of Ahiram, the Shuphamite family of Shephupham, and the Hupham-40 ite family of Hupham, while the descendants of Bela were Ard and Naaman, the Ardite family and the Naamite family of Naaman.
41 These constituted the descendants of Benjamin as arranged by families, whose numbers amounted to forty-five thousand six hundred.

42 The following are the descendants of Dan, arranged by families:
the Shuhamite family of Shuham. This constituted the families of 43 Dan as arranged by families. The total of the Shuhamite families that were numbered was sixty-four thousand four hundred.

44 The descendants of Asher, arranged by families: the Imnite family of Imnah, the Ishvite family of Ishvi, and the Beriite family of 45 Beriah, while to the descendants of Beriah belong the Heberite fam-

46 ily of Heber and the Malchielite family of Malchiel, and the name 47 of Asher's daughter was Serah. These constituted the families of the descendants of Asher that were numbered, fifty-three thousand four hundred.

48 The descendants of Naphtali, arranged by families: the Jahzeelite 49 family of Jahzeel, the Gunitite family of Guni, the Jezerite family of 50 Jezer, and the Shillemite family of Shillem. These constituted the families of Naphtali as arranged by families, whose numbers amounted to forty-five thousand four hundred.

51 These constituted the Israelites that were numbered, six hundred and one thousand seven hundred and thirty.

52 Then the LORD said to Moses,

53 "Among these the land is to be apportioned as a heritage, according 54 to their respective numbers; for the large group you must make the heritage large, and for the small group you must make the heritage small, to each being given a heritage proportionate to its numbers.
55 However, the land is to be divided by lot; they are to receive their heritage according to the numbers in their respective ancestral tribes; 56 as determined by lot their heritage is to be divided proportionately between the larger groups and the smaller groups."

57 The following are the Levites that were numbered, arranged by families: the Gershonite family of Gershon, the Kohathite family 58 of Kohath, and the Merarite family of Merari. The following are the families of Levi: the Libnite family, the Hebronite family, the Mahlite family, the Mushite family, and the Korathite family. Ko-59 hath was the father of Amram, while the name of Amram's wife was Jochebed, the daughter of Levi, who was born to Levi in Egypt; she 60 bore Aaron and Moses to Amram, as well as their sister Miriam. To 61 Aaron were born Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, but Nadab
62 and Abihu died when they offered improper fire before the LORD.
Those of them that were numbered amounted to twenty-three thousand, all the males from a month old and upward; for they were not numbered among the other Israelites, because no heritage was given them among the Israelites.

63 These constituted those that were numbered by Moses and Eleazar, the priest, who numbered the Israelites on the steppes of Moab, be-64 side the Jordan at Jericho, and among these there was no one belonging to those who had been numbered by Moses and Aaron, the priest, 65 who numbered the Israelites in the desert of Sinai; for the LORD had said of them that they would be sure to die in the desert, and so not one of them was left except Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua, the son of Nun.

27 Then came forward the daughters of Zelophehad, the son of Hopher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, members of the families of Manasseh, the son of Joseph; the following were the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. They took their stand before Moses, and Eleazar, the priest, and before the chieftains and the whole assembly, at the doorway of the tent of meeting, saying,

3 "Our father died in the desert, though he did not participate with those who gathered against the LORD in Korah's company, but he died 4 simply for his own sin, leaving no sons. Why should our father's name be lost to his family, just because he had no son? Give us property along with our father's kinsmen."

5 So Moses laid their case before the LORD, and the LORD said to Moses,

7 "The daughters of Zelophehad are right in their statements; you must certainly give them the possession of a heritage along with their 8 father's kinsmen, transferring their father's heritage to them. Further, you must say to the Israelites, 'If a man dies, leaving no son, you 9 must transfer his heritage to his daughter. If he has no daughter, you 10 must give his heritage to his brothers. If he has no brothers, you must 11 give his heritage to his father's brothers. If his father has no brothers, you must give his heritage to the nearest relative in his family, and he shall take it over.' This is to be a fixed ordinance for the Israelites, as the LORD has commanded Moses."

12 Then the LORD said to Moses,

"Ascend this mountain of the Abarim, and view the land which I 13 am giving the Israelites. When you have viewed it, you, too, shall be 14 gathered to your fathers, as your brother Aaron was, since you rebelled against my instructions when the community rebelled in the desert of Zin, in the matter of paying me due honor in their presence at the waters" (these being the waters of Meribath-Kadesh in the desert of Zin).

15 Then Moses said to the LORD,

16 "Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all mankind, appoint 17 someone over the community, who shall come and go before them, and lead them out and bring them in, so that the LORD's community may not be like sheep without a shepherd."

18 So the LORD said to Moses,

“Take Joshua, the son of Nun, a man of spirit, and lay your hand upon him; have him stand before Eleazar, the priest, and the whole community, and commission him in their sight. Invest him with some of your own majesty, that the whole Israelite community may heed him. He is to take his stand before Eleazar, the priest, who shall make enquiry before the LORD for him by decision of the Urim, and at whose bidding both he and all the Israelites with him, the whole community, are to come and go.”

22 Moses did as the LORD commanded him; he took Joshua and had him stand before Eleazar, the priest, and the whole community; 23 he laid his hands upon him, and commissioned him, as the LORD had indicated through Moses.

VARIOUS REGULATIONS, 28:1—36:13

28 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Command the Israelites, and say to them, ‘The offering of food made to me as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to me, you must be careful 3 to offer to me at the proper time for it.’ You must also say to them, ‘This is the sacrifice that you are to offer to the LORD: two perfect 4 yearling male lambs as a regular burnt-offering each day, offering the 5 one lamb in the morning, and the other lamb at twilight, together with a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a fourth of a hin 6 of oil from crushed olives, as a cereal-offering—a regular burnt-offering, such as was instituted at Mount Sinai, as a soothing odor, a sacrifice to the LORD. Its libation is to be a fourth of a hin for the one 8 lamb, a libation of liquor to the LORD, to be poured out in the sanctuary; the other lamb you must offer at twilight as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, offering it with the same cereal-offering and libation as in the morning.

9 “‘On the sabbath day, two perfect yearling male lambs and two-tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as a cereal-offering, 10 along with its libation, as the sabbath burnt-offering each sabbath, in addition to the regular burnt-offering and its libation.

11 “‘On your new moons you must offer as a burnt-offering to the LORD two young bullocks, one ram, and seven perfect yearling male 12 lambs, along with three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with 13 oil as a cereal-offering for each bullock, and two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil as a cereal-offering for the one ram, and a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil as a cereal-offering for each lamb

14 —a burnt-offering, a soothing odor, a sacrifice to the LORD. Their libations are to be half a hin of wine per bullock, a third of a hin for the ram, and a fourth of a hin per lamb. This is to be the burnt-offering of the new moon, each new moon throughout the new moons of 15 the year. Moreover, one he-goat is to be offered as a sin-offering to the LORD, in addition to the regular burnt-offering and its libation.

16 “On the fourteenth day of the first month is the passover to the LORD, and on the fifteenth day of this month there is to be a festival. For seven days unleavened cakes are to be eaten. On the first day there is to be a religious assembly; you must do no hard work at all, but offer as a sacrifice, a burnt-offering to the LORD, two young bullocks, one ram, and seven yearling male lambs, having them perfect; and for their cereal-offerings you must offer fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah per bullock and two tenths for the ram, offering a tenth for each of the seven lambs, together with one he-goat as a sin-offering, to make atonement for you. You are to offer these in addition to the morning burnt-offering which is the regular burnt-offering. Offerings like these you must make daily for the seven days, as food, as a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, to be made in addition to the regular burnt-offering and its libation; and on the seventh day you must hold a religious assembly, doing no hard work at all.

26 “On the day of first-fruits, when you offer a cereal-offering of new grain to the LORD in your festival of weeks, you must hold a religious assembly; you must do no hard work at all, but offer as a burnt-offering, as a soothing odor to the LORD, two young bullocks, one ram, and seven yearling male lambs, together with their cereal-offering, fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah per bullock, two tenths for the one ram, and a tenth for each of the seven lambs, as well as one he-goat to make atonement for you. In addition to the regular burnt-offering and its cereal-offering you are to offer these and their libations, having them perfect.

29 “On the first day of the seventh month you must hold a religious assembly, doing no hard work at all, but observing it as a day of festivity; you must offer as a burnt-offering, a soothing odor to the LORD, one young bullock, one ram, and seven perfect yearling male lambs, together with their cereal-offering, fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah per bullock, two tenths for the ram, and one tenth for each of the seven lambs, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering to make atonement for you—in addition to the burnt-offering of the new moon with its cereal-offering, and the regular burnt-offering with its cereal-offering, and the libations as prescribed for them, as a soothing odor, a sacrifice to the LORD.

7 “On the tenth day of this same seventh month, you must hold a religious assembly, and mortify yourselves; you must do no work at 8 all, but offer as a burnt-offering to the LORD, a soothing odor, one young bullock, one ram, and seven yearling male lambs, having them
9 perfect, together with their cereal-offering, fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah per bullock, two tenths for the one ram,
10 and a tenth for each of the seven lambs, as well as one he-goat as a
11 sin-offering, in addition to the atonement sin-offering and the regular burnt-offering and its cereal-offering, along with their libations.

12 “On the fifteenth day of the seventh month you must hold a religious assembly, doing no hard work at all, but holding a festival
13 for the LORD for seven days; you must offer as a burnt-offering, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, thirteen young bullocks, two 14 rams, and fourteen yearling male lambs that are perfect, together with their cereal-offering, fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah for each of the thirteen bullocks, two tenths for each of the 15 two rams, and a tenth for each of the fourteen lambs, as well as one 16 he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering, its cereal-offering and libation.

17 “On the second day, twelve young bullocks, two rams, and four-18 teen perfect yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in proportion to their 19 numbers, as prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering and its cereal-offering, along with their libations.

20 “On the third day, eleven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen per-
21 fect yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offering and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in proportion to their num-
22 bers, as prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering with its cereal-offering and libation.

23 “On the fourth day, ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen perfect
24 yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in proportion to their numbers, as 25 prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering, its cereal-offering and libation.

26 “On the fifth day, nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen perfect

27 yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in proportion to their numbers, as
28 prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering, its cereal-offering and libation.

29 “On the sixth day, eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen perfect
30 yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in accordance with their numbers,
31 as prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering, its cereal-offering and libation.

32 “On the seventh day, seven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen per-33 fect yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullocks, rams, and lambs, in accordance with their num-
34 bers, as prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering, its cereal-offering and libation.

35 “On the eighth day you must hold a sacred assembly; you must 36 do no hard work at all, but offer as a burnt-offering, a sacrifice, a soothing odor to the LORD, one bullock, one ram, and seven perfect
37 yearling male lambs, together with the cereal-offerings and libations for the bullock, ram, and lambs, in accordance with their numbers,
38 as prescribed, as well as one he-goat as a sin-offering, in addition to the regular burnt-offering with its cereal-offering and libation.

39 “These you must offer to the LORD at your fixed festivals, in addition to your votive offerings and voluntary offerings, as your burnt-offerings, cereal-offerings, libations, and thank-offerings.’ ”

40 So Moses instructed the Israelites just as the LORD commanded Moses.

30 Then Moses said to the heads of the Israelite tribes,

2 “This is the command that the LORD has given: ‘When a man makes a vow to the LORD, or on oath binds himself with a pledge, he
3 must not break his word; he must do just as he declared. Also, when a woman makes a vow to the LORD, or binds herself with a pledge,
4 while she is still in her youth in her father’s house, if her father should hear of her vow and her pledge with which she bound herself, and her father gives her his tacit approval, all her vows shall stand,
5 and every pledge with which she bound herself shall stand. But if her father does raise objections with her, when he hears of it, none of her vows or her pledges with which she bound herself shall stand, and the LORD will absolve her, because her father raised objections with her.
6 If she should ever marry while bound by her vows or some rash utter-7 ance with which she bound herself, and her husband should hear of it, but gives her his tacit approval when he does hear of it, her vows shall stand, and her pledges with which she bound herself shall stand. But if her husband raises objections with her when he hears of it, he shall nullify the vow by which she is bound and the rash utterance with which she bound herself, and the LORD will absolve her. In the case of the vow of a widow, however, or a divorced woman, everything with which she has bound herself shall be binding on her. If a woman has made a vow or bound herself with a pledge by an oath while in the house of her husband, and her husband should hear of it, but gives her his tacit approval, by not raising objections with her, all her vows shall stand, and every pledge with which she bound herself shall stand. But if her husband should make them null and void when he hears of them, nothing to which she gave utterance by way of vow or pledge shall stand; since her husband nullified them, the LORD will absolve her. Any vow and any oath as a pledge to self-mortification, her husband can validate or nullify. But if her husband from day to day does give her his tacit approval, he shall validate all her vows or pledges by which she is bound; he has validated them, because he gave her his tacit approval when he heard of them. But if he should attempt to nullify them after he has heard of them, he shall answer for her iniquity himself.' ”

These were the statutes with which the LORD charged Moses, in a situation involving a man and his wife, and a father and his daughter while she is still in her youth in her father's house.

Then the LORD said to Moses,

“Avenge the Israelites on the Midianites, after which you shall be gathered to your fathers.”

So Moses commanded the people,

“Choose the best of your number as an army to serve against Midian, to execute the LORD's vengeance on Midian, selecting for the army a thousand from each of all the tribes of Israel.”

So a thousand per tribe were furnished from the clans of Israel, twelve thousand picked troops. Then Moses sent them to the war, a thousand from each tribe, together with Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, as priest for the army, with the sacred objects and the alarm trumpets in his hand. They made war on Midian, as the LORD had commanded Moses, and slew every male; they slew the kings of Midian with the rest of them that were slain, namely, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, the five kings of Midian; and they also slew Balaam, the son

9 of Beor, with the sword. The Israelites took the women and children of Midian captive, while all their cattle, and flocks, and goods they 10 took as booty, and burned up all the cities where they lived and all 11 their encampments. Then they took all the spoil and all the booty of 12 man and beast, and brought the captives, booty, and spoil to Moses and Eleazar, the priest, and the Israelite community at the camp in the steppes of Moab beside the Jordan at Jericho.

13 When Moses with Eleazar, the priest, and all the leaders of the 14 community went outside the camp to meet them, Moses became angry with the officers of the army, the captains of divisions of a thousand and those of a hundred, who had come from service in the war.

15 "And so you have let all the women live?" Moses said to them.
16 "Why, it was these who led the Israelites through the counsel of Balaam to forsake the LORD in the affair of Peor, so that the plague
17 appeared among the LORD's community. Now then, slay every male among the little ones, and slay every woman who has had intercourse 18 with a man by lying with a male; but all the girls who have not had intercourse with a man by lying with a male, keep alive for your-
19 selves. Now as for yourselves, remain outside the camp for seven days; all of you who have slain anyone and all of you who have touched a slain person, purify yourselves on the third day and the 20 seventh, you and your captives. Also, every garment, every article made of skin, everything made of goat's hair, and every wooden article, you must purify."

21 Eleazar, the priest, said to the warriors who engaged in the battle,
"This is the statute of the law which the LORD has commanded 22 Moses: 'However, the gold, silver, bronze, iron, tin, and lead—
23 everything that can stand fire, you must put through fire, that it may become clean, being purified, however, by the water used for impurity; whatever cannot stand fire you must pass through the water.
24 You must wash your clothes on the seventh day, and so become clean, after which you may re-enter the camp.'"

25 Then the LORD said to Moses,

26 "Take a count of the booty that was captured, both of man and beast, you, Eleazar, the priest, and the heads of families in the com-
27 munity, and then divide the booty in two between the warriors who 28 went out to the battle and all the rest of the community, levying a tax for the LORD on the warriors who went out to the battle, one in five
29 hundred, of the men, the cattle, the asses, and the flocks, taking it from their half, and giving it to Eleazar, the priest, as a contribution

30 to the LORD. From the Israelites' half you must take one drawn from every fifty, of the men, the cattle, the asses, and the flocks, of all the live stock, and give them to the Levites who have charge of the dwelling of the LORD."

31 Moses and Eleazar, the priest, did as the LORD commanded Moses.
32 Now the plunder, what was left of the booty that the warriors took,
33 consisted of six hundred and seventy-five thousand sheep, seventy-two 34 thousand oxen, sixty-one thousand asses, and a total of thirty-two thousand
35 girls, who had never had intercourse with a man by lying with a 36 male. The half which constituted the share of those who went out to the battle amounted to three hundred and thirty-seven thousand 37 five hundred sheep, the LORD's tax from the sheep being six hundred 38 and seventy-five, thirty-six thousand oxen, from which the LORD's 39 tax was seventy-two, thirty thousand five hundred asses, from which 40 the LORD's tax was sixty-one, and sixteen thousand persons, from 41 whom the LORD's tax was thirty-two persons. Moses gave the tax to Eleazar, the priest, as a contribution to the LORD, as the LORD had 42 commanded Moses. From the Israelites' half which Moses divided 43 from that of the warriors (now the community's half was three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep, thirty-six thousand 44 sand oxen, thirty thousand five hundred asses, and sixteen thousand 45 persons), from the Israelites' half Moses took one drawn out of every 46 fifty, both of man and beast, and gave them to the Levites who had charge of the LORD's dwelling, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

48 Then the officers who were attached to the divisions of a thousand in the army, the captains of divisions of a thousand and those of a 49 hundred, came up to Moses, and said to Moses,

"Your servants have taken a census of the warriors who have been 50 in our charge, and not one of us is missing. So we have brought as an offering to the LORD what each had acquired, articles of gold, armlets, bracelets, signet-rings, ear-rings, and necklaces, to make atonement for ourselves before the LORD."

51 So Moses and Eleazar, the priest, took the gold from them, all 52 serviceable articles, and the total amount of the gold in the contribution which they made to the LORD from the captains of divisions of a thousand and those of a hundred was sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels. (The warriors, too, had taken booty, each 53 keeping it for himself.) When Moses and Eleazar, the priest, took the gold from the captains of divisions of a thousand and those of a hundred, they brought it to the tent of meeting as a memorial for the Israelites before the LORD.

32 Now the Reubenites and Gadites had much live stock, a very great amount. So, when they saw that the land of Jazer and the land of 2 Gilead was a district suitable for live stock, the Gadites and Reubenites came and said to Moses, and Eleazar, the priest, and the leaders of the community,

3 "Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo,
4 and Beon, the land which the LORD laid low before the community of Israel, is a land suitable for live stock, and your servants have live
5 stock." "If we have found favor with you," they said, "let this land be given to your servants as their property. Do not take us across the Jordan."

6 But Moses said to the Gadites and Reubenites,

"Ought your fellow-tribesmen to engage in war while you remain 7 here? Why should you discourage the Israelites from crossing to the 8 land which the LORD has given them? That is what your fathers did 9 when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to view the land. When they went up to the valley of Eshcol and saw the land, they discouraged the Israelites from entering the land which the LORD had given them,
10 so that the LORD's anger blazed that day, and he swore, saying, 'None of the men who came up from Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall ever see the land which I promised on oath to Abraham,
12 Isaac, and Jacob, because they have not corroborated me, with the exception of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, and Joshua,
13 the son of Nun, because they have corroborated the LORD.' So the LORD's anger blazed against Israel, and he made them wander up and down the desert for forty years, until all the generation that had 14 done evil in the sight of the LORD had perished. And here you have risen in your fathers' place, a brood of sinners, to augment still more 15 the fierce anger of the LORD against Israel! If you turn from following him, he will again abandon them in the desert, and you will bring harm to this whole people."

16 Then they came up to him, and said,

"We will but build folds here for our live stock and cities for our 17 dependants, while we ourselves will form the picked troops to go as special troops ahead of the Israelites until we have brought them to their home, and our dependants shall live in the fortified cities because 18 of the inhabitants of the land. We will not return to our own houses 19 until the Israelites have each come into possession of his heritage; for we will not seek any heritage with them across and beyond the Jordan, because our heritage has fallen to us on the other side of the Jordan, to the east."

20 So Moses said to them,

"If you will do this, if you will form the picked troops to go before 21 the LORD into battle, and all your picked troops cross the Jordan in 22 sight of the LORD until he drives his enemies out of his way, and the land is subdued before the LORD, after that you may return, quit of all obligation to the LORD and Israel, and this land shall be yours to 23 hold before the LORD. But if you will not do so, then you will have sinned against the LORD, and be assured that your sin will find you 24 out. Build cities for your dependants and folds for your sheep, and do what you have promised."

25 The Gadites and Reubenites said to Moses,

26 "Your servants will do as my lord commands. Our little ones, wives, flocks, and all our cattle shall remain there in the cities of 27 Gilead; but your servants, all picked troops, will cross over to battle in sight of the LORD, as my lord indicates."

28 So Moses gave instructions concerning them to Eleazar, the priest, to Joshua, the son of Nun, and to the heads of families in the Israelite tribes.

29 "If the Gadites and Reubenites, all picked troops," Moses said to them, "cross the Jordan with you for battle in sight of the LORD, and the land is subdued before you, then you must give them the land of 30 Gilead as their property; but if they do not cross over as picked troops with you, they shall receive property with you in the land of Canaan."

31 Whereupon the Gadites and Reubenites responded,

32 "We will do just what the LORD has told your servants. We will cross over as picked troops in sight of the LORD to the land of Canaan, but the property constituting our heritage shall fall to us on the other side of the Jordan."

33 So Moses gave them, the Gadites, Reubenites, and half-tribe of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og, king of Bashan, the land with its 34 cities in the various districts, the cities throughout the land. The 35 Gadites built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbe-
36 hah, Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, as fortified cities, as well as sheep-
37 folds. The Reubenites built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kirjathaim, Nebo, 38 Baal-meon (names to be changed), and Sibmah, and renamed the cities that they rebuilt.

39 The descendants of Machir, the son of Manasseh, went to Gilead, 40 and capturing it, evicted the Amorites who were in it. So Moses gave Gilead to Machir, the son of Manasseh, and he settled in it.
41 Then Jair, the son of Manasseh, went and captured their villages, 42 calling them Havvoth-jair [the villages of Jair], while Nobah went and captured Kenath and its dependencies, calling it Nobah after his own name.

33 The following are the stages by which the Israelites came from 2 Egypt in companies, under the direction of Moses and Aaron. Moses wrote down the starting-places as commanded by the LORD for them on their several stages, and the following are the stages as arranged by 3 their starting-places. In the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month, they set out from Rameses; on the day after the passover the Israelites went triumphantly out in sight of all the Egyptians, 4 while the Egyptians were burying all their first-born whom the LORD had struck down among them. The LORD had also executed judg-5 ment upon their gods. The Israelites set out from Rameses, and 6 camped at Succoth. Setting out from Succoth, they camped at Etham, 7 which is on the edge of the desert. Setting out from Etham, they turned back to Pi-hahiroth, which is east of Baal-zephon, and camped 8 to the east of Migdol. Setting out from Pi-hahiroth, they passed through the sea into the desert, and marching for three days in the 9 desert of Etham, they camped at Marah. Setting out from Marah, they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and 10 seventy palm trees, so they camped there. Setting out from Elim, 11 they camped beside the Red Sea. Setting out from the Red Sea, they 12 camped in the desert of Sin. Setting out from the desert of Sin, they 13 camped at Dophkah. Setting out from Dophkah, they camped at 14 Alush. Setting out from Alush, they camped at Rephidim, where 15 there was no water for the people to drink. Setting out from Rephi-
16 dim, they camped in the desert of Sinai. Setting out from the desert
17 of Sinai, they camped at Kibroth-hattaavah. Setting out from Kib-
18 roth-hattaavah, they camped at Hazeroth. Setting out from Hazer-19 oth, they camped at Rithmah. Setting out from Rithmah, they 20 camped at Rimmon-perez. Setting out from Rimmon-perez, they 21 camped at Libnah. Setting out from Libnah, they camped at Rissah.
22 Setting out from Rissah, they camped at Kehelah. Setting out from 23 Kehelah, they camped at Mount Shepher. Setting out from Mount 24 Shepher, they camped at Haradah. Setting out from Haradah, they 25 camped at Haradah. Setting out from Haradah, they 26 camped at Makheloth. Setting out from Makheloth, they camped at ²⁷ Tahath. Setting out from Tahath, they camped at Terah. Setting ²⁸ out from Terah, they camped at Mithkah. Setting out from Mith-²⁹ kah, they camped at Hashmonah. Setting out from Hashmonah, they ³⁰ camped at Moseroth. Setting out from Moseroth, they camped at ³¹ Bene-jaakan. Setting out from Bene-jaakan, they camped at Hor-³² haggidgad. Setting out from Hor-haggidgad, they camped at Jotbah.

³³ Setting out from Jotbah, they camped at Abronah. Setting out from ³⁴ Abronah, they camped at Ezion-geber. Setting out from Ezion-geber, ³⁵ they camped in the desert of Zin, that is, at Kadesh. Setting out from ³⁶ Kadesh, they camped at Mount Hor, on the edge of the land of ³⁷ Edom. (By command of the LORD, Aaron, the priest, ascended Mount Hor, and died there, in the fortieth year after the Israelites had come out of the land of Egypt, on the first day of the fifth month, ³⁸ Aaron being one hundred and twenty-three years old when he died ³⁹ on Mount Hor. The Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb ⁴⁰ in the land of Canaan, heard of the coming of the Israelites.) Set-⁴¹ ting out from Mount Hor, they camped at Zalmonah. Setting out ⁴² from Zalmonah, they camped at Punon. Setting out from Punon, ⁴³ they camped at Oboth. Setting out from Oboth, they camped at Ije-⁴⁴ abarim, on the frontier of Moab. Setting out from Ijim, they camped ⁴⁵ at Dibon-gad. Setting out from Dibon-gad, they camped at Almon-⁴⁶ diblathaim. Setting out from Almon-diblathaim, they camped at the ⁴⁷ Abarim mountains, east of Nebo.

⁴⁸ Setting out from the Abarim mountains, they camped on the steppes ⁴⁹ of Moab beside the Jordan at Jericho; their camp lay along the Jordan, from Beth-jeshimoth as far as Abel-shittim, on the steppes of Moab.

⁵⁰ On the steppes of Moab beside the Jordan at Jericho the LORD said to Moses,

⁵¹ "Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, 'When you cross the Jor-⁵² dan into the land of Canaan, you must drive all the inhabitants of the land out of your way, destroy all their figured stones, destroy all their ⁵³ molten images, and demolish all their high places. When you have conquered the land, you are to settle in it; for it is to you that I have ⁵⁴ given the land, to take possession of it. You are to apportion the land as a heritage among yourselves by lot, clan by clan, making the heritage large for the large group, and making the heritage small for the small group; to whomsoever the lot gives it, his shall it be; you are to ⁵⁵ make the apportionments among you by ancestral tribes. But if you do not drive the inhabitants of the land out of your way, those of them whom you allow to remain shall become pricks in your eyes and thorns in your sides, and they will harass you in the land in which you live, ⁵⁶ and so I will treat you as I intended to treat them.' ”

34 The LORD said to Moses,

2 “Command the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you enter the land of Canaan (this is the land that is to fall to you as a heritage, 3 the land of Canaan throughout its extent), your southern boundary shall run from the desert of Zin along the side of Edom; your southern frontier shall run from the lower end of the Salt Sea eastward; 4 your frontier shall then turn south of the slope of Akkrabbim, pass along to Zin, and end south of Kadesh-barnea; it shall proceed to 5 Hazar-addar, and continue to Azmon; at Azmon the frontier shall 6 turn to the River of Egypt, and end at the Sea. As a western frontier you shall have the Great Sea with its coastland; this shall be your 7 western frontier. The following shall be your northern frontier: 8 from the Great Sea you shall draw your line to Mount Hor; from Mount Hor you shall draw your line to the approach to Hamath, and 9 the frontier shall end at Zedad; the frontier shall then proceed to Ziphron, and end at Hazar-enan. This shall be your northern frontier. 10 For the eastern frontier you shall draw your line from Hazar-enan to Shepham; from Shepham the frontier shall run down to Riblah, east of Ain; the frontier shall then go down and strike the spur 11 at the sea of Chinnereth to the east; the frontier shall run down to the Jordan, and end at the Salt Sea. This is the land that you are to have, as bounded by its various frontiers.’ ”

13 So Moses instructed the Israelites as follows:

“This is the land which you are to apportion among yourselves by lot, which the LORD has commanded to be given to the nine and 14 half tribes; for the Reubenite tribe, family by family, the Gadite tribe, family by family, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have received 15 their heritages; the two and a half tribes have received their heritages on the other side of the Jordan at Jericho to the east, toward the dawn.”

16 Then the LORD said to Moses,

17 “The following are the names of the men who are to apportion the 18 land for you: Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun. You must also take one chieftain from each tribe to apportion the land, 19 and the following are the names of the men: from the tribe of 20 Judah, Caleb, the son of Jephunneh; from the Simeonite tribe, 21 Shemuel, the son of Ammihud; from the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad,

22 the son of Chislon; from the Danite tribe, a chieftain, Bukki, the son 23 of Jogli; from the Josephites: from the Manassite tribe, a chieftain, 24 Hanniel, the son of Ephod, and from the Ephraimite tribe, a chief-25 tain, Kemuel, the son of Shiptan; from the Zebulunite tribe, a 26 chieftain, Elizaphan, the son of Parnach; from the Issacharite tribe, 27 a chieftain, Paltiel, the son of Azzan; from the Asherite tribe, a 28 chieftain, Ahihud, the son of Shelomi; and from the Naphtalite tribe, a chieftain, Pedahel, the son of Ammihud.”

29 These were those whom the LORD commanded to apportion the heritages to the Israelites in the land of Canaan.

35 On the steppes of Moab beside the Jordan at Jericho the LORD said
 to Moses,

2 “Command the Israelites that they give the Levites cities to live in out of the heritages that they hold; you must also give the Levites the 3 pasture-lands adjacent to the cities. The cities shall serve them to live in, while the pasture-lands shall serve their cattle and live stock, all 4 their animals. The pasture-lands of the cities that you give the Levites are to extend for a radius of one thousand cubits outside the wall 5 of the city; you must make the measurements of the east side outside the city two thousand cubits, those of the south side two thousand cubits, those of the west side two thousand cubits, and those of the north side two thousand cubits, with the city lying in the center. This shall be 6 the pasture-lands of their cities. The cities that you give the Levites shall be the six cities of refuge to which you must let the homicide flee, and in addition to them you must designate forty-two other cit-7 ies. The total number of cities that you give the Levites is to be 8 forty-eight, together with their pasture-lands. In the case of the cities that you give them from the holdings of the Israelites, you shall take many from the large group, and few from the small group; each in proportion to the heritage that it receives shall give of its cities to the Levites.”

9 The LORD said to Moses,

10 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you cross the Jor-11 dan into the land of Canaan, you must select suitable cities to serve as cities of refuge for you, that the homicide who kills anyone inad-12 vertently may flee there. The cities shall serve you as places of refuge from the avenger, that the homicide may not die until he has taken 13 his stand before the community for trial. As for the cities that you 14 are to designate, you must have six cities of refuge, designating three cities on the other side of the Jordan and three cities in the land of 15 Canaan, to be cities of refuge. These six cities shall serve the Israelites, as well as the resident aliens and the serfs among them, as places of refuge, so that anyone who kills another inadvertently may flee there. But if he struck him with an iron tool, so that he died, he is a murderer; the murderer must be put to death. If he struck him with a stone in the hand, from which death may result, so that he died, he is a murderer; the murderer must be put to death. Or, if he struck him with a wooden object in the hand, from which death may result, so that he died, he is a murderer; the murderer must be put to death. The avenger of blood shall himself put the murderer to death, putting him to death when he encounters him. Also, if he gives him a push through hatred, or threw something at him intentionally, so that he died, or in enmity struck him with his hand, so that he died, the one who struck the blow must be put to death, since he is a murderer; the avenger of blood shall put the murderer to death when he encounters him. But if he pushed him inadvertently and not out of enmity, or threw anything at all at him unintentionally, or without seeing him let a stone of any kind fall on him from which death might result, so that he died, when he was not his enemy, nor sought his harm, then the community must decide between the one who struck the blow and the avenger of blood in accordance with these regulations; the community shall release the homicide from the power of the avenger of blood, and the community shall return him to the city of refuge to which he fled, to live there until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the sacred oil. But if the homicide ever goes outside the bounds of the city of refuge to which he fled, and the avenger of blood finds him outside the bounds of his city of refuge, the avenger of blood may slay the homicide without incurring any guilt, because he must remain in his city of refuge until the death of the high priest; but after the death of the high priest the homicide may return to his own land. These, then, are to serve as a fixed ordinance for you throughout your generations in all your places of abode.

30 "In every case of murder the murderer is to be put to death only on the evidence of witnesses, the evidence of one witness being insufficient to condemn anyone to death. You must not accept a ransom for the life of a murderer who is guilty of death, but he must be put to death. You must not accept a ransom in place of having the person flee to his city of refuge, that he may live in the land again before the death of the high priest. Thus you will not pollute the land in which you are living; for it is blood that pollutes a land, and no atonement can be made for the blood that has been shed in a land, except by the blood of him who shed it. So you must not defile the land in which you are living, in the midst of which I dwell; for I, the LORD, am dwelling in the midst of the Israelites.’ ”

36 Then the heads of families in the clan constituting the descendants of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, part of the Josephite clan, came up and addressed Moses and the chieftains, the heads of families among the Israelites.

2 “The LORD,” they said, “commanded my lord to give the land to the Israelites as a heritage by lot, and my lord was commanded by the LORD to give the heritage of our kinsman Zelophehad to his daughters. Now if they are married into one of the other Israelite tribes, their heritage will be lost to our ancestral heritage, and will be added to the heritage of the tribe which they join, and thus be lost to our allotted heritage; when the Israelites hold the jubilee, their heritage will be added to the heritage of the tribe which they join, and thus their heritage will be lost to the heritage of our ancestral tribe.”

5 So Moses at the bidding of the LORD gave this command:

6 “The Josephite tribe speaks the truth. This is the command that the LORD has given concerning the daughters of Zelophehad: ‘Let them be married to whom they like; only it must be into a family of their own ancestral tribe that they are married, so that no heritage of the Israelites may pass from one tribe to another; for the Israelites must keep each the heritage of his ancestral tribe. Any girl belonging to the Israelite tribes who comes into possession of a heritage must be married to someone in a family belonging to her ancestral tribe, so that the Israelites may hold each his own ancestral heritage. No heritage may pass from one tribe to another; for the Israelite tribes must keep each its own heritage.’ ”

10 The daughters of Zelophehad did just as the LORD commanded Moses; Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married to their kinsmen’s sons, being married into families of the descendants of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, so that their heritage remained in the tribe of their ancestral family.

13 These were the commands and ordinances which the LORD through Moses enjoined on the Israelites on the steppes of Moab beside the Jordan at Jericho.

THE BOOK OF DEUTERONOMY

THE FIRST DISCOURSE OF MOSES: HISTORICAL RETROSPECT,

1:1—4:43

1 The following are the events, concerning which Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan, in the wilderness, in the Arabah, opposite Suph, between Paran, and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth and Di-zahab, 2 which occurred on the eleven days of the journey from Horeb to the 3 highlands of Seir as far as Kadesh-barnea. It was in the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, that Moses spoke to the 4 Israelites, just what the LORD commanded him to say to them, after he had defeated Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, 5 and at Edrei Og, king of Bashan, who lived at Ashtaroth; beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses undertook to expound this code, saying,

6 "The LORD our God said to us at Horeb, 'You have remained long 7 enough at this mountain; move on, and set out on your journey to the highlands of the Amorites and all the surrounding regions in the Arabah, in the highlands and lowlands, in the steppes, and on the seashore, the land of the Canaanites; also to the Lebanon, as far as the 8 Great River, the river Euphrates. See, I have put the land at your mercy; go in and occupy the land which the LORD swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give to them and their descendants.'

9 "Then I said to you at that time, 'I am not able to bear the burden 10 of you by myself. The LORD your God has so multiplied you that you 11 are today like the stars of the heavens for number. (May the LORD, the God of your fathers, increase you a thousand-fold more than you 12 are, and bless you, as he promised you!) How can I bear by myself 13 the load and burden of you, and your discontent? Choose capable, intelligent and experienced men from each of your tribes, and I will make them your chieftains.'

14 "Replying to me, you said, 'The action that you suggest taking is excellent.'

15 "So I took your capable and experienced men, and I set them as chieftains over you, as captains of divisions of a thousand, of a hundred, of fifty, and of ten, and as judges for your various tribes.

16 “Then I charged your judges at that time, saying, ‘Hear the cases between your fellow-countrymen, and judge aright between a man and his fellow, or the resident alien in his employ. You must never show partiality in a case; you must hear high and low alike, standing in fear of no man; for the judgment is God’s. Any case that is too hard for you, you must bring to me, and I will hear it.’ I also enjoined on you at that time all the things that you were to do.

19 “Then we set out from Horeb, and traversed all that great and terrible desert, as you know, on the way to the highlands of the Amorites, as the LORD our God had commanded us. When we reached Kadesh-barnea, I said to you, ‘You have reached the highlands of the Amorites, which the LORD our God is about to give us. See, the LORD your God has put the land at your mercy; go up and occupy it, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, told you; do not be afraid or dismayed.’

22 “Then you all came up to me, and said, ‘Let us send men ahead of us to reconnoiter the land for us, and bring us back a report about the route that we should follow, and the cities that we shall reach.’

23 “The proposal was agreeable to me; so I chose twelve men from you, one from each tribe, and they set out on their journey up to the highlands. When they reached the valley of Eshcol, they spied it out, and taking some fruit of the land in their hands, they brought it down to us. Also they brought us back a report, and said, ‘The land is fine, which the LORD our God is about to give us.’

26 “However you would not go up, but scorned the injunction of the LORD your God, and grumbled in your tents, and said, ‘It is because the LORD hates us that he has brought us out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the power of the Amorites, that they may destroy us. Our fellow-countrymen have made us lose heart by saying, “Where we are going there is a people stronger and more numerous than we; there are cities large and fortified up to the sky; and besides we saw the Anakim [giants] there.”’

29 “Then I said to you, ‘Have no dread; do not be afraid of them. The LORD your God who is going ahead of you, will himself fight for you, just as you saw him do for you in Egypt, and in the desert, as you know, where the LORD your God carried you, as a man carries his son, all the way of your journey, until you reached this place.’ But in this matter you would not trust the LORD your God, who had gone ahead of you on the road, to look for a place for you to pitch your tents; in fire by night, so that you might make out the road that you should follow, and in a cloud by day.

34 "When the LORD heard your protestations, he was angry, and 35 swore, saying, 'Not one of these men shall ever see the fine land that 36 I swore to give to your fathers, except Caleb, the son of Jephunneh;
he shall see it, and to him will I give the land on which he has set foot, and to his children, because he corroborated the LORD.'

37 "With me, too, the LORD was angry on your account, saying, 38 'Neither shall you enter there. Joshua, the son of Nun, your attendant, shall enter there; encourage him; for he is to put Israel in 39 possession of it. Also your babes who you said would become a prey, and your children who as yet do not know good from evil, they shall 40 enter there; to them I will give it, and they shall occupy it. But do you turn back, and set out for the desert in the direction of the Red Sea.'

41 "In reply you said to me, 'We have sinned against the LORD; we will ourselves go up and fight, just as the LORD our God commanded us.'

"Then each of you buckled on his weapons of war, and made light 42 of going up into the highlands. But the LORD said to me, 'Say to them, "You must not go up, nor fight, lest you be routed before your 43 enemies; for I will not be with you."' So I spoke to you, but you would not listen; you scorned the injunction of the LORD, and in your 44 presumption you went up into the highlands. Then the Amorites, who lived in those highlands, came out against you, and chased you, as a swarm of bees would, and harried you all the way from Seir to 45 Hormah. Then you came back, and wept before the LORD, but the 46 LORD would not heed your cry, nor listen to you. So you remained at Kadesh the long time that you did.

2 "Then we turned back, and set out for the desert in the direction of the Red Sea, as the LORD had told me. For a long time we circled 3 round the highlands of Seir. Then the LORD said to me, 'You have circled round these highlands long enough; turn northward. Instruct 4 the people as follows: "You are about to cross the territory of your kinsfolk, the sons of Esau, who live in Seir. They will be afraid of 5 you, but you must be very careful not to provoke them; for I am not going to give you so much as a foot of their land, because I have 6 given Esau the possession of the highlands of Seir. You may purchase food from them to eat, and you may also buy water from them 7 to drink; for the LORD your God has blessed you in all your undertakings; he has looked after you in your journey in this great desert;

for forty years now the LORD your God has been with you; you have lacked nothing.”’

8 “So we moved on, away from our kinsfolk, the sons of Esau, who live in Seir, away from the Arabah route, from Elath and Ezion-geber. We turned, and moved on toward the wilderness of Moab.

9 Then the LORD said to me, ‘Do not take a hostile attitude toward Moab, nor provoke them to battle; for I am not going to give you possession of any of their land, because I have given the sons of Lot

10 possession of Ar. (The Emim used to live in it, a people as great, nu-

11 merous, and tall as the Anakim; like the Anakim they also were

12 known as Rephaim [titans], but the Moabites call them Emim; and in Seir the Horites used to live, but the sons of Esau conquered them, and exterminated them from their way, and settled in their place, as

13 Israel did with the land of their possession, which the LORD gave them.) Up then, and cross the brook Zered.’

14 “So we crossed the brook Zered. The time that we took to journey from Kadesh-barnea until we crossed the brook Zered was thirty-eight years; until all that generation, that is, the warriors, had perished

15 from the camp, as the LORD had sworn to them; since the hand of the LORD had been against them, to exterminate them from the camp, until they came to an end.

16 “After all the warriors had finally perished from the people,

17 the Lord said to me, ‘Today you are going to cross Ar, the territory

18 of Moab. When you approach the frontier of the Ammonites, do not take a hostile attitude toward them, nor provoke them; for I am not going to give you possession of any of the land of the Ammonites, 20 because I gave the sons of Lot possession of it. (It also was known as a land of Rephaim, since Rephaim used to live in it; but the Am-

21 monites call them Zamzummim, a people as great, numerous, and tall as the Anakim. The LORD exterminated them from their way,

22 so that they conquered them, and settled in their place, as he did for the sons of Esau, who live in Seir, when he exterminated the Horites from their way, so that they conquered them, and settled in

23 their place, as to this day. Likewise the Avvim, who lived in villages as far as Gaza, the Cretans, who came from Crete, exterminated, and 24 settled in their place.) Up, move on, and cross the river Arnon.

Here I am delivering Sihon, king of Heshbon, the Amorite, and his land into your power. Begin the conquest, and provoke him to battle.

25 This very day I will begin to put the dread and fear of you upon the peoples everywhere under the heavens, who, when they hear news of you, will tremble and quail before you.'

26 "So I sent messengers from the desert of Kedemoth to Sihon, king 27 of Heshbon, with a peaceful message, as follows: 'Let me pass through your land; I will go only by the road, turning neither to the 28 right nor to the left. You shall sell me food to eat, and sell me water 29 to drink; let me just walk through, as the sons of Esau, who live in Seir, did for me, and the Moabites, who live in Ar; until I cross the Jordan into the land which the LORD our God is going to give us.'

30 "But Sihon, king of Heshbon, would not let us pass through his land; for the LORD your God made him stubborn and defiant, that he might deliver him into your power, as is the case today.

31 "Then the LORD said to me, 'See, I have begun by putting Sihon and his land at your mercy; begin the conquest by occupying his land.'

32 "When Sihon came out to engage us in battle at Jahaz, with all his 33 people, the LORD our God put him at our mercy, so that we defeated 34 him and his sons and all his people. At the same time we captured all his cities, and in every city we massacred its men, women, and chil-35 dren, sparing none; only we took the cattle as our booty, along with 36 the spoil of the cities that we had captured. From Aroer which is on the edge of the Arnon valley, and the city that is in the valley, as far as Gilead, there was no city that was too strong for us; the LORD our 37 God put all at our mercy; only you did not go near the land of the Ammonites, all the land along the river Jabbok and the cities of the highlands, just as the LORD our God had commanded us.

3 "When we moved on, and proceeded up the road to Bashan, Og, king of Bashan, together with all his people, came out to engage us 2 in battle at Edrei, but the LORD said to me, 'Do not be afraid of him; for I am delivering him and all his people and his land into your power, so that you shall do to him as you did to Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.'

3 "So the LORD our God delivered Og also, king of Bashan, and all his people into our power, and we harried him until not a survivor was 4 left to him. At that same time we captured all his cities—there was not a city of them that we did not take—the sixty cities in all the 5 region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan—all of these being cities fortified with high walls, gates, and bars—besides very many 6 unwalled towns. We annihilated them, as we did in the case of Sihon, king of Heshbon, in every city massacring its men, women, and chil-7 dren; but all the cattle and the spoil of the cities we took as our booty.

8 "Thus we conquered at that time from the two Amorite kings beyond the Jordan the land from the river Arnon as far as Mount Hermon (the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, while the Amorites call it 9 Senir), all the cities of the table-land, the whole of Gilead, and the whole of Bashan as far as Salecah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom 10 of Og in Bashan. (For Og, king of Bashan, was the last survivor of the remnant of the Rephaim; his sarcophagus was an iron sarcophagus; is it not still at the Ammonite city of Rabbah? It was nine cubits long, and four cubits broad, according to the ordinary cubit.) 11 So we occupied this land at that time.

"The territory beginning at Aroer, which is on the edge of the Arnon valley, and half of the highlands of Gilead, with its cities, I 12 gave to the Reubenites and Gadites; while the rest of Gilead and the whole of Bashan, the kingdom of Og, I gave to the half-tribe of Manasseh, namely, the whole region of Argob. (That Bashan is all 13 called a land of Rephaim. It was Jair, a Manassite, who captured the whole region of Argob, as far as the frontier of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and called it, namely, Bashan, after his own name, 14 Havvoth-jair, as it is to this day.) To Machir, then, I gave Gilead, 15 and to the Reubenites and Gadites I gave the territory from Gilead as far as the river Arnon, the stream itself and its banks, and as far as 16 the Jabbok river, the frontier of the Ammonites; along with the Arabah and the Jordan with its banks, from Chinnereth as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, at the foot of the slopes of Pisgah eastward. 17 18 "At that time I charged them, saying, 'Since the LORD your God has given you this land to occupy, all of you who are stout-hearted shall cross over as picked troops ahead of your fellow-Israelites; but 19 your wives, your little ones, and your cattle (I know that you have 20 many cattle) shall remain in the cities which I have given you, until the LORD provides your kinsmen with a home, as he has you, and they also occupy the land which the LORD your God is giving them beyond the Jordan. Then each of you may return to his own property, which I have given you.'

21 "I charged Joshua also at that time, saying, 'You have seen for yourself all that the LORD your God has done to these two kings; so shall the LORD do to all the kingdoms into which you are about to 22 cross. Do not be afraid of them; for it is the LORD your God who fights for you.'

- ²³ “I also entreated the LORD at that time, saying, ‘O Lord God, thou hast only begun to show thy servant thy greatness and thy mighty power; for what god is there in the heavens or on the earth who can ²⁴ do such deeds and mighty acts as thine. Pray let me go over, and see the fine land which is beyond the Jordan, those magnificent highlands, and the Lebanon.’
- ²⁵ “But the LORD was angry with me on your account, and would not listen to me. The LORD said to me, ‘Enough, say not another ²⁶ word to me about this matter. Climb to the top of Pisgah, and look out, west, north, south, and east; look well; for you shall not cross ²⁷ this Jordan. But commission Joshua, encourage and strengthen him; for he shall lead this people across, and he shall put them in possession of the land on which you look.’
- ²⁸ “So we remained in the valley opposite Beth-peor.
- ²⁹ 4 “And now, O Israel, heed the statutes and ordinances which I am teaching you to observe, that you may live, and go in and occupy the ² land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you. You must not add anything to the charge that I am enjoining on you, nor take anything from it, that you may keep the commands of the LORD
³ your God which I am giving you. You saw with your own eyes what the LORD did in the matter of the Baal of Peor; for everyone that followed the Baal of Peor, the LORD your God destroyed from your ⁴ midst; whereas you who held fast to the LORD your God are all
⁵ alive today. Here I am teaching you, as the LORD my God commanded me, to observe statutes and ordinances in the land which you
⁶ are invading for conquest. Be careful, then, that you observe them; for that will demonstrate your wisdom and intelligence to the nations, who, when they hear of all these statutes, will say, ‘This great nation
⁷ is indeed a wise and intelligent people!’ For what great nation is there that has a god so near it as is the LORD our God whenever we call
⁸ on him? And what great nation is there that has statutes and ordi-
⁹ nances so just as all this code that I am putting before you today? Only take care, and watch yourselves well that you do not forget the things that you saw with your own eyes, and that they do not slip from your mind as long as you live; but that you impart them to your children
¹⁰ and your children’s children—the day that you stood before the LORD your God at Horeb, when the LORD said to me, ‘Gather the people to me, that I may let them hear my words, so that they may learn to stand in awe of me all the days of their life on earth, and so instruct their

11 children.' You came near, and stood at the foot of the mountain, while the mountain flamed with fire up to the very heart of the heavens, shrouded in darkness, cloud, and gloom. The LORD spoke to you out of the fire, when you heard the sound of words, but saw no form, there being only a voice. He made his covenant known to you, which he commanded you to observe, namely, the decalogue, and wrote it on two stone tablets. As for myself, the LORD commanded me at that time to teach you to observe statutes and ordinances in the land into which you are crossing for conquest. So watch yourselves well—since you saw no form at all when the LORD spoke to you at Horeb out of the fire—that you do not act perniciously by carving an image for yourselves in the shape of any statue, like male or female, like any animal that is on the earth, or any bird that flies in the air, or any reptile on the ground, or any fish that is in the waters under the earth; beware, when you look up into the heavens and see all the host of the heavens, the sun, moon, and stars, that you do not let yourselves be allured into paying homage to them, and serving them, which things the LORD your God has allotted to all the peoples everywhere under the heavens; whereas the LORD took you and brought you out of the iron furnace, out of Egypt, to become a people of his very own, as is the case today. Although the LORD was angry with me on your account, and swore that I was not to cross the Jordan, nor enter the fine land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, but that I was to die in this land instead of crossing the Jordan, yet you are going to go over and occupy that fine land. Take care that you do not forget the covenant of the LORD your God which he made with you and carve an image for yourselves in the shape of anything about which the LORD your God gave you instructions; for the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

25 "After you have children and grandchildren, and grow old in the land, if you act perniciously by carving an image in the shape of anything at all, and do what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, to his annoyance, I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that you shall soon perish completely from the land which you are about to cross the Jordan to occupy. You shall not live long upon it, but shall be completely wiped out. The LORD will scatter you among the peoples, and you will be left a paltry few among the nations where the LORD drives you. There you will have to serve man-made gods of wood and stone, that neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. Nevertheless you shall seek the LORD your God there, and you shall find him,

30 if you search for him with all your mind and heart. When you are in distress, and all these things happen to you, in the end you shall come
31 back to the LORD your God, and heed his injunctions; for the LORD your God is a merciful God; he will not fail you, nor destroy you,
32 nor forget the covenant which he swore to your fathers. For inquire now of the early times which preceded you, since the day that God created man on the earth, and from one end of the heavens to the other, if anything as great as this has ever happened, or if anything 33 like it has ever been heard of: did any people ever hear the voice of 34 a god speaking out of fire, as you have, and still live? Or has any god ventured to go and take a nation for himself out of another nation by tests, signs, and portents, by war, by a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and by great terrors, just as you saw the LORD your God do for 35 you in Egypt? You have learned to know that the LORD is God, there
36 being no other but he. Out of the heavens he let you hear his voice, to discipline you, and on earth he let you see his mighty fire, when you
37 heard his words out of the fire. Because he loved your fathers, and chose their descendants, and in his own person brought you out of 38 Egypt by his great power, by driving out of your way nations greater and stronger than you, that he might bring you into a position to give 39 you their land for a heritage, as it is today; therefore be assured this day, and keep in mind that the LORD is God in the heavens above and 40 on the earth below, there being no other. You must keep his statutes and commands, which I am giving you today, that you may prosper, and your children after you, and that you may live long upon the land which the LORD your God is giving you for life."

41 Then Moses proceeded to set apart three cities beyond the Jordan
42 to the east, that a homicide who had killed his fellow unintentionally, without having any standing feud with him, might flee there, and by 43 fleeing to one of the following cities might save his life: Bezer in the wilderness on the table-land, for the Reubenites; Ramoth in Gilead, for the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan, for the Manassites.

THE SECOND DISCOURSE OF MOSES: THE CODE OF LAWS,

4:44—26:19

44 This is the code which Moses put before the Israelites; these are the 45 decrees, statutes, and ordinances which Moses communicated to the 46 Israelites after they had come out of Egypt, beyond the Jordan, in the valley opposite Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, whom Moses and the Israelites defeated

147 when they came out of Egypt, occupying his land and also the land of Og, king of Bashan, the two Amorite kings who lived beyond the 148 Jordan to the east, from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Arnon 149 valley, as far as Mount Sion (that is, Hermon), along with all the Arabah beyond the Jordan to the east as far as the Sea of the Arabah, at the foot of the slopes of Pisgah.

15 Moses summoned all Israel, and said to them,

“Hear, O Israel, the statutes and ordinances which I am delivering in your hearing today, that you may learn them, and be careful to 2 observe them. The LORD our God made a covenant with us at Horeb;
3 it was not with our forefathers that the LORD made this covenant, 4 but with ourselves, with those of us who are all here alive today. The 5 LORD talked with you face to face out of the fire at the mountain, myself standing between the LORD and you at the time, to communicate to you the words of the LORD; for you stood in fear of the fire, and did not ascend the mountain. He said,

6 “I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of 7 Egypt, out of a state of slavery. You must have no other gods beside me.

8 “You must not carve an image for yourself in the shape of anything that is in the heavens above, or that is on the earth below, or that 9 is in the waters under the earth; you must not pay homage to them, nor serve them; for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God, punishing children for the sins of their fathers, to the third or fourth gen-10 eration of those who hate me, but showing grace to the thousandth generation of those who love me and keep my commands.

11 “You must not invoke the name of the LORD your God to evil intent; for the LORD will not excuse anyone who invokes his name to evil intent.

12 “Be careful to keep the sabbath day holy, as the LORD your God
13 commanded you. Six days you are to labor and do all your work, 14 but on the seventh day, a sabbath to the LORD your God, you must not do any work at all, neither you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your male or female slave, nor your ox, nor your ass, nor any of your cattle, nor the alien in your employ residing in your community, 15 that your male and female slaves may rest as well as you. You must remember that you were once a slave yourself in the land of Egypt, and that the LORD your God brought you out from there by a strong hand and an outstretched arm; that is why the LORD your God has commanded you to observe the sabbath day.

- 16 "Honor your father and mother, as the LORD your God has commanded you, that you may live long and prosper in the land that the LORD your God is giving you.
- 17 "You must not commit murder.
- 18 "You must not commit adultery.
- 19 "You must not steal.
- 20 "You must not bring a false charge against your fellow.
- 21 "You must not lust after your neighbor's wife, nor covet your neighbor's home, his fields, his male or female slave, his ox, his ass, or anything at all that is your neighbor's."
- 22 "These words, and nothing more, the LORD spoke to all your assemblage at the mountain with a loud voice out of the midst of the fire, cloud, and gloom; and he wrote them on two stone tablets, which he
- 23 gave to me. When you heard the voice out of the darkness, the mountain being aflame with fire, you came up to me, that is, all the heads of
- 24 your tribes and your elders, and said, 'Seeing that the LORD our God has let us see his glory and his greatness, and that it is his voice which we have heard out of the fire, we know now that God can speak with
- 25 man, and he still live. Why then should we die? For this great fire is going to consume us! If we continue to hear the voice of the LORD
- 26 our God any longer, we shall die! For what mortal at all is there that has ever heard the voice of the living God speak out of fire, as we have,
- 27 and has still lived? Do you go near, and hear all that the LORD our God has to say, and then tell us whatever the LORD our God tells you: when we hear it, we will observe it.'
- 28 "When the LORD heard your protestations when you spoke to me, the LORD said to me, 'I have heard the protestations which this people
- 29 have made to you. They have spoken quite properly. O that their present attitude might lead them always to stand in awe of me and keep all my commands, that it might go well with them and with
- 30 their children for all time! Go and say to them, "Go home to your
- 31 tents"; but do you stand here beside me, that I may tell you the whole charge, the statutes and ordinances, that you are to teach them to observe in the land which I am about to give them to occupy.'
- 32 "Be careful, then, to do as the LORD your God has commanded
- 33 you, swerving neither to the right nor to the left. You must walk wholly in the way that the LORD your God has appointed you, that you may live, and prosper, and live long in the land that you are to occupy.

6 "Now this is the charge, the statutes and ordinances, which the LORD your God commanded that you be taught to observe in the land into which you are crossing for conquest, a land abounding in milk and honey, that you, with your son and your grandson, may stand in awe of the LORD your God all your life by observing all his statutes and commands which I am giving you, and that you may live long. 3 Therefore heed them, O Israel, and be careful to observe them, that you may prosper, and multiply greatly, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, promised you.

4 "Listen, O Israel; the LORD is our God, the LORD alone; so you must love the LORD your God with all your mind and all your heart and all your strength. These instructions that I am giving you today are to be fixed in your mind; you must impress them on your children, and talk about them when you are sitting at home, and when you go off on a journey, when you lie down and when you get up; you must bind them on your hand as a sign, and they must be worn on your forehead as a mark; you must inscribe them on the door-posts of your house and on your gates.

10 "When the LORD your God brings you into the land which he promised on oath to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give you great and splendid cities which you did not build, houses full of all kinds of goods with which you did not fill them, cisterns already hewn out, which you did not hew out, and vineyards and olivegroves which you did not plant, but from which you may eat your fill, then take care not to forget the LORD who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery. You must stand in awe of the LORD your God; him you must serve; and by his name you must swear. You must not run after alien gods, any of the gods of the nations that surround you, lest the anger of the LORD your God blaze against you, and he wipe you off the face of the earth; for the LORD your God who is in your midst is a jealous God.

16 "You must not put the LORD your God to the test, as you did at Massah. You must be sure to keep the commands of the LORD your God, as well as his decrees and statutes which he commanded you. 18 You must do what is right and good in the sight of the LORD, that you may prosper, and go in and occupy the fine land concerning which the LORD swore to your fathers that he would drive all your enemies out of your way, as the LORD promised.

20 "When your son asks you in time to come, 'What is the significance of the decrees, statutes, and ordinances which the LORD our God has

21 commanded you?’ you must say to your son, ‘When we were Pharaoh’s slaves in Egypt, the LORD brought us out of Egypt by a strong 22 hand. The LORD displayed before our eyes great and ominous signs
23 and portents against Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his court, but he brought us out from there that he might bring us into a position to give 24 us the land which he promised on oath to our fathers. So the LORD commanded us to observe all these statutes, by standing in awe of the LORD our God for our good always, that he might keep us alive, as 25 at this day. Hence it will stand to our credit with the LORD our God to be careful to observe all this charge, as he commanded us.’

7 “When the LORD your God brings you into the land which you are invading for conquest, and clears out of your way great nations like the Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites, seven nations greater and stronger than yourselves; when the LORD your God puts them at your mercy, and you defeat them, you must be sure to exterminate them, without making a
3 covenant with them, or giving them any quarter; you must not intermarry with them, neither giving your daughters in marriage to
4 their sons, nor receiving their daughters for your sons; for they would turn your sons from following me to serving alien gods, and then the anger of the LORD would blaze against you, and he would quickly
5 destroy you. But this is how you are to treat them: you must tear down their altars, smash their sacred pillars, cut down their sacred
6 poles, and burn up their carved images. For you are a people consecrated to the LORD your God, the LORD your God having chosen you out of all the peoples that are on the face of the earth to be
7 people of his very own. It was not because you were the greatest of all peoples that the LORD set his heart on you and chose you—for you
8 were the smallest of all peoples—but it was because the LORD loved you, and would keep the oath that he swore to your fathers, that the LORD brought you out by a strong hand, and rescued you from a state
9 of slavery, from the power of Pharaoh, king of Egypt. Be assured, then, that the LORD your God is God, a trustworthy God, who to a thousand generations keeps loving faith with those that love him and 10 keep his commands, but one who immediately requites anyone who hates him, by destroying him, never delaying with anyone who hates
11 him, but requiting him immediately. So be careful to observe the charge, the statutes and ordinances, that I am enjoining on you today.
12 “It will be because you heed these ordinances, and are careful to observe them, that the LORD your God will keep loving faith with

13 you, as he swore to your fathers; he will love you, bless you, and multiply you; he will bless the offspring of your body and the produce of your soil, your grain and wine and oil, the issue of your cattle, and the progeny of your flock, in the land which he swore to your fathers
14 to give you. Blessed shall you be above all peoples, not a male or female 15 male being barren among you or your cattle. The LORD will also free you from all sickness, and none of the malignant diseases of Egypt, with which you are acquainted, will he inflict on you; but he 16 will inflict them on all who hate you. You must annihilate all the peoples whom the LORD your God surrenders to you, without giving them any quarter, so that you may not serve their gods; for that would be dangerous for you.

17 “Though you say to yourselves, ‘These nations are greater than I;
18 how can I conquer them?’ you must not be afraid of them; remembering rather what the LORD your God did to Pharaoh and all Egypt;
19 the great tests which you saw with your own eyes, the signs and portents, the strong hand and outstretched arm, by means of which the LORD your God brought you out. So shall the LORD your God do to all
20 the peoples of whom you stand in fear. In fact, the LORD your God will send leprosy among them, until any that are left or hidden perish
21 from your way. You must not stand in terror of them; for the LORD
22 your God is in your midst, a great and awful God. The LORD your God, however, will only clear these nations out of your way little by little; you are not to be allowed to put an end to them all at once, lest 23 the wild beasts grow too numerous for you. But the LORD your God will put them at your mercy, and will throw them into great confusion, 24 until they are destroyed. He will deliver their kings into your power, so that you shall obliterate their very name from under the heavens, not one being able to hold his own against you, until you have
25 destroyed them. The carved images of their gods you must burn up; you must not covet the silver or the gold on them, nor appropriate it for yourselves, lest you be ensnared by it; for it is abominable to the 26 LORD your God, and you must not bring anything abominable into your house, and so become a doomed thing like it; you must rather loathe it and abhor it; for it is a doomed thing.

8 “All the charge that I am enjoining on you today, you must be careful to observe, that you may live and multiply, and go in and occupy
2 the land which the LORD promised on oath to your fathers. You must remember all the experiences through which the LORD your God has led you for the past forty years in the desert, that he might bring afflictions on you to test you, to find out whether it was your intention 3 to keep his commands or not. So he brought afflictions on you, and let you hunger, and then fed you with manna, with which you were not acquainted, nor were your fathers, that he might make you understand that it is not on bread alone that man lives, but on everything 4 produced by decree of the LORD. Your clothing did not become too worn for you to wear, nor did your feet swell during the past forty 5 years. Be assured, then, in your mind that the LORD your God has 6 been disciplining you as a man disciplines his son. You must keep the commands of the LORD your God by walking in his ways and by 7 standing in awe of him; for the LORD your God is bringing you into a fine land, a land with streams of water, with springs and pools, well-8 ing up in the valleys and on the hills; a land of wheat and barley, of vines, fig-trees, and pomegranates; a land of oil-producing olives and 9 honey; a land where you may eat food without stint, lacking nothing in it; a land whose stones contain iron, and out of whose hills you can 10 dig copper. When you have eaten your fill, you must thank the LORD 11 your God for the fine land that he has given you. Take care not to forget the LORD your God by not keeping his commands, ordinances, and 12 statutes, which I am commanding you today; and when you have 13 eaten your fill, and have built fine houses to live in, and your herds and flocks multiply, and your silver and gold increase, and all that you 14 have increases, not to become haughty, and forget the LORD your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery, 15 who led you through the great and terrible desert with its venomous serpents and scorpions and thirsty waterless ground, who brought wa-16 ter for you out of the flinty rock, who fed you in the desert with manna, with which your fathers were not acquainted, that he might bring afflictions on you and test you, in order to make you prosper in 17 the end; and then say to yourselves, 'My own power and the strength 18 of my own hand have gained this wealth for me.' You must remember that it is the LORD your God who is giving you power to gain wealth, that he may carry out his covenant which he swore to your fathers, as is the case today.

19 "If you ever forget the LORD your God, and run after alien gods, and serve them and pay homage to them, I warn you today that you 20 shall most certainly perish. Like the nations that the LORD is to wipe out of your way, so shall you perish, since you would not listen to the injunctions of the LORD your God.

9 "Listen, O Israel; today you are about to cross the Jordan, to undertake the conquest of nations greater and stronger than yourselves, cities
2 great and fortified up to the heavens, a people great and tall, the Anakim people, whom you yourselves know, and of whom you have heard
3 it said, 'Who can hold his own against the Anakim?' Be assured, then, today that the LORD your God will be the one to go over ahead of you as a consuming fire; it is he who will destroy them and subdue them before you, so that you shall conquer them and kill them off
4 easily, as the LORD promised you. After the LORD your God has driven them out of your way, never say to yourselves, 'It is because of my goodness that the LORD brought me into possession of this land'; whereas it is because of the wickedness of these nations that the LORD
5 is about to drive them out of your way. It is not because of your goodness or integrity of mind that you are coming into possession of their land, but it is because of the wickedness of these nations that the LORD your God is about to drive them out of your way, and in order to carry out the oath that the LORD swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and
6 Jacob. Be assured, then, that it is not because of your goodness that the LORD your God is giving you this fine land to occupy; for you are a stiff-necked people.

7 "Remember, never forget, how you provoked the LORD your God to anger in the desert; from the time that you left the land of Egypt until you reached this place you have been in a state of contention with
8 the LORD. Even at Horeb you provoked the LORD to anger; indeed
9 the LORD was angry enough with you to destroy you. When I climbed the mountain to receive the stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant which the LORD had made with you, I remained on the mountain forty 10 days and nights, without eating food or drinking water. Then the LORD gave me the two stone tablets, inscribed by the finger of God, and on them a copy of all the words that the LORD had spoken to you
11 at the mountain out of the fire on the day of the assemblage. At the end of forty days and nights, the LORD gave me the two stone tablets,
12 the tablets of the covenant, and the LORD said to me, 'Rise, hurry down from here; for your people whom you brought out of Egypt have acted perniciously, in that they have been quick to swerve from the path that I appointed them, by making themselves a molten image.'

13 "The LORD said to me further, 'I see that this people is indeed a 14 stiff-necked people. Let me alone, that I may destroy them, and blot out their very name from under the heavens, and make you into a nation stronger and greater than they.'

- 15 "So I turned and descended from the mountain, the mountain flaming with fire, and the two tablets of the covenant in my two hands.
- 16 I found that you had indeed sinned against the LORD your God by making yourselves a molten bull, having quickly swerved from the
- 17 path that the LORD had appointed you. So I seized the two tablets, and flung them from my hands, and broke them before your eyes.
- 18 Then I prostrated myself before the LORD, as I did before, for forty days and nights, without eating food or drinking water, because of all the sin that you had committed, in doing what was evil in the
- 19 sight of the LORD to his annoyance. For I stood in dread of the anger and wrath which the LORD had against you to your destruction. But
- 20 the LORD listened to me on that occasion also. With Aaron, too, the LORD was angry enough to destroy him, but I prayed for Aaron also
- 21 at that time. Then, taking the wicked thing that you had made, the bull, I burned it up, and crushed it, grinding it thoroughly until it was as fine as dust, and then I threw the dust of it into the stream that
- 22 flowed down from the mountain. (At Taberah also, at Massah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah you continued to provoke the LORD to anger;
- 23 and when the LORD sent you away from Kadesh-barnea, saying, 'Go up and occupy the land that I am giving you,' you scorned the command of the LORD your God; you would not trust him, nor heed his
- 24 instructions. You have been in a state of contention with the LORD ever since I knew you.) So I lay prostrate before the LORD for the
- 25 forty days and nights that I did, because the LORD had threatened to destroy you, and I prayed to the LORD, saying, 'O Lord GOD, do not destroy thy people, thy very own, whom thou hast rescued by thy might,
- 27 whom thou hast brought out of Egypt by a strong hand. Remember thy servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; pay no attention to the obstinacy of this people, nor their wickedness, nor their sin, lest the land
- 28 out of which thou hast brought us say, "Because the LORD could not bring them into the land that he promised them, and because he hated them, he has brought them out to slay them in the desert!" And yet they are thy people, thy very own, whom thou hast brought out by thy great power and outstretched arm.'
- 10 "At that time the LORD said to me, 'Cut two tablets of stone like the former ones, and ascend the mountain to me; also make an ark of
- 2 wood; that I may write on the tablets the words that were on the former tablets which you broke; and then you are to put them in the ark.'
- 3 "So I made an ark of acacia wood, cut two tablets of stone like the former ones, and ascended the mountain, with the two tablets in

- 4 my hand. When the LORD had reproduced the former inscription on the tablets, the decalogue which he spoke to you at the mountain out of the fire on the day of the assemblage, the LORD gave them to me.
- 5 Then I turned, and descending from the mountain, I put the tablets in the ark that I had made, as the LORD had commanded me, and there they are."
- 6 (The Israelites set out from Beeroth-bene-jaakan for Moserah, where Aaron died, and was buried, Eleazar, his son, succeeding him
- 7 in the priesthood. From there they set out for Gudgod, and from Gudgod for Jotbah, a land with streams of water.)
- 8 "At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to be in attendance on the LORD as his ministers, and to pronounce blessings in his name, as they do to this
- 9 day. That is why Levi has had no property or heritage with his fellows, the LORD being his heritage, as the LORD your God promised him.
- 10 "So I remained on the mountain as before, for forty days and nights, and the LORD listened to me on that occasion also; the LORD
- 11 agreed not to destroy you. Then the LORD said to me, 'Proceed at once to set out at the head of the people, so that they may go in and occupy the land which I swore to your fathers to give them.'
- 12 "And now, O Israel, what does the LORD your God require of you but to stand in awe of the LORD your God, walk in all his ways, love
- 13 him, serve the LORD your God with all your mind and heart, and keep the commands of the LORD and his statutes that I am commanding
- 14 you today, for your good? Even though the heavens to the highest heavens belong to the LORD your God, and the earth with all that is
- 15 in it, yet the LORD set his heart on your fathers to love them, and chose their descendants, even you, in preference to all peoples, as is
- 16 the case today. Be circumcised in heart, then, and do not be stiff-necked any more; for the LORD your God is the God of gods, and the
- 17 Lord of lords, the great, mighty, and awful God, who is never partial, and never takes a bribe, who secures justice for the orphan and the
- 18 widow, and loves the resident alien in giving him food and clothing. So you should love the resident alien; for you were once resident aliens
- 19 yourselves in the land of Egypt. You must stand in awe of the LORD your God; him you must serve; to him you must hold fast; and by his
- 20 name you must swear. He is to be your praise, and he your God, who has performed for you these great and awful deeds that you have seen
- 21 with your own eyes. Your fathers went down to Egypt, seventy in number; and now the LORD your God has made you like the stars of the heavens for multitude.
- 22

- 11 "So you must love the LORD your God, and always keep his charge, 12 his statutes, ordinances, and commands. You must teach them to your children who have not known or experienced the discipline of the LORD your God, his greatness, his strong hand and outstretched arm, 13 his signs, and his deeds that he did in Egypt to Pharaoh, king of 14 Egypt, and to all his land; and what he did to the army of the Egyptians, to their horses and chariots, how he made the waters of the Red Sea engulf them as they pursued you, and how the LORD destroyed
15 them, as it is to this day; and what he did to you in the desert until you
16 reached this place; and what he did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, Reuben's son, how the earth opened its mouth, and in the midst of all Israel swallowed them up, with their households, their 17 tents, and every living thing that was in their train; for it is your eyes
18 that saw all the great deeds which the LORD performed. Accordingly, you must keep all the charge which I am enjoining on you today, that you may be strong, and go in and occupy the land into which you are 19 crossing for conquest, and that you may live long upon the land which the LORD swore to your fathers to give to them and their descendants, a
20 land abounding in milk and honey. For the land which you are invading for conquest is not like the land of Egypt from which you came, where you used to sow your seed and water it by hand like a 21 vegetable garden. On the contrary, the land into which you are crossing for conquest is a land of hills and valleys, watered by rain from 22 the sky, a land for which the LORD your God cares, the eyes of the LORD your God being continually on it, from the beginning to the end of the year.
- 23 "If you will but heed the commands that I am giving you today, to love the LORD your God, and serve him with all your mind and heart, 24 he will give you rain for your land in due season, the autumn rains and the spring rains, that you may gather in your grain and wine and oil, 25 and he will produce grass in your fields for your cattle, and you will eat your fill.
- 26 "Take care lest you be deceived into turning aside to serve alien 27 gods and to pay homage to them, and the anger of the LORD blaze against you, and he shut up the skies so that there be no rain, and the land yield no produce, and you quickly perish off the fine land that
28 the LORD is about to give you. Accordingly, you must keep these words of mine in mind and heart; you must bind them on your hand

19 as a sign, and they must be worn on your forehead as a mark; you must teach them to your children, talking about them when you are sitting at home and when you go off on a journey, when you lie down
20 and when you get up; you must inscribe them on the door-posts of 21 your house and on your gates, so that your life and the life of your children may be long in the land which the LORD swore to your fathers to give them for as long as the sky remains over the earth.

22 “If you are but careful to observe all this charge that I am enjoining on you, loving the LORD your God, walking in all his ways, 23 and holding fast to him, the LORD shall drive all these nations out of your way, and you shall conquer nations greater and stronger than 24 you. Every place on which the sole of your foot treads shall be yours;
the region from the desert as far as Lebanon, from the River, the 25 river Euphrates, as far as the Western Sea shall be your domain. No one shall hold his own against you; the LORD your God shall put the dread and fear of you on all the land on which you shall tread, as he promised you.

26 “See, I am putting before you today a blessing and a curse: a bless-27 ing, if you heed the commands of the LORD your God which I am giving you today; and a curse, if you do not heed the commands of 28 the LORD your God, but swerve from the way that I am appointing you today, by running after alien gods of whom you have had no ex-29 perience. When the LORD your God brings you into the land which you are invading for conquest, you are to place the blessing on Mount 30 Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal. (Are they not beyond the Jordan, west of it, toward the sunset, in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Arabah, opposite Gilgal, beside the terebinth of Mo-31 reh?) For you are about to cross the Jordan to enter into possession of the land which the LORD your God is giving you. When you have 32 conquered it, and settled down in it, you must be careful to observe all the statutes and ordinances that I am putting before you today.

12 “The following are the statutes and ordinances which you must be careful to observe in the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, shall give you to hold as long as you live on earth.

2 “You must be sure to destroy all the sanctuaries where the nations whom you are to dispossess served their gods, on high mountains, on 3 hills, and under every leafy tree; you must tear down their altars, smash their sacred pillars, burn up their sacred poles, and cut down the carved images of their gods, obliterating the very name of them
4 from that sanctuary. You must not act like this toward the LORD

5 your God, but to the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses out of all your tribes as the seat of his presence, to his habitation you must
6 resort; there you must go, and there bring your burnt-offerings, your sacrifices, your dues, your personal contributions, your votive offerings, your voluntary offerings, and the firstlings of your herd and 7 flock; and there you must eat before the LORD your God, and with your households rejoice over all your undertakings, in which the LORD your God has blessed you.

8 "You must not conduct yourselves at all as we are doing here today, everyone just as he pleases; for you have not as yet reached the home
9 and heritage which the LORD your God is about to give you. But when you cross the Jordan, and settle down in the land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, and when he gives you rest
11 from all your enemies around you, so that you live in security, then to the sanctuary that the LORD your God chooses as the abiding-place of his presence, there you must bring all that I am commanding you, your burnt-offerings, your sacrifices, your dues, your personal contributions, 12 and all your choice votive offerings which you vow to the LORD; and you are to rejoice before the LORD your God, you, your sons and daughters, your male and female slaves, and the Levite living in your community; for he has no property or heritage with you.

13 "Take care not to offer your burnt-offerings at any sanctuary that 14 you see; but at the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses in one of your tribes, there you must sacrifice your burnt-offerings, and there
15 do all that I am commanding you. However, whenever you wish you may slaughter anything for food purposes in any of your communities to the extent of the blessing that the LORD your God accords you, the unclean along with the clean eating it, as though it were a gazelle
16 or a deer; only you must not partake of the blood; you must pour it out on the ground like water.

17 "You may not eat in your home town the dues of your grain or wine or oil, nor the firstlings of your herd or flock, nor any votive-offering that you vow, nor your voluntary offerings, nor your personal 18 contributions, but you must eat them before the LORD your God at the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses, you, your son, your daughter, your male and female slaves, and the Levite living in your community, rejoicing before the LORD your God over all your under-19 takings. Take care not to neglect the Levite as long as you live in your land.

- 20 "When the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he has promised you, and you say, 'I want to eat meat'—seeing that you have a 21 longing to eat meat—you may do so whenever you wish. If the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses as the seat of his presence is far away from you, as I have instructed you, you may slaughter for food purposes in your own communities whenever you wish any of 22 your herd or flock which the LORD has given you. You are to eat it just as you would a gazelle or a deer, the unclean and the clean eating
23 it together; only be sure never to partake of the blood; for the blood
24 is the life, and you must not eat the life along with the flesh; you 25 must not eat it; you must pour it out on the ground like water. You must not eat it, that you may prosper, and your children after you; for then you will be doing what is right in the sight of the LORD.
26 However, what consecrated gifts you have and your votive offerings,
27 you must take, and go to the sanctuary that the LORD chooses, and offer your burnt-offerings, the flesh along with the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God; the blood of your sacrifices is to be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but the flesh you are to eat yourselves.
- 28 "Be careful to heed all these things that I am commanding you, that it may go well with you, and with your children after you for all time; for then you will be doing what is good and right in the sight of the LORD your God.
- 29 "When the LORD your God exterminates from your way the nations to conquer whom you are going there, and you conquer them, 30 and settle down in their land, take care not to be beguiled into copying them, after they have been exterminated from your way; and not to resort to their gods, saying, 'How did these nations worship their 31 gods?—that I in turn may do the same.' You must not act like this toward the LORD your God; for every kind of practice that is abominable to the LORD, what he hates, they carried on for their gods; for even their sons and daughters they used to burn to their gods.
- 32 "Everything that I am commanding you, that you must be careful to observe, without adding anything to it, or taking anything from it.
- 13 "If a prophet or an interpreter of dreams appears among you, offering you a sign or portent, and the sign or portent comes true, in connection with which he said to you, 'Let us follow alien gods—of 3 whom you have had no experience—and let us serve them,' you must not heed the words of that prophet or that interpreter of dreams; for the LORD your God is testing you to find out whether you really love 4 the LORD your God with all your mind and heart. It is the LORD your God that you must follow; of him you must stand in awe; his commands you must keep; his injunctions you must heed; him you must 5 serve; and to him you must hold fast. But that prophet or that interpreter of dreams must be put to death, because he spoke falsely against the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, and rescued you from a state of slavery, in order to allure you from the path in which the LORD your God commanded you to walk. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from your midst.

6 "If your brother, the son of your mother, or your son, or your daughter, or the wife of your bosom, or your friend who is as precious as your own life, entices you in secret, saying, 'Let us go and serve alien gods!'—of whom you have had no experience, nor have your 7 fathers, namely, any of the gods of the peoples who surround you, either near you or far away from you, from one end of the earth to 8 the other—you must not yield to him, nor heed him; you must not 9 show him any mercy, nor spare him, nor shield him; but you must be sure to kill him; your own hand to be the first against him to put him 10 to death, and then the hands of all the people. You must stone him to death, because he tried to allure you away from the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery;
11 and when all Israel hears of it, they will be afraid, and never again do such a wicked thing as this in your midst.

12 "If you hear it said that in one of your cities, which the LORD your 13 God is giving you to live in, certain scoundrels from among you have gone out and enticed their fellow-citizens, saying, 'Let us go and 14 serve alien gods!'—of whom you have had no experience—you must examine and investigate, and make a thorough inquiry; and if it proves true and is established that this abominable thing has been done 15 in your midst, you must be sure to put the inhabitants of that city to 16 the sword, exterminating it and all that is in it; and all its spoil you must gather into the middle of the open square, and then burn up the city with all its spoil as a holocaust to the LORD your God, to lie in 17 ruins forever, never to be rebuilt. Nothing of the things doomed is to be appropriated by you, that the LORD may turn from his fierce anger, and show you mercy, and in his mercy multiply you, as he swore to 18 your fathers; for then you will be heeding the injunction of the LORD your God by keeping all his commands which I am giving you today, by doing what is right in the sight of the LORD your God.

14 "As children of the LORD your God, you must not cut yourselves
 2 nor shave your foreheads for the dead; for you are a people consecrated to the LORD your God, and out of all the peoples that are on the face of the earth the LORD has chosen you to be a people of his very own.

3 "You must not eat anything abominable. The following are ani-
 5 mals that you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat, the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild-goat, the ibex, the antelope, and the moun-
 6 tain-sheep. Also, you may eat any animal with a cloven hoof, that 7 has the hoof divided completely in two, and that chews the cud. However, of those that chew the cud or have the hoof completely cloven, you must not eat the following: the camel, the hare, and the rock-badger, because, although chewing the cud, they do not have the hoof
 8 cloven—they are unclean for you; also the pig, because, although having the hoof cloven, it does not chew the cud—it is unclean for you. Of their flesh you must not eat, and their carcasses you must not touch.

9 "Of all things that live in the water you may eat the following:
 10 whatever has fins and scales you may eat; but whatever has not fins and scales you must not eat; it is unclean for you.

11 "You may eat any clean bird; but the following are the ones of 13 which you must not eat: the griffon, the vulture, the eagle, the buzzard, the kite in its several species, the raven in all its species, the ostrich, the night-hawk, the sea-mew, the hawk in its several species, the 16 screech-owl, the eagle-owl, the horned owl, the jackdaw, the carrion-18 vulture, the cormorant, the stork, the heron in its several species, the 19 bittern, and the bat. Also, all winged insects are unclean for you;
 20 they must not be eaten. Any winged thing that is clean you may eat.

21 "You must not eat anything that has died a natural death; for you are a people consecrated to the LORD your God; you may give it to any alien residing in your community to eat, or sell it to a foreigner.

"You must not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

22 "Every year you must be sure to take out the dues of all the pro-
 23 duce of your seed, that has left the field, and before the LORD your God, at the sanctuary which he chooses as the abiding-place of his presence, you must eat the dues of your grain, wine, and oil, and the firstlings of your herd and flock, that you may learn to stand in awe of 24 the LORD your God always. If the road is too long for you, so that you cannot transport it, because the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses as the seat of his presence is too far away from you, then,

- 25 when the LORD your God blesses you, you must give it in money, securing the money in your hand, and going to the sanctuary which the
- 26 LORD your God chooses—you may spend the money for whatever you wish, for oxen, sheep, wine, or liquor, or for anything that you have a craving for—and there you must feast in joy before the LORD your
- 27 God, you and your household. Also, you must not neglect the Levite living in your community; for he has no property or heritage with you.
- 28 “Every third year you must take out all the dues of your produce
- 29 for that year, and deposit it in your community, so that the Levite (since he has no property or heritage with you), the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, who are in your community, may come and eat their fill, in order that the LORD your God may bless you in every enterprise that you undertake.
- 15² “Every seventh year you must observe a remission; and the operation of the remission is to be as follows: every creditor who has a claim against his fellow-countryman is to remit it; he is not to press it against his fellow-countryman or kinsman; for a remission has
- 3 been proclaimed by the LORD. Against an alien you may press it; but anything of yours that is in the possession of your kinsman you
- 4 must remit. However, there shall be no poor among you; for the LORD will be sure to bless you in the land which the LORD your God is
- 5 giving you as a heritage to occupy, if you but heed the injunctions of the LORD your God by being careful to observe all this charge which
- 6 I am enjoining on you today. When the LORD your God blesses you, as he has promised you, you shall have many nations obligated to you, but you shall never be obligated to them; you shall rule over many nations, but they shall never rule over you.
- 7 “If there is a needy person among you, any of your fellow-countrymen in any of your communities in the land which the LORD your God is giving you, you must not steel your heart, nor shut your hand
- 8 against your needy countryman; but you must open wide your hand
- 9 to him, and freely lend him sufficient for the needs that he has. Take care lest a base thought enter your head like this: ‘The seventh year, the year of remission, is near!’ and you behave meanly to your needy countryman by not giving him anything, and he cries to the LORD
- 10 against you, and you incur guilt. You must give to him freely; and you are not to begrudge it when you give him something, because the LORD your God for this very thing will bless you in all your work
- 11 and all your undertakings. For the poor will never cease to be ir.

your land; that is why I am commanding you to open wide your hand to your poor and needy fellow-countryman in your land.

12 "If a countryman of yours, a Hebrew man or woman, is sold to you, he is to work six years for you, but in the seventh year you must 13 set him free from your service. And when you set him free from 14 your service, you must not send him away empty-handed; you must provision him liberally out of your flock, threshing-floor, and wine-
15 press, supplying him as the LORD your God has blessed you. You must remember that you were once a slave yourself in the land of Egypt, and that the LORD your God rescued you; that is why I am 16 giving you this command today. If, however, he says to you, 'I will not leave your service'—because he is fond of you and your 17 household, and has fared well with you—then you must take an awl, and drive it through his ear into the door; he shall then be your slave
18 permanently. You shall do the same with your female slave. You must not begrudge it when you set him free from your service; for he has worked six years for you at half the cost of a hired laborer. Then shall the LORD your God bless you in all that you undertake.

19 "You must consecrate to the LORD your God all the male firstlings of your herd and flock; you must do no work with a firstling ox, nor 20 shear a firstling sheep. You must eat it each year with your household before the LORD your God at the sanctuary which the LORD chooses.
21 If, however, it has any blemish, such as lameness, or blindness, or any bad blemish at all, you must not sacrifice it to the LORD your God.
22 You must eat it in your own community, the unclean and the clean
23 together, as though it were a gazelle or a deer; only you must not partake of the blood; you must pour it out on the ground like water.

16 "Observe the new moon of Abib by holding the passover for the LORD your God; for on the new moon of Abib the LORD your God
2 brought you out of Egypt by night. You must sacrifice the passover-victim, a sheep or an ox, to the LORD your God at the sanctuary which
3 the LORD chooses as the abiding-place of his presence. You must not eat leavened bread with it; for seven days you must eat unleavened cakes with it, the bread of distress—for in trepidation you left the 4 land of Egypt—that you may remember the day that you left the 5 land of Egypt all through your life. For seven days no leaven must be seen in your possession anywhere in your territory, and none of the 6 flesh which you sacrifice on the evening of the first day is to be left 7 over until morning. You may not offer the passover-sacrifice in any 8 of the communities which the LORD your God is giving you; but at the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses as the abiding-place of his presence, there you must offer the passover-sacrifice in the evening at sunset, at the time that you left Egypt. You must cook and eat it at the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses; and in the morning you are to return to your tents. For six days you are to eat unleavened cakes; and on the seventh day there is to be a sacred assembly for the LORD your God, when you must do no work.

7 "You must count seven weeks, beginning your count of the seven weeks from the time that the sickle is first put to the grain; and then you must hold the festival of weeks for the LORD your God, as a voluntary personal gift, giving as the LORD your God blesses you; and with your son, your daughter, your male and female slaves, the Levite living in your community, the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, who are among you, you are to rejoice before the LORD your God at the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses as the abiding-place of his presence. You must remember that you were once a slave yourself in Egypt; so you must be careful to observe these statutes.

8 "You must hold the festival of booths for seven days after the ingathering from your threshing-floor and wine-press, rejoicing at your festival, along with your son, your daughter, your male and female slaves, the Levite, the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, who are in your community. For seven days you must hold festival to the LORD your God at the sanctuary that the LORD chooses. for the LORD your God will bless you in all your produce and in all your undertakings, so that you can only be happy.

9 "Three times a year all your males must come to see the LORD your God at the sanctuary which he chooses; at the festival of unleavened cakes, the festival of weeks, and the festival of booths. And they must not come to see the LORD empty-handed, but each with a personal gift befitting the blessing which the LORD your God has bestowed on you.

10 "In all the communities which the LORD your God is giving you, you are to appoint judges and officials for your various tribes, to judge the people aright. You must not pervert justice; you must not show partiality, nor take a bribe; for a bribe blinds the eyes of the learned, and subverts even a just case. Justice, and justice only, you must strive for, in order that you may live, and take possession of the land which the LORD your God is giving you.

11 "You must plant no sacred pole, no wooden object whatsoever,

- 2 beside the altar of the LORD your God that you make, nor set up a sacred pillar, which is so hateful to the LORD your God.
- 7 “You must not sacrifice to the LORD your God an ox or sheep that has a blemish or any defect; for that would be abominable to the LORD your God.
- 2 “If there is found among you in any of your communities which the LORD your God is giving you, a man or a woman, who does what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, by violating his covenant, 3 and has gone and served alien gods, and paid homage to them, or to the sun, or the moon, or the whole host of the heavens, which I prohibited; if it is reported to you, and you hear of it, you must make a thorough investigation; and if it proves true and is established that 4 such an abominable thing has been done in Israel, you must bring the 5 man or woman who did this evil deed out to your gates, and stone 6 them to death. On the evidence of two or three witnesses shall the 7 condemned person be put to death; he must not be put to death on the 8 evidence of one witness; the hands of the witnesses to be the first 9 against him to put him to death, and then the hands of all the people. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from your midst.
- 1 “If a case in law should arise in your local community for which 2 you have no precedent, a case of bloodshed, or a law-suit, or an assault, doubtful cases, you must set out and go up to the sanctuary 3 which the LORD your God chooses, and coming to the Levitical priests 4 and the judge who is in office at that time, you must inquire of them, 5 and they will let you know the decision for the case. You must then 6 comply with the terms of the decision which they render you from that sanctuary which the LORD chooses, and you must be careful to do 7 just as they direct you, complying with the terms of the verdict which they give you and the judgment which they deliver to you, swerving 8 neither to the right nor to the left from the decision which they render you. The man who acts presumptuously, in not heeding the priest 9 standing in attendance there on the LORD your God or the judge, that man must be put to death. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person 10 from Israel; and when all the people hear of it, they will be afraid, and never act presumptuously again.
- 4 “When you reach the land that the LORD your God is giving you, and occupy it, and settle down in it, and then declare, ‘I must have a 5 king over me like all the nations surrounding me,’ you must be sure to make him king over you whom the LORD your God chooses. You must make one of your own countrymen king over you; you may not put a

- 16 foreigner over you, who is not a countryman of yours. However, he must not provide himself with many horses, nor have the people enter into relations with Egypt again, to provide himself with many horses, since the LORD means that you are never again to go back that way.
- 17 Neither must he provide himself with many wives, so that his heart may not be estranged; nor must he provide himself with great quantities of silver and gold. As soon as he has taken his seat on his royal throne, he must write for himself in a book a copy of this code as
- 18 approved by the Levitical priests; he must keep it with him, and peruse it all the days of his life, that he may learn to stand in awe of the LORD his God, by being careful to observe all the provisions of this
- 19 code and these statutes, that he may not consider himself more exempt than his fellow-countrymen, and that he may not swerve from the charge to the right or to the left, in order that he with his descendants may continue long on the throne in Israel.
- 18 “The Levitical priests, that is, the whole tribe of Levi, shall have no property or heritage like the rest of Israel; they shall live on the
- 2 sacrifices made to the LORD and the dues made over to him. Levi shall have no heritage among his fellows, the LORD being his heritage, as
- 3 he promised him. This shall be the priests’ due from the people, from those sacrificing either an ox or a sheep: the shoulder, the two cheeks,
- 4 and the stomach are to be given to the priest. Also, you must give him the first of your grain, wine, and oil, with the first of the fleece
- 5 of your sheep. For the LORD your God has chosen him out of all your tribes, that he and his descendants for all time should be in attendance on the LORD your God to minister to him and pronounce blessings in his name.
- 6 “If a Levite leaves one of your local communities anywhere in Israel where he is a resident, he may come whenever he wishes to the
- 7 sanctuary which the LORD chooses, and minister in the name of the LORD his God like all his fellow-Levites, who are in attendance there
- 8 on the LORD, having an equal share with them in the living, besides his gratuities.”
- 9 Concerning sorcery.—“When you enter the land which the LORD your God is giving you, you must not learn to imitate the abominable
- 10 practices of these nations. There must not be found among you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through fire, a diviner, a
- 11 soothsayer, an augur, a sorcerer, a charmer, a medium, a magician, or a necromancer. For anyone given to these practices is abominable to
- 12 the LORD; indeed, it is because of these abominable practices that the 13 LORD your God is driving them out of your way. You must be abso-

14 lutely true to the LORD your God; for while these nations whom you are to conquer give heed to soothsayers and diviners, the LORD your 15 God has not intended you to do so. Instead, the LORD your God will raise up a prophet for you from among yourselves, one of your fellow-16 countrymen like me—it is he that you must heed—just as you asked of the LORD your God at Horeb on the day of the assemblage, when you said, ‘I must not hear the voice of the LORD my God any longer, nor 17 see this great fire any more, that I die not.’ The LORD said to me, 18 ‘They have spoken aright; from time to time I will raise up for them someone like you from among their fellow-countrymen to be a prophet; I will put my oracles in his mouth, and he shall tell them 19 everything that I command him. If there is anyone who will not heed the oracle that he delivers in my name, I will make him answer 20 for it myself. But the prophet who presumes to deliver an oracle in my name which I did not command him to deliver, or who delivers 21 oracles in the name of alien gods, that prophet must die.’ And if you say to yourselves, ‘How are we to recognize an oracle that the LORD 22 has not given?’—if the oracle that the prophet delivers in the name of the LORD does not come to pass or come true, that is an oracle which the LORD did not give, the prophet having spoken it presumptu-ously; you are not to be afraid of him.

19 “When the LORD your God exterminates the nations whose land the LORD your God is giving you, and you conquer them, and settle 2 down in their cities and houses, you must set apart three cities in the 3 land which the LORD your God is giving you to occupy. You must so fix the distances that you divide the area of the land which the LORD your God is giving you for your own into three parts, in such 6 a way that any homicide may flee there, so that the avenger of blood may not pursue the homicide in the heat of his anger, and overtake him, because the way is long, and take his life, when he did not de-4 serve to die, since he had no standing feud with him. The procedure in the case of a homicide who flees there to save his life is to be as follows: anyone who kills another unintentionally, having no stand-5 ing feud with him, like the case of someone who goes into the woods with another to cut wood, and when he lets drive with the ax to fell a tree, the head slips from the helve, and alights upon the other with fatal results, that person may flee to one of these cities, and save his 7 life. That is why I am commanding you to set apart three cities.
8 And if the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he swore to - your fathers, and gives you all the land which he promised your 9 fathers to give you, provided that you were careful to observe all this charge which I am enjoining on you today, by loving the LORD your God, and by walking always in his ways, then you must add three 10 more cities to these three, so that innocent blood may not be shed in the land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, in 11 which case you would incur guilt of blood. However, if someone has a feud with another, and lies in wait for him, attacking him and 12 beating him to death, and then flees to one of these cities, the elders of his city must send and take him from there, and hand him over to 13 the avenger of blood to be slain. You must have no mercy on him, but purge the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, that you may prosper.

- 14 “On the property which you inherit in the land which the LORD your God is giving you to occupy, you must not move your neighbor’s landmark, which the early inhabitants put in place.
- 15 “A single witness shall not convict a man in the case of any crime or offense of any kind whatsoever that he has committed; it is only on the evidence of two or three witnesses that a charge can be sustained.
- 16 “If a plaintiff with a grudge appears against a man to accuse him 17 falsely, the two parties who have the dispute must appear before the LORD, that is, before the priests, and the judges that are in office at 18 that time; the judges shall make a thorough investigation, and if it turns out that the plaintiff is false, having falsely accused his fellow, 19 you must do to him as he meant to do to his fellow. Thus shall you 20 eradicate the wicked person from your midst; and when those that are left hear of it, they will be afraid, and never again do such a 21 wicked thing as this in your midst. So you must show no mercy—life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.
- 20 “When you go out to battle against your enemies, and see horses, and chariots, forces greater than your own, you must not be afraid of them; for the LORD your God who brought you up from the land
2 of Egypt is on your side. When you are on the eve of a battle, a 3 priest must come up and speak to the people. He shall say to them, ‘Listen, O Israel; today you are on the eve of a battle against your enemies; do not be faint-hearted, nor afraid, nor alarmed, nor stand 4 in dread of them; for the LORD your God is going with you, to fight
5 for you against your enemies and give you the victory.’ Then the officers shall say to the people, 'Whoever has built a new house, but has not dedicated it, may leave and return home, lest he die in the 6 battle, and another dedicate it. Whoever has planted a vineyard, but has not had the use of it, may leave and return home, lest he die in

7 the battle, and another get the use of it. Whoever has betrothed a wife, but has not married her, may leave and return home, lest he die
8 in the battle and another marry her.' The officers shall say further to the people, 'Whoever is afraid and faint-hearted must leave and return home, so that his fellows may not become faint-hearted like 9 him.' As soon as the officers have finished addressing the people, the army commanders shall place themselves at the head of the people.

10 "When you invest a city, you must offer it terms of peace. If it
11 agrees to make peace with you, and surrenders to you, then all the people to be found in it shall become forced laborers for you, and serve 12 you. But if it will not make peace with you, but wages war with you, 13 you are to besiege it, and when the LORD your God delivers it up to 14 you, you must put every male in it to the sword; but the women and children and live stock and everything that is in the city, that is, all its spoil, you may take as your booty, and yourselves use the spoil of 15 your enemies which the LORD your God gives you. So shall you treat all the cities that are very far away from you, that do not belong to 16 the cities of the nations here. However, in the cities of the peoples here, which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, you must 17 not spare a living soul; but you must be sure to exterminate them, Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites, as 18 the LORD your God commanded you, so that they may not teach you to imitate all the abominable practices that they have carried on for their gods, and so sin against the LORD your God.

19 "When you have to besiege a city a long time in your war on it in order to capture it, you must not destroy its trees by taking an ax to them, because you can eat their fruit; you must not cut them down;
20 for are trees in the field men to be besieged by you? It is only trees which you know are not fruit trees that you may destroy and cut down for the construction of siegeworks against the city that is waging war with you, until it is razed.

21 "If anyone is found slain in the land which the LORD your God is giving you to occupy, lying in the open, and it is not known who struck
2 him, your elders and judges must go out and measure the distances to
1 the cities that are in the neighborhood of the dead body, and the elders of the city that is nearest to the dead body must take a heifer that has

4 never been worked, nor has pulled in a yoke; and the elders of that city must bring the heifer down to a valley with running water, which has never been ploughed nor sown, and break the heifer's neck there
5 in the valley. Then the priests, the sons of Levi, shall approach (for the LORD your God has chosen them to minister to him, and pronounce blessings in the name of the LORD, and so every case of dispute or 6 assault is to be settled by them), and all the elders of that city, those living nearest the dead body, shall wash their hands over the heifer
7 whose neck has been broken in the valley. Then they shall make affirmation as follows: 'Our hands did not shed this blood, nor did
8 our eyes see it done; clear thy people Israel whom thou hast rescued, O LORD, and do not hold thy people Israel responsible for innocent
9 blood.' Thus shall the guilt of blood be cleared from them. Because you do what the LORD regards as right, you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood from your midst.

10 "When you go out to battle against your enemies, and the LORD your God delivers them up to you, and you make them prisoners, 11 if you see among the prisoners a beautiful woman upon whom you set 12 your heart, you may take her for a wife. When you bring her into 13 your home, she shall uncover her head, and pare her nails, and throw off her prisoner's garb. She shall remain in your house, and bewail her father and mother for a whole month. After that you may have intercourse with her. You shall be her husband, and she shall be your 14 wife. If you lose interest in her, you must let her go absolutely free; you must not sell her, nor mistreat her, because you have humiliated her.

15 "If a man has two wives, the one loved and the other slighted, and both the loved and the slighted have borne him children, and the first-
16 born son belongs to her that is slighted, when he comes to will his property to his sons, he may not give the right of the first-born to the son of the loved one in the lifetime of the son of the slighted wife,
17 who is the first-born; but he must give the right of the first-born to the first-born, the son of the slighted wife, by giving him two thirds of all that he owns; for he was the first issue of his manly vigor, and the right of the first-born belongs to him.

18 "If a man has a stubborn and refractory son, who will not obey his 19 father or mother, nor heed them, even when they chastise him, his father and mother must take hold of him, and bring him before the 20 elders of his city at the gateway of his home town, and say to the elders of his city, 'This son of ours is a stubborn and refractory fellow

- 21 who will not obey us, a ne'er-do-well, and a drunkard.' Then all his fellow-citizens shall stone him to death. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from your midst, and when all Israel hears of it, they will be afraid.
- 22 "If anyone has committed a crime punishable by death, and has 23 been put to death, and you have impaled him on a stake, his corpse must not remain all night on the stake; but you must be sure to bury him the same day; for an impaled man is a terrible disgrace, and you must not pollute the land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage.
- 22 "You must not see your fellow-countryman's ox or sheep go astray without showing concern for it; you must be sure to take it home to
2 your fellow-countryman. If, however, your fellow-countryman is not a tribesman of yours and you do not know him, you must take it home with you, and keep it until your fellow-countryman claims it;
3 then you must give it back to him. You must do the same with his ass, with his garment, and with anything lost by a fellow-countryman of yours, which he has lost and you have found; you are not to be without concern for it.
- 4 "You must not see your fellow-countryman's ass or ox foundered on the road without showing concern for it; you must be sure to help him to raise it up.
- 5 "A woman must never wear any article belonging to a man, nor must a man put on a woman's garment; for whosoever does such things is abominable to the LORD your God.
- 6 "If you should happen to come upon a bird's nest in any tree, or on the ground, with young ones or eggs, and the mother sitting on the 7 young or the eggs, you must not take the mother with the young. You must rather let the mother go, and only take the young, that you may prosper, and live long.
- 8 "When you build a new house, you must make a parapet for your roof, that you may not bring the guilt of blood upon your house, in case anyone should fall from it.
- 9 "You must not sow your vineyard with two kinds of seed, lest the whole produce become taboo, the crop that you sowed as well as the harvest from your vineyard.
- 10 "You must not plough with an ox and an ass yoked together.
- 11 "You must not wear material blended of wool and linen.
- 12 "You must plait tassels on the four corners of the cloak with which you cover yourself.

- 13 "If a man marries a wife, and has intercourse with her, and then 14 turns against her, and frames wanton charges against her, and slan-
15 ders her by saying, 'I married this woman; but when I had inter-16 course with her, I did not find the evidence of virginity in her,' the 17 girl's father and mother shall take the evidence of the girl's virginity
18 and bring it to the elders of the city at the gate, and the girl's father 19 shall say to the elders, 'I gave my daughter to this man in marriage, 20 but he turned against her, and here he is framing wanton charges 21 against her, saying, "I did not find the evidence of virginity in your 22 daughter." Here is the evidence of my daughter's virginity!' Where-23 upon they shall spread out the cloth before the elders of the city.
24 Then the elders of that city shall take the man and punish him,
25 fining him one hundred shekels of silver, and giving it to the girl's 26 father, because he slandered a virgin of Israel. She shall be his wife 27 as long as he lives, without his being able to divorce her. If, how-28 ever, the charge proves true, that the evidence of virginity was not to 29 be found in the girl, the girl shall be brought out to the door of her 30 father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her to death, be-31 cause she committed a shameless act in Israel by playing the harlot in 32 her father's house. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from 33 your midst.
- 34 "If a man is caught lying with a married woman, both of them
35 shall die, the man who lay with the woman and the woman herself;
36 thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from Israel.
- 37 "If there happens to be a girl who is a virgin betrothed to a hus-
38 band, and a man runs across her in the city and lies with her, you 39 must take them both out to the gate of that city, and stone them to 40 death; the girl, because she did not call for help although in the city, 41 and the man, because he seduced another's wife. Thus shall you eradi-
42 cate the wicked person from your midst. If, however, it is in the open 43 country that the man runs across the betrothed girl, and the man
44 seizes her, and lies with her, then simply the man who lay with her 45 shall die; you must do nothing to the girl, since no sin deserving of 46 death attaches to the girl; for this case is like that of a man attacking
47 his neighbor and murdering him; because it was in the open country 48 that he ran across her; the betrothed girl may have called for help, 49 but there was no one to save her.
- 50 "If a man runs across a girl, a virgin who is not betrothed, and 51 seizes her, and lies with her, and they are caught, the man who lay 52 with her must pay the girl's father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife as long as he lives, without his being able to divorce her, because he violated her.

30 "A man must not marry his father's wife, nor have intercourse with her who belongs to his father.

23 "No one who has his testicles crushed or his penis cut off shall 2 marry into the LORD's community. No bastard shall marry into the LORD's community; likewise, none of his descendants to the tenth 3 generation shall marry into the LORD's community. No Ammonite or Moabite shall marry into the LORD's community; likewise, none of their descendants to the tenth generation shall ever marry into the 4 LORD's community; because the one did not meet you with food and water on the road after you came out of Egypt, and the other hired Balaam, the son of Beor, from Pethor in Aram-naharaim against 5 you, to curse you. (Nevertheless the LORD your God would not heed Balaam; but the LORD your God turned the curse into a blessing for 6 you, because the LORD your God loved you.) Never in all your life are you to seek their welfare or prosperity.

7 "You must not abhor an Edomite, because he is your kinsman. You must not abhor an Egyptian, because you were once a resident alien 8 in his land. Children born to them in the third generation may marry into the LORD's community.

9 "When you go out against your enemies and are in camp, you must 10 keep yourselves clear of everything offensive. If there happens to be any of you who is not clean because of an emission at night, he must 11 go outside the camp; he must not come inside the camp; then at the approach of evening he must bathe himself in water, and at sundown 12 he may come inside the camp. Also, you must have a latrine outside 13 the camp, and you must go outside to it; you must have a stick along with your weapons, and when you relieve yourself outside, you must 14 dig a hole with it, and then fill it up, and cover your excrement. Because the LORD your God moves within your camp to rescue you and to put your enemies at your mercy, your camp must be clean, so that he may not see anything indecent with you, and turn away from you.

15 "You must not turn a slave over to his master when he has escaped 16 from his master to you; he shall live right in your midst with you, in any place that he chooses in one of your communities as being advantageous to him; you must not mistreat him.

17 "None of the Israelite women shall become a temple-prostitute, nor 18 shall any of the Israelite men become a temple-prostitute. You must never bring the gains of a harlot or the earnings of a male prostitute

as a votive offering to the temple of the LORD your God; for both are abominable to the LORD your God.

- 19 "You must not exact interest on loans to a fellow-countryman of yours, interest in money, food, or anything else that might be exacted 20 as interest. On loans to a foreigner you may exact interest, but on loans to a fellow-countryman you must not, that the LORD your God may bless you in all your undertakings in the land which you are invading for conquest.
- 21 "When you make a vow to the LORD your God, you must pay it without delay; for the LORD your God definitely requires it of you,
22 and you would incur guilt. However, if you refrain from making a 23 vow, you will incur no guilt. A spoken promise you must be careful to observe, in the way that you promised the LORD your God, seeing that it was a voluntary promise that you made.
- 24 "When you enter your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat your fill of the grapes, as much as you wish; but you must not put any in your bag.
- 25 "When you enter your neighbor's grain, you may pull off some heads with your hand; but you must not put a sickle to your neighbor's grain.
- 26 "When a man takes a wife and marries her, if it turns out that she does not please him, because he has found some indecency in her, and he writes her a bill of divorce, and putting it into her hand, dismisses her from his house, if, on leaving his house, she goes and marries another man, and then the latter husband turns against her, and writes her a bill of divorce, and putting it into her hand, dismisses her from his house, or if the latter husband who married her dies, 27 her former husband who divorced her may not marry her again, after she has been defiled; for that is abominable to the LORD, and you must not bring guilt on the land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage.
- 28 "When a man is newly married, he is not to go out with the army, nor be counted with it for any duty; he is to be free at home for one year, to enjoy himself with his wife whom he has married.
- 29 "No one is to take a handmill or an upper millstone in pledge; for he would be taking a life in pledge.
- 30 "If a man is caught kidnapping any of his fellow-Israelites, to hurt him, or to sell him, that thief shall die. Thus shall you eradicate the wicked person from your midst.
- 31 "Take care in an attack of leprosy to be very careful to do just as the Levitical priests direct you, being careful to follow the instructions that I gave them. Remember what the LORD your God did for Miriam during the journey after you came out of Egypt.

10 “When you make your neighbor a loan of any sort, you must not 11 go into his house to take his pledge; you must wait outside, and the man to whom you are making the loan shall bring the pledge outside 12 to you. If he is a poor man, you must not sleep in the article that he 13 has pledged; you must be sure to return it to him at sunset, that he may sleep in his cloak, and so be grateful to you. It will stand to your credit with the LORD your God.

14 “You must not defraud a hired laborer who is poor and needy, whether he is one of your fellow-countrymen, or one of the aliens 15 residing in your land, in your community. You must pay him his wages by the day, before the sun sets—for he is poor, and is expecting it—so that he may not cry to the LORD against you, and you incur guilt.

16 “Fathers are not to be put to death with their children, nor are children to be put to death with their fathers. Everyone is to be put to death for his own sin.

17 “You must not pervert the justice due the resident alien, or the 18 orphan, nor take a widow’s garment in pledge. You must remember that you were once a slave yourself in Egypt, and the LORD your God rescued you from there; that is why I am commanding you to do this.

19 “When you reap your harvest in your field, and forget a sheaf in the field, you must not go back to get it; it is to go to the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, that the LORD your God may bless 20 you in all your enterprises. When you beat your olive trees, you must not go over them a second time; that is to go to the resident alien, the 21 orphan, and the widow. When you pick the grapes of your vineyard, you must not go over it a second time; that is to go to the resident 22 alien, the orphan, and the widow. You must remember that you were once a slave yourself in the land of Egypt; that is why I am commanding you to do this.

25 “If two men go to law with each other, and come into court, and have the case decided for them, so that the innocent is acquitted and 2 the guilty convicted, if the guilty man deserves a flogging, the judge shall make him lie down, and have him flogged in his presence, with 3 the number of lashes warranted by his crime. He may be given forty lashes, but not more, lest in being given more than that number your fellow-countryman should be cut to ribbons before your eyes.

- 4 “You must not muzzle an ox when he is treading out grain.
- 5 “If there are brothers living at the same time, and one of them dies, leaving no son, the wife of the deceased must not be married to a stranger; her brother-in-law must go to her, and marry her, doing
- 6 the duty of a brother-in-law to her; and the first son that she bears shall succeed to the name of the deceased brother, so that his name
- 7 may not be blotted out of Israel. But if the man does not want to marry his sister-in-law, then his sister-in-law shall go to the elders at the city gate, and say, ‘My brother-in-law refuses to carry on his brother’s name in Israel; he will not do the duty of a brother-in-law
- 8 to me’; whereupon the elders of his city shall summon him, and speak to him, and if he maintains his position, and says, ‘I do not want
- 9 to marry her,’ his sister-in-law shall go up to him in the presence of the elders, and pull his sandal off his foot, and spit in his face, and solemnly declare, ‘So shall it be done to the man who will not build
- 10 up his brother’s house’; and it shall be called in Israel, ‘the house for which the sandal was pulled off.’
- 11 “If two men get into a fight with each other, a man and his fellow-countryman, and the wife of one comes up to rescue her husband from his assailant, and puts out her hand, and seizes him by his private
- 12 parts, you must cut off her hand, without showing any mercy.
- 13 “You must not have weights of different sizes in your bag, a large
- 14 one and a small one; you must not have different sized ephahs in
- 15 your house, a large one and a small one; you must have a full, just weight; you must have a full, just ephah, that you may live long in
- 16 the land which the LORD your God is giving you; for everyone given to these practices, everyone given to dishonesty, is abominable to the LORD your God.
- 17 “Remember what Amalek did to you during the journey after you
- 18 came out of Egypt, how with no fear of God he fell upon you on the way, when you were tired and faint, and cut off all the stragglers in
- 19 your rear. Therefore, when the LORD your God gives you rest from all your enemies around you, in the land which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage to occupy, you must blot out the very memory of Amalek from under the heavens, being sure not to forget.
- 26 “When you enter the land which the LORD your God is giving you
- 2 as a heritage, and conquer it, and settle down in it, you must take some of all the first produce of the soil that you harvest from the land which the LORD your God is giving you, and putting it in a basket, you must go to the sanctuary which the LORD your God chooses as the

3 abiding-place of his presence. You must go to the priest who is officiating at that time, and say to him, 'I give thanks today to the LORD my God that I have entered the land which the LORD swore to our 4 fathers to give us.' Then the priest shall take the basket from your 5 hand, and place it in front of the altar of the LORD your God; and you shall solemnly declare before the LORD your God, 'A nomad Aramean was my father; he went down to Egypt to reside there, with 6 a small company, and there he became a nation, great, mighty, and 7 numerous; the Egyptians treated us harshly, oppressed us, and imposed hard servitude upon us; but we cried to the LORD, the God of 8 our fathers, and the LORD heard our cry, and seeing our affliction, 9 our toil, and our oppression, the LORD brought us out of Egypt, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, with great terrors, signs, and 10 portents; and bringing us to this place, he gave us this land, a land abounding in milk and honey. And now see, I have brought the first
11 of the produce of the soil, which thou, O LORD, hast given me!' You must then place it before the LORD your God, and do homage before 12 the LORD your God, and rejoice over all the good fortune which the LORD your God has accorded you and your household, along with the Levite and the alien residing in your midst.

13 "When you have finished taking out all the dues of your produce in the third year, the year for the taking out of dues, you may give them to the Levite, the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, that
14 they may eat their fill in your community; and then you must declare before the LORD your God, 'I have cleared the consecrated material from my house, and furthermore, I have given it to the Levite, the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, just as thou didst command
15 me, breaking none of thy commands nor forgetting them; I have not eaten any of it through want; I have not disposed of any of it improperly; I have not offered any of it to the dead; I have heeded the injunction of the LORD my God by doing just as thou didst command
16 me. Look down from the heavens, thy sacred dwelling-place, and bless thy people Israel, and the soil which thou hast given us, as thou didst swear to our fathers—a land abounding in milk and honey.'

17 "This day the LORD your God is commanding you to observe these statutes and ordinances; you must be careful then to observe them with all your mind and heart. Concerning the LORD you have today avowed that he is your God, and that you would walk in his ways, and keep his statutes, commands, and ordinances, and heed his injunc-

18 tions; and the LORD has today avowed concerning you that you are a people of his very own, as he promised you, and so you are to keep all 19 his commands, and then he will place you high above all other nations whom he has made, in praise, renown, and honor, that you may be a people consecrated to the LORD your God, as he promised.”

CLOSING INJUNCTIONS OF MOSES, 27:1—31:13

27 Moses and the elders of Israel commanded the people as follows:

“Keep in mind all the charge that I am enjoining on you today.

2 On the very day that you cross the Jordan into the land which the LORD your God is giving you, you must set up some large stones, and
3 whitewashing them with lime, you must inscribe on them all the words of this code as soon as you have crossed, in order that you may enter the land which the LORD your God is giving you, a land abounding in milk and honey, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, promised you. As soon as you cross the Jordan, you must set up these stones, concerning which I am giving you instructions today, on 8 Mount Gerizim, and whitewashing them with lime, you must inscribe all the words of this code on the stones very distinctly.

5 “You must build there an altar to the LORD your God, an altar of 6 stones on which you must not use any iron tool; it is with undressed stones that you must build the altar of the LORD your God; you shall 7 offer burnt-offerings to the LORD your God on it, and sacrifice thank-offerings, and feast there in joy before the LORD your God.”

9 Then Moses and the Levitical priests said to all Israel,

10 “Be silent and listen, O Israel; today you have become the people of the LORD your God; you must therefore heed the injunctions of the LORD your God, and observe his commands and statutes, which I am commanding you today.”

11 Moses charged the people that same day as follows:

12 “When you cross the Jordan, the following shall face Mount Gerizim for the blessing of the people: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin; and the following shall face those pronouncing the curse on Mount Ebal: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, 14 Dan, and Naphtali. Then the Levites with a loud voice shall solemnly declare to all the men of Israel:

15 “‘Cursed be he who makes a carved or molten image, so abominable to the LORD, the handiwork of a craftsman, setting it up in secret!’

- “And all the people in response shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 16 “‘Cursed be he who dishonors his father or mother!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 17 “‘Cursed be he who moves his neighbor’s landmark!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 18 “‘Cursed be he who misleads a blind man on the road!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 19 “‘Cursed be he who perverts the justice due the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 20 “‘Cursed be he who lies with his father’s wife; for he would have had intercourse with her who belongs to his father!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 21 “‘Cursed be he who lies with any animal!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 22 “‘Cursed be he who lies with his sister, whether she is his full sister or half-sister!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 23 “‘Cursed be he who lies with his mother-in-law!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 24 “‘Cursed be he who murders his neighbor secretly!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 25 “‘Cursed be he who accepts a bribe to permit the murder of an innocent person!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”
- 26 “‘Cursed be he who does not give effect to the provisions of this code by observing them!’
“And all the people shall say,
“‘So be it.’”

28 “If you will but heed the injunctions of the LORD your God by being careful to observe all his commands which I am giving you today, the LORD your God shall place you high above all the nations² of the earth, and all the following blessings shall come upon you and overtake you; for you will be heeding the injunctions of the LORD your God.

3 “Blessed shall you be in the city,
And blessed shall you be in the country;
4 Blessed shall be the offspring of your body,
The produce of your soil, the offspring of your live stock,
The issue of your cattle, and the progeny of your flock;
5 Blessed shall be the contents of your basket and kneadingtrough;
6 Blessed shall you be in your coming,
And blessed shall you be in your going.

7 “The LORD shall cause your enemies who attack you to be routed before you; they may come out against you by a single road, but they⁸ shall fly before you by seven different roads. The LORD shall order blessings upon you in your barns, and in all your undertakings; and he shall bless you in the land which the LORD your God is giving you.
9 The LORD shall make you a people consecrated to himself, as he swore to you; for you will be keeping the commands of the LORD your God,
10 and will be walking in his ways, so that all the peoples of the earth will see that you bear the name of the LORD, and will stand in fear
11 of you. The LORD shall give you abounding prosperity in the offspring of your body, the progeny of your cattle, and the produce of your soil, in the land which the LORD swore to your fathers to give
12 you. The LORD shall open for you his rich treasury in the heavens, to give rain to your land in due season and to bless all your labor, so that you shall have many nations under obligations to you, but you
13 shall never be obligated to them. The LORD shall make you the head, not the tail, and you shall tend upward only, and not downward; for you will be heeding the commands of the LORD your God which I
14 am giving you today, by being careful to observe them, swerving neither to the right nor to the left from any of the commands that I am giving you today, by running after alien gods to serve them.

15 “If, however, you will not heed the injunctions of the LORD your God by being careful to observe all his commands and statutes which I am commanding you today, then all the following curses shall come upon you and overtake you.

- 16 "Cursed shall you be in the city,
And cursed shall you be in the country;
17 Cursed shall be the contents of your basket and kneading-
trough;
18 Cursed shall be the offspring of your body, and the produce of your soil,
The issue of your cattle, and the progeny of your flock;
19 Cursed shall you be in your coming,
And cursed shall you be in your going.
- 20 "The LORD shall send curses on you, trouble and distress in every enterprise of yours that you undertake, until you are destroyed, and 21 perish quickly for your evil doing in forsaking me. The LORD shall fasten plagues on you until he exterminates you from the land which 22 you are invading for conquest; the LORD shall smite you with consumption, fever, inflammation, and sunstroke, with drought, blasting, 23 and mildew, which shall pursue you until you perish. For you the sky 24 overhead shall be bronze, and the earth underfoot shall be iron; the LORD shall turn the rain of your land into powder and dust; it shall 25 descend from the sky upon you until you are destroyed. The LORD shall cause you to be routed before your enemies; you may go out against them by a single road, but you shall fly before them by seven different roads. You shall become a terrifying example to all the 26 kingdoms of the earth. Your carcasses shall become food for all the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth, with no one to scare them 27 away. The LORD shall smite you with Egyptian sores, with ulcers, 28 scurvy, and itch, of which you cannot be cured. The LORD shall strike 29 your minds with madness, blindness, and dismay, so that you shall go groping at noon as the blind grope in the dark, and shall not make a success of your life, but shall simply be wronged and robbed continu-30 ally, with no one to rescue you. You may betroth a wife, but another man shall ravish her; you may build a house, but you shall not live in it; you may plant a vineyard, but you shall not get the use of it; 31 your ox may be slaughtered under your inspection, but you shall not eat any of it; your ass shall be snatched from under your nose, and not be returned to you; your flock shall be given to your enemies, 32 with no one to rescue it for you; your sons and daughters shall be handed over to an alien people, while your eyes gaze, ever straining

33 after them, with nothing that you can do; the produce of your soil and all the fruits of your labor shall a nation that is strange to you eat up, and you shall simply be wronged and oppressed continually, 34 until you are driven mad by the sight of what you see. The LORD 35 shall smite you on the knees and legs, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head, with malignant sores, of which you cannot 36 be cured. The LORD shall dispatch you and the king that you place over you to a nation that you do not know, nor did your fathers, and 37 there you shall serve alien gods of wood and stone; you shall become a horror, a taunt, and a byword among all the peoples where the LORD 38 shall drive you. You may take out much seed to the field, but you 39 shall harvest little; for the locust shall consume it. You may plant vineyards, and work them, but you shall not drink wine, nor store it; 40 for grubs shall eat them up. You may have olive trees all through your country, but you shall not anoint yourselves with oil; for your 41 olives shall drop off. You may have sons and daughters born to you, but they shall not remain yours; for they shall go into captivity. 42 Locusts shall infest all your trees and the produce of your soil. 43 The alien who is residing in your midst shall rise higher and higher 44 above you, while you shall sink lower and lower; he shall lend to you, but you shall never lend to him; he shall be the head, and you the tail. 45 "All these curses shall come upon you, pursuing you and overtaking you until you are destroyed, because you would not heed the injunctions of the LORD your God, by keeping his commands and statutes which 46 he commanded you. They shall be signs and portents against you and your descendants for all time. 47 "Because you would not serve the LORD your God in the joy and happiness of mind that came from the abundance of everything, 48 you shall serve your enemies, whom the LORD sends against you, in hunger, thirst, nakedness, and want of everything; and he shall put 49 an iron yoke on your neck, until he has destroyed you. The LORD shall bring a nation against you from afar, from the ends of the earth, swooping down like a vulture, a nation whose language you do not 50 understand, a nation, stern of face, that shall have no regard for the 51 old, nor mercy for the young, and that shall eat up the offspring of your cattle and the produce of your soil, until you are destroyed, leaving you neither grain, nor wine, nor oil, nor the issue of your cattle, 52 nor the progeny of your flock, until they exterminate you. They shall besiege you in all your towns until your high, fortified walls on which you relied are razed all through your land; they shall besiege you in all your towns all through the land which the LORD your God has given you, so that you shall have to eat your own offspring, the flesh of the sons and daughters whom the LORD your God has given you, in the stress of the siege with which your enemies shall press you. The man that is most tender among you, and quite the most dainty, will act so meanly toward his brother, the wife of his bosom, and the remaining children that may be left to him, that he will not give any of them any of the flesh of his children which he has to eat, since there is nothing else left to him in the stress of the siege with which your enemies shall press you in all your towns. She that is most tender and dainty among you, who would not venture to set the sole of her foot upon the ground, since she is so dainty and tender, will act meanly toward the husband of her bosom, her son, and her daughter, both in the case of the after-birth that may come from her womb, and the children that she may bear; for she shall secretly eat these for want of everything in the stress of the siege with which your enemies shall press you in your towns.

“If you are not careful to observe all the provisions of this code, written in this book, by standing in awe of this glorious and awful name, the LORD your God, then the LORD shall bring extraordinary plagues on you and your descendants, severe and prolonged plagues, and severe and prolonged diseases; he shall bring back upon you all the diseases of Egypt of which you stood in dread, and they will fasten themselves on you; indeed every kind of sickness and plague that is not recorded in this book of the law the LORD shall inflict on you until you are destroyed. You shall be left a paltry few, instead of being like the stars of the heavens for number, because you would not heed the injunctions of the LORD your God. As the LORD took delight in making you prosperous and numerous, so the LORD shall take delight in exterminating and destroying you, and you shall be torn from the land which you are invading for conquest; the LORD shall scatter you among all peoples from one end of the earth to the other, and there you shall serve alien gods of wood and stone, of whom you have had no experience, nor had your fathers. Among these nations you shall have no ease, nor shall there be a resting-place for the sole of your foot, but the LORD shall give you there an anxious mind, spent eyes, and a despondent spirit; your life shall be lived in suspense; you shall live in fear day and night, and never be certain about your life;

67 in the morning you shall say, 'O that it were evening!' and in the evening you shall say, 'O that it were morning!'—because of the terror of mind which frightens you, and the sights that you see. The LORD shall take you back to Egypt in ships, which journey I meant you never again to make, and there you shall offer yourselves for sale to your enemies as male and female slaves, with none to buy you."

29 These were the terms of the covenant which the LORD commanded Moses to make with the Israelites in the land of Moab, besides the covenant which he had made with them at Horeb.

2 Moses then summoned all Israel, and said to them,

"Although you have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh and all his courtiers and all his land, the great tests which you saw with your own eyes, the signs, and those great portents, yet to this day the LORD has not given you a mind to understand, nor eyes to discern, nor ears to hear. For forty years I have led you through the desert, your clothes never getting too worn for you to wear, nor your sandals too worn for your feet, without bread to eat, or wine or liquor to drink, in order that you might come to know that I, the LORD, am your God. When you reached this place, Sihon, king of Heshbon, and Og, king of Bashan, came out to engage us in battle; but we defeated them, and capturing their land, we gave it as a heritage to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manassites. Be careful then to observe the terms of this covenant, that you may succeed in everything that you undertake.

10 "You are all taking your stand today before the LORD your God, the heads of your tribes, your elders, and your officers, even all the men of Israel, together with your children, your wives, and the aliens in your employ who are living in your camps, both your wood-gatherers and your water-drawers, that you may enter into the covenant of the LORD your God and the solemn compact which the LORD your God is making with you today, that he may today make you his own people, and that he may be your God, as he promised you, and as he swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. It is not with you alone that I am making this covenant and solemn compact, but with those who are here with us today, standing before the LORD our God, and with those who are not here with us today—for you yourselves know how we once lived in the land of Egypt, and how we passed through the territory of the nations that you did; and so you saw the detestable and horrid things of wood and stone, of silver and gold, that were in their possession—lest there should be among you man, woman, family, or tribe, whose heart after all might turn from the LORD our God to go and serve the gods of those nations; lest there 19 should be among you a root bearing poison and wormwood, and then upon hearing the terms of this sacred compact he should flatter himself by saying, 'I shall be safe, even though I persist in my stubborn-

20 ness of mind,' to the destruction of moist and dry alike. The LORD would never consent to forgive him, but instead, the anger and resentment of the LORD would burn against such a man; every curse recorded in this book would settle on him; the LORD would blot out
21 his very name from under the heavens; and the LORD would single him out from all the tribes of Israel for doom, by all the curses of the 22 covenant recorded in this book of the law. Then the next generation, your children who take your place, and the foreigners who come from a distant land, will say, when they see the plagues of that land
23 and the diseases with which the LORD has afflicted it—all its soil being brimstone and salt, a burning waste, unsown and unproductive, no herbage of any kind growing in it, like the devastation of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the LORD devastated in his
24 anger and fury—indeed all nations will say, 'Why has the LORD done
25 thus to this land? Why this great heat of anger?' And the answer will be, 'Because they forsook the covenant, which the LORD, the God of their fathers, made with them, when he brought them out of the 26 land of Egypt, and went and served alien gods, and paid homage to them, gods of whom they had no experience, and whom he did not
27 assign to them; hence the anger of the LORD blazed against this land,
28 bringing upon it every curse recorded in this book; and the LORD uprooted them from their land in anger, fury, and great wrath, and flung them into an alien land, as at this day.'

29 "What is hidden is in the keeping of the LORD our God, but what is revealed concerns us and our children forever, that we should observe all the provisions of this code.

30 "When all these things have befallen you, the blessing as well as the curse which I have put before you, and you call them to mind
2 among all the nations where the LORD your God has driven you, if you return to the LORD your God, you and your children, and heed his injunctions, just as I am commanding you today, with all your
3 mind and heart, then the LORD your God will restore your fortunes, taking pity on you, and gathering you again out of all the peoples

- 4 where the LORD your God scattered you. Even though your outcasts are at the ends of the world, the LORD your God will gather you from 5 there, and take you away. The LORD your God will bring you into the land which your fathers occupied, that you may occupy it; and he will prosper you, and make you more numerous than your fathers.
- 6 The LORD your God will circumcise you and your descendants in heart, to love the LORD your God with all your mind and heart, that 7 you may live. The LORD your God will inflict all these curses on your 8 enemies and your antagonists who persecuted you; but you yourselves shall once more heed the injunctions of the LORD, and observe all his
9 commands which I am giving you today; and the LORD your God will give you abounding prosperity in all your labor, in the offspring of your body, the offspring of your cattle, and the produce of your soil; for the LORD will again take delight in prospering you, as he did 10 your fathers; for you will be heeding the injunctions of the LORD your God by keeping his commands and statutes, recorded in this book of the law; for you will be returning to the LORD your God with all your mind and heart.
- 11 "For this charge which I am enjoining on you today is not beyond 12 your power, nor is it out of reach; it is not in the heavens, that you should say, 'O that someone would ascend to the heavens for us, and get to know it for us, and then communicate it to us, so that we may 13 observe it!' Nor is it beyond the sea, that you should say, 'O that someone would cross the sea for us, and get to know it for us, and 14 then communicate it to us, so that we may observe it!' No, the matter is very near you, on your mouth and in your mind, for you to observe.
- 15 "See, I put before you today life and prosperity, along with death
16 and misfortune. If you heed the commands of the LORD your God which I am giving you today, by loving the LORD your God, by walking in his ways, and by keeping his commands, statutes, and ordinances, then you shall live, and multiply, and the LORD your God
17 will bless you in the land which you are invading for conquest. If, however, your heart turns away, and you give no heed, but are enticed to pay homage to alien gods and serve them, I tell you today that 18 you shall most certainly perish, without living long on the land which 19 you are crossing the Jordan to invade for conquest. I call heaven and earth to witness against you today that I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the curse; therefore choose life, that you

²⁰ as well as your descendants may live, by loving the LORD your God, by heeding his injunctions, and by holding fast to him; for that will mean life to you, and a long time to live upon the land which the LORD swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them.”

³¹² Then Moses proceeded to speak these words to all Israel. He said to them,

“I am one hundred and twenty years old today; I am no longer able to come and go, and the LORD has said to me, ‘You are not to ³ cross this Jordan.’ The LORD your God will be the one to go over ahead of you; it is he who will exterminate these nations from your way so that you may dispossess them; Joshua will be the one to go ⁴ over ahead of you, as the LORD promised. The LORD will do to them as he did to Sihon and Og, kings of the Amorites, and to their land, ⁵ in his destruction of them; the LORD will put them at your mercy, ⁶ and you must do to them just as I commanded you. Be strong, be brave, have no fear, do not stand in dread of them; for the LORD your God will be going with you, never failing you nor forsaking you.”

⁷ Then Moses summoned Joshua, and said to him in the presence of all Israel,

“Be strong, be brave; for you are to bring this people into the land which the LORD swore to your fathers to give them; you are to put ⁸ them in possession of it. The LORD will be the one to go ahead of you; it is he who will be with you, never failing you nor forsaking you; do not be afraid or dismayed.”

⁹ When Moses had written this code, he committed it to the priests, the descendants of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the ¹⁰ LORD, and to all the elders of Israel. Then Moses commanded them as follows:

“At the end of every seven years, in the time of the year of remission, at the festival of booths, when all Israel comes to see the LORD your God at the sanctuary which he chooses, you must read this code ¹¹ in the hearing of all Israel, assembling the people, men, women, and children, and any aliens in your employ that are in your community, that they may hear it, and learn to stand in awe of the LORD your ¹² God, and be careful to observe all the provisions of this code; and that their children who do not know it may hear it, and learn to stand in awe of the LORD your God; as long as you live upon the land into which you are crossing the Jordan for conquest.”

THE COMMISSION OF JOSHUA AND THE SONG OF MOSES, 31:14—32:52

- 14 Then the LORD said to Moses,
“The time for you to die is indeed drawing near; call Joshua, and present yourselves at the tent of meeting, that I may commission him.”
So Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves at the tent of
- 15 meeting. Then the LORD appeared at the tent in a column of cloud; the column of cloud came to a stand at the doorway of the tent,
- 23 and he commissioned Joshua, the son of Nun, and said,
“Be strong, be brave; for you are to bring the Israelites into the land which I promised on oath to them; I will be with you.”
- 16 Then the LORD said to Moses,
“You will soon now be sleeping with your fathers; and then this people will decide to run wantonly after the foreign gods of the land which they are soon to invade, and they will forsake me, and thus
- 17 break the covenant that I made with them. In that case my anger shall blaze against them, and I will forsake them, and withhold my favor from them; they shall become a thing to be consumed, and many evils and troubles shall befall them, so that they will say at that time, ‘Is it not because God is not in our midst that these evils
- 18 have befallen us?’ I will certainly withhold my favor at such a time, because of all the evil that they have done in turning to alien gods.
- 19 Write this song then, and teach it to the Israelites, having them repeat it, that this song may be a witness for me against the Israelites.
- 20 When I bring them into the land which I swore to their fathers to give them, a land abounding in milk and honey, and they eat their fill, and become prosperous, and turn to alien gods, and serve them,
- 21 despising me, and breaking my covenant, then, when many evils and troubles befall them, this song shall confront them as a witness (for it will never be forgotten by their descendants) that I know what their temperament will lead to, even now, before I bring them into the land, which I promised them on oath.”
- 22 So Moses wrote the following song that very day, and taught it to the Israelites.
- 24 When Moses had finished writing the provisions of this code in a
- 25 book, until they were complete, Moses gave this charge to the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD:
- 26 “Take this book of the law, and place it beside the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, so that it may remain there as a
- 27 witness against you; for I know how contentious and stiff-necked you are; even now while I am still living with you, you continue in a state of contention with the LORD; and how much more after my death! Assemble to me all the elders of your tribes and your officers, that I may recite these words to them, and call heaven and earth to witness against them; for I know that after my death you will be sure to act perniciously, and swerve from the way that I appointed you; and in after days evil will befall you, because you will be doing what is evil in the sight of the LORD, vexing him with your practices.”

So Moses recited the words of this song to its end, in the hearing of all the assembly of Israel:

32 “Hearken, O heavens, that I may speak;
 And may the earth hear the words of my mouth;
 2 May my message drop as the rain,
 My speech distil as the dew,
 As the mist on the fresh grass,
 And as showers on the vegetation.
 3 For I proclaim the name of the LORD:
 Give glory to our God!
 4 He is a rock; what he does is right;
 For all his ways are just;
 A trustworthy and never deceiving God;
 True and upright is he.
 5 Their imperfection has been the undoing of those undutiful to him,
 A twisted and crooked generation.
 6 Is this the way to treat the LORD,
 You foolish and senseless people?
 Is he not your father who created you,
 Who made you and fashioned you?
 7 Remember the days of old,
 Review the years, age after age;
 Ask your father to inform you,
 Your elders to tell you.
 8 When the Most High gave heritages to the nations,
 When he made divisions among mankind,
 He assigned the realms of the nations
 To the various deities;
 9 While the LORD’s apportionment was his own people;
 Jacob was the allotment for him to hold.

- 10 He found them in a desert land,
In the howling waste of a wilderness;
He encircled them, he cared for them;
He guarded them like the pupil of his eye.
- 11 Like an eagle stirring up its nestlings,
Dashing against its brood,
Spreading its wings to catch them,
And carrying them on its pinions,
- 12 The LORD alone was their leader,
And no foreign god was with him.
- 13 He made them mount the heights of the earth,
And they ate the products of the field;
He had them suck honey from crags,
And oil from flinty rocks.
- 14 Curds from cows and milk from sheep,
With the fat of lambs and rams,
Herds of Bashan and goats,
With the very choicest wheat,
And the blood of the grapes, a foaming draught,
Jacob ate to the fill;
- 15 Jeshurun grew fat, and kicked—
Gorge yourself, and you do become fat and corpulent—
So they forsook the God who made them,
And scoffed at the Rock of their salvation;
- 16 They stirred him to jealousy with alien gods,
They vexed him with abominable practices;
- 17 They sacrificed to demons that were not at all God,
Gods of whom they had had no experience;
New ones, but lately arrived,
Whom your fathers never revered.
- 18 You neglected the very Rock who bore you,
And forgot the God who gave you birth.
- 19 When the LORD saw it, he spurned them,
Because he was vexed with their sons and daughters;
- 20 And he said, 'I will hide my face from them;
I will see what will become of them;
For a fickle race are they,
Children in whom there is no sense of honor.
- 21 They stirred me to jealousy with what is no god;
They vexed me with their vanities;

So I will stir them to jealousy with what is no nation,
With an impious people I will vex them;
22 For a fire shall blaze within me,
And burn to the very depths of Sheol;
So that it shall consume the earth and its produce,
And set the bases of the mountains on fire.
23 I will exhaust calamities upon them;
I will use up my arrows on them.
24 The devastation of famine, and the ravages of fever,
And malignant pestilence,
And ferocious beasts I will send on them,
Along with poisonous reptiles.
25 On the street the sword shall cause bereavement,
And terror at home,
For youth and maiden alike,
For the babe as well as the man of gray hairs.
26 I would have said, "I will cut them in pieces;
I will extinguish the memory of them from men,"
27 Except that I dreaded irritation from the enemy,
Lest their foes should misinterpret it;
Lest they should say, "It is our might that has triumphed,
And not at all the LORD who did this";
28 For a people lacking in sense are they,
With no intelligence among them;
29 If they had any sense, they would perceive this;
They would see through to their own end.'
30 How could one person chase a thousand,
Or two put ten thousand to flight,
Unless their Rock had sold them,
And the LORD had given them up?
31 For their rock is not like our Rock,
Nor is our God a thing of nought;
32 For their vine comes from the stock of Sodom,
And from the fields of Gomorrah;
Their grapes are poisonous grapes;
Bitter clusters are theirs;
33 Their wine is the venom of dragons,
And the pitiless poison of cobras.
34 'Is it not stored up with me,
Sealed up in my treasuries,

- 35 Against the day of revenge and requital,
Against the time that their foot slips?
For their day of calamity is at hand,
And their doom is coming apace.'
- 36 For the LORD will vindicate his people,
And get vengeance for his servants,
When he sees that their power is gone,
With neither bound nor free remaining,
- 37 And that it is being said, 'Where is their God,
The Rock in whom they sought refuge,
38 He who ate the fat of their sacrifices,
And drank the wine of their libations?
Let him come to your help;
Let him be a shelter over you!'
- 39 'Know now that I, I am he,
And that there is no god beside me;
It is I who slay, and bring to life;
When I have inflicted wounds, it is I who heal them,
With none to give deliverance from my power;
- 40 For I lift my hand to the heavens,
And declare, "As I live forever,
41 I will whet my flashing sword,
And my hand shall lay hold on justice;
I will wreak vengeance on my foes,
And punish those who hate me;
- 42 I will drench my arrows with blood,
With the blood of captives slain;
And my sword shall devour flesh
From the shaggy heads of the enemy."'
- 43 Shout among the nations, O you, his people,
That he shall avenge the blood of his servants,
And wreak vengeance on his adversaries,
And purge his people's land of guilt."
- 44 So Moses went and recited all the words of this song to the people, along with Hoshea, the son of Nun.
- ⁴⁵ When Moses had finished reciting all these words to all Israel, he ⁴⁶ said to them,
"Take to heart all the things of which I am warning you today that you may lay them as a charge on your children, that they may be care-47 ful to observe all the provisions of this code; for this is by no means too trivial a thing for you to do; on the contrary it means your life, and for this very reason you shall live long in the land into which you are crossing the Jordan for conquest."

- 48 That very same day the LORD said to Moses, 49 "Ascend this mountain of the Abarim, namely Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, facing Jericho, and view the land of Canaan
 50 which I am giving to the Israelites as their own; and then die on the mountain that you ascend, and be gathered to your fathers; as your brother Aaron died on Mount Hor and was gathered to his fathers—
 51 because you broke faith with me among the Israelites at the waters of Meribath-Kadesh in the desert of Zin; because you did not pay me
 52 due honor among the Israelites. Accordingly you shall view the land from a point of vantage; but you shall not enter the land which I am giving to the Israelites."

THE BLESSING OF MOSES, 33:1-29

- 33 This is the blessing which Moses, the man of God, pronounced 2 upon the Israelites before his death. He said:

"The LORD came from Sinai,
 And dawned on us from Seir;
 He shone forth from the mountains of Paran,
 And advanced from Meribath-Kadesh,
 With his lightning-bolts at his right hand.

- 3 Yea, he loves his people;
 All those consecrated to him he blesses.
 So they recline at thy feet,
 Partaking of thy instruction,
 4 Moses having charged us with a law.
 His domain is Jacob's assembly,
 5 And he became king in Jeshurun,
 When the people's chieftains were assembled,
 And all the tribes of Israel came together."

- 6 "May Reuben live and not die, Though his men are few."

- 7 And this of Judah; he said,
 "Hear, O LORD, the cry of Judah,
 And bring him to his people!
 As his strength, contend for him,
 And be thou a help from his adversaries!"

- 8 And of Levi he said,
"Give thy thummim to Levi,
And thy urim to the man devoted to thee;
Whom thou didst test at Massah,
With whom thou didst contend at the waters of Meribah;
- 9 Who said of his father and mother,
'I no longer recognize them;'
And disowned his brothers,
And disavowed his own children;
But he has kept thy injunctions,
And guarded thy covenant.
- 10 He communicates thy ordinances to Jacob,
And thy instructions to Israel;
He provides the savor of sacrifices for thy nostrils,
And holocausts on thy altars."
- 11 "O LORD, bless his might,
And graciously accept the work of his hands!
Shatter his opponents' loins,
And his adversaries beyond recovery!"
- 12 Of Benjamin he said,
"He is the beloved of the LORD;
With him he dwells securely;
He ever encircles him,
And has established his abode between his shoulders."
- 13 And of Joseph he said,
"Blessed of the LORD be his land,
With the wealth of the heavens above,
And that of the abyss couching below;
- 14 With lavish crops from the sun,
And the lavish yield of the months;
- 15 With the finest produce of the ancient mountains,
And the wealth of the eternal hills;
- 16 With the wealth of the earth and its abundance,
And the favor of him who dwelt in the bush—
May it descend on the head of Joseph,
And on the brow of him who was cursed by his brothers!
- 17 As his firstling bull may majesty be his,
And may his horns be the horns of a wild-ox,

To butt the nations with them,
And drive them to the ends of the earth!
So may these be the myriads for Ephraim,
And these the thousands for Manasseh!"

18 And of Zebulun he said,
"Rejoice, Zebulun, in your enterprises abroad,
And you, Issachar, in your tents at home!
19 They call peoples to their mountain shrines,
There they offer the prescribed sacrifices;
For they suck up the affluence of the seas,
And the hidden treasures of the sand."

20 And of Gad he said,
"Blessed be he who made Gad so great!
He lurks like a lion,
That he may tear the arm, and the scalp as well.
21 He picked out the first for himself,
(For a leader's portion was reserved there),
And he entered as the forerunner of the people;
He carried out the just will of the LORD,
And his ordinances for Israel."

22 And of Dan he said,
"Dan is a lion's whelp,
That leaps from Bashan."

23 And of Naphtali he said,
"O Naphtali, loaded with favors,
And filled with the blessings of the LORD,
Take possession of the lake and the south!"

24 And of Asher he said,
"Most blessed of sons may Asher be;
May he be the favorite among his brothers,
With his foot immersed in oil!
25 May your bars be iron and bronze,
And your strength like your days!"

26 "There is none like the God of Jeshurun,
Throned in the heavens as your help,
And in the skies as the one to bring you victory.
27 The eternal God is a refuge,
And underneath are the everlasting arms;

- So he drove the enemy out of your way,
 And he destroyed the Amorites,
 28 And settled Israel in security,
 The fountain of Jacob undisturbed,
 In a land of grain and wine,
 With his heavens, too, dropping dew.
 29 Fortunate are you, O Israel; who is there like you?
 A people saved by the LORD,
 The shield of your help,
 And he that is the sword of your victory;
 So that your foes shall come cringing to you,
 As you march over their heights."

THE DEATH AND BURIAL OF MOSES, 34:1-12

- 34 From the steppes of Moab Moses ascended Mount Nebo, the head-land of Pisgah, which faces Jericho, and the LORD showed him all the 2 land—Gilead as far as Dan, all Naphtali, the territory of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the territory of Judah as far as the Western Sea, 3 the Negeb, and the basin or valley of Jericho (the city of palms)
 4 as far as Zoar. The LORD said to him,
 "This is the land concerning which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, as follows: 'To your descendants I will give it'; I have let you look upon it, but you shall not go over there."
 5 So Moses, the servant of the LORD, died there in the land of Moab
 6 by command of the LORD; and he was buried in the valley in the land of Moab opposite Beth-peor; but to this day no one knows his burial-place.
 7 Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died, his 8 eyes undimmed, and his virility unabated. For thirty days the Israelites wept for Moses in the steppes of Moab. After the days of weep-9 ing in lamentation over Moses had come to an end, since Joshua, the son of Nun, was full of sagacity (for Moses had laid his hands upon him), the Israelites gave their allegiance to him, doing as the LORD had commanded Moses.
 10 Since then no prophet has ever appeared in Israel like Moses, with 11 whom the LORD held converse face to face—as regards all the signs and portents which the LORD sent him to perform in the land of Egypt 12 against Pharaoh and all his courtiers and all his land, as well as all the mighty power and all the great wonders which Moses performed in the sight of all Israel.

THE BOOK OF JOSHUA

THE ISRAELITE CONQUEST OF CANAAN, 1:1—12:24

- 1 Now after the death of Moses, the servant of the LORD, the LORD said to Joshua, the son of Nun, the attendant of Moses,
- 2 “My servant Moses is dead; proceed, then, to cross the Jordan here, 3 you and all this people, into the land which I am giving them. Every place on which the sole of your foot treads I have given to you, as I 4 promised Moses; the region from the desert as far as the Lebanon yonder, and from the Great River, the river Euphrates, as far as the Great Western Sea, all the land of the Hittites, shall be your do- 5 main. No one shall be able to hold his own against you as long as you live; I will be with you, as I was with Moses, never failing you nor 6 forsaking you. Be strong and brave; for you shall put this people in possession of the land which I swore to their fathers to give them. 7 Only be very strong and resolute to be careful to do just as my servant Moses commanded you, swerving therefrom neither to the right nor to the left, so that you may succeed in everything that you undertake. 8 This book of the law must never be off your lips, but you must muse over it day and night, that you may be careful to comply with all that is written in it; for then you shall make your life prosperous, and you 9 shall succeed. Have I not commanded you to be strong and brave? Do not be frightened or dismayed; for the LORD your God is with you in whatever you undertake.”
- 10 Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people,
- 11 “Go through the camp, and command the people as follows: ‘Provide yourselves with supplies; for within three days you are going to cross the Jordan here to enter into possession of the land which the LORD your God is giving you to conquer.’ ”
- 12 Also to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh Joshua said,
- 13 “Remember the command which Moses, the servant of the LORD, gave you, when he said, ‘The LORD your God is providing you with a 14 home, and is giving you this land.’ Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle are to remain in the land which Moses gave you beyond the Jordan, but all of you who are valiant warriors are to cross over as 15 special troops ahead of your kinsmen, and help them, until the LORD provides your kinsmen with a home, as he has you, and they also occupy the land which the LORD your God is giving them. Then you may return to the land of your own, which Moses, the servant of the LORD, gave you beyond the Jordan to the east."

16 They answered Joshua,

"Everything that you have commanded us we will do, and wherever you send us we will go. Just as we obeyed Moses in everything, so will we obey you; only may the LORD your God be with you as he was with Moses! Anyone who scorns your orders and does not obey you in all that you command him, shall be put to death; only be strong and brave."

2 From Shittim Joshua, the son of Nun, sent two men as spies, saying,

"Go, view the land, especially Jericho."

So they went off. They entered the house of a harlot whose name was Rahab, and lay down there. Then the king of Jericho was told, "Some men came here tonight from the Israelites to reconnoiter the land!" So the king of Jericho sent word to Rahab,

"Bring out the men who have come to you, who have entered your house; for they have come to reconnoiter the whole land."

4 The woman, however, had taken the two men and hidden them; so she said,

"Yes, the men did come to me, but I did not know where they came from. When it came time for the gate to be closed at dark, the men went out. I do not know where the men went. Hurry and pursue them; for you can overtake them."

6 She had, however, brought them up to the roof, and had hidden them with the stalks of flax which she had spread out on the roof.

7 As for the men themselves, pursuers went after them in the direction of the Jordan as far as the fords; and the gate was shut as soon as those in pursuit of them went out. Before they had lain down, she came up to them on the roof, and said to the men,

"I know that the LORD has given you the land, and that the terror of you has fallen on us, and that all the inhabitants of the land are losing heart because of you; for we have heard how the LORD dried up the waters of the Red Sea before you when you came out of Egypt, and what you did to the two Amorite kings who lived on the other side of the Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom you exterminated. When we heard of it, our hearts failed, and no courage was left in anyone because of you; for the LORD your God is God in the heavens above 12 and on the earth below. Now then, since I have dealt kindly with you, swear to me by the LORD that you in turn will deal kindly with 13 my father's household, giving me a sure sign, and that you will spare the lives of my father, my mother, my brothers, and my sisters, together with all that belong to them, and thus save us from death."

14 The men said to her,

"We pledge our lives for yours that, if you say nothing about this errand of ours, we will deal kindly and honestly with you when the LORD gives us the land."

15 Then she let them down by a rope through the window (for her house was built into the city-wall, so that she was living right in the wall).

16 "Get away to the hills," she said to them, "lest the pursuers come across you; hide yourselves there for three days until the pursuers return, and then you may proceed on your way."

17 The men said to her,

18 "See, when we invade the land, you must tie this cord of scarlet string in the window through which you let us down. Gather your father, your mother, your brothers, and all your father's household
19 inside your house; in the case of anyone who leaves the door of your house for the street, his blood shall be on his own head; we will not be to blame; but in the case of everyone who is with you in the house, 20 his blood shall be on our heads, if a hand is laid on him. If, however, you divulge this errand of ours, we shall be released from the oath to you which you made us take."

21 "Let it be as you say," she said.

Then she saw them off; and after they had gone, she tied the scarlet 22 cord in the window. So they went off and entered the hills, and stayed there for three days, until the pursuers returned. The pursuers
23 looked for them all along the road, but did not find them. Then the two men returned; coming down from the hills, they crossed over and came to Joshua, the son of Nun, and told him all that had befallen them.

24 "The LORD is delivering the whole land into our power," they said to Joshua; "moreover, the inhabitants of the land are all losing heart because of us."

3 So Joshua rose early next morning, and he and all the Israelites set out from Shittim, and reaching the Jordan, they passed the night

2 there, before crossing over. Three days afterwards the officers went 3 through the camp, and commanded the people as follows:

“As soon as you see the Levitical priests taking up the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, you must leave your position and 4 follow it (there must be, however, between you and it a space of some two thousand cubits; you must not come any nearer to it), in order that you may know what road to follow; for you have never gone over this road before.”

5 Then Joshua said to the people,

“Consecrate yourselves; for tomorrow the LORD is going to perform wonders among you.”

6 To the priests Joshua said,

“Take up the ark of the covenant, and pass over ahead of the people.”

So they took up the ark of the covenant, and went ahead of the people.

7 Then the LORD said to Joshua,

“This day I begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, that they 8 may know that I am with you, as I was with Moses. Now, you are to command the priests who are carrying the ark of the covenant as follows: ‘As soon as you reach the brink of the water in the Jordan, you must come to a halt in the Jordan.’”

9 Then Joshua said to the Israelites,

“Come here and hear the words of the LORD your God.”

10 Joshua said,

“By this you shall know that the living God is in your midst, and that he is surely going to drive out of your way the Canaanites, Hittites, Hivvites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Amorites, and Jebusites. See, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of the whole earth is to cross the 11 Jordan ahead of you. Now then, choose twelve men from the tribes
12 of Israel, one man from each tribe. As soon as the soles of the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the LORD, the Lord of the whole earth, rest in the waters of the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan shall be cut off, namely, the waters flowing down from above, and they shall come to a stop in a single heap.”

14 When the people left their tents to cross the Jordan, with the priests
15 carrying the ark of the covenant preceding the people, then, as soon as the bearers of the ark reached the Jordan, and the feet of the priests carrying the ark dipped in the brink of the water (the Jordan being 16 flooded above all its banks during all the time of harvest), the waters flowing down from above came to a stop, rising up in a single heap, and extending for a long distance from Adamah, a city that is in the vicinity of Zarethan; while those flowing down toward the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, were completely cut off, so that the people 17 crossed over, opposite Jericho. The priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD took their stand on dry ground, right in the middle of the Jordan, while all Israel crossed over on dry ground, until the whole nation had finished crossing the Jordan.

4 As soon as the whole nation had finished crossing the Jordan, the LORD said to Joshua,

² “Choose twelve men from the people, one from each tribe, and ³ command them as follows: ‘Take up twelve stones from here, right out of the middle of the Jordan, from the place where the feet of the priests stood, and carrying them over with you, lay them down at the place where you are going to camp tonight.’”

4 So Joshua summoned the twelve men whom he had selected from 5 the Israelites, one from each tribe, and Joshua said to them,

“Go over to where the ark of the LORD your God is in the middle of the Jordan, and each of you lift a stone upon his shoulder, to the num-
6 ber of the tribes of the Israelites, that this may be a sign among you; for later your children will be asking you, ‘What is the significance of 7 these stones to you?’ and then you must tell them how the waters of the Jordan were cut off in front of the ark of the covenant of the LORD; when it passed into the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off; so these stones serve as a memorial for the Israelites forever.”

8 The Israelites did as Joshua commanded; they took up twelve stones out of the middle of the Jordan, as the LORD had told Joshua, to the number of the tribes of the Israelites, and carrying them over
9 with them to the camping-place, they laid them down there (Joshua having piled up the twelve stones in the middle of the Jordan at the place where the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant
10 stood), and there they are to this day. The priests carrying the ark remained standing in the middle of the Jordan until everything had been finished that the LORD had commanded Joshua to tell the people
11 to do. The people hurried over, and as soon as the people had all finished crossing, the ark of the LORD, with the priests, passed over to the 12 van of the people. The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh passed over as special troops ahead of the Israelites, as Moses had 13 told them, some forty thousand picked troops passing over in sight of 14 the LORD to the steppes of Jericho for battle. That day the LORD exalted Joshua in the sight of all Israel, so that they revered him as they had revered Moses, as long as he lived.

15 Then the LORD said to Joshua,

16 "Command the priests carrying the ark of the decrees to come up out of the Jordan."

17 So Joshua commanded the priests,
"Come up out of the Jordan."

18 When the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD came up from the middle of the Jordan, and the soles of the feet of the priests were lifted on to the dry ground, the waters of the Jordan resumed their course, and flowed as before above all its banks.

19 It was on the tenth day of the first month that the people came up from the Jordan, and camped at Gilgal at the eastern outskirts of Jericho; and these twelve stones which they took out of the Jordan, 20 Joshua set up at Gilgal. Then he said to the Israelites,

"When your children in time to come ask their fathers, 'What is 22 the significance of these stones?' you must inform your children as 23 follows: 'Right on dry ground Israel crossed this Jordan.' For the LORD your God dried up the waters of the Jordan in front of you, until you had passed over, as the LORD your God did to the Red Sea 24 which he dried up in front of us, until we had passed over, that all the peoples of the earth may know that the hand of the LORD is strong, so that you may stand in awe of the LORD your God always."

5 Now when all the Amorite kings who were beyond the Jordan to the west, and all the Canaanite kings who were by the Sea heard how the LORD had dried up the waters of the Jordan in front of the Israelites, until they had passed over, their hearts failed, and there was no courage left in them because of the Israelites.

2 At that time the LORD said to Joshua,

"Make flint knives, and have another circumcision for the Israelites."

3 So Joshua made flint knives, and circumcised the Israelites at Gibeath-araloth [the hill of the foreskins]. Now this is the reason why Joshua had the circumcision: all the people who had come out of Egypt, that is, the males, all the warriors, had died during the journey 5 through the desert after coming out of Egypt; for all the people who came out were circumcised, but none of the people who had been born during the journey through the desert after coming out of Egypt 6 had been circumcised; for the Israelites had journeyed for forty years in the desert until the whole generation, that is, the warriors who came out of Egypt, had perished, since they would not heed the injunctions of the LORD, and the LORD had sworn to them that he would not let them see the land which the LORD had sworn to their fathers to give us, a land abounding in milk and honey. So it was their children who replaced them that Joshua circumcised; for they were uncircumcised, because they had not been circumcised on the journey. After the circumcision had been completed for the whole nation, they remained at home in the camp until they had recovered.

Then the LORD said to Joshua,
“Today I have rolled the odium of Egypt off you.”

Hence the name of that place came to be called Gilgal [rolling], as it is to this day.

When the Israelites were camped at Gilgal, they observed the passover on the evening of the fourteenth day of the month, on the steppes of Jericho. The day after the passover they ate some of the products of the land, unleavened cakes and parched grain; that very same day the manna ceased, when they ate some of the products of the land, so that the Israelites had manna no longer, but lived that year on the produce of the land of Canaan.

When Joshua was near Jericho, he raised his eyes and saw a man standing opposite him with his drawn sword in his hand. So Joshua approached him, and said to him,

“Are you for us, or for our adversaries?”

“No,” said he; “I come rather as captain of the host of the LORD.”

Then Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and bowing down, said to him,

“What has my lord to say to his servant?”

“Take your sandals off your feet,” the captain of the host of the LORD said to Joshua; “for the place on which you are standing is holy.”

Joshua did so. (Now Jericho was shut up tight because of the Israelites, with no one going out or coming in). Then the LORD said to Joshua, “See, I am delivering Jericho into your power, along with its king.

Take the most valiant warriors, and march around the city, all the warriors going around the city once. Thus shall you do for six days, while seven priests carry seven rams' horns in front of the ark. On the seventh day you shall march around the city seven times, while the priests blow the horns. When they blow a long blast on the rams' horns, as soon as you hear the sound of the horns, all the people must raise a mighty shout, and then the wall of the city shall fall down flat, so that the people can go up, each straight in front of him."

6 So Joshua, the son of Nun, summoned the priests, and said to them, "Take up the ark of the covenant, and let seven priests carry seven rams' horns in front of the ark of the LORD."

7 Then he said to the people,

"Pass on, and march around the city, while the picked troops pass on in front of the ark of the LORD."

8 After Joshua had spoken to the people, the seven priests carrying the seven rams' horns in front of the LORD passed on, and blew the 9 horns, while the ark of the covenant of the LORD followed them, and the picked troops marched in front of the priests who were blowing the horns, and the rearguard followed the ark, blowing the horns as they went.

10 Then Joshua commanded the people,

"You must not shout, nor let your voices be heard, nor let a word escape your lips, until the day that I tell you to shout; then shout."

11 So he had the ark of the LORD taken around the city, going around it once; then they retired to the camp, and spent the night in the camp.

12 Next morning Joshua rose early; the priests took up the ark of the 13 LORD, while the seven priests carrying the seven rams' horns in front of the ark of the LORD went along, blowing the horns as they went, and the picked troops went ahead of them, and the rearguard followed the ark of the LORD, blowing the horns as they went. So they 14 marched once around the city on the second day, and then returned to 15 the camp. Thus they did for six days. Then on the seventh day they rose early at daybreak, and marched around the city in the same manner seven times; it was on that day only that they marched around the 16 city seven times. The seventh time the priests blew the horns, and then Joshua said to the people,

17 "Shout; for the LORD is giving you the city. The city with all that is in it is to be immolated to the LORD; only Rahab, the harlot, is to be spared, she and all who are with her in her house, because she hid the 18 messengers whom we sent. As for yourselves, you are to keep absolutely clear of the doomed things, lest you covet them, and take some of the doomed things, and so put the camp of Israel under the ban, 19 and bring trouble to it. But all the silver and gold, and the articles of bronze and iron are sacred to the LORD; they are to go into the treasury of the LORD."

20 So the people shouted, when the horns were blown. As soon as the people heard the sound of the horns, the people raised a mighty shout, and the wall fell flat, so that the people went up into the city, each 21 straight in front of him, and they captured the city. They massacred all that were in the city, both men and women, old and young alike,

22 as well as the oxen, sheep, and asses, putting them to the sword. But Joshua said to the two men who had spied out the land,

“Go into the harlot’s house, and bring the woman out of it, with all that belong to her, as you swore to her.”

23 So the spies went in, and brought Rahab out, with her father, her mother, her brothers, and all that belonged to her; they brought all
24 her family out, and placed them outside the camp of Israel. The city itself they burned up, with all that was in it; only the silver and gold and articles of bronze and iron, they put into the treasury of the LORD.
25 But Rahab, the harlot, and her father’s household, and all that belonged to her, Joshua spared; and she lived among the Israelites, as do her descendants to this day; for she hid the messengers that Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26 At that time Joshua had an oath taken as follows:

“Cursed be the man before the LORD,
Who undertakes to rebuild this city, Jericho;
At the cost of his first-born shall he lay its foundation,
And at the cost of his youngest son shall he erect its gates.”

27 The LORD was with Joshua, so that his fame spread throughout the whole land.

7 But the Israelites broke faith in the case of the doomed things, in that Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zadbi, the son of Zerah, who belonged to the tribe of Judah, took some of the doomed things, so that the anger of the LORD blazed against the Israelites.

2 Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is near Bethaven, east of Bethel, and said to them,

“Go up and spy out the land.”

3 So the men went up and spied out Ai. Then they returned to Joshua, and said to him,

“All the people need not go up; only two or three thousand men need go up to attack Ai; do not make all the people toil up there; for they are few.”

4 So about three thousand of the people went up there; but they fled 5 from the men of Ai. The men of Ai killed about thirty-six of them, and pursued them out from the city-gate as far as Shebarim, and killed them at the descent, so that the hearts of the people failed, and turned to water.

6 Then Joshua tore his clothes, and falling on his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD, he lay there until evening, together with the elders of Israel; and they threw dust on their heads.

7 "Alas, O Lord God," said Joshua, "why didst thou ever bring this people across the Jordan, only to deliver us into the power of the Amorites, to destroy us? Would that we had been content to remain 8 on the other side of the Jordan! Pray, O Lord, what can I say after 9 Israel has turned his back on his enemies? When the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land hear of it, they will surround us, and wipe us off the earth; and what wilt thou do then for thy great name?"

10 "Rise!" the LORD said to Joshua. "What use is it to fall on your 11 face? Israel has sinned; they have violated the covenant with me, which I enjoined on them; they have taken some of the doomed things; they have stolen them, dissimulated about them, and put them 12 among their own things. The Israelites, accordingly, cannot stand up against their enemies, but turn their backs on their enemies; for they have become doomed themselves. I will not be with you any 13 more, unless you get rid of the doomed things. Rise, consecrate the people, and say, 'Consecrate yourselves for tomorrow; for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: "Doomed things are among you, O Israel; you cannot stand up against your enemies until you remove the 14 doomed things from your midst." In the morning, then, you shall present yourselves by tribes; and the tribe which the LORD indicates shall come forward by clans; and the clan which the LORD indicates shall come forward by families; and the family which the LORD in- 15 dicates shall come forward by individuals. Then he that is indicated as having the doomed things shall be burned, together with all that belong to him; because he violated the covenant of the LORD, and because he committed an infamous act in Israel.' "

16 So Joshua rose early next morning, and had Israel come forward 17 by tribes, and the tribe of Judah was indicated. Then he had the clans of Judah come forward, and the clan of the Zerahites was indicated. Then he had the clan of the Zerahites come forward by families, and 18 Zabdi was indicated. Finally he had his family come forward by individuals, and Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of 19 Zerah, belonging to the tribe of Judah, was indicated. Then Joshua said to Achan,

"My son, render homage to the LORD, the God of Israel, and give praise to him; but do tell me what you did; do not hide it from me."

20 Achan answered Joshua,

"Yes, it was I who sinned against the LORD, the God of Israel; this 21 briefly is what I did: when I saw among the spoil a beautiful mantle from Shinar, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a bar of gold fifty shekels in weight, I coveted them, and took them; they are hidden in the ground inside my tent, with the money underneath the mantle."

22 So Joshua sent messengers, who ran to the tent, and there it was 23 hidden in his tent, with the money underneath it! They took the things from the tent, and brought them to Joshua and all the Israel- 24 ites; and they laid them before the LORD. Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, took Achan, the descendant of Zerah, and the silver, the mantle, the bar of gold, his sons, his daughters, his oxen, his asses, his sheep, his household, and all that belonged to him, and they brought them to the valley of Achor.

25 "Why have you brought trouble on us?" said Joshua. "May the LORD bring trouble on you today!"

So all Israel stoned him; they burned them all up and stoned them.

26 They erected a great cairn of stones over him, which remains to this day. Then the LORD relented from his fierce anger. That is how the name of that place came to be called the Valley of Achor [trouble], as it is to this day.

8 Then the LORD said to Joshua,

"Do not be afraid or dismayed; take all the warriors with you, and go, march against Ai. See, I am delivering the king of Ai into 2 your power, together with his people, his city, and his land. You shall do to Ai and its king as you did to Jericho and its king, except that you may take its spoil and cattle as your booty. Set an ambush for the city west of it."

3 So Joshua, with all the warriors, prepared to march against Ai. Joshua picked out thirty thousand of the most valiant warriors, and 4 sent them off by night, commanding them as follows:

"See, you are to lie in ambush against the city, to the west of it; 5 do not go very far from the city, but all of you be ready. I and all the troops with me will draw near to the city, and then, when they come out against us, we will flee from them as we did the first time, 6 and they will come out after us, until we draw them away from the city; for they will say, 'They are fleeing from us as they did the first

7 time.' Thus we shall flee from them, and then you must rise from your ambush, and take possession of the city. The LORD your God⁸ will deliver it into your power. As soon as you have seized the city, set the city on fire, doing as the LORD directed. See, I have given you your commands."

9 Then Joshua sent them off, and they went to the place of ambush, establishing themselves between Bethel and Ai, west of Ai; but Joshua himself spent that night with the people.

¹⁰ Next morning Joshua rose early, and mustered the people, and with¹¹ the elders of Israel marched at the head of the people to Ai. Then all the people, that is, the warriors that were with him, marched up until they came near it. Arriving in front of the city, they encamped¹² north of Ai, with the valley between them and Ai. Joshua took about five thousand men, and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai,¹³ west of the city. So the people were given their stations, the main body north of the city, and the rearguard west of the city; but Joshua himself spent that night in the valley.

¹⁴ As soon as the king of Ai became aware of it, he hurried out with all his people to meet Israel in battle, without knowing that there was¹⁵ an ambush for him west of the city. Joshua and all Israel pretended¹⁶ to be beaten by them, and fled in the direction of the desert. Then all the people that were in the city were called out to pursue them; and in¹⁷ pursuing Joshua, they were drawn away from the city. Not a man was left in Ai or Bethel that did not go out in pursuit of Israel; they¹⁸ left the city unguarded, and pursued Israel. Then the LORD said to Joshua,

"Stretch out the javelin that is in your hand toward Ai; for I will deliver it into your power."

¹⁹ So Joshua stretched out the javelin that was in his hand toward the city; whereupon the men in ambush rose quickly from their position; as soon as he stretched out his hand, they ran, and entered the city, and²⁰ captured it; then they hurriedly set the city on fire. When the men of Ai looked back, they saw the smoke of the city rising to the heavens! They had no chance to flee this way or that; for the people who²¹ had been fleeing to the desert turned on their pursuers. When Joshua and the main body of Israel saw that the men in ambush had captured the city, and that smoke was rising from the city, they turned back²² and attacked the men of Ai. Then the others came out of the city against them, and thus they were between two bodies of Israelites, some on one side and some on the other. They slew them until not

23 one remained or escaped. The king of Ai they took alive, and brought him to Joshua.

24 When Israel had finished slaying all the inhabitants of Ai in the open desert where they had pursued them, and all of them had fallen by the sword until they were at an end, all Israel turned back to Ai, 25 and put it to the sword. The total number of those that fell that day, including men and women, was twelve thousand, namely, all the people of Ai; Joshua did not withdraw his hand, with which he was holding out the javelin, until he had massacred all the inhabitants of 27 Ai. The cattle, however, and the spoil of that city the Israelites took as their booty, in accord with the command which the LORD had given 28 Joshua. So Joshua burned Ai, and turned it permanently into a 29 heap of ruins, as it is to this day. The king of Ai he hanged on a tree and left until evening, but at sunset Joshua ordered his body to be taken down from the tree, and thrown down at the entrance to the city's gate. A great cairn of stones was erected over it, which remains to this day.

30 Then Joshua built an altar to the LORD, the God of Israel, on 31 Mount Gerizim, as Moses, the servant of the LORD, had commanded the Israelites, an altar of undressed stones, on which no iron tool had been used, as it is written in the lawbook of Moses. Burnt-offerings to the LORD were made on it, and thank-offerings were sacrificed. 32 Then he wrote there on the stones a copy of the law of Moses which 33 he had written for the Israelites. First all Israel, with their elders, officers, and judges took their stand on each side of the ark, opposite the Levitical priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD—the resident aliens as well as the native born—half of them in front of Mount Gerizim, and half of them in front of Mount Ebal for the blessing of the people of Israel, as Moses, the servant of the LORD, 34 had instructed; and then he read all the provisions of the law, the 35 blessing and the curse, just as it was written in the lawbook; there was not a word of all that Moses commanded that Joshua did not read in the presence of all the assemblage of Israel, with the women, the children, and the resident aliens who were living with them.

9 When all the kings heard of it, who were beyond the Jordan, in the highlands and lowlands, and all along the coast of the Great Sea in front of Lebanon, the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, 2 Hivvites, and Jebusites, they formed a coalition to fight as a single body with Joshua and Israel.

3 When the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done to

4 Jericho and Ai, they on their part resorted to a ruse; they proceeded to disguise themselves; they took old sacks to load on their asses, and
5 old torn, patched wineskins, with old, patched sandals on their feet, and old garments on their backs, and the bread for their provisions
6 was all dry and crumbled. Then they went to Joshua at the camp at Gilgal, and said to him and the men of Israel,

“We have come from a far country; now then, make an alliance with us.”

7 The men of Israel said to the Hivvites,

“Perhaps you are living among us; so how can we make an alliance with you?”

8 “We are your servants,” they said to Joshua.

But Joshua said to them,

“Who are you, and where do you come from?”

9 They said to him,

“Your servants have come from a very far country on account of the fame of the LORD your God; for we have heard the report of him,
10 and all that he did in Egypt and all that he did to the two Amorite kings who were beyond the Jordan, Sihon, king of Heshbon, and Og,
11 king of Bashan, who lived at Ashtaroth. Our elders and all the inhabitants of our land said to us, ‘Take with you some provisions for a journey, and go to meet them, and say to them, “We are your servants; now then, make an alliance with us.”’ This is our bread; we 12 took it fresh for our provision out of our houses on the day that we 13 left to come to you, and now look; it is dry and crumbled. These are our wineskins, which were new when we filled them, and now look; they are torn. These are our clothes and sandals; they are worn out from the very long journey.”

14 Then the men partook of their provisions, without asking the advice of the LORD; and Joshua came to terms with them, and made a covenant with them to let them live, and the leaders of the community swore an oath to them.

15 However, three days after they had made the covenant with them, they learned that they were their neighbors, and were living among 16 them. So the Israelites set out, and reached their cities on the third day, their cities being Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and Kirjath-jearim. The Israelites, however, did not kill them, because the leaders of the community had sworn an oath to them by the LORD, the God
17 of Israel. The whole community grumbled at the leaders, but the leaders all said to the whole community,

“We have sworn an oath to them by the LORD, the God of Israel; so now we cannot touch them. This is what we will do to them; we will let them live, so that no wrath may come upon us for the oath which we swore to them.”

“They shall live,” the leaders said to them; “but they shall become hewers of wood and drawers of water for the whole community, as the leaders told them.”

Then Joshua summoned them, and said to them,

“Why have you deceived us by saying, ‘We live very far from you,’ when you are really living among us? Cursed then shall you be; never shall you cease providing slaves, hewers of wood and drawers of water, for the temple of my God!”

They answered Joshua,

“Your servants were assured that the LORD your God had commanded his servant Moses to give you the whole land, and to exterminate all the inhabitants of the land from your way, so we stood in great fear of our lives through you, and accordingly have done this. Here we are, then, in your power; do whatever you think it right and proper to do to us.”

And that was what Joshua did to them; he saved them from the Israelites, so that they did not slay them; but he made them that day hewers of wood and drawers of water for the community, and for the altar of the LORD, for the sanctuary that he should choose, as they are to this day.

When Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, heard that Joshua had captured Ai, and had annihilated it (having done to Ai and its king as he did to Jericho and its king), and that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel, and had joined them, he was in great terror; for Gibeon was a large city, quite like a royal city, and was larger than Ai, and its men were all fighters. So Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, sent this message to Hoham, king of Hebron, to Piram, king of Jarmuth, to Japhia, king of Lachish, and to Debir, king of Eglon: “Join me, and give me your help, that we may chastise Gibeon; for it has made peace with Joshua and the Israelites.”

So the five Amorite kings, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, mustered their forces, and coming up with all their armies, they invested Gibeon, and attacked it. Then the Gibeonites sent this message to Joshua at the camp at Gilgal:

“Do not abandon your servants; come up quickly to our rescue, and help us; for all the Amorite kings inhabiting the highlands have gathered against us.”

7 So Joshua went up from Gilgal, accompanied by all the warriors, as well as all the seasoned troops.

8 “Do not be afraid of them,” the LORD said to Joshua; “for I am delivering them into your power; not one of them shall hold his own against you.”

9 So Joshua made a surprise attack upon them, by marching all night
10 from Gilgal; and the LORD threw them into a panic before Israel, so that they inflicted great slaughter on them at Gibeon, and pursuing them in the direction of the slope of Beth-horon, they harried them
11 all the way to Azekah and Makkedah. After they had fled from the Israelites, while they were at the descent of Beth-horon, the LORD cast great stones from the sky upon them all the way to Azekah, so that they died, more dying from the hailstones than the Israelites slew with the sword.

12 It was on the day that the LORD put the Amorites at the mercy of the Israelites that Joshua spoke to the LORD, and in the presence of Israel said,

“O sun, stop at Gibeon;

And thou moon, at the valley of Aijalon!”

13 So the sun came to a stop, and the moon stood still, until the nation took vengeance on their foes. (Is this not written in the Book of Jashar?) The sun stood still at the zenith, and delayed its setting for 14 about a whole day. Never before or since has there been a day like that, when the LORD heeded the cry of a man; for the LORD fought 15 for Israel. Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, returned to the camp at Gilgal.

16 The five kings fled, and hid themselves in the cave at Makkedah;
17 and Joshua was told,

“The five kings have been discovered, hidden in the cave at Makkedah.”

18 So Joshua said,

“Roll large stones up to the mouth of the cave, and post men over it
19 to guard them; but do not stay there yourselves; pursue your enemies, and attack them in the rear; do not let them get into their cities; for the LORD your God has delivered them into your power.”

20 When Joshua and the Israelites had finished inflicting a very great slaughter on them until they were at an end, and the survivors who 21 were left of them had gained the fortified cities, the people all returned unmolested to Joshua at the camp at Makkedah, not a man saying a word against the Israelites.

22 Then Joshua said,

“Open the mouth of the cave, and bring me those five kings out of the cave.”

23 They did so; they brought him these five kings out of the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the 24 king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon. When they had brought these kings out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel, and said to the army commanders who had accompanied him,

“Come forward, and put your feet on the necks of these kings.”

25 So they came forward, and put their feet on their necks. Then Joshua said to them,

“Do not be afraid or dismayed; be strong and brave; for thus shall the LORD do to all your enemies with whom you fight.”

26 Joshua then felled them, and killed them; he hanged them on five 27 trees, and they remained hanging on the trees until evening. At sunset, on command of Joshua, they were taken down from the trees, and thrown into the cave where they had hidden themselves, and large stones were placed on the mouth of the cave, which remain to this very day.

28 That day Joshua captured Makkedah, and put it and its king to the sword, annihilating it and every person in it, sparing no one. He did to the king of Makkedah as he had done to the king of Jericho.

29 Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, passed on from Makkedah
30 to Libnah. He attacked Libnah, and the LORD delivered it also, with its king, into the power of Israel. He put it to the sword, with every person that was in it, sparing no one in it, and did to its king as he had done to the king of Jericho.

31 Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, passed on from Libnah to 32 Lachish. He invested it, and attacked it; and the LORD delivered Lachish into the power of Israel. He captured it on the second day, and put it to the sword, with every person that was in it, just as he 33 had done to Libnah. Then Horam, king of Gezer, came up to help Lachish, but Joshua harried him and his army until not a survivor was left to him.

34 Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, passed on from Lachish to 35 Eglon. They invested it, and attacked it. They captured it that same day, and put it to the sword, massacring that day every person that was in it, just as had been done to Lachish.

36 Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, marched up from Eglon
37 to Hebron. They attacked it, and captured it, and put it to the sword, with its king, all its towns, and every person that was in it, sparing no one, just as had been done to Eglon. He annihilated it and every person in it.

38 Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, turned back to Debir, and 39 attacked it. He captured it and its king and all its towns. He put them to the sword, and massacred every person that was in it, sparing no one. As he had done to Hebron, so he did to Debir and its king, as also he had done to Libnah and its king.

40 Thus Joshua conquered the whole land, the highlands, the steppes, the lowlands, and the slopes, with all their kings, sparing no one, but massacring every living soul, as the LORD, the God of Israel, had 41 directed. Joshua conquered them from Kadesh-barnea as far as Gaza, 42 and all the land of Goshen as far as Gibeon. All these kings and their country Joshua captured in a single campaign; for the LORD, the God
43 of Israel, fought for Israel. Then Joshua, accompanied by all Israel, returned to the camp at Gilgal.

11 When Jabin, king of Hazor, heard about it, he sent to Jobab, king
2 of Madon, to the king of Shimron, to the king of Achshaph, to the kings that were in the highlands to the north, in the Arabah south of Chinneroth, in the lowlands, and in the uplands of Dor to the west—
3 the Canaanites to the east and west, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites in the highlands, and the Hivvites at the foot
4 of Hermon in the land of Mizpeh. These, accompanied by all their troops, sallied forth, a great host, as numerous as the sands on the 5 seashore, with very many horses and chariots. All these kings joined forces, and went and encamped together at the waters of Merom, to fight with Israel.

6 Then the LORD said to Joshua,

“Do not stand in fear of them; for tomorrow about this time I will deliver them up to Israel all slain; you must hamstring their horses, and burn up their chariots.”

7 So Joshua, accompanied by all the warriors, made a surprise attack
8 upon them at the waters of Merom, and fell upon them. The LORD delivered them into the power of Israel, so that they defeated them, and pursued them as far as Sidon the Great and Misrephoth-maim and the valley of Mizpeh eastward. They harried them until not a sur-

- 9 vivor was left to them. Joshua did to them as the LORD had told him, hamstringing their horses, and burning up their chariots.
- 10 It was at that time also that Joshua captured Hazor, and put its king to the sword (for Hazor used to be the head of all those kingdoms). They put every person that was in it to the sword, massacring them, not a living soul being left. Then Hazor was burned.
- 11 So Joshua captured all the cities of those kings, as well as all the kings themselves, and put them to the sword, massacring them, as Moses, the servant of the LORD, had commanded. None of the cities, however, that stood on mounds did Israel burn, except Hazor alone, Joshua having burned it. All the spoil of these cities and the cattle, the Israelites took as their booty; but they put all the men to the sword until they had destroyed them, sparing not a living soul. As the LORD had commanded his servant Moses, so did Moses command Joshua; and thus Joshua did, neglecting nothing of all that the LORD had commanded Moses.
- 12 So Joshua took all that land (the highlands, all the steppes, all the land of Goshen, the lowlands, the Arabah, the highlands of Israel, and its lowlands), from Mount Halak, that rises toward Seir, as far as Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon at the foot of Mount Hermon. He captured all their kings, and after scourging them, he put them to death. For a long time Joshua carried on war with all those kings. There was no city that made peace with the Israelites, except the Hivvites, inhabiting Gibeon; they all had to be taken in battle. For it was at the instigation of the LORD that they had been encouraged to engage Israel in battle, that they might be annihilated, without being given any quarter, but annihilated, as the LORD had commanded Moses.
- 13 At that same time Joshua went and exterminated the Anakim from the highlands; from Hebron, Debir, and Anab, from all the highlands of Judah, and all the highlands of Israel; Joshua annihilated them, along with their cities. No Anakim were left in the land of the Israelites; it was only in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod that some remained. Joshua captured the whole land, just as the LORD had promised Moses. Joshua then distributed it as a heritage among the various tribes of Israel. So the land had rest from war.
- 14 The following are the kings of the land whom the Israelites had already vanquished, and whose land beyond the Jordan to the east they had occupied, from the river Arnon as far as Mount Hermon, with all the Arabah eastward: Sihon, king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, and whose rule extended from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Arnon valley, from the middle of the valley as far as the Jabbok river, the frontier of the Ammonites, that is, half of Gilead, along with the Arabah as far as the Sea of Chinneroth to the east, and as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, to the east, in the direction of Beth-jeshimoth, and southward to the foot of the slopes of Pisgah; also Og, king of Bashan, one of the survivors of the Rephaim, who lived at Ashtaroth and Edrei, and who ruled over Mount Hermon, Salecah, and the whole of Bashan, as far as the frontier of the Geshurites and Maacathites, along with half of Gilead, as far as the frontier of Sihon, king of Heshbon. Moses, the servant of the LORD, and the Israelites had vanquished them, and Moses, the servant of the LORD, had given the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh possession of their land.

The following are the kings of the land whom Joshua and the Israelites vanquished beyond the Jordan to the west, from Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon as far as Mount Halak which rises toward Seir (Joshua distributed the land among the various tribes of Israel as their possession), in the highlands, the lowlands, the Arabah, the slopes, the desert, and the steppes: Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites:

THE ALLOTMENT OF THE LAND AMONG THE HEBREW TRIBES,

13 When Joshua was old, being well advanced in life, the LORD said to him,

“You are old, being well advanced in life, but very much of the land remains still to be conquered. The following is the territory that still remains: all the Philistine states, and all those of the Geshurites, from the Shihor which is east of Egypt as far as the frontier of Ekron to the north (which is regarded as Canaanite), the five principalities of the Philistines, the Gazite, Ashdodite, Ashkelonite, Gittite, and Ekronite; also the territory of the Avvim to the south, all the land of the Canaanites from Mearah which belongs to the Sidonians as far as Aphek, as far as the frontier of the Amorites; and the territory of the Gebalites, along with the whole of Lebanon to the east, from Baal-gad at the foot of Mount Hermon as far as the approach to Hamath. All the inhabitants of the highlands from Lebanon as far as Misrephoth-maim, all the Sidonians, I will drive out of the way of the Israelites; meanwhile, however, allot the land to Israel as a heritage, as I commanded you. Now then, divide this land as a heritage among the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh.”

8 Along with the other half-tribe, the Reubenites and Gadites had received their heritage, which Moses had given them beyond the Jordan to the east, as Moses, the servant of the LORD, had assigned it to

9 them, extending from Aroer which is on the edge of the Arnon valley, together with the city that is in the valley, and all the table-land from 10 Medeba as far as Dibon, and all the cities of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the frontier of the Am-
11 monites; as well as Gilead, and the territory of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and the whole of Mount Hermon, and the whole of 12 Bashan as far as Salecah, the whole kingdom of Og in Bashan who reigned at Ashtaroth and Edrei (he was the last survivor of the 13 Rephaim)—Moses had defeated these, and dispossessed them. The Israelites, however, did not evict the Geshurites or Maacathites; but 14 Geshur and Maacath live in the midst of Israel to this day. To the tribe of Levi alone was no heritage given, the LORD, the God of Israel, being their heritage, as he had promised them.

15 Moses had made assignments to the various clans of the tribe of 16 Reubenites. To them went the territory extending from Aroer which is on the edge of the Arnon valley, together with the city that is in 17 the valley, and all the table-land at Madeba, Heshbon and all its towns
18 on the table-land, Dibon, Bamoth-baal, Beth-baal-meon, Jahaz, 19 Kedemoth, Mephaath, Kirjathaim, Sibmah, Zereth-shahar on the hill 20 in the valley, Beth-peor, the slopes of Pisgah, Beth-jeshimoth, all the 21 cities on the table-land, and the whole kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses defeated, along 22 with the Midianite chiefs, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, who as vassals of Sihon were living in the land. Besides these victims the 23 Israelites also slew the soothsayer Balaam, the son of Beor, with the sword. The territory of the Reubenites was the Jordan and its banks; this was the heritage of the various clans of the Reubenites, the cities and their villages.

24 Moses had also made assignments to the various clans of the tribe
25 of Gad, the Gadites. To them went the territory, Jazer, all the cities of Gilead, half the land of the Ammonites as far as Aroer, which 26 is east of Rabbah, the region from Heshbon as far as Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim as far as the outskirts of Debir,
27 along with Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth, and Zaphon, in the valley, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon, king of Heshbon—the Jordan and its banks as far as the lower end of the Sea of Chinnereth 28 beyond the Jordan to the east. This was the heritage of the various clans of the Gadites, the cities and their villages.

29 Moses had also made assignments to the half-tribe of Manassch, 30 and in the case of the half-tribe of Manassites it was by clans. Their territory was that extending from Mahanaim, the whole of Bashan, the whole kingdom of Og, king of Bashan, the whole of Havvoth-jair which is in Bashan (sixty towns); also half of Gilead, with Ash-taroth and Edrei (cities belonging to the kingdom of Og in Bashan), went to the various clans of the descendants of Machir, the son of Manasseh, that is, half the Machirites.

These were the assignments which Moses had made in the steppes of Moab, beyond the Jordan, east of Jericho. To the tribe of Levi, however, Moses had assigned no heritage, the LORD, the God of Israel, being their heritage, as he had promised them.

The following are the heritages which the Israelites received in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the heads of families in the tribes of Israelites assigned to them, the assignments to them being made by lot, as the LORD through Moses had commanded for the nine and a half tribes; for Moses had already made the assignments to the other two and a half tribes beyond the Jordan, but to the Levites he had made no assignment with the others. (As a matter of fact the descendants of Joseph formed two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim.) No share of the land was given to the Levites, except some cities to live in, with the pasture-lands around them for their cattle and other live stock. As the LORD commanded Moses, so did the Israelites in their allotment of the land.

The Judeans came up to Joshua at Gilgal, and Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, said to him,

“You know what the LORD said to Moses, the man of God, about you and myself at Kadesh-barnea. I was forty years old when Moses, the servant of the LORD, sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy out the land. I brought him back as conscientious a report as I could. My kinsmen, however, who went up with me, made the people lose heart, whereas I corroborated the LORD my God. So Moses made this oath to me that day: ‘The land on which your foot has trodden is to be a heritage for you and your descendants forever, because you have corroborated the LORD, my God.’ Now then, seeing that the LORD has let me live, as he promised, for the past forty-five years, that is, ever since the LORD spoke this word to Moses, while Israel was journeying through the desert, here I am today eighty-five years old; but I am still as strong today as I was when Moses sent me off, my strength now being the equal of my strength then, for war, and for going and coming. Give me, then, these highlands of which the LORD spoke that day. By the way, you heard that same day that the Anakim were there, with great fortified cities; but perhaps the LORD will enable me to evict them, as the LORD in fact promised.”

- ¹³ So Joshua blessed him, and gave Hebron to Caleb, the son of ¹⁴ Jephunneh, as a heritage. That is how Hebron became the heritage of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, as it is to this day, be-¹⁵ cause he corroborated the LORD, the God of Israel. (The name of Hebron used to be Kirjath-arba, Arba having been the head man among the Anakim.) Then the land had rest from war.
- ¹⁵ The territory allotted to the various clans of the tribe of Judeans extended to the frontier of Edom, southward to the desert of Zin in ² the extreme south. Their southern frontier ran from the lower end ³ of the Salt Sea, from the bay facing south, and continued south of the slope of Akrabbim, passing along to Zin, then it proceeded upward south of Kadesh-barnea, along to Hezron, up to Addar, around to ⁴ Karka, on to Azmon, and came out at the River of Egypt, so that ⁵ the frontier ended at the sea; this was their southern frontier. The eastern frontier was the Salt Sea, as far as the mouth of the Jordan.
The northern frontier ran from the bay of the Sea at the mouth of ⁶ the Jordan, and then the frontier continued up to Beth-hoglah, and passed north of Beth-arabah; the frontier continued up to the stone ⁷ of Bohan, the son of Reuben; the frontier then went up to Debir from the valley of Achor, and turned north to Gilgal which is opposite the slope of Adummin, south of the river; then the frontier con-⁸ tinued to the waters of En-shemesh, and ended at En-rogel; the frontier then continued up the valley of Ben-Hinnom to the southern side of the Jebusite spur (that is, Jerusalem); then the frontier ran to the top of the hill which overlooks the valley of Hinnom, to the ⁹ west, at the northern end of the valley of Rephaim; from the top of the hill the frontier ran to the fountain of Merneptah, and continued to the spur of Mount Ephron; then the frontier ran to Baalah ¹⁰ (that is, Kirjath-jearim); at Baalah the frontier turned westward to the mountain range of Seir, continuing to the northern spur of Mount Jearim (that is, Chesalon), down to Beth-shemesh, and on to ¹¹ Timnah; the frontier then continued north to the spur of Ekron; the frontier ran to Shikkeron, on to Mount Baalah, and came out at ¹² Jabneel, and the frontier ended at the sea. The western frontier was the Great Sea with its coastland. This was the frontier encircling the various clans of Judeans.
- ¹³ In accord with the command of the LORD to Joshua, he allotted a share to Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, among the Judeans, namely, Kirjath-arba (Arba being the father of Anak), that is, Hebron, 14 Caleb evicted from there the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, Ahiman, 15 and Talmi, the children of Anak. From there he marched against the inhabitants of Debir (the name of Debir used to be Kirjath-sepher).

16 "Whoever attacks Kirjath-sepher and captures it," said Caleb, "I will give him my daughter, Achsah, in marriage."

17 Othniel, the son of Caleb's brother, Kenaz, captured it; so he gave 18 him his daughter, Achsah, in marriage. When she arrived, he induced her to ask her father for the necessary fields; so she alighted from her 19 ass, and when Caleb said to her, "What do you want?" she said,

"Give me a pool; since you have assigned me to the region of the steppes, give me Gullath-maim."

So he gave her Upper Gullath and Lower Gullath.

20 The following is the heritage assigned to the various clans of the 21 tribe of Judeans; the cities in their totality belonging to the tribe of Judeans toward the frontier of Edom were, in the steppes, Kabzeel, 22 Eder, Jagur, Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah, Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, 23 Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, Hazor-haddatah, Kerioth-hezron (that is, 24 Hazor), Amam, Shema, Moladah, Hazar-gaddah, Heshmon, Beth- 25 pelet, Hazar-shual, Beersheba with its dependencies, Baalah, Iim, 26 Ezem, Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah, 27 Lebaath, Shilhim, and En-rimmon—a total of twenty-nine cities 28 with their villages.

29 In the lowlands, Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah, Zanoah, En-gannim, 30 Tappuah, Enam, Jarmuth, Adullam, Socoh, Azekah, Shaaraim, 31 Adithaim, and Gederah—fourteen cities with their villages; Zenan, 32 Hadashah, Migdal-gad, Dilan, Mizpeh, Joktheel, Lachish, Bozkath, 33 Eglon, Cabbon, Lahmas, Chithlish, Gederoth, Beth-dagon, Naamah, 34 and Makkedah—sixteen cities with their villages; Libnah, Ether, 35 Ashan, Iphtah, Ashnah, Nezib, Keilah, Achzib, and Mareshah—nine 36 cities with their villages; Ekron with its towns and villages; from Ekron to the sea, all that lay alongside of Ashdod with their villages; 37 Ashdod with its towns and villages, Gaza with its towns and villages, as far as the River of Egypt, and the Great Sea with its coastland.

38 In the highlands, Shamir, Jattir, Socoh, Dannah, Kirjath-sannah 39 (that is, Debir), Anab, Eshtemoh, Anim, Goshen, Holon, and Giloh— 40 eleven cities with their villages; Arab, Rumah, Eshan, Janum, Beth- 41 tappuah, Aphekah, Humtah, Kirjath-arba (that is, Hebron), and 42

55 Zior—nine cities with their villages; Maon, Carmel, Ziph, Juttah, 56 Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah, Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah—ten cities
57 with their villages; Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor, Maarath, Beth-anoth, 58 and Eltekon—six cities with their villages; Kirjath-baal (that is, 60 Kirjath-jearim) and Rabbah—two cities with their villages.

61 In the desert, Beth-arabah, Middin, Secacah, Nibshan, Salt City, 62 and En-gedi—six cities with their villages.

63 The Judeans, however, could not evict the Jebusites inhabiting Jerusalem; but the Jebusites live with the Judeans in Jerusalem to this day.

16 The frontier of the Josephites extended from the Jordan at Jericho, east of the waters of Jericho, up from Jericho through the high-
2 lands to the wilderness at Bethel, then leaving Bethel (that is, Luz),
3 it continued to Ataroth, the domain of the Archites, then to the west, down to the territory of the Japhletites as far as the outskirts of Lower Beth-horon and Gezer, and ended at the sea.

4 The Josephites, Manasseh and Ephraim, received their heritage.
5 The territory of the Ephraimites was assigned to their various clans. The eastern frontier of their heritage ran from Ataroth-addar as far
6 as Upper Beth-horon, then the frontier continued westward to Michmethath in the north; the frontier then turned east to Taanath-shiloh,
7 and continued to Otho, east of Janoah; from Janoah it proceeded down to Ataroth and Naarah, then reached to Jericho, and came out
8 at the Jordan. The western frontier ran from Tappuah to the brook Kanah, and ended at the sea. This was the heritage assigned to the 9 various clans of the tribe of Ephraimites, together with the cities set aside for the Ephraimites in the heritage of the Manassites, all the 10 cities with their villages. They did not evict the Canaanites who were living in Gezer; the Canaanites lived with Ephraim, as they do to this day, but they became forced laborers.

17 Then there was the allotment made to the tribe of Manasseh (Manasseh being the first-born of Joseph). To Machir, the first-born of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, went Gilcad and Bashan,
2 since he was a man of war. Allotments were then made to the various other clans of the Manassites, the Abiezrites, the Helekites, the Asrielites, the Shechemites, the Hephherites, and the Shemidaites (these being the various clans of the male descendants of Manasseh, the son
3 of Joseph). Zelophehad, however, the son of Hephher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, only daughters, these being the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah,

4 Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. They appeared before Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the leaders, saying,

“The LORD commanded Moses to give us a heritage along with our kinsmen.”

So, in accord with the command of the LORD, they were given a heritage along with their father’s kinsmen. Ten shares fell to Manasseh, apart from the land of Gilcad and Bashan, which is on the other side of the Jordan (for the daughters of Manasseh received a heritage along with his sons), while the land of Gilead went to the rest of the Manassites.

The frontier of Manasseh ran from Asher to Michmethath, which is east of Shechem; the frontier then went south to En-tappuah (the land of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but Tappuah near the frontier of Manasseh belonged to the Ephraimites); the frontier then went down to the brook Kanah, to the south of the brook (the cities here belonged to Ephraim, although among cities of Manasseh); the frontier of Manasseh then ran north of the brook, and ended at the sea, the land to the south being Ephraim’s, and that to the north Manasseh’s, with the sea as their frontier. They reached to Asher on the north, and to Issachar on the east. Moreover, in Issachar and Asher there went to Manasseh, Beth-shean with its dependencies and Ibleam with its dependencies, along with the inhabitants of Dor and its dependencies, the inhabitants of En-dor and its dependencies, the inhabitants of Taanach and its dependencies, the inhabitants of Megiddo and its dependencies—three heights. The Manassites, however, were not able to evict the inhabitants of these cities; the Canaanites clung to the habitation of this region, but when the Israelites became strong enough, they made the Canaanites forced laborers; they never completely evicted them.

Then the Josephites said to Joshua,

“Why have you allotted to us simply one share as our heritage, when we are a numerous people, whom the LORD has blessed thus bountifully?”

Joshua said to them,

“If you are such a numerous people, go up to the forest, and there clear ground for yourselves in the land of the Perizzites and Rephaim; for the highlands of Ephraim are near you.”

“The highlands are not enough for us,” said the Josephites; “and all the Canaanites who live in the valley lands have iron chariots, both those in Beth-shean and its dependencies, and those in the valley of Jezreel.”

17 Then Joshua said to the clan of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasseh, “You are a numerous people, and have great power. One share 18 alone shall not go to you, but the highlands as well shall be yours; for though they are wooded, you can clear them, and their products shall be yours. For you shall evict the Canaanites, even though they have iron chariots and are strong.”

18 Then the whole Israelite community assembled at Shiloh, and set up the tent of meeting there, the region having been brought into subjection to them.

2 There still remained seven tribes among the Israelites, who had not
3 yet been allotted their heritage; so Joshua said to the Israelites,

“How long are you going to put off entering into possession of the 4 land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, has given you? Select three men from each tribe, and I will send them forth that they may explore the land. They shall map it out with a view to the heritage
5 of each, and then report to me. They shall divide it into seven parts, Judah remaining in their territory in the south, and the clan of Joseph
6 in their territory in the north. You shall map out the land into seven parts, and then report to me here. I will cast lots for you here before
7 the LORD our God. The Levites, however, are to have no share with you; for the priesthood of the LORD is to be their heritage; while Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have already received their heritage beyond the Jordan to the east, which Moses, the servant of the LORD, gave them.”

8 So the men prepared to go; then Joshua gave this command to those that were leaving to map out the land:

“Go and explore the land, and map it out, and come back to me. Then I will cast lots for you here before the LORD at Shiloh.”

9 The men went forth, and traversed the land, and mapped out its various cities in a book into seven parts; then they reported to Joshua
10 at the camp at Shiloh. So Joshua cast lots for them at Shiloh before the LORD; and there Joshua distributed the land among the Israelites, to each his share.

11 The lot was drawn for the various clans of the tribe of Benjamins. The territory allotted to them lay between the Judeans and 12 Josephites. Their frontier on the north ran from the Jordan; then the frontier went up to the northern spur of Jericho, up through the 13 highlands westward, and ended at the wilderness of Bethaven; from there the frontier continued to Luz, toward the southern spur of Luz (that is, Bethel); then the frontier ran down to Ataroth-addar, near ¹⁴ the hill which lies south of Lower Beth-horon. The frontier continued, and for the western boundary turned southward from the hill which lies south of Beth-horon, and ended at Kirjath-baal (that is, Kirjath-jearim), a city of the Judeans. This was the western bound-¹⁵ ary. The southern boundary ran from the outskirts of Kirjath-jearim; the frontier then ran westward, running to the fountain of ¹⁶ Merneptah; then the frontier went down to the foot of the hill which overlooks the valley of Ben-Hinnom, which is north of the valley of Rephaim; then down the valley of Hinnom, to the southern side of ¹⁷ the Jebusite spur; then down to En-rogel. It continued northward, and ran to En-shemesh, then to Gilgal, which is opposite the slope of Adummim, then down to the stone of Bohan, the son of Reuben, ¹⁸ on to the spur north of Beth-arabah, and then down to the Arabah; ¹⁹ the frontier then passed on to the northern spur of Beth-hoglah, and the frontier ended at the northern bay of the Salt Sea, at the southern ²⁰ end of the Jordan. This was the southern frontier; while the Jordan bounded it on the east. This was the heritage of the various clans of the Benjaminites, as bounded by its frontiers.

²¹ The cities assigned to the various clans of the tribe of Benjaminites ²² were Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz, Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, ²³ Bethel, Avvim, Parah, Ophrah, Chephar-ammoni, Ophni, and Geba ²⁴ —twelve cities with their villages; Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth, Mizpeh, ²⁵ Chephirah, Mozah, Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah, Zelah, Eleph, the Jebu- ²⁶ site city (that is, Jerusalem), Gibeath, and Kirjath-jearim—fourteen ²⁷ cities with their villages. This was the heritage of the various clans ²⁸ of the Benjaminites.

¹⁹ The second lot fell to Simeon, to the various clans of the tribe of ² Simeonites. Their heritage lay inside that of the Judeans. They re- ³ ceived as their heritage Beersheba, Shema, Moladah, Hazar-shual, ⁴ Balah, Ezem, Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah, Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, ⁵ Hazar-susah, Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhem—thirteen cities with their ⁶ villages; En-rimmon, Ether, Ashan, and Tochen—four cities with ⁷ their villages; together with all the villages that surrounded these ⁸ cities, as far as Baalath-beer and Ramah of the South. This was the ⁹ heritage of the various clans of the Simeonites, the heritage of the Simeonites being taken from the territory of the Judeans. Since the Judeans' portion was too large for them, the Simeonites received their heritage inside theirs.

10 The third lot was drawn for the various clans of the Zebulunites.
11 The frontier of their heritage reached to Sarid; then their frontier went westward, up to Maralah; it then reached to Dabbesheth, and to 12 the brook which is east of Jokneam; from Sarid it turned eastward toward the dawn, toward the outskirts of Chisloth-tabor, on to Dabe-13 rath, and up to Japhia; from there it continued eastward toward the dawn, to Gath-hepher and Eth-kazin, then to Rimmonah, and on to 14 Neah; the frontier then turned north to Hannathon, and ended at the 15 valley of Iphtah-el. . . . Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and 16 Bethlehem—twelve cities with their villages. This was the heritage of the various clans of the Zebulunites, these cities with their villages.

17 The fourth lot fell to Issachar, to the various clans of the Issacha-
18 rites. Their territory included Jezreel, Chesulloth, Shunem, Hapha-19 rain, Shion, Anaharath, Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez, Remeth, En-gan-
20 nim, En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez. The frontier reached to Tabor, 21 then to Shahazumah, and Beth-shemesh; and their frontier ended at 22 the Jordan. There were sixteen cities with their villages. This was the heritage of the various clans of the tribe of Issacharites, the cities with their villages.

24 The fifth lot fell to the various clans of the tribe of Asherites.
25 Their territory included Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, Allamme-
26 lech, Amad, and Mishal; it reached west to Carmel and Shihor-lib-27 nath; then it turned east to Beth-dagon; it reached to Zebulun and the valley of Iphtah-el, to the north, then to Beth-emek and Neiel; it 28 continued north to Cabul, then to Ebron, Rehob, Hammon, and 29 Kanah, as far as Sidon the Great; the frontier then turned to Ramah, reaching the fortified city of Tyre; the frontier then turned to 30 Hosah, and ended at the sea Mahalab, Achzib, Acco, Aphek, 31 and Rehob—twenty-two cities with their villages. This was the heritage of the various clans of the tribe of Asherites, these cities with their villages.

32 The sixth lot fell to the Naphtalites, to the various clans of the 33 Naphtalites. Their frontier ran from Heleph, Elon-bezaananim, Adami-nekeb, and Jabneel as far as Lakkum, and ended at the Jor-34 dan; the frontier then turned westward to Aznoth-tabor; from there it continued to Hukkuk, and reached to Zebulun on the south, to Asher 35 on the west, and to Judah at the Jordan on the east. The fortified
36 cities were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, Adamah, 37 Ramah, Hazor, Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, Iron, Migdal-el, Horem, 38 Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh—nineteen cities with their villages.

- 39 This was the heritage of the various clans of the tribe of Naphtalites, the cities with their villages.
- 40 The seventh lot fell to the various clans of the tribe of Danites.
- 41 The territory comprising their heritage included Zorah, Eshtaol, 42 Ir-shemesh, Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah, Elon, Timnah, Ekron, 43 Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon, 44 Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the coastline in front of Joppa. The 45 territory of the Danites, however, was too small for them; so the 46 Danites went up and attacked Leshem. They captured it, and putting 47 it to the sword, they took possession of it, and settled down in it, 48 ing Leshem Dan, after the name of their ancestor Dan. This was the heritage of the various clans of the tribe of Danites, these cities with their villages.
- 49 When the distribution of the various divisions of the land had been completed, the Israelites gave Joshua, the son of Nun, a heritage 50 amongst themselves; in accord with the command of the LORD they gave him the city for which he asked, namely, Timnath-heres in the highlands of Ephraim. He rebuilt the city, and settled down in it.
- 51 These were the heritages which Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the heads of families in the Israelite tribes distributed by lot at Shiloh before the LORD, at the doorway of the tent of meeting. Thus they completed the division of the land.
- 20 Then the LORD said to Joshua,
- 2 "Speak to the Israelites as follows: 'Select the cities of refuge, 3 concerning which I spoke to you through Moses, so that a homicide who kills anyone inadvertently, unintentionally, may flee there; they 4 shall serve you as places of refuge from the avenger of blood. When anyone flees to one of these cities, he shall stand at the entrance of the city gate, and explain his case to the elders of that city; then they shall receive him into their city, and give him a home, and he shall 5 live with them. If the avenger of blood should pursue him, they are not to deliver the homicide into his power; for he killed his fellow 6 unintentionally, having no standing feud with him. He shall live in that city until he appears before the community for trial, or until the death of the high priest who is in office at that time. After that the homicide may return to his own city and his own home, to the city from which he fled.' "
- 7 So they set apart Kedesh in Galilee, in the highlands of Naphtali, Shechem in the highlands of Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba (that is,
8 Hebron) in the highlands of Judah; and beyond the Jordan, east of

- Jericho, they selected Bezer in the desert, on the table-land, from the tribe of Reuben; Ramoth in Gilead, from the tribe of Gad; and
- 9 Golan in Bashan, from the tribe of Manasseh. These were the cities which were designated for all the Israelites, and also for the aliens residing among them, so that anyone who killed a person inadvertently might flee there, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he had appeared before the community.
- 21 Then the heads of families among the Levites went up to Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the heads of families in
- 2 the Israelite tribes, and said to them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, "The LORD gave command by Moses that we were to be given cities to live in, along with their pasture-lands for our cattle."
- 3 So the Israelites, in accord with the command of the LORD, gave the Levites some of their own heritage, namely, the following cities with their pasture-lands.
- 4 The lot was drawn for the Kohathite clans. Thirteen cities from the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin fell by lot to the descend-
- 5 ants of Aaron, the priest, part of the Levites. To the rest of the Kohathites ten cities from the clans of the tribe of Ephraim, the tribe of Dan, and the half-tribe of Manasseh fell by lot.
- 6 To the Gershonites thirteen cities from the clans of the tribe of Issachar, the tribes of Asher and Naphtali, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan fell by lot.
- 7 To the various clans of the Merarites fell twelve cities from the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun.
- 8 The Israelites allotted these cities with their pasture-lands to the Levites, as the LORD had commanded through Moses.
- 9 From the tribes of Judeans and Simeonites they gave the following
- 10 named cities (they went to the descendants of Aaron, one of the clans of the Kohathites, belonging to the Levites; for the lot fell to them
- 11 first). They gave them Kirjath-arba (Arba being the father of Anak), that is, Hebron, in the highlands of Judah, with its adjacent
- 12 pasture-lands; but the fields of the city and its villages they gave to
- 13 Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, as his property. To the descendants of Aaron, the priest, then, they gave the city of refuge for the homicide, namely, Hebron, along with its pasture-lands, as well as Libnah with
- 14 its pasture-lands, Jattir with its pasture-lands, Eshtemoa with its pas-
- 15 ture-lands, Holon with its pasture-lands, Debir with its pasture-
- 16 lands, Ain with its pasture-lands, Juttah with its pasture-lands, and Beth-shemesh with its pasture-lands—nine cities out of those two

17 tribes; and out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with its pasture-
18 lands, Geba with its pasture-lands, Anathoth with its pasture-lands, 19 and Almon with its pasture-lands—four cities; the total of the cities for the descendants of Aaron, the priests, being thirteen cities with their pasture-lands.

20 For the clans of the Kohathites that were Levites, that is, those that were left of the Kohathites, the cities indicated by their lot came 21 from the tribe of Ephraim; so they were given the city of refuge for the homicide, namely, Shechem in the highlands of Ephraim, along 22 with its pasture-lands, Gezer with its pasture-lands, Kibzaim with its pasture-lands, and Beth-horon with its pasture-lands—four cities;
23 and out of the tribe of Dan, Eltekeh with its pasture-lands, Gibbe-
24 thon with its pasture-lands, Aijalon with its pasture-lands, and Gath-25 rimmon with its pasture-lands—four cities; and out of the half-tribe of Manassch, Taanach with its pasture-lands, and Ibleam with its 26 pasture-lands—two cities; a total of ten cities with their pasture-lands for the remaining clans of the Kohathites.

27 To the Gershonites, one of the clans of the Levites, from the half-tribe of Manassch went the city of refuge for the homicide, namely, Golan in Bashan, with its pasture-lands, and Beesh-terah with its 28 pasture-lands—two cities; and out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishion 29 with its pasture-lands, Daberath with its pasture-lands, Jarmuth with its pasture-lands, and En-gannim with its pasture-lands—four cities;
30 and out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal with its pasture-lands, Abdon
31 with its pasture-lands, Helkath with its pasture-lands, and Rehob 32 with its pasture-lands—four cities; and out of the tribe of Naphtali, the city of refuge for the homicide, namely, Kedesh in Galilee, with its pasture-lands, Hammoth-dor with its pasture-lands, and Kartan 33 with its pasture-lands—three cities; the total of the cities for the various clans of the Gershonites being thirteen cities with their pasture-lands.

34 To the clans of the Merarites, the rest of the Levites, from the clan of Zebulun went Jokneam with its pasture-lands, Kartah with 35 its pasture-lands, Dimnah with its pasture-lands, and Nahalal with 36 its pasture-lands—four cities; and out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer 37 with its pasture-lands, Jahaz with its pasture-lands, Kedemoth with its pasture-lands, and Mephaath with its pasture-lands—four cities; 38 and out of the tribe of Gad, the city of refuge for the homicide, namely, Ramoth in Gilead, with its pasture-lands, Mahanaim with 39 its pasture-lands, Heshbon with its pasture-lands, and Jazer with its 40 pasture-lands—four cities in all. All these cities went to the various clans of the Merarites, the rest of the Levite clans, their allotment being twelve cities.

41 The total number of cities of the Levites within the holdings of 42 the Israelites was forty-eight cities, with their pasture-lands, each of these cities having its own pasture-lands adjacent to it, this being the case with all of these cities.

43 So the LORD gave Israel all the land which he had sworn to their 44 fathers to give them; they occupied it, and settled down in it, and the LORD gave them peace on every side, just as he had sworn to their fathers; not one of all their enemies could withstand them, the LORD
45 having delivered all their enemies into their power. Not one of the good promises which the LORD made to the house of Israel failed, all being fulfilled.

THE DISMISSAL OF THE EASTERN TRIBES, AND THE DISPUTE
ABOUT THEIR ALTAR, 22:1—34

22 Then Joshua summoned the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of 2 Manasseh, and said to them,

“You have observed all that Moses, the servant of the LORD, commanded you, and have heeded my injunctions in all that I have com-3 manded you; you have not deserted your kinsmen during this long time, but down to this day you have faithfully observed the charge 4 of the LORD your God. Now, however, the LORD your God has given peace to your kinsmen, as he promised them; return then, and go home to your tents in the land of your own, which Moses, the servant of the 5 LORD, gave you beyond the Jordan. Only be very careful to observe the charge and law which Moses, the servant of the LORD, enjoined on you, loving the LORD your God, walking in all his ways, keeping his commands, holding fast to him, and serving him with all your mind and heart.”

6 Then Joshua blessed them, and let them go; and they went home to their tents.

7 (To the one half-tribe of Manasseh Moses had assigned territory in Bashan, and to the other half-tribe Joshua had assigned territory with their kinsmen beyond the Jordan to the west.)

Furthermore, when Joshua sent them home, he blessed them.

8 “Return home with great wealth,” he said to them, “with very many cattle, with silver, gold, bronze, and iron, and with a great quantity of clothing; divide the spoil of your enemies with your kinsmen."

9 So the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh went home, parting from the Israelites at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go to the land of Gilead, the land of their own, which 10 they had seized by command of the LORD through Moses. When they reached the region of the Jordan, which is within the land of Canaan, the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh built 11 an altar there beside the Jordan, a large altar for display. The Israelites heard it reported that the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh had built an altar at the frontier of the land of Canaan, in the region of the Jordan, on the side belonging to the Israelites.
12 When the Israelites heard of it, the whole Israelite community assembled at Shiloh to march against them in war. To the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, the Is-
14 raelites sent Phinchas, the son of Eleazar, the priest, and with him ten chieftains, one chieftain of a household from each of the tribes of Israel, each one of them being the head of his household among the 15 clans of Israel. They came to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, and said to them,

16 "Thus says the whole community of the LORD: 'Why this perfidy that you have committed against the God of Israel in turning now from following the LORD by building yourselves an altar in rebellion
17 against the LORD? Did the sin at Peor, from which we have not even yet cleansed ourselves, and for which a plague came upon the LORD's 18 community, mean so little to us that you must today turn from following the LORD? If you rebel against the LORD today, he will be 19 angry with the whole community of Israel tomorrow! If, however, the land which you hold is unclean, cross over to the land which the LORD himself holds, where the dwelling of the LORD stands, and settle among us; but do not rebel against the LORD, nor implicate us, by building another altar besides the altar of the LORD our God.
20 Was it not Achan, the son of Zerah, who broke faith in the case of the doomed things, so that wrath fell upon the whole community of Israel? And he did not perish alone for his iniquity.'"

21 The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh in reply said to the heads of the clans of Israel,

22 "By the LORD, the God of gods—the LORD, the God of gods, knows it, and Israel should know it—it was not in a spirit of rebellion 23 or infidelity toward the LORD (otherwise spare us not today!) that we built an altar to turn from following the LORD, nor did we offer burnt-offerings or cereal-offerings on it, nor did we sacrifice thank-24 offerings on it (otherwise let the LORD himself requite us!); but we did it rather out of fear of this, namely, that in time to come your children might say to our children, 'What have you to do with the 25 LORD, the God of Israel? The LORD made the Jordan a boundary between us and you, you Reubenites and Gadites. You have no share in the LORD.' Thus your children might make our children cease to 26 stand in awe of the LORD. So we said, 'Let us protect ourselves by 27 building an altar—not for burnt-offerings, nor for sacrifices, but that it might serve as a witness between you and us, and between your descendants and ours, that we do perform the service of the LORD before him with our burnt-offerings, sacrifices, and thank-offerings, so that your children may never say to our children in time to come,

28 'You have no share in the LORD.' We calculated that if in time to come this was ever said to us or to our descendants, we could say, 'Look at the copy of the altar of the LORD which our fathers made, not for burnt-offerings nor for sacrifices, but that it might serve as a 29 witness between you and us.' Far be it from us to rebel against the LORD, or turn now from following the LORD, by building an altar for burnt-offerings, cereal-offerings, or sacrifices, besides the altar of the LORD our God which stands in front of his dwelling!"

30 When Phinehas, the priest, and the chieftains of the community, the heads of the clans of Israel who were with him, heard what the 31 Reubenites, Gadites, and Manassites said, they were satisfied; and Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the priest, said to the Reubenites, Gadites, and Manassites,

"Now we know that the LORD is in our midst, since you have not committed this act of perfidy against the LORD; thus you have saved the Israelites from the hand of the LORD."

32 Then Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the priest, and the chieftains returned from the Reubenites and Gadites in the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the Israelites, and made a report to them.
33 The Israelites were satisfied; the Israelites blessed God, and said nothing more about marching against the Reubenites and Gadites in 34 war, to ravage the land in which they lived. The Reubenites and Gadites called the altar Ed [witness]; "For," said they, "it is a witness between us that the LORD is God."

JOSHUA'S FAREWELL AND DEATH, 23:1—24:33

23 A long time afterwards, when the LORD had given Israel rest from all their enemies around them, and Joshua was old, being well advanced in life, Joshua summoned all Israel, their elders, leaders, judges, and officers, and said to them,

3 "I am an old man, being well advanced in life; but you have seen all that the LORD your God has done for you to all these nations; for 4 it is the LORD your God who has been fighting for you. See, I have allotted to you as a heritage for your various tribes the territory of all the nations whom I exterminated, from the Jordan as far as the 5 Great Western Sea; and in the case of those nations that are left, the LORD your God will himself sweep them before you, and drive them out of your way, and you shall occupy their land, as the LORD your 6 God promised you. Be very resolute, then, to observe and carry out all that is written in the law-book of Moses, without swerving from 7 it to the right or to the left, never mingling with these nations, those that are still left with you; you must not invoke the names of their gods, nor swear by them, nor serve them, nor pay homage to them; 8 but you must hold fast to the LORD your God, as you have done up 9 to this day. The LORD has driven out of your way great and strong nations, so that no one has been able to withstand you to this day. 10 One of you alone could put a thousand to flight, because it is the LORD your God who has been fighting for you, as he promised you. 11 Take great care, therefore, to love the LORD your God. For if you 12 ever backslide, and ally yourselves with the remnant of these nations, those that are still left with you, and intermarry with them, and have 13 intercourse with them and they with you, be very certain that the LORD your God will no longer drive these nations out of your way; but they shall be a snare and a trap for you, a scourge in your sides, and thorns in your eyes, until you perish from off this fine land which 14 the LORD your God has given you. Here I am, right now about to go the way of all the earth; but you know with all your minds and hearts that not one of the good promises which the LORD your God made concerning you has failed; all have been realized for you; not 15 one of them has failed. Hence, as every good promise which the LORD your God made concerning you has happened to you, so shall the LORD bring on you every threat, until he has destroyed you from 16 off this fine land which the LORD your God has given you. Whenever you violate the covenant of the LORD your God which he enjoined on you, and go and serve alien gods, and pay homage to them, then shall the anger of the LORD blaze against you, and you shall perish quickly from off the fine land which he gave you."

- 24 Joshua assembled all the tribes of Israel at Shechem, summoning the elders of Israel, their leaders, judges, and officers. When they had presented themselves before God, Joshua said to all the people,
- "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'In days of old your fathers lived beyond the River, namely, Terah, the father of Abraham and Nahor, and served alien gods; but I took your father Abraham from beyond the River, and I had him range the whole land of Canaan, and made his descendants numerous. I gave him Isaac, and to Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. I gave the highlands of Seir to Esau to occupy, whereas Jacob and his children went down to Egypt. Then I sent Moses and Aaron, and I smote Egypt with what I did in her midst. After that I brought you out; I brought your fathers out of Egypt, and when you reached the sea, the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariotry and cavalry to the Red Sea; but when they cried to the LORD, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea over them, and engulfed them. You saw with your own eyes what I did in Egypt. You lived for a long time in the desert, and then I brought you to the land of the Amorites who lived beyond the Jordan. They fought with you, but I delivered them into your power, so that you took possession of their land, since I exterminated them from your way. Then Balak, the son of Zippor, king of Moab, appeared, and fought against Israel. He sent for Balaam, the son of Beor, to curse you; but I would not listen to Balaam, so he had to bless you, and thus I saved you from his power. Crossing the Jordan, you arrived at Jericho, and the citizens of Jericho fought against you, as well as the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Gergashites, Hivvites, and Jebusites; but I delivered them into your power. I sent leprosy ahead of you to drive the two Amorite kings out of your way; it was not done by your sword nor your bow. I gave you a land on which you had never labored, and cities in which you settled without having built them, vineyards and olive groves from which you eat without having planted them.' Therefore, stand in awe of the LORD, and serve him faithfully and loyally; remove the gods whom your fathers served beyond the River, and in Egypt, and serve the LORD. However, if you find it obnoxious to serve the LORD, choose today whom you will serve, either the gods whom your fathers served who are beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you are living; but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD."

16 The people in reply said,

"Far be it from us that we should forsake the LORD to serve alien 17 gods; for it is the LORD our God who brought us and our fathers up out of the land of Egypt, out of a state of slavery, and performed those great signs before our eyes, and took care of us all through the journey that we made, and among all the peoples through whom we 18 passed; the LORD also drove out of our way all the peoples, namely, the Amorites, who inhabited the land; so we too will serve the LORD;
for he is our God."

19 Then Joshua said to the people,

"You may not serve the LORD and foreign gods as well; for being a holy God and a jealous God, he will not forgive your transgression 20 nor your sins. If you forsake the LORD, and serve foreign gods, he will turn and do evil to you, and annihilate you, after having done you good."

21 "No," the people said to Joshua; "it is the LORD that we would serve."

22 So Joshua said to the people,

"You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the LORD as the one to serve."

"We are witnesses," they said.

23 "Remove, then, the foreign gods that are in your midst, and turn your hearts to the LORD, the God of Israel."

24 The people said to Joshua,

"The LORD our God we will serve, and his injunctions we will heed."

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day; he made statutes and ordinances for them at Shechem, and Joshua wrote these 26 regulations in the book of the law of God; and taking a large stone, he set it up there under the oak that was in the sanctuary of the LORD.

27 Then Joshua said to all the people,

"See, this stone shall be a witness against us; for it has heard all the words that the LORD has said to us; so it shall be a witness against you, lest you deny your God."

28 Then Joshua dismissed the people, each to his heritage.

29 After these events Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, 30 died at the age of one hundred and ten years; and he was buried in the grounds of his heritage, in Timnath-heres which is in the highlands of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash.

- 31 Israel served the LORD during all the lifetime of Joshua, and all the lifetime of the elders who survived Joshua and had seen all the deeds which the LORD did for Israel.
- 32 The bones of Joseph, which the Israelites had brought up from Egypt, were buried at Shechem, in the piece of ground which Jacob had bought for one hundred kesitas from the sons of Hamor, the ancestor of Shechem, and had presented to the Josephites as a heritage.
- 33 Likewise Eleazar, the son of Aaron, died, and was buried at Gibeah of Phinehas, his son, to whom it had been given, in the highlands of Ephraim.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES

THE HEBREW TRIBES IN THEIR INVASION OF PALESTINE, 1:1-36

- 1 After the death of Joshua the Israelites inquired of the LORD, saying,
 "Which of us is to be the first to go up against the Canaanites to attack them?"
- 2 "Judah is to go up," said the LORD. "See, I am delivering the land into his power."
- 3 So Judah said to his brother Simeon,
 "Invade with me the territory allotted to me that we may attack the Canaanites, and I in turn will invade with you the territory allotted to you."
- 4 So Simeon went with him. Then Judah went up; and the LORD delivered the Canaanites and Perizzites into their power, so that they 5 defeated ten thousand of them at Bezek. At Bezek they came upon Adoni-bezek, and attacked him, and defeated the Canaanites and 6 Perizzites. Adoni-bezek fled; but they pursued him, and capturing him, 7 they cut off his thumbs and great toes; whereupon Adoni-bezek said,
 "Seventy kings with their thumbs and great toes cut off used to pick up crumbs under my table; as I did, so has God requited me."
 Then he was brought to Jerusalem, and died there.
- 8 The Judeans attacked Jerusalem, and capturing it, put it to the 9 sword, and set the city on fire. Afterwards the Judcans went down to attack the Canaanites inhabiting the highlands, the steppes, and the 10 lowlands. So Judah marched against the Canaanites who lived in Hebron (the name of Hebron used to be Kirjath-arba), and they de-11 feated Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai. Then they marched from there against the inhabitants of Debir (the name of Debir used to be Kirjath-sepher).
- 12 "Whoever attacks Kirjath-sepher and captures it," said Caleb, "I will give him my daughter, Achsah, in marriage."
- 13 Othniel, the son of Caleb's younger brother, Kenaz, captured it; 14 so he gave him his daughter, Achsah, in marriage. When she arrived, he induced her to ask her father for the necessary fields; so she alighted from her ass, and when Caleb said to her, "What do you 15 want?" she said to him,

“Grant me a pool; since you have assigned me to the region of the steppes, give me Gullath-maim.”

So Caleb gave her Upper Gullath and Lower Gullath.

- 16 The descendants of Hobab, the Kenite, the father-in-law of Moses, came up from the City of Palms with the Judeans into the wilderness of Judah, which is in the steppes of Arad; then they went 17 off to live with the Amalekites. But Judah went with his brother Simeon, and they defeated the Canaanites inhabiting Zephath, and annihilated it; so the city came to be called Hormah [annihilation].
18 Judah also captured Gaza with its territory, Askelon with its territory, and Ekron with its territory. The LORD was with Judah, so that he conquered the highlands, although he was not able to conquer
20 the inhabitants of the plain, because they had iron chariots. Hebron was given to Caleb, as Moses had directed, and he evicted from there 21 the three sons of Anak. The Benjaminites, however, did not evict the Jebusites inhabiting Jerusalem, but the Jebusites live with the Benjaminites in Jerusalem to this day.

- 22 Likewise the clan of Joseph marched against Bethel, and the LORD
23 was with them. The clan of Joseph made a reconnaissance at Bethel 24 (the name of the city used to be Luz), and when the scouts saw a man leaving the city, they said to him,

“Come, show us the way to get into the city, and we will treat you well.”

- 25 So he showed them the way to get into the city, and they put the city to the sword; but they let the man and all his family go free;
26 and the man went to the land of the Hittites, and built a city, calling its name Luz, which is its name to this day.
27 Manasseh did not conquer Bethshean and its dependencies, nor Taanach and its dependencies, nor the inhabitants of Dor and its dependencies, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and its dependencies, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and its dependencies; but the Canaanites
28 clung to the habitation of this region. However, when Israel became strong enough, they made the Canaanites forced laborers, but they never completely evicted them.
29 Neither did Ephraim evict the Canaanites who lived in Gezer; but the Canaanites lived among them in Gezer.
30 Zebulun did not evict the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites lived among them, becoming, however, forced laborers.

- 31 Asher did not evict the inhabitants of Acco, nor the inhabitants of Sidon, nor those of Ahlab, nor those of Achzib, nor those of Helbah, 32 nor those of Aphik, nor those of Rehob; but the Asherites settled among the Canaanites inhabiting the land; for they could not evict them.
- 33 Naphtali did not evict the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath, but settled among the Canaanites inhabiting the land; nevertheless the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Beth-anath became forced laborers for them.
- 34 The Amorites pressed the Danites into the highlands; for they 35 would not let them come down into the plain. The Amorites clung to the habitation of Harheres, Aijalon, and Shaalvim; but when the power of the clan of Joseph grew strong enough, they became forced laborers.
- 36 The frontier of the Edomites ran from the slope of Akrabbim, from Sela upward.

THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME BOCHIM, 2:1-5

- 2 An angel of the LORD went up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said,
 “. . . I have brought you up out of Egypt, and have brought you into the land which I promised on oath to your fathers, when I
 2 said, ‘I will never break my covenant with you, but you on your part must make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you must tear down their altars.’ But you have not heeded my injunction:
 3 what a way for you to behave! So now I add, ‘I will not drive them out of your way; but they shall become your adversaries, and their gods shall become a trap for you.’”
- 4 When the angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the Israelites,
 5 the people lifted up their voices in weeping; so the name of that place came to be called Bochim [weepers]; and sacrifices were made there to the LORD.

INTRODUCTION TO THE STORIES OF THE JUDGES, 2:6—3:6

- 6 When Joshua had dismissed the people, the Israelites went each to 7 his heritage to occupy the land; and the people served the LORD during all the lifetime of Joshua, and all the lifetime of the elders who survived Joshua, who had seen all the great work which the LORD
 8 had done for Israel. Then Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of the 9 LORD, died at the age of one hundred and ten years, and he was buried in the grounds of his heritage at Timnath-heres, in the high-10 lands of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash. Also all that generation were gathered to their fathers, and another generation succeeded them who did not know the LORD, nor the work that he had done for Israel.

- 11 Then the Israelites did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, by 12 serving the Baals and forsaking the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and by running after alien gods, from among the gods of the peoples that surrounded them, and by paying homage to them, so that they made the LORD jealous.
13 Thus they forsook the LORD, and served the Baals and Ashtarts.
14 Then the anger of the LORD blazed against Israel, so that he delivered them into the power of plunderers who plundered them, and he sold them into the power of their enemies around them, so that they were no
15 longer able to withstand their enemies. In every campaign the hand of the LORD was against them for evil, as the LORD had declared, and as the LORD had sworn to them, so that they were in sore straits.
16 Then the LORD raised up champions to deliver them out of the power 17 of their plunderers; but even their champions they did not heed; for they ran wantonly after alien gods, and paid homage to them, swerving quickly from the path which their fathers had trod in obedience to the commands of the LORD; not so did they.

- 18 Now when the LORD raised up champions for them, the LORD would be with the champion, and would deliver them out of the power of their enemies during all the lifetime of the champion; for the LORD would be moved to pity by their groans under their tyrants 19 and oppressors. But whenever the champion died, they would relapse, and behave worse than their fathers, by running after alien gods to serve them and pay homage to them; they would not abandon any of 20 their practices or stubborn ways. So the anger of the LORD blazed against Israel, and he said,

- “Since this nation has violated the covenant with me which I en-
21 joined on their fathers, and has not heeded my injunctions, I on my part will no longer drive out of their way any of the nations that 22 Joshua left when he died” (his purpose being to test Israel by them as to whether or not they would keep to the way of the LORD by walking in it, as their fathers had).

- 23 So the LORD left these nations instead of driving them out at once,
3 and did not deliver them into the power of Joshua. Now these are the nations whom the LORD left as a means to test Israel (that is, all who
2 had had no experience of all the wars with Canaan—merely for the sake of succeeding Israelites, to teach them war; such only as had

3 had no previous experience of them): namely, the five tyrants of the Philistines, all the Canaanites, the Sidonians, and the Hittites inhabiting Mount Lebanon from Mount Baal-Hermon as far as the approach to Hamath. They served as a means to test Israel to see whether they would obey the commands which the LORD had enjoined on their fathers through Moses. So the Israelites settled among the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivvites, and Jebusites; they married their daughters, and their own daughters they married to their sons, and they served their gods.

CONQUEST BY CUSHAN-RISHATHAIM AND DELIVERANCE
THROUGH OTHNIEL, 3:7-11a

7 So the Israelites did what was evil in the sight of the LORD in that they forgot the LORD their God, and served the Baals and Ashtarts.
8 Then the anger of the LORD blazed against Israel, so that he sold them into the power of Cushan-rishathaim, king of Aram-naharaim, and the Israelites were subject to Cushan-rishathaim for eight years.
9 Then the Israelites cried to the LORD, and the LORD raised up a savior for the Israelites to save them, namely Othniel, the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. The spirit of the LORD inspired him to champion Israel; so he went forth to battle, and the LORD delivered Cushan-rishathaim, king of Aram, into his power, so that his might prevailed over Cushan-rishathaim, and the land enjoyed security for forty years.

CONQUEST BY THE MOABITES AND DELIVERANCE THROUGH
EHUD, 3:11b-30

12 After Othniel, the son of Kenaz, died, the Israelites again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. So the LORD made Eglon, king of Moab, prevail over Israel, because they had done what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He allied with himself the Ammonites and Amalekites, and went and defeated Israel, and occupied the City of Palms; and the Israelites were subject to Eglon, king of Moab, for eighteen years. Then the Israelites cried to the LORD, and the LORD raised up a savior for them, namely, Ehud, the son of Gera, the Benjaminite, a left-handed man. The Israelites sent tribute by him to Eglon, king of Moab; so Ehud made himself a two-edged dagger, a gomed long, and hanging it under his cloak upon his right hip, he brought the tribute to Eglon, king of Moab (Eglon being a very fat man). When he had finished delivering the tribute, he dismissed

19 the tribute-bearers; but he himself turned back at Pesilim, which is near Gilgal, to say,

“I have a private message for you, O king.”

So he said, “Begone!”, whereupon all his attendants left him.

20 Then Ehud went in to him, as he sat alone in his cool roof-chamber.

“I have a message from God for you,” said Ehud.

21 As he rose from his chair, Ehud stretched out his left hand, and drawing the dagger from his right hip, he plunged it into his abdomen, so that the hilt also went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade; for he did not draw the dagger out of his abdomen, but 22 let it go into the hole. Then Ehud went out into the vestibule, shutting the doors of the roof-chamber on him, and locking them. After he had gone out, his servants came, and discovered that the doors of the roof-chamber were locked; but they said,

“He is only relieving himself in the closet of the cool chamber.”

25 So they waited until they became uneasy; and then, seeing that he did not open the doors of the roof-chamber, they took the key and opened
26 them, and there was their master fallen to the ground, dead! But Ehud had escaped while they were delaying, having passed Pesilim, 27 and he escaped to Seirah. Upon his arrival he sounded the alarm through the highlands of Ephraim, and the Israelites went down with him from the highlands, with him at their head.

28 “Follow close after me,” he said to them; “for the LORD is delivering your enemies, the Moabites, into your power.”

So they followed him down, and they seized the fords of the Jordan against the Moabites, and would not allow anyone to cross. They slew on that occasion about ten thousand Moabites, all stout and 30 valiant fellows, so that not one escaped. Thus was Moab brought into subjection that day to the power of Israel, and the land enjoyed security for eighty years.

THE MINOR JUDGE, SHAMGAR, 3:31

31 After him came Shamgar, the son of Anath, who slew six hundred Philistines with an ox-goad; he, too, saved Israel.

CONQUEST BY THE CANAANITES AND DELIVERANCE THROUGH DEBORAH AND BARAK, 4:1—24

4 Then the Israelites again did what was evil in the sight of the 2 LORD, now that Ehud was dead. So the LORD sold them into the power of Jabin, king of Canaan, who reigned at Hazor, the general

3 of whose army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-göiim. Then the Israelites cried to the LORD; for he had nine hundred iron chariots, 4 and he oppressed the Israelites most severely for twenty years. It was a prophetess, Deborah, the wife of Lappidoth, who was governing 5 Israel at that time. She lived below Tomer-Deborah, between Ramah and Bethel, in the highlands of Ephraim. The Israelites came to her 6 for direction; so she sent and summoned Barak, the son of Abinoam, from Kedesh in Naphtali, and said to him,

“Does not the LORD, the God of Israel, command, ‘Go and dispose yourself at Mount Tabor, taking with you ten thousand men from the 7 Naphtalites and the Zebulunites? I will lure Sisera, the general of Ja-bin’s army, out to you at the river Kishon, together with his chariots and his troops; and I will deliver him into your power.’”

8 Then Barak said to her,

“If you will go along with me, I will go; but if you will not go along with me, I will not go.”

9 “Of course I will go along with you,” she said; “however, you will have no glory for the course that you are pursuing; for it is into the power of a woman that the LORD is going to sell Sisera.”

10 Then Deborah rose and went with Barak to Kedesh, and Barak mustered Zebulun and Naphtali at Kedesh, and ten thousand men marched out at his heels. Deborah also went up with him.

11 Now Heber, the Kenite, had parted from the Kenites, the descendants of Hobab, the father-in-law of Moses, and had pitched his tent as far away as Elon-bezaanin, which was near Kedesh.

12 When Sisera learned that Barak, the son of Abinoam, had gone up 13 to Mount Tabor, Sisera collected all his chariots, nine hundred iron chariots, and all the people that were with him, out of Harosheth-14 göiim to the river Kishon. Then Deborah said to Barak,

“Up! for this is the day in which the LORD is to deliver Sisera into your power. Is it not the LORD who has gone forth in front of you?”

So Barak went down from Mount Tabor with ten thousand men 15 following him, and the LORD routed Sisera, all his chariots, and all his army before Barak at the edge of the sword, so that Sisera alighted 16 from his chariot, and fled on foot. But Barak pursued the chariots and army as far as Harosheth-göiim, so that the whole army of Sis-17 era fell before the sword, not so much as one being left. Sisera, however, fled on foot to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber, the Kenite; for there were friendly relations between Jabin, king of Hazor, and 18 the clan of Heber, the Kenite. So Jael went out to meet Sisera, and said to him, “Turn in, my lord; turn in with me; do not be afraid.”

So he turned in to her tent, and she covered him with a quilt.

19 “Please give me a little water,” he said to her; “for I am thirsty.”

So she opened the milk-skin, and gave him a drink, and covered him up.

20 “Stand at the doorway of the tent,” he said to her, “and then, if anyone comes and asks you, ‘Is anyone here?’ say, ‘No.’”

21 But Jael, the wife of Heber, seized a tent-pin, and taking a hammer in her hand, she approached him stealthily, and drove the pin through his temple into the ground, while he was sound asleep from 22 exhaustion, so that he died. Just then Barak arrived in pursuit of Sisera, and Jael went out to meet him.

“Come,” she said to him, “and I will show you the man for whom you are looking.”

So he went inside with her, and there was Sisera fallen down dead, 23 with the tent-pin in his temple! Thus did God that day subdue Jabin, 24 king of Canaan, before the Israelites; and the power of the Israelites bore harder and harder on Jabin, king of Canaan, until they finally destroyed Jabin, king of Canaan.

THE VICTORY OF DEBORAH AND BARAK OVER THE CANAANITES,

5:1-31

5 Then sang Deborah and Barak, the son of Abinoam, on that day, saying:

2 “When locks were worn loose in Israel,

When the people volunteered;

 bless the Lord!

3 Hear, O kings; give ear, O princes!

I—to the LORD I will sing,

I will praise the LORD, the God of Israel.

4 “O LORD, when thou camest forth from Seir,

When thou marchedst from the land of Edom,

The earth quaked, the heavens also shook,

The clouds, too, dripped water,

5 The mountains rocked at the presence of the LORD (that is, Sinai),

At the presence of the LORD, the God of Israel.

6 "In the time of Shamgar, the son of Anath,
 In the time of Jael, caravans had disappeared,
 And travelers kept to the by-roads;
 7 The peasantry had disappeared, they had disappeared in Israel,
 Until you arose, O Deborah, arose as a mother in Israel.

8 "Armorers had they none;
 Armed men failed from the city.
 Was shield to be seen or lance,
 Among forty thousand in Israel?
 9 My heart is with the commanders of Israel,
 Who volunteered among the people;
 bless the LORD!

10 "O riders on tawny asses, sitting on robes;
 And you who travel on the road, attend!
 11 To the noise of musicians, at the watering-places,
 There the triumphs of the LORD will be recounted,
 The triumphs of his peasantry in Israel."

Then the people of the LORD went down to the gates.

12 "Awake, awake, Deborah;
 Awake, awake, strike up the song!
 Up, Barak, and take your captives,
 O son of Abinoam!

13 "Then the remnant went down like nobles;
 The people of the LORD went down like heroes.
 14 Ephraim surged into the valley;
 Following you came Benjamin among your clansmen.
 From Machir came down commanders,
 And from Zebulun those who carry the marshal's staff.
 15 The chieftains of Issachar were with Deborah and Barak;
 In like manner Barak rushed into the valley among his footsoldiers.

16 "In the clans of Reuben great were the debates.
 Why did you lounge among the ravines,
 Listening to the bleating of the flocks?
 In the clans of Reuben great were the debates.

- 17 Gilead remained beyond the Jordan;
And Dan, why did he take service on alien ships?
Asher stayed by the sea-coast,
And remained by his creeks.
- 18 "Zebulun was a people who exposed themselves to death,
And Naphtali, on the heights of the field.
19 The kings came, they fought;
Then fought the kings of Canaan;
At Taanach, by the brooks of Megiddo,
They won no booty of silver.
20 From the heavens fought the stars;
From their courses they fought with Sisera.
- 21 "The river Kishon swept them away;
A river barring the way was the river Kishon.
Bless thou, my soul, the might of the LORD!
22 Then the hoofs of the horses struck down
Their warriors by their furious plunging.
23 'Curse Meroz,' said the angel of the LORD,
'Curse utterly its inhabitants;
For they came not to the help of the LORD,
To the help of the LORD like heroes.'
24 Most blessed of women may Jael be,
'The wife of Heber, the Kenite;
Of bedouin women most blessed!
25 Water he asked; milk she gave;
In a lordly bowl she brought him curds.
26 She put her hand to the tent-pin,
And her right hand to the workman's mallet;
And she struck down Sisera, she crushed his head;
She shattered and smashed his temple.
27 At her feet he sank, he fell, he lay prone;
At her feet he sank, he fell;
Where he sank, there he fell slain.
- 28 "Out of the window she peered, and exclaimed,
The mother of Sisera, out of the lattice:
'Why is his chariot so long in coming?
Why is the clatter of his chariots so delayed?'

- 29 The wisest of her princesses replies;
She it is who makes answer to her:
- 30 'Are they not finding, dividing booty?
A maid or two for each warrior;
Booty of dyed stuffs for Sisera,
Booty of dyed stuffs embroidered;
A couple of pieces of dyed embroidery for his neck as booty.'
- 31 "Thus may all thy enemies perish, O LORD;
But let thy friends be like the rising of the sun in his might."

So the land enjoyed security for forty years.

CONQUEST BY THE MIDIANITES AND DELIVERANCE THROUGH
GIDEON, 6:1—8:28

- 6 Then the Israelites did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, so that the LORD delivered them into the power of Midian for seven
2 years, and the power of Midian prevailed over Israel. It was because of Midian that the Israelites made for themselves the dens which are
3 in the mountains, and the caves and strongholds. Whenever the Israelites put in seed, the Midianites, Amalekites, and Kedemites used
4 to come up, and attack them. They encamped against them, and destroyed the produce of the land as far as the vicinity of Gaza. They would leave nothing in Israel for the sheep, oxen, and asses to live on;
5 for they used to come up with their cattle and tents; they used to come like locusts for number, both they and their camels being innumerable.
6 They came into the land to ruin it. So Israel was brought very 7 low through Midian; and the Israelites cried to the LORD. Then,
8 when the Israelites cried to the LORD on account of Midian, the LORD sent a prophet to the Israelites, who said to them,
"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'I it was who brought you 9 up out of Egypt, and brought you out of a state of slavery; I rescued you from the power of Egypt, and from the power of all your oppressors;
10 I drove them out of your way, and gave you their land. So I said to you, "I, the LORD, am your God; you must not stand in awe of the gods of the Amorites in whose land you are living." But you have not heeded my injunction.'"
- 11 The angel of the LORD came and sat down under the terebinth at Ophrah, which belonged to Joash, the Abiezrite, whose son Gideon 12 was beating out wheat in a wine-press, to keep it safe from Midian.

The angel of the LORD appeared to him, and said to him,

"The LORD is with you, valiant warrior!"

13 "Pray, sir," Gideon said to him, "if the LORD is with us, why, then, has all this happened to us? Where are all his wonderful deeds, which our fathers recounted to us, saying, 'Was it not out of Egypt that the LORD brought us?' But now the LORD has cast us off, and has delivered us into the power of Midian."

14 Then the LORD turned to him, and said,

"Go in this strength of yours, and save Israel from the power of Midian. Am I not sending you?"

15 But he said to him,

"Pray, O Lord, how can I save Israel, seeing that my clan is the weakest in Manasseh, and that I am the lowliest in my father's family?"

16 But the LORD said to him,

"I will be with you, and you shall destroy Midian to a man."

17 Then he said to him,

"If I have really found favor with thee, pray show me a sign that it is thou who speakest with me. Do not leave here, I pray, until I come back to thee, and bring out my offering, and place it before thee."

"I will wait until you return," he said.

19 So Gideon went inside, and prepared a kid and unleavened cakes from an ephah of flour; he put the meat in a basket, and put the broth in a pot, and bringing them out to him under the terebinth, he presented them. But the angel of God said to him,

"Take the meat and the unleavened cakes, and place them on the rock yonder; but pour out the broth."

21 He did so. Then the angel of the LORD stretched out the end of the staff that was in his hand, and touched the meat and unleavened cakes, whereupon fire burst forth from the rock, and consumed the meat and unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the LORD vanished from his sight. So Gideon perceived that it was the angel of the LORD.

"Alas, O Lord God," said Gideon; "inasmuch as I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face!"

23 But the LORD said to him,

"You are safe; have no fear; you are not to die."

24 So Gideon built there an altar to the LORD, and called it Yahweh-shalom. To this day it still stands in the Abiezrite city of Ophrah.

25 That very night the LORD said to him,

“Take the choicest of the bulls that your father has (it has been the choice bull for seven years), and tear down the altar of Baal that 26 your father has, and cut down the sacred pole that is beside it. Then build an altar to the LORD your God on the top of this stronghold with the material, and take the choice bull, and offer it up as a burnt-offering with the wood of the sacred pole which you are to cut down.”

27 So Gideon took ten of his slaves, and did as the LORD told him; but since he was too afraid of his father’s household and the townsmen to 28 do it by day, he did it by night. When the townsmen rose early next morning, there was the altar of Baal torn down, and the sacred pole which was beside it cut down, and the choice bull offered up on the 29 altar which had been built! Then they said to one another,

“Who has done this deed?”

After making inquiry and search, they declared,

“Gideon, the son of Joash, has done this deed.”

30 So the townsmen said to Joash,

“Bring out your son that he may die; for he has torn down the altar of Baal, and has cut down the sacred pole which was beside it.”

31 But Joash said to all his opponents,

“Will you take Baal’s part, or will you champion him? Whoever takes his part will be put to death by morning. If he is a god, let him take his own part; for his altar has been torn down!”

32 So Gideon was named Jerubbaal that day, meaning, “Let Baal take his own part against him; for he tore down his altar.”

33 Then all the Midianites, Amalekites, and Kedemites joined their 34 forces, and crossing over, encamped in the valley of Jezreel. So the spirit of the LORD took possession of Gideon, and he sounded the 35 alarm, and the Abiezrites were mustered in his following. Then he sent messengers all through Manasseh, and they also were mustered in his following. He sent messengers through Asher, Zebulun, and 36 Naphtali, and they marched out to meet them. Then Gideon said to God,

“If thou art really going to save Israel by my power, as thou hast
37 declared—see, I will put a fleece of wool on the threshing-floor; if there is dew on the fleece only, while it is dry on all the ground, I will know that thou wilt save Israel by my power, as thou hast declared.”

38 And so it happened. When he rose early next morning, and wrung the fleece, he squeezed in dew out of the fleece a bowlful of water.
39 Then Gideon said to God,

“Let not thy anger blaze against me, that I may speak just once more. Pray let me make only one more test with the fleece; pray let it be dry on the fleece only, but on all the ground let there be dew.”

40 And God did so that night; it was dry on the fleece only, but on all the ground there was dew.

7 So Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) and all the people that were with him rose early, and encamped near En-harod, while the camp of Midian was north of Gibeah-moreh in the valley. Then the LORD said to Gideon,

“The people that are with you are too many for me to deliver Midian into their power, lest Israel should glory over me, saying, ‘My own power has saved me.’ Now then, proclaim in the hearing of the people, ‘Whoever is afraid and timid must go home.’”

So Gideon put them to the test, and twenty-two thousand of the people went home, but ten thousand were left. Then the LORD said to Gideon,

“The people are still too many. Bring them down to the water, and let me test them there for you; he of whom I say to you, ‘This one is to go with you,’ shall go with you; but everyone of whom I say to you, ‘This one is not to go with you,’ must not go.”

5 So he brought the people down to the water, and the LORD said to Gideon,

“Everyone who laps up the water with his tongue as a dog laps, put off by himself; and likewise everyone who kneels down to drink.”

6 The number of those who lapped with their tongues was three hundred, while all the rest of the people knelt down to drink water. Then the LORD said to Gideon,

“With the three hundred men who lapped I will save you, and will deliver Midian into your power; but let all the rest of the people go each to his home.”

8 Then they took the pitchers of the people in their hands, together with their trumpets; and he sent all the rest of the Israelites home, each to his tent, keeping only the three hundred men. Now the camp of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

9 That very night the LORD said to him,

“Rise, go down into the camp; for I am delivering it into your power. But if you are afraid to go down alone, go down with your servant Purah to the camp, and hear what they are saying; and after that you will have the courage to descend on the camp.”

So he went down with his servant Purah to the outposts of the warriors that were in the camp. Now the Midianites, Amalekites, and all the Kedemites were lying along the valley like locusts for number, and their camels were innumerable, being like the sands on the sea-shore for number. Just as Gideon came, a man was telling his comrade a dream.

"I just had a dream," he said, "that a crust of barley bread came tumbling into the camp of Midian, and coming to a tent, struck it so that it fell, and turned it upside down, so that the tent lay flat."

"That," his comrade responded, "is nothing other than the sword of Gideon, the son of Joash, an Israelite. God is delivering Midian and all the camp into his power."

As soon as Gideon heard the telling of the dream and its interpretation, he bowed in reverence; and returning to the camp of Israel, he said,

"Up! for the LORD is delivering the camp of Midian into your power."

Then he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and put trumpets into the hands of all of them, and empty pitchers, with torches inside the pitchers.

"Watch me," he said to them, "and do likewise; as I reach the outskirts of the camp, see that you do just as I do; when I blow the trumpet, I and all those accompanying me, you also must blow your trumpets all around the camp, and say, 'For the LORD and for Gideon!'"

When Gideon and the hundred men that accompanied him reached the outskirts of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, the guards having just been posted, they blew their trumpets, and smashed the pitchers that were in their hands; whereupon the three companies blew their trumpets, and shattered their pitchers, holding the torches in their left hands and the trumpets in their right to blow them, and they cried, "For the LORD and for Gideon!" Then they stood each in his place around the camp, and all the camp ran; they cried out, and fled. When the three hundred trumpets were blown, the LORD set them to fighting with one another all through the camp; and the camp fled as far as Bethshittah in the direction of Zererah, as far as the edge of Abel-meholah, near Tabbath. Israelites were mustered from Naphtali, Asher, and all Manasseh to pursue Midian; and Gideon sent messengers all through the highlands of Ephraim, saying,

"Come down against Midian, and seize the streams against them as far as Bethbarah, and also the Jordan."

So all the Ephraimites were mustered, and seized the streams as far 25 as Bethbarah, and also the Jordan. Capturing Midian's two chieftains, Oreb and Zeeb, they killed Oreb at Zur-Oreb, and Zeeb they killed at Jekel-Zeeb. They pursued Midian, and the heads of Oreb and Zeeb they brought to Gideon on the other side of the Jordan.

8 Then the Ephraimites said to him,

"What trick is this that you have played us in not calling us when you went to fight against Midian?"

2 They vigorously upbraided him, but he said to them,

"What after all have I done as compared with you? Is not the 3 gleaning of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer? It was into your power that God delivered Midian's chieftains, Oreb and Zeeb; so what have I been able to do as compared with you?"

Then their anger relented against him when he said that.

4 When Gideon reached the Jordan, and crossed it, with the three hundred men who accompanied him, they became exhausted in their 5 pursuit. So he said to the men of Succoth,

"Pray give some loaves of bread to my followers, because they are exhausted in my pursuit of Zebah and Zalmunna, the kings of Midian."

6 But the officials of Succoth said,

"Are the persons of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hands that we should give bread to your host?"

7 "Accordingly," said Gideon, "when the LORD delivers Zebah and Zalmunna into my hands, I will trample your bodies among desert thorns and briars!"

8 From there he went up to Penuel, and spoke similarly to them; but 9 the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had. So he said also to the men of Penuel,

"When I come back in triumph, I will tear down this tower."

10 Now Zebah and Zalmunna were at Karkor, and their army with them, about fifteen thousand men, all that remained of all the Kedemite army, since the fallen numbered one hundred and twenty thousand swordsmen. So Gideon went up the cavarán route, east of Nobah 11 and Jogbehah, and attacked the camp as it lay off its guard. Zebah and Zalmunna fled, but he pursued them, and captured Midian's two kings, Zebah and Zalmunna, and struck panic into the whole army. 12 Then Gideon, the son of Joash, returned from the battle at the slope 13 of Heres. He captured a youth belonging to Succoth, and questioned 14 him, so that he wrote down for him a list of the officials and elders of 15 Succoth, seventy-seven of them. Coming to the men of Succoth, he said,

"Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, concerning whom you taunted me, saying, 'Are the persons of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hands that we should give bread to your exhausted men?'"

16 Then he took the elders of the city along with desert thorns and 17 briars, and he trampled the men of Succoth into them. Also the tower 18 of Penuel he tore down, and slew the men of the city. Then he said to Zebah and Zalmunna,

"Where are the men whom you slew at Tabor?"

"They were like yourself," said they, "just like the sons of a king in stature."

9 "They were my brothers," said he, "the sons of my mother. As the LORD lives, if you had let them live, I would not be slaying you."

10 Then he said to Jether, his first-born,

"Go and slay them!"

But the boy would not draw his sword, because he was afraid; for 11 he was still only a boy. Then Zebah and Zalmunna said,

"Come and fall upon us yourself; for a man has a man's courage."

So Gideon went and slew Zebah and Zalmunna, and he took the crescents which were on the necks of their camels.

2 Then the Israelites said to Gideon,

"Rule over us, you, then your son, and then your grandson; for you have saved us from the power of Midian."

3 But Gideon said to them,

"I will not rule over you, nor shall my son rule over you, since the 1 LORD rules over you."

4 "But let me make a request of you," Gideon said to them; "each of you give me the earrings of his captives." (For they had gold earrings, since they were Ishmaelites.)

5 "We surely will," said they.

So they spread out a mantle, and each of them threw the earrings
6 of his captives into it, so that the weight of the gold earrings for which he had asked was one thousand seven hundred shekels in gold, exclusive of the crescents, pendants, and purple robes worn by the kings of Midian, and the collars which were on the necks of their 7 camels. Then Gideon made it into an ephod, and deposited it in his city Ophrah, and all Israel ran wantonly after it there, so that it be-
8 came a snare for Gideon and his family. Thus were the Midianites brought into subjection to the Israelites, so that they never raised their heads again; and the land enjoyed security for forty years, during the lifetime of Gideon.

THE KINGDOM OF ABIMELECH: ITS RISE AND FALL, 8:29—9:57

²⁹ Then Jerubbaal, the son of Joash, went to live at home. Gideon had seventy sons, who were his own offspring; for he had many ³¹ wives. His consort who lived in Shechem had also borne him a ³² son, to whom he had given the name of Abimelech. Then Gideon, the son of Joash, died at a ripe old age, and was buried in the tomb of ³³ his father Joash, in the Abiezrite city of Ophrah. Just as soon as Gideon died, the Israelites again ran wantonly after the Baals, and ³⁴ made Baal-berith their god. The Israelites paid no attention to the LORD their God, who had rescued them from the power of all their ³⁵ enemies around them, nor were they kind to the family of Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) in return for all the good that he had rendered Israel.

9 Then Abimelech, the son of Jerubbaal, went to Shechem to his mother's kinsmen, and spoke to them and to all the clan of his mother's family, saying,

² "Say in the hearing of all the citizens of Shechem, 'Which is better for you, to have seventy men rule over you, all the sons of Jerubbaal, or to have one man rule over you? Also remember that I am your own flesh and blood.' "

⁶ Then all the citizens of Shechem and all Beth-millo assembled, and went and made Abimelech king, beside the terebinth connected ⁷ with the sacred pillar which was at Shechem. When the news was brought to Jotham, he went and stood on the top of Mount Gerizim, and lifting up his voice, he called out, and said to them,

"Listen to me, O citizens of Shechem, so that God may listen to

- 8 you! Once upon a time the trees set out to anoint a king over themselves; so they said to the olive tree, “‘Reign over us.’”
- 9 “But the olive tree said to them,
“‘Do I lack my rich oil, with which gods and men are honored, that I should go begging to the trees?’”
- 10 “Then the trees said to the fig tree,
“‘Do you come and reign over us!’”
- 11 “But the fig tree said to them,
“‘Do I lack my sweetneess and good fruit that I should go begging to the trees?’”
- 12 “Then the trees said to the vine,
“‘Do you come and reign over us!’”
- 13 “But the vine said to them,
“‘Do I lack my wine, which cheers gods and men, that I should go begging to the trees?’”
- 14 “Finally the trees said to the thorn,
“‘Do you come and reign over us!’”
- 15 “But the thorn said to the trees,
“‘If in good faith you are anointing me as king over you, come and take shelter in my shade; but if not, fire shall burst forth from the thorn, and consume the cedars of Lebanon.’”
- 16 “So now, if you have acted in good faith and integrity in making Abimelech king, and if you have acted fairly by Jerubbaal and his 17 family, and treated him as he deserved—seeing that my father fought for you, and risked his life, and rescued you from the power of Mid-
18 ian, whereas you have today risen against my father’s family, and have slain his sons, seventy of them, on a single stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his slave girl, king over the citizens of She-
19 chem, because he is your kinsman—if, I say, you have acted in good faith and integrity by Jerubbaal and his family this day, have joy in 20 Abimelech, and may he also have joy in you! But if not, fire shall burst forth from Abimelech, and consume all the citizens of Shechem and Beth-millo, and fire shall burst forth from the citizens of Shechem and Beth-millo and consume Abimelech.”
- 21 Then Jotham ran away, and fleeing, went to Beer, and settled there, on account of his brother Abimelech.
- 22 For three years Abimelech held sway over Israel. Then God sent 23 an evil spirit between Abimelech and the citizens of Shechem, so that 24 the citizens of Shechem played false by Abimelech, in order that the murder of the seventy sons of Jerubbaal and their blood might be requited on their brother Abimelech, who had slain them, and on the 25 citizens of Shechem, who had abetted him in slaying his brothers. The citizens of Shechem to his hurt set men in ambush on the mountain-tops, and robbed all who passed by them on the road; and it was reported to Abimelech.

26 Now Gaal, the son of Obed, came with his kinsmen, and moved into Shechem; and the citizens of Shechem put their trust in him.
27 They went out into the fields, and after cutting their grapes, and treading them out, they held a festival; and entering the house of 28 their god, they ate and drank, and reviled Abimelech. Then Gaal, the son of Obed, said,

“What claim has Abimelech on Shechem, that we should serve him? Did not Jerubbaal’s son, and his lieutenant Zebul, once serve the men of Hamor, the ancestor of Shechem; so why should we serve 29 him? O that this people were under my authority! Then would I depose Abimelech, and I would say to Abimelech, ‘Your tenure of office has been long enough; so get out!’”

30 When Zebul, the governor of the city, heard the words of Gaal, 31 the son of Obed, his anger blazed; and he sent messengers to Abimelech at Arumah, saying,

“Gaal, the son of Obed, and his kinsmen have come to Shechem,
32 and here they are, turning the city against you! Now then, start out 33 at night, you and the people that are with you, and lie in ambush in the fields; and then rise early next morning, just at sunrise, and make a dash against the city. Then, just as he and the people that are with him come out against you, do to him as opportunity offers.”

34 So Abimelech and all the people that were with him started out at 35 night, and lay in ambush against Shechem, in four companies. When Gaal, the son of Obed, came out, and stood at the entrance of the city gate, Abimelech and the people that were with him rose from the 36 ambuscade; and when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul,

“See, there are people coming down from the mountain tops.”

“It is the mountain shadows,” Zebul said to him, “which look to you like men!”

37 But Gaal said again,

“See, there are people coming down from the vicinity of Tabburerez, and one company is advancing from the direction of Elonmeonenim!”

38 Then Zebul said to him,

“Where is your boast now, which you made, ‘Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him?’ Are these not the people that you despised? Come out then, and fight against them!”

39 So Gaal led out the citizens of Shechem, and fought against 40 Abimelech; but Abimelech pursued him, and he fled from him, while 41 many fell wounded, right up to the entrance of the gate. Abimelech, however, continued to live at Arumah; while Zebul banished Gaal and his kinsmen from Shechem.

42 Next day, when the people went out into the fields, the news was 43 brought to Abimelech. So he took his men, and dividing them into three companies, lay in ambush in the fields. When he saw the people coming out of the city, he rose against them, and attacked them.
44 Abimelech and the company that was with him made a dash, and occupied the entrance to the city gate; while the other two companies made a dash against all who were in the fields, and attacked them.
45 Abimelech fought against the city all that day; and when he captured the city, he slew the people that were in it, razed the city itself, and sowed it with salt.

46 When all the citizens of Migdal-Shechem heard of it, they entered 47 the crypt of the temple of El-berith. When the news was brought to Abimelech that all the citizens of Migdal-Shechem were gathered 48 there, Abimelech went up to Mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him; and taking an ax in his hand, Abimelech cut down brushwood, and lifting it up, put it on his shoulder. Then he said to the people that were with him,

“Hurry, and do just what you saw me do.”

49 So all the people likewise cut down brush, and following Abime-lech, placed it on the crypt, and then set the crypt on fire over them; so that all the citizens of Migdal-Shechem also died, about a thousand men and women.

50 Then Abimelech went to Thebez, invested Thebez, and captured 51 it. But there was a strong tower inside the city, and thither fled all the men and women, all the citizens of the city, and shut themselves 52 in, and went up on the roof of the tower. When Abimelech reached the tower, he attacked it; but as he approached the doorway of the 53 tower to burn it down, a woman threw an upper millstone on Abime-54 lech's head, and crushed his skull, whereupon he called quickly to his armorbearer, and said to him,

“Draw your sword, and despatch me, lest it be said of me, ‘A woman killed him!’”

55 So his servant ran him through, and he died. When the Israelites 56 saw that Abimelech was dead, they went each to his home. Thus did God requite the crime of Abimelech which he committed against his 57 father, in slaying his seventy brothers. Also all the wickedness of the men of Shechem did God requite upon their heads, so that the curse of Jotham, the son of Jerubbaal, came upon them.

THE MINOR JUDGES, TOLA AND JAIR, 10:1-5

10 After Abimelech, there rose to save Israel Tola, the son of Puah, the son of Dodo, an Issacharite. He lived at Shamir, in the highlands 2 of Ephraim. He governed Israel for twenty-three years. Then he died, and was buried at Shamir.

3 After him rose Jair, the Gileadite. He governed Israel for twenty-4 two years. He had thirty sons who rode on thirty saddle-asses and possessed thirty cities (they are called Havvoth-jair to this day), which 5 are in the land of Gilead. Then Jair died, and was buried at Kamon.

CONQUEST BY THE AMMONITES AND DELIVERANCE THROUGH JEPHTHAH, 10:6—12:7

6 Then the Israelites again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD by serving the Baals and Ashtarts, the gods of Syria, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites, and the gods of 7 the Philistines; they forsook the LORD and did not serve him. Then the anger of the LORD blazed against Israel, so that he sold them into the power of the Philistines, and into the power of the Ammonites.
8 They crushed and oppressed the Israelites for eighteen years, that is, all the Israelites who were beyond the Jordan in the land of the 9 Amorites, which is in Gilead. The Ammonites crossed the Jordan to fight also against Judah, Benjamin, and the clan of Ephraim, so that 10 Israel was in sore straits. Then the Israelites cried to the LORD, saying,

“We have sinned against thee; for we have forsaken our God and served the Baals.”

11 Then the LORD said to the Israelites,

“Is it not as easy to save from the Ammonites and Philistines as 12 from the Egyptians and Amorites? When the Sidonians, Amalekites, and Midianites oppressed you, and you cried to me, I saved you from 13 their power. Yet you have forsaken me, and served alien gods. Ac-14 cordingly, I will not save you any more. Go and cry to the gods whom you have chosen! Let them save you in your time of distress!”

- 15 Then the Israelites said to the LORD,
“We have sinned; do to us just as thou seest fit; only do rescue us this day!”
- 16 Then they removed the foreign gods from their midst, and served the LORD, so that he had to yield to the grievances of Israel.
- 17 The Ammonites were mustered, and camped in Gilcad; while the 18 Israelites were assembled, and camped at Mizpeh. Then the people throughout the cities of Gilead said to one another, “Whoever will take the lead in fighting against the Ammonites, shall become chief over all the inhabitants of Gilead.”
- 11 Now Jephthah, the Gileadite, was a valiant warrior; but he was 2 the son of a harlot. Gilead was the father of Jephthah, but Gilead’s wife had borne him other sons, and when his wife’s sons had grown up, they had driven Jephthah out, and had said to him,
“You shall have no inheritance in our father’s estate; for you are the son of another woman.”
- 3 So Jephthah had fled from his brothers, and was living in the land of Tob. Vagabonds gathered about Jephthah, and went raiding with 4 him. After a while the Ammonites went to war with Israel. When 5 the Ammonites went to war with Israel, the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah from the land of Tob.
- 6 “Come and be our commander,” they said to Jephthah, “that we may fight against the Ammonites.”
- 7 But Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead,
“Are you not the men who hated me, and drove me out of my father’s house? Why then have you come to me now, when you are in trouble?”
- 8 “That is just why we have come back to you,” the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah; “so come with us, and fight against the Ammonites, and be chief over us, over all the inhabitants of Gilead.”
- 9 Whereupon Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead,
“If you take me back to fight against the Ammonites, and the LORD puts them at my mercy, shall I really become your chief?”
- 10 The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah,
“The LORD shall be witness between us that we will do just as you say.”
- 11 So Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him chief and commander over them, and Jephthah repeated all his words in the presence of the LORD at Mizpeh.

12 Then Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites, saying,

“What have you against me that you have come against me to wage war on my country?”

13 The king of the Ammonites said to the messengers of Jephthah, “Israel took away my lands when they came up out of Egypt, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok and the Jordan; so now restore them peaceably.”

14 Then Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites, to say to him,

“Thus says Jephthah: ‘Israel did not take away the land of Moab, nor the land of the Ammonites. When they came up out of Egypt, Israel journeyed through the desert as far as the Red Sea, and then came to Kadesh. Israel then sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, “Pray let us pass through your land”; but the king of Edom would not agree. Likewise they sent to the king of Moab, but he would not consent. So Israel remained at Kadesh. Then they journeyed through the desert, and making a circuit around the land of Edom and the land of Moab, they kept to the east of the land of Moab, and camped beyond the Arnon. They did not enter the territory of Moab; for the Arnon was the frontier of Moab. Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon, king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon. “Pray let us pass through your land to our destination,” Israel said to him. But Sihon refused to let Israel pass through his territory; Sihon collected all his people, and encamped at Jahaz, and fought with Israel. Then the LORD, the God of Israel, delivered Sihon and all his people into the power of Israel, so that they defeated them; and Israel occupied all the land of the Amorites inhabiting that region. They occupied all the territory of the Amorites, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok, and from the desert as far as the Jordan. So, now that the LORD, the God of Israel, has driven the Amorites out of the way of his people Israel, are you to occupy the territory? Should you not occupy the territory of those whom Chemosh, your own god, drives out, while we occupy that of all those whom the LORD, our God, has driven out of our way? Are you then any stronger than Balak, the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever quarrel with the Israelites, or fight with them? While Israel lived in Heshbon and its dependencies, and in Aroer and its dependencies, and in all the cities which are on the banks of the Arnon, for three hundred years, why did you not recover them within that time? I have committed no wrong against you, but you are doing me wrong in making war on me. Let the LORD, as judge today, decide the issue between the Israelites and Ammonites!’ ”

28 But the king of the Ammonites would not agree to the proposal which Jephthah sent him.

29 Then the spirit of the LORD inspired Jephthah, so that he crossed to Gilead and Manasseh; then he passed on to Mizpeh of Gilead, and 30 from Mizpeh of Gilead he passed on to the Ammonites. Jephthah made a vow to the LORD, saying,

31 “If thou wilt but deliver the Ammonites into my power, whosoever comes out of the door of my house to meet me, when I return in triumph from the Ammonites, shall be the LORD’S; I will offer him up as a burnt-offering!”

32 Then Jephthah crossed over to the Ammonites, to fight against 33 them; and the LORD delivered them into his power. He routed them with very great slaughter, from Aroer as far as the vicinity of Minnith, through twenty cities, and as far as Abel-cheramim. Thus were the Ammonites brought into subjection to the Israelites.

34 Then Jephthah went home to Mizpeh, and there was his daughter coming out to meet him with tambourines and dancing! She was his one and only child; besides her he had neither son nor daughter. 35 Upon seeing her, he tore his clothes, and said,

“Alas, my daughter, you have stricken me low! You have indeed brought calamity on me! For I made a vow to the LORD, and I cannot repudiate it.”

36 “My father,” she said to him, “you have made a vow to the LORD; do to me as you declared, now that the LORD has wreaked vengeance for you on your enemies, the Ammonites.”

37 “But let this privilege be granted me,” she said to her father; “spare me for two months, that I may go and roam at large on the mountains, and bewail my maidenhood, I and my companions.”

38 “Go!” he said.

So he let her go for two months, and she went, she and her companions, to bewail her maidenhood on the mountains. Then, at the end of two months she returned to her father, who did to her what he had vowed, and she one who had never had intercourse with a man. 40 Thus it became a custom in Israel for the Israelite maidens to go annually to commemorate the daughter of Jephthah, the Gileadite, for four days in the year.

- 12 When the Ephraimites were mustered, they crossed to Zaphon, and said to Jephthah, “Why did you cross over to fight against the Ammonites without inviting us to go with you? We will burn your house over your head.”
- 2 But Jephthah said to them,
“I had a quarrel with my people. Then the Ammonites oppressed them severely, and they called on you, but you would not save them
3 from their power. When I saw that you would not help, I took my life in my hands, and crossed over to the Ammonites; and the LORD delivered them into my power. Why then have you come against me today to fight with me?”
- 4 Then Jephthah collected all the Gileadites, and fought with Ephraim; and the Gileadites defeated Ephraim. Gilead seized the fords of the Jordan against Ephraim, and whenever a fugitive from Ephraim would say, “Let me cross,” the Gileadites would say to him, 6 “Are you an Ephraimite?” If he said, “No,” they would say to him, “Then say ‘Shibboleth.’” If he said “Sibboleth,” seeing that it is not proper so to pronounce it, they would seize him, and slay him at the fords of the Jordan. Thus there fell at that time forty-two thousand of the Ephraimites.
- 7 Jephthah governed Israel for six years. Then Jephthah, the Gileadite, died, and was buried in his city in Gilead.

THE MINOR JUDGES: IBZAN, ELON, AND ABDON, 12:8—15

- 8 After him Ibzan of Bethlehem governed Israel. He had thirty 9 sons. He married thirty daughters outside his family, and thirty daughters he brought in for his sons from outside. He governed Israel 10 for seven years. Then Ibzan died, and was buried at Bethlehem.
- 11 After him Elon, the Zebulunite, governed Israel; he governed 12 Israel for ten years. Then Elon, the Zebulunite, died, and was buried at Aijalon in the land of Zebulun.
- 13 After him Abdon, the son of Hillel, the Pirathonite, governed 14 Israel. He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy 15 saddle-asses. He governed Israel for eight years. Then Abdon, the son of Hillel, the Pirathonite, died, and was buried at Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the highlands of the Amalekites.

THE STORY OF SAMSON, 13:1—16:31

- 13 Then the Israelites again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD; so that the LORD delivered them into the power of the Philistines for forty years.

2 Now there was a certain man of Zorah, belonging to the Danite
3 clan, whose name was Manoah. His wife was barren and childless;
but the angel of the LORD appeared to the woman, and said to her,

4 "See now, although you have been barren and childless, you are going to conceive, and bear a son. Now then, take care not to drink 5 wine or liquor, nor to eat anything unclean; for you are going to conceive, and bear a son. A razor is not to be used on his head; for the boy is to be a Nazirite to God from conception. He it is who will take the lead in saving Israel from the power of the Philistines."

6 Then the woman came and told her husband, saying,

7 "A man of God came to me, whose appearance was like that of an angel of God, very awe-inspiring. I did not ask him where he came from, nor did he tell me his name; but he said to me, 'You are going to conceive, and bear a son; now then, do not drink wine or liquor, nor eat anything unclean; for the boy is to be a Nazirite to God from conception to the day of his death.'"

8 Then Manoah besought the LORD, and said,

"Pray, O Lord, let the man of God whom thou didst send come back to us, and teach us what to do for the boy that is to be born."

9 So God acceded to Manoah's request, and the angel of God came back to the woman while she was sitting in the field, her husband 10 Manoah not being with her. Then the woman ran quickly to tell her husband.

"The man who came to me the other day has just appeared to me!" she said to him.

11 So Manoah rose and followed his wife, and coming to the man,
said to him,

"Are you the man who spoke to my wife?"

"I am," he said.

12 "In case your promise comes true," said Manoah, "what is to be the boy's training and his vocation?"

13 The angel of the LORD said to Manoah,

14 "The woman must abstain from everything of which I spoke to her. She must not eat any of the products of the grapevine, nor drink wine or liquor, nor eat anything unclean. All that I commanded her she must observe."

15 Then Manoah said to the angel of the LORD,

"Pray allow us to detain you, that we may prepare a kid for you."

16 But the angel of the LORD said to Manoah,

"Though you detain me, I will not taste your food; but if you are going to make a burnt-offering, offer it up to the LORD." (For Manoah did not know that he was the angel of the LORD).

17 Then Manoah said to the angel of the LORD,

"What is your name, that we may properly honor you when your promise comes true?"

18 "Why do you ask for my name," the angel of the LORD said to him, "seeing that it is ineffable."

19 Then Manoah took the kid, along with the cereal-offering, and offered it up on the rock to the LORD, who performed wonders while

20 Manoah and his wife looked on; when the flame ascended from the altar heavenward, the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame of the altar, while Manoah and his wife looked on, and fell on their faces

21 to the ground. (The angel of the LORD never again appeared to Manoah and his wife.) Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of 22 the LORD; so Manoah said to his wife,

"We shall certainly die; for we have seen God!"

23 But his wife said to him,

"If the LORD had meant to kill us, he would not have accepted a burnt-offering and a cereal-offering from us, nor would he have showed us all these things, nor would he have told us such a thing as he did just now."

24 So the woman bore a son, and called his name Samson. The boy grew up, and the LORD blessed him; but the spirit of the LORD first stirred him up at Mahaneh-dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

14 Samson went down to Timnah, and saw a woman at Timnah, one of the Philistine women. When he came back, he told his father and mother.

"I saw a woman at Timnah," he said, "one of the Philistine women; now then, get her for me in marriage."

3 But his father and mother said to him,

"Is there no woman among the girls of your own kinsmen or among all my people, that you must go and get a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?"

But Samson said to his father,

"Get her for me; for she is the one that suits me."

4 His father and mother did not know, however, that it was at the instigation of the LORD that he was picking a quarrel with the Philistines; for at that time the Philistines held sway over Israel.

5 Then Samson went down with his father and mother to Timnah, and just as they reached the vineyards of Timnah, a young lion came

6 roaring at him. Then the spirit of the LORD came rushing upon him, so that he split it open as one might split a kid, although he had nothing at all in his hands. However, he did not tell his father and mother
7 what he had done. So he went down, and talked to the woman, and 8 she suited Samson. When he returned after a while to marry her, he turned aside to look at the remains of the lion, and there was a swarm 9 of bees in the carcass of the lion, and honey! So he scraped it out into his hands, and ate it as he went along. When he returned to his father and mother, he gave them some to eat, but he did not tell them that it was out of the carcass of the lion that he had scraped the honey.

10 When his father went down to the woman, Samson made a feast 11 there; for so bridegrooms were accustomed to do. As soon as they 12 saw him, they selected thirty companions to accompany him. To them Samson said,

“Let me propound you a riddle; if you can but solve it for me in the seven days of the feast, and find it out, I will give you thirty 13 linen robes and thirty festal garments; but if you are unable to tell me the solution, then you must give me thirty linen robes and thirty festal garments.”

“Propound your riddle,” they said to him, “let us hear it!”

14 So he said to them,

“Out of the eater came something to eat,

And out of the strong came something sweet.”

15 When they could not solve the riddle after three days, they said to Samson’s wife on the fourth day,

“Coax your husband to solve the riddle for us, lest we burn up you and your father’s house. Was it to impoverish us that you invited us here?”

16 So Samson’s wife wept on his shoulder, and said,

“You simply hate me, and do not love me at all. You have propounded a riddle to my countrymen without telling me the solution.”

He said to her,

“Why, I haven’t told my father or mother; so should I tell you?”

17 But she wept on his shoulder through the seven days that they kept the feast, until finally on the seventh day he told her, since she pressed 18 him so hard. Then she told the riddle to her countrymen; and on the seventh day, as he was about to enter the bridal chamber, the men of the city said to him,

“What is sweeter than honey,

And what is stronger than a lion?”

He said to them,

“If you had not ploughed with this heifer of mine,
You would not have found out this riddle of mine.”

- 19 Then the spirit of the LORD came rushing upon him, so that he went down to Askelon, and killing thirty of them, he despoiled them, and gave the festal garments to those who had solved the riddle.
- 20 Then, blazing with anger, he went up to his father's house, and Samson's wife went to his rival, who had been a rival to him.
- 15 After a while, however, in the time of wheat harvest, Samson paid a visit to his wife with a kid.

“I am going into the bridal chamber to my wife,” he said.
But her father would not let him go in.

- 2 “I thought of course that you must simply hate her,” her father said, “so I gave her to your rival. Is her younger sister not better than she? Take her instead.”
- 3 Then Samson said of them,

“This time I am going to get even with the Philistines; for I am going to do them harm.”

- 4 So Samson went and caught three hundred foxes; he then procured torches, and turning tail to tail, he put a torch between each pair of
- 5 tails. Then, setting the torches on fire, he turned the foxes loose in the standing grain of the Philistines, and burnt up both the shocks and the standing grain, and also the vineyards and olive groves.

- 6 “Who has done this?” said the Philistines.

“Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite,” it was said; “because his wife was taken away and given to his rival.”

So the Philistines went up, and burned up her and her father's house.

- 7 Then Samson said to them,

“You can never do such a thing as this without my taking revenge on you; but after this I will quit.”

- 8 So he smote them hip and thigh with great slaughter; then he went down, and lived in a cleft of the crag Etam.

- 9 Then the Philistines came up, and encamped in Judah, and made a raid on Lehi.

- 10 “Why have you come up against us?” said the Judeans.

“We have come up to take Samson prisoner,” they said; “that we may do to him as he did to us.”

- 11 So three thousand of the Judeans went down to the cleft of the crag Etam, and said to Samson,

“Do you not know that the Philistines hold sway over us? What ever have you done to us?”

“As they did to me,” he replied, “so have I done to them.”

12 “We have come down to take you prisoner,” they said to him, “to turn you over to the Philistines.”

“Swear to me that you will not fall upon me yourselves,” Samson said to them.

13 “No,” they responded, “we will but take you prisoner, and turn you over to them, but we will not kill you.”

14 So they bound him with two new ropes, and brought him up from the crag. As he reached Lehi, the Philistines came shouting to meet him. Then the spirit of the LORD came rushing upon him, so that the ropes on his arms became like flax that has caught on fire, and his bonds 15 melted off his hands; and finding a fresh jawbone of an ass, he put 16 out his hand, and seizing it, felled a thousand men with it. Then Samson said,

“With the red ass’s jawbone I have dyed them red;

With the red ass’s jawbone I have felled a thousand men.”

17 As he finished speaking, he threw the jawbone away; hence that 18 place came to be called Ramath-lehi [the hill of the jawbone]. Then he became very thirsty; so he called to the LORD, saying,

“Thou hast vouchsafed this great victory by thy servant, and am I now to die of thirst, and fall by the hands of the uncircumcised?”

19 Then God split open the mortar that is at Lehi, and water gushed out of it; and when he drank, his spirits rose, and he revived. That is how its name came to be called En-hakkore [the spring of the caller],
20 which is at Lehi to this day. So he governed Israel in the time of the Philistines for twenty years.

16 Samson went to Gaza, and seeing a harlot there, had intercourse
12 with her. When the Gazaites were told, “Samson has come here,” they came round, and lay in wait for him all night at the gate of the city. They kept quiet all night, saying, “As soon as morning dawns, 13 we will kill him.” Samson lay until midnight; but at midnight he rose, and taking hold of the doors of the city gate and the two gateposts, he pulled them up, together with the bar, and putting them on his shoulder, he carried them to the top of the hill that faces Hebron.

14 Afterwards he fell in love with a woman in the valley of Sorek, 15 whose name was Delilah. Then the Philistine tyrants came to her, and said to her,

“Coax him, and find out why his strength is so great, and how we can overpower him and bind him helpless, and we will each give you eleven hundred shekels of silver.”

6 So Delilah said to Samson,

“Do tell me why your strength is so great, and how you can be bound helpless?”

7 Samson said to her,

“If I were to be bound with seven fresh bowstrings that have not been dried, I should become weak, and be like any other man.”

8 Then the Philistine tyrants brought her seven fresh bowstrings that 9 had not been dried, and she bound him with them. Then, having men lie in wait in the inner room, she said to him,

“The Philistines are on you, Samson!”

But he snapped the bowstrings, as a strand of tow is snapped when it comes near fire. So the source of his strength was not discovered.

10 Then Delilah said to Samson,

“There, you have trifled with me, and told me lies! Do tell me now how you can be bound.”

11 So he said to her,

“If I were but bound with new ropes that have not been used, I should become weak, and be like any other man.”

12 So Delilah took new ropes, and bound him with them. Then she said to him,

“The Philistines are on you, Samson!”

(Meanwhile men were lying in wait in the inner room.)

But he snapped them off his arms like thread.

13 Then Delilah said to Samson,

“Up to now you have trifled with me, and told me lies. Tell me how you can be bound.”

So he said to her,

“If you were to weave the seven locks of my head into the web, and beat them in with the pin, I should become weak, and be like any other man.”

14 So, when he was asleep, Delilah took the seven locks of his head and wove them into the web, and beat them in with the pin. Then she said to him,

“The Philistines are on you, Samson!”

But he awoke from his sleep, and pulled up both the loom and the web.

15 Then she said to him,

“How can you say, ‘I love you,’ when you do not confide in me?”

Three times already you have trifled with me, and have not told me why your strength is so great."

¹⁶ At last, after she had pressed him with her words continually,
¹⁷ and urged him, he got tired to death of it, and told her his whole secret.

"A razor has never been used on my head," he said to her; "for I have been a Nazirite to God from conception. If I were to be shaved, my strength would leave me; I should become weak, and be like any other man."

¹⁸ When Delilah saw that he had told her his whole secret, she sent for the Philistine tyrants, saying,

"Come up this once; for he has told me his whole secret."

So the Philistine tyrants came to her, and brought the money in ¹⁹ their hands. Then she put him to sleep on her knees, and summoning a man, she had him shave off the seven locks of his head, so that he be-²⁰ came quite helpless, and his strength left him. Then she said,

"The Philistines are on you, Samson!"

He awoke from his sleep, and thought, "I shall get off as I have done over and over again, and shake myself free"—not knowing that ²¹ the LORD had left him. Then the Philistines seized him, and gouged out his eyes, and bringing him down to Gaza, they bound him with ²² bronze shackles, and he spent his time grinding in the prison. But the hair of his head began to grow again as soon as it had been shaved off.

²³ Now the Philistine tyrants gathered to offer a great sacrifice to their god Dagon, and for merry-making, saying, "Our god has delivered our enemy Samson into our power!"

²⁴ When the people saw him, they praised their god; "For," said they, "our god has delivered our enemy into our hands, the devastator of our lands, and him who slew us in bands."

²⁵ When they were in high spirits, they said, "Summon Samson, that he may make sport for us!"

So Samson was summoned from the prison, and made sport before ²⁶ them. When they had stationed him between the pillars, Samson said to the attendant who was holding his hand,

"Put me so that I can feel the pillars on which the building is supported, that I may lean against them."

²⁷ Now the building was full of men and women, and all the Philistine tyrants were there; and on the roof there were about three thou-²⁸ sand men and women, looking on while Samson made sport. Then Samson cried to the LORD, saying,

“O Lord God, pray remember me, and give me strength just this one time, O God, to wreak vengeance but once upon the Philistines for my two eyes!”

29 Then Samson grasped the two middle pillars on which the building was supported, one with his right hand and the other with his left, and braced himself against them.

30 “Let me die with the Philistines!” said Samson.

Then he pulled with all his might, so that the building fell in upon the tyrants and all the people that were in it. So those that he killed at his death were more than those that he had killed during his life.

31 Then his kinsmen and all his father’s household came down, and took him up; and bringing him away, they buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the tomb of his father Manoah. He had governed Israel for twenty years.

THE STORY OF MICAH AND THE DANITES, 17:1—18:31

17 There was a man of the highlands of Ephraim, whose name was 2 Micah. He said to his mother,

“The eleven hundred shekels of silver which were stolen from you, and concerning which you uttered a curse, and further, said it in my hearing, here is the silver in my possession; it was I who stole it; so now I return it to you.”

His mother said,

“Blessed be my son of the LORD!”

3 When he returned the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said,

“I do solemnly consecrate the silver to the LORD from me for my son, to make a carved image and a molten image.”

4 So he returned the silver to his mother, and his mother took two hundred shekels of it, and gave it to a silversmith, who made it into
5 a carved image and a molten image, to stand in Micah’s house. The man Micah had a shrine; he had made an ephod and teraphim, and 6 had installed one of his sons to be priest for him. In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone used to do as he pleased.

7 Now there was a young man from Bethlehem in Judah, belonging to the clan of Judah; he was a Levite, and was an immigrant there.

8 The man had left the city, Bethlehem in Judah, to settle as an immigrant wherever he might find a place; so he came to the highlands of Ephraim to the house of Micah in the accomplishment of his errand.

9 "Where do you come from?" Micah said to him.

"I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah," he replied; "I am traveling to settle as an immigrant wherever I can find a place."

10 "Live with me," Micah said to him; "be father and priest to me, and I will give you ten shekels of silver a year, the necessary clothes, and your living."

11 So the Levite agreed to live with the man, and the young man was 12 treated by him like one of his own sons. Micah installed the Levite, and the young man became his priest, and lived in Micah's house.

13 "Now," said Micah, "I know that the LORD will prosper me, seeing that the Levite has become my priest."

18 In those days there was no king in Israel.

In those days the Danite tribe were looking for a heritage to settle in, since nothing in the way of a heritage had fallen to them up to 12 that time among the tribes of Israel. So the Danites sent from their clan five of their ablest men, valiant fellows, from Zorah and Eshtaol, to spy out the land and explore it.

"Go and explore the land," they said to them.

So they came into the highlands of Ephraim to the house of Micah, 13 to spend the night there. As they came near the house of Micah, they recognized the accent of the young Levite. So they turned aside there, and said to him,

"Who brought you here; what are you doing in this place; what is your business here?"

14 He said to them,

"So and so did Micah do for me. He hired me, and I became his priest."

15 "Pray inquire of God," they said to him, "so that we may know whether the errand on which we are going will be successful."

16 The priest said to them,

"Go forth to victory; the errand on which you are going has the LORD's approval."

17 So the five men departed, and coming to Laish, found the people who were in it living in security, after the manner of the Sidonians, quiet and unsuspecting; there was no lack of anything in the earth; they were far from the Sidonians and had no dealings with Syria.

8 When the spies came back to their clansmen at Zorah and Eshtaol, their clansmen said to them,

"How did you get along?"

9 "Rise," they said, "let us go up against them; for we have seen the land, and it is surely very fine. And you sit idle! Do not delay in setting out to go in and occupy the land; for God is delivering it into ¹⁰ your power. When you arrive, you will come upon an unsuspecting people, while the land is extensive, a place where there is no lack of anything at all that is in the earth."

¹¹ So there set forth from there, from Zorah and Eshtaol, six hundred ¹² men of the Danite clan, armed with weapons of war. They went up and encamped at Kirjath-jearim in Judah. That is why that place is called Mahaneh-dan [the camp of Dan] to this day; it lies west of ¹³ Kirjath-jearim. From there they passed on to the highlands of Eph- ¹⁴ raim, and arrived at the house of Micah. Then the five men who had gone to spy out the land, Laish, spoke up, and said to their clansmen, "Do you know that there is an ephod in these buildings, and teraphim and a carved image and a molten image? Decide then what you are going to do."

¹⁵ So they turned aside there, and came to the house of the young Le- ¹⁶ vite, Micah's house, and greeted him. While the six hundred men belonging to the Danites, armed with their weapons of war, stood at ¹⁷ the entrance of the gate, the five men that had gone to spy out the land went up; they went inside to take the carved image, ephod, teraphim, molten image, and priest, while the six hundred men armed ¹⁸ with weapons of war stood at the entrance of the gate. When these went into Micah's house, and took the carved image, ephod, teraphim, and molten image, the priest said to them,

"What are you doing?"

¹⁹ "Keep quiet!" they said to him. "Clap your hand on your mouth, and go along with us; be father and priest to us! Is it better for you to be priest for one man's household, or to be priest for a whole tribe and clan in Israel?"

²⁰ The priest was elated, and taking the ephod, teraphim, and carved ²¹ image, he went along with the people. So they turned and went off, putting the children, cattle, and goods in front of them.

²² After they had gone some distance from Micah's house, the men that were in the houses near Micah's house were mustered, and over- ²³ took the Danites. They called out to the Danites, who turned their heads, and said to Micah,

"What ails you, that you are up in arms?"

²⁴ "You have taken my gods, that I made," he said, "and the priest, and have made off! So what have I left? What a thing to say to me, 'What ails you?'"

25 The Danites said to him,

“Do not let your voice be heard among us, lest some hot-tempered fellows fall upon you, and you lose your life, with the lives of your household.”

26 So the Danites went on their way, and when Micah saw that they were stronger than he, he turned and went home.

27 Thus they took what Micah had made, and the priest that he had, and coming to Laish, to a people living quiet and unsuspecting, they

28 put them to the sword, and burned the city. There was no one to give any succor; for it was far from Sidon, and they had no dealings with Syria. It lay in the valley belonging to Beth-rehob. Then they rebuilt

29 the city, and settled in it, calling the name of the city Dan after the name of their ancestor Dan, who was born to Israel; but Laish was

30 the name of the city originally. The Danites set up the carved image for themselves, while Jonathan, the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, he and his descendants, were priests to the Danite tribe down

31 to the time that the ark was carried off. So they used the carved image, which Micah had made, all the time that the temple of God stood at Shiloh.

THE CRIME OF GIBEAH AND ITS CONSEQUENCES TO THE BENJAMINITES, 19:1—21:25

19 In those days, when there was no king in Israel, there was a certain Levite, residing as an immigrant in the distant parts of the highlands of Ephraim, who took to himself a woman from Bethlehem in Judah as consort. But his consort became angry with him, and left him for her father's home at Bethlehem in Judah. When she had been there some four months, her husband rose and went after her, to woo her back, taking with him his servant and a pair of asses. So she brought him into her father's house, and when the girl's father saw him, he greeted him warmly. His father-in-law, the girl's father, detained him; so he remained with him three days. Eating and drinking, they spent their nights there. Then on the fourth day, when they had risen early in the morning, he got up to go; but the girl's father said to his son-in-law,

“Refresh yourself with a bit of food, after which you may go.”

6 So the two of them again ate and drank together. Then the girl's father said to the man,

“Do consent to stay the night, and enjoy yourself.”

7 The man, however, got up to go; but his father-in-law urged him

8 so strongly that he stayed another night there. On the morning of the fifth day he rose early to go; but the girl's father said,

"Do take some refreshment."

So they passed the time until afternoon, the two of them eating.

9 Then the man got up to go, with his consort and servant; but his father-in-law, the girl's father, said to him,

"See, the day has drawn to its close; do stay the night. Here it is the close of the day; stay the night here, and enjoy yourself. You may rise early tomorrow for your journey, and go home."

10 However, the man would not stay the night, but got up and left, and reached a point opposite Jebus (that is, Jerusalem), having with 11 him a pair of saddled asses, and his consort as well. As they were near Jebus, with the day far spent, the servant said to his master,

"Come, now, let us turn aside to this city of the Jebusites, and spend the night in it."

12 But his master said to him,

"We will not turn aside to a city of foreigners, who do not belong to the Israelites; we will go on to Gibeah."

13 "Come," he said to his servant, "let us reach one of the places, and spend the night in Gibeah or Ramah."

14 So they passed on and went their way; and the sun went down on 15 them close to Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin. So they turned aside there to enter and spend the night in Gibeah. When he entered, he sat down in the open square of the city, since no one offered to take 16 them into the house to spend the night. But just then an old man was coming in from his work in the field at evening (now the man belonged to the highlands of Ephraim, and had settled as an immigrant 17 in Gibeah, whereas the men of the place were Benjaminites). When he raised his eyes, he saw the traveler in the open square of the city; so the old man said,

"Where are you going, and where did you come from?"

18 He said to him,

"We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah to the distant parts of the highlands of Ephraim, where I belong. I went to Bethlehem in Judah, and I am now on my way home, but no one offers to take me 19 into the house, although there is both straw and fodder for our asses, and also bread and wine for myself and your maidservant and the boy with your servants, there being no lack of anything."

20 "Be at ease!" the old man said. "All your needs shall be solely my care; only you must not spend the night in the open."

21 So he took him home, and gave the asses fodder; and after they had washed their feet, they ate and drank.

22 While they were enjoying themselves, the men of the city, rascally fellows, surrounded the house; they kept pounding on the door, and said to the master of the house, the old man,

“Bring out the man who has come to your house, that we may have intercourse with him.”

23 But the master of the house went out to them, and said to them,

24 “No, my friends; please do not be so depraved. Now that this man has entered my house, do not commit this carnal deed. Here is my virgin daughter, and his consort; let me bring them out that you may ravish them, and do what you like to them; but against this man you must not commit a deed so carnal.”

25 The men, however, would not listen to him; so the man seized his consort, and turned her outdoors to them; and they had intercourse with her, and used her wantonly all night until morning, but let her go at the approach of dawn. As morning broke, the woman came and lay prostrate until daylight at the doorway of the man’s house, where her master was. When her master rose in the morning, and opened the doors of the house to go out and proceed on his way, there was the woman, his consort, lying at the doorway of the house with her hands on the threshold!

28 “Get up,” he said to her, “and let us be off!”

But there was none to answer. So he took her on the ass, and the man started on his way home. When he reached home, he took his knife, and taking hold of his consort, he cut her up, limb by limb, into twelve pieces, and distributed them through all the territory of Israel. He commanded the men whom he sent, as follows:

“Thus shall you say to all the Israelites: ‘Has there ever been such a deed as this since the time that the Israelites came up out of Egypt until this day? Think it over, and speak out.’”

20 Then all the Israelites marched forth, and the community to a man, from Dan to Beersheba, along with the land of Gilead, gathered to the LORD at Mizpeh; and the leaders of all the nation, all the tribes of Israel, took their stand in the assembly of God’s people, four hundred thousand foot-soldiers, armed with swords. (The Benjaminites heard that the Israelites had gone up to Mizpeh.)

“Speak out,” said the Israelites; “how did this crime happen?”

4 The Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, in reply said,

“To Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin, I came with my con-

5 sort to spend the night; but the citizens of Gibeah rose against me, and at night surrounded the house against me. Me they intended to 6 kill, and my consort they ravished, so that she died. Then I took hold of my consort, and cutting her in pieces, I distributed them through all the country in the possession of Israel; for they had com-
7 mitted a foul and carnal deed in Israel. Here you all are, O Israelites; come forward with your advice and counsel in the matter.”

8 Then all the people to a man rose, saying,

9 “Not one of us will go home; not one of us will return home; but on the contrary this is what we will do to Gibeah: we will march 10 against it according to lot; and we will choose ten men from every hundred belonging to all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred from every thousand, and a thousand from every myriad, to procure provisions for the army, for those setting forth to requite Gibeah in Benjamin for all the wantoness which they committed in Israel.”

11 So all the Israelites to a man gathered to the city in alliance.

12 Then the tribes of Israel sent messengers all through the tribe of Benjamin, saying,

13 “What a crime is this that has happened among you! Now then, hand over the rascals in Gibeah that we may put them to death; and so extirpate the crime from Israel.”

But the Benjaminites would not accede to the request of their fellow-Israelites. The Benjaminites gathered from the cities to Gibeah, 14 to engage in battle with the Israelites. The Benjaminites mustered at that time from the cities twenty-six thousand swordsmen, exclusive of 15 the inhabitants of Gibeah, seven hundred picked men, that were left-handed, all of them accustomed to slinging a stone at a hair without missing.

17 The Israelites, exclusive of Benjamin, mustered four hundred 18 thousand swordsmen, all of them warriors. Then they proceeded to go up to Bethel to inquire of God.

“Which of us is to be the first to engage in battle with the Benjaminites?” said the Israelites.

“Judah is to be the first,” said the LORD.

19 So, when the Israelites rose next morning, they invested Gibeah.
20 The Israelites marched out to battle against the Benjaminites, and the 21 Israelites drew up in battle array against them at Gibeah. Then the Benjaminites marched forth from Gibeah, and felled to the ground 22 that day twenty-two thousand of the Israelites. But the Israelite forces rallied, and again drew up in battle array at the place where they had drawn up on the first day.

23 Then the Israelites went up to Bethel, and wept before the LORD until evening, and inquired of the LORD, saying,

“Shall we again engage in battle with our kinsmen, the Benjaminites?”

“Attack them,” said the LORD.

24 So the Israelites advanced against the Benjaminites on the second 25 day; and Benjamin marched forth from Gibeah to meet them on the second day, and again felled to the ground eighteen thousand of the 26 Israelites, all of them swordsmen. Then all the Israelites, that is, all the army, went up and came to Bethel, and weeping, sat there before the LORD; they fasted that day until evening, and offered burnt-offerings and thank-offerings before the LORD. Then the Israelites inquired of the LORD (for the ark of the covenant of God was there at 28 that time, and Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, was minister to it at that time), saying,

“Shall we again engage in battle with our kinsmen, the Benjaminites, or shall we desist?”

“Attack,” said the LORD; “for tomorrow I will deliver them into your power.”

29 So Israel set men in ambush all around Gibeah; and the Israelites 30 marched against the Benjaminites on the third day, and drew up against Gibeah as before. Then the Benjaminites sallied forth to meet the army, and were drawn away from the city. As before, they started out by killing some of the army on the roads, one of which runs to Bethel and the other to Gibeah, about thirty of the Israelites in 32 the open. So the Benjaminites thought, “They are being routed before us as at first”; but the Israelites said,

“Let us flee, and draw them away from the city to the roads.”

33 Then the main body of the Israelites moved from their position, and drew up at Baal-tamar, while the Israelites in ambush rushed 34 forth from their position, the clearing of Geba. The ten thousand men, picked from all Israel, reached a point opposite Gibeah. Then the battle became furious. Before they realized that disaster was 35 overtaking them, the LORD had routed Benjamin before Israel, so that the Israelites felled that day twenty-five thousand one hundred of the 36 Benjaminites, all of them swordsmen. So the Benjaminites saw that they were defeated. Then the Israelites yielded ground to the Benjaminites; for they relied on the ambushade that they had set against 37 Gibeah. The men in ambush rushed headlong against Gibeah; the 38 men in ambush deployed, and put the whole city to the sword. The Israelites had an arrangement with the men in ambush that they should 39 send up a smoke signal from the city, whereupon the Israelites would wheel round in the battle. Benjamin started out by killing about thirty of the Israelites, so that they thought, "They are completely routed be-40 fore us as in the first battle." As the signal began to rise from the city in a column of smoke, the Benjaminites looked back, and there 41 was the whole city going up to the sky in flames! Then the Israelites wheeled round, and the Benjaminites became panic-stricken; for they 42 saw that disaster had overtaken them. So they retreated before the Israelites in the direction of the desert; but the battle pressed them 43 close, and those from the city were in their midst killing them. They defeated the Benjaminites, and pursued them from Nohah to a point 44 opposite Geba toward the east, so that eighteen thousand of the Ben-45 jaminites fell, all of them men of valor. When they retreated, they fled toward the desert to the cliff of Rimmon; but they picked up five thousand of them on the roads, and followed hard after them as far 46 as Gidom, killing two thousand of them. So the total number of Ben-jaminites who fell that day was twenty-five thousand swordsmen, all 47 of them men of valor. Six hundred men, however, turned, and fled toward the desert to the cliff of Rimmon, and remained at the cliff of 48 Rimmon for four months. Then the Israelites turned their attention to the other Benjaminites, and put to the sword both man and beast, and everything that was to be found; all the cities, too, that were to be found, they set on fire.

21 Now the Israelites had sworn at Mizpeh, saying,

"None of us shall give his daughter in marriage to Benjamin."

2 The people went to Bethel, and sat there until evening before God,
3 and lifting up their voices, they wept bitterly, and said,

"Why, O LORD, God of Israel, has this happened in Israel, so that one tribe today is missing from Israel?"

4 Next day the people rose early, and building an altar there, they 5 offered burnt-offerings and thank-offerings. Then the Israelites said, "Who is there out of all the tribes of Israel that did not come up in the assembly to the LORD?"

(For a solemn oath had been taken concerning him who did not come up to the LORD at Mizpeh, as follows, "He shall be put to death.")

6 But the Israelites changed their minds concerning their brother Benjamin, and said,

7 "One tribe today is cut off from Israel. What are we to do about wives for them, the survivors, seeing that we have sworn by the LORD not to give them any of our daughters in marriage?"

8 Then they said,

"What one is there of the tribes of Israel that did not come up to the LORD at Mizpah?"

Now, not one had come to the camp from Jabesh in Gilead, to the 9 assembly. The people were mustered, but not one of the inhabitants 10 of Jabesh in Gilead was there. So the assembly sent twelve thousand of the bravest men there, and commanded them, saying,

"Go and put the inhabitants of Jabesh in Gilead to the sword, along 11 with the women and children. This is what you are to do: every male and every woman that has had intercourse by lying with a male, you are to destroy, but you are to spare the virgins."

12 They did so. They found among the inhabitants of Jabesh in Gilead four hundred virgin girls who had not had intercourse with a man by lying with a male; and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 Then the whole assembly sent word to the Benjaminites, that were 14 at the cliff of Rimmon, proclaiming peace to them. So Benjamin returned at that time, and they gave them the women that they had saved alive from the women of Jabesh in Gilead; but even so there were not enough for them.

15 The people changed their minds concerning Benjamin; for the 16 LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. The elders of the community said,

"What are we to do about wives for the survivors; for there are no women for Benjamin?"

17 "There must be heirs for the remnant of Benjamin," they said, 18 "that a tribe may not be blotted out of Israel; and yet we cannot give them wives from our daughters."

(For the Israelites had sworn, saying, "Cursed be he who gives a wife to Benjamin.")

19 So they said,

"There is the festival of the LORD held annually at Shiloh!" (which is north of Bethel, east of the road running from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.)

20 Then they instructed the Benjaminites as follows:

- ²¹ "Go and lie in wait in the vineyards, and watch. Then, when the girls of Shiloh come out to participate in the dances, rush out of the vineyards, and each of you catch his wife from the girls of Shiloh,
- ²² and be off to the land of Benjamin. If their fathers or kinsmen come to make complaint to us, we will say to them, 'Forgive them on our account; for we did not get each of them a wife in the battle, nor did you give them any; for then you would be doing wrong.' "
- ²³ The Benjaminites did so, and took as many wives as they themselves numbered from the dancers that they carried off. Then they made off, and returning to their own territory, built cities, and settled in
- ²⁴ them. At the same time the Israelites grouped themselves there into their respective tribes and clans, and then they all left there, each for his own heritage.
- ²⁵ In those days there was no king in Israel; everyone used to do as he pleased.

THE BOOK OF RUTH

THE ANTECEDENTS OF RUTH, 1:1-22

1 In the time when the judges were in power a famine occurred in the land; so a certain man from Bethlehem in Judah emigrated to the 2 country of Moab, along with his wife and two sons. The man's name was Elimelech, his wife's Naomi, and the names of his two sons Mahlon and Chilion—Ephrathites from Bethlehem in Judah. So they
3 came to the country of Moab, and remained there. Then Elimelech, the husband of Naomi, died; and she was left a widow, with her two
4 sons. These married Moabite women, the name of one being Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth. They lived there for about ten years, 5 and then both Mahlon and Chilion died. Then, being bereft of her
6 two children as well as of her husband, the woman, with her daughters-in-law, prepared to return from the country of Moab; for she had heard in the country of Moab that the LORD had taken note of his 7 people by giving them food. So she left the place where she was, accompanied by her two daughters-in-law, and they set out on the road
8 to return to the land of Judah. But Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, “Go, return each of you to her mother's house. May the LORD deal as kindly with you as you have dealt with the dead and with me!

9 May the LORD enable you to find a home, each of you, in the house of her husband!”

Then she kissed them good-bye; but they lifted up their voices in 10 weeping, and said to her,

“No, we will go back with you to your people.”

11 But Naomi said,

“Turn back, my daughters. Why should you go with me? Have 12 I any more sons in my womb to become husbands for you? Turn back, my daughters; go your way; for I am too old to get married. If I should say that I have hopes both of getting married tonight and 13 of bearing sons, would you wait for them until they were grown up? Would you forego marriage for them? No, my daughters; but I am very sorry for your sakes that the hand of the LORD has been raised against me.”

- 14 Then they lifted up their voices again in weeping, and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law good-bye, but Ruth clung to her.
- 15 "See," she said, "your sister-in-law has turned back to her own people and her own gods; turn back after your sister-in-law."
- 16 But Ruth said,
"Do not press me to leave you, to turn back from following you; for wherever you go, I will go; and wherever you lodge, I will lodge; 17 your people shall be my people, and your god my god; wherever you die, I will die, and there will I be buried. May the LORD requite me and worse, if even death separate me from you."
- 18 When she saw that she was determined to go with her, she ceased 19 arguing with her. So the two of them went on until they came to Bethlehem. Upon their arrival in Bethlehem the whole city became agitated over them, and the women said,
"Is this Naomi?"
- 20 But she said to them,
"Do not call me Naomi [pleasant]; call me Mara [bitter]; for 21 the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me. I went away full, but the LORD has brought me back destitute. Why should you call me Naomi, seeing that the LORD has afflicted me, and the Almighty has brought evil upon me?"
- 22 So Naomi returned from the country of Moab, accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Ruth, the Moabitess. They reached Bethlehem at the beginning of the barley harvest.

THE MEETING OF RUTH AND BOAZ, 2:1-23

- 2 Now Naomi had a kinsman of her husband, a man of great wealth, belonging to the family of Elimelech, whose name was Boaz.
- 2 One day Ruth, the Moabitess, said to Naomi,
"Let me go to the fields and glean among the ears of grain after him with whom I may find favor."
"Go, my daughter," she said to her.
- 3 So off she went, and came and gleaned in the fields after the harvesters; and it was her fortune to come upon the part of the field belonging to Boaz, who belonged to the family of Elimelech. Just then Boaz himself came from Bethlehem.
- "The LORD be with you!" he said to the harvesters.
"The LORD bless you!" they replied.

5 "Whose girl is this?" said Boaz to his overseer in charge of the harvesters.

6 "It is a Moabite girl who came back with Naomi from the country
7 of Moab," the overseer in charge of the harvesters answered. "She said, 'Let me glean, if you please, and gather among the sheaves after the harvesters.' So she came, and has remained since morning until now, without resting even a little."

8 Then Boaz said to Ruth,

"Now listen, my girl. Do not go to glean in another field, nor 9 leave this one, but stay here close by my women. Note the field that they are reaping, and follow them. Have I not charged the servants not to molest you? And when you are thirsty, go to the water jars, and drink some of what the servants draw."

10 Then she fell on her face, bowing to the ground, and said to him,
"Why have I found such favor with you that you should take notice of me, when I am a foreigner?"

11 Boaz in reply said to her,

"I have been fully informed of all that you have done for your mother-in-law since the death of your husband, and of how you left your father and mother, and the land of your birth, and came to a people that you did not know before. May the LORD reward your conduct, and may you receive full recompense from the LORD, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come for shelter!"

12 "I thank you, sir," she said; "for you have cheered me, and have spoken comfortingly to your maidservant, even though I do not belong to your maidservants."

13 At mealtime Boaz said to her,

"Come here, and eat some of the bread, and dip your piece in the sour wine."

So she seated herself beside the harvesters, and he handed her 14 roasted grain. She ate until she was satisfied, and had some left over.

When she got up to glean, Boaz gave orders to his servants,

"Let her glean right among the sheaves, and do not be rude to her.
15 Indeed pull out some bunches for her, and leave them for her to glean, and do not hinder her."

16 So she gleaned in the field until evening; then she beat out what 17 she had gleaned, and it amounted to about an ephah of barley. She took it up, and coming into the city, showed her mother-in-law what she had gleaned. Then she brought out and gave her what she had left over after being satisfied.

19 "Where did you glean today," her mother-in-law said to her. "Where did you work? Blessed be he who took such notice of you!"

So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked.

"Boaz is the name of the man with whom I worked today," she said.

20 Then Naomi said to her daughter-in-law,

"May he be blessed by the LORD, whose goodness has failed neither the living nor the dead!"

"The man is a relation of ours," Naomi said to her; "he is one of our close relatives."

21 "Furthermore," said Ruth, the Moabitess, "he said to me, 'You must stay close by my servants until they have finished all my harvest.'"

22 "It is best, my daughter," Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, Ruth, "that you should go out with his women, so as not to be molested in another field."

23 So she stayed close by the women working for Boaz, gleaning until the end of both the barley and wheat harvests; then she returned to her mother-in-law.

RUTH'S APPEAL TO BOAZ, 3:1-18

3 Then her mother-in-law Naomi said to her,

"Should I not be seeking a home for you, my daughter, where you may be comfortable? Now then, what about our relative Boaz, with whose women you have been? See, he is going to winnow barley at the threshing-floor tonight. Wash and anoint yourself therefore, put on your best clothes, and go down to the threshing-floor; but do not let your presence be known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking. See to it, however, when he lies down, that you note the place where he lies; then go in, uncover his feet, and lie down yourself; he will let you know what to do."

5 "I will do just as you say," she responded.

6 So she went down to the threshing-floor, and did just as her mother-in-law had instructed her. Boaz, having eaten and drunk, had a feeling of contentment and went to lie down at the end of the straw stack. Then she came in stealthily, uncovered his feet, and lay down.

8 At midnight the man started up, and turning over, discovered a woman lying at his feet!

9 "Who are you?" he said.

"I am Ruth, your maidservant," she said. "Take your maidservant in marriage; for you are a close relative."

10 "May the LORD bless you, my girl!" he said. "This last kindness of yours is lovelier than the first, in that you have not run after the 11 young men, either poor or rich. And now, my girl, have no fear; I will do for you all you ask; for all the counselors of my people know

12 that you are a woman of worth. Now then, it is indeed true that I am a 13 close relative, but there is another relative closer than I. Stay here tonight, and then, in the morning, if he will do the duty of close relative for you, good; let him do so; but if he does not wish to do the duty of close relative for you, then, as the LORD lives, I will do so for you. Lie down until morning."

14 So she lay at his feet until morning, but got up before one could recognize another; for he said, "It must not be known that the woman came to the threshing-floor."

15 "Bring the mantle which you have on," he said, "and hold it out."

So she held it out, and he poured out six omers of barley, and put it 16 on her shoulder; then she went back to the city, and came to her mother-in-law's.

"How did you get along, my daughter?" she said.

Then she told her all that the man had done for her.

17 "These six omers of barley he gave to me," she said; "'For,' said he, 'you must not go back empty-handed to your mother-in-law.'"

18 "Wait, my daughter," she said, "until you learn how the matter turns out; for the man will not rest unless he settles the matter to-day."

RUTH'S MARRIAGE TO BOAZ AND THEIR DESCENDANTS, 4:1-22

4 Meanwhile Boaz went up to the city gate, and sat down there just as the close relative was passing, of whom Boaz had spoken.

"Come over and sit down here somewhere," he said.

12 So he came over and sat down. Then Boaz got ten of the elders of the city, and said,

"Sit down here."

13 When they had seated themselves, he said to the close relative,

"Naomi, who has come back from the country of Moab, is selling 14 the piece of land which belonged to our relative, Elimelech; so I thought that I would tell you about it, suggesting that you buy it in the presence of those who are sitting here, and in the presence of the elders of my people. If you will redeem it, do so; but if you will not redeem it, then tell me, so that I may know; for there is no one but you to redeem it, and I come after you."

"I will redeem it," he said.

5 Then Boaz said,

"At the time that you buy the field from Naomi, you must also buy Ruth, the Moabitess, the widow of the deceased, in order to restore the name of the deceased to his estate."

6 Then the close relative said,

"I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I ruin my own estate. Use my right of redemption for yourself; for I cannot do so."

7 Now this was the ancient custom in Israel: to validate any transaction in the matter of the right of redemption and its conveyance, the one pulled off his sandal, and gave it to the other; this was the 8 manner of attesting in Israel. Accordingly, when the close relative 9 said to Boaz, "Buy it for yourself," he drew off his sandal. Then Boaz said to the elders and all the people,

"You are witnesses today that I am buying from Naomi all that belonged to Elimelech and all that belonged to Chilion and Mahlon.

10 Also Ruth, the Moabitess, the widow of Mahlon, I am buying to be my wife, in order to restore the name of the dead to his estate, so that the name of the dead may not be cut off from among his relatives nor from the counselors of his home; you are witnesses today."

11 Whereupon all the people at the gate and the elders said,

"We are witnesses. May the LORD make the woman who is coming into your home like Rachel and Leah, both of whom built up the house of Israel; may you achieve wealth in Ephrath, and gain fame 12 in Bethlehem; and from the offspring that the LORD gives you by this young woman, may you have a house like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah!"

13 So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife; he had intercourse 14 with her, and the LORD made her conceive, and she bore a son. Then the women said to Naomi,

"Blessed be the LORD, who has not left you this day without a close 15 relative! May the boy's name become famous in Israel! He shall renew your youth, and be the stay of your old age; for your daughter-in-law, who loves you, has borne him, who herself is more to you than seven sons."

16 Then Naomi took the child, and laid him in her bosom, and became 17 his nurse; and the women in the neighborhood spread the report of him, "A son has been born to Naomi!" So they called his name Obed.
He was the father of Jesse, the father of David.

8 Now this is the genealogy of Perez: Perez was the father of Hez-9 ron, Hezron of Ram, Ram of Amminadab, Amminadab of Nahshon, 10 Nahshon of Salmon, Salmon of Boaz, Boaz of Obed, Obed of Jesse, 11 and Jesse of David.

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL

THE BIRTH AND DEDICATION OF SAMUEL, 1:1-28

1 Now there was a certain man of Ramah, a Zuphite of the hill-country of Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah; he was the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephraimite. And he had two wives; the name of the one being Hannah, and that of the other Peninnah; and Peninnah had children, but Hannah went childless.

3 This man used to go up from his city annually to worship and sacrifice to the LORD of hosts in Shiloh. Now the priests of the LORD there were Eli and his two sons, Hophni and Phineas. And when the accustomed day arrived that Elkanah sacrificed, he used to give portions to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and daughters, while to Hannah he would give but one portion; however he loved Hannah. 6 but the Lord had made her childless. Her fellow-wife also used to vex her bitterly on account of her misfortune, because the LORD had 7 made her childless. So she did year by year, as often as they went up to the house of the LORD, she used to vex her; therefore she wept 8 and could not eat. Accordingly Elkanah her husband said to her,

“Hannah, why do you weep? Why do you not eat? And why is your heart sad? Am I not dearer to you than ten sons?”

9 Now Hannah rose up, after they had eaten in Shiloh, and took her stand before the LORD. Meanwhile Eli the priest was sitting upon the 10 seat beside the door-post of the temple of the LORD. She was very 11 wretched and prayed to the LORD, and weeping bitterly, she vowed a vow and said,

“O LORD of hosts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thy maidservant, and remember me, and not forget thy maidservant, but will give unto thy maidservant a boy baby, then will I give him to the LORD all the days of his life, and a razor shall never touch his head.”

12 Now it happened, that as she kept on praying for a long time before 13 the LORD, that Eli's attention was called to her mouth. But Hannah herself was speaking inwardly; only her lips moved, and her voice was 14 not heard; accordingly Eli took her for a drunken woman. So Eli said to her,

“How long will you make yourself a drunken spectacle? Throw off your wine from you.”

15 But Hannah answered and said,

“Nay, sir, I am an unfortunate woman, I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but have been pouring out my heart before the 16 LORD. Count not your maidservant for a base woman, for out of the abundance of my despair and vexation have I spoken thus far.”

17 Then Eli answered and said,

“Go in peace; and the God of Israel grant your petition that you have asked of him.”

18 And she said,

“Let your maidservant find favor in your eyes.”

Then the woman went her way to the sacrificial chamber, and she ate and drank with her husband; and her countenance was no more sad.

19 So they rose up early in the morning, and having prostrated themselves before the LORD, they returned, and came to their house at Ramah. And Elkanah sought offspring of Hannah his wife, and the 20 LORD remembered her, and Hannah conceived; and so it happened, when the time came around that Hannah bore a son; and she called his name Samuel, for she said,

“I have asked him of the LORD.”

21 And the man Elkanah and all his house went up to sacrifice to the 22 LORD in Shiloh, the annual sacrifice, and to keep his vow. But Hannah did not go up; for she said to her husband,

23 “When the child is weaned then I shall bring him, that he may appear in the presence of the LORD, and there abide forever.”

But Elkanah her husband said to her,

“Do what seems best to you; remain until you have weaned him, only the LORD establish your words.”

So the woman remained and nursed her son, until he was weaned.

24 And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull and about five pecks of flour and a skin of wine; and she came to the house of the LORD in Shiloh, accompanied by the 25 child. And they slew the bull and Hannah brought the child to Eli, 26 and said,

“O sir! as surely as you live, sir, I am the woman that was standing 27 here in your presence, engaged in prayer unto the LORD. I prayed earnestly for this boy; and the LORD has given me my request which 28 I asked of him. Therefore also I have dedicated him to the LORD;

as long as he lives he is set apart to the LORD."
And he worshipped the LORD there.

HANNAH'S SONG OF PRAISE, 2:1-10

- 2 Then Hannah prayed and said:
"My heart exults in the LORD;
My strength is exalted through my God.
My mouth is enlarged against my foes;
Because I rejoice in thy salvation.
- 2 "There is none holy like the LORD; (there is none beside thee);
There is none righteous like our God.
- 3 "Boast no more so exceeding proudly;
Let not arrogance go forth from your mouth;
For the LORD is a God of knowledge,
And by him actions are accounted.
- 4 "The bows of the heroes are shattered;
While they that are feeble gird on might.
5 They that were replete have hired out for bread;
While the hungry have ceased to toil.
The barren has borne seven;
While the one rich in children languishes alone.
- 6 "The LORD slays and makes alive;
He brings down to Sheol and raises up.
7 The LORD impoverishes, and he makes rich;
He brings low, he also exalts.
- 8 "He raises up the poor from the dust;
He exalts the needy from the refuse heap,
To make them sit with the noble,
And inherit a seat of honor:
For the pillars of the earth are the LORD'S,
And he has set the world upon them.
- 9 "He will guard the feet of his pious ones;
But the wicked shall be cut off in darkness;
For not by might shall any man prevail.

10 "The adversaries of the LORD shall be dismayed;
 Against them will he thunder in heaven.
 The LORD will judge the ends of the earth;
 And he will give strength to his king,
 And exalt the power of his Messiah."

11 So she left him there before the LORD, and went back to Ramah.
 And the child was ministering to the LORD in the presence of Eli the priest.

THE SIN AND DOOM OF THE HOUSE OF ELI, 2:12-36

12 Now the sons of Eli were unscrupulous men. They did not regard 13 the LORD, nor the rightful dues of the priest from the people. Whenever any man was about to make a sacrifice, an attendant of the priest would come, while the meat was still boiling, and with a three-14 pronged fork in his hand, he would thrust into the pot, or kettle, or cauldron, or vessel; all that the fork brought up the priest would take for himself. So they used to do to all the Israelites who came there to 15 sacrifice to the LORD in Shiloh. Also, before they burned the fat, the attendant of the priest would come, and say to the man about to sacrifice,

"Give meat to roast for the priest; for he will not accept boiled meat from you, but raw."

6 Should the man, however, say to him,

"They will surely burn the fat first of all, and then take to your heart's content."

Then he would say,

"No, but you shall give it now; and if not, I will surely take it by force."

17 Thus the sin of the young men was exceedingly great in the sight of the LORD; for the men despised the offering of the LORD.

18 Meanwhile Samuel continued to minister in the presence of the 19 LORD, as a lad, girt with a linen garment. Moreover his mother used to make for him a little outer garment, and bring it up to him each year, when she went up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.

20 And Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, and would say,

"The LORD reward you with offspring from this woman, because of the object of her petition which she dedicated to the LORD."

21 Then they would go to their own place. And the LORD visited Hannah, and she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. And the lad Samuel grew up in the service of the LORD.

22 Now Eli was exceedingly old; and when he kept hearing all that his sons were habitually doing to all Israel, how they lay with the wo-
23 men who served at the door of the tent of meeting, he said to them,

“Why do you do according to these reports which I am constantly
24 hearing from all the people? No, my sons; for the report is not a good one which I hear the people of the LORD are spreading abroad.
25 If a man sin against a man, God will mediate for him; but if a man sin against the LORD, who shall intercede for him?”

But they would not listen to the voice of their father, for it was the 26 pleasure of the LORD to destroy them. Now as the child Samuel grew older, more and more he won the approval both of the LORD and of men.

27 And there came a man of God to Eli, and said to him,

“Thus the LORD has said, ‘I did indeed reveal myself to the house of your father, when they were in Egypt subject to the house of Pharaoh; and I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to go up to my altar, to burn incense, to wear a priestly apron before me; and I gave to the house of your father all the fire offerings of the Israelites. Why do you look with an envious eye upon my sacrifice and my offering which I commanded, and honor your sons above me, by feeding greedily in my presence upon the choicest of all the offerings of Israel?’ Therefore it is the oracle of the LORD, the God of Israel. ‘I did indeed say that your house and the house of your father should prosper before me forever’; but now it is the oracle of the LORD, ‘Far be it from me; for them that honor me I will honor, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed. Behold the days are about to come, when I will cut off your strength, and the strength of your father’s house, that there shall not be an old man in your house. And you shall look upon distress, eyeing enviously all the prosperity which I will bestow on Israel; and there shall not be an old man in your house forever. And that man of you whom I shall not cut off from my altar, shall be left to weep out his eyes, and to eat out his heart; and all the increase of your house shall die by the sword of men. And this is to be the sign to you, that shall come upon your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas: both of them shall die on the same day. And I will raise me up a faithful priest, who will do according to that which is in my mind and in my heart; and I will build for him a sure house, 36 and he shall continue before my Messiah forever. And the time will come, that everyone that is left in your house shall come to supplicate him for a piece of money or a loaf of bread, and shall say, "Attach me, I pray, to one of the priestly offices, that I may not lack a morsel of bread." ' ' "

THE CALL OF SAMUEL, 3:1—4:1a

- 3 The child Samuel was ministering in the presence of the LORD before Eli. And the word of the LORD was rare in those days; there
- 4 was no frequent vision. Now it happened at that time, as Eli was lying down in his place (his eyesight had begun to fail, so that he could
- 5 not see), and the lamp of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying down in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God
- 6 was; that the LORD called,
- 7 "Samuel, Samuel,"
- 8 And he said,
"Here I am!"
- 9 And he ran to Eli, and said,
"Here I am; for you called me.10 And he said,
"I did not call; go back and lie down."11 And he went and lay down. And the LORD called yet again,
12 "Samuel! Samuel!"
- 13 And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said,
"Here I am, for you called me."
- 14 And he said,
"I did not call, my son; go back and lie down."
- 15 Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, neither was the word of
- 16 the LORD yet revealed to him. So when the LORD called Samuel again the third time, he arose and went to Eli, and said, 17 "Here I am; for you called me."
- 18 Then Eli perceived that the LORD was calling the lad. Therefore Eli said to Samuel,
- 19 "Go, lie down: and it shall be, if he calls you, you shall say, 'Speak, LORD; for thy servant hears.' "
- 20 So Samuel went and lay down in his place. Then the LORD came, and took his stand, and called as at other times, 21 "Samuel! Samuel!"
- 22 And Samuel said,
23 "Speak, for thy servant hears."

- 11 Then the LORD said to Samuel,
"Behold, I am about to do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears 12 of everyone that hears it will tingle. At that time I will execute against Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house, from begin-13 ning to end. And you shall tell him that I am about to judge his house forever, for the wrong-doing which he knew, because his sons were 14 blaspheming God, and he did not rebuke them. And therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli, that the wrong-doing of Eli's house shall not be expiated by sacrifice nor offering forever."
- 15 And Samuel lay until morning; then he rose early in the morning, and opened the double doors of the house of the LORD. But Samuel 16 feared to show Eli the vision. Then Eli called Samuel, and said, "Samuel, my son."
And he said,
"Here I am."
- 17 And he said,
"What is the thing that he spoke to you? Do not, I beg of you, hide it from me; may God do so to you, and worse still, if you hide anything from me of the whole matter which he spoke to you."
- 18 Samuel told him everything, and concealed nothing from him.
And he said,
"It was the LORD; let him do what is good in his sight."
- 19 Thus Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him, and he let none of 20 his words fall to the ground. And all Israel from Dan even to Beersheba knew that Samuel was one accredited as a prophet of the LORD.
21 And the LORD continued to reveal himself in Shiloh; for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel. And Eli was exceedingly old, and his sons kept right on making their conduct hateful before the LORD.
4 Thus the word of Samuel came to all Israel.

WARS WITH THE PHILISTINES, 4:1b-7:14

- 1^b Now it happened in those days, that the Philistines mustered against Israel for war; and Israel went out to meet the Philistines to battle, and encamped at Ebenezer, while the Philistines encamped in 2 Aphek. And the Philistines drew up in line of battle to meet Israel; and when the battle became general Israel was beaten by the Philis-3 tines, about four thousand men being slain on the field of battle. And when the people reached the camp, the older men of Israel said,
"Why has the Lord put us to rout today before the Philistines?
Let us take the ark of the covenant of our God from Shiloh, that it may come into our midst, and deliver us from the power of our enemies."

14 So the people sent to Shiloh; and they brought from there the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts who sits upon the cherubim; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD reached the camp, 6 all Israel gave a great cheer, so that the earth re-echoed. And when the Philistines heard the noise of the cheering, they said,

"What is the meaning of this great sound of cheering in the camp of the Hebrews?"

Then they learned that the ark of the LORD had arrived at camp.

7 And the Philistines were afraid, for they said,

"The gods have come to them to the camp."

And they said,

8 "Alas for us! for nothing like this has happened heretofore. Alas for us! who shall deliver us from the power of these majestic gods? These are the gods that struck down the Egyptians with every sort of 9 calamity and plague. Strengthen yourselves, and be real men, O Philistines, lest you become slaves to the Hebrews, as they have been to you; be real men and fight."

10 So the Philistines fought, and Israel was defeated, and they fled in confusion, every man for himself; and the number killed was very 11 great indeed, for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen. And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, perished.

12 Now a man of Benjamin ran from the battle line, and came to Shiloh the same day, with his clothes torn, and with earth upon his head.

13 And just as he arrived, Eli was sitting on the seat beside the gate, anxiously watching the road, because he was deeply stirred regarding the ark of God. And when the man came to tell it in the city, all the 14 city was in uproar. And when Eli heard the noise of the outcry, he said,

"What is this confused noise?"

15 Then the man came in haste and told Eli. (Now Eli was ninety-16 eight years old, and his eyes were set, so that he could not see.) The man said to Eli,

"I am he who came from the camp, for I fled today from the battle line."

And he said,

"What has happened, my son?"

- 17 He that brought the tidings answered and said, “Israel has fled before the Philistines, and likewise there has been a great slaughter among the people, and your two sons also, Hiphni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God has been taken.”
- 18 Then it was, as he mentioned the ark of God, that Eli fell from his seat backward through the gate opening; and his neck was broken and he expired, for the man was old and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.
- 19 Moreover, his daughter-in-law, the wife of Phineas, was about to become a mother. And when she heard the report in regard to the capture of the ark of God, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she reclined and gave birth; for she was in travail.
- 20 And about the time of her death the attending women said to her, “Fear not for you have borne a son.”
- 21 But she neither answered nor gave heed. And she named the child Ichabod, saying,
“The glory is departed from Israel.”
Because the ark of God was captured and because of her father-in-law and her husband, she said,
“The glory is departed from Israel;
For the ark of God is taken.”
- 5 Now the Philistines had captured the ark of God, and taken it
2 from Ebenezer to Ashdod. The Philistines also took the ark of God, and brought it to the house of Dagon and set it up by the side of 3 Dagon. And when the people of Ashdod arose early the next day and went to the house of Dagon, they looked and behold there was Dagon fallen face downward upon the ground before the ark of the LORD.
4 And they lifted up Dagon and restored him to his place. But when they arose early on the morning following, behold there was Dagon fallen face downward upon the ground before the ark of the LORD; and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off
5 upon the threshold, only his body was left. Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any who enter Dagon’s house tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day, but leap over it.
- 6 The hand of the LORD also was heavy upon the Ashdodites, and he ravaged them, and he brought upon them plague-boils, both upon 7 Ashdod and its borders. And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said,
“The ark of the God of Israel shall not remain with us; for his hand is severe upon us, and upon Dagon our god.”

8 Accordingly they sent and brought together all the city rulers of the Philistines, and said,

“What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?”

And they said,

“Let the ark of the God of Israel be brought around to Gath.”

9 So they brought the ark of the God of Israel around. But after they had brought it around, the hand of the LORD was against the city—there was a very great panic—and he smote the men of the city,

10 both young and old, so that plague-boils broke out upon them. Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron. But as soon as the ark of God came to Ekron, the Ekronites cried out, saying,

“They have brought around the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us and our people.”

11 They sent therefore and gathered together all the city rulers of the Philistines, and said,

“Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it return to its own place and not kill us and our people.”

For a deadly panic raged throughout the entire city; the hand of 12 God was very heavy there. And the men who did not die were stricken with plague-boils; and the cry of the city for help arose to heaven.

13 Now the ark of the LORD was in the territory of the Philistines 14 seven months. And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying,

“What shall we do with the ark of the LORD? Show us how we shall send it to its place?”

15 And they said,

“If you are going to send away the ark of the God of Israel, do not send it away empty, but be sure to return to him a guilt-offering. Then you will be healed and it shall be made known to you why his hand is not removed from you.”

16 They answered,

“What should be the guilt-offering which we should return to him?”

And they said,

“Five plague-boils of gold, and five golden mice, according to the number of the city rulers of the Philistines; for one plague was upon

17 you and upon your city rulers. Therefore you should make images of your plague-boils and images of your mice that ravage the land; and give glory to the God of Israel; perchance he will relax the grip 18 of his hand from you and from your gods and from your land. Why

- then should you make your minds stubborn, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh made their minds stubborn? Was it not after he had openly flouted them that they eagerly sent them away and they departed?
- 7 Now therefore take and make ready a new cart, and two milch cows upon which there has never been a yoke; and hitch the cows to the
- 8 cart, but retain their calves behind them at home. And take the ark of the LORD and place it in the cart and put in a box at its side the objects of gold which you will surely return to him as a guilt-offering.
- 9 Then send it off that it may be on its way. But observe, if it goes up on the way to its own territory to Bethshemesh, it is he who has done us this great harm, but if not, then we shall know that his hand did not touch us; we simply met with an accident.”
- 10 And the men did so, and took two milch cows and hitched them to
- 11 the cart, and shut up their calves in the house. They put the ark of the LORD in the cart, and the box with the golden mice and the images
- 12 of their plague-boils. And the cows went straight in the direction of Bethshemesh, keeping to one highway, and lowing as they went along. They turned neither to the right nor the left; and the city rulers of the Philistines were proceeding along after them as far as
- 13 the border of Bethshemesh. Now the inhabitants of Bethshemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley. And they lifted up
- 14 their eyes and saw the ark, and came with rejoicing to meet it. And when the cart came into the field of Joshua the Bethshemeshite, there it stopped. There was also a huge stone. So they broke up the wood of
- 15 the cart and offered up the cows as a burnt-offering to the LORD. And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD and the box that was beside it, in which were the golden objects, and set them upon the great stone; and the men of Bethshemesh offered up burnt-offerings and
- 16 sacrificed sacrifices on that day to the LORD. Then when the five city rulers of the Philistines saw it, they returned that day to Ekron.
- 17 These are the golden plague-boils which the Philistines returned as a guilt-offering to the LORD: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one
- 18 for Askelon, one for Gath, one for Ekron. But the golden mice corresponded to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five city rulers, including both fortified cities and country villages. The great stone also is a witness, by which they caused the ark of the LORD to rest. To this day it is in the field of Joshua the Bethshemeshite.
- 19 The sons of Jechoniah, however, did not rejoice with the men of Bethshemesh, when they looked upon the ark of the LORD. Therefore he smote among them seventy men (fifty thousand men) and the people mourned because the LORD had made a great slaughter among 20 the people. And the men of Bethshemesh said,

“Who is able to stand before the LORD, this holy God? And to whom shall he go up from us?”

21 Then they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, saying,

“The Philistines have brought back the ark of the LORD. Come down and take it up to you.”

7 Accordingly the men of Kirjath-jearim came and took up the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of Abinadab on the hill, and he consecrated Eleazar his son to have charge of the ark of the 2 LORD. And from the day the ark found lodgment in Kirjath-jearim, the time ran on, and it was twenty years.

3 Moreover all the house of Israel sought after the LORD. And Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel, saying,

“If with all your heart you are turning to the LORD, then put away the foreign gods and the Ashtartes from your midst, and direct your attention towards the LORD and serve him alone that he may deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.”

4 So the Israelites put away the Baals and the Ashtartes, and served the LORD alone.

5 Accordingly Samuel said,

“Assemble all Israel at Mizpeh that I may intercede on your behalf with the LORD.”

6 So they assembled at Mizpeh, and drew water and poured it out before the LORD, and fasted on that day, saying,

“We have sinned against the LORD.”

7 Samuel also judged the Israelites in Mizpeh. And when the Philistines heard that the Israelites were assembled together at Mizpeh, the city rulers of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the Israelites heard of it, they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 Then the Israelites said to Samuel,

“Cease not to cry out to the LORD our God for us, that he may save us from the power of the Philistines.”

9 Accordingly Samuel took a sucking lamb and offered it up as a whole burnt-offering to the LORD. And Samuel cried out to the LORD in behalf of Israel, and the LORD answered him. For just as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philistines came on for an attack upon Israel; but the LORD thundered with a mighty voice that day against the Philistines, and threw them into confusion and they were overcome before Israel. And the men of Israel went forth from Mizpeh and pursued the Philistines and harassed them until they were below Bethcar.

Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpeh and Yeshana and called its name Ebenezer, for he said,

“Hitherto the LORD has helped us.”

Thus the Philistines were humbled and came no more into the territory of Israel. The hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. Also the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel from Ekron even to Gath; and Israel rescued their territory from the power of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.

THE CHOICE OF SAUL AS KING, 7:15—12:25

Now Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. And he used to go around as often as once a year in succession to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpeh; and he used to judge Israel in all these places. And the end of his circuit was Ramah, for there was his home; there too he judged Israel. And he built there an altar for the LORD.

But as Samuel grew old, he established his sons as judges over Israel. And the name of his eldest son was Joel, and that of his second, Abijah; they were judges in Beersheba. However his sons did not follow his example, but became grasping for gain by methods of violence and received bribes and perverted justice.

Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and they said to him,

“Consider, you have become old and your sons do not follow in your footsteps. Now set up for us a king to judge us like all the nations.”

But the thing was evil in the sight of Samuel, when they said,

“Give us a king to judge us.”

Nevertheless Samuel prayed earnestly unto the LORD. And the LORD said to Samuel,

“Listen to the voice of the people according to all that they say to you; for they have not rejected you, but they have rejected me from being king over them. Like all the deeds which they have done to me from the day I brought them up from Egypt even to this day, inasmuch as they have forsaken me and served other gods, so they

9 are also doing to you. Now therefore listen to their utterance, except that you shall certainly warn them, and show them the procedure of the king who shall reign over them.”

10 Samuel also told all the words of the LORD to the people who were asking of him a king. And he said,

“This will be the procedure of the king who shall reign over you: he will take your sons and appoint them for himself for his chariots and for his horsemen; and they shall run before his chariots; and he will appoint for himself commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and some to do his plowing and to reap his harvests and make his implements of war and the equipment for his chariots. And he will take your daughters for perfumers, for cooks and for bakers. And he will take the best of your fields and your vineyards and your olive orchards, and give them to his servants. And he will take the tenth of your grain crops and of your vineyards and give it to his eunuchs and to his servants. And he will take your menservants and your maidservants, and the best of your cattle and your asses, and make use of them for his work. He will take a tenth of your flocks; and you yourselves will become his slaves. Then you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you will have chosen for yourselves; but the LORD will not answer you in that day.”

9 But the people refused to listen to the voice of Samuel, and said,

10 “No, but there shall be a king over us, that we also may be like all the nations, and that our king may judge us and go forth before us and fight our battles.”

1 And Samuel heard all the words of the people and repeated them in the presence of the LORD. And the LORD said to Samuel,

“Listen to their appeal and make them a king.”

And Samuel said to the men of Israel,

“Go every man to his city.”

1 Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Becorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjaminite, a well-to-do person. And he had a son whose name was Saul, a handsome young man; and there was not a man among the Israelites more handsome than he. From his shoulders and upwards, he was taller than any of the people.

3 Now the she-asses of Kish, Saul's father, were lost. And Kish said to Saul his son,

“Take now one of the lads with you and arise and go seek the she-asses.”

4 And they passed through the hill country of Ephraim and the land of Shalisha, but they did not find them. Then they passed through the land of Shaalim, but they were not there. And they passed through
5 the land of Benjamin but did not find them. As they came into the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant who was with him,

“Come, let us go back, lest my father cease to be concerned for the asses and become anxious for us.”

6 And he said to him,

“See now, there is a man of God in this city, and the man is held in honor; all that he speaks is sure to prove true. Now let us go thither; perhaps he can tell us of our mission on which we have started.”

7 Then Saul said to his servant,

“Very well, suppose we go, but what shall we offer to the man? for the provisions are used up from our sacks, and there is no present to offer to the man of God. What have we?”

8 And the lad answered Saul again, and said,

“See there is in my possession a fourth of a silver shekel, and you shall give it to the man of God that he may inform us regarding our mission.”

9 (Formerly, in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, thus he said,

“Come let us go to the seer”;

for he who is now called a prophet was earlier called a seer.)

10 Then Saul said to his servant,

“Your advice is good; come, let us go.”

So they went to the city where the man of God was.

11 As they were going up the ascent to the city, they met maidens going forth to draw water and said to them,

“Is there a seer here?”

12 And they answered them and said,

13 “There is; he is directly before you. He has just now come to the city; for the people have a sacrifice today on the high place. As you come to the city, you may find him at once before he goes up to the high place to eat; for the people will not eat until he arrives, for he is accustomed to bless the sacrifice; and afterward the invited guests eat. Now therefore go up; for you may immediately meet him.”

14 So they went up to the city. They were just about to enter the city, when, behold, Samuel was already coming out toward them, to go up to the high place.

15 Now the day before Saul came, the LORD had communicated to Samuel the following message:

16 "About this time tomorrow I will send you a man out of the land of Benjamin and you shall anoint him to be a leader of my people Israel. And he shall deliver my people from the power of the Philistines; for I have seen the affliction of my people and their cry has come to me."

17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the LORD indicated to him,
"Behold the man of whom I spoke to you! He it is who shall bear rule over my people."

18 Then Saul approached Samuel in the gate, and said,
"Pray tell me, where is the house of the seer?"

19 And Samuel answered Saul and said,
"I am the seer; go up before me to the high place, for you shall eat with me today; and in the morning I will gladly further your 20 journey, and tell you all that is in your mind. And as for your asses that were lost three days ago, dismiss them from your mind, for they have been found. And for whom is all that is desirable in Israel reserved? Is it not for you and for your father's house?"

21 And Saul answered and said, "Am I not a Benjaminite, from the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and is not my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then have you spoken to me after this manner?"

22 But Samuel took Saul and his servant and brought them to the sacred hall and gave them a place at the head of the guests (who were about thirty persons).

23 And Samuel said to the cook,
"Bring the portion I gave you, which I told you to put aside."

24 And the cook took up the leg and the upper part and set them before Saul. And Samuel said,
"Behold that which was reserved to set before you! Eat! for it was being kept for you until the appointed time, before I invited the people."

So Saul ate with Samuel that day.

25 Now after they came down from the high place into the city, they 26 spread a bed for Saul upon the roof, and he retired. Then at dawn Samuel called to Saul on the roof, saying,

"Up, that I may further your journey."

27 So Saul arose, and he and Samuel went out into the street. And as they were going down near the city limits, Samuel said to Saul,

“Tell the servant to pass on before us (and he passed on), but do you halt at this point that I may make known to you the word of God.”

10 Then Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it on his head, and kissed him and said,

“Has not the LORD anointed you to be a leader over his people Israel? And you shall rule over the people of the LORD and deliver them from the power of their enemies round about. And this shall be the sign that the LORD has anointed you to be a leader over his heritage: when you go from me today you shall find two men at Rachel’s tomb, in the territory of Benjamin at Zelzah; and they will say to you, ‘The asses which you went to seek are found, and now your father has dismissed the matter of the asses only to become anxious about you, saying, “What shall I do for my son?”’” Then you shall hasten on from there until you come to the oak of Tabor; and there three men going up to God to Bethel will meet you, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of-bread, and another carrying a skin of wine. And they will greet you and give you two loaves of bread which you shall take from their hand. Afterwards you shall come to the hill of God, where there is a Philistine post; and furthermore when you come thither to the city, you shall meet a band of prophets coming down from the high place with a lyre, a tambourine, a flute, and a harp before them; and they will be prophesying ecstatically. Then the spirit of the LORD shall suddenly seize upon you, and you shall prophesy ecstatically with them and you shall be changed into another man. And when these signs come to you, do as the occasion serves; for God is with you. And you shall go down before me to Gilgal; and behold I shall be coming down to you, to offer up whole burnt-offerings and to sacrifice thank-offerings. Wait seven days until I come to you and show you what you shall do.”

9 Accordingly when he turned about to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart, and all these signs took place that day. And when they came thither to the hill, behold, a band of prophets met him; and the spirit of God suddenly seized upon him, and he prophesied ecstatically among them. And when all his former acquaintances saw that he really prophesied with the prophets, the people said to one another,

“What is this that has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?”

12 And a bystander answered and said,

“And who is their father?”

Therefore it became a proverb,

“Is Saul among the prophets?”

13 And when he had finished prophesying, he went home.

14 Saul's uncle also said to him and to his servant,

“Where have you been?”

And he said,

“To seek the asses; and when we saw that they were not to be found, we went to Samuel.”

15 And Saul's uncle said,

“Tell me, I pray, what Samuel said to you.”

16 And Saul said to his uncle,

“He told us emphatically that the asses were found.”

But the matter of the kingdom, of which Samuel had spoken, he did not mention to him.

17 Now Samuel summoned the people unto the LORD to Mizpeh; and he said to the Israelites, “Thus has the LORD the God of Israel said, ‘I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and I delivered you from the power of the Egyptians, and from the power of all the kingdoms that were oppressing you.

19 But you yourselves have this day despised your God, who himself is your savior from all your calamities and your distresses, and you have said, ‘No, but a king you shall set over us.’ Now therefore take your stand before the LORD by your tribes and by your thousands.’ ”

20 Then Samuel caused all the tribes of Israel to approach, and the 21 tribe of Benjamin was taken. And he caused the tribe of Benjamin to approach by its clans; and the clan of the Matrites was taken; and he caused the clan of the Matrites to approach man by man and Saul, the son of Kish, was taken; but when they sought him, he could not be

22 found. Therefore they asked of the LORD further,

“Did the man come hither?”

And the Lord said,

“Behold, he has hidden himself among the baggage.”

23 So they ran and brought him from there. And as he took his stand in the midst of the people, he was taller than any of the people

24 from his shoulders upward. And Samuel said to all the people,

“Do you see him whom the LORD has chosen? for there is not his peer among all the people.”

And all the people gave a mighty shout,

“Long live the king!”

25 Samuel also described to the people the nature of the kingdom; and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD. And Samuel 26 sent all the people away, each one to his own home. And Saul also went to his home at Gibeah; and there went with him some brave 27 men whose hearts the LORD had touched. But there were some worthless individuals who said,

“How shall this man save us?”

And they despised him, and brought him no present.

11 Now it happened after about a month that Nahash the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabesh-gilead; and all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash,

“Make a treaty with us and we will serve you.”

2 But Nahash the Ammonite said to them,

“On this condition will I make terms with you: that I gouge out the right eye of every one of you, thereby making it a reproach against all Israel.”

3 And the elders of Jabesh said to him,

“Give us seven days respite, that we may send messengers through all the territory of Israel. Then if there should be none to save us we will come to you.”

4 Thus the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul and stated these things in the hearing of the people, and all the people raised a cry of lamentation. And Saul was just coming from the field after the oxen. And Saul said,

“What is the trouble with the people that they are weeping?”

6 Then they related the words of the men of Jabesh. And the spirit of the LORD suddenly seized upon Saul when he heard these words,
7 and he became violently enraged. And he took a yoke of oxen, and cut them in pieces, and dispatched them throughout all the territory of Israel by the hand of messengers, saying,

“Whoever does not come forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen.”

Then a terror from the LORD fell upon the people, and they rallied 8 with one accord. And he mustered them in Bezek; and the Israelites were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand.
9 And he said to the messengers who came,

“Thus shall you say to the men of Jabesh-gilead, ‘Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, deliverance shall come to you.’”

So the messengers went and told the men of Jabesh, and they were 10 glad. Therefore the men of Jabesh said,

“Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do to us whatever you please.”

11 Accordingly on the day following, Saul divided the people into three contingents; and they came into the midst of the camp in the morning watch, and they fought the Ammonites until the heat of the day, even until those who remained scattered, so that no two of them were left together.

12 Then the people said to Samuel,
“Who is he that says, ‘Saul shall not reign over us?’ Bring the men that we may put them to death.”

13 And Saul said,
“There shall not a man be put to death today, for today the LORD has wrought deliverance in Israel.”

14 Then Samuel said to the people,
“Come, and let us go to Gilgal and renew there the kingdom.”

15 And all the people went to Gilgal, and there Samuel anointed Saul king before the LORD in Gilgal; and there they sacrificed thank-offerings before the LORD; and there Samuel and all the men of Israel held a great celebration.

12 Then Samuel said to all Israel,
“See, I have yielded to your plea in all that you have said to me and have appointed a king over you. And now behold the king who is to go out and in before you; but as for me, I am old and gray, and my sons are here with you; and I have conducted myself before you from my youth unto this day. Here I stand; testify against me before the LORD, and before his Messiah: whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken? or whom have I oppressed? whom have I defrauded? or from whose hand have I taken a ransom, or a pair of sandals? Testify against me and I will restore it to you.”

4 And they said,
“You have not oppressed us, nor defrauded us, nor have you taken anything from anyone’s hand.”

5 Therefore he said to them,
“The LORD is witness against you, and his Messiah is witness this day, that you have found nothing in my hand.”

And they said,
“He is witness.”

6 Then Samuel said to the people,
“The LORD is witness, who appointed Moses and Aaron and who brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt. Now therefore

- take your stand that I may enter into court with you before the LORD and let me declare to you all the righteous acts of the LORD, which he
- 8 did to you and to your fathers. When Jacob went to Egypt, and the Egyptians afflicted them, then your fathers cried to the LORD, and the LORD sent Moses and Aaron, and they brought your fathers out of
- 9 Egypt, and he made them dwell in this place. But they forgot the LORD their God, and he sold them into the hand of Sisera, commander of the army of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into
- 10 the hand of the king of Moab; and they fought against them. And they cried to the LORD and said, 'We have sinned because we have forsaken the Lord and served the Baals and the Ashtartes. But now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee.'
- 11 And the LORD sent Jerubbaal, and Barak, and Jephthah, and Samson, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies round about you so
- 12 that you dwelt in safety. And you saw that Nahash, king of the Ammonites, came against you. And you said to me, 'No, but a king shall reign over us,' although the LORD your God was your king.
- 13 "Now therefore see the king whom you have chosen and whom you
- 14 have requested; for the LORD has now set a king over you. If you will fear the LORD and serve him and listen to his voice, and not rebel against the commandment of the LORD, and both you and the king
- 15 who reigns over you follow the LORD your God, it is well. But if you will not listen to the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then shall the hand of the LORD be against
- 16 you and your king to destroy you. Now therefore take your stand and see this great thing which the LORD is about to do before your
- 17 eyes. Is it not wheat harvest today? I will call upon the LORD, to send thunder and rain; and you shall know and see that your wickedness is great, which you have done in the sight of the LORD in asking you a king."
- 18 So Samuel called upon the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day; and all the people were greatly afraid of the LORD and Samuel.
- 19 Then all the people said to Samuel,
"Intercede with the LORD your God in behalf of your servants that we die not; for we have added to all our sins the wickedness of asking for ourselves a king."
- 20 And Samuel said to the people,
"Fear not; you have indeed done all this evil, yet do not turn aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart;

²¹ and do not turn aside after vain things which cannot profit or deliver; ²² for they are vain. For the LORD because of his great name will not cast away his people; for the LORD has undertaken to make you a ²³ people for himself. Moreover, as for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to intercede on your behalf; ²⁴ but I will instruct you in the good and the right way. Only fear the LORD and serve him in truth with all your heart, for see what a great ²⁵ thing he has done in your presence. But if you persist in wrong-doing, both you and your king shall be swept away.”

THE REJECTION OF KING SAUL, 13:1-18

¹³ Saul was years old when he began to reign; and he reigned ² years over Israel. And Saul chose him three thousand men of Israel: two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and on the mountain of Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan his son in Gibeah of Benjamin. But the rest of the people he had sent away, ³ each one to his home. Now Jonathan overcame the garrison of the Philistines that was in Gibeah. And the Philistines heard the report:
 the Hebrews have revolted. But Saul had meantime sent the trum-⁴ pet call throughout all the land. And all Israel heard the report that Saul had smitten the garrison of the Philistines, and also that Israel was now in bad odor with the Philistines. And the people were sum-⁵ moned after Saul to Gilgal. And the Philistines were gathered together to fight with Israel, three thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the seashore in multi-⁶ tude; and they came up, and encamped in Michmash, on the east side of Bethaven. When the men of Israel saw that they were in jeop-⁷ ardy (for the people were at their wits' end), the people hid themselves in caves, in thickets, in rocky crags, in caverns, and in pits. They also crossed the fords of the Jordan to the land of Gad and Gillead; but Saul was still in Gilgal, and all the people were on the point of de-⁸ sertion. And he waited seven days according to the appointed time which Samuel had said; but Samuel did not come to Gilgal, and the ⁹ people were scattering from him. Therefore Saul said, “Bring me hither the burnt-offering and the thank-offerings.”
¹⁰ And he offered the burnt-offering. And then just as he finished offering the burnt-offering, Samuel came; and Saul went out to wel-¹¹ come him. But Samuel said,
 “What have you done?”
 And Saul said,

“Because I saw that the people were scattering from me and you did not come within the appointed time, and the Philistines were gathering at Michmash, I said, ‘Now the Philistines will come down against me at Gilgal, and I shall not have appeased the LORD.’ So I constrained myself and offered the burnt-offering.”

13 Then Samuel said to Saul,

“You have acted foolishly. Would that you had kept the commandment of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, for now would the LORD have established your kingdom over Israel forever. But now your kingdom shall not continue. The LORD has sought out a man after his own heart, and the LORD has appointed him a leader over his people, because you have not kept that which the LORD commanded you.”

15 Then Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal and proceeded on his way; and the rest of the people went up after Saul to meet the men of war, and they went from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people that were left with him; about six hundred men. 16 And Saul and Jonathan his son, together with the people that remained with them were staying in Gibeah of Benjamin, while the 17 Philistines encamped in Michmash. And raiders went out of the camp of the Philistines in three detachments, one detachment turned 18 in the direction of Ophrah in the land of Shual, and another detachment turned in the direction of Beth-horon, and another detachment turned in the direction of the hill that looks down over the valley of Zeboim toward the desert.

WAR WITH THE PHILISTINES, 13:19—14:52

19 Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said,

“Lest the Hebrews make sword or spear.”

20 But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines to sharpen each 21 his plowpoint and his coulter and his ax and his mattock; and the price for the plowpoints and the coulters was a pim and a third of a shekel 22 for the axes and for setting the goads. And accordingly on the day of Michmash not a sword nor a spear was found in the possession of all the people who were with Saul and Jonathan; but Saul and Jonathan his son had them.

23 And an outpost of the Philistines went forth to the pass of Michmash.

14 And it happened one day that Jonathan, the son of Saul, said to the youth who bore his armor,

“Come and let us go over to the post of the Philistines, that is on the other side yonder.”

2 But he did not tell his father. And Saul was tarrying in the outskirts of Gibeah, under the pomegranate tree which is by the threshing-floor, and the people who were with him were about six hundred men.

3 And Ahijah, the son of Ahitub, Ichabod’s brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the priest of the LORD at Shiloh, was in charge of an ephod. And the people did not know that Jonathan had gone. And between the passes by which Jonathan sought to go over to the Philistine post there was a sharp crag on the one side, and a sharp crag on the other side; and the name of the one was Bozez and the name of the other Seneh. The one crag was on the north in front of Michmash, and the other on the south in front of Geba. And Jonathan said to the young man who bore his armor,

“Come, let us go over to the post of these uncircumcised Philistines; perchance the LORD will act on our behalf, for with the LORD there is no limitation to deliver by many or by few.”

And his armorbearer said to him,

“Do whatever your judgment determines; see I am with you; your inclination is mine.”

8 Then Jonathan said,

“See, we are going to pass over to the men and show ourselves to them. If they say to us, ‘Halt until we can reach you,’ then we will remain where we are, and will not go up to them. But if they say thus, ‘Come up to us,’ then we will go up; for the LORD has given them into our hand; and this shall be the sign to us.”

11 Now when they both showed themselves to the Philistine post, the Philistines said,

“Look! Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have hidden themselves.”

12 And the men of the post hailed Jonathan and his armorbearer, saying,

“Come up to us, we have something to tell you.”

Then Jonathan said to his armorbearer,

“Come up after me for the LORD has given them into the hand of Israel.”

13 And Jonathan scrambled up on his hands and feet, and his armor-bearer after him. And they turned back at the approach of Jonathan and he attacked them, and his armorbearer was despatching the wounded after him, with arrows, with slingstones, and with stones of 14 the field. And that first slaughter, which Jonathan and his armor-bearer made, amounted to about twenty men, part from the post and 15 part from the field. And there was terror in the camp, in the field, and among all the people; the garrison and even the raiders also trembled;

and the earth quaked so that it became a terror inspired of God.

16 The watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked and behold 17 the camp melted away hither and thither. Then Saul said to the people who were with him,

“Investigate now and see who is gone from among us.”

And when they had investigated, of course, Jonathan and his ar-
18 morbearer were not there. And Saul said to Ahijah,

“Bring the ephod here.”

For at that time he was intrusted with the ephod before the Is-19 raelites. And while Saul was yet speaking to the priest, the tumult in the camp of the Philistines kept on increasing. Therefore Saul said to the priest,

“Withdraw your hand.”

20 And Saul and all the people who were with him rallied, and came to the battle, and now every man's sword was against his fellow in 21 wild confusion. And those Hebrews who had thus far been with the Philistines, who had gone up with them into the camp, even these turned to be with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan.
22 Likewise all the men of Israel, who were in hiding in the hill country of Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines had fled, also pur-23 sued after them in the battle. So the LORD saved Israel that day, and the battle passed beyond Bethhoron. And all the people were with Saul, about ten thousand men; and the fighting was scattered over the 24 entire hill country of Ephraim. But Saul committed a grave error that day, for he put the people under oath, saying,

“Cursed be the man who shall eat food until evening and until I avenge myself on my enemies.”

25 So none of the people tasted food. Now there was comb honey in 26 the fields. And when the people came to the honeycomb, the bees had just flown away, but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people 27 feared the oath. But Jonathan had not heard when his father ad-jured the people; therefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand and dipped it in the honeycomb and put his hand to his

28 mouth, and his eyes brightened. Then up spoke one of the people, and said,

“Your father strictly adjured the people saying, ‘Cursed be the man who eats food today.’”

29 But the people were faint. Then said Jonathan, “My father has disastrously confused the land. See, now, how I have been refreshed, 30 because I tasted a little of this honey. The more then, if the people had eaten freely today of the spoil of their enemies which they found, would there have been a great slaughter among the Philistines.”

31 But they fought the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon, and the people were exceedingly faint. Then the people flung themselves upon the spoil, and took sheep and oxen and calves, and slew them on the ground, and the people were eating them with the 32 blood. When they told Saul, saying,

“See, the people are sinning against the LORD in eating with the blood,”

He said,

“You have dealt treacherously; roll hither to me a great stone.”

34 And Saul said,

“Disperse among the people and say to them, ‘Let each man bring to me his ox and his sheep, and slay it here and eat; but do not sin against the LORD by eating the flesh together with the blood.’”

And all the people brought that night, each what he had in his 35 possession, and slew them there. So Saul built an altar unto the LORD: that marked the beginning of his building of altars to the LORD.

36 Moreover Saul said,

“Let us go down after the Philistines by night and plunder among them until dawn, and let us not leave a man of them.”

And they said,

“Do whatever you deem best.”

But the priest said,

“Let us here draw nigh to God.”

37 And Saul asked of God,

“Shall I go down after the Philistines? Wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel?”

38 But he did not answer him that day. And Saul said,

39 “Draw nigh hither, all chiefs of the people and know and see wherein was this sin today. For as the LORD lives, who delivers Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die.”

- 40 But no one of all the people answered him. Then he said to all Israel,
"You shall be on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side."
And the people said to Saul,
"Do as it seems good to you."
- 41 Therefore Saul said,
"O LORD, God of Israel, why hast thou not answered thy servant this day? If the guilt be in me or in Jonathan my son, O LORD, God of Israel, give Urim; but if it is in thy people Israel, give Thummin."
- 42 Then Jonathan and Saul were taken and the people escaped. And Saul said,
"Cast the lot between me and Jonathan my son. He whom the LORD shall take, must die."
And the people said,
"It shall not be so!"
But Saul overruled the people and they cast the lot between him and Jonathan his son. And Jonathan was taken.
- 43 Then Saul said to Jonathan,
"Tell me what you have done."
And Jonathan told him, saying,
"I did indeed taste a little honey with the end of the staff that was in my hand; here I am, ready to die."
- 44 And Saul said,
45 "May God do so to me and more also, you shall surely die, Jonathan."
But the people said to Saul,
"Shall Jonathan die who has wrought this great deliverance in Israel? Far from it! As the LORD lives, there shall not a hair of his head fall to the ground, for he has wrought with God this day."
Therefore the people ransomed Jonathan, so that he did not die.
- 46 Then Saul went up from pursuing the Philistines; and the Philistines went to their own place.
- 47 Now when Saul had taken the kingdom over Israel, he fought against all his enemies on every side: against Moab and the Ammonites and Edom and Beth-rehob, the king of Zobah and the Philistines;
48 and wherever he turned he was successful. And he acted vigorously and conquered the Amalekites and delivered Israel out of the hands of its plunderers.

- 49 Now the sons of Saul were: Jonathan, Ishbaal, and Malchishua. And these are the names of his two daughters: the eldest, Merab, the 50 youngest, Michal. And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz. The name of the commander of his army was 51 Abner, the son of Ner, Saul's cousin. And Kish, the father of Saul, and Ner, the father of Abner, were the sons of Abiel.
- 52 But the war against the Philistines was severe all the days of Saul. And whenever Saul saw any valiant or outstanding man, he would attach him to himself.

A RAID UPON THE AMALEKITES, 15:1—35

- 15 Samuel also said to Saul,
 "The LORD sent me to anoint you to be king over his people Israel.
 2 Now therefore listen to the words of the LORD. Thus saith the LORD of hosts, 'I shall certainly punish that which Amalek did to Israel, in that he opposed him in the way, when he came up out of Egypt.
 3 Now go and attack Amalek and utterly destroy him and all that he has, and spare him not, but slaughter both man and woman, child and infant, ox and sheep, camel and ass.' "
- 4 So Saul summoned the people and mustered them in Telaim, two 5 hundred thousand footmen and ten thousand men of Judah. And when Saul came to the city of Amalek, he laid an ambush in the 6 valley. And Saul said to the Kenites,
 "Come, withdraw, come down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them, for you showed kindness to the Israelites when they came up from Egypt."
- 7 So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites. And Saul overcame the Amalekites from Havilah as far as Shur, which is be-
 8 fore Egypt. And he took Agag, the king of Amalek, alive and com-
 9 pletely destroyed all the people with the sword. But Saul and the people spared Agag and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the fatlings, the lambs, and all that was good, and were not willing utterly to destroy them; but everything that was vile and despised, that they completely destroyed.
- 10 Then the word of the LORD came to Samuel, saying, 11 "I repent that I have made Saul king, for he has turned from following me and has not established my commands."
- 12 And Samuel was angry and cried to the LORD all night. And in the morning Samuel rose early to meet Saul. And it was told Samuel, saying,

"Saul came to Carmel and behold he has set him up a trophy and has turned and passed on and gone down to Gilgal."

13 And when Samuel came to Saul, Saul said to him,

"Blessed be thou of the LORD! I have fulfilled the command of the LORD."

14 And Samuel said,

"What then is this bleating of sheep in my ears and the lowing of cattle which I hear?"

15 And Saul said,

"They have brought them from the Amalekites, for the people spared the best of the sheep and the oxen to sacrifice to the LORD your God; and the rest we have completely destroyed."

16 Then Samuel said to Saul,

"Desist! and let me tell you what the LORD spoke to me last night."

And he said to him,

"Declare it."

17 And Samuel said,

"Though you are insignificant in your own eyes, are you not the head of the tribes of Israel? And the LORD anointed you king over Israel, and the LORD sent you on a mission and said, 'Go and completely wipe out the sinners, the Amalekites, and fight against them until you have consumed them.' Why then did you not obey the voice of the LORD and why did you fling yourselves upon the spoil and do that which was evil in the sight of the LORD?"

20 And Saul said to Samuel,

"I have obeyed the voice of the LORD and have gone on the mission upon which the LORD sent me and have brought back Agag, king of the Amalekites, and have completely destroyed the Amalekites. But the people took of the spoil, sheep and cattle, the best of that which was put under the ban, to sacrifice to the LORD your God in Gilgal."

22 And Samuel said,

"Does the LORD delight in burnt-offerings and sacrifices

As much as in obedience to the voice of the LORD?

Behold to obey is better than sacrifice,

And to hearken than the fat of rams.

23 For the sin of divination is rebellion,

And the iniquity of the teraphim is arrogance.

Because you have rejected the word of the LORD,

He has rejected you from being king."

24 And Saul said to Samuel,

“I have sinned, for I have transgressed the command of the LORD and your words, because I feared the people and listened to their voice. Now therefore pardon my sin and turn back with me, that I may worship the LORD.”

26 But Samuel said to Saul,

“I will not turn back with you, for you have rejected the word of the LORD and the LORD has rejected you from being king over Israel.”

27 And as Samuel turned to go, Saul seized the skirt of his outer garment, and it tore. Then Samuel said to him,

28 “Today the LORD has torn the kingdom of Israel from you and given it to your neighbor who is better than you. And moreover the Glory of Israel will not lie nor repent; for he is not a man that he should repent.”

30 Then he said,

“I have sinned, yet honor me now before the elders of my people and before Israel, and return with me, that I may worship the LORD your God.”

So Samuel turned back after Saul, while Saul worshipped the LORD.

32 Then said Samuel,

“Bring me hither Agag, the king of the Amalekites.”

And Agag came to him trembling. And Agag said,

“Surely death is bitter.”

33 And Samuel said,

“As your sword has bereaved women, so shall your mother be the most bereaved of women.”

Thereupon Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the LORD in Gilgal. Then Samuel went to Ramah, but Saul went up to his house to Gibeah of Saul. And Samuel saw Saul no more until the day of his death, for Samuel grieved over Saul. And the LORD repented that he had made Saul king over Israel.

THE ANOINTING OF DAVID AS KING, 16:1-13

16 And the LORD said to Samuel,

“How long will you grieve over Saul, since I have rejected him from being king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and go. I will send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite; for I have provided me a king among his sons.”

2 And Samuel said,

“How can I go, since Saul will hear of it and kill me?”

And the LORD said,

“You shall take a young heifer with you and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.’ And you shall invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what you shall do, and you shall anoint him whom I indicate to you.”

4 And Samuel did that which the LORD had commanded. And when he came to Bethlehem, the elders of the city came trembling to meet him and said,

“Is your coming peaceable?”

5 And he said,

“Yes, I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. Purify yourselves and rejoice with me today.”

And he purified Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

6 And when they came and he saw Eliab, he said,

“Surely the LORD’s anointed is before him.”

7 But the LORD said to Samuel,

“Do not look at his appearance or the height of his stature, since I have rejected him; for the LORD does not see as man sees, for man looks on the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the heart.”

8 Then Jesse called Abinadab, and presented him before Samuel. But he said,

“Neither has the LORD chosen this one.”

9 Then Jesse presented Shammah. But he said,

“Neither has the Lord chosen this one.”

10 Then Jesse presented his seven sons before Samuel. But Samuel said to Jesse,

“The LORD has not chosen these.”

11 And Samuel said to Jesse,

“Are these all the young men?”

And he said,

“There is still the youngest, and just now he is shepherding the flock.”

Then Samuel said,

“Send and fetch him, for we will not sit down until he comes hither.”

12 So he sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, a youth with beautiful eyes and attractive appearance. And the LORD said, “Arise, anoint him, for this is he.”

13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers. And the Spirit of the LORD seized upon David from that day forward. And Samuel arose and went to Ramah.

DAVID AS SAUL'S MUSICIAN, 16:14—23

14 Now the spirit of the LORD had departed from Saul and an evil 15 spirit from the LORD terrified him. And the servants of Saul said to him,

16 "See now, an evil spirit from the LORD is terrorizing you. Let now your servants who are before you speak and they will seek for our lord a man skilful in playing the lyre. Then whenever the evil spirit comes upon you he will play with his hand, and you will be well."

17 Then Saul said to his servants,

"Provide me now a man who plays well, and bring him to me."

18 Thereupon one of the young men answered and said,

"Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who is skilful in playing and a man of unusual power, a warrior, judicious in speech, a distinguished looking man, and the LORD is with him."

19 Therefore Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said,

"Send me David your son, who is with the flock."

20 And Jesse took ten loaves of bread, and a skin of wine, and a kid, 21 and sent them to Saul by David his son. So David came to Saul and became his personal attendant; and he greatly loved him, so much so 22 that he became one of his armorbearers. And Saul sent to Jesse, saying,

"Let David now stand in my presence, for he has found favor in my sight."

23 And whenever the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, David would take the lyre and play with his hand and Saul would be relieved and feel restored and the evil spirit would depart from him.

DAVID SLAYS GOLIATH, 17:1—58

17 Now the Philistines mustered their armed forces for war, and they were gathered together at Socoh, which belongs to Judah, and en-2 camped between Socoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim. And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together and encamped in the valley of Elah; and they drew up in line of battle facing the Philistines.
3 And the Philistines were stationed on the mountain on one side, and the Israelites were stationed on the mountain on the other side, and 4 the valley was between them. And there came out a champion from the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath of Gath, whose height was 5 about ten feet. And he had a helmet of bronze upon his head, and he was clad with a coat of mail of bronze scales, whose weight was about 6 five thousand shekels. And he had greaves of bronze upon his legs 7 and a javelin of bronze between his shoulders. And the shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and the head of his iron spear weighed six hundred shekels; and his shield-bearer went before him.

8 And he stood and shouted to the battle line of Israel and said to them,

“Why have you come out to draw up the line of battle? Am I not a Philistine and you the servants of Saul? Choose for yourselves a 9 man and let him come down to me. If he is able to fight with me and can kill me, then we will be your servants; but if I overcome him and kill him, then you shall be our servants and serve us.”

10 And the Philistine said,

“I challenge the ranks of Israel this day; give me a man that we may fight together.”

11 And when Saul and all Israel heard the words of the Philistine, they were terrified and panic-stricken.

12 Now David was the son of an Ephrathite of Bethlehem in Judah, whose name was Jesse, and he had eight sons. And the man was old 13 in the days of Saul, well advanced in years. And the three eldest sons of Jesse had gone after Saul to the war; and the names of these three sons who went to the war were Eliab the eldest, his second Abinadab, 14 and the third Shammah. But David was the youngest; and the three 15 eldest had followed Saul. Now David went to and fro from Saul to 16 feed his father's sheep at Bethlehem. And the Philistine drew near 17 morning and evening and took his stand forty days. And Jesse said to David his son,

“Take now for your brothers a bushel of this parched grain and these ten loaves and take them quickly to the camp to your brothers.
18 But bring these ten cheeses to the captain of the thousand, and look into the welfare of your brothers and take assurance of them.”

19 Now Saul and they and all the men of Israel were in the valley of Elah fighting with the Philistines.

20 So David rose up early in the morning and left the flock with a keeper and took and went, as Jesse had commanded him. And he came to the intrenchment just as the army was going forth to the battle-line, 21 raising the shout of battle. And Israel and the Philistines drew up the 22 battle lines facing each other. And David left his supplies in care of the keeper of the baggage and ran to the battle line and came and

23 greeted his brothers. And while he was talking with them the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, was seen coming up from the Philistine lines, and he spoke the same words as before; and 24 David heard them. And all the men of Israel, when they saw the 25 man, fled from him and were panic-stricken. And the men of Israel said,

“Have you seen this man who comes up? Surely to taunt Israel he comes up. Whoever overcomes him, the king will make very rich and will give him his daughter and make his father’s house free in Israel.”

26 Then said David to the men standing by him as follows,

“What shall be done for the man who overcomes yonder Philistine and takes away the reproach of Israel? For who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should taunt the battle lines of the living God?”

27 And the people replied to him according to the above words, saying,
“Thus shall it be done to the man who overcomes him.”

28 Now Eliab, his eldest brother, heard when he spoke to the men; and Eliab’s anger was roused against David, and he said,

“Why now have you come down? And with whom have you left those few sheep in the desert? I know your insolence, and the wickedness of your heart; for you have come down to look at the battle.”

29 And David said,

“What have I now done? Is there not a cause?”

30 And turning away from him to another, he spoke as before; and 31 the people returned answer as at the first. And when the words which David spoke were heard, they reported them to Saul. And they took him and brought him before Saul.

32 Then David said to Saul,

“Let not my lord’s courage fail him; your servant will go and fight with this Philistine.”

33 And Saul said to David,

“You are not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him, for you are but a youth and he has been a warrior from his youth.”

34 But David said to Saul,

“Your servant has been a shepherd with his father’s flock; and when a lion or a bear would come and take a sheep out of the flock,
35 I would go out after him and attack him and deliver it from his mouth; and if he rose up against me, I would seize him by his beard 36 and wound him and kill him. Your servant has slain both lion and bear; and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, since he has taunted the battle lines of the living God."

37 And David said,

"The LORD who delivered me from the paw of the lion, and from the paw of the bear, will deliver me from the hand of this Philistine."

Therefore Saul said to David,

"Go, and may the LORD be with you."

38 And Saul clothed David with his garments, and put a helmet of 39 bronze on his head, and equipped him with a coat of mail. And he girded David with his sword over his outer garments; and he struggled in vain to go, for he had not tried them. Then David said to Saul,

"I cannot go with these, for I have not tried them."

And David put them off him.

40 So he took his stick in his hand, and chose five smooth stones out of the brook and put them in his bag, and with his sling in his hand
41 he advanced toward the Philistine. And the Philistine began cautiously to approach David, having the bearer of his shield directly 42 in front of him. And when the Philistine observed and saw David, he scorned him, for he was youthful and ruddy, and of attractive 43 appearance. And the Philistine said to David,

"Am I a dog that you come to me with sticks?"

44 And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. And the Philistine said to David,

"Come to me and I will give your flesh to the birds of the heavens and to the beasts of the field."

45 Then David said to the Philistine,

"You come to me with a sword and a spear and a javelin,

But I come to you in the name of the LORD of armies,
The God of the battle lines of Israel whom you have taunted.

46 This day the LORD will deliver you into my hand,
That I may slay you and sever your head from your body;
And I will this day give your dead body and the dead of the camp of the Philistines

To the birds of the heavens and to the wild beasts of the earth,
That all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel,

47 And that all this congregation may know

That not with sword and spear does the LORD deliver,

For the battle is the LORD's and he will give you into our hands."

48 Now when the Philistine arose and came and drew near to meet

David, David also hastened and ran toward the line to meet the Philistine. And David put his hand in his bag and took from it a stone and slung it and it struck the Philistine on his forehead; and the stone sank into his forehead, so that he fell on his face to the earth. So David overpowered the Philistine with a sling and a stone, and he struck the Philistine, and slew him, although there was no sword in David's hand. And David ran and stood over the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of its sheath, and slew him, and cut off his head with it. And when the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled.

And the men of Israel and Judah arose and raised a shout and pursued the Philistines to the entrance to Gath and to the gates of Ekron, so that the wounded of the Philistines fell down on the way from Shaaraim, even to Gath and Ekron. And when the Israelites returned from pursuing the Philistines, they plundered their camp, but David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem; and he put his armor in his tent.

When Saul saw David going out against the Philistine, he said to Abner, the commander of the army,

"Whose son is this lad, Abner?"

And Abner said,

"As you live, O king, I do not know."

And the king said,

"Inquire whose son the youth is."

And when David returned from slaying the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul with the Philistine's head in his hand. And Saul said to him,

"Whose son are you, my lad?"

And David said,

"The son of your servant Jesse, the Bethlehemite."

SAUL'S JEALOUSY OF DAVID, 18:1—20:42

Now when he had finished speaking with Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as himself. And Saul took him at that time and would not allow him to return to his father's house. And Jonathan made a covenant with David, because he loved him as his own life. And Jonathan stripped off the cloak which he had on and gave it to David and his equipment, even to his sword and to his bow and to his girdle. And David went out; whithersoever Saul sent him he acted discreetly, so that Saul appointed him over the fighting forces. And he was well pleasing in the estimation of all the people and in the estimation of the servants of Saul.

- 6 Accordingly when they came back, as David returned from fighting the Philistine, the women came dancing out of all the cities of Israel, to meet David, with tambourines, with rejoicing, and with 7 sistrums. And the women sang as they played, and said, “Saul has slain his thousands,

But David his ten thousands.”

- 8 And Saul was very angry, and this saying displeased him and he said,

“They have ascribed to David the ten thousands, while to me they have ascribed but the thousands, and what can he have more but the kingdom?”

- 9 And Saul kept his eye on David from that day forward.

- 10 So on the next day the evil spirit from God seized upon Saul, and he was filled with prophetic frenzy within the house, while David was playing with his hand as he did each day. And Saul had his spear 11 in his hand; and Saul lifted up his spear, saying,

“I will pin David to the wall.”

But David escaped from his presence twice.

- 12 And Saul was afraid of David, because the LORD was with him 13 and had departed from Saul. Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him his commander of a thousand; and he went out 14 and came in before the people. And David showed good judgment in 15 all his ways, for the LORD was with him. And when Saul saw that he 16 exercised very good judgment, he stood in dread of him. But all Israel and Judah loved David, for he went out and came in before the people.

- 17 Then Saul said to David,

“Here is my eldest daughter, Merab, I am ready to give her to you in marriage; only be zealous for me and fight the battles of the LORD.”

For Saul said,

“Let not my hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him.”

- 18 And David said to Saul,

“Who am I, and who are my kinsfolk in Israel, that I should be the king’s son-in-law?”

- 19 But when the time came that Merab, Saul’s daughter, should have been given to David, she was given as wife to Adriel, the Meholathite.

20 Michal, Saul's daughter, also loved David. And when they told 21 Saul, the thing was agreeable to him. And Saul said,

"I will give her to him, that she may be a snare to him and that the hand of the Philistines may be upon him."

Therefore Saul said to David,

"You shall this day be my son-in-law."

22 So Saul commanded his servants as follows,

"Communicate with David secretly and say, 'You see, the king is pleased with you and all his servants love you; now therefore make yourself the king's son-in-law.' "

23 And the servants of Saul spoke these words in the ears of David. And David said,

"Is it an easy thing in your estimation to make oneself the king's son-in-law, and I a poor man and of humble station?"

24 And Saul's servants told him saying,

"David spoke according to these words."

25 And Saul said,

"Thus shall you say to David, 'The king desires no dowry, but a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, in order to take vengeance on the king's enemies.' "

Now Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philis-
 26 tines. And when his servants told David these words, David was well pleased to become the king's son-in-law. And the days had not ex-27 pired. And David arose and went, and he together with his men slew of the Philistines one hundred men; and David brought their fore-skins and gave them in full to the king, in order to make himself the king's son-in-law. Accordingly Saul gave him Michal, his daughter, 28 as wife. And when Saul saw and realized that the LORD was with 29 David and that all Israel loved him, Saul was even more afraid of 30 David. And Saul remained permanently hostile to David. And the princes of the Philistines went forth; and as often as they went forth, David showed better leadership and initiative than all the servants of Saul, so that his name was very highly esteemed.

19 But Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants that they
 2 should put David to death. But Jonathan, Saul's son, was exceedingly fond of David. And Jonathan told David, saying,

"Saul my father is plotting to kill you; now therefore, I pray you, be on your guard in the morning and remain out of sight and keep 3 yourself hid. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak about you to my father, and whatever I see I will tell you.”

4 And Jonathan spoke well of David to Saul his father, and said to him,

“Let not the king sin against his servant David, because he has not sinned against you and because his behavior toward you has been very 5 praiseworthy; for he took his life in his hand and overcame the Philistine, and the LORD wrought a great deliverance for all Israel. You saw it and rejoiced. Why then will you sin against innocent blood, by slaying David without a cause?”

6 And Saul listened to the appeal of Jonathan; and Saul took oath,
“As the LORD lives, he shall not be put to death.”

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all these words. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, so that he was again in 8 his presence as formerly. And when there was again war, David went out and fought against the Philistines, and overcame them with a 9 great slaughter, so that they fled before him. Then an evil spirit from the LORD was upon Saul, while he was sitting in his house with his 10 spear in his hand, and David was playing with his hand. And Saul sought to pin David to the wall with his spear, but he slipped away out of Saul’s presence, so that he drove the spear into the wall, and David fled and escaped.

11 And that night Saul sent messengers to David’s house to watch him, in order to slay him in the morning. But Michal, his wife, informed David saying,

“If you do not make your escape tonight, tomorrow you will be a corpse.”

12 So Michal let David down through a window; and he stole away
13 and escaped. And Michal took the teraphim and laid it in the bed, and put a quilt of goat’s hair at its head and covered it with a garment. And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said,

“He is sick.”

15 Then Saul sent the messengers to see David, saying,

“Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may put him to death.”

16 And when the messengers entered, behold, there was the household
17 god in the bed, with a quilt of goat’s hair at its head. And Saul said to Michal,

“Why have you deceived me thus, and let my enemy go, so that he has escaped?”

And Michal said to Saul,

"He said to me, 'Let me go; why should I kill you?'"

18 Now David fled and escaped and came to Samuel at Ramah and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and 19 tarried in Naioth. And when it was told Saul, saying,

20 "David is there at Naioth in Ramah,"

Saul sent messengers to take David. But when they saw an assemblage of prophets prophesying with Samuel standing as head over them, the spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul, so that they

21 also prophesied. And when they told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they also prophesied ecstatically. And Saul sent messengers again

22 the third time, and they also prophesied ecstatically. Then Saul's anger was aroused and he himself went to Ramah. And when he came to the cistern of the threshing floor, which is on the bare height, he asked and said,

"Where are Samuel and David?"

And they said,

"You will find him at Naioth in Ramah."

23 But when he went from there to Naioth in Ramah, the spirit of God came upon him also, and as he went along he prophesied ecstatically, until he came to Naioth in Ramah. And he even stripped off

24 his clothes, and he also prophesied ecstatically before Samuel, and fell down and lay naked all that day and all night. Therefore they say,

"Is Saul also among the prophets?"

20 Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah.

Moreover he came and said before Jonathan,

"What have I done? what is my guilt? And what is my sin before 2 your father, that he is seeking my life?"

And he said to him,

"Far from it! You shall not die. Now my father does nothing great or small, but that he discloses it to me; and why should my father hide this thing from me? Not so."

3 And David replied and said,

"Your father well knows that I have found favor in your eyes, and he has said to himself, 'Let not Jonathan know this lest he be pained.' Nevertheless as surely as the LORD lives, and as you live, there is but a step between me and death."

4 Then Jonathan said to David,

"What do you desire that I do for you?"

5 And David said to Jonathan,

“Behold, tomorrow is the new moon and I should indeed sit at table with the king; but let me go and I will hide myself in the field until evening. If your father does indeed miss me, then say, ‘David urgently asked leave of me to run to Bethlehem his city; for the yearly sacrifice is there for the whole family.’ If he says, ‘Good,’ then it is well with your servant, but if it really stirs up his anger, then know that evil is determined upon by him. Now deal kindly with your servant, for you have brought your servant into a covenant of the LORD with yourself; but if there be guilt in me, slay me yourself, for why should you bring me thus to your father?”

9 And Jonathan said,

“Far be it from you! for if I should indeed learn that my father had determined that evil should come upon you, would I not tell you that?”

10 Then David said to Jonathan,

“Who will tell me, if perchance your father answers you harshly?”

11 And Jonathan said to David,

“Come, and let us go out to the field.”

So the two of them went out to the field.

12 And Jonathan said to David,

“The LORD, the God of Israel be witness, that I will sound my father at this time tomorrow [or the third day], and if he be well disposed to David, then will I not send to you and disclose it to you?

13 The LORD do so to Jonathan and more also, if my father be pleased to do you harm and I disclose it not to you, and send you away that you may go in peace. And may the LORD be with you as he has been with

14 my father. But O may you, if I am still alive, O may you show me the kindness of the LORD! But if I should die, may you never cut off your kindness from my house. And when the LORD cuts off the 16 enemies of David, everyone from the face of the ground, the name of Jonathan shall not be cut off from the house of David, and may the LORD require it at the hand of David’s enemies.”

17 So Jonathan took oath again to David because of his love to him; for he loved him as his own life.

18 Then Jonathan said to him,

“Tomorrow is the new moon and you will be missed, because your seat will be empty. And on the third day you will be greatly missed.

Then you shall come to the place where you hid yourself on the day of the affair, and you shall sit down there beside that stone heap. And on the third day I will shoot to its side with arrows, as though I shot

21 at a mark. And then I will send a lad, (saying), 'Go, find the arrows.' If I say explicitly to the lad, 'See, the arrows are on this side of you; get them!'—then come; for it is well for you, and, as the 22 LORD lives, there is nothing the matter. But if I say thus to the youth, 'See, the arrows are beyond you,' go, for the LORD has sent you away.
23 And as for the word which we have spoken, you and I, behold, the LORD is between you and me forever."

24 So David hid himself in the field; and when it was new moon, the 25 king sat at table to eat. And the king sat upon his seat as usual, even on the seat by the wall, and Jonathan sat opposite, and Abner sat by Saul's 26 side; but David's place was empty. Nevertheless Saul did not remark anything that day, for he thought,

"It is an accident, he is not ceremonially clean, for he has not been cleansed."

27 But when on the morrow of the new moon, even on the second day, David's place was empty, Saul said to Jonathan his son,

"Why has not the son of Jesse come to the meal, either yesterday or today?"

28 And Jonathan answered Saul,

29 "David urgently asked leave of me to go to Bethlehem, for he said, 'Let me go, I pray you, since our family has a sacrifice in the city; and my brothers have commanded me. And now if I have found favor in your sight, let me slip away, I pray you, and see my brothers.' Therefore he has not come to the king's table."

30 Then Saul's anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said to him,

"Son of a renegade girl! Do I not know that you are attached to the son of Jesse to your own shame and to the shame of your mother's nakedness? For as long as the son of Jesse lives on the ground, 31 neither you nor your kingdom will be established. Therefore now send and fetch him to me, for he is condemned to die."

32 Then Jonathan answered Saul his father and said to him,

"Why should he be put to death? What has he done?"

33 But Saul lifted up his spear at him to strike him. And so Jonathan 34 knew that his father had determined to put David to death. Therefore Jonathan rose from the table in fierce anger and ate no food on the second day of the month, for he was grieved for David, because his 35 father had vilified him. But in the morning Jonathan went out to the field at the time agreed with David, accompanied by a small boy.
36 And he said to his lad,

“Run, find now the arrows I am about to shoot.”

37 And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. And when the boy came to the location of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan called after the lad, and said,

“Is not the arrow beyond you?”

38 And Jonathan called after the boy,

“Make haste, be quick, do not tarry!”

So Jonathan’s lad gathered up the arrows, and brought them to his 39 master. But the lad did not perceive anything; only David and Jonathan understood the matter. And Jonathan gave his weapons to the 40 lad who was with him, and said to him,

“Go, take them to the city.”

41 The lad departed and David arose from beside the stone heap, and fell on his face to the ground and prostrated himself three times, and 42 they kissed each other and wept together profusely. Then Jonathan said to David,

“Go in peace! forasmuch as we two have sworn in the name of the LORD, saying, ‘The LORD will be between me and between you and between my descendants and your descendants forever.’”

Then David rose and departed and Jonathan went into the city.

DAVID IN FLIGHT FROM SAUL, 21:1—24:22

21 Thereupon David came to Nob, to Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech came trembling to meet David and said to him,

“Why are you alone and no one with you?”

2 And David said to Ahimelech the priest,

“The king has charged me with a matter and has said to me, ‘Let no one know anything about the mission upon which I am sending you and which I have commanded you; and I have appointed the young
3 men to such and such a place.’ And now what is there in your possession? Five loaves of bread? Give them, or whatever can be found, into my hand.”

4 And the priest answered David and said,

“There is no ordinary bread in my possession, but there is holy bread, if only the young men have kept themselves from women.”

5 And David answered the priest and said,

“Of a truth women have been kept from us; as usual when I set out, the vessels of the young men are ceremonially cleansed, even though it be an ordinary journey; how much more then today shall their vessels be holy!"

6 So the priest gave him holy bread, for there was no bread there but the Presence-bread, that was taken from before the LORD in order to 7 put hot bread there the day it was taken away. Now one of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD, whose 8 name was Doeg, an Edomite, the chief of Saul's shepherds. And David said to Ahimelech,

"Is there not here in your possession a spear or a sword? for I brought neither my sword nor my equipment with me, because the king's business required haste."

9 And the priest said,

"The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you slew in the valley of Elah, see it is wrapped in a garment behind the ephod. If you wish to take that, take it, for there is no other except that here."

And David said,

"There is none like it, give it to me."

10 And David arose and fled that day from before Saul, and went to 11 Achish, the king of Gath. And the servants of Achish said to him,

"Is not this David, the king of the land? Was it not of him that they were wont to sing responsively in the dances, saying,

'Saul has slain his thousands,

But David his ten thousands?'"

12 And David took these words to heart and was greatly afraid of 13 Achish, the king of Gath. And he disguised his sanity before them, and feigned himself mad in their hands and drummed on the doors

14 of the gate and let his spittle run down on his beard. Then Achish said to his servants,

"Truly you look upon a man demented; why do you bring him to 15 me? Do I lack madmen that you have brought this wretch to act the madman in my presence? Should this fellow come to my house?"

22 David therefore departed thence and escaped to the cave of Adullam. And when his brothers and all his father's clan heard it, they
2 went down there to him. And there were drawn together to him everyone that was in distress, and everyone who was in debt, and everyone who was embittered, and he became their leader. And there were with him about four hundred men.

3 David also went forth from there to Mizpeh of Moab; and he said to the king of Moab,

"I pray you, let my father and my mother dwell with you, until I know what God will do for me."

4 And he left them in the presence of the king of Moab; and they remained with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.

5 And Gad the prophet said to David,

"Do not remain in Mizpeh; but go and enter the land of Judah."

Then David went and entered the forest of Hereth.

6 Now when Saul heard that David and the men who were with him were discovered (Saul was sitting in Gibeah under a tamarisk tree on the high place, with his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him), Saul said to his servants who were standing about him,

"Hear now O Benjaminites! Will the son of Jesse also give to everyone of you fields and vineyards? Will he make you all commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, that all of you have conspired against me, and there is no one that discloses to me when my son makes a covenant with the son of Jesse, and none of you sympathizes with me, or discloses to me that my son has incited my servant against me as an enemy, as is true this day?"

9 Then Doeg the Edomite, who was appointed over the servants of Saul, answered and said,

"I saw the son of Jesse as he came to Nob, to Ahimelech, the son of Ahitub. And he inquired of God for him and gave him provisions and the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

11 Then the king sent a summons to Ahimelech, the son of Ahitub the priest, and to all his father's house, the priests who were in Nob, and all of them came to the king. And Saul said,

"Hear now, O son of Ahitub!"

And he said,

"I am here, my lord!"

13 And Saul said to him,

"Why have you and the son of Jesse conspired against me, in that you have given him bread and a sword and have inquired of God for him, that he should rise against me as an enemy, as is true this day?"

14 Then Ahimelech answered the king and said,

"But who among all your servants is trusted as is David, being both the king's son-in-law and commander of your bodyguard and honored in your house? Have I begun today to inquire of God for him? Far be it from me! Let not the king impute anything to his servant nor to anyone of my father's house, for your servant knew nothing at all about all this."

16 But the king said,

"You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and your entire house."

17 And the king said to the runners that were standing by him,

"Turn and slay the priests of the LORD, for their hand also was with David, and because they knew that he was a fugitive, but would not disclose it to me."

But the servants of the king would not put forth their hands to slay 18 the priests of the LORD. Then the king said to Doeg,

"Doeg turn about and fall upon the priests."

And Doeg the Edomite turned and fell upon the priests. And he 19 slew that day eighty-five men who bore the ephod. And Nob, the city of the priests, he put to the sword, both men and women, children and infants, ox and ass and sheep.

20 But one son of Ahimelech, the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped and fled after David. And Abiathar told David that Saul had 21 slain the priests of the LORD. And David said to Abiathar,

"I knew that day, because Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I myself am guilty of all the lives of your 22 father's house. Remain with me, fear not; for he that seeks my life seeks your life, for you shall be a charge to me."

23 Now when they told David, saying,

"Behold, the Philistines are fighting against Keilah, and are robbing the threshing-floors,"

2 David inquired of the LORD, saying,

"Shall I go and attack these Philistines?"

And the LORD said to David,

"Go and attack the Philistines, and save Keilah."

3 But David's men said to him,

"We are afraid here now in Judah; how much more if we go to Keilah against the forces of the Philistines."

4 Then David inquired yet again of the LORD. And the LORD answered him and said,

"Arise, go down to Keilah, for I am about to deliver the Philistines into your hand."

5 So David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines and drove off their cattle and caused them heavy loss of life.

6 Thus David relieved the inhabitants of Keilah. Now when Abiathar, the son of Ahimelech, fled to Keilah to David, he went down with an

7 ephod in his hand. And when it was told Saul that David had gone to Keilah, Saul said,

“God has sold him into my hand; for he has entrapped himself by going into a town that has double doors and bar.”

8 Accordingly Saul summoned all the people for war, to go down to 9 Keilah, and besiege David and his men. And when David learned that Saul was devising evil against him, he said to Abiathar the priest,

10 And David said,

“O LORD, God of Israel, thy servant has indeed heard that Saul is 11 seeking to come to Keilah, to destroy the city because of me. Will the citizens of Keilah deliver me into his hand? Will Saul come down, as thy servant has heard? O LORD, God of Israel, I beseech thee, tell thy servant.”

And the LORD said,

“He will come down.”

12 Then David said,

“Will the citizens of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul?”

And the LORD said,

“They will deliver you up.”

13 Then David and his men, who were about six hundred, arose and departed from Keilah, and they went on their wanderings as they were wont to go. And when it was told Saul that David had escaped 14 from Keilah, he gave up the campaign. So David dwelt in the desert in the strongholds, and in the hilly country in the Desert of Ziph. And Saul was always seeking him, but the LORD did not deliver him into his hand.

15 Now David was afraid because Saul had come out to seek his life; 16 and David was in the Desert of Ziph in Horesha. And Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and went to David in Horesha and strengthened his 17 hand in God. And he said to him,

“Fear not, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you, and you shall be king over Israel and I shall be next to you; and that too my father well knows.”

18 And they two made a covenant before the LORD; and David remained in Horesha, and Jonathan went to his home.

19 Then the Ziphites went up to Saul to Gibeah, saying,

“Is not David stealing from one hiding place to another among us in the strongholds in Horesha, in the hill of Hachilah, which is to 20 the south of the desert? Now therefore, O king, according to all your heart's desire, come down, and it shall be our part to deliver him into the hand of the king."

21 Then Saul said,

22 "Blessed may you be of the LORD, for you have had compassion on me. Go now, make yet more sure, and know and see the place where his haunt is and who has seen him there; for I am told that he 23 is very cunning. Therefore know and see and learn all the secret places where he is wont to conceal himself, and return to me with evidence, and I will go with you, and it shall be that if he be in the land, then I will search him out of all the thousands of Judah."

24 So they arose and went to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the Desert of Maon, in the Arabah to the south of the 25 Desolate Waste. And when Saul and his men went to seek him, they told David and he went down to the crag which is in the Desert of Maon. And when Saul heard he pursued after David to the Desert 26 of Maon. And Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain; and David was in desperate straits to escape from Saul, for Saul and his men were at the 27 point of surrounding David and his men, to seize them, when a messenger came to Saul, saying,

"Come quickly, for the Philistines have made a raid upon the land."

28 So Saul returned from pursuing after David and went to meet the Philistines; therefore they called that place the Crag of the Divisions. 29 And David went up from there, and dwelt in the strongholds of Engedi.

24 Now when Saul returned from following the Philistines, it was told him, saying,

2 "Behold, David is in the Desert of Engedi."

Then Saul took three thousand men chosen from all Israel and went to seek David and his men upon the Rocks of the Wild Goats.

3 And he came to the sheepfolds by the way, and there was a cave. And Saul went in to cover his feet, while David and his men were lodging in the inner recesses of the cave.

4 Then David's men said to him,

"Behold the day of which the LORD said to you, 'Truly I am about to give your enemy into your hand and you shall do to him as it shall seem good in your sight.'"

And David arose and secretly cut off the skirt of Saul's mantle.

5 But afterward David was conscience-smitten because he had cut off
6 the skirt of Saul's mantle. And he said to his men;

"The LORD forbid that I should do this thing to my lord, the LORD's Messiah, to put forth my hand against him, since he is the LORD's Messiah."

7 So David persuaded his men with these words, and did not permit them to rise up against Saul.

8 But when Saul arose from the cave and went on his way, David also arose after him and went from the cave and called after Saul, saying,

"My lord the king!"

And when Saul looked behind him, David bowed his face to the 9 earth, and did obeisance. And David said to Saul,

"Why did you listen to the words of the men who said, 'See, David 10 seeks your hurt?' Behold, this day your eyes see that the LORD gave you into my hand in the cave, but I refused to kill you and had pity on you, and I said, 'I will not put forth my hand against my lord, 11 for he is the LORD's Messiah.' Moreover, my father, see indeed the skirt of your mantle in my hand, in that I cut off the skirt of your mantle and did not kill you, know and see that there is neither wrong nor crime in my hands, and I have not sinned against you, though you 12 are lying in wait to take my life. The LORD judge between me and you, and the LORD avenge me of you; but my hand shall not be upon 13 you. As runs the old saying, 'Out of the wicked comes wickedness.' 14 But my hand shall not be against you. After whom has the king of Israel come forth? After whom are you pursuing? After a dead 15 dog? After a single flea? The LORD therefore be judge and execute justice between me and you and see and plead my cause and acquit me from your hand."

16 Now as David finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, "Is this your voice, my son David?"

17 Then Saul lifted up his voice and wept. And he said to David, "You are more righteous than I, for you have shown me kindness, 18 while I have shown you evil. And you have shown exceptional kindness in what you have done to me, in that today, when the LORD had 19 shut me up in your hand, you did not kill me. For when a man finds his enemy, does he send him away safely? Therefore may the LORD reward you richly in return for what you have done to me this day. 20 And now indeed I know that you shall surely be king, and that by 21 your hand the kingdom of Israel shall be established. Wherefore now swear to me by the LORD, that you will not cut off my descendants after me and that you will not destroy my name from my father's house."

22 So David swore to Saul. And Saul went home; and David and his men went up to the stronghold.

DAVID'S RAID UPON NABAL, 25:1-43

25 Now Samuel had died and all Israel gathered themselves together and lamented for him and buried him in his own house in Ramah.

2 Then David arose and went down to the Desert of Maon. And there was a man in Maon, whose business was in Carmel. And the man was very prosperous, and he had three thousand sheep and a thousand
3 goats, and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel. Now the man's name was Nabal; and the name of his wife was Abigail; and the woman had good sense and was fair to look upon, but the man was rough and uncouth; and he was a Calebite.

4 David also heard in the desert that Nabal was shearing his sheep.
5 And David sent ten young men, and David said to the young men,

6 "Go up to Carmel and visit Nabal and greet him in my name; and you shall say thus to my brother, 'Peace be to you and your house and 7 all that you have. And now I have heard that you have shearers. Now your shepherds were with us, and we did not insult them, and nothing
8 of theirs was missing all the time they were in Carmel. Ask your young men and let them tell you. Therefore let the young men find favor in your eyes, for we have come on a propitious day. Give, therefore, whatever you have at hand to your servants and to your son David.'"

9 And when David's young men came, they spoke to Nabal according to all these words in the name of David, then they waited.

10 But Nabal answered David's servants, and said,

"Who is David? And who is the son of Jesse? There are many slaves today who connivingly break away, each from his master!
11 Should I then take my bread and my water and my meat that I have slaughtered for my shearers, and give it to men of whom I know not whence they are?"

12 So David's young men retraced their steps, and returned and came 13 and reported to him according to all these words. And David said to his men,

"Let every man gird on his sword."

And they girded on each man his sword. And David also girded on his sword; and there went up after David about four hundred men; and two hundred remained with the baggage.

14 But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying,
"David has just sent messengers from the desert to salute our master, and he railed at them. But the men have been very kind to us and we have not been insulted nor have we missed anything, as long 15 as we were associated with them, while we were in the field. They 16 were a wall about us both by night and by day, all the while we were 17 with them keeping the sheep. Now therefore know and consider what you will do, for evil is determined against our master and against all his house, for he is such a base rascal that no one can speak to him."

18 Then Abigail hastened and took two hundred loaves of bread and two skins of wine and five dressed sheep and five measures of parched grain and a hundred bunches of raisins and two hundred 19 cakes of figs, and loaded them on asses. And she said to her young men,

"Go on before me; see, I am coming after you."

20 But she did not tell Nabal, her husband. And as she was riding on the ass and coming down through a defile of the mountain, David and his men were also coming down in her direction, so that she met them.
21 Now David had said,

"Surely in vain have I guarded all that this fellow has in the desert, so that nothing was missing of all that belongs to him, and he has returned me evil for good. God do so to David and more also, if I leave of all that pertain to him until tomorrow as much as a single male person."

23 Therefore when Abigail saw David, she hastened and dismounted from her ass and fell on her face before David and bowed herself to 24 the ground. And she fell at his feet, and said,

"Upon me, my lord, even me, be the blame. Only, I pray you, let your maidservant speak in your ears, and give heed to the words of 25 your maidservant. Let not my lord, I pray you, take seriously this worthless individual, Nabal, for as his name is, so is he; 'Fool' is his name, and folly his boon companion; but as for myself your maidservant, I did not see the young men of my lord, whom you sent.
26 Now therefore, O sir, as the LORD lives and as you live, since the LORD has restrained you from shedding blood and from delivering yourself by your own hand—and now may your enemies and those 27 who seek to harm my lord be as Nabal—let now this gift, which your humble servant has brought to my lord, be given to the young men

28 who accompany my lord. Forgive, I pray, the transgression of your maidservant, for the LORD will surely make for my lord a secure house, for my lord is fighting the wars of the LORD, and evil shall not 29 be found in you all your days. And should man rise up to pursue you and to seek your life, the life of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of the living along with the LORD your God, but he will sling out the 30 life of your enemies as from the hollow of a sling. And when the LORD shall do to my lord according to all the good which he spoke 31 concerning you and shall appoint you prince over Israel, then this shall not be a qualm of conscience or a burden of remorse to my lord, that you have shed blood without cause or that my lord has delivered himself by his own hand. And when the LORD shall prosper my lord, then remember your maidservant.”

32 And David said to Abigail,

“Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to 33 meet me, and blessed be your discernment, and blessed be you yourself, who have restrained me this day from bloodshed and from delivering myself by my own hand. For in very deed as the LORD, the God
34 of Israel, lives, who has restrained me from doing you harm, except you had made haste and come to meet me, surely there would not have been left to Nabal by the morning light so much as one male person.”

35 So David received from her hand that which she had brought him; and he said to her,

“Go up to your house in peace. See, I have listened to your plea, and shown you favor.”

36 But when Abigail came to Nabal, he was just holding a drinking bout in his house, like the drinking bout of a king. And Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunk, so that she could not tell him anything at all until the morning light. But in the morning, when the effects of the wine upon Nabal were passing off, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him and he became 38 like a stone. And about ten days later the LORD inflicted a stroke upon Nabal, so that he died.

39 Accordingly when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said,

“Blessed be the LORD, who has vindicated my charge of reproach at the hand of Nabal and has kept back his servant from evil; and the LORD has returned the evil-doing of Nabal upon his own head.”

Then David sent and made his proposal to Abigail to take her to 40 him to be his wife. And when the servants of David came to Abigail at Carmel and said to her,

- “David has sent us to you to take you to him to be his wife,” 41 she arose and bowed her face to the earth and said,
“Behold your female slave, a maidservant to wash the feet of my lord’s servants.”
42 Then Abigail hastily arose and mounted an ass, and five of her maidens followed in her train. So she went after the messengers of David and became his wife.
43 David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel and they both became his wives. Now Saul had given Michal his daughter, David’s wife, to Paltai, the son of Laish of Gallim.

DAVID SPARES SAUL’S LIFE, 26:1-25

- 26 Now the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying,
“Is not David in hiding in the hill of Hachilah, which is east of the Desolate Waste?”
2 Accordingly Saul arose and went down to the Desert of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, to seek David in 3 the Desert of Ziph. And Saul encamped in the hill of Hachilah, which is east of the Desolate Waste, by the way. But David was 4 tarrying in the desert. And when he saw that Saul had come to the 5 desert in pursuit of him, David sent out spies, and when he learned
6 that Saul was coming straight on, David arose and came to the place where Saul was encamped. And David saw the place where lay Saul and Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army; and Saul lay within the barricade, and the people were encamped round about him.
7 Then David spoke up and said to Ahimelech the Hittite and to Abishai, the son of Zeruah, Joab’s brother, saying,
“Who will go down with me to Saul to the camp?”
And Abishai said,
“I will go down with you.”
8 So David and Abishai came to the people by night; and there was Saul lying asleep within the barricade, with his spear thrust into the earth at his head; and Abner and the people were lying round about 9 him. And Abishai said to David,
“God has today delivered up your enemy into your hand. Now therefore, I pray you, let me pin him to the earth with but one thrust of his own spear, and I shall have no occasion to repeat the blow, so far as he is concerned.”
9 But David said to Abishai,

“Destroy him not; for who can lay his hand upon the LORD’s Messiah and be innocent?”

¹⁰ And David said,

“As the LORD lives, either the LORD shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall go down into the battle and perish. The LORD forbid that I should put forth my hand against the LORD’s Messiah; but take now, I pray you, the spear that is at his head and the jug of water and let us go.”

So David took the spear and the jug of water from Saul’s head and they withdrew. And no one saw it or knew it neither did any awake, for they were all asleep because a deep sleep from the LORD had fallen upon them.

¹³ Thereupon David went over to the other side and stood on the top of a mountain at a safe distance, a great space being between them.

¹⁴ And David called to the people and to Abner, the son of Ner, saying, “Will you not answer, Abner?”

Then Abner answered and said,

“Who are you that calls?”

¹⁵ And David said to Abner,

“Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? Why then have you not guarded your lord the king? For one of the people came to destroy the king your lord. This thing that you have done is not good. As the LORD lives, you are worthy of death, because you did not keep watch over your master, the LORD’s Messiah. And now see where the king’s spear is and the jug of water that was at his head.”

¹⁷ Then Saul recognized David’s voice and said,

“Is that your voice, my son David?”

And David said,

“It is my voice, my lord, O king.”

¹⁸ And he said,

“Wherefore is my lord pursuing after his servant? For what have I done? Or of what evil am I guilty? Now therefore, I pray, let my lord the king listen to the words of his servant. If the LORD has stirred you up against me, let him be appeased by an offering; but if they be the sons of men, cursed be they before the LORD, for they have driven me out today, so that I have no share in the inheritance of the LORD, saying, ‘Go serve other gods.’ Now therefore, may my blood not fall to the earth far removed from the presence of the LORD, for the king of Israel has come forth to seek my life, as one hunts a partridge in the mountains.”

- 21 And Saul said,
"I have sinned; return, my son David, for I will do you no more harm, because my life was held sacred by you this day. I have acted 22 foolishly indeed and have erred exceedingly."
And David answered and said,
"Here is the king's spear! Now let one of the young men come 23 over and get it. And the LORD will recompense every man's righteousness and fidelity; for the LORD delivered you into my hand today, but 24 I refused to stretch forth my hand against the LORD's Messiah. And just as your life was highly valued in my sight today, so may my life be highly valued in the sight of the LORD, and may he deliver me out of every distress."
25 Then Saul said to David,
"Blessed are you my son David; you will certainly succeed in whatever you undertake."
So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

DAVID'S RESIDENCE AMONG THE PHILISTINES, 27:1—28:2

- 27 Thereupon David said to himself,
"I shall be captured some day by the hand of Saul. There is nothing better for me than that I should make good my escape to the land of the Philistines; then Saul will despair of seeking me further in all the territory of Israel, and I shall escape from his hand."
2 So David arose and went over, accompanied by the six hundred men
3 who were with him, to Achish, the son of Maach, king of Gath. And David with his men remained with Achish at Gath, each with his household, David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess and 4 Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal's widow. And when it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath, he gave up entirely his search for him.
5 And David said to Achish,
"If now I have found favor in your sight, let a place be given me in one of the country towns, that I may dwell there; for why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?"
6 Then Achish gave him Ziklag at that time; therefore Ziklag has 7 belonged to the kings of Judah to this day. And the length of time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines was a year and four 8 months. And David and his men went up and made raids upon the Geshurites, the Girzites, and the Amalekites; for these tribes dwell in the land which extends from Telem as one goes to Shur, and even to 9 the land of Egypt. And whenever David attacked the land, he would not leave alive either man or woman, but he would take the sheep and cattle, the asses and camels, and clothing; and when he returned and 10 came to Achish, and Achish said,

“Against whom have you made a raid today?”

Then David would say,

“Against the Negeb of Judah, or against the Negeb of the Jerahmeelites, or against the Negeb of the Kenites.”

11 But David would never leave alive man or woman, to bring them to Gath, saying,

“Lest they should report concerning us and say, ‘Thus David has done.’”

And such was his custom as long as he remained in the country of 12 the Philistines. And Achish believed in David, saying,

“He has surely made himself abhorrent to his people Israel; therefore he shall be my servant forever.”

28 Now in those days the Philistines assembled their armed camps in order to make war upon Israel. And Achish said to David,

“Know for a certainty that you shall go forth with me into the camp, you and your men.”

And David said to Achish,

“Therefore you shall now know what your servant is capable of.”

2 And Achish said to David,

“Therefore I make you my body-guard from this time forth.”

SAUL AND THE WITCH OF ENDOR, 28:3-25

3 Now Samuel had died and all Israel had lamented for him and buried him in Ramah, his own city. And Saul had put the mediums
 4 and the wizards out of the land. And when the Philistines gathered together and came and encamped in Shunem, then Saul assembled all
 5 Israel, and encamped in Gilboa. And when Saul saw the camp of the Philistines, he was afraid and his mind was filled with misgivings.
 6 Consequently Saul inquired of the LORD, but the LORD did not answer
 7 him either by dreams or by Urim or by prophets. Then Saul said to his servants,

“Seek me a woman who has a divining talisman that I may go to her and inquire of her.”

And his servants said to him,

“Behold there is a woman at Endor who has a divining talisman.”

8 Then Saul disguised himself by putting on other garments and went, accompanied by two men, and they came to the woman by night.

And he said,

"Divine now for me by the talisman and bring up for me the one whom I shall say to you."

9 And the woman said to him,

"Surely you know what Saul has done, how he has cut off the mediums and the wizards from the land. Why then are you laying a snare for my life, to bring about my death?"

10 Then Saul swore to her by the LORD, saying,

"As the LORD lives, no guilt shall come upon you from this matter."

So the woman said,

"Whom shall I bring up to you?"

And he said,

"Bring me up Samuel."

12 And when the woman saw Samuel, she gave a great shriek. And the woman said to Saul, as follows,

"Why have you deceived me, for you are Saul?"

13 And the king said to her,

"Do not be alarmed. What have you seen?"

And the woman said to Saul,

"I have seen a divine being coming up out of the earth."

14 And he said to her,

"What was his appearance?"

And she said,

"An old man, he is coming up, and he is wrapped in a mantle."

Then Saul knew that it was Samuel, and he bowed with his face to the earth and did obeisance.

15 Moreover Samuel said to Saul,

"Why have you disturbed me by bringing me up?"

And Saul said,

"I am in great distress, for the Philistines are waging war against me, and God has turned from me and answers me no more, either by prophets or by dreams; therefore I have called you to tell me what I should do."

16 And Samuel said,

17 "And why do you ask me when the LORD has turned from you and become your adversary? The LORD has done to you as he spoke by me; for the LORD has wrenched the kingdom from your hand, and given it to your neighbor—to David. Because you did not listen to the voice of the LORD, and did not execute the fierceness of his wrath against Amalek, therefore the LORD has done this thing to you today. Moreover the LORD will also give Israel with you into the hand of the Philistines; and tomorrow you and your sons with you shall fall; ¹⁹ the LORD will also deliver the camp of Israel into the hand of the Philistines."

²⁰ Immediately Saul fell at full length upon the earth and was exceedingly fearful because of the words of Samuel; besides he had no strength in him, for he had not eaten food during a whole day and ²¹ that whole night. And when the woman came to Saul and saw that he was panic-stricken, she said to him,

"You see, your maidservant has heeded your voice, and I have taken my life in my hand and have listened to your words which you ²² spoke to me. Now therefore, listen, I beg of you, even you yourself to the voice of your maidservant; and let me set before you a bit of food, that you may have strength when you go on your way."

²³ But he refused and said,

"I cannot eat."

However, his servants together with the woman proceeded to urge him, until he yielded to their entreaty. So he arose from the earth and ²⁴ sat upon a couch. And the woman had a fatted calf in the house; and she speedily slew it, and took flour and kneaded it and baked from it ²⁵ unleavened cakes. And she set it before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they arose and went away that night.

SAUL'S LAST BATTLE, 29:1—31:13

²⁹ Now the Philistines had assembled all their forces at Aphek; and the Israelites were encamped by the fountain which is in Jezreel. ² And the princes of the Philistines were pressing forward (with their forces) by companies and by regiments; and David and his men were ³ bringing up the rear with Achish. Then the commanders of the Philistines said,

"What are these Hebrews?"

And Achish said to the commanders of the Philistines,

"Is not this David, the servant of Saul king of Israel, who has been with me two years? and I have found no fault in him from the day of his desertion to me until now."

⁴ But the commanders of the Philistines were enraged against him, and the commanders of the Philistines said to him,

"Send the man back that he may return to the place where you have assigned him residence; and he shall not go down with us to battle, that he may not be an adversary to us in the fray, for with what could this fellow reconcile himself to his lord? Might it not be with the 5 heads of these men? Is not this David of whom they sang in the dances, saying,

‘Saul has slain his thousands,
But David his ten thousands?’ ”

6 Then Achish called to David and said to him,

“As the LORD lives, you are reliable, and your going out and coming in with me in the camp is pleasing in my sight; for I have found no evil in you from the day that you came to me until this day, but you 7 are not acceptable in the eyes of the princes. Now therefore return and go away quietly, that you may do nothing offensive in the sight of the princes of the Philistines.”

8 And David said to Achish,

“But what have I done? and what have you found in your servant from the day that I came into your presence to this day, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?”

9 And Achish answered and said to David,

“I acknowledge that you are as acceptable in my sight as a messenger of God, nevertheless the commanders of the Philistines have said, 10 ‘He shall not go up with us to the battle.’ Now therefore rise early in the morning together with the servants of your master who came with you, and go to the place where I have assigned you residence, and allow no base thought to enter your mind, for you are upright in my sight, but rise early in the morning, and as soon as you can see depart.”

11 So David rose up early, together with his men, to go in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

30 Now when David and his men arrived at Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had made a raid on the Negeb and upon Ziklag, and 2 had overcome Ziklag and burned it with fire, and they took captive the women and all who were in it, from the least to the greatest, but 3 without slaying any, and carried them off and went their way. And when David and his men came to the city, there were only the burnt ruins, for their wives and their sons and their daughters were carried 4 off. Then David and the people who were with him raised a cry and 5 wept until they were without strength even to weep. And David’s two wives were taken captive, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail, the widow of Nabal the Carmelite.

6 Moreover David was in a serious predicament, for the people threatened to stone him, for the spirit of all the people was embittered, each for his sons and for his daughters; but David strengthened himself in the LORD his God. And David said to Abiathar the priest, the son of Ahimelech,

“Now bring to me the ephod.”

8 And Abiathar brought the ephod to David. And David inquired of the LORD, saying, “Shall I pursue after this band?

Shall I overtake them?”

And he said to him,

“Pursue, for you shall assuredly overtake,

And as certainly rescue.”

9 So David set out, together with the six hundred men who were with him, and they came to the Brook Besor, and the ones left behind remained. But David together with four hundred men kept up the pursuit; while two hundred men remained behind, who were too faint to cross the Brook Besor. And they found an Egyptian in a field and they brought him to David, and gave him food and he ate, and provided him with water to drink; and what they gave him was a piece of a cake of figs, and two clusters of raisins. And when he had eaten, his spirit was quickened within him, for he had not tasted food nor drunk water for three days and three nights. And David said to him, 13 “To whom do you belong? And whence are you?”

And he said,

“I am an Egyptian youth, a slave of an Amalekite, and my master forsook me when I fell sick three days ago. We had been making a raid upon the Negeb of the Cherethites and upon that which belongs to Judah and upon the Negeb of Caleb, and had burned Ziklag with fire.”

And David said to him,

“Will you bring me down to this band?”

And he said,

“Swear to me by God that you will neither kill me nor deliver me over to my master, and I will bring you down to this band.”

16 So when he had brought him down, they were there scattered over the face of the whole landscape, eating and drinking and dancing, because of all the vast booty which they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. And David slaughtered them from dawn until evening in order to exterminate them. And not a man escaped except four hundred young men who rode upon camels

18 and fled. And David rescued all whom the Amalekites had taken; 19 and of course David rescued his two wives. And nothing belonging to them was missing, whether much or little, sons or daughters, booty or anything that they had taken for themselves—David recovered every-20 thing. And they took all the sheep and cattle and drove them before him and said,

“This is David’s spoil.”

21 And when David came to the two hundred men who had been too faint to follow David, so that he had halted them at the Brook Besor, they went out to meet David and the people who were with him, and 22 when they drew near to the people, they saluted them. Then every base and worthless rascal among the men who went with David spoke up and said,

“Because they did not go with us, we will not give them any share of the spoil which we have recovered, except to each his wife and his children, that he may take them away and be gone.”

23 But David said,

“Do not do so after what the LORD has given us and the way in 24 which he has kept us and delivered the band that came against us into our hand. And who will listen to you in this matter? For:

As is the share of him who goes down into the battle,
Even so is his portion who remains with the baggage.
They shall share and share alike.”

25 And from that day forward he made it a statute and a law in Israel to this day.

26 Now when David came to Ziklag, he sent some of the spoil to the elders of Judah, his friends, saying, “Here is a gift for you from the 27 booty of the enemies of the LORD:” to those who were in Bethel, to 28 those who were in Ramoth of the Negeb, and to those in Jattir, to 29 those who were in Aroer, in Siphmoth and in Eshtemoa, to those who were in Carmel, and in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and in the 30 cities of the Kenites, to those who were in Hormah, and in Beersheba, 31 and in Athach, and to those who were in Hebron, and to all the places which David and his men had frequented.

31 Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines, and the wounded fell on Mount Gilboa.
2 And the Philistines overtook Saul and his sons; and the Philistines 3 slew Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. And the battle raged about Saul, and the archers found their mark, and he

4 was grievously wounded in the abdomen. Then Saul said to his armor-bearer,

“Draw your sword and run me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and run me through and make sport of me.”

5 But his armorbearer would not, for he was terrified. Therefore Saul took his sword and fell upon it. And when his armorbearer saw that Saul was dead, then he also fell upon his sword and died with 6 him. Thus Saul and his three sons and his armorbearer and all his men died together on the same day.

7 Likewise when the men of Israel who were across the valley and beyond the Jordan saw that the Israelites had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled, and the Philis- 8 tines came and occupied them. Then on the morrow when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his three sons 9 fallen on Mount Gilboa. And they cut off his head and stripped off his armor and dispatched them throughout the land of the Philistines 10 to bring good tidings to their idols and to the people. They also put his armor in the temple of Ashtarte, and they impaled his body on the 11 wall of Beth-shan. Now when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead 12 heard of it, namely, what the Philistines had done to Saul, all the valiant men arose and marched all night and took the bodies of Saul and his sons from the wall of Beth-shan; and they came to Jabesh and 13 burnt them there. And they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree at Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.

THE SECOND BOOK OF SAMUEL

DAVID AVENGES THE DEATH OF SAUL, 1:1-16

- 1 Now after Saul's death, when David had returned from overcoming the Amalekites, David remained two days in Ziklag. Then on the third day, behold, a man came from the camp from Saul, with his garments rent and with earth upon his head. And when he came to David, he fell to the earth and did obeisance. And David said to him,
- "From whence do you come?"
- And he said to him,
- "From the camp of Israel I have escaped."
- 4 And David said to him,
- "What is the situation? I pray you tell me."
- And he said,
- "The people fled from the battle, and many of the people have fallen, and also Saul and Jonathan his son are dead."
- 5 Then David said to the young man who told him,
- "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son are dead?"
- 6 And the young man who told him said,
- "By chance I happened to be on Mount Gilboa, and right there was Saul leaning upon his spear, and at the same time the chariotry and the leaders of the horsemen were sweeping toward him. And when he looked behind him, he saw me and called to me. And I said, 'Here I am.' And he said to me, 'Who are you?' And I said to him, 'I am an Amalekite.' And he said to me, 'Stand, I pray you, beside me and despatch me, for confusion has seized me, because my life is yet in me.' So I stood beside him and despatched him, because I was convinced that he could not live after he had fallen; and I took the crown that was upon his head, and the armband that was on his arm, and I have brought them hither to my lord."
- 11 Then David grasped his garments and tore them; as did likewise all the men who were with him. And they mourned and lamented and fasted until evening over Saul and over Jonathan his son and over the people of the LORD and over the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.
- 13 And David said to the young man who had reported to him,
- "Whence are you?"

- And he said,
 "I am the son of an Amalekite sojourner."
 14 And David said to him,
 "How were you not afraid to stretch forth your hand to destroy the LORD's Anointed?"
 16 And David said to him,
 "Your blood be upon your head, for your own mouth has testified against you, by saying, 'I have slain the LORD's Anointed.'"' 15 Then David called to one of the young men, and said,
 "Here! Cut him down."
 And he dealt him a death blow, and he was dead.

DAVID'S DIRGE OVER SAUL AND JONATHAN, 1:17-27

- 17 Then David sang this dirge over Saul and Jonathan his son; (behold it is written in the Book of the Upright to instruct the Judeans).
 And he said,
 19 "Thy beauty, O Israel!
 Upon thy heights is slain.
 How have the heroes fallen!
 20 "Tell it not in Gath,
 Announce it not in the streets of Askelon;
 Lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice,
 Lest the daughters of the uncircumcised exult.
 21 "O mountains of Gilboa, let neither dew fall,
 Nor rain be upon you, O fields of death!
 For there was the shield of the mighty thrown aside,
 The shield of Saul, not anointed with oil.
 22 "From the blood of the slain,
 From the fat of the mighty,
 The bow of Jonathan turned not back,
 Nor empty returned the sword of Saul.
 23 "Saul and Jonathan, beloved and lovely!
 In life and death they were not divided,
 Swifter than eagles were they,
 They were stronger than lions.

- 24 "O daughters of Israel, weep over Saul,
Who clothed you in scarlet daintily,
Who adorned your garments with gold and jewels;
25 How are the mighty fallen in the midst of battle!
- "O Jonathan! by your death am I mortally wounded,
26 I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan!
You were exceedingly dear to me,
Your love was more marvellous to me than the love of women!
- 27 "How have the mighty fallen,
And the weapons of war perished!"

WARS BETWEEN DAVID AND THE FORCES OF SAUL, 2:1—3:39

- 2 Now thereafter David inquired of the LORD, saying,
"Shall I go up to one of the cities of Judah?" And the LORD said to him,
"Go up."
And when David said,
"Whither shall I go up?"
He said,
"To Hebron."
- 2 So David went up there with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreel-3 itess, and Abigail, the widow of Nabal the Carmelite. And David brought up the men who were with him, each with his household, and 4 they dwelt in the towns of Hebron. And the men of Judah came and there anointed David king over the house of Judah.
- And when they told David, saying that the men of Jabesh-gilead 5 had buried Saul, David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead, and said to them,
"Blessed are you of the LORD, because you have shown this kindness 6 to your lord, even to Saul, and have buried him. And now may the LORD show kindness and truth to you; and I also will do well by you, 7 because you have done this thing. Now therefore let your hands be strong and be valiant; for Saul your lord is dead, and also the house of Judah has anointed me king over them."
- 8 Now Abner, the son of Ner, commander of Saul's army, had taken 9 Ishbaal, the son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim. And he made him king over Gilead and the Ashurites and Jezreel and Ephra-10 im and Benjamin and all Israel. Ishbaal, Saul's son, was forty years old when he became king over Israel, and he reigned two years. But 11 the house of Judah followed David. And the length of time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah, was seven years and six months.

12 Now Abner, the son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbaal, the son of 13 Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon. And Joab, the son of Zeruah, and the servants of David went out from Hebron and met them at the pool of Gibeon. And they sat down, the one on the one 14 side of the pool and the other on the other side of the pool. Then Abner said to Joab,

“I pray you, let the young men arise and make sport before us.”

And Joab said,

15 “Let them arise.”

Then they arose and were numbered off: twelve for Benjamin, and Ishbaal the son of Saul, and twelve for the servants of David.
16 And they seized each his adversary by the head and his sword trans- fixed his side, so they fell down together. And they called that place
17 the Portion of Ground of the Sides which is in Gibeon. And the bat- tle was very bitterly fought that day, and Abner and the men of Israel were put to rout before the servants of David.

18 And there were three sons of Zeruah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel; and Asahel was as swift of foot as one of the gazelles which 19 are in the field. And Asahel pursued Abner; and he turned not in his 20 course to the right or to the left from his pursuit of Abner. Then Abner turned about and said,

“Is that you, Asahel?”

And he said,

“It is I.”

21 Therefore Abner said to him,

22 But Asahel would not turn from pursuing him. Therefore Abner said again to Asahel, “Turn aside from following me. Why should I fell you to the earth? How then could I look your brother Joab in the face?”

23 But he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner struck him with a backward thrust of the spear in the abdomen, so that the spear came out at his back, and he fell there and died in his tracks. And all who came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died, stood still.

24 Then Joab and Abishai took up the pursuit of Abner. And as the sun was setting, they came to the hill of Ammah, which is before

25 Giah on the way to the Desert of Gibeon. And the Benjaminites rallied their forces around Abner and formed into line, and halted on a 26 hilltop. Then Abner called to Joab and said,

“Shall the sword devour forever? Do you not know that it will be bitter in the end? How long then before you are going to say to the people to give up the pursuit of their brothers?”

27 Then Joab said,

“As the LORD lives, unless you had spoken, then only after the morning would the people have given up, each from pursuing his 28 brother. So Joab blew the trumpet and all the people halted and pursued Israel no more, nor was there any more fighting. And Abner 29 and his men marched all that night through the Arabah and crossed the Jordan and traversed the whole Bithron and arrived at Mahanaim.

30 So Joab returned from pursuing Abner. And when he had assembled all the people, nineteen of David’s servants were missing, besides Asahel; while the servants of David had slain from Benjamin 31 and among Abner’s men three hundred and sixty. And they took up Asahel and buried him in his father’s grave, which was in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men marched all night, and the light broke upon them at Hebron.

3 Moreover the war between the house of Saul and the house of David grew more strenuous; and David kept growing stronger, while the house of Saul became gradually weaker.

2 Also sons were born to David in Hebron; his first-born was Amnon, the son of Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; and his second, Chileab, the son of Abigail, the widow of Nabal the Carmelite; and the third, Absalom, the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmi, king of Geshur;
4 and the fourth, Adonijah, the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephetaiah, the son of Abital; and the sixth, Ithream, belonged to Eglah, David’s wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

6 Now, while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner was strengthening himself in the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had a consort, whose name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ishbaal, the son of Saul, said to Abner,

“Why do you go in unto my father’s consort?”

8 Then Abner was very angry at the words of Ishbaal and said,

“Am I a dog’s head, that today I am showing kindness to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers, and to his friends, and have not delivered you into the hand of David, that you now charge me with 9 guilt in relation to a woman. God do so to Abner and more also if,

¹⁰ as the LORD has sworn to David, I do not even so to him, by transferring the kingdom from the house of Saul and by establishing the throne of David over Israel and over Judah from Dan to Beersheba.”

¹¹ And he could not answer Abner a single word, because of his fear of him.

¹² And Abner sent messengers to David to Hebron, saying,
“Make your covenant with me, then my hand shall be with you to bring all Israel to you.”

¹³ And he said,
“It is well; I will make a covenant with you, but one thing I demand of you, namely, you shall not see my face unless you bring Michal, Saul’s daughter, when you come to see me.”

¹⁴ Then David sent messengers to Ishbaal, Saul’s son, saying,
“Give me my wife Michal, whom I acquired for a hundred fore-skins of the Philistines.”

¹⁵ And Ishbaal sent and took her from her husband, Paltiel, the son of ¹⁶ Laish. But her husband accompanied her, weeping as he followed her as far as Bahurim. Then Abner said to him, “Go, return.”

And he obeyed.

¹⁷ Now Abner had communicated with the elders of Israel, saying, “Already some considerable time ago you were seeking to have ¹⁸ David king over you. Now then do it, for the LORD has said of David, ‘By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and from the power of all their enemies.’”

¹⁹ And Abner also spoke in the ears of Benjamin, and Abner went also to speak to David personally in Hebron all that seemed good in the eyes of Israel and in the sight of the whole house of Benjamin.

²⁰ So when Abner came to David at Hebron, accompanied by twenty men, David made Abner and the men who were with him a feast.

²¹ And Abner said to David,

“I will arise and assemble all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you and that you may be king over all as you personally desire.”

Then David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

²² And immediately the servants of David and Joab arrived from a raid, and they brought a large amount of plunder with them; but Abner was not with David in Hebron, because David had sent him

- 23 away, and he had gone in peace. But when Joab and all the force that was with him came in, they told Joab, saying, “Abner, the son of Ner, has been with the king, but he has sent him away, and he has gone in peace.”
- 24 Then Joab went to the king and said,
“What have you done? I understand that Abner has been to see 25 you; why have you now sent him away, so that he is gone? Do you not know Abner, the son of Ner, that he has come to deceive you and to learn of your going out and your coming in and to know all that you are doing?”
- 26 And when Joab came out from David’s presence, he sent messengers after Abner and they brought him back from the Well of Sirah 27 without David’s knowledge. And when Abner returned to Hebron, Joab beckoned him to the side of the gate to speak with him privately and stabbed him there in the abdomen. So he died for the blood of Asahel Joab’s brother.
- 28 Now when David heard of it, he said, -
“I and my kingdom are forever innocent before the LORD of the 29 blood of Abner, the son of Ner. May it fall tempestuously upon the head of Joab and upon all his father’s house, and may there not be lacking from the house of Joab one who has an issue, or who is leprous, or who holds the distaff, or who falls by the sword, or who lacks bread.”
- 30 But Joab and Abishai his brother slew Abner because he had killed Asahel their brother in the battle at Gibeon.
- 31 And David said to Joab, and to all the people who were with him, “Rend your garments and gird on sackcloth, and lament before Abner!”
- 32 And King David followed the bier. And when they buried Abner in Hebron, the king raised a loud wailing at the grave of Abner, and 33 all the people wept. And David chanted a dirge for Abner and said, “Should Abner die as dies the wanton fool?”
- 34 Your hands were not bound,
Nor your feet cramped in fetters;
As one falls before bandits, you have fallen.”
- 35 Then all the people wept afresh for him. Afterwards all the people came to persuade David to eat food while it was yet day; but David swore, saying,
“May God do so to me and more also, if I taste bread or aught else before the sun sets.”

36 And when all the people took notice, it was pleasing in their eyes; for everything which the king did was pleasing in the sight of all the 37 people. So all the people and all Israel perceived that day that it was 38 not the intention of David to slay Abner, the son of Ner. And the king said to his servants,

“Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day
39 in Israel? And I am today weak, though anointed king; for these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too difficult for me. May the LORD requite the evil-doer according to his guilt!”

THE END OF SAUL'S HOUSE, 4:1-12

4 Accordingly when Ishbaal, Saul's son, heard that Abner was dead
2 in Hebron, his hands became listless and all Israel was dismayed. And Ishbaal, Saul's son, had two men who were captains of guerilla bands: the name of one was Baanah, and the name of the other was Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the Benjaminites (for Beeroth is 3 also reckoned to Benjamin, and the Beerothites fled to Gittaim and have been sojourners there until this day).

4 Also Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son who was crippled in his feet. He was five years old when the news of Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel. And his nurse took him up and fled, and as she fled in 5 haste, he fell and was made lame. And his name was Meribaal. And the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went forth and came to the house of Ishbaal about the heat of the day as he was 6 taking his mid-day siesta. And at that particular time the doorkeeper of the house was cleaning wheat, but she had become drowsy and 7 slept. So Rechab and Baanah his brother slipped through and thus entered the house, as he was lying on his couch in his sleeping room, and they struck him and killed him and cut off his head.

And they took his head and went all night by the way of the Arabah,
8 and they brought the head of Ishbaal to David at Hebron and said to the king,

“Here is the head of Ishbaal, the son of Saul your enemy, who sought your life. But the LORD has granted vengeance to my lord the king this day on Saul and his descendants.”

9 Then David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them,

“As the LORD lives, who has delivered my life out of every dis-
10 tress, when one told me, saying, ‘Behold, Saul is dead,’ considering himself a messenger of good tidings, I seized him and killed him

- ¹¹ in Ziklag, to give him a reward for his tidings. How much more, when wicked men have slain a righteous man in his own house upon his bed, shall I not hold you responsible for his blood, and destroy you from the earth?"
- ¹² Then David gave a command to his young men and they slew them and cut off their hands and their feet and hanged them up beside the pool in Hebron. But the head of Ishbaal they took and buried in the grave of Abner in Hebron.

DAVID, KING OF ISRAEL, 5:1-16

- ⁵ Then all the tribes of Israel came to David to Hebron and said as follows,
- ² "Behold, we are your bone and your flesh. Also formerly when Saul was king over us, it was you who led out and brought in Israel, and the LORD said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel, and you shall be a leader over Israel.'"
- ³ So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron, and King David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel.
- ⁴ David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned
- ⁵ forty years. In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.
- ⁶ And the king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who spoke to David, saying, "You shall not come in here, but the blind and the lame shall prevent you," thinking David could not enter there.
- ⁷ Nevertheless David took the citadel of Zion (that is the city of
- ⁸ David). And David said on that day,
- "He who would smite the Jebusites, let him gain the water shaft, and all will be as the lame and blind who hate David's life."
- Therefore it is said,
- "The blind and the lame cannot come into the house."
- ⁹ And David dwelt in the citadel, and called it the City of David. And David built an encircling wall from the Millo and inwards.
- ¹⁰ Thus David kept on increasing in power, for the LORD of hosts
- ¹¹ was with him. And Hiram, king of Tyre, sent messengers to David, also cedar trees and carpenters and stone-cutters and they built David
- ¹² a house. And David realized that the LORD had established him king over Israel, for his kingdom had been exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

13 David also took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after 14 he came from Hebron; and there were yet sons and daughters born to David. And these are the names of those who were born to him 15 in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shohab, Nathan, Solomon, Ibhaz, Elishua, 16 Nepheg, Japhia, Elishama, Baaliada, and Eliphelet.

WAR WITH THE PHILISTINES, 5:17—25

17 Accordingly when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David; and when David heard of this he went down to the stronghold.

18 Now the Philistines had come and spread themselves out in the val-
19 ley of Rephaim. And David inquired of the LORD, saying, “Shall I go up against the Philistines? Wilt thou deliver them into my hand?”

And the LORD said to David,

“Go up; for I will certainly deliver the Philistines into your hand.”

20 And David came to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there;
and he said,

“The LORD has burst forth upon my enemies before me, like the bursting of a dam.”

21 Therefore he called the name of that place Baal-perazim. And they left their gods there, and David and his men carried them away.

22 The Philistines came up yet again and spread themselves abroad in 23 the valley of Rephaim. And when David inquired of the LORD, he said,

“You shall not go up; go around to their rear and come upon them 24 opposite the balsam trees. And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, make haste, for at that moment the LORD has gone forth before you to fall upon the camp of the Philistines.”

25 And David did as the LORD commanded him, and he joined battle with the Philistines from Gibeon as far as Gezer.

THE RETURN OF THE ARK TO JERUSALEM, 6:1—23

6 David again mustered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thou-
2 sand. And David and all the people who were with him arose and

- went to Baal-Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God which is called by the name of the LORD of hosts that sits upon the cherubim.
- 3 And they conveyed the ark of God upon a new cart, and they brought it up from the house of Abinadab which was on the hill, and Uzzah
- 4 and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, were guiding the cart: Uzzah was walking beside the ark of God, while Ahio was going before the ark.
- 5 And David and all the house of Israel were reveling before the LORD with all their might with songs and harps and lyres and with tambourines and castanets and cymbals. And when they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah put out his hand to the ark of God and
- 7 grasped hold of it for the oxen jostled it. But the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah and God struck him down there because he
- 8 put his hand to the ark and there he died by the ark of God. And David was angry because the LORD had broken forth upon Uzzah. Therefore that place has been called Perez-uzzah (Breach of Uzzah) to this day.
- 9 And David was afraid of the LORD that day and he said,
- “How shall the ark of the LORD come to me?”
- 10 So David was unwilling to remove the ark of the LORD unto him into the city of David, but took it aside into the house of Obed-edom
- 11 the Gittite. And the ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months. And the LORD blessed Obed-edom and all his house.
- 12 Now when it was told King David that the LORD had blessed the house of Obed-edom and all that belonged to him, because of the ark of God, David went and brought up the ark of God with joy from
- 13 the house of Obed-edom to the city of David. And when the bearers of the ark of the LORD had advanced six paces, he sacrificed an ox and
- 14 a fatling. And David was whirling in a dance with all his might, and David was girded with a linen ephod. So David and all the house
- 15 of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouting and the sound of the trumpet.
- 16 And as the ark of the LORD was coming to the city of David, and Michal, the daughter of Saul, looking out of the window, saw King David whirling and leaping before the LORD, she despised him in her
- 17 heart. And when they brought in the ark of the LORD and set it in its place within the tent that David had pitched for it, David offered
- 18 whole burnt-offerings and thank-offerings before the LORD. And when David finished offering up the whole burnt offerings and the peace-offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of
- 19 hosts. And he distributed to all the people, even the whole multitude of Israel, both men and women, to each one a loaf of bread and 20 a portion of meat and a raisin cake. Then all the people departed each to his home.

21 But when David returned to bless his family, Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David and said,

“How dignified was the king of Israel today as he stripped himself in the sight of the maidservants of his retainers, as a common rake exposes himself!”

But David said to Michal,

“It is before the LORD that I dance. Blessed be the LORD, who chose me rather than your father and rather than any of his house to appoint me as a leader over the people of the LORD, over Israel, there-22 fore I will disport myself before the LORD and I will be yet more abandoned than that and I will be vile in your eyes. But of the maidservants to whom you have referred I shall indeed be held in honor.”

23 And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

DAVID'S DESIRE TO BUILD A TEMPLE, 7:1-29

7 Now when the king dwelt in his house, and the LORD had given 2 him rest from all his enemies on every side, the king said to Nathan the prophet,

“See here, I live in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells under tent curtains.”

3 And Nathan said to the king,

“Go, do all that is in your mind, for the LORD is with you.”

4 But that very night the word of the LORD came to Nathan, saying,

5 “Go and say to my servant David, ‘Thus the LORD has said,

6 “Should you build me a house to dwell in? for I have not dwelt in a house since the day I brought up the Israelites out of Egypt, even to this day, but I have been making my abode in a tent as a dwelling.

7 In all the places where I have made my abode with all the Israelites, did I speak a word with one of the judges of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd my people Israel, saying, ‘Why have you not built

8 me a house of cedar?’ ” ” Now therefore thus you shall say to my servant David, ‘Thus has the LORD of hosts said, “I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, that you should be a leader

9 over my people, over Israel; and I have been with you wherever you have gone, and I have destroyed all your enemies from before you, and I will make you a great name like the name of the great who are 10 in the earth. And I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in their own place, and they shall be disquieted no more, and the perverse shall no more afflict them as formerly, from the day that I decreed judges over my people Israel.

11 "And I will give you respite from all your foes.
And the LORD declares to you
That he will make you a house.
12 And when your days are finished,
And you are laid with your fathers,
I will raise up your heir after you,
Who shall be born of your body;
And I will establish his kingdom.
13 He shall build a house for my name,
And I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.
14 "I will be his father,
And he shall be my son;
When he goes astray,
I will chasten him with the rod of men,
And with the stripes of the sons of Adam.
15 But my lovingkindness shall not depart from him,
As I withdrew it from him who was before you.
16 Your house and your kingdom shall be confirmed before me forever;
For all time your throne shall be established." ' ' "

17 According to all these words and according to all this vision, did Nathan speak to David.

18 Then King David went in and sat before the LORD and said,
"Who am I, my lord GOD, and what is my house, that thou hast brought me thus far? And as though this were too small a thing in thy eyes, O my lord GOD, thou hast gone on to speak concerning the house of thy servant unto a far distant time, and hast made me to see 20 the coming generations of men, O my lord GOD! And what shall David say more to thee, for thou knowest thy servant, O my lord 21 GOD? For thy word's sake, and according to thine own heart hast thou wrought all this greatness to show it to thy servant. Wherefore thou art great, O LORD God, for there is none like thee, and there is no God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.
23 And what other nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, in that a god went to redeem for himself a people, to make himself a name by doing great things and terrible things for them (for thy land) in driving out from before his people, (whom thou didst redeem for thyself 24 from Egypt), a nation and its gods? And thou didst establish for thyself thy people Israel for thine own people forever, and thou,

 25 O LORD, hast become their God. And now, O LORD God, confirm forever the word which thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and 26 concerning his house, and do as thou hast spoken, that thy name may be great forever, proclaiming: 'The LORD of hosts is God over Israel; and the house of thy servant David shall be established before
 27 thee.' For thou, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, hast revealed to thy servant, saying, 'I will build you a house;' therefore thy servant
 28 has found his courage to pray unto thee this prayer. And now, O my lord GOD, thou art God, and thy words are truth, and thou hast 29 spoken this good word to thy servant; now therefore may it please thee to bless the house of thy servant that it may continue before thee forever; for thou, O my lord GOD, hast spoken; and with thy blessing the house of thy servant shall be forever blest."

DAVID'S WARS, 8:1-18

8 Now after this David defeated the Philistines, and subdued them; and David took the bridle of the mother city out of the hand of the 2 Philistines. And he defeated Moab and measured them off with a line, making them lie down on the ground; and he measured two lines: one full line to put to death and one full line to save alive. And the Moabites became David's servants in the sense that they paid tribute.
 3 Then David defeated Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, the king of 4 Zobah, as he went to establish his power at the River. And David took from him a thousand chariots and seven thousand cavalry, and twenty thousand infantry; and David hamstringed all the chariot
 5 horses, except that he reserved enough for one hundred chariots. And when the Arameans of Damascus came to help Hadadezer, king of Zobah, David defeated the Arameans with a loss of twenty-two thousand 6 men. Then David put garrisons in Damascene Syria, and the Arameans became David's servants in the sense that they paid tribute. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went.
 7 David also took the shields of gold that were on the servants of 8 Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem. And from Tabah and from Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, king David took a large amount 9 of bronze. And when Toi, king of Hamath, heard that David had de-

¹⁰ feated the entire army of Hadadezer, Toi sent Hadoram his son to King David, to greet him and congratulate him because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him, for Hadadezer had been repeatedly at war with Toi.

And Hadoram brought with him articles of silver, of gold, and of bronze. These also King David dedicated to the LORD, along with the silver and gold that he dedicated from all the nations he had subdued—from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, and Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah. So David won fame. And on his return, he overcame eighteen thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt. And he put garrisons throughout all Edom; and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the LORD gave David victory wherever he went.

¹⁵ Thus David was king over all Israel. And David administered justice and righteousness for all his people. And Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was in command of the army, and Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, was recorder, and Zadok, the son of Ahitub, and Abiathar, the son of Ahimelech, were priests, and Seraiah was scribe, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and Pelethites, and David's sons were priests.

DAVID'S KINDNESS TO JONATHAN'S SON, 9:1-13

9 And David said,

"Is there yet anyone left of the family of Saul to whom I may show kindness for Jonathan's sake?"

² Now there was a retainer of Saul's house whose name was Ziba, and they called him to David. And the king said to him,

"Are you Ziba?"

And he said,

"Your servant."

³ And the king said,

"Is there not still someone belonging to the house of Saul to whom I may show the kindness of God?"

And Ziba said to the king,

"There is a son of Jonathan still living, who is crippled in his feet."

⁴ And the king said to him,

"Where is he?"

And Ziba said to the king,

"Behold he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lodebar."

5 Then King David sent and took him from the house of Machir, 6 the son of Ammiel, from Lodebar. And when Meribaal, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, came to David, he fell on his face and did obeisance. And David said,

"Meribaal!"

And he said,

"Your servant is here."

7 And David said to him,

"Fear not for I will surely show you kindness for the sake of Jonathan your father and will restore to you the entire estate of Saul your grandfather, and you shall always eat bread at my table."

8 And he did obeisance and said,

"What is your servant that you should regard such a dead dog as I am?"

9 Then the king called to Ziba, Saul's domestic, and said to him,

"All that belonged to Saul and to all his house I have given to your 10 master's son. And you together with your sons and your servants shall cultivate the soil for him, and bring in the harvest that your master's son may have food to eat; but Meribaal, your master's son, shall always eat bread at my table."

11 Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. Then Ziba said to the king,

"Your servant will do precisely as my lord the king commands his servant."

12 So Meribaal ate at David's table like one of the king's sons. And Meribaal had a little son and his name was Mica. And all who dwelt 13 in Ziba's house were Meribaal's servants. So Meribaal dwelt in Jerusalem, for he ate regularly at the king's table, being crippled in both feet.

DAVID'S VICTORY OVER AMMON, 10:1-19

10 Now after this, the king of the Ammonites died and Hanun his son
2 became king in his stead. And David said,

"I will show kindness to Hanun, the son of Nahash, as his father showed kindness to me."

So David sent by his servants to comfort him concerning his father. But when the servants of David came to the land of the Am-3 monites, the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun their lord,

"Do you imagine that David is honoring your father in sending you comforters? Is it not to inspect the city and to spy it out and to overthrow it, that David has sent his servants to you?"

4 Whereupon Hanun took David's servants, and shaved off one side of their beards, cut their garments off at the hips, and sent them away.
5 When they told David about the men, he sent to meet them, for the men were deeply humiliated. And the king said,

"Stop at Jericho until your beards are grown and then return."

6 Now when the Ammonites saw that they were in bad odor with David, the Ammonites sent and hired the Arameans of Beth-Rehob, and the Arameans of Zobah, twenty thousand infantry, and the king of Maacah with a thousand men, and Ishtob with twelve thousand
7 men. And when David heard of it, he sent Joab and the entire army
8 of seasoned troops. And the Ammonites came out and drew up in line of battle at the entrance of the city. And the Arameans of Zobah and Rehob, and Ishtob and Maacah, were by themselves in the open
9 country. And when Joab saw that he had to meet both a frontal and rear attack, he made a selection from all the picked men of Israel,
10 and drew them up in line against the Arameans. And the rest of the people he put in charge of Abishai his brother; and he formed them
11 in line against the Ammonites. And he said,

"If the Arameans prove too strong for me, then you shall furnish me help, but if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, then I will 12 come to your aid. Be of good courage and let us summon all our strength for the sake of our people and for the cities of our God; and may the LORD do that which is good in his sight."

13 Now when Joab and the people who were with him drew near to 14 join battle with the Arameans, they fled before him. And when the Ammonites saw that the Arameans had fled, they also fled before Abishai, and entered the city. Then Joab returned from his attack upon the Ammonites, and came to Jerusalem.

15 But when the Arameans saw that they had been defeated by Israel, 16 they gathered themselves together. And Hadadezer sent, and brought the Arameans who were beyond the River, and they came to Helam, with Shobach, the commander of Hadadezer's army, at their head.
17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan and came to Helam. And the Arameans drew up 18 their lines to meet David and fought with him. And the Arameans fled before Israel; and David destroyed seven hundred chariots and forty thousand horsemen and he mortally wounded Shobach, the commander of their army, so that he died there. And when all the kings who were servants of Hadadezer, saw that they were defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel and became subject to them. So the Arameans feared to help the Ammonites any more.

DAVID'S SIN WITH BATHSHEBA, 11:1—12:25

11 Now at the return of spring, at the time when kings go forth, David sent Joab and his servants with him, even all Israel, and they ravaged the Ammonites, and besieged Rabbah. But David remained in 2 Jerusalem. Now one day at sunset, David got up from his couch, and walked to and fro upon the roof of the king's house; and from the roof he saw a woman bathing. And the woman was very beautiful.
3 And David sent and sought for the woman, and said,

“Is not this Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?”

4 So David sent messengers and took her; and she came to him, and he lay with her at the time she was cleansing herself from her im-
5 purity; then she returned to her house. And the woman conceived; and she sent and informed David, and she said,

“I am with child.”

6 Then David sent to Joab,
“Send me Uriah the Hittite.”

7 And Joab sent Uriah the Hittite to David. And when Uriah came to him, David asked concerning the welfare of Joab and the condi-
8 tion of the people and the course of the war. Then David said to Uriah,

“Go down to your house and wash your feet.”

So Uriah went out of the king's house, and there followed him a 9 present from the king. But Uriah slept at the entrance of the king's house, along with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to 10 his house. Now when they told David, Uriah did not go down to his house, David said to Uriah,

“Have you not come from a journey? Why have you not gone down to your house?”

11 Then Uriah said to David,

“The ark and Israel and Judah dwell in booths, and my master Joab and the servants of my lord are camping in the open field; and should I enter my house to eat and drink and to lie with my wife? As the LORD lives and as you yourself live, I could not do this thing.”

12 So David said to Uriah,

“Remain here today also, and tomorrow I will send you away.”

13 Then Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day. But on the morrow David summoned him and he ate and drank before him, so that he made him drunk; and in the evening he went out to lie on his bed with the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

14 So in the morning, David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah. And he wrote in the letter, saying,

“Put Uriah in the forefront of the hottest fighting, then draw back from him, that he may be stricken and die.”

16 And so as Joab pressed the siege against the city, he put Uriah at a point where he knew the best opposing troops were. And when the men of the city sallied out and fought with Joab, some of the men of David's forces fell, and Uriah the Hittite was also among the slain.

18 Then Joab sent and reported to David the full details of the fighting.

19 And he gave instructions to the messenger, saying,

“When you have finished telling all the details of the fighting to the king, then if the king's anger is aroused, and he say to you, ‘Why did you go so near the city to fight? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? Who killed Abimelech, the son of Jerubbaal? Did not a woman drop an upper millstone upon him from the wall, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?’ Then you shall say, ‘Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.’”

22 So the messenger of Joab set out and came and when he told David all that with which Joab had charged him, even all the details of the fighting, then David was enraged at Joab, and he said to the messenger,

“Why did you go near the city to fight? Did you not realize that you would be attacked from the wall? Who killed Abimelech, the son of Jerubbaal? Did not a woman drop an upper millstone upon him from the wall, so that he died in Thebez? Why did you go near the wall?”

23 Then the messenger said to David,

“Because the men gained an advantage over us and came out to fight us in the open field, but we fought them back to the very entrance of the gate, and then the archers shot from the wall at your servants; and some of the king's servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.”

25 Thereupon David said to the messenger,

“Thus shall you say to Joab, ‘Let not this affair depress you, for the sword devours one as well as another; strengthen your attack upon the city and overthrow it,’ and do you encourage him.”

26 And when the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was 27 dead, she made lamentation for her husband. But when the mourning was over, David sent and removed her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

12 Accordingly the LORD sent the prophet Nathan to David. And he came to him, and said to him,

2 "There were two men in a certain city, the one rich, and the other 3 poor. The rich man owned very many flocks and herds. But the poor man had nothing but a single little ewe lamb, which he had bought.
And he reared it and it grew up with him and with his children. It would eat from his food and drink from his cup, and it lay in his 4 bosom, and it was like a daughter to him. Now there came a traveller to the rich man, and he refused to take from his own flock or his own herd to make ready for the wayfarer who had come to him, but he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."

5 Then David's anger became furious against the man, and he said to Nathan,

6 "As the LORD lives, the man that does this is worthy of death, and he shall restore the lamb sevenfold, because he did this and because he showed no pity."

7 And Nathan said to David,

"You are the man! Thus the LORD God of Israel has said, 'I anointed you king over Israel and I delivered you out of the hand of 8 Saul, and I gave you your master's house and your master's wives into your bosom, I also gave you the house of Israel and of Judah, and 9 if that were too little, I would add in this or that way. Why have you despised the LORD by doing that which is evil in my sight? You have slain Uriah the Hittite with the sword, and you have taken his wife to be your wife, having slain him with the sword of the Ammon-10 ites. Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the 11 Hittite to be your wife.' Thus the LORD has spoken, 'Behold, I will raise up evil against you out of your own house, and I will take your wives from before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he 12 shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun, for you did it secretly; but I will do this thing before all Israel in the open light of day.'"

- 13 Then David said to Nathan,
"I have sinned against the LORD."
And Nathan said to David,
- 14 "The LORD has also taken away your sin; you shall not die. Nevertheless, because you have openly spurned the LORD by this deed, the child also that is born to you shall surely die."
- 15 And Nathan went to his house.
And the LORD struck the child that the wife of Uriah bore to David, so that it was taken ill. And David besought the LORD in behalf of the child, and he kept a fast and went in and lay in sackcloth upon the earth. And the older men of his household arose and stood beside him in order to raise him up from the earth, but he would not, neither would he eat food with them.
- 18 Now on the seventh day the child died. And the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead, for they said,
"Behold while the child was yet alive, we spoke to him, and he heeded not our voice; how can we say to him, the child is dead? How desperate it will make him!"
- 19 Now when David saw that his servants were whispering to one another, David perceived that the child was dead, and David said to his servants,
"Is the child dead?"
And they said,
"He is dead."
- 20 Then David arose from the earth, and bathed and anointed himself, and changed his garments; and he went into the house of the LORD and worshipped. Then he went to his own house; and he asked 21 for food and they set it before him and he ate. Then his servants said to him, "What is the meaning of this thing that you have done? You have fasted and wept for the child, while it was alive, but when the child died, you have arisen and eaten food!"
- 22 And he said,
"While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept; for I said, 'Who knows whether the LORD will show himself merciful to me and 23 let the child live?' But now he is dead; why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I expect to go to him, but he will never come back to me."
- 24 Then David comforted Bathsheba his wife, and went in to her and lay with her and she conceived and bore a son, and he called his name

25 Solomon. And the LORD loved him. And he sent a message through Nathan the prophet; and he called his name Jedidiah, according to the command of the LORD.

DAVID'S CAPTURE OF RABBAH OF AMMON, 12:26-31

26 Joab also fought against Rabbah of the Ammonites and took the 27 city of the waters. Then Joab sent messengers to David, and said,

"I have fought against Rabbah; I have also taken the city of the 28 waters. Now therefore muster the rest of the people, and encamp against the city, and take it, lest I take it and my name be proclaimed over it."

29 So David mustered all the people and went to Rabbah and fought 30 against it and took it. And he took the crown of Milcom from his head; and its weight was about a talent of gold, and in it was a precious stone; and it was placed on David's head. And he brought away 31 the very great amount of the city's spoil. And he brought forth the people who were in it, and set them to the saws and to cutting instruments of iron and to axes of iron and on occasion he made them labor at the brick-moulds. Even thus he did in turn to all the cities of the Ammonites. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

DAVID'S FAMILY TROUBLES, 13:1—14:33

13 Now Absalom, a son of David, had a beautiful sister, whose name was Tamar; and it happened after this that Amnon, a son of Da-2 vid, loved her. And Amnon was so distressed that he made himself sick because of his sister Tamar—for she was a virgin—and it seemed impossible to Amnon to get any approach to her.

3 But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jonadab, the son of 4 Shimeah, David's brother, and Jonadab was a very shrewd man. And he said to him,

"Why, O prince, are you so depressed morning after morning?
Will you not tell me?"

And Amnon said to him,

"I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister."

5 And Jonadab said to him,

"Lie down on your bed, and feign yourself ill. Then when your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Let now my sister Tamar come and serve me some food, and let her prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat from her hand.'"

- 6 So Amnon lay down and feigned himself ill. And when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, “Let now my sister Tamar come and make a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat from her hand.”
- 7 So David sent to the house for Tamar, saying, “Go now to your brother Amnon’s house, and prepare food for him.”
- 8 Then Tamar went to her brother Amnon’s house while he was there in bed. And she took dough and kneaded it and made cakes before him, and fried the cakes. And she took the pan and poured them out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, “Put out everybody from attending me.”
- 10 So they all withdrew from him. Then Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food into the chamber, that I may eat from your hand.”
- So Tamar took the cakes she had made, and brought them into the
- 11 chamber to Amnon her brother. And when she had brought them near to him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, “Come, lie with me, my sister.”
- 12 And she said to him,
“No, my brother, do not humiliate me, for it is not so done in Israel, do not this disgraceful folly. And as for me, whither could I carry my shame? and as for you, you would become as one of the impious profligates in Israel. Now therefore, I pray you, speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from marrying you.”
- 14 But he would not listen to her voice, but being stronger than she, he overpowered her and lay with her.
- 15 Then Amnon hated her with unutterable hatred, for the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, “Arise be gone!”
- 16 But she said to him,
“No, my brother; for greater would be this wrong, to send me away, than the first that you have done to me.”
- 17 Yet he would not listen to her, but called his servant, who ministered to him, and said, “Put out now this female from my presence, and bolt the door after her.”
- 18 And she wore a long-sleeved tunic reaching to the ankles, for thus the virgin princesses were formerly wont to be clad. So his servant

19 put her out and bolted the door after her. And Tamar put ashes on her head, and rent the long-sleeved tunic which she wore; and putting her hand on her head, she departed, crying aloud as she went along.

20 Accordingly Absalom her own brother said to her,

“Has Amnon your brother been with you? But now, my sister, be quiet, he is your brother; do not take this matter to heart.”

So Tamar remained desolate in the house of Absalom her brother.

21 And when king David heard all these things, he was very angry, but he did not reprove Amnon his son, for he loved him, because he was 22 his first-born. And Absalom spoke to Amnon neither good nor bad; for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had violated his sister Tamar.

23 Now it happened just two years later, that Absalom had sheep-shearers in Baal-hazor near Ephraim, and Absalom invited all the 24 king's sons. And Absalom went to the king and said,

“See now, your servant has sheep-shearers, let the king and his servants, I pray you, go with your servant.”

25 But the king said to Absalom,

“No, my son, let us not all go now, lest we be a burden to you.”

Still he pressed him, however he would not go but he added his 26 blessing. Then Absalom said,

“If not, then I pray you, let my brother Amnon go with us.”

And the king said to him,

“Why should he go with you?”

27 But when Absalom pressed him, he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him. And Absalom made a feast like a royal feast.

28 Then Absalom commanded his servants, saying,

“See now, when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, ‘Strike down Amnon,’ then kill him. Fear not; have I not given you your orders? Be courageous and show yourselves valiant.”

29 And the retainers of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom commanded. Then all the king's sons arose and each mounted his mule and fled.

30 And while they were on the way, the report came to David that Absalom had murdered all the king's sons so that there was not one 31 of them left. Then the king arose and tore his garments and lay on the earth; and all his servants who were standing by him tore their 32 garments. But Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David's brother, answered and said, “Let not my lord suppose that they have killed all the young men, the king's sons, for Amnon alone is dead, since by the mouth of Ab-

- salom this has been determined ever since he violated his sister Tamar.
- 33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the report so seriously to heart as to imagine that all the king's sons are dead; but Amnon alone is dead."
- 34 And when the youth who kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked, behold many people were coming in the Horonaim road. And the watchman came and told the king, saying,
"I have seen men coming down from the Horonaim road by the side of the mountain."
- 35 And Jonadab said to the king,
"There, the king's sons have come; according to the word of your servant, so it has come about."
- 36 And as soon as he had finished speaking, behold, the king's sons arrived, and they lifted up their voice and wept; and the king also and all his servants wept very bitterly.
- 37 But Absalom fled and went to Talmai, son of Ammihud, king of Geshur, and David kept on mourning for his son day after day. So
- 39 Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and he was there three years. And the spirit of King David pined to go out to Absalom, for he was comforted for Amnon, seeing he was dead.
- 14 Now when Joab, the son of Zeruah, perceived that the king's heart was inclined toward Absalom, Joab sent to Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman and said to her,
"Pretend now to be a mourner and put on mourning garments, I pray you, and do not anoint yourself with oil, but become as a woman who has been mourning many days for the dead. And go to the king and speak thus to him."
So Joab put the words into her mouth.
- 4 Accordingly when the woman of Tekoa came to the king, she fell on her face to the earth and did obeisance, and said,
5 "Help, O king!"
And the king said to her,
"What is your trouble?"
And she said,
6 "Of a truth I am a widow, and my husband is dead. And your maidservant had two sons, and the two of them struggled together in the field, and there being no one to part them, the one struck the 7 other and killed him. And now the whole clan has risen up against your maidservant and they say, 'Deliver up the slayer of his brother, that we may kill him for the life of his brother whom he slew,' that they may destroy the heir also. Thus they will quench my remaining coal so as to leave to my husband neither name nor remnant on the face of the ground."

8 Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house and I will give orders concerning you."

9 And the woman of Tekoa said to the king,
"Upon me, my lord, O king, be the guilt and on my father's house; and the king and his throne be innocent."

10 And the king said,
"Whoever speaks to you bring him to me and he shall not touch you again."

11 And she said,
"I pray you, let the king remember the LORD your God, not to allow the avenger of blood to destroy and not to let them murder my son."

And he said,

"As the LORD lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the earth."

12 Then the woman said,
"I pray you, let your maidservant speak a word to my lord the king."

And he said,

"Speak."

13 And the woman said,
"Why then have you devised such a thing against the people of God? For in speaking this word the king is as one that is guilty, in that the king does not bring back his banished one."

14 "For we must indeed die and are as water poured upon the earth, that cannot be gathered up again; nor can God take it up. Therefore a person should devise plans not to keep in banishment the one who 15 is banished. And now the reason why I have come to speak this word to the king my lord is because the people frightened me, and your maidservant said, 'I will now speak to the king; it may be that the 16 king will perform the request of his handmaid.' For the king will hearken, to deliver his handmaid from the hand of the man who seeks 17 to destroy me and my son from the heritage of the LORD. Then your maidservant said, 'Let the word of my lord the king be a comfort,' for as the Messenger of God, so is my lord the king to hear good and evil. And the LORD your God be with you."

18 Then the king answered and said to the woman,
"Do not, I pray you, conceal from me anything that I ask of you."

- And the woman said,
"Let now my lord the king speak."
- 19 And the king said,
"Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?"
And the woman answered and said,
"As sure as you are alive, my lord the king, one cannot turn to the right hand or to the left hand from all that my lord the king has spoken; for your servant Joab, he it was that bade me, and he put 20 all these words in the mouth of your maidservant; in order to change the face of the matter your servant Joab did this thing. But my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of the Messenger of God, so that he knows all things that are in the earth."
- 21 Therefore the king said to Joab,
"See now, you have accomplished this thing; go therefore, bring the young man Absalom back."
- 22 Then Joab fell on his face to the earth and did obeisance and blessed the king. And Joab said,
"Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord, O king, in that the king has performed the request of his servant."
- 23 So Joab arose and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom back to 24 Jerusalem. And the king said,
"Let him live apart in his own house, but he is not to see my face."
So Absalom lived apart in his own house, but he did not see the king's face.
- 25 Now in all Israel there was no man so much to be praised for his beauty as Absalom; from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head 26 there was no blemish in him. And when he shaved his head—now at the end of every year he used to cut his hair, because it was heavy on him, therefore he cut it—he used to weigh his hair, two hundred 27 shekels by the royal standard of weight. And there were born to Absalom three sons and one daughter, whose name was Tamar—she was a beautiful woman.
- 28 Absalom dwelt two full years in Jerusalem, without seeing the 29 king's face. Then Absalom sent for Joab to send him to the king;
30 but he would not come to him. So he sent again a second time, but he refused to come. Therefore he said to his servants,
"See, Joab's field borders mine, where he has barley; go and set it on fire."

- And Joab's servants came to him with torn garments, and said,
 "The servants of Absalom have set the field on fire."
 31 Then Joab arose, and went to Absalom at his house and said to him,
 "Why have your servants set my field on fire?"
 32 And Absalom said to Joab,
 "Behold, I sent to you saying, 'Come here that I may send you to the king, to say, "Why have I come from Geshur? It were better that I were still there." Now therefore let me see the king's face, and if there is guilt in me, let him kill me.'" 33 And when Joab went to the king and told him, he summoned Absalom. And he went to the king and did obeisance and fell upon his face to the earth before the king. Then the king kissed Absalom.

ABSALOM'S REVOLT, 15:1—19:42

- 15 Now afterwards Absalom prepared him a chariot and horses and 2 fifty men to run before him. And Absalom used to rise early and stand beside the way of the gate, and whenever any man had a suit to come to the king for judgment, Absalom would take occasion to call to him and say,
 "Of what city are you?"
 And when he said,
 3 "Your servant is of some one of the tribes of Israel," Absalom would say to him,
 "It is evident your claims are valid and legitimate; but there is no one deputed by the king to hear you."
 4 Absalom said moreover,
 "O that someone would make me a judge in the land, that any man who had a suit or cause might come to me, that I might give him justice!"
 5 And whenever a man came near to do obeisance to him, he would 6 put out his hand and take hold of him and kiss him. And after this manner Absalom dealt with all the Israelites who came to the king for judgment. So Absalom alienated the hearts of the men of Israel.
 7 But at the end of four years, Absalom said to the king,
 "Let me go, I pray you, and pay my vow, which I vowed to the 8 LORD, in Hebron. For your servant vowed a vow, while I abode at Geshur in Syria, as follows, 'If the LORD will indeed bring me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD in Hebron.'" 9 And the king said to him,
 "Go in peace."

- 10 So he arose and went to Hebron. But Absalom sent emissaries throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying,
“As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then say, ‘Absalom is king in Hebron.’”
- 11 And with Absalom went two hundred men from Jerusalem, who went in all innocence as invited guests, and were not aware of any plot.
- 12 And Absalom sent and called Ahithophel the Gilonite, David’s counsellor, from his city Giloh, where he was offering sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong, for the people with Absalom kept on increasing.
- 13 And when a messenger came to David, saying,
“The heart of the men of Israel has gone after Absalom,”
- 14 David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem,
“Up and away; for otherwise there will be for us no escape from Absalom. Make haste to be off, lest he quickly overtake us and set evil in motion against us and put the city to the sword.”
- 15 Then the king’s servants said to the king,
“According to all that my lord the king decides, your servants are ready.”
- 16 So the king went out and all his household after him. And the 17 king left behind ten concubines to keep the palace. And the king and all his attendants who followed after him went forth and halted at 18 the last house, while all the people marched past him; and all the Cherethites and all the Pelethites and all the men of Ittai the Gittite, six hundred men who had followed him from Gath, passed on before the king.
- 19 Then the king said to Ittai the Gittite,
“Why will you also go with us? Return and remain with the king;
20 for you are a foreigner and an exile from your own place. You came but yesterday and shall I today cause you to wander with us, while I go whither I may? Return and lead back your fellow countrymen with you; and the LORD will show you kindness and faithfulness.”
- 21 But Ittai answered the king and said,
“As the LORD lives and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king shall be—whether for death or for life—there will your 22 servant be.”
- And David said to Ittai,
“Go and pass on.”

So Ittai the Gittite passed on with all his men and all the children that were with him.

23 Moreover all the countryside was in loud lamentation as all the people were passing by. While the king stood in the Kidron valley, all the people were passing on before him by way of the olive tree
24 which is in the desert. And there too were both Zadok and Abiathar with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God, and they halted the ark of God until all the people had entirely passed out of the city.
25 Then the king said to Zadok and Abiathar,

“Carry back the ark of God into the city and let it remain in its place. If I shall find favor in the eyes of the LORD, he will bring me
26 back, and show me both it and his abode. But if he say, ‘I have no delight in you,’ then here I am, let him do to me as seems good in his sight.”

27 The king also said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests,

“Return to the city in peace and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz
28 your son and Jonathan, the son of Abiathar. See, I am going to tarry at the fords of the desert, until word comes from you to inform me.”

29 Therefore Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back to Jerusalem, and they remained there.

30 But David went up the ascent of Olivet, weeping as he went, with his head covered and walking barefoot, and all the people who were with him covered each his head, and they went up, weeping as they 31 ascended. And when it was told David, saying,

“Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom,”

David said,

“O LORD, I pray, turn the counsel of Ahithophel to foolishness.”

32 And when David came to the top where one worships God, there was Hushai the Archite to meet him with his tunic torn and earth 33 upon his head. And David said to him,

34 “If you accompany me you will be a burden to me. But if you return to the city, and say to Absalom, ‘O king, I will be your servant; and as I have been your father’s servant in time past, so now I will be your servant,’ thus you can defeat for me the counsel of Ahitho-35 phel. And are there not there with you Zadok and Abiathar the 36 priests? Behold, there are with them their two sons, Ahimaaz, Zadok’s son, and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son; and you shall send to me by them 37 everything that you shall hear.”

So Hushai, David’s friend, came to the city just as Absalom was entering Jerusalem.

- 16 Now when David had passed a little beyond the summit, Ziba, the servant of Meribaal, met him with a couple of asses saddled, laden with two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred bunches of raisins, a hundred of summer fruits, and a skin of wine. And the king said to Ziba,
- “Why have you these?”
- And Ziba said,
- “The asses are for the king’s household to ride on, and the bread and the summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine, that those who become faint in the desert may drink.”
- 17 And the king said,
- “And where is your master’s son?”
- And Ziba said to the king,
- “He remains yonder at Jerusalem, for he has said, ‘Today will the house of Israel give back to me the kingdom of my father.’”
- 18 Then the king said to Ziba,
- “See, all is now yours that belonged to Meribaal.”
- And Ziba said,
- “I do obeisance. Let me continue to find favor in your sight, my lord, O king!”
- 19 And when King David came to Bahurim, there was a man coming out from there of the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera, uttering a stream of curses as he came along.
- 20 And he threw stones at David and all the attendants of King David and at all the people and all the famous warriors on his right hand and on his left. And thus he said as he cursed,
- 21 “Begone, begone, man of blood and vile scoundrel! The LORD has brought back upon you all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead you have ruled; and the LORD has delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom your son; and here you are undone; for you are a man of blood!”
- 22 Then Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, said to the king,
- “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Let me go over now and take off his head.”
- 23 But the king said,
- “What have I in common with you, O sons of Zeruiah? If he curses when the LORD has said to him, ‘Curse David!’ then who shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’”
- 24 And David said to Abishai and to all his attendants,

“See, my own son who came forth from my body seeks my life, how much more now a Benjaminite! Let him alone and let him
 12 curse, for the LORD has bidden him. Perchance the LORD will look on my affliction, and the LORD may requite good instead of his cursing today.”

13 And David and his men kept in the road; but Shimei proceeding along the hillside opposite him and cursing as he went along, con-
 14 tinued to throw stones and fling dust at him. And the king and all the people who were with him arrived weary at the Jordan, and he refreshed himself there.

15 Then Absalom and all the men of Israel came to Jerusalem, and 16 Ahithophel with him. Now when Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, “Long live the king, long live the king!”

And Absalom said to Hushai,

17 “Is this your loyalty for your friend? Why did you not go with your friend?”

18 Then Hushai said to Absalom,

“No! for whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Is-19 rael have chosen, his will I be and with him will I remain. And secondly, whom should I serve? Should it not be his son? As I served your father, so will I serve you.”

20 Absalom also said to Ahithophel,

“Give your counsel. What shall we do?”

21 And Ahithophel said to Absalom,

“Go in to your father's concubines, whom he has left to keep the house; and all Israel will hear that you are in bad odor with your father and the hands of all who are with you will be strengthened.”

22 So they pitched a tent for Absalom upon the roof; and Absalom
 23 went in to the concubines of his father in the sight of all Israel. And the counsel of Ahithophel, which he gave in those days, was as if one consulted an oracle of God—so was all the counsel of Ahithophel regarded both by David and by Absalom.

17 Moreover Ahithophel said to Absalom,

“Let me, I pray you, choose out twelve thousand men, and let me
 2 arise and pursue after David tonight; thus I will come upon him when he is weary and exhausted and I will throw him into a panic and also all the people who are with him; and I will strike down the king
 3 alone. And I will bring back all the people to you as the bride returns to her husband. You seek only the life of one man, and all the people shall be at peace.”

4 And the plan pleased Absalom, and all the elders of Israel.

5 Then Absalom said,

“Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what he has to offer.”

6 And when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom said to him as follows,

“Thus Ahithophel has spoken; shall we carry out his plan? If not, speak out.”

7 Then Hushai said to Absalom,

“This time the counsel that Ahithophel has given is not good.”

8 And Hushai said,

“You know your father and his men, that they are tried warriors and thoroughly aroused, like a bear in the open robbed of her cubs.

Furthermore your father is an expert campaigner and will not spend

9 the night with the people. Even now he has hidden himself in one of the caves or in some other place. And in case he falls upon the people at the first, whoever hears the report will say, ‘there has been a slaughter

10 among the people who follow Absalom.’ Then even the valiant man whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will utterly lose courage;

for all Israel knows that your father is a skilled warrior, and those 11 who are with him are valiant men. But I counsel that all Israel be surely gathered together to you, from Dan to Beersheba, as many as the sand that is by the sea, with you yourself marching in their midst.

12 And we will come upon him in some place where he has been located, and we will light upon him as the dew falls upon the ground; and of him and of all the men who are with him there shall not be left even 13 one. But if he withdraws into a city, then all Israel will bring ropes to that city and we will drag it into the valley, until not even a pebble can be found there.”

14 And Absalom and all the men of Israel said,

“The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel.”

For the LORD had ordained to frustrate the good counsel of Ahithophel, in order that the LORD might bring evil upon Absalom.

15 Then Hushai said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests,

“Thus and so did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of 16 Israel; and thus and so have I counselled. Now therefore send quickly and tell David, saying, ‘Do not camp tonight at the fords of the desert, but cross over without fail, lest the king and all the people with him be swallowed up.' ”

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz were stationed at Enrogel; and a maidservant used to go and keep them informed, and they would go
18 and tell king David, for they dared not be seen to enter the city. But a lad saw them, and told Absalom. Then they both went away in haste and entered into the house of a man in Bahurim, who had a well 19 in his courtyard into which they descended. And a woman took and spread a covering over the well, and strewed dried fruit upon it, so 20 that nothing was known. And when the servants of Absalom came to the woman to the house and said,

“Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?”

The woman said to them,

“They are over the source of the watercourses.”

And when they had sought and could find no trace, they returned 21 to Jerusalem. Now as soon as they had gone away, the two came up out of the well, and went and told King David and said to David,

“Arise, cross quickly over the water for thus has Ahithophel counselled against you.”

22 Then David and all the people who were with him arose and crossed the Jordan. By daybreak there was not one left behind who had not passed over the Jordan.

23 Now when Ahithophel saw that his counsel had not been carried out, he saddled his ass and arose, and went home to his own city. And after giving orders concerning his household, he strangled himself, and died and was buried in his father's grave.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed the Jordan, 25 together with all the men of Israel. And Absalom put Amasa in command of the army in place of Joab. Now Amasa was the son of an Ishmaelite by the name of Jether, who married Abigail the daughter of Jesse, the sister of Zeruah, Joab's mother. And Israel and 26 Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead. And when David arrived at Mahanaim, Shobi, the son of Nahash of the Ammonite Rabbah, and Machir, the son of Ammiel of Lodebar, and Barzillai, the Gileadite
27 of Rogelim, brought couches and rugs and bowls, and earthen vessels, and wheat, barley, meal, parched grain, beans, lentils, honey, curds, sheep and calves for David, and for the people who were with him, to eat; for they thought,

“The people must have been hungry and weary and thirsty in the desert.”

18 Then David mustered the people who were with him, and appointed over them commanders of thousands and commanders of 2 hundreds. And David divided the people into three divisions, one third was under the command of Joab, another third under Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and another third was under the command of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people,

"I will surely go with you myself."

3 But the people said,

"You shall not go out; for if we do indeed run away, no one will trouble about us; or if half of us die, no one will trouble about us; but you are equal to ten thousand of us. And now the important thing is for you to be ready to help us from the city."

4 And the king said to them,

"Whatever seems good in your eyes I will do."

5 So the king stood at the side of the gate, while all the people marched out by hundreds and by thousands. And the king commanded Joab, and Abishai, and Ittai, saying,

"Deal gently for my sake with the young man, with Absalom!"

6 And all the people heard when the king gave orders to all the commanders regarding Absalom. Then the people took the field against 7 Israel. And the battle was in the forest of Ephraim. And the people of Israel were defeated there by the servants of David; and the 8 slaughter on that day was great—twenty thousand men. And the battle was there spread out over the whole landscape; and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword.

9 But Absalom happened to meet the servants of David. And Absalom was riding upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick branches of a great oak and his head caught fast in the oak, and he was left hanging between heaven and earth, while the mule that was 10 under him passed on. And when a certain man saw it, he told Joab and said,

"Behold I saw Absalom hanging in an oak."

11 Then Joab said to the man who had told him,

"You mean to say that you saw him! Why then did you not fell him to the ground at once? And it would have been my part to have given you ten pieces of silver and a girdle."

12 And the man said to Joab,

"Though I were to feel the pressure of a thousand shekels of silver in my hand, I would not put forth my hand against the king's son, for in our hearing the king charged you and Abishai and Ittai, saying,

13 'Spare for my sake the young man Absalom.' Or if I had treacherously made away with him, nothing would have been hidden from the king, and you yourself would have stood aloof."

14 Then Joab said,
"Not so; I would assuage his wrath."

And he took three weapons in his hand, and thrust them into Absalom's vitals, while he was still alive in the midst of the oak. And ten young men who bore Joab's armor gathered around and smote Absalom until he was dead.

16 Then Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing Israel; for Joab held back the people. And they took Absalom and cast him into a great pit in the forest, and raised over him an enormous heap of stones. And all Israel fled each to his own home.

18 Now Absalom already in his lifetime had taken and set up for himself a pillar which is in the king's dale; for he said,

"I have no son to keep my name in remembrance."

And he named the pillar after his own name. And it is called Absalom's Monument, to this day.

19 And when Ahimaaz said to Joab,

"Let me run now and bring the news to the king that the LORD has freed him from the power of his enemies,"

20 Joab said to him,

"You are not the man to carry tidings today. On another day you may carry news, but you shall not do so today, for the king's son is dead."

21 Then Joab said to the Cushite,

"Go, tell the king what you have seen."

22 And the Cushite did obeisance to Joab and proceeded to run. But Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said yet again to Joab, "Whatever happens, I should still very much like to run even after the Cushite."

And Joab said,

"Why is it that you would run, my son, since you will have no reward for news as a result of going."

23 And he said,

"However it may be, I would run."

So he said to him,

"Run."

And Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain of the Jordan; and he passed the Cushite.

- 24 Now David was sitting between the two gates; and the watchman had gone up to the roof of the gate by the wall. And when he lifted 25 up his eyes and looked, there was a man running alone. Then the watchman called and told the king. And the king said,
 "If he be alone, there are good tidings in his mouth."
 And he kept on drawing nearer. Whereupon the watchman saw 26 another man running; and the watchman called toward the gate, and said, "See, another man running alone!"
 And the king said,
 "He also is bringing good news."
27 And the watchman said,
 "I see that the running of the first is like the running of Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok."
 And the king said,
 "He is a good man, and comes with good news."
28 Then Ahimaaz drew near and said to the king,
 "All is well."
 And he bowed with his face to the earth, and said,
 "Blessed be the LORD thy God, who has delivered up the men who lifted up their hand against my lord the king."
29 And the king said,
 "Is it well with the young man Absalom?"
 And Ahimaaz said,
 "When Joab sent your servant I saw a great tumult, but I did not learn what it was."
30 And the king said,
 "Turn aside and take your stand here."
31 And he turned aside and stood still. And at that moment the Cushite entered. And the Cushite said,
 "Let my lord the king receive the good news that the LORD has freed you this day from all those that rose up against you."
32 And the king said to the Cushite,
 "Is it well with the young man Absalom?"
 And the Cushite said,
 "Let the enemies of my lord the king and all who rise up against you for evil be as this young man!"
33 Then the king was deeply moved and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept. And thus he said, as he wept,

19 "My son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! O that I, even I, had died instead of you, Absalom, my son, my son!"

And it was told Joab,

"Behold the king is weeping and lamenting over Absalom."

2 And the victory that day for all the people was turned to mourning, since the people heard that day, saying,

"The king is grieved over his son."

3 Therefore the people stole away furtively into the city, as people
4 who are put to shame when they have fled in battle steal away. But the king covered his face, and cried with a loud voice,

"My son Absalom, Absalom, my son, my son!"

5 So Joab went to the king in the house and said,

"You have covered with shame today the faces of all your servants, who have preserved your life today, and the lives of your sons and
6 your daughters, and the lives of your wives and your concubines, by loving them who hate you and hating them who love you. For you have shown today that commanders and servants are nothing to you; for now I know that if Absalom were alive and all of us dead today,
7 then you would have been well pleased. Now therefore arise, go forth, and speak reassuringly to your subjects; for I swear by the LORD, if you do not go forth, not a man will be with you tonight, and this will be worse for you than all the misfortune that has befallen you from your youth until now."

8 Then the king arose and sat in the gate. And when the word passed to all the people, saying, "See, the king is sitting in the gate," all the people came before the king.

9 Now Israel had fled every man to his home. And all the people murmured throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying,

"The king delivered us from the hand of our enemies, and he has freed us out of the hand of the Philistines, but now he has fled from 10 the land on account of Absalom. And as for Absalom, whom we anointed over us, he has died in battle. Now therefore why do you remain silent about bringing the king back?"

And the word of all Israel came to the king.

11 Then king David sent to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, saying,

"Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, 'Why are you the last to 12 bring the king back to his house? You are my kinsmen, my bone and 13 my flesh, why then are you the last to bring the king back?' Say to Amasa, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? God do so to me and more also, if you shall not become commander of the army henceforth instead of Joab.' ”

14 And Amasa swayed the hearts of all the men of Judah as one man, so that they sent word to the king:

“Return, both you and all your followers.”

15 So the king returned and came to the Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal in order to go and meet the king and bring him across the Jordan.

16 Moreover Shimei, the son of Gera the Benjaminite, who was of Bahurim, made haste and went down with the men of Judah to meet
17 king David, with a thousand men of Benjamin; and with him was Ziba, the servant of the house of Saul, with his fifteen sons and his twenty servants; and they sped down to the Jordan before the king,
18 and crossed over the ford to bring over the king's household and to do
19 whatever was pleasing in his sight. And as he was about to cross the Jordan, Shimei, the son of Gera, fell before the king, and he said to the king,

“Let not my lord hold me guilty nor remember that which your servant did perversely the day that my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to heart. For your servant knows that I have sinned; therefore, see, I have come today the first of all the house of Joseph to come down to meet my lord the king.”

21 But Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, answered and said,

“Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the LORD's Messiah?”

22 And David said,

“What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should be as an adversary to me this day? Should anyone be put to death in Israel today? For do you not know that I am today king over Israel?”

23 And the king said to Shimei,

“You shall not die.”

And the king swore to him.

24 And Meribaal, the son of Saul, came down to meet the king; and he had neither pared his nails nor trimmed his moustache nor washed his clothes from the day the king departed until the day he came back in safety.

25 And when he came from Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him,

26 “Why did you not go with me, Meribaal?”

And he said,

“My lord, O king, my servant deceived me; for your servant said to him, ‘Saddle me an ass, on which I may ride and go with the king,’²⁷ because your servant is lame. But he has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is as a Messenger of God; do²⁸ therefore what is good in your eyes. For though all the house of my father were naught but men deserving of death in the sight of my lord, the king, nevertheless you have set your servant among those who eat at your table. And from whose hand shall I receive justice?”

²⁹ And he cried out again to the king. And the king said to him, “Why do you continue to amplify your words? I have settled it, ³⁰ you and Ziba shall divide the estate.”

And Meribaal said to the king,

“Rather let him take the whole, inasmuch as my lord the king has come home in safety.”

³¹ Now Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim, and passed on with the king to the Jordan to bid him farewell at the Jordan. And Barzillai was very aged, being eighty years old, and he had³² provisioned the king while he tarried at Mahanaim; for he was a very³³ great man. And the king said to Barzillai,

“Cross over with me, and I will provide for your old age with me in Jerusalem.”

³⁴ But Barzillai said to the king,

“How many years is my life, that I should go up with the king to³⁵ Jerusalem? I am today eighty years old. Can I distinguish between good and bad? Can your servant relish what he eats or what he drinks? Can I hear any more the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be an added burden to my³⁶ lord the king? For your servant would only pass on a little way with³⁷ the king, and why should the king bestow upon me this boon? Let your servant return, I pray you, that I may die in my native city, by the grave of my father and my mother. But here is your servant Chimham; let him cross over with my lord the king; and deal with him as seems good in your sight.”

³⁸ And the king said,

“Chimham shall cross over with me, and I will deal with him as it would please you; and whatever you shall choose to lay upon me, that will I do for you.”

³⁹ Then all the people crossed the Jordan. But the king stood still. And the king kissed Barzillai, and blessed him, and he returned to his place.

40 Then the king crossed over to Gilgal, Chimham being with him; and all the people of Judah and also half the people of Israel brought 41 the king back. And behold all the men of Israel approaching the king, said to the king,

“Why have our kinsmen, the men of Judah, stolen you away, and brought from over Jordan the king and his household, and all the men of David with him?”

42 Then all the men of Judah retorted to the men of Israel,

“Because the king is near of kin to us. Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we eaten at all at the king’s expense? or has anything been carried away by us?”

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said,

“I have ten shares in the king, moreover I am the first-born rather than you; why then did you despise me? And was not my advice first to bring back my king?”

But the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

20 Now there happened to be there a base rascal, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjaminite. And he blew a trumpet and said,

“We have no portion in David,
And we have no share in Jesse’s son!
Each man to his tents, O Israel!”

2 Then all the men of Israel withdrew from David, and followed Sheba, the son of Bichri; but the men of Judah remained steadfast to their king, from the Jordan even to Jerusalem.

3 And when David came to his house at Jerusalem, the king took the ten concubines, whom he had left to look after the house, and put them in the palace keep and supported them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up until the day of their death, living as widows.

4 And the king said to Amasa,

“Summon for me the men of Judah within three days, and report here in person.”

5 So Amasa went to summon Judah. But when he delayed beyond
6 the set time which he had appointed him, David said,

“Now will Sheba, the son of Bichri, do us more damage than did Absalom; take your lord’s servants and pursue after him, lest he find for himself fortified cities and escape from us.”

7 So there went out after Abishai, Joab and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and all the seasoned warriors; and they set out from Jeru-

8 salem to pursue Sheba, the son of Bichri. When they were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa came to meet them. And Joab was girt with a sword under his cloak, and outside his clothing he was girt with another sword in its sheath, bound upon his loins, and this came 9 out and fell. And Joab said to Amasa,

“Is it well with you, my brother?”

And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him.

10 And as Amasa was not on his guard against the sword that was in Joab's hand, he stabbed him in the body, and shed his bowels to the ground, with a single thrust; and he died. And Joab and Abishai his 11 brother pursued after Sheba, the son of Bichri. And one of Joab's young men stood by him and said,

“Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is for David, let him follow Joab.”

12 But Amasa lay wallowing in blood in the middle of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stopped, he carried Amasa out of the highway into a field, and threw a garment over him, inas-
13 much as he saw that everyone who came to him halted. When he was removed out of the highway, every man passed on after Joab, to pursue after Sheba, the son of Bichri.

14 And he passed on through all the tribes of Israel to Abel-beth-15 maacah. And all the Bichrites assembled and entered after him. And they came and besieged him in Abel-beth-maacah; and they threw up a mound against the city, and it stood within the outer rampart; and all the people with Joab were contriving how to throw down the wall.
16 Now a wise woman out of the city called,

“Hear, hear! Say, I pray you, to Joab, ‘Come here that I may speak to you.’”

17 And he came near her; and the woman said,
“Are you Joab?”

And he said,

“I am.”

Then she said to him,

“Listen to the words of your maidservant.”

And he said,

“I am listening.”

18 Then she said as follows,

“They used to speak formerly, saying, ‘Let them but inquire at 19 Abel, and so a matter was settled.’ I am of those who are peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city and a mother in Israel; why will you destroy the inheritance of the LORD?"

20 And Joab answered and said,

"Far be it, far be it from me that I should destroy or devastate!

21 That is not the case. But a man of the hill country of Ephraim, Sheba, the son of Bichri, by name, has lifted up his hand against King David; only deliver him up, and I will withdraw from the city."

And the woman said to Joab,

"Behold, his head shall be thrown to you from the wall."

22 Then she went and advised all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba, the son of Bichri, and threw it down to Joab. So he blew the trumpet and they were dispersed from the city, each to his home. And Joab returned to Jerusalem, to the king.

23 Joab was commander-in-chief of the whole army of Israel, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and 24 the Pelethites; and Adoram was in charge of the forced labor; and 25 Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, was the recorder; and Shiva was scribe; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests; and also Ira the Jairite was a priest to David.

A FAMINE—ITS CAUSE AND CURE, 21:1-14

21 Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years in succession. And when David sought the face of the LORD, the LORD said,

"It is for Saul and his bloody house, because he put to death the Gibeonites."

2 And David called the Gibeonites and said to them (now the Gibeonites were not of the Israelites, but of the remnant of the Amorites; however the Israelites had taken oath with them; and Saul had sought to slay them in his zeal for the Israelites and the Judeans),

3 "What can I do for you? And wherewith can I make expiation, so that you may bless the heritage of the LORD?"

4 And the Gibeonites said to him,

"It is not a matter of silver or gold between us and Saul or his house; neither is it for us to put to death any man in Israel."

And he repeated,

"What do you say that I shall do for you?"

5 And they said to the king,

6 we should find no place in any of the borders of Israel—let seven men of his sons be given to us, that we may hang them up to the LORD in Gibeon, the mountain of the LORD."

And the king said,

"I will give them."

- 7 But the king spared Meribaal, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the oath of the LORD which was between them, between 8 David and Jonathan, the son of Saul. And the king took the two sons of Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, Armoni and Meribaal, and the five sons of Merab, the daughter of Saul, whom she 9 bore to Adriel, the son of Barzillai, the Meholathite; and he gave them into the hand of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them in the mountain before the LORD, so that the seven of them fell together; and they were put to death in the first days of harvest, at the beginning of the barley harvest.
- 10 Then Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah, took sackcloth and spread it for her on the rock, from the beginning of barley harvest until water was poured upon them from the heavens; and she did not permit the birds of the heavens to light upon them by day nor the beasts of the 11 field by night. And when it was told David what Rizpah, the daughter
12 of Aiah, the consort of Saul had done, David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabesh in Gilead, who had stolen them from the plaza of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, on the day that the Philistines
13 overcame Saul at Gilboa. And he brought up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son and they gathered up the bones
14 of those who were hanged. And they buried the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son in the land of Benjamin, by the side of the grave of Kish his father, and they did all that the king commanded. And after that God was propitiated toward the land.

DAVID'S MIGHTY MEN, 21:15-22

- 15 Now when the Philistines were again at war with Israel, David went down together with his servants and encamped in Gob and 16 fought against the Philistines. Then arose Dodo, who was one of the descendants of the giants, the weight of whose spear was three hundred shekels of bronze, and he had a new girdle; and he thought to 17 slay David. But Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, succored him and attacked the Philistine and killed him. Then the men of David swore to him, saying,

“You shall go out no more with us to battle, that you may not quench the lamp of Israel.”

- 18 Now when afterward there was again war with the Philistines at Gob, Sibbecai the Shuhite slew Saph, who was one of the descendants
 19 of the giants. And when there was again war with the Philistines in Gob, Elhanan, the son of Jaareoregim the Bethlehemite, slew Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver’s beam.
 20 There was again war at Gath, where was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-21 four in number; and he also was of the race of giants. And when he defied Israel, Jonathan, the son of Shimei, David’s brother, slew him.
 22 These four were descended from the giants in Gath; and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

A VICTOR’S HYMN OF PRAISE, 22:1–51

- 22 And David spoke to the LORD the words of this song, in the day
 2 the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. And he said,

“The LORD is my rock, my fortress, and my deliverer—

- 3 My God, my rock, in whom I seek refuge,
 My shield, the weapon of my deliverance, my tower, and my refuge;

My savior, thou savest me from violence.

- 4 I call upon the LORD who is worthy to be praised,
 That I may be rescued from my enemies.

- 5 The breakers of death engulfed me,
 Torrents of ruin terrified me;

- 6 The cords of Sheol surrounded me,
 Snares of death confronted me.

- 7 “In my distress I called upon the LORD,
 And unto my God I cried for help.
 He heard my voice from his palace,
 And my cry reached his ears.

- 8 “Then the earth quaked and rocked,
 The foundations of the heavens trembled
 And rocked when he was angry.

- 9 Smoke rose from his nostrils,
 And fire from his mouth devoured;
 Coals were kindled by it.

- 10 "He bowed the heavens, and came down;
Thick darkness was under his feet.
- 11 He rode upon a cherub, and flew;
And he sped with the wings of the wind.
- 12 "He made darkness his encircling pavilions,
His covert was the darkness of the heavens,
13 Thick clouds without brightness;
Before him coals of fire were kindled.
- 14 The LORD thundered from the heavens,
The Most High uttered his voice.
- 15 "He let fly his arrows, and scattered them,
Lightning, and discomfited them.
- 16 Then the ocean floor was seen,
And the foundations of the world were bared,
At the rebuke of the LORD,
At the fierce breath of his wrath.
- 17 He sent from on high, he took me;
He drew me out of many waters.
- 18 He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From my foes, for they were too strong for me.
- 19 "They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
But the LORD became my stay.
- 20 He led me forth into a broad place;
He set me free, because he was pleased with me.
- 21 The LORD rewarded me in accordance with my righteousness;
He requited me in accordance with the cleanness of my hands.
- 22 For I have kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not transgressed against my God.
- 23 For all his ordinances are before me,
And from his statutes I do not turn aside.
- 24 And I was blameless before him,
And guarded myself from my guilt.
- 25 "So the LORD requited me in accordance with my righteousness,
In accordance with my cleanness in his sight.
- 26 "Toward the pious thou dost act piously;
Toward the blameless thou dost act blamelessly;
27 Toward the pure thou dost act purely;
And toward the crooked thou dost act craftily.

- 28 For thou wilt deliver an humble people,
But thine eyes are upon the haughty, to bring them down.
- 29 For thou, O LORD! art my lamp,
And the LORD lightens my darkness.
- 30 Through thee I can break down a rampart,
By my God I can scale a wall.
- 31 "The way of God is blameless,
The speech of the LORD is sincere;
A shield is he to all who take refuge in him.
- 32 For who is God but the LORD?
And who is a rock save our God?
- 33 "God is my stronghold;
He makes my way blameless,
34 Making my feet like the doe's,
And makes me stand securely on my heights.
- 35 He trains my hands for battle,
So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
- 36 And thou hast given me thy saving shield,
And thy help to me makes me great.
- 37 Thou dost enlarge the range of my steps,
And my ankles do not give way.
- 38 "I pursue my enemies and destroy them,
And do not turn back till they are consumed.
- 39 And I consume them and thrust them through,
Till they cannot rise;
Beneath my feet they fall.
- 40 "For thou dost gird me with strength for the battle;
Thou dost subdue my opponents under me.
- 41 And thou dost make my enemies show me the back;
And them that hate me I destroy.
- 42 They cry for help but there is none to deliver,
To the LORD but he does not answer them.
- 43 Then I pulverize them like the dust of the earth,
I crush them like the dirt of the streets, stamping upon them.
- 44 Thou dost deliver me from the feuds of the people.
Thou wilt keep me to be head of the nations;
People that I have not known serve me.

- 45 Foreigners fawn upon me;
As soon as they hear of me, they submit to me.
- 46 Foreigners fade away,
And come trembling from their fastnesses.
- 47 "All hail to the LORD! And blessed be my rock!
And may the God of my deliverance be exalted!
- 48 The God who gives me vengeance,
And puts peoples in subjection under me;
49 Who frees me from my foes;
And thou exaltest me above my adversaries;
From violent men thou dost rescue me.
- 50 "Therefore I shall praise thee among the nations, O LORD!
And sing praises to thy name;
- 51 To him who gives great victories to his king,
And shows kindness to his anointed,
To David and his seed forever."

THE LAST WORDS OF DAVID, 23:1-7

- 23 Now these are the last words of David.
"The oracle of David, the son of Jesse,
And the oracle of the man who was raised on high,
The Messiah of the God of Jacob,
And pleasant in the psalms of Israel.
- 2 By me the spirit of the LORD has spoken,
And his word is upon my tongue.
- 3 The God of Israel said,
The Rock of Israel spoke to me:
'When one rules over men, as a righteous one,
When one rules in the fear of God,
4 Then it is as the light of the morning
When the sun rises,
A morning cloudless clear, after rain
Upon the tender grass.'
- 5 Should not my house be so with God,
Although he has decreed for me an eternal covenant,
Set forth in all things and sure,
Still all my security and all my desire
Should never come to fruition.

- 6 But worthlessness!—as thorns to be thrust away are all of them;
For with the hand they cannot be taken.
- 7 But the man who touches them
Arms himself with iron and spear-shaft,
And with fire they are utterly burned forthwith.”

A LIST OF DAVID'S HEROES, 23:8-39

- 8 These are the names of David's heroic followers: Ishbaal the Hachmonite, he was the leader of the Three; he raised aloft his spear
9 over eight hundred slain at one time. And next to him among the three heroes was Eleazar, the son of Dodi, the son of the Ahohite. He was with David at Pasdammim when the Philistines were gathered 10 there for battle. But when the Israelites withdrew, he arose and attacked the Philistines until his hand was weary and was as if grown fast to the sword. And so the LORD wrought a great victory that day; 11 and the people returned after him only to strip the slain. And next to him was Shammah, the son of Agee, a Hararite. And the Philistines were gathered together at Lehi. And there was a plot of ground full 12 of lentils. But when the people fled from the Philistines, he took his stand in the midst of the plot and defended it and slew the Philistines. And the LORD wrought a great victory.
- 13 And three of the Thirty went down to the rock to David to the cave of Adullam, while the camp of the Philistines was pitched in the Valley of Rephaim. David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison 14 of the Philistines was at the same time in Bethlehem. Moreover David longed earnestly and said, “O that someone would give me a drink of water now from the well of Bethlehem that is by the gate!”
- 16 Then when the three heroes broke through the camp of the Philistines and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem that was beside the gate, and took it up and brought it to David, he would not drink of it
17 but poured it out to the LORD. And David said, “Far be it from me, O LORD, that I should do this! It is the blood of men who went at the peril of their lives.”
Therefore he would not drink it. These things did the three heroes.
- 18 Now Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruah, was chief of the Thirty. And he wielded his spear over three hundred slain, and so 19 won a name among the Thirty. He was indeed the most honorable of the Thirty, so that he became their commander, but he did not attain to the Three.

²⁰ And Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, was a valiant man of Kabzeel, a man of great prowess; he slew two sons of Ariel of Moab. He also ²¹ went down and slew a lion within a pit on a snowy day. He slew besides an Egyptian, a formidable looking man, armed with a spear, but he went down to him with a club, and wrenched the spear out of the ²² Egyptian's hand and slew him with his own spear. These things did Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and won him a name among the thirty ²³ heroes. He was very honorable among the Thirty but he did not attain to the Three. And David set him over his guard.

²⁴ Asahel, the brother of Joab, was among the Thirty; Elhanan, the ²⁵ son of Dodo of Bethlehem, Shammah the Harodite, Elikah the Harod-²⁶ ²⁷ ite, Helez the Paltite, Ira, the son of Ikkesh, the Tekoite, Abiezer the ²⁸ Anathothite, Sibbecai the Hushathite, Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai ²⁹ the Netophathite, Heled, the son of Baanah, the Netophathite, Ittai, ³⁰ the son of Ribai of Gibeah of the Benjaminites, Benaiah a Pirathon-³¹ ³² ite, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite, Azmaveth ³³ the Barhumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite, Jashen the Gunite, Jonathan, ³⁴ the son of Shammah, the Hararite, Ahiam, the son of the Ararite, ³⁵ Eliphelet, the son of Ahasbai, the Maacathite, Eliam, the son of ³⁶ Ahithophel, the Gilonite, Hezro the Carmelite, Paarai the Arbite, ³⁷ Igal, the son of Nathab of Zobah, Bani the Gadite, Zelek the Am-³⁸ ³⁹ monite, Naharai the Beerothite, the armor bearers of Joab, the son of ³⁸ Zeruiah, Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, Uriah the Hittite—a total ³⁹ of thirty-seven.

DAVID'S CENSUS, 24:1-25

²⁴ Now the LORD was again angered against Israel, and he incited ² David against them, saying,
 "Go number Israel and Judah!"

So the king said to Joab and the commanders of the force which was with him,

"Go about now throughout all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba, and take account of the people that I may know the number of the people."

³ And Joab said to the king,

"May the LORD your God add to the people a hundred times as many as they are, while the eyes of my lord the king look on! But why does my lord the king take delight in this thing?"

- 4 But the word of the king prevailed over Joab and the commanders of the force. Therefore Joab and the commanders of the force went out from the king's presence to take the census of the people of Israel.
- 5 They crossed the Jordan and began from Aroer, and from the city that is in the midst of the torrent valley, towards Gad and on to Jazer.
- 6 Then they came to Gilcad and to the land of the Hittites, to Kadesh;
- 7 and they came to Dan, and from Dan they went around to Sidon, and came to the fortress of Tyre and all the cities of the Hivvites, and of the Canaanites; and they went forth to the Negeb of Judah at Beer-
- 8 sheba. And when they had gone about through the whole land they
- 9 came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. And Joab gave the number of the census of the people to the king, and Israel consisted of eight hundred thousand able-bodied men who drew sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand.
- 10 But David's conscience smote him after he had numbered the people. And David said to the LORD,
- "I have sinned exceedingly in what I have done. But now, O LORD, take away, I pray thee, the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done very foolishly."
- 11 And when David arose in the morning, the word of the LORD came to Gad the prophet, David's seer, saying,
- 12 "Go and speak to David, 'Thus has the LORD said, "Three things I
- 13 offer you; choose one of them that I may do it to you.'"
- So Gad came to David and told him; and said to him,
- "Shall there come for you three years of famine upon your land? Or shall there be three months of flight before your adversary, while he pursues you? Or shall it be a three days' pestilence in your land? Now know and consider what answer I shall return to him who sent me."
- 14 Then David said to Gad,
- "I am deeply distressed. Let us fall now into the hand of the LORD, for his mercy is great, but let me not fall into the hand of man."
- 15 So David chose the pestilence. And the days when the plague began were the days of wheat harvest, and it slew of the people from Dan
- 16 to Beersheba seventy thousand men. And when the Messenger of the LORD stretched forth his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD repented of the evil, and said to the Messenger who was destroying among the people,
- "It is enough, now stay your hand."

And the Messenger of the LORD was by the threshing-floor of 17 Araunah the Jebusite. Then David spoke to the LORD, when he saw the Messenger who was smiting the people, and he said, “Behold I have sinned and have done wickedly; but these are sheep, what have they done? I pray thee, let thy hand be against me and my father’s house.”

18 Gad came to David that day, and said to him,

“Go up, rear an altar to the LORD on the threshing-floor of Araunah the Jebusite.”

19 So David went up according to the word of Gad, as the LORD 20 commanded him. And when Araunah looked down and saw the king and his servants crossing over to him, Araunah went forth and did 21 obeisance to the king with his face to the earth, and Araunah said,

“Wherefore has my lord the king come to his servant?”

And David said,

“To purchase of you the threshing-floor, to build an altar to the LORD, that the plague may be stayed from the people.”

22 Then Araunah said to David,

“Let my lord the king take and offer up what is good in his sight.

Here are the cattle for a burnt-offering and the threshing-sledges and 23 the implements of the cattle for the wood. The servant of my lord the king has given the whole to the king.”

And Araunah said to the king,

“The LORD your God accept you!”

24 But the king said to Araunah,

“No, but I will surely buy it of you for a price. I cannot offer up burnt-offerings to the LORD my God that cost me nothing.”

So David bought the threshing-floor and the cattle for fifty shekels 25 of silver. Then David built there an altar to the LORD, and offered up whole burnt-offerings and thank-offerings. So the LORD was entreated for the land and the plague was stayed from Israel.

THE FIRST BOOK OF KINGS

THE LAST DAYS OF DAVID, 1:1—2:11

- 1 Now King David was getting old and well advanced in years, and although they wrapped him in garments he could not keep warm.
- 2 Therefore his servants said to him,
“Let them seek for my lord the king a young maiden and let her attend the king and act as his nurse; and let her lie in your bosom, that my lord the king may be warm.”
- 3 So they sought for a beautiful maiden throughout all the territory of Israel, and they found Abishag the Shunammite and they brought 4 her to the king. And the maiden was exquisitely beautiful; and she became the king’s nurse, and ministered to him; but the king had no intercourse with her.
- 5 Then Adonijah, the son of Haggith, began making his boast, saying,
“I will be king.”
- And so he prepared for himself a chariot and horsemen and fifty 6 men as runners to go before him. Now his father had never in his life restrained him by saying,
“Why do you do thus and so?”
- And he was besides a very handsome man, and he was born next 7 after Absalom. Accordingly he negotiated with Joab, the son of Zeruah, and with Abiathar the priest, so that they became Adonijah’s
8 helpers. But Zadok the priest and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet and Shimei and Rei and David’s trained warriors
9 were not with Adonijah. Now Adonijah sacrificed sheep and oxen and fat cattle by the Serpent’s Stone, which is beside En-rogel, and he invited all his brothers, the king’s sons, together with all the royal 10 officials of Judah; but he did not invite Nathan the prophet, nor Benaiah, nor the trained warriors, nor Solomon his brother.
- 11 Then Nathan said to Bathsheba, the mother of Solomon, as follows, “Have you not heard that Adonijah, the son of Haggith, has been 12 made king and our lord David does not know it? Now therefore let me, I pray you, advise you, that you may save your own life and the 13 life of your son Solomon. Go in to King David and say to him, ‘Have you not, my lord, O king, sworn to your maidservant, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne?’”

14 Why then has Adonijah been made king?' Now then while you are yet speaking there with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm your words."

15 So Bathsheba went in to the king to his chamber; (now the king was exceedingly old and Abishag the Shunammite was ministering to the king). Bathsheba then bowed and did obeisance to the king. And the king said,

"What do you want?"

17 And she said to him,

"My lord, you yourself swore to your maidservant by the LORD your God, 'Solomon your son shall be king after me and he shall sit on my throne.' And now, behold, Adonijah is king and you, my lord, O king, do not know it. He has sacrificed oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab, commander of the army; but he has not invited Solomon your servant. Now, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon you, that you should tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. As it stands the result will be that when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be regarded as rebels."

22 But while she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet entered. And they told the king,

"Nathan the prophet is here."

And he came before the king and did obeisance to the king with his face to the earth. And Nathan said,

"My lord, O king, have you said, 'Adonijah shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne?' For he has gone down today and sacrificed oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and invited all the king's sons, and Joab, the commander of the army, and Abiathar the priest, and behold they are eating and drinking before him, and have said, 'Long live King Adonijah!' But as for me, even me your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and Solomon your servant he has not invited. Has this thing been brought about by my lord the king, and you have not told your servants who should sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him?"

28 Then King David spoke up and said,

"Call Bathsheba to me."

29 And she came in before the king and stood before him. And the king swore, saying,

"As the LORD lives, who has ransomed my life out of all adver-

- 30 sity, as I swore to you by the LORD, the God of Israel, saying 'Solomon your son shall be king after me and he shall sit on my throne in my stead'; so will I do this day."
- 31 Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did obeisance to the king and said,
"My lord King David live forever!"
- 32 And King David said,
"Call for me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada."
- 33 And when they came before the king, the king said to them,
"Take with you the servants of your lord and cause Solomon my 34 son to ride upon my own mule, and bring him down to Gihon. And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Israel; then blow the trumpet and say, 'Long live King Solomon!' You also shall go up behind him and he shall come in and sit upon my throne and he shall be king in my stead; and him have I commanded to be leader over Israel and Judah."
- 36 Then Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, answered the king and said, "So be it! so may the LORD confirm the words of my lord the king.
37 As the LORD has been with my lord the king, so may he be with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David!"
- 38 Accordingly Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, together with the Cherethites and the Pelethites, caused Solomon to ride on the mule of King David, and brought him 39 to Gihon. Then Zadok the priest took a horn of oil from the tent and anointed Solomon. Whereupon they blew the trumpet and all the people said,
"Long live King Solomon!"
- 40 And all the people went up after him playing upon flutes and rejoicing with such great outburst that the earth was rent with their noise.
- 41 Now Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it just as they finished feasting. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said,
"Why this noise of the town in uproar?"
- 42 While he was still speaking, there came Jonathan, the son of Abiathar the priest. And Adonijah said,
"Enter, for you are a valiant man and bring good news."
- 43 And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah,

44 “No, rather our lord King David has made Solomon king. And the king has sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, together with the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride on the king’s mule.
45 And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon, and they have gone up from there rejoicing, so that the 46 town is in uproar. That was the noise which you heard. And Solomon also has sat down on the throne of the kingdom. Moreover the servants of the king have already come to congratulate our lord King David, saying, ‘May your God make the name of Solomon better than your name and his throne greater than your throne!’ And the 48 king bowed himself on his bed. Furthermore thus the king has said, ‘Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who has today granted one of my offspring to sit on my throne, my own eyes beholding it.’”

49 Then all the guests whom Adonijah had were terrified and arose
50 and each went his way. But Adonijah was in such fear of Solomon that he arose and went and caught hold of the horns of the altar.
51 And it was told Solomon, saying,

“See, Adonijah fears King Solomon, and now he has laid hold of the horns of the altar, saying, ‘Let King Solomon swear to me first that he will not slay his servant with the sword.’”

52 And Solomon said,

“If he be a worthy man, not a hair of him shall fall to the earth, but if evil be found in him then he shall die.”

53 So King Solomon sent and they brought him down from the altar, and he came and did obeisance to King Solomon. And Solomon said to him,

“Go to your house.”

2 When David’s time to die drew near, he charged Solomon his son, saying,

2 “I am about to go the way of all the earth. Be strong then and
3 show yourself a man, and keep the charge of the LORD your God, by walking in his ways, by keeping his statutes, his commandments, his judgments and his testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses, that you may have success in all that you do and in all that you under-
4 take; that the LORD may establish his word that he spoke to me, saying, ‘If your sons guard their steps to walk before me in truth with all their mind and with all their zeal, there shall not fail you a man on the throne of Israel.’

5 “Now furthermore you know what Joab, the son of Zeruah, did to

- me, how he dealt with the two commanders of the armies of Israel, Abner, the son of Ner, and Amasa, the son of Jether, how that he slew them and avenged blood shed in war in time of peace, and put innocent blood upon his girdle that was about his loins and upon his sandals that were on his feet. Act therefore according to your wisdom, so that you do not allow his hoary head to go down in peace to Sheol.
- 6 But show kindness to the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table; for so they presented themselves to me when I fled from Absalom your brother. There is also with you Shimei, the son of Gera, the Benjaminite of Bahurim, who cursed me with a grievous curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim. But when he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I swore to him by
- 9 the LORD, saying, 'I will not slay you with the sword.' But do you yourself not hold him guiltless; you are a wise man and know what you should do to him, and you shall bring down his old age with blood to Sheol."
- 10 So David slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David.
- 11 And the period that David was king over Israel was forty years: seven years he was king in Hebron, and thirty-three years he was king in Jerusalem.

SOLOMON'S EXECUTION OF DAVID'S WILL, 2:12-46

- 12 Thus Solomon sat upon the throne of David his father and his rule
- 13 was thoroughly established. Now Adonijah, the son of Haggith, came to Bathsheba, the mother of Solomon, and did obeisance to her. And she said,
- "Is your coming friendly?"
- And he said,
 "Friendly."
- 14 And he went on to say,
 "I would have a word with you."
- And she said,
 "Speak."
- 15 And he said,
 "You know the kingdom belonged to me and that all Israel openly expected me to reign, but now the kingdom has been turned about and
- 16 has become my brother's, for it was his from the LORD. Now, however, I am about to make one request of you; do not refuse me."
- And she said to him,
 "Speak on."

- 17 Then he said,
"Suggest, I pray you, to Solomon the king, for he will not refuse you, that he give me Abishag the Shunammite as wife."
- 18 And Bathsheba said,
"Very well, I will speak for you to the king."
- 19 Accordingly Bathsheba went in to King Solomon to speak to him concerning Adonijah. And the king arose to meet her and did obeisance to her, and sat down on his throne, and a seat was placed for the
- 20 mother of the king, and she sat on his right. Then she said,
"A small request I am about to make of you, do not refuse me."
And the king said to her,
"Ask, my mother, for I will not refuse you."
- 21 And she said,
"Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as
- 22 wife."
But King Solomon answered and said to his mother,
"Why then do you ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask for him the kingdom also! for he is my elder brother, and on his side are Abiathar the priest and Joab, the son of Zeruah."
- 23 Then King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying,
"So may God do to me and more also if Adonijah has not spoken
- 24 this word against his own life. Now therefore, as the LORD lives, who has established me and caused me to sit upon the throne of David my father, and who has made me a house as he promised, Adonijah shall today be put to death."
- 25 So King Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, who struck him down, so that he died.
- 26 And the king said to Abiathar the priest,
"Go to Anathoth to your estate for you are worthy of death, but I will not put you to death at this time, because you bore the ark of the LORD before David my father, and because you suffered affliction in all that my father endured."
- 27 So Solomon excluded Abiathar from being a priest of the LORD, in order to fulfil the word of the LORD which he spoke concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.
- 28 But when the report came to Joab—for Joab had followed Adonijah but he had not followed Absalom—Joab fled to the tent of the
- 29 LORD and laid hold of the horns of the altar. And when it was told King Solomon that Joab had fled to the tent of the LORD and was there beside the altar, Solomon sent to Joab, saying,

"How does it happen that you have fled to the altar?"

And Joab said,

"Because I was afraid of you and so I fled to the LORD."

Then Solomon sent Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, saying,

"Go, strike him down."

30 So Benaiah went into the tent of the LORD and said to him,

"Thus the king has said, 'Come out.' "

But he said,

"No, for I prefer to die here."

Then Benaiah brought the king word again, saying,

"Thus Joab spoke and thus he answered me."

31 Then the king said to him,

"Do as he has spoken; therefore strike him down and bury him, that you may take away from me and from my father's house the innocent blood which Joab shed. The LORD will also requite his bloody deeds upon his own head, because he fell upon two men more righteous and honorable than he, and slew them with the sword, without the knowledge of my father David: Abner, the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa, the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. So shall their blood return upon the head of Joab and upon the head of his descendants forever; but to David, and to his descendants, and to his house, and to his throne may there be peace from the LORD for evermore."

34 Then Benaiah went up and fell upon him and slew him; and he 35 was buried in his own house in the desert. And the king put Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, over the army in his stead, and the king put Zadok the priest in the place of Abiathar.

36 Then the king called Shimei and said to him,

"Build you a house in Jerusalem and dwell there, but you shall 37 not go forth from there to any place whatever. For the day you go forth and cross the Brook Kidron, know for a certainty that you shall surely die; your blood shall be upon your own head."

38 And Shimei said to the king,

"The stipulation is fair; as my lord the king has spoken so will your servant do."

So Shimei lived in Jerusalem many days.

39 But at the end of three years, two of Shimei's slaves ran away to Achish, the son of Maachah, king of Gath. And when they told 40 Shimei, saying, "Behold your slaves are in Gath," Shimei arose and 41 saddled his ass and went to Gath to Achish to seek his slaves. And Shimei went and brought his slaves from Gath. Accordingly when it was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath 42 and returned, the king sent and called Shimei, and said to him,

“Did I not cause you to swear by the LORD and solemnly admonish you, saying, ‘On the day that you go forth and go to any place whatever, know of a certainty that you shall surely die?’ And you said to 43 me, ‘The stipulation is fair, I have heard it.’ Why then have you not kept the oath of the LORD and the commandment which I laid upon you?”

44 The king also said to Shimei,

“You are conscious of all the evil which you yourself knew, that you did to David my father; now the LORD is bringing your iniquity 45 upon your own head. But King Solomon shall be blessed and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever.”

46 So the king commanded Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and he went forth and struck him down so that he died. Thus the kingdom was completely established in the hand of Solomon.

SOLOMON'S DREAM AND HIS ANSWERED PRAYER, 3:1-28

3 Solomon formed a marriage alliance with Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he took Pharaoh's daughter, and brought her into the city of David, until he had finished the building of his house and the house of 2 the LORD and the wall around Jerusalem. Only the people sacrificed on the high places because there was no house built for the name of the LORD until those days.

3 Now Solomon loved the LORD so that he walked in the statutes of David his father; only he sacrificed and burned incense on the high
 4 places. Moreover the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there; for that was the great high place; and Solomon used to offer a thousand whole burnt-offerings on that altar.

5 In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream by night. And God said,

“Ask what I shall give you.”

6 And Solomon said,

“Thou hast shown great kindness to thy servant David my father, according as he walked before thee in truth, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou hast kept in store for him this great kindness, in that thou hast given him a son who sits on his
 7 throne this day. Now therefore, O LORD my God, thou hast made thy servant king in the place of David my father, while I am a little

8 child in comparison. I know not how to go out or come in. Thy servant also is in the midst of thy people which thou hast chosen, a vast 9 people, which cannot be numbered or counted for multitude. Give thy servant therefore an attentive mind to judge thy people in righteousness and to discern between good and evil; for who is able to judge this thy great people?"

10 And it was pleasing in the eyes of the LORD that Solomon had 11 asked this thing. And God said to him,

"Because you have asked this thing and have not asked for yourself long life nor riches nor the life of your enemies, but have asked
12 for yourself understanding to perceive justice; behold, I have done according to your word: see I have given you a wise and discerning mind, so that there has been none like you before you, and none like 13 you shall arise after you. I have also given what you did not ask: both riches and honor, so that, all your days, there shall not be any 14 like you among the kings. If you walk in my ways so that you keep my statutes and my commands as did your-father David then I will prolong your days."

15 Now when Solomon awoke, behold it was a dream. Then he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD and offered up whole burnt-offerings and made thank-offerings and made a feast for all his servants.

16 Then two women of ill fame came to the king and stood before 17 him. And the one woman said,

"O, my lord, this woman and I dwell in the same house; and I 18 gave birth to a child while she was in the house. Then on the third day after I was delivered, this woman also gave birth to a child and we were together, there being no stranger with us in the house besides 19 us two in the house. But the child of this woman died in the night,
20 because she lay upon it. Then she arose in the middle of the night and took my child from my side while your maidservant slept, and laid it 21 in her bosom and laid her dead child in my bosom. Thus when I arose toward morning to nurse my child, behold it was dead; but when I was able to examine it closely in the morning, behold it was not my child which I had borne."

22 Then the other woman said,

"No; but the living child is mine and the dead child is your child."

But the first woman was saying at the same time,

"No; but the living child is mine and the dead child is your child."

Thus they spoke before the king.

- 23 Then the king said,
 “This one declares, ‘This is my child, the living one, and your child is dead.’ And the other declares, ‘No; but your son is the dead and my son is the living!’”
- 24 Thereupon the king said,
 “Get me a sword.”
- 25 So they brought in a sword before the king. The king then said, “Cut the living child in two and give half to one and half to the other.”
- 26 But the woman to whom the living child belonged said to the king —for her motherly tenderness was aroused for her son—and she said, “O, my lord, give her the living child and above all do not kill it.”
 But the other interrupted,
 “It shall be neither mine nor yours! divide it!”
- 27 Then the king answered and said,
 “Give her the living child, and by no means slay it, for she is its mother.”
- 28 Now when all Israel heard of the judgment the king had rendered, they stood in awe of the king, for they perceived that the wisdom of God was in him to execute judgment.

THE ORGANIZATION OF SOLOMON'S KINGDOM, 4:1-28

- 42 Now King Solomon was king over all Israel. These also were the princes whom he had: Azariah, the son of Zadok, was the priest; Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha, were scribes; Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, was the recorder; and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, was in command of the army; and Zadok and Abiathar were priests; and Azariah, the son of Nathan, was in charge of the officers; and Zabud, the son of Nathan, was priest and the king's friend; and Ahishar was in charge of the house; and Adoniram, the son of Abda, was in charge of the forced labor.
- 7 Solomon also had twelve officers over all Israel, and they used to provide food for the king and his household: each man had to make provision for one month in the year.
- ⁸ These were their names: Ben-hur, in Mount Ephraim; Ben-deker, in Makaz, and in Shaalbaim, and Bethshemesh, and in Elonbeth-hanan; Ben-hesed, in Arubboth; he had Socoh and all the land of Hopher; Ben-abinadab, all the highland of Dor (he had Taphath the daughter of Solomon as wife); Baanah, the son of Ahilud, Taanach

- and Megiddo and all of Bethshean, which is beside Zarethan, beneath Jezreel, from Bethshean to Abel-meholah, as far as the other side of
- ¹³ Jokneam; Ben-geber in Ramoth-Gilead; he had the villages of Jair, the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead; he had the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls and brazen bars;
- ¹⁴ Ahinadab, the son of Iddo, at Mahanaim; Ahimaaz in Naphtali (he
- ¹⁵ also took Basemath, the daughter of Solomon, to wife); Baanah, the
- ¹⁷ son of Hushai, in Asher in Bealoth; Jehoshaphat, the son of Paruah,
- ¹⁸ in Issachar; Shimei, the son of Ela, in Benjamin; Geber, the son of
- ¹⁹ Uri, in the land of Gilead, the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and of Og, king of Bashan; and one officer was over all the officials who were in the land.
- ²⁰ Judah and Israel were as the sand which is by the sea for multitude; they were continually eating and drinking and making merry.
- ²¹ Solomon was the ruler over all the kingdoms from the River even to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. They brought tribute and continued to serve Solomon all the days of his life.
- ²² Solomon's provision for one day was about thirty measures of fine
- ²³ flour, and about sixty measures of meal, ten fat cattle and twenty pasture fed cattle and a hundred sheep, besides harts and gazelles
- ²⁴ and roebucks and fatted fowls. For he had dominion over everything beyond the River, from Tiphseh even to Gaza, over all the kings beyond the River. And he had peace on all sides round about
- ²⁵ him, so that Judah and Israel dwelt in safety from Dan even to Beersheba, every man under his own vine and fig tree, all the days of
- ²⁶ Solomon. Now Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen.
- ²⁷ And these officers supplied provisions for King Solomon and for all who came to King Solomon's table, each one in his month. They
- ²⁸ fell short in nothing. Also barley and straw for the horses and the swift steeds they brought to the place where it should be, each according to his assignment.

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON, 4:29-34

- ²⁹ And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding in very exceptional measure, and breadth of mind, like the sand that is on the sea-
- ³⁰ shore, so that Solomon's wisdom surpassed the wisdom of all the eastern
- ³¹ Arabs and all the wisdom of Egypt. For he was wiser than all men: than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol, and his fame was in all the neighboring nations. 32 He also spoke three thousand proverbs and his songs were five thousand. 33 And he spoke concerning trees, from the cedar which is in Lebanon even to the hyssop that springs out of the wall; he spoke also of 34 beasts, of birds, of creeping things, and of fish. And men came from all peoples to hear the wisdom of Solomon, sent from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

SOLOMON'S PREPARATIONS FOR THE TEMPLE, 5:1-18

5 Now Hiram, king of Tyre, had sent his servants to Solomon when he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father; for Hiram had always been fond of David.

2 And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,

3 "You yourself knew David my father, how he was unable to build a house for the name of the LORD his God because of the hostile forces that surrounded him until the LORD put them under the soles of his 4 feet. But now the LORD my God has given me rest on all sides, there 5 is no adversary and no untoward event. So now I am planning to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD spoke to David my father, saying, 'Your son whom I will put in your place 6 upon your throne, he shall build the house for my name.' Now therefore, command that they cut for me cedars of Lebanon; and my servants will accompany your servants, and I will pay you wages for your servants exactly as you say; for you know that there is no one among us who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians."

7 When Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he was very greatly pleased and said,

"Blessed be the LORD today, who has given David a wise son to be over this great people."

8 So Hiram sent to Solomon, saying,

"I have heard what you have requested of me; I stand ready to perform all your pleasure in the matter of cedar and cypress timbers.

9 My servants shall bring them down to the sea from Lebanon, and I will make them into rafts to go by sea to the place you shall direct me, and I will have them broken up there, and you shall take them up. You shall also accomplish my desire by providing food for my household."

10 So Hiram kept Solomon supplied with cedar and cypress timber to 11 his entire satisfaction. Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand meas-

- ures of wheat for food for his household, and twenty baths of oil beaten from the olives. This much Solomon used to give Hiram annually.
- ¹² And the LORD gave Solomon wisdom as he spoke to him; and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them ratified a treaty.
- ¹³ King Solomon raised a levy of forced laborers out of all Israel,
- ¹⁴ and the levy consisted of thirty thousand men. And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month in relays; a month they were in Lebanon and two months at home; and Adoniram was in command of the levy. Solomon also had seventy thousand burden bearers and
- ¹⁶ eighty thousand hewers of stone in the mountains; beside Solomon's superior officers who were set over the work, three thousand three hundred, who had charge of the people who were doing the work. And the king commanded that they should hew out great, costly stones,
- ¹⁸ to lay the foundation of the house with cut stone. So Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders and the Gebalites did the hewing and prepared the timbers and the stones to build the house.

THE BUILDING PLANS OF THE TEMPLE, 6:1-38

- ⁶ Now in the four hundred and eightieth year after the departure of the Israelites from the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month Ziv, that is the second month, he built
- ² the house of the LORD. As for the house which King Solomon built for the LORD, its length was sixty cubits, its breadth twenty cubits, and
- ³ its height thirty. The porch before the temple was twenty cubits in length, corresponding to the breadth of the house, and it was ten cubits
- ⁴ wide before the house. And he made for the house windows with narrowed frames.
- ⁵ He also built inclosed galleries against the wall of the house round about in conformity with the walls of the house round about, both around the temple proper and the inner room, and he made side
- ⁶ chambers round about. The lower side chamber was five cubits broad and the middle six cubits broad, and the third seven cubits broad; for on the outside of the house round about he made offsets in order that the supports should not be inserted into the walls
- ⁷ of the house. When the house was built, it was done with stone prepared at the quarry; and neither hammer nor ax nor any iron tool was
- ⁸ heard in the temple while it was being built. The entrance into the lower side chamber was on the right side of the house. And by means of a circular trap door they could go up into the middle chamber and 9 from the middle into the third. So he built the house and finished it;

10 and he covered the house with cedar. And he built the inclosed galleries against the whole house, five cubits was the height of each; and they were joined to the house with timbers of cedar.

11 Now the word of the Lord came to Solomon, saying,

12 "With regard to this house you are building, if you will walk in my statutes, and carry out my judgments, and keep all my commandments by conforming your conduct to them; then I will confirm my 13 word with you which I spoke to David your father. And I will dwell in the midst of the Israelites and will not forsake my people Israel."

14 So Solomon built the house and finished it.

15 He built the walls of the house within with boards of cedar; from the floor of the house to the rafters of the ceiling he covered them on the inside with wood, and he covered the floor of the house with boards
16 of cypress. He built off twenty cubits from the back of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the rafters; and he built for himself
17 within an inner room, for the most holy place. And the house, that is the temple proper, before the inner room was forty cubits long.
18 And there was cedar within the interior of the house carved in the form of gourds and open flowers; the whole was cedar, there was no
19 stone seen. So he prepared an inner room within the interior of the 20 house to place there the ark of the covenant of the LORD. The inner room was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high. And he overlaid it with rare gold. He also made an altar of 21 cedar before the inner room and covered it with gold. Then he overlaid the entire house with gold, until the whole house was finished.

22 He made in the inner room two cherubs of olive wood, ten cubits
23 in height. And one wing of the cherub was five cubits and the other wing of the cherub was five cubits—it was ten cubits from 24 the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. And the other cherub also measured ten cubits; both cherubs had the same measurement
25 and form. The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, even so 26 was the other cherub. Thus he put the cherubs within the inner part of the house, and they spread out the wings of the cherubs, so that the wing of the one touched the wall, while the wing of the other cherub reached the other wall, and their wings touched each 27 other in the middle of the house; he also overlaid the cherubs with 28 gold.

29 He carved all the walls of the house round about with carved figures of cherubs and palm trees and opening flowers, within and with-

- 30 out. The floor of the house he overlaid with gold within and without.
- 31 And for the entrance of the inner room he made folding doors of 32 olive wood: the pilasters and doorposts formed a pentagonal. And the two doors of olive wood he decorated with carvings of cherubs and palm trees and opening flowers, and he overlaid them with gold. And he spread the gold upon the cherubs and the palm trees.
- 33 So also he made for the entrance of the temple proper, doorposts 34 of olive wood four square; and two doors of cypress wood: the two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other 35 door were folding. And he carved cherubs and palm trees and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold evenly applied to the carved 36 work. And he built the inner court with three courses of hewn stone, and a course of hewn cedar beams.
- 37 In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the LORD 38 laid, in the month of Ziv. In the eleventh year, in the month Bul, that is the eighth month, was the house finished in all its details and according to all its specifications. Thus he was seven years in building it.

DETAILS OF SOLOMON'S BUILDINGS, 7:1-51

- 7 But Solomon was thirteen years building his own house until he had 2 finished his entire house. Thus he built the Forest of Lebanon House, its length was one hundred cubits, and its breadth fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits, upon three rows of cedar columns, with 3 cedar beams upon the columns. It was covered with cedar above over the forty-five beams that were upon the columns, and the num-
4 ber of the columns was fifteen in a row. And there were window-frames in three rows, and window was over against window, in three
5 tiers. All the doorways and windows had square frames; and door
6 was over against door in three tiers. He also made the pillared porch fifty cubits long and thirty cubits broad; and a porch before 7 them and columns and a cornice before them. And he made the porch of the throne where he might pronounce judgment, even the Porch of Judgment; and it was covered with cedar from floor to rafters.
- 8 His own house, where he was to dwell, belonging to another court farther back from the Porch of Judgment, was of like workmanship. He also made a house for Pharaoh's daughter (whom Solomon had taken to wife) like this porch.
- 9 All these were of costly stones, hewn according to measurements, sawed with saws, within and without, even from the foundation to 10 the coping, and from the outside to the great court. The foundation also was of costly, great stones—stones of ten cubits and stones of 11 eight cubits; likewise above were costly stones, hewn according to 12 measurement, as well as cedar, also the great encircling court had three courses of hewn stone and a course of cedar beams, even so it was around the inner court of the house of the LORD and the court of the porch of the house.

13 Then King Solomon sent and brought Hiram from Tyre. He was 14 the son of a widow of the tribe of Naphtali; and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze; and he was equipped with skill, understanding, and knowledge to execute any work in bronze. So he 15 came to King Solomon and did all his work. Thus he cast the two columns of bronze for the porch of the temple. Eighteen cubits was the height of one column, and a cord of twelve cubits measured its circumference; the thickness of the column was four fingers; it was 16 hollow, and the second column was similar. He also made two capitals of molten bronze, to set upon the tops of the columns, the height of the one capital was five cubits, and five cubits was the height of the other capital. Then he made two nets (woven work, festoons, chain work) for the capitals which were upon the top of the columns; a net for the one capital, and a net for the other cap-18 ital. He likewise made the pomegranates; and two rows of bronze pomegranates were upon the one to cover the capitals that were upon the top of the columns; he also treated the other capital in the same 19 manner. Now the capitals that were upon the top of the columns 20 in the porch were of lily work—four cubits. There were also capitals above upon the two columns close to the rounded projection of the column which were beside the network; and the pomegranates were two hundred, in two rows around about the second capital.
21 Thus he set up the columns of the porch of the temple; and he set up the right hand column and called its name Jachin; and he set up 22 the left hand column and called its name Boaz. Now upon the top of the columns was lily work. So he finished the work of the columns.
23 Then he made the round molten sea, ten cubits in diameter from brim to brim, and five cubits high, and it was thirty cubits in cir-24 cumference. Also under its brim were gourds completely encircling it for ten cubits, encompassing the sea on the outside; there 26 were two rows of gourds cast when it was cast. Now its thickness

- was a handbreadth, and its brim was in workmanship like the brim of a cup, similar to the flower of a lily. It held two thousand baths.
- 25 It rested upon twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east; and the sea was superimposed upon them, and all their hinder parts were directed inward.
- 27 He made also ten stands of bronze; each stand was four cubits long, 28 three cubits wide and three cubits high. The construction of the stands was as follows: they had border-frames and the border-frames 29 were between the supports; and on the border-frames that were between the supports were lions, oxen, and cherubs; and upon the supports likewise, above and below the lions, oxen, and wreaths, was bevelled work. Moreover each stand had four bronze wheels, and axles 30 of bronze, and the four corners had shoulder-pieces: beneath the bowl the shoulder-pieces were cast, with wreaths at the sides of each. 31 Its mouth within the shoulder-piece was a cubit, and its mouth was round after the work of a pedestal, a cubit and a half, and also upon its mouth were gravings, and its border-frames were square, not 32 round. And the four wheels were underneath the border-frames; 33 and the stays of the wheels were in the base. The construction of the wheels also was like the construction of a chariot wheel: their supports, their felloes, their spokes, and their hubs, were all cast. There were four shoulder-pieces at the four corners of each stand; the shoulder-pieces were a part of the stand.
- 35 Now in the top of the stand there was a round opening half a cubit high, and upon the top of the stand were its supports and its border- 36 frames. And on the smooth surface of the supports and borderframes he carved cherubs, lions, and palm trees, according to the clear space 37 on each with wreaths round about. After this manner he made the ten stands: all of them were of one casting and of one measure and form.
- 38 He also made ten lavers of bronze: one laver held forty baths, and one laver measured four cubits; and on each one of the ten stands 39 was a laver. Then he put the stands, five on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house; and he put the sea on the right side of the house toward the south.
- 40 Hiram also made the pots and the shovels and the basins. So Hiram finished all the work that he did for King Solomon on the house of 41 the LORD: the two columns and the two bowl-shaped capitals that were on top of the columns, and the two networks to cover the two 42 bowls of the capitals that were on the top of the pillars, and the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks—two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that 43 were on top of the columns, and the ten stands and the ten lavers upon 44 the stands, and the one sea and the twelve oxen underneath the sea.

45 Now the pots, and the shovels, and the basins, and all these vessels which Hiram made for King Solomon in the house of the LORD, were 47 of burnished bronze. There was no weighing of the bronze from which he made all these vessels because it was so very much, the 46 weight of the bronze could not be determined. In the district of the Jordan he cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zare-
48 than. So Solomon placed all the vessels which he had made in the house of the LORD: the golden altar, and the golden table whereon
49 was the Presence-bread; and the lampstands, five on the right side, and five on the left before the inner room, of pure gold; and the 50 flowers, and the lamps, and the golden tongs; and the cups, snuffers, basins, saucers, and fire pans, of pure gold; and the golden hinges, both for the folding doors of the inner house (the most holy place) and for the folding doors of the temple proper.

51 Thus all the work was finished that King Solomon wrought on the house of the LORD. Solomon also brought in the sacred things of David his father, the silver, the gold, and the vessels, placing them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

THE DEDICATION OF THE TEMPLE, 8:1-66

8 Then Solomon proceeded to assemble the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the princes of the fathers' houses of the Israelites, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David, that is Zion. Moreover, all the men of Israel assembled themselves about King Solomon at 3 the feast, in the month of Ethanim, which is the seventh month. All 4 the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark. Thus they brought up the ark of the LORD, and the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; and the priests and Levites brought 5 them up. Then King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, that were gathered to him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing so many sheep and oxen, that they could not be counted or numbered.
6 So the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place in the inner room of the house (in the most holy place) underneath

7 the wings of the cherubs. For the cherubs stood with wings outspread over the place of the ark, so that the cherubs made a covering above the
8 ark and its staves. But the staves were so long that the ends of the staves were seen from the holy place before the inner room, yet they 9 were not seen without, and they are there to this day. There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone which Moses had put there in Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the Israel-
10 ites at the time they came out of the land of Egypt. Now when the priests came out of the holy place, a cloud filled the house of the 11 LORD, so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

12 Then Solomon said,

“The Lord established the sun in the heavens,
But he chose to dwell in thick darkness;

13 “‘Build my house, a house of habitation for me,
That I may dwell therein forever.’
Is it not written in the Book of the Upright?”

14 Then the king faced about and blessed all the assembly of Israel,
15 while all the assembly of Israel was standing. And he said,

“Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his own lips spoke with David my father, and with his own hand has fulfilled it,
16 saying, ‘Since the day I brought forth my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house, that my name might be there, but I have chosen David to be over my 17 people Israel.’ Now it was in the mind of David my father to build 18 a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. But the LORD said to David my father, ‘Whereas it was in your mind to build a 19 house for my name, you did well that it was in your mind; nevertheless you yourself shall not build the house; but your son, who shall come forth from your loins, he shall build the house for my name.’
20 Now the LORD has made good his word which he spoke; for I have risen up in the place of David my father and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised, and I have built the house for the name
21 of the LORD, the God of Israel. And there I have provided a place for the ark wherein is the covenant of the LORD, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.”

22 Then Solomon stood up before the altar of the LORD in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel and spread forth his hands 23 toward heaven, and said,

“O LORD, the God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heavens above nor upon the earth beneath, who keeps covenant and shows kindness to thy servants who walk before thee with all their heart,
24 who hast kept with thy servant David, my father, that which thou didst declare to him, and didst speak with thy lips, and with thy hand hast
25 fulfilled it, as at this day. Now therefore, O LORD, the God of Israel, keep with thy servant David, my father, that which thou didst declare to him, saying, ‘There shall not fail you a man in my sight to sit on the throne of Israel, if only your sons shall take heed to their 26 way, to walk before me as you have walked before me.’ Now therefore, O God of Israel, let thy word be confirmed, I pray thee, which thou hast spoken to thy servant David, my father.

27 “But can God dwell with men on the earth? Behold the heavens and the highest heaven cannot contain thee; how much less this house
28 which I have built! Yet incline unto the prayer of thy servant and to his supplication, O LORD, my God, hearkening to the cry and to the prayer which thy servant is uttering before thee at this moment, 29 that thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward the place of which thou hast said, ‘My name shall be there,’ to listen to the prayer which thy servant shall pray toward this place.
30 And hearken thou to the supplication of thy servant and of thy people Israel, when they shall pray toward this place; even hear thou in the heavens, thy dwelling-place, and when thou hearest, forgive.

31 “In case a man sin against his neighbor, and an oath be laid upon him compelling him to swear, and he come and swear before thy altar
32 in this house, then hear thou in the heavens, and act and judge thy servants, condemning the wicked by bringing the outcome of his conduct upon his own head, and justifying the righteous, by rewarding him according to his righteousness.

33 “When thy people Israel are defeated before the enemy because they have sinned against thee, if they turn again to thee and praise
34 thy name and pray and make supplication to thee in this house, then hear thou in the heavens and forgive the sin of thy people Israel and bring them back again to the land which thou gavest to their fathers.

35 “When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against thee, if they pray toward this place and praise thy 36 name and turn from their sin, when thou dost afflict them, then hear thou in the heavens and forgive the sin of thy servants and of thy people Israel, when thou teachest them the good way in which they should walk, and grant rain upon thy land, which thou hast given to thy people for an inheritance.

- 37 "If there be in the land famine, if there be pestilence, blasting, mildew, locust or caterpillar, if their enemy besiege them in any of 38 their gates, whatever plague, whatever sickness there be, whatever prayer, whatever supplication be made by any man, or by all thy people Israel, who knows each his own personal affliction, and stretches
39 out his hand toward this house, then hear thou in the heavens thy dwelling-place and forgive and act and render to each according to all his ways, whose heart thou knowest (for thou, even thou alone, 40 knowest the hearts of all the children of men), that they may fear thee all the days that they live on the face of the land which thou gavest to our fathers.
- 41 "Then also as to the alien, who is not of thy people Israel, but comes 42 from a far country for thy name's sake—for they shall hear of thy great name, and thy mighty hand and of thine outstretched arm—
43 when he shall come and pray toward this house, hear thou in the heavens thy dwelling-place and do according to all that the alien petitions of thee, that all the peoples of the earth may know thy name, to fear thee, as do thy people Israel, and that they may know that this house which I have built is called by thy name.
- 44 "If thy people go out to battle against their enemy, by whatever way thou shalt send them, and they pray to the LORD in the direction of the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built 45 for thy name, then hear thou in the heavens their prayer and their supplication and maintain their right.
- 46 "If they sin against thee—for there is no man that sins not—and thou be angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, so that they carry them away captive to the land of the enemy, far off or near;
47 yet if they shall reflect in the land to which they have been carried captive, and shall turn again and make supplication to thee in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned, and have acted perversely
48 and wickedly'; if they return to thee with all their mind and with all their heart in the land of their enemies, who carried them captive, and pray to thee in the direction of their land, which thou gavest to their fathers, the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I
49 have built for thy name, then hear thou in the heavens thy dwelling-place their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their right, 50 and forgive thy people who have sinned against thee, and all their transgressions which they have transgressed against thee, and grant them compassion in the sight of those who carried them captive, that 51 they may have compassion on them—for they are thy people and thine inheritance, which thou didst bring forth out of Egypt, from 52 the midst of the iron furnace—that thine eyes may be open to the supplication of thy servant and to the supplication of thy people Israel, 53 real, to give ear to them whenever they cry to thee. For thou didst separate them from all the peoples of the earth to be thine inheritance, as thou didst promise through Moses thy servant, when thou didst bring our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.”

54 Now as Solomon finished praying all this prayer and supplication to the LORD, he arose from kneeling on his knees before the altar of 55 the LORD with his hands stretched out toward the heavens, and stood, and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying,

56 “Blessed be the LORD who has given rest to his people Israel, according to all that he promised. Not one word has failed of all his 57 good promise which he spoke by Moses his servant. The LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers; let him not leave us nor 58 forsake us, that he may incline our hearts to him, to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments, and his statutes and his ordinances, 59 which he commanded our fathers. Let these words of mine, wherewith I have made supplication before the LORD, be near to the LORD, our God, day and night, that he maintain the right of his servant
60 and the right of his people Israel, as each day requires; that all the peoples of the earth may know that the LORD is God; there is no
61 other. Let your heart therefore be perfect with the LORD our God, to walk in his statutes and to keep his commandments, as at this day.”

62 The king and all Israel with him offered sacrifice before the LORD.
63 Solomon, moreover, offered as the sacrifice of thank-offerings, which he offered to the LORD, twenty-two thousand oxen, and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep. Thus the king and all the Israelites dedicated 64 the house of the LORD. The same day the king consecrated the interior of the court that was in front of the house of the LORD; for there he made the whole burnt-offering, and the cereal-offering, and the fat pieces of the thank-offerings, because the bronze altar that was before the LORD was too small to receive the burnt-offering and the 65 cereal-offering and the fat pieces of the thank-offerings. So Solomon made a feast at that time and all Israel with him—a great assembly, from the entrance of Hamath to the brook of Egypt—before the 66 LORD our God, seven days. But on the eighth day he sent the people away; and with a blessing upon the king they went to their homes, joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that the LORD had shown to David his servant, and to Israel his people.

SOLOMON'S VISION, 9:1-9

9 Now when Solomon had finished building the house of the LORD and the king's house and all the work of Solomon which he was 2 pleased to do, the LORD appeared to Solomon a second time, as he had 3 appeared to him in Gibeon. The LORD said to him,

"I have heard your prayer and your supplication, which you have made before me. I have consecrated this house which you have built in which to put my name forever; and my eyes and my heart shall be 4 there for all time. If you will indeed walk before me, as David your father walked, in integrity of heart, and in uprightness, doing according to all that I have commanded you, and will keep my statutes and
5 my ordinances, then I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, as I promised David your father, saying, 'There
6 shall not fail you a man upon the throne of Israel.' But if you shall indeed turn aside from following me, you or your children, and shall not keep my commandments and my statutes which I have set
7 before you, but shall go and serve other gods, and worship them, then I will cut off Israel from the land, which I have given them; and the house which I have consecrated for my name, will I cast away from me, and Israel shall be a proverb and a byword among all peo-
8 ples. Moreover, this house shall become ruins, everyone passing by it shall be astonished and shall hiss, and they shall say, 'Why has the 9 LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' Then they shall say, 'Because they forsook the LORD their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and devoted themselves to other gods and worshipped and served them; therefore the LORD has brought upon them all this evil.'"

THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME CABUL, 9:10-14

10 Now at the end of twenty years, during which Solomon had built
11 the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king's house, Hiram king of Tyre having supplied Solomon with cedar and cypress timber and with gold as much as he required, King Solomon at that time pro-12 ceeded to give to Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. But when Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had 13 given him, they were not acceptable in his sight. Therefore he said,

"What are these cities which you have given me, my brother?"

14 So they are called the land of Cabul even to this day. But Hiram had sent to the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

SOLOMON'S VARIED INTERESTS, 9:15—10:29

15 Now this is the account of the levy of forced service which King Solomon raised to build the house of the LORD, his own house, Millo, 16 the wall of Jerusalem, Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer (Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up, and captured Gezer, and burnt it with fire, and slain the Canaanites who dwelt in the city, and given it as a 17 dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife. So Solomon rebuilt Gezer), 18 lower Beth-horon, Baalath, and Tamar in the desert in the land of 19 Judah, and all the store-cities that Solomon had, and cities for his chariots, and the cities for his horsemen, and whatsoever Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land under his 20 rule. All the people who were left of the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivvites, and the Jebusites, who were not of the Israel- 21 ites, their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the Israelites were unable to destroy utterly, of them Solomon raised a 22 forced levy of slaves even as it is to this day. But Solomon made no slave of the Israelites for they were the soldiers and his attendants, his commanders, his officers of third rank, his chariot commanders and his horsemen.

23 These were the chief officers who were over Solomon's work, five hundred and fifty, who had charge of the people who did the work.

24 But Pharaoh's daughter went up from the city of David to her own house which he had built for her; then he built Millo.

25 Now Solomon used to offer up burnt-offerings and thank-offerings three times a year upon the altar which he built to the LORD, and he used to burn incense before the LORD. So he completed the house.

26 King Solomon also made a fleet of ships in Eziongeber, which is 27 near Eloth on the shore of the Red Sea in the land of Edom. And Hiram sent with the fleet his servants—seamen, who were familiar 28 with the sea, together with the servants of Solomon. Now they went to Ophir and took from there gold, to the amount of four hundred and twenty talents, and brought it to Solomon.

10 Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon through the name of the LORD, she came to test him with hard ques- 2 tions. So she came to Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels bearing spices and very much gold and precious stones; and as soon as

3 she came to Solomon, she told him all that was on her mind. Solomon, however, answered all her questions; there was nothing hid from the 4 king which he could not explain to her. Then when the queen of Sheba had observed all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had 5 built, the viands of his table, the appointment of his servants, the attendance of his waiters, their clothing, his cupbearers, and his burnt-offerings which he used to offer at the house of the LORD, there was 6 no more spirit in her. So she said to the king,

“The report which I heard in my own land of your affairs and 7 your wisdom was true, but I would not believe the reports until I came and saw with my own eyes; and behold the half was not told me; you surpass in wisdom and prosperity the report which I 8 heard. Happy are your wives! Happy are these your servants who 9 stand before you continually and hear your wisdom! Blessed be the LORD your God who has delighted in you, to set you on the throne of Israel! Because the LORD loved Israel forever, he has made you king that you may execute justice and righteousness.”

10 Then she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold and a very great quantity of spices and precious stones; never did such a multitude of spices come, as that which the queen of Sheba gave to 11 King Solomon. In addition Hiram's fleet, that brought gold from Ophir, also brought a very great amount of red sandalwood and pre-12 cious stones. Moreover the king made of the sandalwood from Ophir pilasters for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, and harps and lyres for the singers. There never came such sandalwood, nor has it been seen to this day.

13 Now King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all that it pleased her to ask, besides that which he gave her according to his royal bounty. So she set out and went back to her own land, together with her servants.

14 The weight of gold that came to Solomon in a year was six hundred 15 and sixty-six talents of gold, besides that which came from the traffic of the merchants and from all the kings of the Arabs and from the governors of the land.

16 Moreover King Solomon made two hundred large shields of beaten gold—over six hundred shekels of gold was required for each shield 17—and three hundred shields of beaten gold—about three manas of gold was required for each shield—and the king put them in the 18 House of the Forest of Lebanon. The king also made a great ivory 19 throne and overlaid it with the finest gold. The throne had six steps and at the back of the throne were calves' heads, and on both sides of 20 the seat were arms, and two lions stood beside the arms, and twelve lions stood there, one on each side on the six steps. The like of it was never made in any kingdom.

21 All the drinking vessels of King Solomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of rare gold:
 none were of silver; it was considered of no value in the days of Solo-22 mon. For the king had at sea a fleet of Tarshish ships with the fleet of Hiram. Once every three years, the fleet of Tarshish ships used to 23 come bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes and peacocks. Thus King Solomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom.
 24 So the whole earth sought the presence of Solomon in order to listen 25 to the wisdom which God had put into his mind. They brought each his present: articles of silver and articles of gold, clothing, equipment, spices, horses and mules, so much year by year.

26 Moreover Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen; and he had fourteen hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, which he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.
 27 The king also made silver in Jerusalem as common as stone, and he made cedars as plentiful as the sycamore trees that are in the foot-28 hills. Solomon's transport of horses was between Egypt and Kuë; 29 the king's traders received them from Kuë at a price, and a chariot could be imported from Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver and a horse for a hundred and fifty. Even so through their means they carried on trade with all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of the Arameans.

SOLOMON'S SINS AND THEIR PENALTIES, 11:1—43

11 Now King Solomon was a lover of women; and he married many foreign wives—Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Sidonians and Hit-2 tites, from the nations concerning which the LORD had said to the Israelites, "You shall not go among them, neither shall they come among you; for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods;" Solomon clung to these in love.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred 4 consorts; and his wives turned away his heart. Now when Solomon was old, his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as 5 was the heart of David his father; and his wives turned away his heart after their gods. Solomon also went after Ashtarte, the goddess of the Sidonians, and after Milcom, the abomination of the 6 Ammonites. So Solomon did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and went not fully after the LORD as David his father had 7 done. Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh, the god of the Moabites, in the mountain over against Jerusalem, and for Milcom, the 8 god of the Ammonites. And so he did for all his foreign wives, burning incense and sacrificing to their gods. Thus the LORD was angry

9 with Solomon, because his heart was turned away from the LORD,
10 the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice, and had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods; but he did not heed that which the LORD had commanded.

11 Therefore he LORD said to Solomon,

“Inasmuch as this is your attitude and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded you, I will surely 12 rend the kingdom from you, and will give it to your servant. Nevertheless I will not do it in your days, for David your father’s sake;
13 but I will rend it out of the hand of your son. However I will not tear away the whole kingdom; but I will give one tribe to your son, for David my servant’s sake and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen.”

14 Accordingly the LORD raised up against Solomon an adversary,
15 Hadad the Edomite, of the royal house that was in Edom; for when David was in Edom, also when Joab, the commander of the army, 16 went up to bury the slain, he slew every male in Edom (for Joab and all Israel remained there six months until he had cut off every 17 male in Edom). Hadad and certain Edomites from the servants of his father fled with him, to go into Egypt, Hadad being a little child.
18 They set out from Midian and came to Paran and took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who 19 gave him a house and appointed him food and gave him land. So Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.
20 And the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh’s house; and Genubath was in Pharaoh’s
21 house among the sons of Pharaoh. Now when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab, the commander of the army, was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh,

“Send me away and let me go to my own country.”

22 But Pharaoh said to him,

“What have you lacked with me that you are now seeking to go to your own country?”

And he said to him,
 "Do certainly let me go."

23 God also raised up as an adversary to him, Rezon, the son of Eliada,
 24 who had fled from his master, Hadadezer, king of Zobah. So he gathered men about him and became leader of a marauding band, and they went to Damascus and dwelt there and reigned in Damascus.
 25 He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon besides the evil which Hadad did; and he abhorred Israel and ruled over Edom.

26 Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite of Zeredah, a servant of Solomon, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow, also lifted up 27 his hand against the king. Now this was the reason why he lifted up his hand against the king: Solomon built Millo and closed up the 28 breach of the city of David his father. Now the man Jeroboam was very able and when Solomon saw that the young man was industrious, he gave him charge of all the forced labor of the house of Joseph.

29 Thus it happened at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the road and he turned him aside from the road. Now Ahijah had clad himself with a new garment; and the two of them were alone in the field.
 30 Then Ahijah laid hold of the new garment that was on him and tore 31 it into twelve pieces. And he said to Jeroboam,

"Take for yourself ten pieces; for thus the LORD, the God of Israel, has said, 'Behold, I am about to tear the kingdom from the hand
 32 of Solomon and will give you ten tribes; but he shall have one tribe, for my servant David's sake and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city
 33 which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, because he has forsaken me and worshipped Ashtarte, the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh, the god of Moab, and Milcom, the god of the Ammonites, and has not walked in my ways to do that which is right in my sight, and to keep my statutes and my ordinances as David his father did.
 34 Nevertheless I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand; but I will certainly establish him as ruler during his lifetime, for David my servant's sake whom I chose, who kept my commandments and 35 my statutes. But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand, and 36 will give to you, even ten tribes. Yet to his son I will give one tribe, that David my servant may always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem, my city where I have chosen to put my name. But I will take 37 you and you shall reign over all that you yourself desire, and you shall 38 be king over Israel. And if you will hearken to all that I command you, and will walk in my ways and do that which is right in my sight,

- by keeping my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, then I will be with you and build you a lasting house as I built for David, and will give Israel to you. Thus I will afflict the descendants of David for this, but not forever.' ”
- 39 Solomon therefore sought to kill Jeroboam, but Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt till the death of Solomon.
- 40 Now the rest of the records of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Records of Solomon? The time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. Then Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father; and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

THE DISRUPTION OF THE KINGDOM, 12:1-20

- 12 Moreover Rehoboam went to Shechem, because all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king.
- 2 Now as soon as Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, heard the news—for he was still in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Solomon the king, and he was living in Egypt—he returned to his native city of Zeredah in Mount Ephraim. So they sent and called Jeroboam, and he, with all the assembly of Israel, came. And they spoke to Rehoboam, saying,
- 4 “Your father made our yoke galling. Now therefore lighten the galling service of your father and the burdensome yoke he laid upon us, and we will serve you.”
- 5 Then he said to them,
“Go away for three days, then return to me.”
- So the people went away.
- 6 Then King Rehoboam took counsel with the old men who had stood before Solomon his father during his lifetime, saying,
“How do you advise me to reply to this people?”
- 7 And they replied to him, saying,
“If you will be a servant to this people today and will serve them, and when you answer them, speak kindly to them, then they will be your servants forever.”
- 8 But he rejected the counsel of the old men which they had offered him, and took counsel with the young men who had grown up with him and who were his companions. So he said to them,
- 9

“What do you advise that we reply to this people, who have spoken to me saying, ‘Lighten the yoke that your father laid upon us?’ ”

10 Then the young men who had grown up with him replied to him, saying,

“Thus say to this people who have said to you, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy, but do you lighten our yoke’; thus speak to them, 11 ‘My little finger is thicker than my father’s loins! And now whereas my father loaded you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips but I will chastise you with scorpion stings!’ ”

12 So when Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third 13 day, as the king bade, saying, “Return to me the third day,” the king answered them harshly, and rejected the counsel of the old men which 14 they offered him, but spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying,

“My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpion stings.”

15 So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a thing brought about of the LORD to establish his word which the LORD spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam, the son of Nebat.

16 Now when all Israel saw that the king had not hearkened to them, the people replied to the king, saying,

“What share have we in David? Yea, we have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel! Now see to your own house, O David!”

So the Israelites went to their homes.

17 But Rehoboam reigned over the Israelites who dwelt in the cities 18 of Judah. Then King Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the forced labor; but all Israel stoned him to death with stones. Whereupon King Rehoboam leaped into his chariot and made off for Jerusalem. 19 So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David down to this day.

20 Now as soon as all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. None, except the tribe of Judah only, remained loyal to the house of David.

SHEMAIAH'S PROPHECY, 12:21-24

- 21 When Rehoboam reached Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand seasoned troops, to fight against the house of Israel, in order to bring 22 back the kingdom to Rehoboam, the son of Solomon. But the word of God came to Shemaiah, a man of God, saying,
23 "Speak to Rehoboam, son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying,
24 "The LORD has spoken thus, "You shall not go up to fight against your brothers, the Israelites; return every man to his house, for this thing has come about directly from me." "

So they listened to the word of the LORD, and turned and went away according to the word of the LORD.

THE MAKING OF THE GOLDEN CALVES, 12:25—13:34

- 25 Then Jeroboam built Shechem in Mount Ephraim and dwelt there. He also went out from there and built Penüel.
26 Moreover, Jeroboam said to himself,
27 "Now the kingdom will revert to the house of David. If this people go up to make sacrifices in the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem, then will the heart of this people return to their lord, even to Rehoboam, king of Judah; and they will slay me, and return to Rehoboam, king of Judah."
28 So the king took counsel and made two calves of gold, and said to the people,
"You have gone up to Jerusalem long enough. Behold your gods, O Israel, who brought you up from the land of Egypt!"
29 So he set up the one in Bethel, and the other he put in Dan. And 30 this thing became a sin to Israel, for the people went to seek the one, even to Dan. He also made sanctuaries at high places, and made 31 priests from among all sorts of people, who were not of the sons of Levi. Jeroboam established a feast in the eighth month, on the 32 fifteenth day of the month, like the feast that is in Judah, and he went up to the altar; so he did in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he had made; and he stationed in Bethel the priests of the high places
33 that he had made. And Jeroboam went up to the altar which he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, which he had devised of his own accord; and he established a feast for the 13 elites and went up to the altar to burn incense. Now there came a man of God from Judah at the command of the LORD to Bethel, just as

2 Jeroboam was standing by the altar to burn incense. And the man cried out against the altar at the command of the LORD and said,

“O altar, altar, thus the LORD has said: ‘Behold a son shall be born to the house of David, Josiah by name, and upon you he shall sacrifice the priests of the high places who offer sacrifice upon you, and he shall burn men’s bones on you.’”

3 He also gave a sign the same day, saying,

“This is the sign which the LORD has spoken, ‘Behold, the altar shall be rent, and the ashes which are upon it shall be poured out.’”

4 Now when the king heard the word of the man of God which he cried against the altar in Bethel, Jeroboam put forth his hand from the altar, saying,

“Arrest him.”

But his hand which he put forth against him, withered up, so that 5 he could not draw it back to himself. The altar also was rent, and the ashes poured out from the altar, in accordance with the sign which 6 the man of God had given at the command of the LORD. Then the king answered and said to the man of God,

“Entreat now the favor of the LORD your God, and pray for me that my hand may be restored to me.”

So the man of God entreated the favor of the LORD, and the king’s 7 hand was restored to him again and became as it was before. Thereupon the king spoke to the man of God,

“Come home with me and take refreshment and I will give you a reward.”

8 But the man of God said to the king,

“If you were to give me half of your house, I would not go with 9 you, nor would I eat bread or drink water in this place! For so it was charged me by the word of the LORD, saying, ‘You shall not eat bread nor drink water, nor return by the way that you came.’”

10 So he went another way and did not return by the way that he came to Bethel.

11 Now a certain old prophet lived in Bethel; and his sons came and told him all the deeds that the man of God had done that day in Bethel; they also related to their father the words that he had spoken to 12 the king. And their father spoke to them,

“Which way did he go?”

So his sons pointed out which way the man of God who came 13 from Judah had gone. Then he said to his sons,

“Saddle the ass for me.”

- 14 So they saddled the ass for him and he rode off upon it. Now he went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak; and he said to him,
“Are you the man of God who came from Judah?”
And he said,
“I am.”
- 15 And he said to him,
“Come home with me and eat bread.”
- 16 But he said,
“I am not permitted to return with you, nor go in with you, nor 17 may I eat bread nor drink water with you in this place; for it was declared unto me by the word of the LORD, ‘You shall eat no bread nor drink water there, nor depart by the way you came.’”
- 18 Then he said to him,
“I too am a prophet as you are; and an angel spoke to me at the command of the Lord, saying, ‘Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water.’”
- 19 But he lied to him. So he returned with him, and ate bread in his house and drank water.
- 20 But while they were sitting at the table, the word of the LORD 21 came to the prophet who brought him back. And he cried to the man of God who came from Judah, saying,
“Thus the LORD has said, ‘Since you have disobeyed the word of the LORD, and have not kept the commandment which the LORD your 22 God commanded you, but have returned and eaten bread and drunk water in the place of which he told you, “Eat no bread, and drink no water,” your body shall not come to the grave of your fathers.’”
- 23 Now after he had eaten bread and drunk, he saddled the ass for 24 him and once more he departed. But a lion met him in the way and slew him, and his body was cast upon the road, and the ass stood beside 25 it; the lion also was standing by the body; and thus as men were passing by they saw the body cast upon the road, and the lion standing beside the body; and they came and reported it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.
- 26 So when the prophet who brought him back from the way heard of it, he said,
“It is the man of God who rebelled against the word of the LORD; therefore the LORD gave him to the lion, which has mangled him and slain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spoke to him.”

- 27 Then he spoke to his sons, saying,
 "Saddle the ass for me."
- 28 And they saddled it. Thus he went and found his body cast upon the road and the ass and the lion standing beside the body; the lion
- 29 had not eaten the body nor torn the ass. Then the prophet took up the body of the man of God, and laid it upon the ass, and brought it
- 30 back to the city that he might mourn and bury him. And he laid his body in his own grave; and they mourned over him,
 "Alas, my brother!"
- 31 After he had buried him, he said to his sons as follows:
 "When I die, bury me in the grave in which the man of God is
- 32 buried; lay my bones beside his bones; for the saying which he cried at the command of the LORD against the altar which is in Bethel, and against all the shrines of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria shall surely come to pass."
- 33 After this episode Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but made again from among all sorts of people priests of the high places. Whomsoever he would, he installed to be priests of the high places.
- 34 And this thing became a sin to the house of Jeroboam, even to cut it off and to destroy it from the face of the ground.

JEROBOAM DENOUNCED BY AHIJAH, 14:1-20

- 14^a At that time Abijah, the son of Jeroboam, fell sick. Then Jeroboam said to his wife,
 "Arise, I pray you, and disguise yourself, that you may not be known to be the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Shiloh. There is Ahijah the prophet, who declared to me that I should be king over this people.
- 3 And take with you ten loaves of bread and cakes and a jar of honey, and go to him; he will tell you what shall become of the child."
- 4 Then Jeroboam's wife did so; she arose and went to Shiloh and came to the house of Ahijah. Now Ahijah was unable to see, for his
- 5 eyes had become dim because of his age. But the LORD had said to Ahijah,
 "Behold the wife of Jeroboam is coming to seek a word from you concerning her son, for he is sick; thus and thus shall you speak to her."
- But when she came in she feigned to be a strange woman.
- 6 Now when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the doorway, he said,
 "Come in, wife of Jeroboam, why do you feign to be another,

7 seeing that I am sent to you with a harsh message? Go, say to Jeroboam, 'Thus has the LORD, the God of Israel, said: "Because I exalted you from the midst of the people and made you a leader over my 8 people Israel, and rent the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you, but you have not been like my servant David, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart to 9 do that only which was right in my sight, but you have done worse than any that were before you, and have gone and made you other gods and molten images to provoke my anger, and have cast me behind your back: therefore, behold, I am about to bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam and I will cut off from Jeroboam every male—him that is shut up and him that is left at large in Israel—and will utterly consume the house of Jeroboam, as a man consumes refuse,
11 until it is gone. Him that dies of Jeroboam in the city shall the dogs eat, and him that dies in the field shall the birds of the heavens eat;
12 for the LORD has spoken it.'" But do you arise, go to your home;
13 when your feet enter the city, the child shall die. And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him; for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him there is found some good thing toward the 14 LORD, the God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam. Moreover the LORD will raise up for himself a king over Israel, who shall cut off
15 this house of Jeroboam. Today and from now on the LORD will smite Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water, and he will root up Israel from this good land which he gave to your fathers, and will scatter them beyond the river, because they have made their Ashtartes, 16 provoking the LORD to anger. He will also give up Israel because of the sins which Jeroboam has committed, and with which he has made Israel to sin."

17 Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed and came to Tirzah—she was just entering over the threshold of the house when the child
18 died. And all Israel buried him and mourned for him according to the word of the LORD which he spoke by his servant Ahijah, the prophet.

19 Now the rest of the records of Jeroboam, how he made war, and how he ruled—they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the 20 Kings of Israel. And the time that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years; then he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son ruled in his stead.

THE REIGN OF REHOBOAM IN JUDAH, 14:21-31

21 Now Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city in which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name. And his mother's name was Naamah, the Ammonitess.

22 Moreover Judah did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and they aroused him to jealous anger with the sins which they committed, more than all their fathers had done. They also built for themselves high places, pillars, and Asherahs, on every high hill and 23 under every spreading tree; there were also male devotees of the fertility cult in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD drove out before the Israelites.

25 Now in the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak, king of Egypt, 26 came up against Jerusalem. And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house; he took all away. He also took away all the shields of gold which Solomon had 27 made. King Rehoboam made shields of bronze in their stead and intrusted them to the captains of the guards who kept the door of the 28 king's house. Accordingly, as often as the king went into the house of the LORD, the guards would carry them and take them back to the guard-room.

29 Now the rest of the records of Rehoboam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 30 And fighting kept up continually between Rehoboam and Jeroboam. 31 So Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and he was buried with his fathers in the city of David; and his mother's name was Naamah, the Ammonitess. And Abijam his son reigned in his stead.

THE REIGN OF ABIJAM IN JUDAH, 15:1-8

15 Now in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, 2 Abijam became king over Judah. He reigned three years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Maacah, the daughter of Abisha- 3 lom. But he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had committed before him; and his heart was not perfect with the LORD his 4 God like the heart of David his father. Nevertheless, for David's sake, the LORD his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, in that he 5 raised up his son after him and established Jerusalem, because David did that which was right in the sight of the LORD and did not turn aside from anything that he commanded him all the days of his life,

- ⁶ except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite. There was also war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.
- ⁷ Now the rest of the records of Abijam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?
- ⁸ There was also war between Abijam and Jeroboam. So Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David; and Asa, his son, reigned in his stead.

ASA OF JUDAH AND NADAB OF ISRAEL, 15:9-32

- ⁹ Now in the twentieth year of Jeroboam, king of Israel, Asa became ¹⁰ king of Judah, and he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem; and his ¹¹ mother's name was Maacah, the daughter of Abishalom. But Asa did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, as did David his ¹² father. He put away the male devotees of the fertility cult out of ¹³ the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made. He also removed Maacah his mother from being chief lady, because she made an obscene image as an Asherah. And Asa cut down her ob- ¹⁴ scene image, and burnt it in the Kidron Valley. But the high places were not removed; nevertheless the heart of Asa was perfect with ¹⁵ the LORD all his days. Moreover he brought into the house of the LORD the votive gifts of his father and his own votive objects—silver and gold and vessels.
- ¹⁶ Now there was war between Asa and Baasha, king of Israel, all ¹⁷ their days. And Baasha, king of Israel, went up against Judah and built Ramah, so that he might not allow anyone to go out or come ¹⁸ in to Asa, king of Judah. Then Asa took all the silver and gold that were left in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and the treasuries of the king's house, and put them in charge of his servants. And King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hez- ¹⁹ ion, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying,
- ¹⁹ "There is a league between me and you and between my father and your father; see, I have sent to you a present of silver and gold. Go break your league with Baasha, king of Israel, that he may with- ²⁰ draw from me."
- ²⁰ Ben-hadad therefore listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his forces against the cities of Israel, and captured Ijon, Dan, Abel- ²¹ beth-Maacah, and all Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.
- ²¹ Now as soon as Baasha heard of it, he stopped building Ramah and ²² dwelt in Tirtzah. Thereupon King Asa made a proclamation to all Judah—none were exempted—and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timbers with which Baasha had built. Then King Asa²³ built with them Geba of Benjamin and Mizpeh. Now the rest of all the records of Asa and all of his prowess and all that he did, and the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? Yet in the time of his old age he was diseased²⁴ in his feet. So Asa slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father; and Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his stead.

²⁵ Now Nadab, the son of Jeroboam, became king over Israel in the second year of Asa, king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two²⁶ years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin whereby he made Israel²⁷ to sin. Then Baasha, the son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar, conspired against him, and Baasha struck him down at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, while Nadab and all Israel were besieging²⁸ Gibbethon. So Baasha slew him in the third year of Asa, king of²⁹ Judah, and reigned in his stead; also as soon as he became king, he struck down all the house of Jeroboam. He did not leave a single person alive to Jeroboam until he had destroyed him, according to the word of the LORD which he spoke by his servant Ahijah the Shilonite,³⁰ because of the sins of Jeroboam which he committed and by which he made Israel to sin, and by his provocation whereby he provoked the³¹ LORD, the God of Israel, to anger. Now the rest of the records of Nadab and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the³² Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? There was also war between Asa and Baasha, king of Israel, all their days.

THE REIGN OF BAASHA OF ISRAEL, 15:33—16:7

³³ In the third year of Asa, king of Judah, Baasha, the son of Ahijah, became king over all Israel in Tirzah, and continued for twenty-four³⁴ years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin with which he made Israel to sin.

¹⁶ Accordingly the word of the LORD came to Jehu, the son of Hanani, against Baasha, saying,

² "Forasmuch as I exalted you out of the dust, and made you prince over my people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made my people Israel to sin, so that they have provoked me³ to jealous anger with their sins, behold, I will utterly sweep away Baasha and his house, and I will make your house like the house of

- 4 Jeroboam, the son of Nebat. Whoever belonging to Baasha dies in the city, him shall the dogs eat, and whoever of his dies in the field the birds of the heavens shall eat.”
- 5 Now the rest of the records of Baasha, and what he did and his prowess, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the
- 6 Kings of Israel? So Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried in
- 7 Tirzah, and Elah, his son, reigned in his stead. Moreover, by the prophet Jehu, the son of Hanani, the word of the LORD came against Baasha and his house, both on account of the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD to provoke his jealous anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and also because he smote him.

CIVIL STRIFE IN ISRAEL, 16:8-22

- 8 In the twenty-sixth year of Asa, king of Judah, Elah, the son of Baasha, became king over Israel in Tirzah and he continued for two
- 9 years. Then his servant Zimri, captain of half his chariots, conspired against him. He was in Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house
- 10 of Arzah, who was over the household in Tirzah; and Zimri went in and struck him down and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of
- 11 Asa, king of Judah, and reigned in his stead. But when he became king, as soon as he had seated himself upon his throne, he slew all the house of Baasha; he left him not a single male, either of his kinsfolks
- 12 or of his friends. Thus Zimri destroyed all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the LORD, which he spoke against Baasha by
- 13 Jehu the prophet, for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah, his son, which they committed and which they had made Israel commit, in provoking the jealous anger of the LORD, the God of Israel, with
- 14 their futilities. Now the rest of the records of Elah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?
- 15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa, king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. Now the people were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines. When the people who were encamped heard the report, “Zimri has conspired and also slain the king,” then all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army,
- 17 king over Israel that day in the camp. So Omri went up and all Israel
- 18 with him from Gibbethon, and they besieged Tirzah. But as soon as Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the castle of the king’s
- 19 house, and burnt the king’s house over him with fire, and so died, because of his sins which he committed, by doing that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, by walking in the way of Jeroboam and by his 20 sins which he did to make Israel to sin. Now the rest of the records of Zimri, and his conspiracy which he carried out, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

THE REIGN OF OMRI OF ISRAEL, 16:21-28

21 Then the people Israel were divided. Half of the people followed Tibni, the son of Ginath, to make him king, and the other half fol-
 22 lowed Omri. However, the people who followed Omri were stronger than the people who followed Tibni, the son of Ginath. As a result 23 Tibni died and Omri became king. In the thirty-first year of Asa, king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel, and continued twelve years; he reigned six years in Tirzah.

24 Then he bought the mountain of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver; and he built on the hill and named the city which he built Samaria after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill.
 25 But Omri did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and did
 26 more wickedly than all those who were before him. For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and in his sins with which he made Israel to sin, so that he aroused the jealous anger of the LORD,
 27 the God of Israel, by their vanities. Now the rest of the records of Omri, all that he did and his prowess, are they not written in the Book 28 of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? So Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria; and Ahab his son reigned in his stead.

THE REIGN OF AHAB OF ISRAEL, 16:29-34

29 Ahab, the son of Omri, became king over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa, king of Judah, and Ahab, the son of Omri, reigned over 30 Israel in Samaria twenty-two years. But Ahab, the son of Omri, did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD above all who were 31 before him. Moreover as though it had been a slight thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, he took as wife Jezebel, the daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians, and went and 32 served the Baal and worshipped him. Thus he erected an altar for the 33 Baal in the house of the Baal, which he built in Samaria. Ahab also made an Asherah, and Ahab did yet more to arouse the jealous anger of the LORD, the God of Israel, than all the kings of Israel who were 34 before him. In his days Hiel the Bethelite rebuilt Jericho. He laid its foundations upon Abiram his first-born, and he set up its gates upon Segub his youngest son, according to the word of the LORD which he spoke by Joshua, the son of Nun.

ELIJAH AND THE DROUGHT, 17:1—18:46

- 17 Now Elijah the Tishbite, of Tishbe in Gilead, said to Ahab,
“As the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word.”
- 2 Accordingly, the word of the LORD came to him, saying,
3 “Depart from here and turn eastward, and hide yourself by the 4 Brook Cherith, that is east of Jordan, and you shall drink from the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there.”
- 5 So he went and did according to the word of the LORD and went 6 and dwelt by the Brook Cherith that is east of Jordan. And the ravens uninterruptedly brought him bread and flesh in the morning and bread and flesh in the evening, and he used to drink from the 7 brook. But after a time the brook dried up because there was no rain in the land.
- 8 Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying, 9 “Arise, go to Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon, and dwell there; see, I have commanded a widow there to provide for you.”
- 10 So he arose and went to Zarephath. And as he came into the gate of the city, there was a widow there gathering sticks, and calling to her, he said, “Bring me, I pray you, a little water in a vessel that I may drink.”
- 11 But as she was going to bring it, he called to her and said, “Bring me, I pray you, a morsel of food in your hand.”
- 12 And she said,
“As the LORD your God lives, I have nothing but a handful of meal in the jar and a little oil in a cruse; and now I am gathering a few sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die.”
- 13 But Elijah said to her,
“Fear not; go and do as you have said; but first make me from it a little cake, and bring it to me, and afterward make for yourself and 14 your son. For thus the LORD, the God of Israel, has said, ‘The jar of meal shall not be exhausted nor the cruse of oil spent until the day that the LORD sends rain upon the ground.’”
- 15 So she went and did according to the word of Elijah. And she and 16 he and her household did eat day after day. The jar of meal was not exhausted, neither did the cruse of oil fail according to the word of the LORD which he spoke by Elijah.

17 Now after these things, the son of the mistress of the house fell sick; and his illness was so severe that there was no breath left in him.

18 Then she said to Elijah,

“What have I to do with you, O man of God? You have come to me to remind me of my iniquity and to kill my son!”

19 But he said to her,

“Give me your son.”

And he took him from her bosom and carried him into the upper chamber, where he was staying, and laid him upon his own bed.

20 Then he cried to the LORD and said,

“O LORD, my God, hast thou also brought evil upon this widow, with whom I am staying, by slaying her son?”

21 Moreover he stretched himself upon the child three times, and cried to the Lord and said,

“I pray thee, make this child’s life return into him again.”

22 And the LORD hearkened to the voice of Elijah; and the life of the 23 child came back to him again, so that he lived. Then Elijah took the child and brought him down from the upper chamber into the house and gave him to his mother. And Elijah said,

“See, your son is alive.”

24 And the woman said to Elijah,

“Now indeed I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD is really in your mouth.”

18 Now after many days the word of the LORD came to Elijah, in the third year, saying,

“Go, show yourself to Ahab; and I will bring rain upon the face of the ground.”

2 So Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. And the famine was 3 severe in Samaria. And Ahab had called Obadiah who was in charge

4 of the household. (Now Obadiah deeply revered the LORD, for when Jezebel ordered the prophets of the LORD exterminated, Obadiah had taken a hundred prophets and hidden them by fifties in a cave and 5 provided them with bread and water.) And Ahab said to Obadiah,

“Come, and let us go through the land to all the springs of water and to all the brooks; perhaps we shall find grass and so save the horses and mules alive, and cattle shall not be cut off from us.”

6 So they divided the land between them to pass through it: Ahab went in one direction by himself, and Obadiah went in another direction by himself.

7 Now while Obadiah was on the way suddenly Elijah met him, and when he recognized him, he fell on his face and said,

“Is it you, my lord Elijah?”

8 And he said to him,

“It is I, go, tell your master, ‘Elijah is here.’ ”

9 But he said,

“Wherein have I sinned, that you should deliver your servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me? As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom whither my lord has not sent to seek you; and when they said, ‘He is not here,’ he would put the kingdom and nation under oath that no one could find you. And now you say, ‘Go, say to your lord, ‘Elijah is here.’ ” But when I go from you the spirit of the LORD will carry you whither I know not; therefore when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find you, he will slay me, although I, your servant, have feared the LORD from my youth. Has it not been told my lord what I did when Jezebel slew the prophets of the LORD, how I hid a hundred prophets of the LORD by fifties in a cave and supplied them with food and water? And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, ‘Elijah is here,’ ’ that he may slay me!”

15 But Elijah said,

“As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will show myself to him today.”

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him, and Ahab went to meet Elijah. Now as soon as Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him,

“Is it you, you troubler of Israel?”

18 But he said,

“I have not troubled Israel, but you and your father’s house, in that you have forsaken the commandments of the LORD and have gone after the Baals. Now therefore send and gather to me all Israel, to Mount Carmel, together with the four hundred and fifty prophets of the Baal and the four hundred prophets of the Asherah, who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

20 So Ahab sent to all the Israelites and gathered the prophets together to Mount Carmel. Accordingly Elijah came near to all the people and said,

“How long are you going to limp upon two diverse opinions? If the LORD be God, follow him, but if the Baal, follow him.”

22 But the people gave him no answer. Then Elijah said to the people,

"I, even I only, am left as a prophet of the LORD, but the prophets 23 of the Baal are four hundred and fifty men. Let them therefore give us two bulls, and let them choose one bull for themselves and cut it in pieces and lay it on the wood but make no fire, and I will prepare the 24 other bull and place it on the wood, but I will make no fire. Then call you on the name of your god and I will call on the name of the LORD; and the god who answers by fire, he is God."

And all the people answered and said,

"It is a fair test!"

25 Thereupon Elijah said to the prophets of the Baal,

"Choose for yourselves a bull and prepare it first, for you are many, and call on the name of your god, but make no fire."

26 So they took the bull which he gave them and prepared it, and called on the name of the Baal from morning until noon, saying,

"O Baal, answer us."

But there was no voice and none answered. And they limped about 27 the altar which they had made. But at noon Elijah mocked them, and said,

"Cry with a loud voice; for he is a god; either he is meditating, or he has gone aside, or he is on a journey, or perhaps he is asleep and needs to be awakened!"

28 Then they cried with a loud voice, and proceeded to slash one another according to their custom, with swords and with lances until 29 the blood gushed out upon them. And when midday had passed they worked themselves into a prophetic frenzy until the offering of the oblation; but there was no voice, nor answer, and none regarded.

30 Then Elijah said to all the people,

"Come near to me."

So all the people drew near to him; and he repaired the altar of the 31 LORD which had been torn down. Accordingly Elijah took twelve stones, corresponding to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob to whom the word of the LORD came, saying,

"Israel shall be your name."

32 And with the stones he made an altar in the name of the LORD.
 Then he made a trench about the altar of the capacity of two measures 33 of seed. He also laid the pieces of wood in order, cut up the bull, and laid it upon the wood. And he said,

"Fill four jars with water and pour it on the burnt-offering and on the wood."

He also said,

- “Do it a second time;”
And they did it a second time.
- 34 Again he said,
“Do it a third time.”
- 35 And they did it a third time, so that the water ran around the altar;
and he also filled the trench with water.
- 36 Then when it was time to offer the oblation, Elijah the prophet came near and said,
“O LORD, God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known today that thou art God in Israel and that I am thy servant, and that 37 at thy command I have done all these things. Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that thou, O LORD, art God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again.”
- 38 Then the fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt-offering and the wood, the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that 39 was in the trench. So when all the people saw it, they fell upon their faces and said,
“The LORD, he is God; the LORD, he is God.”
- 40 But Elijah said to them,
“Seize the prophets of the Baal; let not a man of them escape.”
So they seized them and Elijah brought them down to the Brook
Kishon and slew them there.
- 41 Then Elijah said to Ahab,
“Go up, eat and drink; for there is the rushing sound of rain.”
- 42 So Ahab went up to eat and drink, but Elijah went up to the top of Carmel, and crouched down upon the earth, with his face between 43 his knees. And he said to his servant,
“Go up now, look toward the sea.”
So he went up, and looked and said,
“There is nothing.”
But he said,
“Go back seven times.”
- 44 So the servant went back seven times. However, the seventh time
he said,
“There is a cloud as small as a man’s hand, rising out of the sea.”
And he said,
“Go up, say to Ahab, ‘Harness your steeds and go down that the rain stop you not.’”
- 45 Moreover, in a very short time the heavens grew black with clouds and wind, and there was a great downpour. But Ahab rode on and 46 arrived at Jezreel. The hand of the LORD also was on Elijah so that he girded up his loins and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

ELIJAH ON MOUNT HOREB, 19:1-18

19 Now when Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and how
2 that he had slain all the prophets with the sword, Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying,

“As surely as you are Elijah and I am Jezebel, so may God do to me and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by tomorrow about this time.”

3 Then he was afraid and arose and went for his life, and came to 4 Beersheba that belongs to Judah; and there he left his servant. But he himself went into the desert a day’s journey, and came and sat down under a broom tree, and he requested for himself that he might die, and he said,

“It is enough; now, O LORD, take away my life, for I am no better than my fathers.”

5 Then he lay down and slept under a broom tree. Suddenly an angel was touching him, and he said to him,

“Arise, eat.”

6 And when he looked, behold there was at his head a cake baked on hot stones, and a cruse of water. So he ate and drank and lay down
7 again. But the Messenger of the LORD returned a second time and touched him and said,

“Arise, eat, for the journey is too great for you.”

8 So he arose and ate and drank and went in the strength of that food
9 forty days and forty nights to Horeb, the Mount of God. And he came there to a cave and lodged there.

And behold the word of the LORD came to him, and he said to him,
“What are you doing here, Elijah?”

10 Then he said,

“I have been very jealous for the LORD, the God of hosts; for the Israelites have forsaken the covenant with thee, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left, and they are seeking to take away my life.”

11 But he said,

“Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the LORD.”

And behold, the LORD was passing by, and a great and mighty wind was rending the mountain and shattering the rocks before the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind. After the wind came an earthquake,

¹² but the LORD was not in the earthquake. After the earthquake a fire; but the LORD was not in the fire. And after the fire a sound of gentle
¹³ stillness. Now as soon as Elijah perceived it, he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave. Then behold there came a voice to him and said,

“What are you doing here, Elijah?”

¹⁴ And he said,

“I have been very jealous for the LORD, the God of hosts, because the Israelites have forsaken the covenant with thee, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword, and I, even I only, am left, and they are seeking to take away my life.”

¹⁵ But the LORD said to him,

“Go, return on your way to the desert of Damascus, and when you
¹⁶ arrive anoint Hazael to be king over Syria. And Jehu, the son of Nimshi, you shall anoint to be king over Israel, and Elisha, the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah, you shall anoint to be prophet in your place.
¹⁷ And it shall be that whoever escapes the sword of Hazael shall Jehu
¹⁸ slay; and whoever escapes the sword of Jehu, shall Elisha slay. Yet will I spare seven thousand in Israel—all the knees which have not bowed to the Baal and every mouth which has not kissed him.”

THE CALL OF ELISHA, 19:19-21

¹⁹ Now when he departed from there he found Elisha, the son of Shaphat, as he was plowing behind twelve yoke of oxen, he being with the twelfth. Then Elijah came over to him and threw his mantle ²⁰ upon him. Thereupon he left the oxen and ran after Elijah, and he said,

“Let me, I pray you, kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you.”

And he said to him,

“Go back again, for what have I done to you?”

²¹ So he returned from following him and took a yoke of oxen and sacrificed them, and using the ox-yoke to boil their flesh, he gave it to the people and made them a feast; then he arose and went after Elijah and became his attendant.

ISRAEL'S WARS WITH SYRIA, 20:1-43

²⁰ Now Ben-hadad, king of Syria, assembled all his army, and there were thirty-two kings with him, together with horses and chariots. Thereupon he went up and besieged Samaria and fought against it.

- 2 Moreover he sent messengers to Ahab, king of Israel, into the city, and said to him,
- 3 "Thus has Ben-hadad said, 'Your silver and your gold are mine; your wives also and your children are mine.' "
- 4 The king of Israel then answered and said,
"According to your statement, my lord, O king, I am yours, together with all that I possess."
- 5 Presently the messengers came again and said,
"Thus has Ben-hadad said, 'I sent to you, saying, "You shall deliver to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children; but about this time tomorrow, I shall send my servants to you and they shall ransack your house and the houses of your servants; and whatever pleases them they shall take in their hands and carry it away." ' "
- 7 Then the king of Israel called to all the elders of the land, and said,
"Mark, I pray you, and take note how this man is looking for trouble, for he sent to me for my wives and my children, my silver and gold, and I did not deny him."
- 8 But all the elders and all the people said to him,
"Obey not, nor consent!"
- 9 So he said to the messengers of Ben-hadad,
"Say to my lord the king, 'All that you demanded of your servant at the first I was ready to do, but this thing I cannot do.' "
- 10 So the messengers went away and brought him word again. Thus Ben-hadad sent to him and said, "So may the gods do to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people who follow me."
- 11 But the king of Israel answered and said,
"Tell him, 'Let not him who is girding on his weapon boast himself as he who is ungirding.' "
- 12 Now at the time when he heard this message—he was drinking with the kings in the pavilions—he said to his servants,
"Form in line."
So they formed in line against the city.
- 13 At this juncture a certain prophet drew near to Ahab, king of Israel, and said,
"Thus says the LORD, 'Do you see all this great multitude? Behold, I am about to deliver them into your hand today, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

- 14 But Ahab said,
"By whom?"
So he said,
"Thus says the LORD, 'By the young men under the commanders of the provinces.'"
And he said,
"Who shall begin the battle?"
And he answered,
"You."
- 15 Then he mustered the young men under the commanders of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty-two. And after them he mustered all the people, even all the Israelites, seven thou-16 sand. And at noon they made the attack, while Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, together with the thirty-two kings, 17 his allies. Moreover the young men under the commanders of the provinces went out first. And they sent to Ben-hadad and reported,
saying,
"Men have come out from Samaria."
- 18 And he said,
"Whether they have come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they have come out for war, take them alive."
- 19 So these (the young men under the commanders of the provinces) 20 went out of the city, and the force which followed them. Then they slew each his man, so that the Arameans fled. And Israel pursued them, but Ben-hadad, the king of Syria, escaped on a horse with 21 horsemen. Then the king of Israel went out and captured horses and chariots, and made a great slaughter among the Arameans.
- 22 Moreover a prophet approached the king of Israel and said to him, "Go, strengthen yourself, and mark and see what you will do, for a year from now the king of Syria will be coming up against you."
- 23 But the servants of the king of Syria said to him,
"Their gods are mountain gods, therefore they were too strong for us; but let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be 24 stronger than they. Also do this thing: take the kings away, each 25 from his place and put captains in their stead, and do you yourself muster a force like the force you have lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot; then we will fight them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they."
- So he hearkened to their voice and did so.
- 26 Now when the year came round, Ben-hadad mustered the Ara-

27 means and went to Aphek to fight against Israel. And the Israelites were mustered and provisioned, and went against them. And the Israelites encamped before them like two prematurely born of she-28 goats, while the Arameans filled the country. Then a man of God came near and said to the king of Israel,

“Thus says the LORD, ‘Because the Arameans say, “The LORD is a god of the mountains and not a god of the valleys,” therefore I will deliver all this great multitude into your hand, that you may know that I am the LORD.’”

29 So they encamped facing each other seven days. But on the seventh day the battle was joined; and the Israelites slew of the Arameans a 30 hundred thousand footmen in one day. And the rest fled to Aphek into the city; and the wall fell upon twenty-seven thousand of the men who were left. Ben-hadad also fled, and came into an innermost
31 chamber. Then his servants said to him,

“Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings; let us therefore, I pray you, put sackcloth on our loins, and ropes about our heads, and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he will spare your life.”

32 So they girded sackcloth on their loins and put ropes about their heads, and went to the king of Israel and said,

“Your servant Ben-hadad says, ‘I pray you, let me live.’”

And he said,

“Is he yet alive? He is my brother.”

33 Now the men were trying to divine his meaning, and they quickly caught it from him and said,

“Ben-hadad is your brother.”

Then he said,

“Go, bring him!”

And when Ben-hadad came to him, he took him up into his chariot.

34 So Ben-hadad said to him,

“The cities which my father took from your father I will restore, and you may maintain bazaars of your own in Damascus as my father did in Samaria.”

“And I,” said Ahab, “will let you go with this understanding.”

So he made a covenant with him and he let him go.

35 Now a certain man of the prophetic group said to his neighbor through the word of the LORD,

“I pray you strike me.”

36 But the man refused to strike him. Then he said to him,

“Because you have not hearkened to the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as you take leave of me a lion shall slay you.”

So when he departed from him, a lion found him and slew him.

37 Then he found another man and said,

38 And the man struck him so as to wound him. The prophet then went and waited for the king by the way, disguising himself with a bandage over his eyes. And as the king was passing by, he cried to the king, and said,

“Your servant had gone out into the midst of the battle, when suddenly a man turned and brought a man to me and said, ‘Keep this man; if by any means he be missing, then your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent of silver.’ But as your servant was turning to look here and there, he was gone.”

And the king of Israel said to him,

“Such is your verdict: you yourself have decided it.”

41 Then he hastily took the bandage away from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. So he said to him,

“Thus the LORD has said, ‘Because you have let go out of your hand the man under my ban of destruction, therefore your life shall go for his life and your people for his people.’”

43 Then the king of Israel went to his house vexed and sullen, and entered Samaria.

AHAB SEIZES NABOTH'S VINEYARD, 21:1-29

21 Now Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard beside the palace of Ahab, king of Samaria. And Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying,

“Give me your vineyard that I may have it for a vegetable garden, because it is close beside my house; and I will give you a better vineyard than it, in its stead, or if you prefer, I will gladly give you its value in money.”

3 But Naboth said to Ahab,

“The LORD forbid, that I should give you the inheritance of my fathers.”

4 Whereupon Ahab came into his house vexed and sullen, because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him; for he had said,

“I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers.”

5 And he lay on his bed and covered his face and refused food. But Jezebel his wife came to him and spoke to him,

“Why is your spirit so vexed that you eat no food?”

6 Accordingly he spoke to her,

“Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, ‘Give me your vineyard for money; or if you prefer, I will gladly give you a vineyard in its stead’; but he said, ‘I will not give you my vineyard.’”

7 Then Jezebel his wife said to him,

“Do you now hold sway in Israel? Arise, eat bread, and let your heart be of good cheer. I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.”

8 So she wrote letters in Ahab’s name and sealed them with his seal, and sent them to the elders and to the nobles who were in his city, who presided with Naboth.

9 Now she had written in the letters, saying,

“Proclaim a fast and seat Naboth in a conspicuous place among the people. Then seat two unscrupulous men before him and let them bear witness, saying, ‘You have cursed God and the king.’ Then take him out and stone him to death.”

11 So the men of his city, the elders and the nobles who presided in his city, did as Jezebel had sent to them. As it was written in the letters which she had sent to them, they proclaimed a fast, and gave Naboth a seat in a conspicuous place among the people. Also two unscrupulous men came in and sat before him, and the rascals bore witness against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying,

“Naboth cursed God and the king.”

So they took him outside of the city and stoned him to death with stones. Then they sent to Jezebel, saying,

“Naboth has been stoned and is dead.”

15 Accordingly, as soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab,

“Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give for money; for Naboth is not alive but dead.”

16 Now as soon as Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite to take possession of it.

17 But the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

18 “Arise, go down to meet Ahab, king of Israel, who is in Samaria. See, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he has gone down to

- 19 take possession. Do you speak to him, saying, "Thus says the LORD, "Have you killed, and also taken possession? Therefore in the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Naboth will the dogs lick up your own blood." " "
- 20 And Ahab said to Elijah,
"Have you found me, O my enemy?"
And he said,
"I have. Because you have sold yourself to no purpose, to do that 21 which is evil in the sight of the LORD, behold I am about to bring evil upon you, and I will utterly sweep you away and will cut off from Ahab every male, both him that is shut up and him that is left at large
22 in Israel. I will also make your house like the house of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha, the son of Ahijah, because of the indignation which you have aroused and because you
23 have caused Israel to sin. Also to Jezebel the LORD has spoken, saying,
24 "The dogs shall eat Jezebel in the district of Jezreel." Whoever belonging to Ahab dies in the city the dogs shall eat; and whoever dies in the field, the birds of the heavens shall eat."
25 There was absolutely no one who sold himself to do evil in the sight of the LORD, as did Ahab, because Jezebel his wife incited him.
26 For he did very abominably in following idols, as did all the Amorites whom the LORD dispossessed before the Israelites.
27 Now as soon as Ahab heard these words he tore his garments and put sackcloth on his flesh and fasted, he also lay in sackcloth, and 28 went about quietly. Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,
29 "Have you seen how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Because he has humbled himself before me, I will not bring the evil in his days; in his son's days I will bring the evil upon his house."

AHAB ATTACKS RAMOTH-GILEAD AND IS SLAIN, 22:1-40

- 22:1 Now for three years Syria and Israel continued without war. But in the third year Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, came down to the king
2 of Israel, and the king of Israel said to his servants,
"Do you know that Ramoth-gilead belongs to us, yet we are inactive instead of taking it from the hand of the king of Syria?"
3 Then he said to Jehoshaphat,
"Will you go with me to fight against Ramoth-gilead?"
And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel,
"I am as you, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."

- 5 Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel,
"Inquire at this time, I pray, for the word of the LORD."
- 6 Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them,
"Shall I go to fight against Ramoth-gilead or shall I forbear?"
And they said,
"Go up; for the LORD will surely deliver it into the hand of the king."
- 7 But Jehoshaphat said,
"Is there not here another prophet of the LORD of whom we may inquire?"
- 8 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat,
"There is yet a man by whom we may inquire of the LORD, Micaiah, the son of Imlah, but I hate him; for he never prophesies for me good, but only evil."
But Jehoshaphat said,
"Let not the king say so."
- 9 So the king of Israel called a certain eunuch and said,
"Bring quickly Micaiah, the son of Imlah."
- 10 Now while the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, were sitting each on his throne, clad in his purple robes at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were engaged in ecstatic 11 prophecy before them, Zedekiah, the son of Chenaniah, made for himself horns of iron and said,
"Thus says the LORD, 'With these you shall gore the Arameans until you have destroyed them.'"
- 12 So all the prophets were prophesying, saying,
"Go up to Ramoth-gilead and prosper; for the LORD will deliver it into the hand of the king."
- 13 Now the messenger who went to call Micaiah, spoke to him, saying,
"See, now, the prophets with one consent have spoken good to the king; let your words, I pray you, be as the word of one of them and speak good."
- 14 But Micaiah said,
"As the LORD lives, I will speak what the LORD speaks to me."
- 15 So when he came to the king, the king said to him,
"Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to fight against it or shall we forbear?"
And he said to him,

“Go up and prosper; for the LORD will deliver it into the hand of the king!”

16 But the king said to him,

“How many times must I adjure you that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?”

17 And he said,

“I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd. And the LORD said, ‘These have no masters; let each of them return to his home in peace.’”

18 Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat,

“Did I not say to you, that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?”

19 But Micaiah said,

“Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne, and all the army of the heavens standing by him on his right hand and on his left. And the LORD said, ‘Who will deceive Ahab so that he shall go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?’ And one said one thing and another another, until a spirit came forth and stood before the LORD and said, ‘I will deceive him.’ And the LORD said to him, ‘By what means?’ And he said, ‘I will go forth and become a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ Thereupon he said, ‘You shall deceive him and also succeed! Go forth and do so.’ Now therefore, behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets, since the LORD has spoken evil concerning you.”

24 Then Zedekiah, the son of Chenaniah, came near and struck Micaiah upon the cheek and said,

“Which way did the Spirit of the LORD go from me to speak with you?”

25 And Micaiah said,

“Indeed, you shall see in that day, when you shall go from one chamber to another to hide yourself.”

26 Then the king of Israel said,

“Take Micaiah and return him to Amon, commander of the city, and to Joash, the king’s son, and say, ‘Thus says the king, “Put this fellow in the prison house and feed him with scant prison fare of bread and water until I come in peace.”’”

28 But Micaiah said,

“If you do indeed return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me. Hear, O people all of you.”

29 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, went up
30 to Ramoth-gilead. The king of Israel also said to Jehoshaphat,

“I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you can put on your own robes.”

So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into the battle.

31 Now the king of Syria had commanded his thirty-two chariot commanders, saying,

“Fight with neither small or great, except only with the king of Israel.”

32 Accordingly as soon as the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “Surely it is the king of Israel.”

And they surrounded him to fight against him, but Jehoshaphat
33 cried out. Therefore, as soon as the chariot commanders saw that it 34 was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. But a man drew a bow at a venture and shot the king of Israel between the fastenings and the coat of mail. Therefore he said to his chariot driver,

“Turn your hand and take me out of the fight; for I am severely wounded.”

35 Now the battle increased that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Arameans until evening, and the blood from the wound ran out into the bottom of the chariot. Then at evening 36 he died. And about sunset the cry passed through the army,

37 “Each to his city and each to his land, for the king is dead!”

38 So they came to Samaria and buried the king in Samaria. And when they washed off the chariot by the pool of Samaria, the dogs licked up his blood, and the harlots washed in it according to the word 39 which the LORD had spoken. Now the rest of the records of Ahab and all that he did and the ivory house which he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the 40 Kings of Israel? So Ahab slept with his fathers and Ahaziah, his son, reigned in his stead.

THE REIGNS OF JEHOSHAPHAT AND AHAZIAH, 22:41-53

41 Jehoshaphat, the son of Asa, became king over Judah in the fourth 42 year of Ahab, king of Israel. Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. And the name of his mother was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi.

- 43 Moreover he walked in all the way of Asa his father, he did not turn aside from it, doing that which was right in the sight of the LORD. Only the high places were not taken away, but the people still sacrificed and burnt incense on the high places. Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel.
- 45 Now the rest of the records of Jehoshaphat and his might that he exercised, and how he made war, are they not written in the Book of 46 the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? Likewise the rest of the male devotees of the fertility cult who remained in the days of his father Asa, he eradicated from the land.
- 47 Now there was no king in Edom. But the deputy of King Jehoshaphat made ships of Tarshish to go to Ophir for gold. However they 48 did not go; for the ships were wrecked at Ezion-geber. Then Ahaziah, the son of Ahab, said to Jehoshaphat,
"Let my servants go with your servants in the ships."
- 50 But Jehoshaphat refused. Then Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father; and Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.
- 51 Ahaziah, the son of Ahab, became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, and he reigned 52 over Israel two years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who had caused 53 Israel to sin. Moreover he served the Baal and worshipped him, and aroused the jealous anger of the LORD, the God of Israel, according to all that his father had done.

THE SECOND BOOK OF KINGS

ELIJAH AND THE DEATH OF AHAZIAH, 1:1-18

- 1 But Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.
- 2 Now Ahaziah had fallen through the lattice in his upper chamber in Samaria, and lay sick. Thereupon he sent messengers, and said to them,
 "Go, inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover from this illness."
- 3 But the angel of the LORD spoke to Elijah the Tishbite,
 "Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria and speak to them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel, that you are on 4 your way to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron?' Now therefore thus has the LORD said, 'You shall not come down from the bed whither you have gone up, but you shall certainly die.' "
- Then Elijah passed on.
- 5 And when the messengers returned to him, he said to them,
 "Now why have you returned?"
 Accordingly they said to him,
- 6 "A man came up to meet us and said to us, 'Go, return to the king who sent you and declare to him, "Thus has the LORD said, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed whither you have gone up, but you shall certainly die.' " " "
- 7 Then he said to them,
 "What sort of man was he who came up to meet you, and spoke to you these words?"
- 8 And they said to him,
 "He was a hairy man and girt with a leathern girdle about his loins."
 At once he said,
 "It was Elijah the Tishbite!"
- 9 Thereupon he sent to him a commander of fifty with his fifty. And when he went up to him—for there he sat on the top of the hill—he spoke to him,
 "O man of God, the king has given the order, 'Come down.' "
- 10 Then Elijah answered and spoke to the captain of fifty,

“And if I be a man of God, let fire from heaven come down and consume you and your fifty.”

Then fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his 11 fifty. Again he sent to him another commander of fifty with his fifty.
And he answered and said,

“O man of God, thus has the king said, ‘Come down quickly.’”

12 But Elijah answered and spoke to them,

“If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty.”

Then the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him 13 and his fifty. Accordingly, again he sent a third commander with his fifty. And when the third commander with his fifty went up, he came and fell on his knees before Elijah and besought him and spoke to him,

“O man of God, I pray you, spare my life and the life of these 14 fifty your servants. Behold, fire has already come down from heaven and consumed the two former commanders of fifty with their fifties;
but now let my life be precious in your sight.”

15 Then the angel of the LORD spoke to Elijah,

“Go down with him; do not be afraid of him.”

16 So he arose and went down with him to the king. Thereupon he spoke to him,

“Thus has the LORD said, ‘Because you have sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron—is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of his word?—therefore you shall not come down from the bed whereon you have gone up, but you shall certainly die.’”

17 So he died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. And Jehoram became king in his stead in the second year of Jehoram, the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, because he had no 18 son. Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

THE TRANSLATION OF ELIJAH, 2:1-18

2 Now when the LORD took up Elijah by a whirlwind to the heavens,
2 Elijah and Elisha were on their way from Gilgal. And Elijah said to Elisha,

“I pray you, remain here, for the LORD has sent me as far as Bethel.”

But Elisha said,

“As the LORD lives and as you yourself are alive, I will not leave you.”

3 So they went down to Bethel. Then the members of the prophetic group who were at Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him,

“Do you know that today the LORD is about to take away your master from being your leader?”

And he said,

“Yes, I know it; hold your peace.”

4 Again Elijah said to him,

“Elisha, tarry here, I pray you, for the LORD has sent me to Jericho.”

But he said,

“As the LORD lives and as you yourself are alive, I will not leave you.”

5 So they entered Jericho. And the members of the prophetic group who were in Jericho came near Elisha and said to him,

“Do you know that the LORD is about to take away your master from being your leader today?”

And he said,

“Yes, I know it. Hold your peace.”

6 Elijah again said to him,

“Remain here, I pray you, for the LORD has sent me to the Jordan.”

But he said to him,

“As the LORD lives and as you yourself are alive, I will not leave you.”

So the two of them went on.

7 Now fifty men of the prophetic group went and stood opposite
8 them at a distance, while they two stood by the Jordan. Then Elijah took his mantle and rolled it up and struck the waters; thereupon they were divided on either side so that the two of them passed over on dry
9 ground. Now as soon as they had crossed over, Elijah said to Elisha,

“Ask what I shall do for you, before I am taken from you.”

Then Elisha said,

“Let there be now a twofold share of your spirit upon me!”

10 But he said,

“You have asked a hard thing; still, if you see me as I am being taken from you, so shall it be with you; but if not, it shall not be so.”

11 Now as they were going along conversing, suddenly a chariot of fire and horses of fire separated the two of them; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind to heaven.

12 And as Elisha looked, he cried out,

“My father, my father! the chariots of Israel and its horsemen!”

But he saw him no more, and he took hold of his own garments and 13 tore them in two pieces. He also took up the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him and returned and stood by the brink of the Jor-
14 dan. Then he took the mantle of Elijah that had fallen from him and struck the waters and said,

“Where now is the LORD, the God of Elijah?”

And when he had struck the waters they were divided on either side so that Elisha passed over.

15 And when the members of the prophetic group who were at Jericho opposite him saw him, they said,

“The spirit of Elijah is upon Elisha.”

And they came to meet him and bowed before him to the earth,
16 and said to him,

“Behold now, there are with your servants fifty able bodied men; let them go, we pray, and let them seek your master, lest the wind of the LORD has taken him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley.”

But he said,

“You shall not send.”

17 Yet when they pressed him, until he was ashamed, he said,

“Send.”

Accordingly, they sent fifty men; and they searched three days but 18 did not find him. And when they returned to him, while he was tarrying at Jericho, he said to them,

“Did I not say to you, ‘Do not go?’ ”

ELISHA'S COMMISSION MIRACULOUSLY ATTESTED, 2:19—3:31

19 Then the men of the city said to Elisha,

“See now, the site of the city is pleasant as my lord sees; but the water is bad, and the land is abortive.”

20 Thereupon he said,

“Bring me a new jar, and put salt in it.”

21 So they brought it to him. Accordingly he went out to the spring of the water supply and cast salt therein and said,

“Thus has the LORD said, ‘I have rendered these waters pure; neither death nor untimely birth shall be due to them any more.’ ”

- 22 So the waters have continued pure down to this day, in accordance with the word of Elisha which he spoke.
- 23 Later he went up from there to Bethel. But while he was going up on the way, some little boys came out of a city and jeered at him, and said,
 "Go up, you baldhead, go up, baldhead."
- 24 And when he turned around and saw them, he cursed them in the name of the LORD. Then two she-bears came out of a wood and 25 mangled forty-two of the lads. But he kept on thence to Mount Carmel, and thence returned to Samaria.
- 3 Now Jehoram, the son of Ahab, became king over Israel in Samaria in the twelfth year of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, and he reigned
 2 twelve years. But he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, but not as his father and mother, for he put away the pillar of the 3 Baal which his father had made. Nevertheless he clung to the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, with which he caused Israel to sin. He did not turn from them.

WAR BETWEEN ISRAEL AND MOAB, 3:4-27

- 4 Now Mesha, king of Moab, was a sheep-breeder. And he used to render to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs and the wool
 5 of a hundred thousand rams. But as soon as Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.
- 6 Accordingly King Jehoram went out of Samaria at that time and 7 mustered all Israel. He then proceeded to send to Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, saying,
 "The king of Moab has rebelled against me; will you go with me to fight against Moab?"
 And he said,
 "I will go up; I am as you, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."
- 8 Thereupon he said,
 "Which way shall we go up?"
 And he said,
 "By the way of the desert of Edom."
- 9 So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and the king of Edom. And when they had made a circuitous journey of seven days, there was no water for the army nor for the cattle that followed 10 them. Then the king of Israel said,

"Alas! for the LORD has summoned these three kings to give them into the hand of the king of Moab!"

11 But Jehoshaphat said,

"Is there not here a prophet of the LORD, that through him we may seek the LORD?"

And one of the servants of the king of Israel answered and said,

"Elisha, the son of Shaphat, is here, who poured water on the hands of Elijah."

12 Whereat Jehoshaphat said,

"The word of the LORD is with him."

So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went down to him.

13 Then Elisha said to the king of Israel,

"What have I to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father, and the prophets of your mother."

But the king of Israel said to him,

"No; for the LORD has summoned these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab."

14 At that Elisha said,

"As the LORD of hosts lives, whom I serve, were it not that I respect Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, I would neither look at you nor notice you. Now therefore, bring me a minstrel."

15 And when the minstrel played, the power of the LORD came upon him. And he said,

16 "Thus has the LORD said, 'I will make this dry brook a series of pools.' For thus has the LORD said, 'You shall not see wind neither shall you see rain; yet that dry brook shall be filled with water, so that you yourselves shall drink, together with your army and your cattle. And this being a light thing in the sight of the LORD, he shall also give Moab into your hand. You shall conquer every fortified city and every choice city and fell every good tree and stop up all the springs of water and ruin every good piece of land with stones.'"

20 Accordingly, in the morning at the time of presenting the offering, suddenly water was coming from the direction of Edom, so that the land was filled with the water.

21 Now when all the Moabites had heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were old enough to put on a girdle, or older, were called out and drawn up at the frontier. But when they arose early in the morning, and the sun had risen upon the water, the 23 Moabites saw the water opposite them as red as blood. Therefore they said,

“This is blood! The kings have surely fought together and they have slain one another. Now therefore, Moab, to the spoil!”

24 However, when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites arose and attacked the Moabites, so that they fled before them; and 25 they went forward slaughtering the Moabites as they went. Thus they kept on overthrowing the cities and on every good piece of land they cast each his stone, until they filled it, every spring of water also they stopped up, and felled every good tree, and they harried Moab until her sons were left in Kir-hareseth, and the slingers encompassed and attacked it.

26 Now when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fierce for him, he took with him seven hundred men, that drew sword, to break 27 through against the king of Edom, but they could not. Then he took his oldest son, who was to reign in his stead, and offered him as a whole burnt-offering upon the wall. And there came great wrath upon Israel, so that they departed from him and returned to their own land.

THE MIRACULOUS DEEDS OF ELISHA, 4:1—8:15

4 Now the wife of one of the members of the prophetic group cried out to Elisha, saying,

“My husband your servant is dead; and you know that your servant feared the LORD; but the creditor has come to take my two children to be his slaves.”

2 Accordingly, Elisha said to her,

“What shall I do for you? Tell me; what have you in the house?”

And she said,

“Your maidservant has nothing in the house except a flask of oil.”

3 Then he said,

“Go, borrow vessels abroad of all your neighbors, even empty vessels not a few. Thereupon go in and shut the door upon yourself and your sons, and pour out into all these vessels, and when one is full set it aside.”

5 So she went from him and shut the door upon herself and her sons;

6 they were bringing the vessels to her while she was pouring out. As soon as the vessels were full, she said to her son,

“Bring me still another.”

But he said to her,

"There is not another vessel!"

7 Then the oil stopped. Thereupon she came and told the man of God. And he said,

"Go, sell the oil and pay your debts, while you and your sons can live on what is left."

8 Now there came a day when Elisha passed over to Shunem, where there was an influential woman and she constrained him to eat food, so that afterward as often as he passed by, he would turn aside there 9 to eat food. Accordingly, she said to her husband,

"See here, I am sure that this is a holy man of God who is continually passing by us. Let us make now a little inclosed roof chamber, and let us put for him there a bed, a table, a chair and a lamp, so that whenever he comes to us, he can go in there."

11 Now one day he came thither and turned aside into the chamber 12 and rested there. And he said to Gehazi his servant,

"Call this Shunammite woman."

13 And when he had called her she stood before him. And he said to him,

"Say now to her, 'Here you have shown all this anxious care for our comfort; what is to be done for you? Shall it be to commend you to the king or the commander of the army?'"

But she said,

"I dwell among my own people."

14 So he said,

"What then is to be done for her?"

Then Gehazi said,

"Verily, she has no son and her husband is old."

15 Thereupon he said,

"Call her."

16 And when he had called her, she stood in the doorway. And he said,

"At this season, next spring, you shall embrace a son."

But she said,

"No! my lord! O man of God, do not deceive your maidservant."

17 But the woman conceived and bore a son about the same time the 18 next spring as Elisha had spoken to her. Now when the child was 19 grown, he went out one day to his father to the reapers. And he said to his father,

"My head, my head!"

- 20 And his father said to a servant, "Carry him to his mother." And when he had taken him up and brought him to his mother, he sat upon
- 21 her lap till noon, and then died. Thereupon she took him up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and she closed the door after him and went out.
- 22 Then she called to her husband and said,
"Send me, now, one of the servants and one of the asses that I may speed to the man of God and return."
- 23 And he said,
"Why are you about to go to him today, since it is neither new moon nor sabbath?"
But she said,
"It is all right."
- 24 Then she saddled the ass and said to her servant,
"Drive fast, do not slacken my riding until I say to you."
- 25 So she set out and came to the man of God to Mount Carmel. Now as soon as the man of God saw her at a distance he said to Gehazi his servant,
- 26 "Look, there is the Shunammite yonder! Now run, I pray you, to meet her and say to her, 'Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the child?'"
And she said,
"It is well."
- 27 But when she came to the man of God to the Mount, she caught hold of his feet. When Gehazi came near to thrust her away, the man of God said,
"Let her alone, for she has had a bitter experience and the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me."
- 28 Then she said,
"Did I ask a son of my lord? Did I not say, 'Do not deceive me?'"
- 29 At once Elisha said to Gehazi,
"Gird up your loins, and take my staff in your hands, and go! If you meet a man, do not salute him, and if a man salute you, do not reply to him, but lay my staff on the face of the child."
- 30 But the child's mother said,
"As the Lord lives, and as you yourself are alive I will not leave you."
- 31 So he arose and went after her. Now Gehazi had gone on before them and laid the staff upon the child's face, but there was neither sound nor response. Therefore he returned to meet him and told him, saying,

"The child has not awakened."

32 And when Elisha came to the house, behold the boy was lying dead 33 on his bed. He went in, therefore, and closed the door upon the two 34 of them, and prayed to the LORD. Then he went up and lay upon the child and put his mouth upon his mouth and his eyes upon his eyes and his hands upon his hands, and as he crouched upon him, the flesh of 35 the child became warm. Whereupon he withdrew and paced back and forth in the house; then he went up again and crouched upon him, and at this the boy sneezed seven times; thereupon the boy opened his 36 eyes. At once he called to Gehazi and said,

"Call this Shunammite."

So he called her and when she came to him, he said,

"Take up your son."

37 Then she entered, fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the earth;
presently she took up her son and went out.

38 Now Elisha returned to Gilgal while there was a famine in the land. And when the members of the prophetic group were sitting before him, he said to his servant,

"Set on the great pot and make a vegetable stew for the prophets."

39 Then one of them went out into the field to gather herbs and found a wild vine and gathered from it his lap full of wild gourds, and came and cut them up for the pot of vegetable stew, for they did not know 40 what they were. So they poured out for the men to eat. But while they were still eating of the stew, they cried out and said,

"O man of God, there is death in the pot."

And they could not eat of it.

41 Then he said,

"Bring meal."

And he cast it into the pot and said,

"Pour out for the people that they may eat."

And there was no harm in the pot.

42 Then a man came from Baal-shalishah and brought the man of God bread of the first fruits, twenty loaves of barley, and fresh vegetables in his sack. And he said,

"Give them to the people that they may eat."

43 But his attendant said,

"What, shall I set this before a hundred men?"

So he repeated,

“Give them to the people that they may eat, for thus the LORD has said, ‘They shall eat and have some left.’”

44 Thereupon he set it before them, and they ate and left some over according to the word of the LORD.

5 Now Naaman, the commander of the army of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master and highly esteemed, because through him the LORD had given victory to Syria. But, although a valiant man, he was a leper. The Syrians had gone out as marauding bands and had carried off a little girl from the land of Israel, and she waited on Naaman’s wife. So she said to her mistress,

“Would that my master were with the prophet who is in Samaria! Then he would cure him of his leprosy.”

4 So he went in and told his lord, saying,

“Thus and so spoke the maiden who is from the land of Israel.”

5 Then the king of Syria said,

“Go now, and I will send along a letter to the king of Israel.”

So he set out, taking with him ten talents of silver and six thousand shekels of gold and ten festal garments. And he brought to the king of Israel the letter which ran,

“Now when this letter reaches you, be informed that I have sent to you my servant Naaman, that you may cure him of his leprosy.”

7 When, however, the king of Israel read the letter he tore his garments and said,

“Am I a god to kill and to make alive, that this man is sending to me to cure a man of his leprosy? But take note and observe how he is seeking occasion against me.”

8 But as soon as Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his garments, he sent to the king, saying,

“Why have you torn your garments? I pray you, let him come to me, that he may know that there is a prophet in Israel.”

9 So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariots and halted at the door of Elisha’s house. Whereupon Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying,

“Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored sound and clean.”

11 But Naaman was enraged and left, and he said,

“Here I have been saying to myself, ‘He will surely come out and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand toward the place and cure the leper.’ Are not Amana and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?"

13 So he turned and went away in a rage. Then his servants came near and spoke to him, saying,

"My father, if the prophet had demanded of you some great thing, would you not have done it? How much rather then, when he has said to you, 'Wash and be clean?'"

14 So finally he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

15 Thereupon he returned to the man of God, with all his retinue, and came and stood before him and said,

"Verily now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Israel; now therefore, I pray you, accept a present from your servant."

16 But he said,

"As the LORD lives whom I serve I will take nothing."

And although he pressed him to take it, he refused.

17 Then Naaman said,

"If not, at any rate let there be given to your servant two mules' burden of earth, for your servant will henceforth offer neither burnt-offering nor sacrifice to other gods, but to the LORD. In this matter may the LORD pardon your servant—when my master goes into the house of Rimmon to worship there, leaning on my arm, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, when I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, then may the LORD pardon your servant in this matter."

19 And he said to him,

"Go in peace."

20 But when he had gone from him a short distance, Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, the man of God, said,

"See, my master has spared this Aramean, Naaman, without accepting from his hand what he brought! As the LORD lives, I will certainly run after him and get something from him."

21 So Gehazi pursued after Naaman. And when Naaman saw some-one running after him, he alighted from his chariots to meet him, and said,

"Is it well?"

22 And he said,

"All is well. My master sent me saying, 'There have just now come to me two young men of the prophetic group from Mount Eph-raim. I pray you, give them a talent of silver and two festal garments.' ”

23 But Naaman said,

“Consent to accept two talents.”

So he urged him, and tied up two talents of silver in two bags, with two festal garments, and gave them to two of his servants, 24 and they carried them before him. But when he came to the hill, he took them from their hand and deposited them in the house, and sent the men away and they departed.

25 When he went in and stood before his master, Elisha said to him,

“Where have you been, Gehazi?”

And he said,

“Your servant has not been away anywhere.”

26 But he said,

“Was I not present in spirit when the man turned from his chariot to meet you? Is it a time to accept money, and garments, and olive orchards and vineyards, and sheep and oxen, and menservants and 27 maidservants? The leprosy of Naaman shall fasten upon you and upon your descendants forever.”

So he went out from his presence, a leper as white as snow.

6 Now the members of the prophetic group said to Elisha,

“See now, the place before you where we dwell is too limited for

2 us. Let us go now to the Jordan and each take from there a beam and let us make a place for us there, where we may dwell.”

And he said,

“Go.”

3 Then a certain one said,

“Be pleased, now, to go with your servants.”

And he said,

“I will go.”

4 So he went with them. And when they came to the Jordan, they 5 cut down the trees. But as one was felling a beam his iron ax fell into the water. At that he cried out, and said,

“Alas, my master! for it was borrowed.”

6 Accordingly, the man of God said,

“Where did it fall?”

And when he showed him the place, he cut off a stick and threw it 7 in there, and made the iron float. Then he said,

“Take it up.”

So he reached out his hand and took it.

- 8 Once when the king of Syria was at war with Israel, he took counsel with his servants, saying,
"In such and such a place let us make an ambush and conceal ourselves."
- 9 But the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying,
"Beware that you do not pass this place, for Arameans have concealed themselves there."
- 10 So the king of Israel sent to the place of which the man of God had told him. Thus he used to warn him, so that he could guard himself there, not once nor twice.
- 11 Therefore the mind of the king of Syria was agitated because of this fact; and he called his servants and said to them, "Will you not tell me, who of us is for the king of Israel?"
- 12 Then one of his servants said,
"No, my lord, O king! but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom."
- 13 Therefore he said,
"Go and see where he is, that I may send and take him."
And it was told him, saying,
"Behold he is in Dothan."
- 14 Accordingly he sent thither horses and chariots and a large force;
15 and they came by night, and surrounded the city. So on the morrow when the man of God arose early in the morning and went out, there was an army of horses and chariots surrounding the city, so that his servant said to him,
"Alas, my master! What shall we do?"
- 16 But he said,
"Fear not; for they who are with us are more than they who are with them."
- 17 Then Elisha prayed and said,
"O LORD, open now his eyes that he may see."
And the LORD opened the eyes of the lad, and he saw, and behold the mountain around about Elisha was full of horses and chariots of 18 fire. And when they came down to him, Elisha prayed to the LORD and said, "Smite now this people with blindness."
So he smote them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.
- 19 Then Elisha said to them,
"This is not the way nor the city. Follow me and I will bring you to the man whom you seek!"

So he brought them to Samaria.

20 But as soon as they came to Samaria, Elisha said,

“O LORD, open the eyes of these men, that they may see.”

So the LORD opened their eyes and they saw, and behold they were 21 in the midst of Samaria. Thereupon the king of Israel said to Elisha when he saw them,

“My father, shall I slay them? Shall I slay them?”

22 But he said,

“You shall not slay; would you slay those whom you have not taken prisoner with your sword and with your bow? Set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master.”

23 So he prepared for them a great feast. And when they had eaten and drunk he sent them away, and they went to their master. And the marauding Aramean bands came no more into the land of Israel.

24 It was after this that Ben-hadad king of Syria assembled all his 25 army and went up and besieged Samaria. Consequently there was a great famine in Samaria, and there the besiegers continued until an ass's head was sold for eighty silver pieces, and a pint of dove's dung 26 for five silver pieces. Now as the king of Israel was passing along upon the wall, a woman cried out to him saying,

“Help, my lord, O king!”

27 And he said to her,

“Let the LORD deliver you! Whence can I help you? Out of the threshing floor or out of the winepress?”

28 However, the king said to her,

“What is your trouble?”

And the woman said,

“This woman said to me, ‘Give your son, that we may eat him to-29 day, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’ So we boiled my son, and ate him. And I said to her on the next day, ‘Give your son, that we may eat him’; but she has hidden her son.”

30 And when the king heard the words of the woman, he tore his garments—and as he was passing along upon the wall, the people saw, 31 and behold he had sackcloth within on his flesh—and he said,

“So may God do to me and more also, if the head of Elisha, the son of Shaphat, remain in his possession today.”

32 Now Elisha was sitting in his house with the elders sitting beside him. And the king sent a man from his presence. But before the messenger came to him, he said to the elders,

“You see how this son of a murderer has sent to remove my head. Look. When the messenger comes, close the door, and hold the door fast against him. Is not the sound of his master’s feet behind him?”

33 While he was still speaking with them, behold the king came down to him and said,

“See, this is the evil from the LORD! Why should I wait for the LORD any longer?”

7 But Elisha said,

“Hear the word of the LORD, ‘Thus the LORD has said, ‘Tomorrow about this time shall a peck of fine meal be sold for a shekel, and two pecks of barley for a shekel in the gate of Samaria.’”

2 Then the third officer of the king on whose hand the king leaned, answered the man of God and said,

“If the LORD himself should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?”

And he said,

“You, yourself, shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

3 Now there were four men who were lepers at the entrance of the gate; and they said one to another,

4 “Why do we continue here until we die? If we say, ‘Let us enter the city,’ then the famine is in the city and we shall die there; but if we remain here, we die also. Now therefore come and let us desert to the army of the Arameans. If they save us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall but die.”

5 So they arose at twilight to go to the army of the Arameans. But when they came to the confines of the camp of the Arameans, there
6 was no one there, for the LORD had caused the army of the Arameans to hear a sound of chariots and of horses and of a great army, so that they said one to another,

“Surely the king of Israel has hired against us the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Egypt to come upon us.”

7 Therefore they arose and fled in the twilight and forsook their tents, their horses, and their asses, even the camp as it was, and fled for 8 their lives. And when these lepers came to the confines of the camp, they entered into a tent and ate and drank and carried away silver and gold and clothing and went and hid them. Then they returned and entered another tent and carried away what was there and went and hid it.

9 Then they said to one another,

"We are not doing right; this is a day of good news, but we are keeping still. If we wait until the morning light, punishment will overtake us. Now therefore, come, let us go and inform the house of the king."

10 So they came and called the gate-keepers of the city and told them, saying,

"We came to the camp of the Arameans, and behold there was no one there and no sound of man, but the horses were tied and the asses tied, and the tents as they had been."

11 Then the gate-keepers called out and informed the house of the 12 king within. However, the king arose in the night and said to his servants,

"Let me tell you now what the Arameans have done to us. They know that we are hungry; therefore they have gone from the camp to hide themselves in the field, thinking, 'When they come out of the city we shall capture them alive and we shall get into the city.'"

13 But one of his servants answered and said,

"Send men and let them take five of the remaining horses, if they live, behold they are as all the multitude of Israel that survive here, but if they perish, behold they are as all the multitude of Israel that are consumed. Therefore let us send and see."

14 So they took two mounted men, and the king sent them after the army of the Arameans, saying,

"Go and see."

15 Accordingly they went after them to the Jordan and behold all the way was full of garments and vessels which the Arameans had thrown away in their haste, and the messengers returned and told the king.

16 Then the people went out and plundered the camp of the Arameans. So a peck of fine meal sold for a shekel and two pecks of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the LORD. Now the king had appointed the third officer on whose hand he leaned to take charge of the gate; but the people trod upon him in the gate so that he died, just as the man of God had said when the king came down to him.

18 It also happened just as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying,

"Two pecks of barley shall be sold for a shekel, and a peck of fine flour for a shekel, about this time tomorrow in the gate of Samaria."

19 And the third officer had answered the man of God and said,

"If the LORD himself should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?"

And he had said,

“You yourself shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

20 So-it happened to him; for the people trod upon him in the gate so that he died.

8 Now Elisha spoke to the woman, whose son he restored to life, saying,

“Arise, and depart with your household, and sojourn wherever you are able, for the LORD has called for a famine; and furthermore, it shall come upon the land for seven years.”

2 So the woman arose and did according to the word of the man of God: she went with her household and sojourned in the land of the 3 Philistines seven years. And at the end of seven years when the woman returned from the land of the Philistines, she went forth to appeal to the king for her house and her field.

4 Now at the time, the king was speaking to Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying,

“Relate to me now all the great things that Elisha has done.”

5 And while he was still relating to the king how he had restored to life the dead, just then the woman whose son he had restored to life began her appeal to the king about her house and her fields. So Gehazi said,

“My lord, O king, this is the woman and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.”

6 And when the king asked the woman, she related it to him. So the king put at her disposal an official, saying,

“Restore all that was hers together with all the produce of the field from the day that she left the land until now.”

7 Now Elisha came to Damascus. And Ben-hadad, the king of Syria, was sick. And when it was told him, saying,

“The man of God has come hither,”

8 The king said to Hazael,

“Take with you a present and go to meet the man of God, and inquire of the LORD through him, saying, ‘Shall I recover from this sickness?’ ”

9 So Hazael went to meet him and took a present with him, even all kinds of goods of Damascus, forty camel loads. When he came he stood before him and said,

“Your son Ben-hadad, king of Syria, has sent me to you, saying, ‘Shall I recover from this sickness?’ ”

10 And Elisha said to him,

“Go, say to him, ‘You shall surely recover,’ but the LORD has shown me that he shall certainly die.”

11 And he fixed his gaze and stared at him until he was ashamed; but 12 the man of God wept. Then Hazael said,

“Why does my lord weep?”

And he said,

“Because I know the evil that you will do to the Israelites: Their fortresses you will set on fire, their choice young men you will slay with the sword, their little children you will dash in pieces, and their women with child you will disembowel.”

13 Again Hazael said,

“But what is your servant—a dead dog—that he should do this great thing?”

But Elisha said,

“The LORD has shown me that you are to be king over Syria.”

14 So when he left Elisha and came to his master, he said to him,

“What did Elisha say to you?”

And he said,

“He said to me that you would certainly live.”

15 But on the morrow he took the coverlet and dipped it in water and spread it over his face, so that he died. And Hazael became king in his stead.

JEHORAM AND AHAZIAH OF JUDAH, 8:16-29a

16 Now in the fifth year of Joram, the son of Ahab, king of Israel,
17 Jehoram, the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, became king. He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight 18 years in Jerusalem. And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for the daughter of Ahab became his 19 wife, and he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD. However, the LORD would not destroy Judah because of David his servant, since he had said to him that he would give him a lamp before him always.

20 In his days Edom revolted from the rule of Judah and established 21 a king of their own. Then Joram passed over to Zair, and all his chariots with him. And he, together with his chariot commanders, rose up by night and broke through the Edomites who had surrounded 22 him. So Edom has been in revolt from the rule of Judah to this day.
23 Libnah likewise revolted at the same time. Now the rest of the records of Joram and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of

- 24 the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Joram slept with his fathers and he was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Ahaziah, his son, became king in his stead.
- 25 In the twelfth year of Joram, the son of Ahab, king of Israel,
- 26 Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, became king. Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Athaliah, the grand-
- 27 daughter of Omri, king of Israel. He also walked in the way of the house of Ahab and did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD as did the house of Ahab, for he was son-in-law to the house of Ahab.
- 28 Moreover he went with Joram, the son of Ahab, to make war against Hazael, king of Syria, at Ramoth-gilead. But the Arameans wounded
- 29 Joram. Therefore King Joram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Arameans had given him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael, king of Syria.

THE REVOLT OF JEHU, 8:29^b—10:36

And Ahaziah, the son of Joram, king of Judah, went down to see 9 Joram, the son of Ahab, in Jezreel, because he was sick. At this juncture Elisha the prophet called to one of the members of the prophetic group and said to him,

"Gird up your loins and take this flask of oil in your hand and go to 2 Ramoth-gilead. And when you come thither, look there for Jehu, the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, and go in and make him rise up from among his brothers and bring him into an inner chamber.
3 Then take the flask of oil and pour it on his head and say, 'Thus says the LORD, "I have anointed you king over Israel."' Thereupon open the door and flee, tarry not."

4 So the young man (the servant of the prophet) went to Ramoth-
5 gilead. And just as he came, the commanders of the army were in session. And he said,

"I have a word for you, O commander."

Thereupon Jehu said,

"For which one of us all?"

And he said,

"For you, O commander."

6 Then he arose and went into the house. And the servant poured the oil on his head and said to him,

"Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'I have anointed you king
7 over the people of the LORD, even over Israel. And you shall cut off the house of Ahab, your master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants, the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD⁸ at the hand of Jezebel. For the whole house of Ahab shall perish and I will cut off from Ahab every male, him who is shut up and him who⁹ is at large in Israel. And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha, the son¹⁰ of Ahijah. And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the territory of Jezreel and none shall bury her.' ”

Then he opened the door and fled.

¹¹ Now when Jehu came out to the servants of his master, they said to him,

“Is all well? Why did this mad man come to you?”

And he said to them,

“You know the man and his talk.”

¹² But they said,

“It is false! Tell us now.”

And he said,

“Thus and thus he said to me, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD, “I have appointed you king over Israel.” ’ ”

¹³ Then they quickly took each his garment, and put it under him on the stairway, and blew the trumpet and said,

“Jehu is king!”

¹⁴ Thus Jehu, the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram, while Joram, together with all Israel, was holding¹⁵ Ramoth-gilead against Hazael, king of Syria; but King Joram had returned to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds which the Arameans had inflicted upon him, when he fought with Hazael, king of Syria. So Jehu said,

“If it be your mind, let no one make his escape from the city to go and tell it in Jezreel.”

¹⁶ Then Jehu mounted his chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram was lying there. And Ahaziah, king of Judah, had gone down to see¹⁷ Joram. Now as the watchman was standing on the tower in Jezreel, he saw the dust cloud raised by Jehu, as he came on, and he said,

“I see a dust cloud.”

Then Joram said,

“Take a horseman and send him to meet them that he may say, ‘Is it peace?’ ”

¹⁸ Accordingly the rider of the horse went to meet him and said,

“Thus the king has said, ‘Is it peace?’ ”

- But Jehu said,
"What have you to do with peace? Rein in behind me."
So the watchman reported, saying,
"The messenger came to them but he does not return."
19 Then he sent out a second horseman who came to them and said,
"Thus the king has said, 'Is it peace?'"
But Jehu said,
"What have you to do with peace? Rein in behind me."
20 Again the watchman reported, saying,
"He came to them, but he does not return; also the driving is like the driving of Jehu, the son of Nimshi, for he is wont to drive furiously."
21 Then Joram said,
"Make ready."
And as soon as they had made ready his chariot, Joram, king of Israel, and Ahaziah, king of Judah, set out each in his chariot. Thus they went to meet Jehu, and they reached him in the field of Naboth 22 the Jezreelite. And when Joram saw Jehu he said,
"Is it peace, Jehu?"
And he said,
"How can there be peace as long as the fornications of Jezebel your mother and her witchcrafts are so many?"
23 Then Joram reined about and fled, and said to Ahaziah,
"Treachery, Ahaziah!"
24 But Jehu drew his bow and shot Joram between his shoulders, so that the arrow went clear through his body. And he collapsed in his 25 chariot. Then Jehu said to Bidkar, his third officer, "Take him up and cast him into that portion of field belonging to Naboth the Jezreelite; for I well remember how that when I and you were riding side by side after Ahab his father, the LORD took up 26 this burden against him: 'Surely I saw yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,' is the oracle of the LORD; 'and I will re-quite you in this very field,' is the LORD's oracle. Now therefore, take him up and cast him into the plot of ground, according to the word of the LORD."
27 Now when Ahaziah, king of Judah, saw this, he fled in the direction of Beth-haggan. But Jehu pursued after him, and said,
"Him also! Pin him to the chariot."
And they mortally wounded him at the ascent of Gur, which is by 28 Ibleam. Nevertheless he kept on to Megiddo where he died. Then his servants took him by chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own 29 sepulchre with his fathers in the city of David. Now in the eleventh year of Joram, the son of Ahab, Ahaziah became king over Judah.

 30 When Jehu came to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it, and she painted her 31 eyelashes and adorned her head and peered out at the window. And as Jehu was entering the gate, she said,

“Is it well, you Zimri, your master’s murderer?”

32 But he raised his eyes to the window and said,

“Who is on my side? Who?”

33 At that two or three eunuchs peered out at him. And he said,

“Let her drop.”

So they let her drop, so that some of her blood splattered on the wall 34 and on the horses, and he drove over her. Then he went in and ate and drank. Thereupon he said,

“Take charge now of this cursed woman, and bury her, for she is a king’s daughter.”

35 But when they went to bury her, they found no more of her than the skull, the feet, and the palms of the hands.

36 When, therefore, they returned and told him, he said,

“This is the word of the LORD, which he spoke by his servant, Elijah the Tishbite, saying, ‘In the territory of Jezreel shall the dogs eat 37 the flesh of Jezebel. And the corpse of Jezebel shall be as dung on the face of the field in the territory of Jezreel, so that they cannot say, “This is Jezebel.” ’ ”

10 Now Ahab had seventy descendants in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters and sent to Samaria to the rulers of the city, to the elders, and those who had charge of the descendants of Ahab, saying,

2 “Now therefore, as soon as this letter comes to you, since your master’s sons are with you, as well as chariots and horses, fortified cities 3 and weapons; select the best and fittest of your master’s sons, and set him on the throne of his father and fight for your master’s house.”

4 But they were panic-stricken and said,

“Behold, the two kings could not stand before him, how then shall we ourselves stand?”

5 So he who was over the palace and he who was over the city, together with the elders and the guardians sent to Jehu, saying,

“We are your servants, and all that you say to us we will do; we will make no one king; do whatever is good in your eyes.”

6 So he wrote to them a second letter, saying,

“If you are on my side and if you are ready to obey me, then take the heads of the men, the sons of your master, and come to me to Jezreel tomorrow at this time.”

Now the royal princes, seventy in number, were with the great men of the city, who were bringing them up. Accordingly, as soon as the letter came to them, they took the royal princes and slew them, seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets and sent them to him to Jezreel.

8 And when the messenger came and told him, saying,

“They have brought the heads of the royal princes,”

he said,

“Put them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until the morning.”

9 Then in the morning when he went out, he stood and said to all the people,

“You are upright; it is true I conspired against my master and slew him, but who killed all these? Know then that there shall fall to the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spoke against the house of Ahab; for the LORD has done what he spoke by his servant Elijah.”

11 Thereupon Jehu slew all that were left of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, together with all his kinsmen, and his familiar friends, and his priests, until he left him none remaining. Then he arose and departed for Samaria. And as he was at Beth-eked of the shepherds on the way, Jehu met with the kinsmen of Ahaziah, king of Judah, and said,

“Who are you?”

And they said,

“We are the kinsmen of Ahaziah, and we have come down to greet the household of the king and the household of the queen mother.”

14 Thereupon he said,

“Take them alive.”

And they took them alive and slew them at the pit of Beth-eked, 15 forty-two persons, so that he spared none of them. And when he set out from there he met with Jonadab, the son of Rechab, coming to meet him. And he greeted him and said to him,

“Is your heart in accord with my heart, as mine is with yours?”

And Jonadab said,

“It is.”

Then Jehu said,

“If it be, give me your hand.”

So he gave him his hand and he took him up to him into the chariot.

16 Moreover he said,

“Come with me, and see my zeal for the LORD.”

17 So he induced him to ride in his chariot, and when he came to Samaria, he slew all who remained to Ahab in Samaria, until he had exterminated them according to the word of the LORD which he spoke to Elijah. Then Jehu assembled all the people and said to them,

19 “Ahab served the Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much. Now therefore, summon to me all the prophets of the Baal, all who serve him, and all his priests; let none be lacking; for I have a great sacrifice for the Baal; whoever is absent shall not live.”

But Jehu did it with deliberate cunning in order to wipe out the 20 worshippers of the Baal. Then Jehu said,

“Sanctify a solemn assembly for the Baal.”

21 And they proclaimed it. Moreover Jehu sent through all Israel, and all the worshippers of the Baal came so that there was not a man left who did not come. And when they had entered the house of the Baal, the house of the Baal was filled from one end to the other.

22 And he said to the one in charge of the wardrobe,

“Bring out garments for all the worshippers of the Baal.”

23 So he brought out the garments for them. Then Jehu together with Jonadab, the son of Rechab, went into the house of the Baal, and said to the worshippers of the Baal,

“Search and see that there may not be here with you any of the servants of the LORD, but only worshippers of the Baal.”

24 Thereupon he proceeded to offer the sacrifices and the burnt-offerings. Now Jehu had stationed for him eighty men outside and he had said,

“The man who allows any of the men whom I put in your charge to escape, his life shall be for that one’s life.”

25 So, as soon as he had made the offering Jehu said to the guards and to the third officers,

“Go in, slay them, let not a man escape.”

So they put them to the sword, and the guards and the third officers cast them out, and went into the inner room of the house of the Baal,
26 and brought out the Asherah from the house of the Baal and burned it.
27 They also demolished the pillar of the Baal and demolished the house
28 of the Baal and made it a lavatory to this day. Thus Jehu eradicated
29 the Baal from Israel. Nevertheless from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, whereby he made Israel to sin, from these, the golden calves

30 that were in Bethel and in Dan, Jehu turned not aside. But the LORD said to Jehu,

“Because you have done well in performing that which was right in my sight, and have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in my heart, your sons of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel.”

31 Yet Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD, the God of Israel, with all his heart: he did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam 32 whereby he made Israel sin. In those days the LORD began to be angry with Israel, and Hazael defeated them throughout the territory of 33 Israel, from the Jordan eastward, all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, the Reubenites, and the Manassites, from Aroer which is by the valley 34 of the Arnon, both Gilead and Bashan. Now the rest of the records of Jehu and all that he did and all his might, are they not written in 35 the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? So Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz, his 36 son, reigned in his stead. The time also that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

THE REGENCY OF ATHALIAH, 11:1-20

11 Now when Athaliah, the mother of Ahaziah, saw that her son was 2 dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal family. But Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, the sister of Ahaziah, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from the king's sons, that were about to be slain, and put him and his nurse in a bed-chamber. Thus she hid 3 him from Athaliah, so that he was not slain. So he was with her, hid in the house of the LORD six years, while Athaliah reigned over the 4 land. But in the seventh year Jehoiada sent and brought the commanders of hundreds of the Carites and the guards and brought them to him in the house of the LORD. Thereupon he made a covenant with them and made them swear in the house of the LORD, and showed 5 them the king's son. Then he commanded them saying,

“This is the thing that you shall do: one third of you, who enter 6 on the Sabbath and keep guard over the house of the king—a third shall be at the gate Sur, and another third at the gate behind the guards 7 —shall keep watch over the house of the king. And two divisions of you, even all who go forth on the Sabbath to keep watch over the 8 house of the LORD about the king, shall surround the king each with drawn weapons. And whoever comes up to the ranks shall be slain. So be with the king when he goes out and when he comes in.”

- 9 So the commanders of hundreds did according to all that Jehoiada the priest had commanded: they brought each man his men who were to enter in upon the sabbath, with those who were to go out on the
- 10 sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest. Then the priest delivered to the commanders of hundreds the spears and shields that had been
- 11 King David's, which were in the house of the LORD. Accordingly the guards stood each with his weapons in his hand, from the right side of the house to the left side of the house, before the altar and before
- 12 the temple, by the king round about. Then he brought out the king's son and put the crown upon him and the testimony, and they proclaimed him king and anointed him, and clapped their hands and said, "Long live the king!"
- 13 But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people, she came to the
- 14 people into the house of the LORD. And when she looked and there was the king standing by the pillar, as was the custom, and the commanders and the trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, Athaliah tore her garments and cried,
- "Treason! Treason!"
- 15 Then Jehoiada the priest gave orders to the commanders of hundreds who were appointed over the army, and said to them, "Bring her out between the ranks; and whoever follows her slay with the sword!"
- For the priest said,
- "Let her not be slain in the house of the LORD."
- 16 So they laid hands on her, and as she went through the horses' en-
- 17 trance to the king's house, there she was slain. Jehoiada also made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they should be the LORD's people; likewise between the king and the peo-
- 18 ple. Then all the people of the land went to the house of the Baal and demolished it. His altar and his images they completely shattered, and Mattan, the priest of the Baal, they slew before the altars. Then
- 19 the priest appointed watchmen over the house of the LORD. And he took the commanders of hundreds and the Carites, and the guards and all the people of the land, and they brought down the king from the house of the LORD and entered by way of the gate of the guards
- 20 to the king's house. And he sat on the throne of the kings. So all the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet. Thus they slew Athaliah with the sword in the king's house.

JEHOASH OF JUDAH, 11:21—12:21

11²¹ Jehoash was seven years old when he became king. In the seventh 12 year of Jehu, Jehoash became king, and he reigned forty years in 2 Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. Jeho-ash also did that which was right in the sight of the LORD all his days.
3 It was he whom Jehoiada the priest instructed. Nevertheless the high places were not taken away; the people still continued to sacrifice and burn incense on the high places.

4 Moreover Jehoash said to the priests,

“All the money of sacred gifts which is brought into the house of the LORD, the money from each man's property assessment, the money from the assessment of persons, and all the money which a man's 5 heart prompts him to bring to the house of the LORD, let the priests take that for themselves, each from his acquaintance. However they shall make the repairs on the Temple wherever any need of repairs is discovered.”

6 Nevertheless in the twenty-third year of King Jehoash, the priests
7 had not made the repairs on the Temple. Therefore King Jehoash summoned Jehoiada the priest and the other priests, and said to them, “Why have you not been keeping up the repairs on the Temple?

Now therefore, take no more money from your acquaintances, but pay it directly for the repairs of the Temple.”

8 So the priests agreed that they should neither take more money from the people nor make the repairs on the Temple.

9 Then Jehoiada the priest took a chest, bored a hole in its lid and put it beside the doorpost at the right side as one entered the house of the LORD. And the priests, who guarded the threshold, used to put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the LORD.

10 And as soon as they saw that there was much money in the chest, the king's scribe and the high priest came up, and counted and tied up in 11 bags the money that was found in the house of the LORD. Then they used to give the money that was weighed out into the hands of those who were doing the work, who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they paid it out to the carpenters and to the builders, who 12 worked on the house of the LORD, and to the masons and the stone-cutters, and for buying timber and hewn stone for making the repairs on the house of the LORD, and for all that continued to go into the 13 repairs of the Temple. However, there were not made for the house of the LORD silver cups, snuffers, basins, trumpets, or any vessels of gold or vessels of silver from the money brought into the house of the

- 14 LORD, but they gave it to those who did the work, and thereby pro-15 ceeded with the repair of the house of the LORD. Moreover they reckoned not with the men, into whose hand they delivered the money to pay out to those who were doing the work, for they dealt faithfully.
16 The money from the guilt-offering and from the sin-offerings was not brought into the house of the LORD; it belonged to the priests.
- 17 Then Hazael, king of Syria, went up and fought against Gath, and took it. But when Hazael set his course to go up to Jerusalem, 18 Jehoash, the king of Judah, took all the consecrated things that Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, his forbears, the kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own consecrated gifts and all the gold that was found in the treasures of the house of the LORD and the house of the king, and sent it to Hazael, king of Syria. Then he went away from Jerusalem.
- 19 Now the rest of the records of Joash and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?
- 20 Moreover his servants arose and made a conspiracy and slew Joash 21 in the house of Millo that goes down to Silla, for Jozacar, the son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad, the son of Shomer, his servants, brought about his death. And they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and Amaziah, his son, reigned in his stead.

JEHOAHAZ AND JEHOASH OF ISRAEL, 13:1-13

- 13 In the twenty-third year of Joash, the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, became king over Israel in Sa-2 maria; and he continued seventeen years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, and went after the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, wherewith he caused Israel to sin—he did not turn 3 from them. So that the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel and he delivered them continually into the hand of Hazael, king of 4 Syria, and into the hand of Ben-hadad, the son of Hazael. Then Jehoahaz entreated the favor of the LORD, and the LORD hearkened to 5 him; for he saw the oppression of Israel, how that the king of Syria oppressed them. Therefore the LORD gave Israel a deliverer, so that 6 they escaped from the hand of Syria, and the Israelites dwelt in their habitations as formerly. Nevertheless they did not turn away from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, wherewith he caused Israel to sin, but walked therein. Also the Asherah continued to stand in Samaria.
7 For there was not left to Jehoahaz of the people more than fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen, for the king of Syria destroyed them and made them like the dust of the threshing.

8 Now the rest of the records of Jehoahaz and all that he did and his valor, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings 9 of Israel? So Jehoahaz slept with his fathers and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoash his son became king in his stead.
10 In the thirty-seventh year of Joash, king of Judah, Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned 11 sixteen years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he did not turn away from all the sins of Jeroboam, the son of 12 Nebat, wherewith he caused Israel to sin, but he walked therein. Now the rest of the records of Jehoash and all that he did, and his valor with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not 13 written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? So Jehoash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat upon his throne. And Jehoash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

ELISHA'S DEATH, 13:14-21

14 Now when Elisha became sick of the illness of which he was to die, Jehoash of Israel went down to him, and wept over him and said,
"My father, my father! the chariots of Israel and its horsemen!"
15 But Elisha said to him,
"Take bow and arrows."
16 And he took bow and arrows. Then he said to the king of Israel,
"Lay your hand upon the bow."
And when he had done so, Elisha put his hands upon the king's 17 hands. Moreover he said,
"Open the window toward the east."
And when he opened it, Elisha said,
"Shoot."
So he shot. And he said,
"The LORD's arrow of victory and the arrow of victory over Syria;
for you should have fought Syria in Aphek to a finish."
18 Thereupon he said,
"Take the arrows."
And when he had taken them, he said to the king of Israel,
"Strike on the ground."
19 And he struck three times and stopped. Then the man of God was enraged at him and said,
"You should have struck five or six times, then you would have fought Syria to a finish. But now you will defeat Syria only three times.”

20 So Elisha died and they buried him. Now bands of Moabites were 21 in the habit of raiding the land at the coming in of the year. And while they were burying a man, suddenly they saw a marauding band. So they cast the man into the grave of Elisha and went on. But when the man touched the bones of Elisha, he revived and arose and stood on his feet.

JHOASH, OF ISRAEL AND AMAZIAH, OF JUDAH, 13:22—14:22

22 Now Hazael, king of Syria, oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.
23 But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion on them and turned toward them because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and would not destroy them, nor has he cast them from his presence even until now.

24 But when Hazael, king of Syria, died, Ben-hadad, his son, became 25 king in his stead. Then Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, took again from Ben-hadad, the son of Hazael, the cities which he had taken in the war from Jehoahaz, his father. Three times Jehoash defeated him and recovered the cities of Israel.

14 In the second year of Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel,
2 Amaziah, the son of Joash, king of Judah, became king. He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was Jehoaddin
3 of Jerusalem. Moreover he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, yet not like David his ancestor; he did according to all 4 that Joash his father had done. However, the high places were not removed, the people still sacrificed and burnt incense on the high places.

5 Now as soon as the kingdom was held firmly in his hand, he slew
6 his servants who had slain the king his father. But the sons of the murderers he did not kill according to that which is written in the book of the law of Moses, as the LORD commanded, saying,

“The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor the children put to death for the fathers, but every man shall die for his own sins.”

7 He slew of Edom in the Valley of Salt ten thousand men, and took Sela by storm, which has been named Joktheel down to this day.

8 Then Anaziah sent messengers to Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying,

“Come and let us face each other.”

9 But Jehoash, the king of Israel, sent to Amaziah, king of Judah, saying,

“The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar which was in Lebanon, saying, ‘Give your daughter to my son as wife.’ But a wild
10 beast that was in Lebanon passed by and trod down the thistle. You have indeed conquered Edom and it has turned your head. Adorn yourself, but stay at home, for why should you borrow unnecessary trouble, so that you and Judah with you should fall?”

11 But Amaziah would not listen. So Jehoash, king of Israel, went up and they faced each other, he and Amaziah, king of Judah, at Beth-12 shemesh, which belongs to Judah. Judah however was defeated by 13 Israel so that they fled each to his home. Moreover Jehoash, king of Israel, captured Amaziah, king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh. And he came to Jerusalem and tore down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the 14 Corner Gate, a distance of about four hundred cubits. He also took all the gold and silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of the LORD and in the treasures of the king’s house, and likewise hostages, and returned to Samaria.

15 Now the rest of the deeds of Jehoash which he did and his valor and how he fought with Amaziah, king of Judah, are they not written 16 in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? So Jehoash slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. And Jeroboam his son became king in his stead.

17 Now Amaziah, the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived after the death of Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, fifteen years.
18 As for the rest of the records of Amaziah, are they not written in the 19 Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? They also made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem. And he fled to Lachish, but they 20 sent after him to Lachish and slew him there. And they brought him upon horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers in the 21 city of David. Then all the people of Judah took Azariah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the place of Amaziah his fa-
22 ther. He built Elath and restored it to Judah, after the king slept with his fathers.

JEROBOAM, OF ISRAEL, 14:23-29

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah, the son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam, the son of Jehoash, king of Israel, became king in Samaria

- 24 and reigned forty-one years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he did not turn away from all the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, wherewith he caused Israel to sin. He restored the territory of Israel from the entrance of Hamath to the sea of the Arabah, according to the word of the LORD, the God of Israel, which he spoke by his servant Jonah, the son of Amittai, the prophet who was of Gath-hepher. For the LORD saw the very bitter affliction of Israel, that none was shut up nor left at large, and that there was no helper for Israel. But the LORD decreed not to blot out the name of Israel from under the heavens, so he saved them by the hand of Jeroboam, the son of Jehoash.
- 28 Now the rest of the records of Jeroboam and all that he did and his valor, how he fought with Damascus and how he turned away the wrath of the LORD against Israel, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? Thereafter Jeroboam slept with his fathers, even with the kings of Israel, and Zechariah, his son, became king in his stead.

AZARIAH AND JOTHAM, OF JUDAH, 15:1-7

- 15 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam, king of Israel, Azariah, the son of Amaziah, king of Judah, became king. He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. And he did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD, in accord with all that Amaziah his father had done. Nevertheless, the high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. Therefore the LORD afflicted the king, so that he was a leper to the day of his death. And he dwelt in a separate house, while Jotham, the crown prince, was over the household, judging the people of the land. Now the rest of the records of Azariah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and Jotham his son became king in his stead.

REVOLT AND COUNTER-REVOLT, 15:8-31

- 8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Zechariah, the son of Jeroboam, became king over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned six months. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, as his fathers had done; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, wherewith he caused Israel to sin.

¹⁰ Moreover Shallum, the son of Jabesh, conspired against him, and attacked him in Ibleam and killed him and became king in his stead.
¹¹ Now as for the rest of the records of Zechariah, behold they are ¹² written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

This was the word of the LORD which he spoke to Jehu, saying,
"Thy sons to the fourth generation shall sit upon the throne of Israel."

And so it came about.

¹³ Shallum, the son of Jabesh, became king in the thirty-ninth year of ¹⁴ Uzziah, king of Judah; and he reigned one month in Samaria. Then Menahem, the son of Gadi, went up from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and defeated Shallum, the son of Jabesh, in Samaria, and slew ¹⁵ him and became king in his stead. Now the rest of the records of Shallum and his conspiracy which he made, behold they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

¹⁶ Then Menahem destroyed Tappuah and all who were therein and in its territory from Tirzah on; because they did not open it to him, therefore he destroyed it, and all the women therein with child, he ripped open.

¹⁷ In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Menahem, the son of Gadi, became king over Israel and reigned ten years in Samaria. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, wherewith he caused Israel to sin.

¹⁹ In his days Pul, the king of Assyria, came against the land. And Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his hand might ²⁰ be with him to establish the kingdom under his rule. So Menahem commanded Israel, even all the men of wealth, to give to the king of Assyria, each fifty shekels of silver. So the king of Assyria withdrew, staying no longer there in the land.

²¹ Now the rest of the records of Menahem and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?
²² So Menahem slept with his fathers and Pekahiah, his son, became king in his stead.

²³ In the fiftieth year of Azariah, king of Judah, Pekahiah, the son of Menahem, became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two ²⁴ years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, where-

25 with he caused Israel to sin. Moreover Pekah, the son of Remaliah, his third officer, conspired against him and slew him in the castle of the king's house; and with him were fifty Gileadites; and he slew
26 him and became king in his stead. Now the rest of the records of Pekahiah and all that he did, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

27 In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah, the son of Remaliah, became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty 28 years. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he turned not away from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, where-with he caused Israel to sin.

29 In the days of Pekah, king of Israel, Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, came and captured Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and carried the inhabitants captive to Assyria.

30 Then Hoshea, the son of Elah, made a conspiracy against Pekah, the son of Remaliah, and overcame him and slew him and became king in his stead in the twentieth year of Jotham, the son of Uzziah.
31 Now the rest of the records of Pekah and all that he did, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

JOTHAM, OF JUDAH, 15:32-38

32 In the second year of Pekah, the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, 33 Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, became king. He was twenty-five years old when he became king and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Jerusha, the daughter 34 of Zadok. Moreover he did that which was right in the sight of the 35 LORD, in accord with all that Uzziah, his father, had done. Nevertheless the high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burnt incense on the high places. He built the upper gate of the 36 house of the LORD. Now the rest of the records of Jotham and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

37 In those days the LORD began to send against Judah Rezin, the king 38 of Syria, and Pekah, the son of Remaliah. So Jotham slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, his ancestor; and Ahaz, his son, became king in his stead.

AHAZ OF JUDAH AND THE SYRO-EPHRAIMITISH WAR, 16:1-20

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah, the son of Remaliah, Ahaz, the 2 son of Jotham, king of Judah, became king. Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. However he did not do that which was right in the sight of the LORD his God, as David his ancestor had done, but walked in the way of the kings of Israel. He also made his son to pass through the fire according to the abominations of the nations, whom the LORD had dis-4 possessed before the Israelites. Moreover he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places and under every spreading tree.

5 At that time Rezin, king of Syria, and Pekah, the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to attack Jerusalem; and they besieged Ahaz, 6 but were not able to overcome him. At that time the king of Edom recovered Elath for Edom and drove out the Judeans from Elath; and the Edomites came to Elath and have dwelt there to this day.

7 Moreover Ahaz had sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, saying,

“I am your servant and your son; come up and deliver me from the hand of the king of Syria and from the hand of the king of Israel, who are besieging me.”

8 Ahaz also took the silver and the gold that were found in the house of the LORD and in the treasures of the king's house, and sent them as 9 a present to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria listened to him. And the king of Assyria went up to Damascus and captured it and carried its inhabitants captive to Kir, and killed Rezin.

10 Now when King Ahaz went to meet Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, at Damascus, he saw the altar which was in Damascus. Then King Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest a model of the altar and its pat- 11 tern according to all its workmanship. Therefore Urijah the priest built an altar, according to all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus, even so did Urijah the priest make it before King Ahaz came 12 from Damascus. And when the king came from Damascus and saw 13 the altar, the king drew near to the altar and went up on it, and burnt his burnt-offering and his cereal-offering, and poured out his libation 14 and dashed the blood of his thank-offerings against the altar. And the bronze altar that was before the LORD, he brought from the front of the Temple, from between his altar and the house of the LORD, and 15 put it on the north side of his altar. Then King Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying,

“On the great altar burn the morning burnt-offering and the evening cereal-offering and the burnt-offering of the king and his cereal-offering, with the burnt-offerings of all the people of the land, and their cereal-offering and their libations, and all the blood of the burnt-offering and all the blood of the sacrifice you shall dash against it; but the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by.”

- 16 Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that King Ahaz commanded.
- 17 King Ahaz also cut off the border-frames of the stands and removed the lavers from them; he also took down the sea from the bronze oxen that were under it, and put it upon a stone pediment.
- 18 And the foundation of the seat that they had built in the House, and the outer entrance for the king he caused to turn from the house of the LORD on account of the king of Assyria.
- 19 Now the rest of the deeds of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Hezekiah his son became king in his stead.

THE FALL OF SAMARIA, 17:1-41

- 17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz, king of Judah, Hoshea, the son of Elah, became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned nine years.
- 2 He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, yet not as the kings of Israel who were before him. Against him came up Shalmanezzer, king of Assyria; and Hoshea became his servant and paid him tribute.
- 4 But when the king of Assyria found Hoshea guilty of conspiracy—for he had sent messengers to Sewe king of Egypt and did not bring up tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year—the king of Assyria restrained him and shut him up in prison. Then the king of Assyria came up against the whole land, and went up to Samaria and besieged it three years. In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and carried Israel away captive to Assyria and settled them in Halah and on the Habor and the river Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.
- 7 Now this came about because the Israelites had sinned against the LORD their God, who had brought them up from the land of Egypt from the control of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and had feared other gods, and walked in the statutes of the nations whom the LORD possessed before the Israelites. And the Israelites uttered things that were not right against the LORD their God and built for themselves high places in all their cities, from the watchtower even to the fortified city, and set up for themselves pillars and Asherahs on every high hill and under every spreading tree, and offered sacrifices there on all the high places as did all the nations whom the LORD had carried away captive before them, and they did evil things to provoke the LORD's anger. They also served idols, in regard to which the LORD had said to them,

"You shall not do this thing."

13 Yet the LORD testified to Israel and Judah by all his prophets and seers, saying,

"Turn from your evil ways and keep my commandments and my statutes according to all the law which I commanded your fathers and which I sent to you by my servants, the prophets."

14 However, they would not listen, but were wilful, as were their fathers, who did not believe in the LORD their God. Moreover they rejected his statutes and his covenant which he made with their fathers, and his testimonies which he testified to them, and followed vanity and became vain in accordance with the nations who were round about them, concerning whom the LORD had commanded them that they should not do like them. And they forsook all the commandments of the LORD their God and made for themselves molten images, even two calves, and made an Asherah and worshipped all the host of the heavens and served the Baal. They also made their sons and their daughters pass through the fire, and used divination and sorcery, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD to provoke him to anger. Therefore the LORD was exceedingly angry with Israel and removed them out of his sight; there was nothing left but the tribe of Judah only.

19 Also Judah did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made, so that the LORD rejected the whole Israelitish stock and afflicted them and gave them over to plunderers until he had cast them out of his sight.

21 And when he had torn Israel from the house of David and they had made Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, king, Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD and caused them to commit great sin. So the Israelites walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he had committed; they departed not from them, until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he spoke by all his servants the prophets. So Israel has been carried away out of their own land to Assyria up to this day.

24 Moreover the king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim and settled them in the cities of Samaria in place of the Israelites. So they took possession of Samaria and dwelt in its cities.

25 Now at the beginning of their settling there, they did not fear the LORD. Therefore the LORD sent lions among them which were constantly killing some of them.

26 So when they told the king of Assyria, saying,

“The nations which you have carried away and settled in the cities of Samaria do not know the law of the god of the land; therefore he has sent lions among them and behold they are constantly killing them, because they are not acquainted with the law of the god of the land.”

27 Then the king of Assyria gave command, saying,

“Send thither one of the priests whom I carried away from there; and let him go and dwell there, and let him teach them the law of the god of the land.”

28 So one of the priests whom they carried away from Samaria came and dwelt in Bethel and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

29 But each of the nations had made gods of their own and placed them in the temples of the high places which the Samaritans had made, each

30 people in their cities in which they dwelt. The men of Babylon had made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth had made Nergal, and

31 the men of Hamath had made Ashima, and the Avvites had made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites burnt their children in the fire

32 to Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim. But when they came to fear the LORD they made for themselves from their own number priests of the high places, who acted for them in the temples

33 of the high places. Thus they came to fear the LORD, but they also continued to serve their own gods, according to the custom of the na-

34 tions from which they had been carried away. To this day they continue to do according to the earlier custom. They certainly do fear the LORD, but they do not follow his statutes and ordinances, nor the law nor the commandments which the LORD commanded the descendants of Jacob whom he named Israel, with whom the LORD made a covenant and commanded them, saying,

36 “You shall not fear other gods, nor worship them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them; but the LORD who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and with an outstretched arm, him you shall fear, and him shall you worship and to him shall you sacrifice;

37 and the statutes and the ordinances and the law and the commandment which he wrote for you, you shall observe to do forever, but you

38 shall not fear other gods; and the covenant that I have made with 39 you, you shall not forget, neither shall you fear other gods. But the LORD your God you shall fear; and he will deliver you from the hand of all your enemies.”

⁴⁰ However, they would not listen, but continued to do according to ⁴¹ their earlier custom. So while these peoples came to fear the LORD, they were also serving their graven images; moreover their children, and their children’s children—as their fathers did, so do they continue to do to this day.

HEZEKIAH OF JUDAH AND SENNACHERIB’S INVASION, 18:1—19:37

¹⁸ Now in the third year of Hoshea, the son of Elah, king of Israel,
² Hezekiah, the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, became king. He was twenty-five years old when he became king; and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Abi, the daughter of Zechariah. Moreover he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD according to all that David, his father, had done.

⁴ He removed the high places and broke down the pillars and cut down the Asherah. He also broke in pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made; for as late as those days the Israelites offered sacrifices to ⁵ it; and they called it Nehushtan. He trusted in the LORD, the God of Israel; so that after him there was none like him among all the kings
⁶ of Judah, nor among those who were before him. For he was loyal to the LORD, he turned not away from following him, but kept his commandments which the LORD had commanded Moses.

⁷ Moreover the LORD was with him; in all his ventures he prospered, and he rebelled against the king of Assyria, and no longer served him.
⁸ He conquered the Philistines as far as Gaza and its territory from the watchtower to the fortified city.

⁹ Now in the fourth year of King Hezekiah—that is the seventh year of Hoshea, the son of Elah—Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, came
¹⁰ up against Samaria and besieged it. And they took it at the end of three years, in the sixth year of Hezekiah—that is, in the ninth year
¹¹ of Hoshea, king of Israel, was Samaria taken. Then the king of Assyria carried Israel away to Assyria and settled them in Halah and on the Habor, the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes,
¹² because they did not listen to the voice of the LORD their God, but transgressed his covenant, even all that Moses the servant of the LORD
¹³ had commanded and would not listen nor do it. Now in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, came up ¹⁴ against all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them. Then Hezekiah, king of Judah, sent to the king of Assyria to Lachish, saying,

“I have offended; withdraw from me; whatever you lay on me I will bear.”

So the king of Assyria made Hezekiah king of Judah pay three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. So Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures of the king's house. At that time Hezekiah stripped the doors of the temple of the LORD and the columns, which Hezekiah, king of Judah, had overlaid, and gave the gold to the king of Assyria.

Then the king of Assyria sent the commander-in-chief, and the chief of the eunuchs and the Rab-shakeh from Lachish with a large army to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. And they went up, and when they came to Jerusalem they came and stood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is on the way to the laundrymen's field.

And when they called for the king, Eliakim, the son of Hilkiyah, who was the overseer of the palace, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph the recorder, went out to them.

Then the Rab-shakeh said to them,

“Say now to Hezekiah, ‘Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, ‘What confidence is this in which you trust? Do you think that merely a word of the lips is counsel and strength for war! Now on whom do you trust that you have rebelled against me? It is evident you have put your trust in the staff of this bruised reed, even Egypt, which if a man lean upon it will go into his hand and pierce it. So is Pharaoh to all who rely upon him. But if you say to me, ‘We trust in the LORD our God,’ is it not he whose high places and altars Hezekiah has taken away and has said to Judah and Jerusalem, ‘You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?’ Now therefore, I pray you, give pledges to my master, the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able on your part to set riders upon them. How then can you repulse one of the least of the servants of my master? Nevertheless you rely on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen. Now have I come up against this place to destroy it without the LORD's approval? On the contrary the LORD has said to me, ‘Go up against this land and destroy it.’ ” ”

Thereupon Elkanah, the son of Hilkiyah, and Shebna and Joah said to the Rab-shakeh, “Speak now to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; but do not speak to us in Judean in the hearing of the people who are on the wall.”

But the Rab-shakeh said to them,

“Was it to your master and you that my master sent me to speak these words? Is it not rather to the men who are sitting on the wall—doomed along with you to eat their own excrement and drink their own urine?”

28 Then the Rabshakeh stood up and cried with a loud voice in Judean and spoke and said,

29 “Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria. Thus says the king, ‘Do not let Hezekiah deceive you; for he will not be able to 30 deliver you from his hand. Neither let Hezekiah cause you to trust in the LORD, saying, “The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city shall 31 not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.” Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria, “Make peace with me and come out to me; and eat each one of you from his own vine and 32 his own fig tree and drink the waters of his own cistern, until I come and take you to a land like your own land, a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive trees and honey, that you may live and not die.” But do not listen to Hezekiah, when 33 he would lure you on saying, “The LORD will deliver us.” Has any of the gods of the nations really delivered his land out of the hand
34 of the king of Assyria? Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivvah? Where are the gods of Samaria? Have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?
35 Who are they among all the gods of the lands, that have delivered their land out of my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?’ ”

36 Then the people were silent and answered him not a word; for it was the king’s command, saying,

“Do not answer him.”

37 Then Eliakim, the son of Hilkiyah, who was the overseer of the palace, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with torn garments and told him the words of the Rab-shakeh.

19 And as soon as King Hezekiah heard it, he tore his garments and covered himself with sackcloth and went into the house of the LORD.
2 He also sent Eliakim who was overseer of the palace and Shebna the scribe and the oldest of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah
3 the prophet, the son of Amoz. They therefore said to him,

“Thus says Hezekiah, ‘This is a day of distress, and of rebuke and of disgrace, for children have come to birth and there is no strength
4 to bring them forth. It may be that the LORD your God will hear all the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to insult the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard; therefore lift up a prayer for the remnant that is left.' ”

5 But when the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah, Isaiah said to them,

“Thus shall you say to your master, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Fear not because of the words that you have heard, with which the menials
7 of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me. Behold I will put a spirit in him so that he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.” ’ ”

8 Now the Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah, for he had heard that he had left Lachish. But when he heard concerning Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, saying,

“Behold, he has come out to fight against you,”

he sent messengers again to Hezekiah, saying,

10 “Thus shall you say to Hezekiah, king of Judah, as follows, ‘Let not your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying, “Jerusalem shall 11 not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.” You have unquestionably heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands in 12 completely destroying them, and shall you be delivered? Did the gods of the nations which my fathers destroyed deliver them—Gozan, 13 Haran, Rezech and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? Where are the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and Ivvah?’ ”

14 So Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messenger and read it. Then Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD and 15 spread it out before the LORD. And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said,

“O LORD, the God of Israel, whose seat is the cherubs, thou art
16 God, even thou alone, over all the kingdoms of the earth. Thou hast made the heavens and the earth. Incline thine ear, O LORD, and hear; open thine eyes, O LORD, and see, and hear the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to insult the living God.

17 “It is true! O LORD! the kings of Assyria have laid waste the na-
18 tions and their land, and have given their gods to the flames, for they were no gods, but the work of men’s hands, wood and stone; there-19 fore they have destroyed them. But now, O LORD our God, deliver us, we pray thee, from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou, O LORD, art God alone.”

- 20 Then Isaiah, the son of Amoz, sent to Hezekiah, saying,
"Thus the LORD, the God of Israel says, 'What you have prayed to 21 me concerning Sennacherib, king of Assyria, I have heard.' This is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning him:
'She despises you, laughs at you—
The virgin daughter of Zion!
Behind you she wags the head,
The daughter of Jerusalem!
22 Whom have you insulted and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice,
And lifted up on high your eyes?
Against the Holy one of Israel!
23 By the hand of your messengers you have insulted the Lord and have said,
"With the multitude of my chariots, I, even I, ascended the mountain steeps,
The ravines of Lebanon,
And I have felled its tallest cedars,
Its choice cypresses,
And I have entered its remotest recesses,
Its densest growths.
24 I, even I, dig down, and drink strange waters,
And with the soles of my feet have I dried up all the streams of Egypt."
25 Have you not heard how I did it long ago,
In the olden days I planned it;
Now I have brought it to pass; hence your task,
To turn fortified cities into ruin heaps!
26 And their inhabitants, helpless, are terrified and put to shame.
They are like the herbs of the field, the tender grass,
And like the grass blades on the housetops and the desert downs.
27 Before me is your rising up, and your lying down, your going out and your coming in;
I know your raging against me,
28 And your arrogance has come up to my ears,
Therefore I will put my ring through your nose and my bridle between your lips,
And will cause you to return by the way in which you came.
29 Moreover this shall be your sign: You shall eat this year that which grows of itself,

- And in the second year that which springs from the same,
 But in the third year sow and reap,
 And plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
- 30 And the remnant that is left of Judah shall again take root downward
 And bear fruit upward.
- 31 For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant
 And from Mount Zion an escaped band;
 The zeal of the LORD shall accomplish this.' ”
- 32 “Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria, ‘He shall not enter this city, nor shoot an arrow there, neither shall he 33 come before it with shield nor cast up a mound against it. By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, but he shall not come into 34 this city, is the LORD’s oracle. For I will defend this city to deliver it for my own sake, and for the sake of my servant David.’ ”
- 35 Now that night the angel of the LORD went forth and slew in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand. And when men arose early the next morning, there were all of them, dead bodies.
- 36 Then Sennacherib, king of Assyria, set out and went and returned, 37 and dwelt in Nineveh. But as he was worshipping in the temple of Nisroch his god, Adrammelech and Sharezer slew him with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat. And Esarhaddon his son became king in his stead.

HEZEKIAH'S SICKNESS AND ISAIAH'S PREDICTION, 20:1-11

- 20 In those days Hezekiah was ill and at the point of death. And Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, came to him and said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Set your house in order for you shall certainly die and not live.’ ”
- 2 Then he turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, saying,
- 3 “Remember now, O LORD, I beseech thee, how I have conducted myself before thee in truth and with a perfect heart and have done that which was good in thy sight.”
- 4 Hezekiah also wept profusely. Now before Isaiah had gone out of the middle courtyard, the word of the LORD came to him, saying,
- 5 “Return and say to Hezekiah, the prince of my people, ‘Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father, “I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears; see, I will heal you; on the third day you shall

- 6 go up to the house of the LORD. I will also add to your days fifteen years, and I will deliver you and this city from the king of Assyria, and I will defend this city for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David.””
- 7 Isaiah also said,
“Let them take a cake of figs, and place it upon the boil that he may recover.”
- 8 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah,
“What shall be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up to the house of the LORD the third day?”
- 9 So Isaiah said,
“This shall be the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he spoke; shall the shadow go forward ten steps, or back ten steps?”
- 10 Hezekiah answered,
“It is easy for the shadow to go forward ten steps; rather let the shadow turn backward ten steps.”
- 11 So Isaiah the prophet cried to the LORD; and he brought back the shadow ten steps on the steps where it had gone down on the step sundial of Ahaz.

THE BABYLONIAN MISSION AND ISAAH'S DISAPPROVAL, 20:12-21

- 12 At that time Merodach-baladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent eunuchs with a present to Hezekiah; for he had heard that
- 13 Hezekiah had been sick. And Hezekiah was glad because of them, and showed them all his treasure-house, the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, and his armory and all that was found among his treasures; there was nothing in his house nor in all his realm that Hezekiah did not show them.
- 14 Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said to him, “What did these men say? And from whence do they come to you?”
- So Hezekiah said,
“They have come from a distant land, from Babylon.”
- 15 And he said,
“What did they see in your house?”
- And Hezekiah said,
“They have seen all that is in my house; there was nothing among my treasures that I did not show them.”
- 16 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah,

- 17 "Hear the word of the LORD, 'Behold the days are at hand when all that is in your house and that which your fathers have stored up to this day shall be carried to Babylon, nothing shall be left,' says the
- 18 LORD. 'Also of your sons who shall be your issue, whom you shall beget, they shall take, and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.'"
- 19 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah,
 "Good is the word of the LORD which you have spoken."
 For he thought,
 "Shall it not be so if there be peace and truth during my days?"
- 20 Now the rest of the records of Hezekiah and all of his valor and how he made the pool and the conduit, and brought water into the city, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings
- 21 of Judah? So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and Manasseh his son became king in his stead.

REACTION UNDER MANASSEH AND AMON, 21:1-26

- 21 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was
- 2 Hephzibah. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to the abominations of the nations which the LORD dis-
- 3 sessed before the Israelites. For he built again the high places which Hezekiah his father had destroyed, and he erected altars for the Baal, and made an Asherah as Ahab, king of Israel, had done, and wor-
- 4 shipped all the host of the heavens and served them. He also built altars in the house of the LORD of which the LORD had said,
 "In Jerusalem will I put my name."
- 5 Moreover he built altars for all the host of the heavens in the two
- 6 courts of the house of the LORD. Likewise he caused his son to pass through the fire and practiced augury and witchcraft and he used to appoint necromancers and wizards. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD to arouse his anger.
- 7 He also set up the graven image of an Asherah that he had made, in the temple of which the LORD had said to David and to Solomon his son,
 "In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the
- 8 tribes of Israel, I will put my name forever, and I will not cause the feet of Israel to wander any more out of the land which I gave to their fathers, if only they will observe to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that my servant

9 Moses commanded them.”

But they did not listen, and Manasseh seduced them to do evil more than did the nations which the LORD destroyed before the Israelites.

10 The LORD also spoke by his servants the prophets, saying,

11 “Because Manasseh, king of Judah, has done these abominations and has done more wickedly than all that the Amorites did who were 12 before him, and has made Judah also sin with his idols, therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Behold I am about to bring such evil on Jerusalem and Judah, that both the ears of him who hears 13 of it shall tingle. I will also stretch over Jerusalem the measuring line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab; and I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping and turning it upside 14 down. Moreover I will cast off the remnant of my inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies, that they may become a 15 prey and a spoil to all their enemies, because they have done that which was evil in my sight and have aroused me to anger, since the day their fathers came forth from Egypt, even to this day.’”

16 Furthermore Manasseh shed very much innocent blood until he had filled Jerusalem from one end to the other, besides his sin with which he caused Judah to sin, in doing that which was evil in the sight of the LORD.

17 Now the rest of the records of Manasseh and all that he did, and his sin which he committed, are they not written in the Book of the 18 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Manasseh slept with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his house, in the garden of Uzzah; and Amon his son became king in his stead.

19 Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem; and his mother’s name was Meshulle-20 meth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah. He also did that which was 21 evil in the sight of the LORD, as Manasseh his father had done. Moreover he walked in all the way wherein his father had walked, and 22 served the idols which his father served, and worshipped them. He also forsook the LORD, the God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the LORD.

23 At length the servants of Amon conspired against him and slew the 24 king in his house. But the people of the land slew all the conspirators against King Amon; and the people of the land made Josiah his son 25 king in his stead. Now the rest of the deeds of Amon which he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of 26 Judah? So they buried him in the grave of his father in the garden of Uzzah; and Josiah his son became king in his stead.

JOSIAH'S REFORM, 22:1—23:30

22 Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath. Moreover he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD and walked in all the way of David his ancestor, turning not to the right nor to the left.

3 Now in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the king sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam the scribe, to the house of the LORD, saying,

4 "Go up to Hilkiyah the high priest, that he may take the sum of the money which has been brought into the house of the LORD, which the keepers of the threshold have collected from the people. And let them deliver it into the hands of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD; that they may give it to the workmen who are in the house of the LORD, to make the repairs on the temple—to the carpenters and the builders and the masons, also for buying timber and hewn stone to repair the temple."

7 However, there was no reckoning made with them regarding the money delivered to them, for they dealt faithfully.

8 At that time Hilkiyah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found a book of law in the house of the LORD."

9 And Hilkiyah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it. Then Shaphan the scribe went to the king and brought the king word and said,

"Your servants have emptied out the money found in the temple and have delivered it into the hands of the workmen who have charge of the house of the LORD."

10 Shaphan the scribe also told the king, saying, "Hilkiyah the priest gave me a book."

And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 Now when the king heard the words of the book of law, he tore his garments. Moreover the king commanded Hilkiyah the priest and Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Achbor, the son of Michaiah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah, the king's servant, saying,

13 "Go, inquire of the LORD for me and for the people and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found; for great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not listened to the words of this book, to do according to all that is written therein concerning us.”

14 So Hilkiah the priest and Ahikam and Achbor and Shaphan and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tikrah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe, who dwelt in 15 Jerusalem in the second quarter, and they spoke to her. Then she said to them,

“Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Say to the man who sent 16 you to me, “Thus says the LORD, ‘I am just now about to bring evil upon this place and upon its inhabitants, namely all the words of the 17 book which the king of Judah has read. Because they have forsaken me and have sacrificed to other gods, that they might arouse my anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be kindled
18 against this place and it shall not be quenched.’ ”’ But to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus shall you say to him, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, “Regarding the words
19 which you have heard—because your heart was penitent, and you humbled yourself before the LORD, when you heard what I spoke against this place and against its inhabitants, that they should become a desolation and a curse, and tore your garments and wept before me,
20 I also have heard you,” is the oracle of the LORD. “Therefore I will surely gather you to your fathers and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace, neither shall your eyes see all the evil which I will speedily bring upon this place.” ’ ”

So they brought back word to the king.

23 Then the king sent, and they gathered to him all the elders of
2 Judah and Jerusalem. Thereupon the king went up to the house of the LORD and with him all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, including priests and prophets and all the people, both small and great; and he read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the LORD.
3 Moreover the king stood by the column and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all earnestness and zeal, to establish the words of this covenant that are written in this book. And all the people confirmed the covenant.

4 Then the king commanded Hilkiah, the high priest, and the second priest and the keepers of the threshold to bring out of the temple of the LORD all the vessels that were made for the Baal and the Asherah and for all the host of the heavens; and he burned them without

Jerusalem in the limekilns by the Kidron, and carried their ashes to 5 Bethel. He also removed the idolatrous priests, whom the kings of Judah had ordained to offer sacrifice in the high places in the cities of Judah and in the sanctuaries in the cities of Judah and in the sanctuaries around Jerusalem; and those who offered sacrifice to the Baal, to the sun, the moon, and the constellations, and all the host of the 6 heavens. Moreover he brought the Asherah from the house of the LORD without Jerusalem to the Brook Kidron and burned it at the Brook Kidron, and beat it to dust, and cast its dust upon the graves of 7 the common people. Furthermore he tore down the houses of the devotees of the fertility cult which were in the house of the LORD, 8 where the women wove tunics for the Asherah. Then he brought all the priests from the cities of Judah and defiled the high places, where the priests offered sacrifices, from Geba to Beersheba. And he tore down the high places of the Satyrs, which stood at the entrance of the gate of Joshua, the governor of the city, which were on the left as 9 one enters the city gate. However, the priests of the high places did not come up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but ate unleavened 10 bread among their kinsmen. He also defiled Topheth, which is in the valley of the son of Hinnom, that no man might make his son or his 11 daughter pass through the fire to Molech. He took away the horses which the kings of Judah had given to the sun, at the entrance of the house of the LORD, by the chamber of Nathan-melech, the eunuch, which was among the summer houses, and he burned the chariots of 12 the sun with fire. Also the altars which were on the roof, the upper chamber of Ahaz which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD the king demolished and beat them down there, and cast the dust into 13 the Brook Kidron. Moreover the high places that were east of Jerusalem, to the south of the hill of destruction, which Solomon, the king of Israel, had built for Ashtarte, the abomination of the Sidonians, and for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, and for Milcom, the 14 abomination of the Ammonites, the king defiled. He shattered the pillars, and cut down the Asherahs, and filled their places with the bones of men.
15 Moreover the altar also that was at Bethel, and the high place which Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, had made, who caused Israel to sin, even that altar and the high place he demolished and shattered its stones, beating them to dust, and burned the Asherah.
16 Now when Josiah turned and saw the graves that were there on the mount, he sent and took the bones out of the graves and burned them on the altar and defiled it according to the word of the LORD which 17 the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these things. Then he said,

“What is yonder tombstone that I see?”

And the men of the city said to him,

“It is the grave of the man of God, who came from Judah and proclaimed that which you have done against the altar of Bethel.”

18 Therefore he said,

“Let him be; let no one move his bones.”

So his bones rescued the bones of the prophet who came from Samaria.

19 Also all the temples of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to arouse the anger of the LORD, Josiah took away and did to them in accordance with all 20 that he had done to Bethel. Moreover all the priests of the high places, who were there, he slew upon the altars and burned men’s bones upon them. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

21 Thereupon the king commanded all the people, saying,

“Keep the passover to the LORD your God, as it is written in this book of the covenant.”

22 For such a passover as this had not been kept from the days of the judges who judged Israel, and during all the days of the kings of Israel
23 and the kings of Judah; but in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this 24 passover was kept to the LORD in Jerusalem. Moreover the necromancers and the wizards and the teraphim, the idols and all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem Josiah put away, that he might establish the words of the law which were written in the book which Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.
25 There was no king like him before him, who turned to the LORD with all his determination and all his zeal and with all his strength according to all the law of Moses; neither did there arise after him any 26 like him. However the LORD did not turn from the fierceness of his great anger, since his anger was kindled against Judah because of all 27 the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked him. So the LORD said,

“Judah also I will remove from my sight, as I removed Israel and I will cast off this city which I have chosen, even Jerusalem, and the Temple of which I said, ‘My name shall be there.’”

- 28 Now the rest of the records of Josiah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?
- 29 In his days Pharaoh-necho, king of Egypt, went up unto the king of Assyria to the River Euphrates. And King Josiah went to meet him; and Pharaoh-necho slew him at Megiddo, as soon as he saw him.
- 30 Then his servants transported his dead body in a chariot from Megiddo and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own grave. Thereupon the people of the land took Jehoahaz, the son of Josiah, and anointed him and made him king in place of his father.

THE LAST DAYS OF JUDAH, 23:31—25:30

- 31 Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king and he reigned three months in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was
- 32 Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD in accord with all that his
- 33 fathers had done. Then Pharaoh-necho imprisoned him in Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem, and he put the land under an indemnity of a hundred talents of silver and
- 34 a talent of gold. Pharaoh-necho also made Eliakim, the son of Josiah, king in place of Josiah his father, and changed his name to Jehoiakim.
- 35 But he took Jehoahaz and brought him to Egypt, where he died. So Jehoiakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharaoh. But he had to lay a forced levy on the land in order to give the money according to the demand of Pharaoh; each according to his ability exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land to give it to Pharaoh-necho.
- 36 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zebidah, the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. He also did that which was
- 37 evil in the sight of the LORD in accord with all that his fathers had done.
- 24 In his days Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came up, and Jehoiakim became subject to him for three years; then he turned and
- 2 rebelled against him. Moreover the LORD sent against him marauding bands of Chaldeans, of the Arameans, of the Moabites, and of the Ammonites; thus he sent them against Judah to destroy it, according to the word of the LORD, which he had spoken by his servants the
- 3 prophets. Surely at the command of the LORD this came upon Judah to remove it out of his sight, because of the sins of Manasseh, accord-
- 4 ing to all that he had done, and also because of the innocent blood which he had shed, for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood;

5 therefore the LORD would not pardon. Now the rest of the records of 6 Jehoiakim and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of 7 the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? So Jehoiakim slept with his 8 fathers, and Jehoiachin his son became king in his stead. Moreover 9 the king of Egypt came up no more out of his land; for the king of 10 Babylon had taken all that had belonged to the king of Egypt from 11 the Brook of Egypt to the River Euphrates.

12 Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king and he 13 reigned three months in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Ne-14 hushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. He also did that 15 which was evil in the sight of the LORD according to all that his fa-16 thers had done.

17 At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, 18 came up against Jerusalem, and the city was besieged. Nebuchadnezzar, 19 king of Babylon, also came to the city while his servants were be-20 sieging it; and Jehoiachin, king of Judah, went out to the king of 21 Babylon, he and his mother, his servants, and his nobles and his eu-
22 nuchs. And the king of Babylon took him captive in the eighth year 23 of his reign. He also took forth from there all the treasures of the 24 house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house and he broke 25 up all the vessels of gold which Solomon, king of Israel, had made in 26 the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had said. Moreover he carried 27 away captive all of Jerusalem and all the nobles and all the renowned 28 warriors, even ten thousand captives, and all the craftsmen and the 29 smiths: none were left, except the poorest people of the land. Thus 30 he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon; and the king's mother and 31 the king's wives, and his eunuchs, and the chief men of the land, he 32 caused to go into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon. Also all the 33 men of ability even seven thousand, and the craftsmen and the smiths
34 a thousand, all the strong men fit for war; them the king of Babylon
35 took captive to Babylon. Then the king of Babylon made Mat-
36 taniah, Jehoiachin's uncle, king in his stead, and changed his name 37 to Zedekiah. Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became 38 king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's 39 name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. He also 40 did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD according to all that 41 Jehoiachin had done. For in accordance with the anger of the LORD it 42 was with Jerusalem and Judah until he had cast them out of his sight.

25 Finally Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. Thereupon in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem and encamped against it and built a siege wall around it, so the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. On the ninth day of the fourth month, when the famine was severe in the city, so that there was no bread for the people of the land, the city was breached, and the king and all the men of war fled by night by way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden, while the Chaldeans were beleaguering the city, and went in the direction of the Arabah. But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king and overtook him in the plains of Jericho, all his army having scattered from him. Then they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah; and they passed judgment upon him. They also slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes and put out his eyes and bound him in fetters and brought him to Babylon.

8 But in the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, which was in the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the body-guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. Thereupon he burnt the house of the LORD and the king's house and all the houses of Jerusalem, even every great house he burnt with fire. And all the army of the Chaldeans, who were with the commander of the body-guard, broke down the walls of Jerusalem round about. Also the rest of the people who were left in the city and the deserters who had fallen away to the king of Babylon and the rest of the multitude, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the body-guard, carried away captive. But the commander of the body-guard left some of the poorest of the land as vinedressers and farmers.

13 Moreover the pillars of bronze that were in the house of the LORD, and the stands and the sea of bronze that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke up and carried the bronze from them to Babylon. Also the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the bowls, and all the vessels of bronze with which the service was conducted, they took away. Likewise the fire-pans and the basins, that which was of gold, the commander of the body-guard took away in gold, and that which was of silver in silver. The two columns, the one sea, and the stands which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD—the bronze of all these vessels could not be weighed. The height of the one column was eighteen cubits, and a capital of bronze was above it; and the height of the capital was three cubits, with network and pomegranates round about upon the capital, all of bronze; and the second column had similar ones, with network.

¹⁸ Then the commander of the body-guard took Seraiah, the chief priest, and Zephaniah, the second priest, and the three keepers of the ¹⁹ threshold. And from the city he took a eunuch who was set over the fighting men and five men from the personal companions of the king, who were found in the city, and the scribe of the commander of the army who mustered the people of the land and sixty men of the people ²⁰ of the land, who were found in the city. Moreover Nebuzaradan, the commander of the body-guard, took them and brought them to the ²¹ king of Babylon at Riblah. Then the king of Babylon struck them down and killed them in Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away captive from its own land.

“Fear not because of the servants of the Chaldeans, settle in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.”

²⁵ But in the seventh month, Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, came and ten men with him, and struck down Gedaliah so that he died, and the Jews and the Chaldeans ²⁶ who were with him at Mizpeh. Then all the people, both small and great, and the commanders of the forces arose and came to Egypt; for they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

²⁷ Now in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, in the twelfth month on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Evil-merodach, in the year that he became king, summoned ²⁸ Jehoiachin, king of Judah, from prison; and he spoke kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him ²⁹ in Babylon; and changed his prison garb. And Jehoiachin ate bread ³⁰ before him continually all the days of his life. And as for his allowance, there was a continual allowance given him from the king, for every day a portion, all the days of his life.

THE KINGS OF EDOM, 1:43-54

43 Now these are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the Israelites. Bela was the son of Beor, the 44 name of whose city was Dinhabah. When Bela died, Jobab, the son of 45 Zerah of Bozrah, became king in his stead. When Jobab died, Hu-46 sham of the land of the Temanites became king in his stead. When Husham died, Hadad, the son of Bedad, who conquered Midian in the country of Moab, became king in his stead, and the name of his city

51 Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. Then Hadad died.

Now the chiefs of Edom were chief Timna, chief Aliah, chief 52 Jetheth, chief Aholibamah, chief Elah, chief Pinon, chief Kenaz, 53 chief Teman, chief Mibzar, chief Magdiel, chief Iram. These were

THE GENEALOGY OF ISRAEL, 2:1-55

2 These are the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, 2 Issachar, and Zebulun, Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and 3 Asher. The sons of Judah were Er, Onan, and Shelah, which three were born to him of Bathshua the Canaanitess. Now Er, Judah's first-4 born, was wicked in the sight of the LORD, therefore he slew him.
His daughter-in-law Tamar also bore him Perez and Zerah—Judah

5 had five sons in all. The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul;
6 and the sons of Zerah were Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Chalcol, Darda, a 7 total of five. And Karmi's son was Achan, the troubler of Israel who 8 dealt treacherously in the matter of the devoted thing. And Ethan's son was Azariah.

9 The sons of Hezron, that were born to him were Jerahmeel, Ram, 10 Chelubai. Ram was the father of Amminadab, and Amminadab was 11 the father of Nahshon, a chieftain of the Judeans. Nahshon was 12 the father of Salma, and Salma of Boaz, Boaz of Obed, Obed of 13 Jesse; Jesse was the father of Eliab, his first-born, Abinadab his sec-14 ond, and Shimei his third, Nathanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, 15 Ozem the sixth, David the seventh; and their sisters were Zeruiah and 16 Abigail. And the sons of Zeruiah were Abishai, Joab, and Asahel, 17 three; and Abigail bore Amasa, and the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmaelite.

18 Now Caleb, the son of Hezron, had issue by his wife Azubah, the daughter of Jerioth; and these were her sons, Jeshur, Shobab, and Ar-19 don. When Azubah died, Caleb married Ephrath, who bore him
20 Hur. Hur was the father of Uri, and Uri was the father of Bezalel.
21 Afterward Hezron sought offspring of the daughter of Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old; and 22 she bore him Segub. And Segub was the father of Jair, who had 23 twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. Moreover Geshur and Aram took the towns of Jair from them, and Kenath, with its sixty villages. All these were descendants of Machir, the father of Gilead.
24 Now after the death of Hezron, Caleb sought offspring of Ephrath, the wife of Hezron his father, and she bore him Ashhur, the father of Tekoa.

25 The sons of Jerahmeel, the first-born of Hezron, were Ram, his 26 first-born, then Bunah, Oren, Ozem and Ahijah. Jerahmeel also had another wife whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.
27 The sons of Ram, the first-born of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin and 28 Eker. Likewise the sons of Onam were Shammai, and Jada; and the 29 sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur. The name of Abishur's 30 wife was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid. Nadab's sons 31 were Seled and Appaim; and Seled died childless. But the son of Appaim was Ishi, and the son of Ishi, Sheshan, and the son of Sheshan, 32 Ahlai. The sons also of Jada, Shammai's brother, were Jether and 33 Jonathan; and Jether died childless, but the sons of Jonathan were 34 Peleth and Zaza. These were the descendants of Jerahmeel. Now

 Sheshan had no sons, only daughters; but Sheshan had an Egyptian
 35 slave, whose name was Jarha. Accordingly Sheshan gave his daughter 36 to Jarha his slave in marriage; and she bore him Attai. Attai was the 37 father of Nathan, and Nathan of Zabad. Zabad was the father of 38 Ephlal, and Ephlal of Obed. Obed was the father of Jehu, and Jehu 39 of Azariah. Azariah was the father of Halez, and Halez of Eleasah.
 40 Eleasah was the father of Sismai, and Sismai of Shallum. Shallum 41 was the father of Jekamiah, and Jekamiah of Elishama.

42 The sons of Caleb, the brother of Jerahmeel, were Mareshah his first-born, who was the father of Ziph, and the father of Hebron.

 49 also bore Shaaph, the father of Madmannah, Sheva, the father of Machbenah and the father of Gibeā; and the daughter of Caleb was 50 Achsah. These were the children of Caleb.

The sons of Hur, the first-born of Ephrathah, were Shobal, the fa-
 51 ther of Kirjath-jearim, Salma, the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph, 52 the father of Bethgader; Shobal, the father of Kirjath-jearim, had 53 other sons, namely, Haroeh and half of the Menuhites, and of the families of Kirjath-jearim, the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites, and the Mishraitēs; of these came the Zorathites and the Eshtaolites.
 54 The sons of Salma were Bethlehem, and the Netophathites, Atroth-55 bethjoab, and half of the Manahathites, the Zorites. The families also of the scribes that dwelt at Jabez were the Tirathites, the Shimeathites and the Sucathites. These are the Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of the house of Rechab.

THE FAMILY OF DAVID, 3:1-24

3 Now these are the sons of David, that were born to him at Hebron, the first-born was Amnon by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; the second was 2 Daniel by Abigail the Carmelitess; the third was Absalom, whose mother was Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; the 3 fourth was Adonijah whose mother was Haggith; the fifth was Sheph-

4 atiah by Abital; the sixth was Ithream by his wife Eglah; six were born to him in Hebron, where he reigned for seven years and six months. At Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. The descend- 17 ants of Jehoiakim were Jeconiah his son, Zedekiah his son, and the 18 sons of Jeconiah, who was taken captive, were Shealtiel, Malchiram, 19 Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Hoshama and Nedabiah; and the sons 20 of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel, and Shimei; and the sons of Zerubbabel 21 were Meshullam, and Hananiah; and Shelomith was their sister; 22 there were also Hashubah, Ohel, Berachiah, Hasadiah and Jushab- 23 hesed, five. The son of Hananiah was Pelatiah, and Jeshaiah was 24 his son, and Rephaiah was his son, Arnan his son, Obadiah his son, and 25 Shecaniah his son. The son of Shecaniah was Shemaiah, and the sons 26 of Shemaiah were Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat, six. 27 The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three. 28 And the sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, 29 Johanan, Dalaiah, and Anani, seven.

THE FAMILY OF JUDAH, 4:1-23

4 The sons of Judah were Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur and Shobal. 2 Also Reaiah, the son of Shobal, was the father of Jahath, and Jahath 3 was the father of Ahumai and Lahad. These are the families of the 4 Zorathites. These are the sons of Etam, Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; 5 and the name of their sister was Hazelel-poni; and Penuel was the 6 father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah. These are the sons 7 of Hur, the first-born of Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem. 8 Now Ashhur, the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah; 9 Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hopher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. 10 These were the sons of Naarah. The sons of Helah were Zereth, 11 Izhar, and Ethnan. Koz was the father of Anub, Zobebah, and the

- 9 families of Aharhel, the son of Harum. Jabez was more honorable than his brothers, and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, "Because I bore him in pain."
- 10 Now Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, "Oh that thou wouldst surely bless me and enlarge my border, and that thy hand might be with me, and that thou wouldst keep me from evil, so that it should not harm me!"
- 11 And God granted what he asked. Chelub, the brother of Shuhah, was the father of Mehir, and the latter was the father of Eshton.
- 12 Eshton was the father of Bethrapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah, the father of Irnahash. These are the men of Recah. The sons of Kenaz
- 13 were Othniel and Seraiah, and the son of Othniel was Hathath. Meonothai was the father of Ophrah, and Seraiah was the father of Joab, the father of the valley of the craftsmen, for they were craftsmen.
- 14 The sons of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, were Iru, Elah, and Naam; and the son of Elah was Kenaz. The sons of Jehalelel were Ziph,
- 15 Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Ephraim, and Jalon. And these are the sons of Bithia, the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took; and Jether was the father of Miriam and Shammai, and Jishbah the father of Eshtemoa. And his Jewish wife bore Jered, the father of Gedor, Heber, the father of Socoh, and
- 16 Jekuthiel, the father of Zenoah. The sons of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham, were the fathers of Keilah, the Garmite, and
- 17 Eshtemoa, the Maacathite. The sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinah, Benhanan, and Tilon; and the sons of Ishi were Zoheth, and
- 18 Benzoheth. The sons of Shelah, Judah's son, were Er, the father of Lecah, Laadah, the father of Mareshah, and families of the house of
- 19 linen workers at Beth-Ashbea; also Jokim, and the men of Cozeba, Joash, and Saraph who ruled in Moab and returned to Bethlehem,
- 20 and the records are ancient. These were the potters and inhabitants of Netaim and Gederah; they resided there with the king for his work.

THE DESCENDANTS OF SIMEON, 4:24-43

- 24 The sons of Simeon were Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and
- 25 Shaul; Shallum was his son, Mibsam his son, and Mishma his son.
- 26 Mishma's son was Hammuel, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son. Now
- 27 Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers had not many sons, nor did all their family multiply as did the Judeans.
- 28 They also lived at Beersheba, Moladah, and Hazarshual, at Bilhah,
- 29 Ezem, and Tolad, at Bethuel, Hormah, and Ziklag, at Bethmarca-
- 30
- 31

both, Hazarsusim, Beth-biri and Shaaraim. These were their cities 32 until David reigned. Their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, 33 Tochen and Ashan, five cities, and all their villages that were round about these cities as far as Baal. These were their settlements, and they kept a genealogical enrollment.

34 Meshobab, Jamlech and Joshah, the son of Amaziah, Joel, and 35 Jehu, the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel, Elio-enai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel and Benaiah, 37 Ziza, the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son 38 of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah—these enumerated by name were 39 leaders in their families, and their families increased greatly. And they went to the entrance of Gedor, even to the east side of the valley 40 to seek pasture for their flocks, where they found rich, luscious pasture, and the land was broad, quiet and peaceable, for the inhabitants 41 there formerly belonged to Ham. Also these written by name came in the days of Hezekiah, king of Judah, and destroyed their tents and the Meunim who were found there, and exterminated them to this day, and dwelt in their stead, because there was pasture there for their 42 flocks. Moreover from these Simeonites five hundred men went to Mount Seir, having as their leaders, Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah and 43 Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. And they overcame the remnant of the Amalekites that had escaped, and they have dwelt there to this day.

THE DESCENDANTS OF REUBEN, 5:1-26

5 Now the sons of Reuben, the first-born of Israel—for he was the eldest, but because he polluted his father's marriage bed, his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel, so he is not enrolled 2 in the genealogy according to the birthright, though Judah grew strong among his brothers, and became prince over him, yet the birth-
 3 right belonged to Joseph—the sons of Reuben the first-born of Israel
 4 were Enoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. The descendants of Joel
 5 were Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, Micah his son,
 6 Reaiah his son, Baal his son, Beerah his son, whom Tiglath-pileser
 7 king of Assyria, carried away captive—he was a chieftain of the Reubenites, and his kinsmen, according to their families, when the 8 genealogy of their generations was reckoned, were chief Jeiel, and Zechariah and Bela, the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of 9 Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, even to Nebo and Baalmeon. Also eastward he dwelt to the entrance of the desert as far as the Euphrates because 10 their cattle were so many in the land of Gilead. Moreover in the days of Saul they made war upon the Hagrites, who fell by their hand so that they dwelt in their tents throughout the territory east of Gilead.

11 Now the Gadites dwelt opposite them in the land of Bashan as far 12 as Salcah. Joel was the chief, Shapham next, then Janai, and Shaphat 13 in Bashan, together with their kinsmen according to their families, 14 Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia, and Eber, seven. These were the sons of Abihail, the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, 15 the son of Buz, Ahi, the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, chiefs in their 16 families; and they dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan, in its towns, and in 17 all the pasturelands of Sirion to their limits. All of these were enrolled in the genealogical records in the days of Jotham, king of Judah and in the days of Jeroboam, king of Israel.

18 The Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh, consisting of valiant men, able to carry shield and sword, skilled bowmen, expert in war, amounted to forty-four thousand seven hundred and 19 sixty in active service. They also made war upon the Hagrites, also 20 Jetur, Naphish and Nodab. And they were helped against them, and the Hagrites and all who were with them were delivered into their hands; they cried to God in the battle, and he was entreated for them 21 because they trusted in him. Moreover they carried off their cattle, fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred and fifty thousand sheep, 22 two thousand asses, and a hundred thousand men alive. For many fell slain, for the war was of God, and they dwelt in their stead until the exile.

23 The members of the half tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land;
they increased from Bashan to Baalhamon and Senir and Mount Her-24 mon. These were the heads of their families, Ephraim, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah and Jahdiel, valiant fighters, famous men, 25 heads of their families. But they acted treacherously toward the God of their fathers, and went faithlessly after other gods of the peoples 26 of the land whom God had destroyed before them. So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul, king of Assyria, and the spirit of Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and he carried them away, even the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and brought them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan, where they still are.

THE DESCENDANTS OF LEVI, 6:1-48

62 The sons of Levi were Gershom, Kohath and Merari. And the 3 sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel; and the children of Amram were Aaron, Moses and Miriam; and the sons of 4 Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. Eleazar was the 5 father of Phinehas, Phinehas of Abishua, Abishua of Bukki, and Bukki 6 of Uzzi, Uzzi of Zerahiah, and Zerahiah of Meraioth, Meraioth of 7 Amariah, and Amariah of Ahitub, Ahitub of Zadok, Zadok of Ahi-8 maaz, Ahimaaz of Azariah, and Azariah of Johanan, Johanan of 9 Azariah (it was he who served as priest in the house which Solomon 10 built in Jerusalem). And Azariah was the father of Amariah, Ama-11 riah of Ahitub, Ahitub of Zadok, and Zadok of Shallum, Shallum of 12 Hilkiyah, and Hilkiyah of Azariah, Azariah of Seraiah, and Seraiah of 13 Jehozadak; and Jehozadak went along when the LORD caused Judah

14 and Jerusalem to go into captivity by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.
15 The sons of Levi were Gershom, Kohath and Merari; and these 16 are the names of the sons of Gershom, Libni and Shimei; the sons of 17 Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. The sons of Mer-
18 ari were Mahli and Mushi. These are the families of the Levites ac-
19 cording to their parentage. From Gershom was his son Libni, Jahath 20 was his son, Zimmah his son, Joah his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, 21 Jeatherai his son. The descendants of Kohath were Amminadab his 22 son, Korah his son, and Assir his son, Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his 23 son, and Assir his son, Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziyah his son, 24 and Shaul his son. And the sons of Elkanah were Amasai and Ahi-25 moth. As for Elkanah, the descendants of Elkanah were Zophai his 26 son, and Nahath his son, Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, Elkanah his 27 son; and the sons of Samuel were Joel the first-born, and the second 28 Abiah. The sons of Merari were Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, 29 Uzzah his son, Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, Asaiah his son.
30 Now these are those whom David put in charge of the service of 31 song in the house of the LORD, after the ark rested there. Moreover 32 they ministered with song before the dwelling of the tent of meeting, 33 until Solomon built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem; and fulfilled 34 their service in due order. Now these are they that served, and their 35 sons. From the sons of the Kohathites was Heman the singer, the son 36 of Joel, the son of Samuel, the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, 37 the son of Eliel, the son of Toah, the son of Ziph, the son of Elkanah, 38 the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, the son of Elkanah, the son of 39 Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, the son of Tahath, the 40 son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, the son of Izhar, 41 the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel; and his brother

40 the son of Shimea, the son of Michael, the son of Baaseriah, the son 41 of Malchijah, the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaijah, 42 the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, the son of 43 Jahath, the son of Gershom, the son of Levi. While on their left 44 were their kinsmen the sons of Merari; Ethan, the son of Kishi, the 45 son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, the son of Hashabiah, the son of 46 Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Amzi, the son of Shemer, 47 the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of 48 Levi. And their kinsmen the Levites were appointed for all the service of the dwelling of the house of God.

THE DESCENDANTS OF AARON, 6:49-81

49 But Aaron and his sons officiated at the altar of burnt-offering and at the altar of incense for all the work of the most sacred place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of 50 God had commanded. Now these are the descendants of Aaron, 51 Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, Bukki his son, Uzzi
52 his son, Zerahiah his son, Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub 53 his son, Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.

54 These also are their dwelling-places according to their encampments within their boundaries. To the descendants of Aaron of the 55 families of the Kohathites—for theirs was the first lot—and they gave to them Hebron in the land of Judah and its commons round 56 about it, but the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb, 57 the son of Jephunneh. To the descendants of Aaron they gave the cities of asylum, Hebron, Libnah with its commons, Jattir, Eshte-58 moa with its commons, Hilen with its commons, Debir with its com-
59 mons, Ashan with its commons, Beth-shemesh with its commons;
60 and from the tribe of Benjamin, Geba with its commons, Allemeth with its commons, and Anathoth with its commons. All their cities among their families were thirteen.

61 The rest of the Kohathites had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim and of Dan and the half tribe of Manasseh, ten 62 cities. The Gershomites according to their families were allotted thirteen cities out of the tribes of Issachar, Asher, Naphtali, and Man-63 asseh in Bashan. The Merarites according to their families were allotted twelve cities out of the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun.
64 So the Israelites gave the Levites the cities with their common lands.
65 They also gave them by lot out of the tribe of the Judeans, Simeon-ites, and Benjaminites these cities which are mentioned by name.

66 Also some of the families of the Kohathites had cities allotted 67 them from the tribe of Ephraim. They gave them the cities of 68 asylum, Shechem, with its commons in Mount Ephraim, and Gezer 69 with its commons, Jokmeam with its commons, Beth-horon with its 70 commons, Aijalon with its commons, Gath-rimmon with its commons, 71 and out of the half tribe of Manasseh—Aner with its commons,
 Bileam with its commons, for the rest of the families of the Kohath-
 72 ites; to the Gershomites out of the families of the half tribe of Man-73 asseh, Golan, in Bashan with its commons, and Ashtaroth with its com-
 74 mons; and out of the tribe of Issachar, Kedesh with its commons, 75 Daberath with its commons, Ramoth with its commons, Anem with 76 its commons; also out of the tribe of Asher, Mashal with its com-
 77 mons; Abdon with its commons, Hukak with its commons, and Rehob
 78 with its commons; out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee 79 with its commons, Hammon with its commons, Kiriathaim with its 80 commons. To the Merarites that were left, were allotted out of the 81 tribe of Zebulun, Rimmono with its commons, Tabor with its commons, and beyond the Jordan, Jericho, on the east side of the Jordan out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the desert with its commons, Jahzah with its commons, Kedemoth with its commons and Mephaath with its commons; and out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with its commons, and Mahanaim with its commons, Heshbon with its commons, and Jazer with its commons.

THE DESCENDANTS OF ISSACHAR, BENJAMIN AND NAPHTALI, 7:1—19

7 The sons of Issachar were four, Tola, Puah, Jashib, and Shimron;
 2 the sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Jibsam and Samuel, chiefs of their families, namely, of Tola, distinguished war-
 3 riors of their generations, their number in the days of David was 4 twenty-two thousand six hundred. The son of Uzzi was Izrahiah, and the sons of Izrahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, Isshiah, all 5 five of them being chief men; and along with them, by their generations according to their families, were units of the army for war, 6 thirty-six thousand; for they had many wives and sons. Also their kinsmen belonging to all the families of Issachar were a total of eighty-seven thousand distinguished warriors, reckoned by genealogy.
 7 Likewise the sons of Benjamin were three, Bela, Becher and 8 Jediael; Bela's sons were five, Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri, heads of their families, distinguished warriors; and their reckoning by genealogies was twenty-two thousand and thirty-four. The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jerem⁹ moth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth; all these were the sons of Becher; and their enrollment by genealogies, according to their generations, as heads of their families, distinguished warriors, was twenty thousand and two hundred. The son of Jediel was Bilhan, and the sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish and Ahishahar. All these were the sons of Jediel according to the heads of their families, distinguished warriors, seventeen thousand and two hundred on active service for war. (Also Shuppim and Huppim were sons of Ir, Hushim the son of Aher.)

The sons of Naphtali were Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and Shallum whose mother was Bilhah. The sons of Manasseh were Asriel, whom his concubine the Aramitess bore; she bore Machir the father of Gilead; and Gilead took a wife whose name was Maacah and the name of his sister was Hammolecheth and the name of his brother Zelophad, and Zelophad had daughters. Now Maacah, the wife of Machir, bore a son, and she called his name Peresh, and the name of his brother was Sheresh; and his sons were Ulam and Rekem. The son of Ulam was Bedan. These are the descendants of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh. Also his sister Hammolecheth bore Ishhod, Abiezer, and Mahlah. The sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi and Aniam.

Now the descendants of Ephraim were Shuthelah, and Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eleada his son, and Tahath his son, Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath who were born in the land slew, because they came down to raid their cattle. Therefore Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brothers came to comfort him. Then he had intercourse with his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to a son; and he called his name Beriah, because evil had befallen his house. Now his daughter was Sheerah, who built both upper and lower Beth-horon, and Uzzen-sheerah. Rephah was his son, and Resheph, Telah his son, and Tahan his son, Ladan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son, Nun his son, Joshua his son. And their possessions and settlements were Bethel and its towns, and eastward Naaran, and westward Gezer and its towns, Shechem and its towns and Azzah and its towns; also along the borders of the Manassites, Bethshean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns, Dor and its towns. In these dwelt the descendants of Joseph, the son of Israel.

³⁰ The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, and their ³¹ sister Serah; and the sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel, who ³² was the father of Birzaith; also Heber was the father of Japhlet, ³³ Shomer, Hotham, and Shua their sister; the sons of Japhlet were ³⁴ Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath. These are the sons of Japhlet; the ² second, and Aharah the third, Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.

³ The sons of Bela were Addar, Gera and Abihud, Abishua, Naaman
⁴ and Ahoah, Gera, Shephuphan and HURAM. These also are the sons of ⁵ Ehud, heads of families of the inhabitants of Geba, and they carried ⁷ them captive to Manahath, and Naaman, and Ahijah; and Gera, he carried them captive and he was the father of Uzza and Ahihud.
⁸ Also Shaharaim had sons in the country of Moab after he had sent ⁹ away Hushim and Baarah his wives. And he had offspring of Hodesh
¹⁰ his wife, Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, and Malcam, Jeuz, Sachia and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of families. And he had offspring
¹² of Hushim, Abitub and Elpaal. The sons of Elpaal were Eber, Misham, and Shemed, who built Ono and Lod with its towns; and Beriah, and Shema (who were heads of families of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who put to flight the inhabitants of Gath), and their brothers ¹⁵ were Shashak, and Jeremoth, Zebadiah, Arad, and Eder, Michael, of the families, according to their generations, leaders, who lived at Jerusalem.

- 29 At Gibeon there dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jeuel, whose wife's 30 name was Maacah. His first-born son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, 31 Baal, Ner, Nadab, Gedor, Ahio, Zecher, and Mikloth (he was the 32 father of Shimeah). Now these also dwelt together opposite their kinsmen in Jerusalem.
- 33 Ner was the father of Abner, Kish of Saul, Saul of Jonathan, 34 Malchishua, Abinadab and Eshbaal; and the son of Jonathan was 35 Meribbaal, and Meribbaal was the father of Micah. The sons of 36 Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tarea, and Ahaz; and Ahaz was the father of Jehoaddah, and Jehoaddah was the father of Alemeth, Az-37 maveth, and Zimri; Zimri was the father of Moza. Moza was the father of Binea, Rapha was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.
 38 Azel had six sons, whose names were Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Shëariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.
 39 The sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his first-born, Jeush the 40 second, Eliphelet the third. The sons of Ulam were men who were distinguished warriors, expert bowmen, having many sons and grandsons, a hundred and fifty. All these were Benjaminites.

A LIST OF EXILES RETURNED FROM BABYLON, 9:1-44

- 9 So all Israel was registered by genealogies; they are written there in the Book of the Kings of Israel. And Judah was carried captive to 2 Babylon because of their unfaithfulness. Now the first to dwell again in their possessions in their cities, were Israelite laymen, the priests and 3 the Nethinim, while some Judeans, Benjaminites, Ephraimites, and 4 Manassites dwelt in Jerusalem, namely, Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, belonging to the 5 descendants of Perez the son of Judah; and of the Shilonites, Asaiah, 6 the oldest member and his sons, of the descendants of Zerah, Jeuel and 7 their kinsmen, six hundred and ninety; of the Benjaminites, Sallu, the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah, 8 Ibneiah, the son of Jeroham, Elah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri, and Meshullam, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of 9 Ibnijah; and their kinsmen according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty-six. All these men were heads of families according to their fathers' houses.
- 10 Also of the priests there were Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin, and Aza-11

riah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God; 12 and Adaiah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, and Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of 13 Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer; besides their kinsmen, heads of their fathers' houses; one thousand seven hundred and sixty, men of distinguished capabilities, for the work of the service of the house of God.

14 Of the Levites there were Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of 15 Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the Merarites; with Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Mica, the son of Zichri, the 16 son of Asaph; also Obadiah, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun, and Berachiah, the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 The gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and 18 their kinsmen (Shallum being the chief), stationed till now in the king's gate on the east side. These were the gatekeepers of the camp 19 of the Levites. Also Shallum, the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his kinsmen of his father's house, the Korahites, were over the service, keepers of the thresholds of the tent, as their fathers had been over the camp of the LORD, keepers of the entrance. 20 And Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, was the ruler over them in time past 21 (may the Lord be with him!). Zechariah, the son of Meshelemiah, 22 was gatekeeper at the entrance of the tent of meeting. All these that were chosen as gatekeepers at the thresholds were two hundred and twelve. They were reckoned by their genealogies in their villages, whom David and Samuel the seer appointed to their office of responsibility. 23 So they and their sons had charge of the gates of the house of 24 the LORD, even the Tent house, as guards. The gatekeepers were on 25 the four sides, on the east, the west, the north, and the south; and their kinsmen who were in their villages were obliged to come in every 26 seven days, from time to time, to be with these, for the four most distinguished gatekeepers, who were Levites, were constantly on duty in charge of the chambers and the treasuries of the house of God. 27 They also used to lodge round about the house of God, for upon them rested the duty of watching, and they had charge of opening it every morning.

28 Moreover some of them had charge of the utensils of the service, for they were required to count them when they were brought in and

29 taken out. Also others of them were appointed over the furniture, and over all the sacred utensils, as well as over the fine flour, the wine, 30 the oil, the incense and the spices. Others, of the sons of the priests, 31 prepared the mixing of the spices, Mattethiah a Levite, the first-born of Shallum the Korahite, was responsible for the pastry of flatcakes. 32 And some of their kinsmen of the Kohathites had charge of the bread that is arranged in layers, to prepare it every sabbath.

33 Now these are the singers, the heads of families of the Levites, dwelling in the chambers of the temple free from other service, for 34 they were on duty day and night. These were heads of families of the Levites, according to their generations, leaders, who lived at Jerusalem.

35 At Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jeiel, whose wife's name 36 was Maacah; and his first-born son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, 37 Ner, Nadab, Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah, and Mikloth, and Mikloth was 38 the father of Shimeam; and they also dwelt together opposite their 39 kinsmen in Jerusalem. Ner was the father of Kish, Kish of Saul, 40 Saul of Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Eshbaal; and the son of Jonathan was Meribbaal, and Meribbaal was the father of Micah. 41 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech and Tahrea; and Ahaz was 42 the father of Jarah, and Jarah of Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri; 43 and Zimri was the father of Moza. Moza was the father of Binea, 44 and Rephaiah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. Also Azel had six sons, whose names are Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

SAUL'S DEATH AND BURIAL, 10:1-14

10 Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines, and the wounded fell in Mount Gilboa. 2 Moreover the Philistines overtook Saul and his sons; and the Philistines slew Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. 3 And the battle raged about Saul, and the archers found their mark, 4 and he was wounded by the archers. Then Saul said to his armor-bearer,

“Draw your sword and run me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and make sport of me.”

But his armorbearer would not, for he was terrified. Therefore 5 Saul took his sword and fell upon it. And when his armorbearer saw 6 that Saul was dead, then he also fell upon his sword and died. Thus Saul and his three sons and all his house died together.

- 7 And when all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that Israel had fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled, and the Philistines came and occupied them.
- 8 Then on the morrow when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they
- 9 found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. And they stripped him and took away his head and his armor and dispatched them throughout the land of the Philistines to bring good tidings to
- 10 their idols and to the people. They also put his armor in the house of their gods and his body they impaled on the wall of the temple of Dagon.
- 11 Now when all the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard all that
- 12 the Philistines had done to Saul, all the valiant men arose and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons and brought them to Jabesh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.
- 13 Thus Saul died for his faithlessness wherein he was faithless toward the LORD because of the word of the LORD which he did not
- 14 observe, and also in that he consulted a medium, resorting to it and not to the LORD. Therefore he killed him and turned the kingdom over to David, the son of Jesse.

DAVID BECOMES KING AND CAPTURES JERUSALEM, 11:1-9

- 11 Then all Israel assembled to David to Hebron, saying,
- 2 "See, we are your bone and your flesh. In times past when Saul was king over us, it was you who led out and brought in Israel, and the LORD your God said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel, and you shall be prince over my people Israel.' "
- 3 So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron, and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel according to the word of the LORD by Samuel.
- 4 Then David and all Israel went to Jerusalem (that is Jebus); and
- 5 the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, were there. Then the inhabitants of Jebus said to David,
- "You shall not come hither."
- David nevertheless took the stronghold of Zion (that is the city of David).
- 6 And David said,
- "Whoever slays the Jebusites first shall be chief and commander."
- And Joab, the son of Zeruiah, went up first and so became chief.
- 7 Accordingly David dwelt in the stronghold; therefore they called it

8 the city of David. He also built the city round about from Millo, 9 even round about, and Joab restored the rest of the city. So David kept on becoming greater, for the LORD of hosts was with him.

DAVID'S HEROES, 11:10-47

10 Now these are the chiefs of the heroic men whom David had, who showed themselves strong with him in his kingdom, together with all Israel, to make him king, according to the word of the LORD concern-11 ing all Israel. This is the number of the heroes whom David had:
Jashobeam, the son of a Hachmonite, the chief of The Thirty who wielded his spear against three hundred whom he slew at one time.
12 And after him was Eleazar, the son of Dodo the Ahohite, who 13 was one of the three heroes. He was with David at Pasdammim, when the Philistines were gathered together there for battle, and there was a plot of land full of barley; and when the people fled before the 14 Philistines, they held their ground in the midst of the plot and defended it, and slew the Philistines; so the LORD saved them by a 15 great victory. Now three of the thirty chiefs went down to the rock to David, to the cave of Adullam, while the camp of the Philistines 16 was pitched in the valley of Rephaim. David at the time was in the stronghold, and a garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem.
17 Then David longed and said,

“O that someone would give me a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem, that is by the gate!”

18 So The Three broke through the Philistine lines and drew water from the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. But he would not drink of it, but poured it out to 19 the LORD, and said,

“My God forbid that I should do this! Am I to drink the blood of these men who went at the risk of their lives, for at the risk of their lives they have brought it.”

Therefore he would not drink it. These things did the three heroes.

20 Abishai also, the brother of Joab, was chief of The Thirty, for he wielded his spear against three hundred whom he slew and won a 21 name among The Thirty. He was the most distinguished of The 22 Thirty and became their chief, but he did not attain to The Three.
Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from Kab-zeel, mighty in deeds; he slew the two sons of Ariel of Moab. He also went down and slew a lion in the midst of a pit upon a snowy day.

23 Moreover he slew an Egyptian, a man of great stature five cubits tall, who had a spear in his hand like a weaver's beam, but he went down to him with a club and wrenched the spear out of the Egyptian's
24 hand, and slew him with his own spear. These things did Benaiah, 25 the son of Jehoiada, and won a name like the three heroes. He was indeed renowned above The Thirty, but he did not attain to The Three, and David set him over his body-guard.

26 Now the heroes of the army were Asahel, the brother of Joab; 27 Elhanan, the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, Shammoth the Harorite, 28 Helez the Pelonite, Ira, the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the 29 Anathothite, Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite, Maharai the 30 Netophathite, Heled, the son of Baanah the Netophathite, Ithai, the 31 son of Ribai of Gibeah of the Benjaminites, Benaiah the Pirathon- 32 ite, Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite, Azmaveth the 33 Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite; the sons of Hashem the Gizon- 34 ite, Jonathan, the son of Shagee the Hararite, Ahiam, the son of Sacar 35 the Hararite, Eliphai, the son of Ur, Hopher the Mecherathite, Ahijah 36 the Pelonite, Hezro the Carmelite, Naarai the son of Ezbai, Joel, 37 the brother of Nathan, Mibhar, the son of Hagri, Zelek the Ammon- 38 ite, Naharai the Berothite, the armorbearer of Joab, the son of Zerua- 39 hiah, Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, Uriah the Hittite, Zabad, the 40 son of Ahlai, Adina, the son of Shiza the Reubenite, a chief of the 41 Reubenites, and thirty with him, Hanan, the son of Maacah, and 42 Joshaphat the Mithnite, Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel, the 43 sons of Hotham the Aroerite, Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his 44 brother, the Tizite, Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai, and Joshaviah, 45 the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite, Eliel, and Obed and 46 Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

DAVID'S ARMY, 12:1-40

12 Now these are they who came to David at Ziklag, while he was still holding himself aloof from Saul, the son of Kish; and they were 2 among the heroes, his helpers in war. They were expert with the bow and could use both the right hand and the left hand in hurling stones and in shooting arrows from the bow; they were of Saul's kinsmen of 3 Benjamin. The chief was Ahiezer; then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite, Jeziel and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth, Beracah, 4 Jchu the Anathothite, Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a hero among The Thirty, and over The Thirty, and Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and 5 Jozabad the Gederathite, Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah and

6 Shephatiah the Haruphite, Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer and Jash-7 obeam, the Korahites, Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites there withdrew to David, to the stronghold in the desert, intrepid warriors, men trained for war, who could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions, who were like 9 the gazelles on the mountains for swiftness: Ezer the first, Obadiah 10 the second, Eliab the third, Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the 11 fifth, Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh, Johanan the eighth, Elzabab 12 the ninth, Jeremiah the tenth, Machbannai the eleventh. These of 13 the Gadites were commanders of the army. The least was equal to a 14 hundred, and the greatest to a thousand. These are they who crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all its banks, and they put to flight all the inhabitants of the valleys both toward the east and toward the west.

16 There also came some of the Benjaminites and Judeans to the 17 stronghold to David. And David went out to meet them and answered and said to them,

“If you come peaceably to me to help me, my heart shall be ready to become one with yours, but if to betray me to my adversaries, since there is no wrong in my hands, the God of our fathers look thereon and rebuke it.”

18 Then the spirit came upon Amasai, the chief of The Thirty:

“Yours are we, O David,
And with you, O son of Jesse!
Peace, peace to you,
And peace to your helpers,
For your God helps you.”

Then David received them and made them chiefs of the raiders.

19 Of Manasseh also some deserted to David, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battle, but they did not help them, for the city rulers of the Philistines after consultation forced him to go away,
saying,

“He will desert to his master Saul to the jeopardy of our heads.”

20 As he went to Ziklag there went over to him of Manasseh, Adnah, Jozabad, and Jediel, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu and Zillethai, com-21 manders of thousands, who were of Manasseh. They also helped David against the raiders for they were all valiant warriors

²² and commanders in the army. Thus from day to day they came to David to help him, until there was a great army, like the army of God.

²³ Now these are the numbers of the heads of those equipped for war, who came to David to Hebron, to turn over to him the kingdom of ²⁴ Saul, according to the word of the LORD. The Judeans who bore shield and spear were six thousand eight hundred, equipped for war.

²⁵ Of the Simeonites, valiant men for war, seven thousand one hundred.

²⁶ Of the Levites four thousand six hundred. And Jehoiada was the

²⁷ prince of the house of Aaron, and with him were three thousand sev-

²⁸ en hundred, also Zadok, a youth of unusual capability, together with ²⁹ his father's house: twenty-two commanders. And of the Benjamin-

³⁰ ites, the kinsmen of Saul, three thousand; for hitherto the majority

³¹ of them had remained loyal to the house of Saul. Of the Ephraim-

³² ites, twenty thousand eight hundred, valiant warriors, famous men

³³ in their fathers' houses. Of the half-tribe of Manasseh eighteen

³⁴ thousand, who were mentioned by name, to come and make David

³⁵ king. Of the Issacharites, men who had understanding of the times

³⁶ so that they knew what Israel ought to do, their two hundred chiefs, ³⁷ and all their kinsmen were under their command. Of Zebulon, there

³⁸ were fifty thousand fit to join the army and take the field with all the

³⁹ weapons of war, prepared to give assistance with singleness of pur-

⁴⁰ pose. Of Naphtali a thousand commanders, and with them thirty-

⁴¹ seven thousand with shield and spear. Of the Danites, ready to take ⁴² the field, twenty-eight thousand six hundred. Of Asher, fit to join ⁴³ the army and render assistance in battle, forty thousand. Also from ⁴⁴ beyond the Jordan, of the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe

⁴⁵ of Manasseh, a hundred and twenty thousand fully equipped for bat-

⁴⁶ tle with all arms of the service. All these warriors, ready to take the ⁴⁷ field, moved by a single purpose came to Hebron to make David king

⁴⁸ over all Israel. And all the rest of Israel also had the one purpose of ⁴⁹ making David king.

⁵⁰ Moreover they were there with David three days, eating and drink-

⁵¹ ing, for their kinsmen had made preparation for them. Also those ⁵² who were near them as far as Issachar, Zebulon, and Naphtali brought

⁵³ food on asses, camels, mules and oxen—provisions such as meal, cakes

⁵⁴ of figs, bunches of raisins, wine, oil, oxen and sheep in abundance;

⁵⁵ for gladness reigned in Israel.

DAVID'S ATTEMPT TO BRING THE ARK OF GOD TO JERUSALEM, 13:1-14

13 Then David consulted with the commanders of thousands and of 2 hundreds, even with every leader. Moreover David said to all the assembly of Israel,

“If it seem good to you and acceptable to the LORD our God, let us send to all our remaining kinsmen in all the land of Israel, since the priests and Levites are with them in their cities which have common 3 pasture lands, that they may be gathered together to us, in order that we may bring back the ark of our God to us, for we did not seek it during the days of Saul.”

4 Then all the assembly voted to do so, for the thing seemed right in 5 the eyes of all the people. So David assembled all Israel from the River of Egypt to the entrance of Hamath, to bring the ark of God 6 from Kirjath-jearim. Then David went up together with all Israel to Baalath, that is to Kirjath-jearim, which belongs to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God, the LORD that sits enthroned on the 7 cherubs, that is called by the Name. And they caused the ark of God to ride in a new cart from the house of Abinadab, with Uzza and 8 Ahio guiding the cart. And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, with songs and harps and lyres and tambourines and cymbals and with trumpets.

9 But when they came to the threshing floors of Chidon, Uzza put 10 out his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen jostled it. Then the anger of the LORD was aroused against Uzza and he struck him down because he put out his hand to the ark; and he died there before God.
11 David was angry because the LORD had broken forth upon Uzza, 12 therefore that place is called Perez-uzza to this day. And David was afraid of God that day, saying,

“How can I bring the ark of God home to me?”

13 So David did not remove the ark to him to the city of David, but 14 carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom, the Gittite. Therefore, the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom at his house three months, and the LORD blessed the house of Obed-edom and all that he had.

DAVID'S WIVES, AND HIS WARS WITH THE PHILISTINES, 14:1-17

14 Now Hiram, king of Tyre, sent messengers to David, and cedar
2 timbers and masons and carpenters to build him a house. Accordingly

David perceived that the LORD had established him king over Israel, for his kingdom had been exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

3 Then David took yet more wives in Jerusalem, and David became 4 the father of still more sons and daughters. These are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, and Shobab,
5 Nathan, and Solomon, Ibhar, Elishua, and Eliphelet, Nogah, Nepheg,
7 and Japhia, Elishama, Beeliada, and Eliphelet.

8 Now when the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines came up in search of David. And 9 when David heard of it he withdrew before them. So the Philistines
10 came on and made a raid in the valley of Rephaim. Therefore, David inquired of God, saying,

“Shall I go up against the Philistines, and wilt thou deliver them into my hand?”

And the LORD said to him,

“Go up, for I will deliver them into your hand.”

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim and there David defeated them; and David said,

“God has broken through my enemies by my hand, like the bursting of waters through a dam.”

12 Therefore they called the name of that place Baal-perazim. They also left their gods there, and David gave the word and they were burned with fire.

13 Then the Philistines made a raid yet again in the valley. Accord-14 ingly when David inquired again of God, God said to him,

“Do not go up after them, go about to their rear and come at them
15 opposite the balsam trees. And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then go out to battle, for God has gone forth before you to overcome the camp of the Philistines.”

16 So David did as God commanded him, and they put to rout the 17 camp of the Philistines from Gibeon as far as Gezer. Thus David's fame went out into all the lands, and the LORD brought the fear of him on all the nations.

DAVID BRINGS THE ARK TO JERUSALEM IN STATE, 15:1—16:43

15 Thereupon David made him houses in the city of David and pre-
2 pared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent. Then David said,

“None ought to carry the ark of God but the Levites; for the LORD chose them to carry the ark of God and to minister to him forever.”

3 So David assembled all Israel to Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of 4 the LORD to its place, which he had prepared for it. And David gath-5 ered together the sons of Aaron, as well as the Levites. Of the Kohathites, Uriel the chief, with his kinsmen, a hundred and twenty;
6 of the Merarites, Asaiah the chief, with his kinsmen, two hundred and 7 twenty; of the Gershomites, Joel the chief, with his kinsmen, a hun-8 dred and thirty; of the Elizaphanites, Shemaiah the chief, with his 9 kinsmen, two hundred; of the Hebronites, Eliel the chief, with his 10 kinsmen, eighty; of the Uzzielites, Amminadab the chief, with his 11 kinsmen, a hundred and twelve. Then David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests and for the Levites, Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shema-12 iah, Eliel, and Amminadab, and said to them,

“You are the heads of the families of the Levites; sanctify yourselves both you and your kinsmen, that you may bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel, to the place that I have prepared for it.
13 Because you were not ready at the first, the LORD our God broke out upon us, for we did not seek him in the proper way.”

14 So the priests and Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark 15 of the LORD, the God of Israel. So the members of the Levitical group carried the ark of God on their shoulders, with the poles, as Moses commanded according to the word of the LORD.

16 Then David ordered the chiefs of the Levites to appoint their kinsmen the singers, with instruments of music, lyres, harps, and cymbals 17 who should sound aloud and lift up the voice with gladness. So the Levites appointed Heman, the son of Joel; and of his kinsmen, Asaph, the son of Berechiah; and of the Merarites their kinsmen, Ethan, the 18 son of Kushaiah; and with them their kinsmen of the second rank, Zechariah, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel, the 19 doorkeepers. So the singers Heman, Asaph and Ethan were to sound 20 aloud on bronze cymbals; while Zechariah, Uzziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah, played with lyres set to 21 Alamoth, and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah and Obed-edom, 22 Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps set to the octave to lead. Moreover Chenaniah, chief of the Levites in carrying, controlled the carrying 23 because he was skilful. And Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers 24 for the ark. Shebanaiah, Joshaphat, Nathanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, blew the trumpets before the ark of 25 God; Obed-edom and Jehiah were also doorkeepers for the ark. So

David with the elders of Israel and the commanders of thousands went to bring up with gladness the ark from the house of Obed-edom. 26 And as God helped the Levites who bore the ark of the covenant of 27 the LORD, they sacrificed seven bulls and seven rams. Now David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, and all the Levites who bore the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah who was in charge of the trans- 28 port; David also had on a linen apron. Thus all Israel was bringing up the ark of the covenant of the LORD, with shouting and with the sound of the cornet and trumpets and cymbals sounding aloud, with lyres and harps.

29 But while the ark of the covenant of the LORD was coming to the city of David, Michal, the daughter of Saul, looked out at the window and saw King David leaping and playing and she despised him in her heart.

16 And when they brought in the ark of God, they set it within the tent that David had pitched for it, and they brought near burnt-offer- 2 ings and thank-offerings before God. And when David had finished offering up the burnt-offerings and the peace-offerings, he blessed the 3 people in the name of the LORD. He also distributed to every Israelite, both man and woman, a loaf of bread, and a portion of meat, and 4 a bunch of raisins. Moreover he appointed some of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD and to celebrate, thank, and 5 praise the LORD, the God of Israel: Asaph the chief, and second to him Zechariah, then Uzziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel, with lyres and harps; while Asaph 6 played loudly with cymbals, and Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests with 7 trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God. Then in that day David for the first time entrusted to Asaph and his kinsmen the giving of thanks to the LORD.

8 Give thanks to the LORD; call upon his name!
Make known his deeds among the peoples!
9 Sing to him; chant praises to him.
Tell of all his wonders.
10 Glory in his holy name.
May the heart of those who seek for the LORD rejoice.
11 Inquire of the LORD and his might.
Seek his face continually.

12 Remember his wonders that he has done,
His portents, and the judgments of his mouth;

- 13 O race of Israel his servant,
Children of Jacob his chosen.
- 14 He is the LORD our God,
His judgments are in all the earth.
- 15 He remembers his covenant forever,
The word he has given for a thousand generations;
- 16 The covenant he made with Abraham,
And his oath to Isaac.
- 17 For he confirmed it to Jacob as a statute,
To Israel as an eternal covenant;
- 18 Saying, "To you I give the land of Canaan
As your portion and your inheritance."
- 19 While you were men few in number,
Of slight importance and but strangers therein,
20 When they went back and forth from one nation to another
And from one kingdom to another people,
21 He permitted no man to oppress them,
And warned kings concerning them,
22 "Touch not my anointed,
And do my prophets no harm!"
- 23 Sing to the LORD, all the earth,
Publish his deliverance abroad from day to day.
- 24 Tell among the nations his glory,
Among all the peoples, his wonders.
- 25 For great is the LORD and greatly to be praised.
Fearful is he above all gods;
- 26 For all the gods of the peoples are nonentities,
But the LORD made the heavens.
- 27 Honor and majesty are before him;
Strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.
- 28 Ascribe to the LORD, O families of peoples,
Ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.
- 29 Ascribe to the LORD the glory of his name;
Bring an offering and come into his courts.
Worship the LORD in holy array,
30 Tremble before him all the earth;
The world also is established that it cannot be moved.
- 31 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth exult;
And let them say among the nations that the LORD is king.

- 32 Let the sea roar, and its fulness;
Let the field exult and all that is therein.
- 33 Then let all the trees of the wood shout for joy before the LORD,
For he comes to judge the earth.
- 34 Praise the LORD, for he is good;
For his grace is everlasting.
- 35 Then say, "Save us, O God of our salvation,
Even assemble us and deliver us from the nations,
To give thanks to thy holy name,
To triumph in thy praise."
- 36 Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel,
From everlasting even to everlasting.

Then all the people said "amen" and praised the LORD.

- 37 So he left there, before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, Asaph and his kinsmen to minister before the ark continually, as each day's 38 work required; even Obed-edom with their kinsmen sixty-eight;
Obed-edom also, the son of Jeduthun, and Hosah to be doorkeepers;
39 Zadok the priest and his kinsmen the priests, before the dwelling of 40 the LORD in the high place that was in Gibeon, to offer up burnt-offerings to the LORD upon the altar of burnt-offering continually morning and evening, according to all that is written in the law of 41 the LORD, which he laid upon Israel; and with them Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest of those selected, who were mentioned by name to give thanks to the LORD, because his grace is everlasting; 42 and with them, namely, Heman and Jeduthun, trumpets and cymbals, to make music, and instruments for the songs of God, and the sons 43 of Jeduthun for the gate. Then all the people went each to his house, and David returned to greet his family.

DAVID'S DESIRE TO BUILD A TEMPLE, 17:1-27

- 17 Now when David dwelt in his house, David said to Nathan the prophet,
"See, I dwell in a house of cedar, while the ark of the covenant of God is under tent curtains."
2 Then Nathan said to David,
"Do all that is in your heart for God is with you."
3 But during the same night the word of God came to Nathan, saying,
4 "Go and say to David my servant, Thus the LORD has said, 'You

5 shall not build me a house to dwell in; for I have not dwelt in a house since the day that I brought up Israel even to this day but I
6 have gone from tent to tent and from dwelling to dwelling. During all the time that I have gone to and fro with all Israel, did I speak a word to one of the judges of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd my people, saying, "Why have you not built me a house of cedar?"
7 Now therefore thus shall you say to my servant David, "Thus the LORD of armies has said, 'I took you from the pasture, from following the flock, that you should be a leader of my people Israel; and I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you; and I will make you a name, like the name
8 of the great who are in the earth. I will also appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them that they may dwell in their own place, and be moved no more. And the wicked shall no more consume them as formerly, and from the days that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel. I will also subdue all your enemies.
9 Moreover I tell you that the LORD will build you a house. And when your days are fulfilled, to go with your fathers, then I will establish your offspring after you, who shall be one of your sons, and I will 10 establish his kingdom. He shall build me a house, and I will establish his throne forever.

13 "I will be to him a father,
And he shall be to me a son;
And I will not withdraw my grace from him
As I withdrew it from him who was before you.
14 But I will appoint him in my house and my kingdom forever;
And his throne shall be established forever.' " " "

15 According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

16 Then King David went in and sat down before the LORD and said, "Who am I, O LORD God and what is my house that thou hast
17 brought me thus far? And this was too small a thing in thy sight, O God; so thou hast spoken concerning the house of thy servant for ages to come. Thou regardest me after the manner of a man, thou
18 who exaltest me, O LORD God! What can David add yet more to say to thee concerning the honor done thy servant? for thou knowest
19 thy servant; O LORD, for thy servant's sake, and according to thine heart hast thou wrought all this greatness, to make known all great 20 things. O LORD there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears. And what other nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whom God went to redeem to himself as a people, to make thee a name by great and terrible things, in driving out nations before thy people whom 22 thou didst redeem out of Egypt? For thy people Israel thou didst make thine own people forever, and thou, O LORD, didst become their 23 God. Now therefore, O LORD, let the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and concerning his house be confirmed for-

 24 ever, and do as thou hast spoken. And let thy name be established and magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts is the God of Israel, a God to Israel, and the house of David thy servant is estab-
 25 lished before thee. For thou, O my God, hast revealed to thy servant, that thou wilt build for him a house, therefore, thy servant has found courage to pray before thee.'

26 "And now, O LORD, thou art God, and thou hast spoken this good 27 thing concerning thy servant. Now therefore, it has pleased thee to bless the house of thy servant that it may be before thee forever! For thou, O LORD, hast blessed, and it is blessed forever."

DAVID'S CONQUESTS, 18:1-17

18 Now after this David overcame the Philistines and subdued them
 2 and took Gath and its towns from the Philistines. He also conquered Moab, and the Moabites became subject to David and brought tribute.
 3 Moreover David conquered Hadadezer, king of Zobah, as far as Hamath, as he went to establish his power at the Euphrates river. And David took from him a thousand chariots, seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen; and David hamstrung all the chariot horses, but reserved of them for a hundred chariots.
 5 And when the Aramaeans of Damascus came to help Hadadezer, king of Zobah, David slew of the Aramaeans twenty-two thousand
 6 men. Then David put garrisons in Syria of which Damascus is the capital and the Aramaeans became subject to David and brought tribute. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went. David also took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer, 8 and brought them to Jerusalem. Moreover from Tibhath and Cun, cities of Hadadezer, David took a large amount of bronze, with which Solomon made the bronze sea and the columns and the utensils of bronze.
 9 Now when Tou, king of Hamath, heard that David had defeated
 10 all the army of Hadadezer, king of Zobah, he sent Hadoram his son to King David to greet him and congratulate him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him, for Hadadezer had been Tou's opponent in war. And he had with him all sorts of vessels of gold, silver and bronze. These also did King David dedicate to the LORD, together with the silver and gold that he carried away from all the nations; from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines and from Amalek.

Moreover Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, slew of the Edomites in the Valley of Salt, eighteen thousand men. Then he put garrisons in Edom, and all Edom became subject to David. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went.

So David became king over all Israel, and he executed justice and righteousness to all the people. Now Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was in command of the army, and Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, was recorder, and Zadok, the son of Ahitub, and Abimelech, the son of Abiathar, were priests, and Shavsha was scribe; Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, was in command of the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and David's sons were chief at the side of the king.

DAVID'S VICTORIES, 19:1—20:8

Now after this, Nahash, the king of the Ammonites, died and his son became king in his stead. Accordingly David said,

"I will show kindness to Hanun, the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me."

So David sent messengers to condole with him concerning his father. But when David's servants came to the land of the Ammonites to Hanun to condole with him, the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun,

"Is David really trying to honor your father in your sight by sending you comforters? Have not his servants come to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?"

So Hanun took David's servants, and shaved them and cut their robes in two, even to the hips, and sent them away. Then certain ones went and told David concerning the men, and he sent to meet them, for they were greatly ashamed. So the king said,

"Remain at Jericho until your beards are grown and then return."

Now when the Ammonites saw that they had made themselves odious to David, Hanun and the Ammonites sent a thousand talents of silver to hire them chariots and horsemen from Aram-of-the-two-rivers, and Aram-Maacah, and from Zobah. So they hired them thirty-two thousand chariots, and the king of Maacah and his people, who came and encamped before Medeba. And the Ammonites gathered themselves together from their cities and came for battle. When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army and the trained warriors. Thereupon the Ammonites came out and drew up the battle line at the entrance of the city, but the kings who came were by themselves in the field.

10 Now when Joab saw that the battle was against both front and rear, he selected the picked men of Israel and drew them up facing 11 the Aramaeans. Then the rest of the people he placed in command of Abishai his brother; and he drew them up facing the Ammonites. 12 And he said,

“If the Aramaeans should be too strong for me, then you shall be my help, but if the Ammonites should be too strong for you, then I 13 will assist you. Be courageous, and let us show ourselves men for the sake of our people and for the cities of our God; and may the LORD do that which is good in his sight.”

14 Now when Joab and the people who were with him drew near before the Aramaeans for battle, they fled before him; and when the Ammonites saw that the Aramaeans had fled, they likewise fled from before Abishai his brother, and entered into the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 But when the Aramaeans saw that they had been defeated by the Israelites, they sent messengers and brought out the Aramaeans who are beyond the river, with Shophach, the commander of the army of 17 Hadadezer, at their head. And when it was told David, he gathered together all Israel and crossed over the Jordan and came upon them; and David drew up the battle line facing the Aramaeans, and they 18 fought with him. But the Aramaeans fled before Israel, and David slew of the Aramaeans seven thousand horsemen and forty thousand 19 footmen. He also slew Shophach, the commander of the army. And when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and served him. And the Aramaeans were not willing to succor the Ammonites again.

20 Now in the spring of the year at the time when kings go forth, Joab led out the main force of the army and laid waste the land of the Ammonites, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at 2 Jerusalem. And Joab attacked Rabbah and destroyed it. Then David took the crown of their king from his head, and found its weight to be a talent of gold, and in it was a precious stone; and it found a place on David's head. And he brought away a very large amount of spoil

3 of the city. He also brought forth the people who were in it and put them to saws and to iron picks and axes. And thus David did to all the cities of the Ammonites. And David returned with all the people to Jerusalem.

4 After this a war broke out with the Philistines at Gezer; then Sibbecai the Hushathite slew Sippai of the descendants of the giant, and 5 they were subdued. And again there was war with the Philistines, and Elhanan, the son of Jair, slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the staff of whose spear was like a weaver's beam. There was yet another war at Gath, where a huge man with six fingers on each hand 7 and six toes on each foot, also a descendant of the giant, defied Israel; 8 but Jonathan, the son of Shimea, David's brother, slew him. These were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

DAVID'S CENSUS AND THE PLAGUE, 21:1-30

21 Then Satan stood up against Israel and moved David to number 2 Israel. So David said to Joab and to the commanders of the people, "Go number Israel from Beersheba even to Dan; and bring me 3 word that I may know their number."

Then Joab said,

"The LORD add to his people a hundred times as many as they are; but, my lord, O king, are they not all my lord's servants? Why does my lord seek this thing? Why should he be a cause of guilt to Israel?"

4 But the king's word prevailed over Joab. Therefore Joab went forth and went to and fro throughout all Israel and came to Jerusalem. So Joab gave to David the number of the people mustered. And all Israel were one million one hundred thousand men that drew sword; and Judah was four hundred and seventy thousand men that 6 drew sword. But Levi and Benjamin he did not count among them, for the king's order was abominable to Joab.

7 Now it was evil in the sight of God concerning this thing, so that 8 he attacked Israel. Therefore David said to God,

"I have sinned greatly, in that I have done this thing. But now, pardon, I pray, the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done very foolishly."

9 Then the LORD spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying,

10 "Go and speak to David saying, 'Thus the LORD has said, "Three things I offer you, choose one of them that I may do it to you."'"

11 So Gad came to David and said to him,

12 "Thus the LORD has said, 'Choose either three years of famine or three months of sweeping defeat at the hands of your foes with the sword of your enemies overtaking you; or else that for three days the sword of the LORD and pestilence be in the land, and the angel of the LORD act as a destroyer throughout all the territory of Israel.' Now therefore consider what answer I shall return to him who sent me."

3 Then David said to Gad,

"I am in very great distress. I would rather fall into the hand of the LORD, for his mercy is very great; but let me not fall into the hand of man."

4 So the LORD sent a pestilence upon Israel; and there fell of Israel
5 seventy thousand men. And God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it; but as he was about to destroy it, the LORD saw it and repented of the evil, so that he said to the destroying angel,

"Enough, now stay your hand!"

And the angel of the LORD was standing by the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

6 And when David lifted up his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between the earth and the heavens, with a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem, then David and the elders,
7 covered with sackcloth, fell upon their faces. And David said to God, "Is it not I who gave orders to number the people? I am the one who has sinned and done very wickedly; but these sheep, what have they done? O LORD, my God, let thy hand, I pray, be against me and against my father's house; but not against thy people that they should be plague-stricken."

8 Then the angel of the LORD told Gad to say to David, that David should go up and rear an altar to the LORD in the threshing-floor of 9 Ornan the Jebusite. So David went up at the word of Gad, which 10 he spoke in the name of the LORD. And when Ornan turned and saw the angel, his four sons who were with him hid themselves.
11 Now Ornan was threshing wheat and when David came to Ornan, Ornan looked up and saw David, and went out of the threshing-floor
12 and bowed before David with his face to the earth. Then David said to Ornan,

"Give me the place of the threshing-floor that I may build in it an altar to the LORD; for the full price you shall give it to me, that the plague may be stayed from the people."

13 Accordingly Ornan said to David,

"Take it as your own, and let my lord the king do what is good in his sight. See, I have given the oxen for a burnt-offering and the threshing-sledges for wood and the wheat for the cereal-offering—I have given it all.”

24 But King David said to Ornan,

“No, but I will surely buy it for the full price, for I will not take that which is yours for the LORD, nor offer a burnt-offering which costs me nothing.”

25 So David gave to Ornan for the place six hundred shekels of gold

26 by weight. Then David built there an altar to the LORD and offered burnt-offerings and thank-offerings. And when he called to the LORD, he answered him with fire from heaven upon the altar of burnt-offering. Then the LORD spoke to the angel, and he put his sword again in its sheath.

28 At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him in 29 the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. Now the dwelling of the LORD, which Moses had made in the desert and the altar of burnt-offering were at that time in the high place at Gibeon.
30 And David was not able to go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

DAVID'S PREPARATIONS FOR THE TEMPLE AND ITS WORSHIP, 22:1-23:32

22 Then David said,

“This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of burnt-offering for Israel.”

2 Therefore David gave orders to gather together the foreigners who were in the land of Israel, and he set masons to hewing out cut stones
3 to build the house of God. David also prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates and for the clamps, likewise bronze
4 in abundance without weight; and innumerable cedar timbers, for the Sidonians and the Tyrians brought cedar timbers in abundance to 5 David. Then David said,

“Solomon my son is young and inexperienced, and the house that is to be built for the LORD must be exceedingly magnificent, far-famed and glorious throughout all lands. I will therefore prepare for it.”

So David prepared abundantly before his death.

6 Then he called for Solomon his son and commanded him to build a 7 house for the LORD, the God of Israel. Accordingly David said to Solomon his son,

“I myself had in mind to build a house to the name of the LORD my 8 God. But the word of the LORD came to me saying, ‘You have shed much blood, and have carried on great wars; you shall not build a house to my name, because you have shed much blood before me upon 9 the earth. Behold a son shall be born to you, who shall be a man of rest, and I will give him rest from all his enemies round about, for his name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness to Is-10 rael in his days. He shall build a house to my name and he shall be my son and I will be his father; and I will establish the throne of his 11 kingdom over Israel forever.’ Now, my son, the LORD be with you, that you may prosper and build the house of the LORD your God, as he 12 has spoken concerning you. Only the LORD give you discretion and insight should he give you charge of Israel, that thus you may keep 13 the law of the LORD your God. Then you will prosper, if you are mindful to observe the statutes and the ordinances which the LORD commanded Moses concerning Israel. Be strong and courageous, fear 14 not, neither be dismayed. Now, behold in my poverty I have prepared for the house of the LORD a hundred thousand talents of gold, a million talents of silver, and bronze and iron so abundant that it cannot be weighed; timber also and stone I have prepared, and you 15 may add thereto. Moreover there are with you workmen in abundance, hewers and workers of stone and timber and all who are skilful 16 in every kind of work. Of the gold, the silver, the bronze, and the iron, there is no end. Arise and be doing, and the LORD be with you.”
17 Moreover David commanded all the princes of Israel to help Solomon his son:

18 “Is not the LORD your God with you? And has he not given you rest on every side? for he has delivered into my hand the inhabitants of the land; and the land is subdued before the LORD and before his 19 people. Now set your heart and your mind to seek the LORD your God; arise therefore, and build the sanctuary of the LORD God, that you may bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the holy vessels of God into the house that is to be built to the name of the LORD.”

23 Accordingly when David had reached a ripe old age, he made Solo-2 mon his son king over Israel. Then he gathered together all the 3 princes of Israel, with the priests and the Levites. Now the Levites were numbered from thirty years old and upward, and their number 4 according to the polls of their males was thirty-eight thousand. Of these twenty-four thousand were to oversee the work of the house of

5 the LORD, and six thousand were recorders and judges, and four thousand were doorkeepers, while four thousand were praising the LORD
6 with instruments which he made, to praise therewith. And David arranged them in divisions, according to the sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath and Merari.

7 Of the Gershomites, Ladan and Shimei; Ladan's three sons were 9 Jehiel the chief, Zetham and Joel. The three sons of Shimei were Shelomoth, Haziël and Haran; these were the heads of the families
10 of Ladan. And the sons of Shimei were Jahath, Ziza, Jeush, and 11 Beriah. These four were the sons of Shimei. Jahath was the first and Zizah the second; but Jeush and Beriah had not many sons, they were therefore regarded as a family for one appointment.

12 The four sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel.
13 The sons of Amram were Aaron and Moses; and Aaron was set apart to be sanctified as a most holy one, that he and his sons should burn incense before the LORD forever, to minister, and to bless in his name for 14 all time. As for Moses the man of God, his sons were reckoned 15 among the tribe of Levi. The sons of Moses were Gershom and 16 Eliezer. The sons of Gershom were Shebuel the first. And the son 17 of Eliezer was Rehabiah the first; for Eliezer had no other sons, but 18 the sons of Rehabiah were very many. Izhar's son was Shelomith the 19 first. The sons of Hebron were Jeriah, the first, Amariah the second,
20 Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. The sons of Uzziel were Micah the first and Isshiah the second. The sons of Merari
21 were Mahli and Mushi, the sons of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish. Now 22 Eleazar died and had no sons, but daughters only; and their kinsmen, 23 the sons of Kish, took them in marriage. The sons of Mushi were three, Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth.

24 These were the Levites according to their father's houses, heads of families, according to their registration, by the number of names according to their polls, who did the work for the service of the house of 25 the LORD, from twenty years old and upward. For David said,

"The LORD, the God of Israel, has given rest to his people, and he 26 now dwells in Jerusalem for all time. Moreover the Levites shall no more be required to carry the dwelling or any of the utensils for its service."

27 For by the last words of David, the number of the Levites was from 28 twenty years old and upward. Likewise their function was to attend the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the LORD, about the courts and chambers, and in the purifying of all the holy things, even

29 the work of the service of the house of God; for the bread that is arranged in layers, also, and for the fine flour for the cereal-offering, whether for unleavened wafers or that which is for the baking pan or what is mixed, and for all measures of capacity and measures of length;
 30 and to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD and likewise
 31 at evening; and to offer all burnt-offerings to the LORD on the sabbaths and at the new moons, and at the set festivals, in number according to 32 the ordinance concerning them, continually before the LORD; and that they should have charge of the tent of sacred meeting, and the charge of the sanctuary, and the charge of the sons of Aaron their kinsmen, for the service of the house of the LORD.

DAVID'S ORGANIZATION OF THE TEMPLE STAFF, 24:1—26:32

24 Now the sons of Aaron were in divisions. The sons of Aaron were
 2 Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. But Nadab and Abihu died before their father and had no children, so Eleazar and Ithamar
 3 served as priests. And David, with the aid of Zadok of the sons of Eleazar and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, divided them accord-
 4 ing to their appointment in their service. Now there were found to be more chief men of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar, therefore they assigned them thus: of the sons of Eleazar, sixteen heads of families and of the sons of Ithamar, eight according to fam-
 5 ilies. Thus they divided them by lot, one like the other, for there were princes of God, both of the sons of Eleazar and of the sons of 6 Ithamar. Moreover Shemaiah, the son of Nethanel the scribe, who was of the Levites, recorded them in the presence of the king and the princes, and Zadok the priest, and Ahimelech, the son of Abiathar, and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites, one family being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar.
 7 Now the first lot came forth to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, 8 the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, the fifth to Malchijah, the 9 sixth to Mijamin, the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah, the 10 ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, the eleventh to Eliashib, the 11 twelfth to Jakim, the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshe-12 beah, the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, the seventeenth 13 to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzetz, the nineteenth to Pethahiah, 14 the twentieth to Jehezkel, the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-sec-15 ond to Gamul, the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to 16 Maaziah. Such was their appointment for their service to come into the house of the LORD according to their ordinance by Aaron their father, as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded him.

20 Also of the rest of the Levites of the sons of Amram there was 21 Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah; of Rehabiah, of the sons 22 of Rehabiah, Isshiah the chief; of the Izharites, Shelomoth, of the 23 sons of Shelomoth, Jahath; and of the sons of Hebron, Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth.
24 The son of Uzziel was Micah, of the sons of Micah, Shamir; the 25 brother of Micah, Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. The 26 sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi; the son of Jaaziah, Beno.
27 The sons of Merari, of Jaaziah, Beno, Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibrî; of 28 Mahli, Eleazar, who had no sons; of Kish, the sons of Kish, Jerah-29 meel; and the sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These 30 were the Levites according to their families. They likewise cast lots 31 even as their kinsmen the Aaronites before David the king, Zadok, Ahimelech and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites, the fathers of the chief, even as those of his younger brother.

25 David and the commanders of the army also set apart for the service certain of the sons of Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun, who should prophesy with lyres, harps, and cymbals. And the numbers of the men 2 who did the work according to their service were: of the sons of Asaph, Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah and Asharelah, the son of Asaph, under the direction of Asaph, who prophesied at the bidding of the 3 king; of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun, Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiiah, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six under the direction of their father Jeduthun with the lyre, who prophesied, thanking and praising the 4 LORD; of Heman, the sons of Heman, Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-5 ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, Mahazioth. All these were the sons of Heman, the king's seer, in the words of God to lift up the 6 horn. Moreover God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daugh-7 ters. All these were under the direction of their father for song in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, harps and lyres for the service of the house of God, while Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman were at the bidding 8 of the king. Also the number of them together with their kinsmen instructed in singing to the LORD, including all that were skilful, was 9 two hundred and eighty-eight. Moreover they cast lots for their duties, as well the small as the great, the teacher as the pupil.

9 Now the first lot came forth for Asaph to Joseph, the second to 10 Gedaliah; he and his kinsmen and his sons were twelve; the third to 11 Zaccur, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; the fourth to Izri, his 12 sons and his kinsmen were twelve; the fifth to Nethaniah, his sons and 3 his kinsmen were twelve; the sixth to Bukkiah, his sons and his kins-

 4 men were twelve; the seventh to Jesharelah, his sons and his kinsmen
 5 were twelve; the eighth to Jeshaiah, his sons and his kinsmen were 6 twelve; the ninth to Mattaniah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve;
 7 the tenth to Shimei, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; the eleventh 8 to Azarel, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; the twelfth to 9 Hashabiah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the thirteenth
 10 Shubael, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the fourteenth 11 Mattithiah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the fifteenth
 12 Jeremoth, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the sixteenth 13 Hananiah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the seventeenth 14 Joshbekashah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the eight-15 eenth Hanani, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the nine-16 teenth Mallothi, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the twen-17 tieth Eliathah, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the twenty-18 first Hothir, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the twenty-19 second Giddalti, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the twenty-20 third Mahazioth, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve; for the 21 twenty-fourth Romamti-ezer, his sons and his kinsmen were twelve.
 6 For the divisions of the doorkeepers there was of the Korahites,
 2 Meshelamiah, the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. Meshelamiah also had sons, Zechariah the first-born, Jediael the second, Zebadiah 3 the third, Jathniel the fourth, Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, 4 Eliehoenai the seventh. Obed-edom had sons, Shemaiah the first-born, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Na-
 5 thanel the fifth, Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peullethai 6 the eighth; for God blessed him. Also to Shemaiah his son were sons horn, who ruled over the house of their father; for they were men of 7 ability. The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed and Elza-8 bad, whose kinsmen were men of ability, Elihu and Semachiah. All these were of the sons of Obed-edom: they and their sons and their kinsmen were able men in strength for the service, sixty-two of Obed-9 edom. And Meshelamiah had sons and kinsmen, men of ability eight-10 een in all. Also Hosah of the Merarites had sons, Shimri the chief; for though he was not the first-born, his father made him chief, 11 Hilkiyah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth; all the sons and kinsmen of Hosah were thirteen.

12 Of these were the divisions of doorkeepers, even of the chief men, having functions like their kinsmen, to minister in the house of the 13 LORD. They also cast lots, the small like the great, according to their 14 families, for each gate. Thus the lot eastward fell to Shelemiah.
Then for Zechariah his son, a discreet counsellor, they cast lots and 15 his lot came out northward, to Obed-edom southward, and to his sons 16 the storehouse, to Hosah westward, by the gate that goes into the 17 ascending highway, watch against watch. Eastward were six Levites, northward four a day, southward four a day, and for the storehouse 18 two by two, for the colonnade westward, four at the highway and two 19 at the colonnade. These were the divisions of the doorkeepers of the Korahites and the Merarites.

20 Also of the Levites, Ahijah was in charge of the treasures of the 21 house of God, and the treasures of the dedicated things. The sons of Ladan, the descendants of Gershon through Ladan, the heads of fam-22 ilies of Ladan the Gershonite, Jehieli and his kinsmen, Zetham and 23 Joel, were in charge of the treasures of the house of God. Of the 24 Amramites, Izharites, Hebronites, and Uzzielites was Shebuel, son of 25 Gershom, son of Moses, ruler over the treasuries, and his kinsmen through Eliezer were Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiiah his son, Joram his 26 son, and Zichri his son, and Shelomoth his son. This Shelomoth and his kinsmen were in charge of all the treasuries of dedicated things which David the king and the heads of families, the commanders of thousands and hundreds and the commanders of the army, had dedi-27 cated. From wars and from the spoil they dedicated for the repair of 28 the house of the LORD. Thus all that Samuel the seer had dedicated as well as Saul, the son of Kish, Abner, the son of Ner, and Joab, the son of Zeruiah, whoever dedicated anything, it was under the charge 29 of Shelomoth and his kinsmen. Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his 30 sons were for the outward business over Israel, for scribes and judges.
Of the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his kinsmen, one thousand and seven hundred able men, were in charge of Israel beyond the Jordan westward for all the work of the LORD and the service of the king.
31 Jerijah was chief of the Hebronites, even the Hebronites, according to their generations by families. In the fortieth year of the reign of David there were sought out and found among them valiant men, 32 Jazer of Gilead and his kinsmen, men of valor, two thousand and seven hundred heads of families; and David the king appointed them over the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh for every affair of God and every affair of the king.

DAVID'S ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS, 27:1-34

27 Now the Israelites according to their number, heads of families, commanders of thousands and of hundreds and their scribes that served the king in every matter of the divisions that came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, of every² division there were twenty-four thousand. Over the first division for the first month was Jashobeam, the son of Zabdiel, and in his division³ were twenty-four thousand; he was of the sons of the descendants of Perez, the chief of all the commanders of the army for the first⁴ month. And over the division of the second month, Dodai the Aho-hite and his division, and Mikloth the leader; and in his division were⁵ twenty-four thousand. The third commander of the army of the third month was Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, chief; and in⁶ his division were twenty-four thousand. The same is Benaiah, a hero of The Thirty, and in charge of The Thirty; and of his division was⁷ Ammizabad his son. The fourth for the fourth month was Asahel, the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him, and in his division⁸ were twenty-four thousand. The fifth commander for the fifth month was Shammuth the Izrahite, and in his division were twenty-⁹ four thousand. The sixth for the sixth month was Ira, the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, and in his division were twenty-four thousand.¹⁰ The seventh for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite of the¹¹ Ephraimites, and in his division were twenty-four thousand. The eighth for the eighth month was Sibbecai the Hushathite of the Zera-¹² hites, and in his division were twenty-four thousand. The ninth for the ninth month was Abiezer the Anathothite of the Benjaminites,¹³ and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. The tenth for the tenth month was Maharai the Netophathite of the Zerahites, and in¹⁴ his division were twenty-four thousand. The eleventh for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite of the Ephraimites, and in his¹⁵ division were twenty-four thousand. The twelfth for the twelfth month was Heldai the Netophathite of Othniel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand.

¹⁶ Furthermore in command of the tribes of Israel there were Eliezer, the son of Zichri, ruler of the Reubenites, Shephatiah, the son of¹⁷ Maacah of the Simeonites, Hashabiah, the son of Kemuel of the Le-¹⁸ vites, Zadok of Aaron, Elihu, one of the brothers of David of Judah,¹⁹ Omri, the son of Michael of Issachar, Ishmaiah, the son of Obadiah²⁰ of Zebulun, Jeremoth, the son of Azriel of Naphtali, Hoshea, the son of Azaziah of the Ephraimites, Joel, the son of Pedaiah of the half

21 tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo, the son of Zechariah of the half 22 tribe of Manasseh, Jaasiel, the son of Abner of Benjamin, Azarel, the son of Jeroham of Dan. These were in command of the tribes of 23 Israel. Now David did not take the census of them under twenty years of age, because the LORD had said he would increase Israel like 24 the stars of heaven. Joab, the son of Zeruiah, began the census but he did not complete it; and since this brought wrath upon Israel, the census was not entered in the records of the Chronicles of King David.
25 Now over the king's stores was Azmaveth, the son of Adiel, and over the stores in the fields, in the cities, in the villages and watch-26 towers, was Jonathan, the son of Uzziash. Ezri, the son of Chelub, 27 was overseer of the field workers for tilling the soil. Over the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite; and over the increase of the vineyards 28 was Zabdi the Shiphmite; over the olive trees and sycamores which were in the lowlands was Baal-hanan the Gederite, and over the stores 29 of oil Joash; and over the herds that pastured in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite, and over the herds that pastured in the valleys was 30 Shaphat, the son of Adlai; over the camels was Obil the Ishmaelite, 31 and over the asses was Jehdeiah the Meronothite; over the flocks was Jaziz the Hagrite. All these were overseers of the property of King David.

32 Also Jonathan, David's uncle, was a counsellor, a man of understanding and a scribe; and Jehiel, the son of Hachmoni, was a com-33 panion of the king's sons. Ahithophel was also the king's counsellor; and Hushai the Archite was the king's friend, and after Ahithophel was Jehoiada, the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar; and Joab was commander of the king's army.

DAVID ENTRUSTS TO SOLOMON THE PLANS FOR THE TEMPLE,

28:1-21

28 Then David assembled at Jerusalem all the commanding officers of Israel, the chiefs of the tribes, the heads of the divisions that ministered to the king, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, and the overseers of all the property and possessions of the king and of his sons, together with the eunuchs and the heroes, 2 even all the valiant men. Thereupon David rose to his feet and said, "Hear me, my kinsmen and my people; I had it in mind to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD and for a foot-3 stool of the feet of our God; and I had prepared to build it, but God said to me, 'You shall not build a house for my name, for you are a

4 man of wars and you have shed blood.' However, the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me out of all my father's house to be king over Israel forever, for he has chosen Judah to be prince; and from the house of Judah, my father's house, and from my father's sons, he took pleasure 5 in me to make me king over all Israel. Now of all my sons—for the LORD has given me many—he has chosen Solomon my son to sit upon 6 the throne of the LORD's kingdom over Israel, and he has said to me, 'Solomon your son shall build my house and my courts for I have 7 chosen him to be a son to me, and I will be a father to him; I will establish his kingdom even forever, if he be strong to perform my 8 commandments, and my ordinances as at this day.' Now therefore in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God keep and seek after all the commandments of the LORD your God, in order that you may continue to possess this good land, and leave it as an inheritance to your children after you for all time. 9 And as for you, Solomon my son, learn to know the God of your father and serve him with a perfect heart and a willing mind, for the LORD searches all hearts and understands all the imagination of the thoughts. If you seek him, he will be found of you; but if you 10 forsake him, he will reject you forever. Take heed now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary; be strong and do it."

11 Then David gave to Solomon his son the pattern of the porch, its houses, its treasuries, its upper chambers, and its rooms within, and the 12 house of propitiation. And the pattern of all that he had by the spirit for the courts of the house of the LORD and for all the chambers round about, for the treasuries of the house of God, and for the treasuries of the dedicated things; also for the divisions of the priests and the Levites and for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD and for all the utensils of the service of the house of the LORD; 14 and of gold by weight for the gold of the utensils of service of every sort, and for all the utensils of silver by weight for all the vessels of 15 service of every sort; and the weight for the golden lampstands, and their lamps of gold by weight for every lampstand and their lamps; and for the silver lampstands by weight for every lampstand according 16 to the service of every lampstand; and the gold by weight for the tables for that which is arranged in layers for every table; and silver for 17 the tables of silver; and for the forks, basins, and jars of pure gold, and for the golden bowls by weight for every bowl, and of the silver bowls 18 by weight for every bowl; and for the altar of incense of refined gold by weight, and gold for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubs flying and covering the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

19 "The whole in writing is from the hand of the LORD to me causing me to understand, even all the works of the pattern."

20 Then David said to Solomon his son, "Be strong and of good courage and do it; fear not, nor be dismayed, for the LORD God, even my God is with you, he will not fail you nor forsake you until all the work of the service of the house of the LORD is finished. Now behold the pattern of the porch and of the houses thereof, and of its treasuries and of its upper rooms, and of its inner chambers and of the house of propitiation, even the pattern of the house of the LORD. Behold also the divisions of the priests and the Levites for all the service of the house of God; and there shall be with you for all manner of work every willing man that has skill for all manner of service; also the overseers and all the people will be entirely at your command."

THE CLOSING SCENES OF DAVID'S LIFE, 29:1-30

29 Then David, the king, said to all the assembly,

"Solomon my son, whom alone God has chosen, is still young and inexperienced, and the work is great; for the palace is not for man but 2 for the LORD God. Now I have prepared with all my vigor for the house of my God the gold for the things to be of gold, silver for the silver, bronze for the bronze, iron for the iron, wood for the uses of wood, stones of onyx, and stones to be set, stones of antimony, stones of various colors, and all sorts of precious stones and marble plentifully.
3 And furthermore in my devotion to the house of my God, as I have a private treasure of gold and silver, I give it for the house of my God over and above all that I have prepared for the sanctuary,
4 namely, three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, for overlaying the walls of 5 the buildings, gold for the uses of gold, silver for the silver, even for every work by the hands of workmen. Now who will make a voluntary offering today like one consecrating himself to the priesthood?"

6 Then the heads of families and the princes of the tribes of Israel, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds and 7 the overseers of the work of the king made a voluntary offering; they thus gave for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, beside ten thousand darics, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze and a hundred thousand talents of

8 iron. Those in possession of stones gave them to the treasure of the 9 house of the LORD, in charge of Jehiel the Gershonite. Then the people rejoiced for they offered willingly, because with a perfect heart they offered voluntary offerings to the LORD; and David the king also rejoiced with great joy.

10 Therefore David blessed the LORD in the sight of all the assembly,
and David said,

“Blessed art thou, O LORD God of Israel, our father forever and 11 ever. Thine, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the pre-eminence and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and earth is thine; thine is the dominion O LORD, and thou are ex-12 alted as the supreme head. Riches and honor come from thee, thou rulest over all; in thy hand are power and might and it lies in thy 13 hand to make all great and strong. Now therefore our God we thank 14 thee and praise thy glorious name. Yet who am I and what is my people that we should be able to offer such voluntary offerings? for 15 all things come from thee, and we give thee only what is thine. For we are strangers before thee and passing guests as all our fathers 16 were; our days upon earth are like a shadow and without hope. O LORD our God, all these materials that we have prepared to build thee a house for thy holy name came from thy hand and are all thine own.
17 I know also, O my God, that thou triest the heart and delightest in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of my heart I have freely offered all these things, and now I have seen with joy thy people that 18 are present here make a voluntary offering to thee. O LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel our fathers, keep this forever as the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and direct 19 their hearts toward thee; and grant to Solomon my son a perfect heart to keep thy commandments, thy testimonials and thy statutes, and to do all these things and to build the palace for which I have made provision.”

20 Then David said to all the assembly,

“Bless now the LORD your God.”

Thereupon all the assembly blessed the LORD, the God of their fathers, and bowed down and did obeisance before the LORD and be-21 fore the king. On the next day they also sacrificed sacrifices and offered burnt-offerings to the LORD, a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs with their libations, and sacrifices in abund-22 ance for all Israel, and ate and drank before the LORD that day with great rejoicing.

- Then they made Solomon, the son of David, king the second time, and anointed him to be the prince of the LORD, and Zadok to be priest.
- ²³ Then Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king in place of David his father, and prospered; and all Israel obeyed him. Accordingly all the princes and heroes, as well as all the sons of King David, ²⁵ submitted to Solomon the king. Moreover the LORD exalted Solomon greatly in the sight of all Israel, bestowing upon him such royal majesty as no king before him in Israel had enjoyed.
- ²⁶ Now David, the son of Jesse, ruled over all Israel. Moreover the time that he ruled over Israel was forty years; he reigned seven years ²⁸ in Hebron and thirty-three years he reigned in Jerusalem. At length he died in a ripe old age, wealthy and honored, and Solomon his son ²⁹ became king in his stead. Now the records of David the king from first to last, behold they are written in the Records of Samuel the seer and the Records of Nathan the prophet, and the Records of Gad the ³⁰ man of vision, with all his reign and his power and the times through which he and Israel passed, as well as all the kingdoms of the other countries.

THE SECOND BOOK OF CHRONICLES

SOLOMON'S PRAYER AND ITS ANSWER, 1:1-17

- 1 Now Solomon, the son of David, established himself over his kingdom and the LORD his God, was with him and greatly exalted him.
- 2 Accordingly Solomon spoke to all Israel, to the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, to the judges and to every prince in all Israel, 3 heads of families. Then Solomon accompanied by the whole assembly went to the high place that was at Gibeon, for there was the tent of meeting of God, which Moses, the servant of the LORD, had made in 4 the desert. But David had brought up the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim to the place that David had prepared for it, for he had pitched 5 a tent for it at Jerusalem. Moreover the bronze altar, that Bezalel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, was there before the dwelling 6 of the LORD, and Solomon and the assembly resorted to it. Solomon accordingly made an offering there on the bronze altar before the LORD which was at the tent of meeting, and offered upon it a thousand burnt-offerings.
- 7 The following night God appeared to Solomon, and said to him, "Ask what I shall do for you."
- 8 Then Solomon said to God, "Thou hast shown great lovingkindness to David my father and 9 hast made me king in his stead. Now O LORD God, let thy promise to David my father be established, for thou hast made me king over 10 a people as numerous as the dust of the earth. Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people; for who can judge this thy great people?"
- 11 Then God said to Solomon, "Because this was in your mind and you have not asked riches, wealth, or honor, nor the life of those who hate you, neither have you asked long life, but have asked wisdom and knowledge for yourself, that you may judge my people over whom I have made you king, 12 wisdom and knowledge are granted to you, and I will give you riches and wealth and honor, such as none of the kings have had who have been before you, neither shall there any after you have the like."
- 13 So Solomon came from the high place which was at Gibeon from before the tent of meeting to Jerusalem. And he reigned over Israel.

14 Now Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen until he had fourteen hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen that he
15 placed in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem. Likewise the king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, and 16 cedar as plentiful as sycamores in the lowland. Now Solomon's import of horses was from Egypt and from Kuë, the king's dealers used 17 to receive them for a price. Also they brought up and took from Egypt a chariot for six hundred pieces of silver and a horse for a hundred and fifty; even so for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria, they were brought out through their agency.

SOLOMON PREPARES TO BUILD THE TEMPLE, 2:1-13

2 Now Solomon directed that a house be built for the name of the 2 LORD, and a house for his kingdom. So Solomon told off seventy thousand men as forced laborers, and eighty thousand woodcutters in the mountains, besides three thousand six hundred to oversee them.
3 Moreover Solomon sent to Hiram, king of Tyre, saying,
“As you dealt with David my father when you sent him cedars to 4 build himself a house for his residence, so now I am about to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, to dedicate it to him, and to burn before him incense of sweet spices, and for the continual array of layers of bread and for the burnt-offering morning and evening, on the sabbaths and at the new moons, and set feasts of the LORD
5 our God (which are perpetually binding upon Israel). Moreover the house which I am about to build is to be great, for our God is 6 greater than all gods. But who is able to build him a house, since the heavens and the very highest heavens cannot contain him? Who am I then, that I should build him a house to burn incense before it?
7 Now therefore, send me a man skilled to work in gold and in silver, in bronze and iron, in purple, crimson, and violet stuffs, and who knows how to engrave engravings in conjunction with the skilled men who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, whom David my father
8 provided. Send me also cedars, firs, and sandalwood from Lebanon, for I know that your servants understand how to cut timber in 9 Lebanon, and, behold, my servants will join with your servants even to prepare the timber in abundance, for the house which I am 10 about to build is to be great and wonderful. See now, I will indeed give your servants the cutters that cut the timber twenty thousand measures of beaten wheat, twenty thousand measures of barley, twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil.”

11 Then Hiram, king of Tyre, put in writing and sent it to Solomon,

“Because the LORD loves his people he has made you king over them.”

12 Moreover Hiram said,

“Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who made the heavens and the earth, who has given to David the king a wise son, endued with discretion and understanding, who should build a house for the LORD
13 and a house for his kingdom. Now accordingly I have sent a skillful 14 man, endued with understanding, Hiram-abi, the son of a Danite woman, but his father was a Tyrian, who knows how to work in gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, and wood, in purple, violet, and fine linen, and in crimson, also to perform all manner of engraving and to sketch any artistic device that may be assigned to him, together with your skilled workmen and the skilled workmen of my lord David,
15 your father. Now therefore the wheat and the barley, the oil and the wine, of which my lord has spoken, let him send to his servants,
16 and we will cut the timber out of Lebanon according to all your requirement, and we will bring it to you by sea to Joppa, and you shall take it up to Jerusalem.”

17 Then Solomon took a census of all the resident aliens who were in the land of Israel, according to the census which David his father had made. And there were found a hundred and fifty-three thousand six 18 hundred. Accordingly he made seventy thousand of them laborers, and eighty thousand hewers in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred overseers to see that the people served.

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE TEMPLE, 3:1-17

3 Then Solomon began to build the house of the LORD at Jerusalem on Mount Moriah where the LORD had appeared to David his father, in the place which David had prepared, on the threshing-floor of 2 Ornan the Jebusite. Thus he began to build on the second day of the 3 second month in the fourth year of his reign. Now these are the foundations which Solomon laid for the building of the house of God. The length according to the old measure was sixty cubits and the 4 breadth twenty cubits. Also the porch that was in front—its length, corresponding to the breadth of the house, was twenty cubits, and the height one hundred and twenty; and he overlaid it within with pure
5 gold. And the large room he ceiled with cypress wood which he over-

- 6 laid with fine gold and wrought thereon palm trees and chains. He adorned the house with exquisite precious stones, the gold also was gold
7 of Parvaim. He also covered the house, the beams, the thresholds, the walls, and the doors with gold, and engraved cherubs on the walls.
8 Likewise he made the most holy room: its length, corresponding to the breadth of the house, was twenty cubits and its breadth twenty cubits, and he covered it with fine gold, amounting to six hundred talents.
9 Moreover the weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold each,
10 and he covered the upper chambers with gold. And in the most holy room he made two cherubs of image work and they overlaid them with 11 gold. The wings of the cherubs were twenty cubits in length; the wing of the one cherub extended five cubits to the wall of the house, and the other wing likewise extended five cubits to the wing of the other 12 cherub. And the one wing of the other cherub extended five cubits to the wall of the house, while the other wing joined the wing of 13 the other cherub. The wings of these cherubs as they flew were twenty cubits, though they stood on their feet with their faces toward the house.
- 14 He also made a veil of violet, purple, crimson, and fine linen, and wrought cherubs thereon.
- 15 Moreover he made before the house two columns thirty-four and two thirds cubits high, with a capital five cubits in height on the top of 16 each. He also made chains in the inner room and put them on the top of the columns; and he made a hundred pomegranates and put them on 17 the chains. So he set up the columns before the temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left. And he called the name of the one on the right hand Jachin, and the name of the one on the left Boaz.

THE EQUIPMENT OF THE TEMPLE, 4:1-22

- 4 Moreover he made an altar of bronze twenty cubits long, twenty
2 cubits broad, and ten cubits high. He also made the metal sea ten cubits in diameter from brim to brim, round in form, five cubits
3 high and thirty cubits in circumference; and underneath it were the figures of bulls encompassing it on all sides for ten cubits surrounding the sea. The bulls were in two rows, cast when it was cast.
4 It stood on twelve bulls, three facing the north, three facing the west, three facing the south, and three facing the east; the sea rested on 5 their backs, while their haunches were all toward the center. It was about four inches thick and the brim was made like the brim of a cup, like a lily bud, and it had a capacity of three thousand baths.

6 He also made ten lavers, and put five on the right side and five on the left, for use in washing; such things as the burnt-offering they
7 washed in them; but the sea was for the priests to wash in. He made ten lampstands of gold according to their pattern and he placed them
8 in the temple, five on the right side and five on the left. He also made ten tables and set them in the temple, five on the right side and 9 five on the left. And he made a hundred bowls of gold. Furthermore he made the court of the priests, and the great court, and the doors for 10 the court, and he overlaid the doors with bronze. He put the sea on 11 the right side of the house facing the southeast. Hiram also made the pots, the shovels and the bowls. So Hiram completed the work which 12 he did for King Solomon in the house of God: two columns, the two bowl-shaped capitals on the top of the columns, the two net-ornaments to cover the two rounded capitals that were on the top of the columns,
13 and the four hundred pomegranates for the two net-ornaments, two rows of pomegranates for each net-ornament, to cover the two bowl-
14 shaped capitals that were on the top of the columns. He also made 15 stands and he made lavers upon the stands; the one sea, with the twelve 16 bulls under it, the pots, the shovels, the forks and all their utensils did Hiram his father make for King Solomon, for the house of the LORD, of burnished bronze.

17 The king cast them in the plain of the Jordan, in the clay ground
18 between Succoth and Zeredah. Thus Solomon made an enormous amount of these utensils, for the weight of the bronze was beyond 19 reckoning. Likewise Solomon made all the utensils that were in the house of God, even the golden altar, the tables, whereon was the 20 Presence-bread, the lampstands with their lamps to burn them ac-21 cording to the prescription before the inner room, of rare gold, the 22 buds, the lamps, and the tongs of gold, and that of purest gold, the snuffers, bowls, cups, and the fire-pans of rare gold; even the entrance of the house and its doors in front of the holy place and the doors of the house, that is, for the temple, were of gold.

THE DEDICATION OF THE TEMPLE, 5:1—7:10

5 Thus all the work which Solomon wrought for the house of the LORD was completed, and Solomon brought in the dedicated things of David his father; and the silver and gold and all the utensils he put 2 in the treasuries of the house of God. Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the princes of families of the Israelites, to Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of 3 the LORD from the city of David, that is Zion. So all the men of Israel were assembled to the king at the feast in the seventh month.

4 Likewise all the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the 5 ark; and they brought up the ark of meeting and all the holy utensils that were in the ark; the priests and the Levites brought these 6 up. And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled about him were before the ark sacrificing sheep and cattle
7 which were beyond numbering or counting. Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place within the inner room of the house, in the most holy place beneath the wings of the cherubs,
8 for the cherubs were spreading their wings over the place of the ark,
9 and the cherubs covered the ark and its staves above. Yet the staves were so long that the ends of the staves were seen from the ark before the inner room, but they were not seen without, and there it has remained to this day. There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets which Moses had placed there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites at the time they went out of Egypt.

11 And when the priests came out of the sanctuary, for all the priests who were present sanctified themselves, there was no attempt to keep 12 their divisions. Also the Levites who were singers, all of them, Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun, their sons, and their kinsmen, clothed in fine linen, with cymbals, lyres, and harps, stood at the east side of the altar and 13 with them a hundred and twenty priests blowing upon trumpets. Now when the trumpeters and singers joined in unison to make a great volume of sound in praising and thanking the LORD, and when they raised a sound with trumpets and with cymbals and with instruments of song, and when they praised the LORD, saying,

“For he is good;

For his grace is everlasting,”

then the house was full of the cloud, even the house of the LORD;
14 so that the priests were not able to stand to minister because of the cloud; for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

6 Then Solomon said,

2 “The LORD has said that he would dwell in thick darkness, but I have built thee a house of lofty abode and a fixed place for thee to dwell in forever.”

3 Thereupon the king faced about and blessed all the assembly of 4 Israel and the entire assembly of Israel stood up, and he said,

“Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who spoke with his mouth
5 to David my father, and has with his hands fulfilled it, saying, ‘Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house that my name might be there, neither did I choose any man to be a ruler over my people Israel; but I have chosen Jerusalem that my name might be there, and I chose David to be over my people Israel.' Now it was in the mind of David my father to build a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, but the LORD said to David my father, 'Because it was in your mind to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your mind, nevertheless you shall not build the house, but your son born of your body, he shall build the house for my name.' Now the LORD has established his word that he spoke, for I have risen up in the place of David my father, and sat upon the throne of Israel, as the LORD spoke, and I have built the house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. I have also put there the ark wherein is the covenant of the LORD which he made with the Israelites."

Then he stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel and spread forth his hands. For Solomon had made a bronze platform five cubits long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high and had set it in the midst of the court; and he stood upon it and kneeled upon his knees before all the assembly of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward the heavens, and said,

"O LORD, the God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heavens or on the earth, who keepest covenant and lovingkindness with thy servants who walk before thee with all their heart, who hast kept with thy servant David my father that which thou didst speak to him; for thou spakest with thy mouth and with thy hand thou hast fulfilled it as it is this day. Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that which thou hast spoken to him, saying, 'You shall never lack a man before me to sit upon the throne of Israel, if only your sons will take heed to their way to walk in my law as you have walked before me.' Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, let thy word be verified which thou hast spoken to thy servant David. But will God really dwell with man upon the earth? Behold the heavens and the very highest heavens cannot contain thee, how much less this house which I have built. Yet turn thou to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to listen to the cry and to the prayer which thy servant now offers before thee, that thine eyes may be open toward this house day and night, toward

- the place whereof thou hast said thou wouldst put thy name there; to listen to the prayer which thy servant shall pray toward this place,
- 21 and listen thou to the supplications of thy servant and thy people Israel, which they shall pray toward this place, yea hear thou from thy dwelling-place, even from the heavens, and as thou hearest forgive.
- 22 "If a man sin against his neighbor and an oath be laid on him to cause him to swear, and he come and swear before thine altar in this
- 23 house, then do thou hear from the heavens, take action and judge thy servants, punishing the guilty by bringing his course of action upon his own head, and vindicating the righteous by rewarding him according to his righteousness.
- 24 "Moreover if thy people Israel be defeated before the enemy because they have sinned before thee, if they shall turn and confess thy
- 25 name and pray and make supplication before thee in this house, then hear thou from the heavens and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and restore them to the land which thou gavest to them and to their fathers.
- 26 "When the heavens are shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee and they pray toward this place, confessing thy name, and turn again from their sin when thou dost afflict them,
- 27 hear thou from the heavens and forgive the sin of thy servants and thy people Israel, when thou teachest them the good way wherein they should walk, and sendest rain upon thy land which thou hast given to thy people for an inheritance.
- 28 "Should there be in the land a famine or pestilence, blasting or mildew, locusts or caterpillars, or should his enemies besiege him in
- 29 one of his gates, whatever be the plague or trouble—whatever prayer, whatever supplication, if offered by any man or by all thy people Israel, who shall know every man his own plague and his own sorrow,
- 30 and shall stretch out his hands toward this house, then hear thou from the heavens thy dwelling-place and forgive and render to every man according to all his ways, whose heart thou knowest, for thou alone
- 31 knowest the heart of the sons of men, that in fear of thee they may walk in thy ways as long as they live in the land which thou gavest to our fathers.
- 32 "Moreover concerning the alien who is not of thy people Israel, when he shall come from a far off land for thy great name's sake and thy mighty hand and thy outstretched arm, when they shall come and
- 33 pray toward this house, then hear thou from the heavens thy dwelling-place and do according to all that the alien shall cry to thee, that all the peoples of the earth may know thy name and fear thee as doth thy people Israel, that they may know that this house which I have built 34 is called by thy name. When thy people go forth to battle against their enemies, by whatever way thou dost send them, and they pray to thee toward this city which thou hast chosen and the house which I

35 have built for thy name, then hear thou from the heavens their prayer and their supplication, and uphold their cause.

36 "When they sin against thee (for there is no man who does not sin), and thou be enraged at them and deliver them to the enemy so
37 that they carry them away captive to a land afar off or near, yet if they shall take thought in the land whither they have been carried captive, and turn again and make supplication to thee in the land of their captivity saying, 'We have sinned, we have done wrong, and have dealt
38 wickedly,' if they turn again to thee heart and soul, in the land of their captivity whither they have been carried captive, and pray toward their land which thou gavest to their fathers and the city which thou 39 hast chosen and the house which I have built for thy name, then hear thou from the heavens thy dwelling-place their prayer, and their supplication, and uphold their cause and pardon thy people who have sinned against thee.

40 "Now O my God, let, I pray thee, thine eyes be open and thine
41 ears attentive to the prayer made in this place. Now therefore O LORD God, arise to thy resting place, thou and the ark of thy strength; let thy priests O LORD God, be clothed with salvation and let thy 42 pious ones rejoice in prosperity. O LORD God, turn not away the face of thine anointed; remember thy grace toward David thy servant."

7 Now when Solomon had finished praying, the fire came down from the heavens and consumed the burnt-offering and the sacrifices, and the
2 glory of the Lord filled the temple, so that the priests could not enter the house of the LORD, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of
3 the LORD; and all the Israelites looked on, when the fire came down and the glory of the LORD was upon the temple; then they bowed down with their faces to the earth upon the pavement, and worshipped and "gave thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his grace is everlasting."

4 Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD.
5 King Solomon made a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand cattle and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the people
6 dedicated the house of God. Moreover the priests stood according to their appointed stations, the Levites also with instruments for the song of the LORD, which David the king had made to give thanks to the LORD (for his grace is everlasting), when David offered praise by their aid; and the priests blew the trumpets before them, and all Israel stood. Solomon also sanctified the interior of the court that was before the house of the LORD, for there he offered the burnt-offerings and the fat pieces of the thank-offerings, because the bronze altar which Solomon had made was unable to contain the burnt-offering, the cereal-offering, and the fat pieces.

8 Thus Solomon held the feast at that time seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly from the Pass of Hamath to the Brook of Egypt. Then on the eighth day they held a closing celebration, for they gave seven days to the dedication of the altar and seven days to the feast. So on the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people away to their homes, rejoicing and glad of heart, because of the goodness which the LORD had shown to David and Solomon and to Israel, his people.

11 Thus Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the king's house, and all that came into Solomon's mind to make in the house of the LORD and in his own house he carried out successfully. Then the LORD appeared to Solomon by night and said to him,

"I have heard your prayer and have chosen this place as my house of sacrifice. Should I shut up the heavens so that there is no rain, should I command the locust to devour the land, and if I send a pestilence among my people, then if my people who are called by my name humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, I also will hear from the heavens and will forgive their sins and heal their land. Now my eyes shall be open and my ears attentive to the prayer offered in this place. Now therefore I have chosen and sanctified this house that my name may be there forever, and my eyes and my heart shall be there always. As for you, if you will conduct yourself before me as did David your father and do according to all that I have commanded you and keep my statutes and my ordinances, then will I establish the throne of your kingdom according as I covenanted with David your father, saying, 'You shall never lack a man to rule over Israel.' But if you turn and forsake my statutes and my commandments which I have set before you and go and serve other gods and worship them, then will I uproot them out of my land which I gave to them, and this house which I have sanctified for myself I will cast out of my sight, and I will make it a ²¹ proverb and a byword among all peoples. And as for this house which is so exalted, every passer-by shall be amazed and say, 'Why has the ²² LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' Then they shall say, 'Because they forsook the LORD, the God of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and took up with other gods and worshipped them and served them; therefore he has brought upon them all this misfortune.' "

SOLOMON'S ADMINISTRATION, 8:1-18

⁸ Now at the end of twenty years wherein Solomon had built the ² house of the LORD and his own house, Solomon built up the cities which Hiram had given to Solomon and caused the Israelites to dwell there.

³ Then Solomon went against Hamath-zobah and conquered it.
⁴ He also built Tadmor in the desert and all the store-cities which he
⁵ built in Hamath. Moreover he built Beth-horon the upper and Beth-horon the lower, fortified cities with walls, double gates, and bars,
⁶ and Baalath and all the store-cities that Solomon had and all the cities for chariots and the cities for horsemen, and all that Solomon was pleased to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and throughout his realm.

⁷ As for all the people who were left of the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivvites, and the Jebusites, who were not of Israel, ⁸ of their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the Israelites did not wipe out, Solomon raised a levy of forced labor to ⁹ this day. But of the Israelites Solomon made no slaves for his work but they were his soldiers, the commanders of his officers, and the commanders of his chariots and his horsemen. Now these were the garrison commanders whom King Solomon had, even two hundred and ¹⁰ fifty who exercised authority over the people. Solomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh from the city of David to the house which he had built for her, for he said,

"My wife shall not dwell in the house of David, king of Israel, because the places are holy wherever the ark of God has come."

¹² Then Solomon offered burnt-offerings to the LORD upon the altar
¹³ of the LORD, which he had built before the porch, according to the prescription for each day, offering according to the commandment of Moses, on the sabbath, at the new moons, and the fixed festivals, three times a year, the feasts of unleavened bread, that of weeks and that

14 of booths. And according to the ordinance of David his father he appointed the divisions of the priests for their service, and the Levites to their functions, to praise and to minister before the priests according to the requirement of each day, and the doorkeepers by their divisions at each gate, for such was the commandment of David, the 15 man of God. And they did not turn from the commandments of the king concerning the priests and the Levites in any respect nor 16 concerning the treasures. Thus all the work of Solomon was accomplished from the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD to the completion of the house of the LORD by Solomon.
17 Then Solomon went to Eziongeber, and to Eloth on the seashore in 18 the land of Elam. And Hiram sent him by the hands of his servants ships, and servants that had knowledge of the sea; and they came with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and brought thence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to King Solomon.

THE VISIT OF THE QUEEN OF SHEBA, 9:1-12

9 Now when the queen of Sheba heard the fame of Solomon, she came to test him with puzzling questions at Jerusalem, accompanied by a very large retinue, with camels loaded with spices and very much gold, and precious stones, and when she met Solomon, she conversed
2 with him about all that was in her mind; and Solomon solved all her hard propositions, there was nothing hidden from Solomon which he
3 did not explain to her. And when the queen of Sheba had seen the 4 wisdom of Solomon and the house that he had built, and the viands of his table, the arrangement of his servants, the appointment of his ministers, their clothing, his cupbearers, their clothing, and the burnt-offerings which he used to offer at the house of the LORD, there was 5 no more spirit in her. Then she said to the king,

“The report was true which I heard in my own country concerning 6 your affairs and your wisdom! But I would not believe their words until I came and saw with my own eyes, and behold the half was not told me about your great wisdom; you exceed the report which I have 7 heard. Happy are your wives and happy are these your servants who 8 stand before you continually and hear your wisdom. Blessed be the LORD your God who delighted in you and set you on his throne to be king for the LORD your God. Because your God loved Israel to establish them forever, therefore, he has made you king over them, to execute justice and righteousness.”

9 Then she gave to the king five and a half talents of gold, a very great amount of spices, and precious stones, and there never were such 10 spices as the queen of Sheba gave to Solomon. Also the servants of Hiram, and the servants of Solomon who brought gold from Ophir, 11 brought alnum wood and precious stones. Accordingly the king made of the alnum wood raised platforms for the house of the LORD and for the house of the king, and lyres and harps for the singers, the like 12 of which were not seen before in the land of Judah. Moreover, King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba everything she desired that she asked for, besides the value of what she had brought to the king. Then she turned about and went to her land, she and her attendants.

SOLOMON'S WEALTH, 9:13-31

13 The amount of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hun-14 dred and sixty-six talents, besides what came from the traffic of the merchants, and all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the land, who brought gold and silver to Solomon.
15 Now King Solomon made two hundred large shields of beaten gold 16—six hundred shekels of gold went to each shield—and three hundred shields of beaten gold—three hundred shekels of gold went to each shield—and the king put them in the House of the Forest of 17 Lebanon. The king also made a great throne of ivory and overlaid it 18 with pure gold. The throne had six steps and a footstool of gold fixed to the throne, with arms on each side of the place of the seat and two 19 lions standing beside the arms, while twelve lions stood there on the 20 six steps on each side. The like was not made in any kingdom. Moreover all King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of rare gold.
21 Silver was thought nothing of in the days of Solomon. For the king had ships that went to Tarshish with the servants of Hiram; once every three years the ships of Tarshish used to come bringing gold, 22 silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks. So King Solomon exceeded all the 23 kings of the earth in riches and wisdom; and all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God put 24 in his mind. They also brought each one his present, articles of silver and gold, clothing, equipment, spices, horses and mules, year by year.
25 Moreover Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen; and he stationed them in the chariot 26 cities and with the king in Jerusalem. And he ruled over all the kings from the River to the land of the Philistines and as far as the border

- 27 of Egypt. The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, 28 and cedar as plentiful as sycamores in the lowland. Horses were brought to Solomon from Egypt and from all lands.
- 29 Now the rest of the records of Solomon from first to last are they not written in the Records of Nathan the Prophet, and in the Prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the Visions of Iddo the Seer, regarding Jeroboam, the son of Nebat? Thus Solomon reigned in Jerusalem 30 over all Israel forty years. Then Solomon slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David his father, and Rehoboam, his son, became king in his stead.

THE DISRUPTION OF THE KINGDOM, 10:1-19

- 10 Then Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to 2 Shechem to make him king. But as soon as Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, heard of it, for he was in Egypt whither he had fled from the 3 presence of Solomon the king, Jeroboam returned from Egypt. Accordingly they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all Israel came and they spoke to Rehoboam, saying,
4 "Your father made our yoke heavy, but now lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke which he laid upon us, and we will serve you."
5 Then he said to them,
"Go away and after three days come again to me."
So the people went away.
- 6 Therefore King Rehoboam took council with the old men who had stood before Solomon his father, while he was yet alive, saying,
"How do you advise me to make reply to this people?"
7 Accordingly they spoke to him, saying,
"If you will be kind to this people and please and speak kind words to them then they will be your servants for all time."
8 But he rejected the counsel of the old men which they had given him, and took counsel with the young men, who had grown up with 9 him and who accompanied him. So he said to them, "How do you advise that we make reply to this people, who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father laid upon us?'"
10 Thereupon the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying,
"Thus you shall say to the people who have spoken to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, now do you lighten our yoke.'

- Thus shall you say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's 11 loins. And now whereas my father loaded you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke. My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpion stings.' "
- 12 So when Jeroboam and all Israel came to Rehoboam on the third day as the king spoke, saying, "Come again to me the third day," 13 the king answered them harshly, for King Rehoboam rejected the 14 counsel of the elders. Therefore he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying,
 "My father made your yoke heavy, but I will make it heavier.
 My father chastised you with whips, but I with scorpion stings."
- 15 So the king did not listen to the people, for it was brought about of God, that the LORD might establish his word which he spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam, the son of Nebat.
- 16 Now when all Israel saw that the king had refused to listen to them, the people replied to the king, saying,
 "What portion have we in David?
 No part at all in Jesse's son!
 Every man to your homes, O Israel!
 See to your own house, now, O David!"
- 17 So all Israel departed to their homes. But as for the Israelites who 18 dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them. Moreover when King Rehoboam sent Hadoram who was in charge of the forced labor, the Israelites stoned him to death with stones; whereupon King Rehoboam hastily leaped into his chariot in order to make his 19 escape to Jerusalem. So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF REHOBOAM, 11:1-23

- 11 When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled the house of Judah and Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand picked warriors, 2 to fight against Israel to bring back the kingdom to Rehoboam. But the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, a man of God, saying,
 3 "Say to Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, king of Judah and to all 4 Israel in Judah and in Benjamin as follows, "Thus the LORD has said, "You shall not go up nor fight against your kinsmen. Return every man to his house, for this thing is from me." ' "
- So they listened to the words of the LORD and gave up the expedition against Jeroboam.
- 5 Accordingly Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for

⁶ defense in Judah. Thus he built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, Beth-zur, ⁷ Soco, Adullam, Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, ⁸ Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and Benjamin, for-⁹ tified cities. He also strengthened the fortresses and put commanders
¹⁰ in them and stores of provisions, oil and wine. Besides in each city ¹¹ he put shields and spears and thus he made them very strong indeed.
Thus he retained Judah and Benjamin.

¹² Moreover the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel resorted ¹³ to him from all their localities. For the Levites left their common lands and their possessions and went to Judah and to Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his descendants had barred them from acting as ¹⁴ priests to the LORD. But he appointed for himself priests for the high ¹⁵ places, for the satyrs, and for the calves which he had made. And after them there came from all the tribes of Israel those who had set their minds to seek the LORD, the God of Israel, to Jerusalem to sacri-¹⁶ fice to the LORD, the God of their fathers. So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, strong for three years, for they walked three years in the way of David and

¹⁷ Now Rehoboam took him as wife Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth, the son of David, and of Abihail, the daughter of Eliab, the son ¹⁸ of Jesse. Moreover she bore him sons: Jeush, Shemariah, and Zaham.
¹⁹ Then after her he married Maacah, the daughter of Absalom, and she ²⁰ bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. But Rehoboam loved Maacah, the daughter of Absalom, more than all his wives and his consorts (for he took eighteen wives and sixty consorts, and he be-²¹ came the father of twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters). Moreover Rehoboam appointed Abijah, the son of Maacah, at the head as the crown prince among his brothers, for his purpose was to make him ²² king. He also had the wisdom to distribute all his sons throughout all the districts of Judah and Benjamin, and to all the fortified cities, and gave them abundant provisions and sought for them a great number of ²³ wives.

THE INVASION OF JUDAH BY SHISHAK OF EGYPT, 12:1-16

¹ Now when the kingdom of Rehoboam was established and he was strong, he forsook the law of the LORD and all Israel with him.
² Thereupon, in the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak, king of Egypt, came up against Jerusalem because they had acted treacherously

3 toward the LORD, with twelve hundred chariots, and sixty thousand horsemen, and the people who came with him out of Egypt, men
4 without number: Lubians, Sukkiites, and Ethiopians. Moreover he took the fortified cities which belonged to Judah and came to Jerusalem.

5 Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the princes of Judah who were gathered together to Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them,

“Thus the LORD has said, ‘You have abandoned me, therefore I also have abandoned you to Shishak.’”

6 Then the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and said,

“The LORD is righteous.”

7 But when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying,

“They have humbled themselves. I will not destroy them, but I will give them some deliverance and my wrath shall not be poured out
8 upon Jerusalem by Shishak. Nevertheless they shall be his servants that they may know my service from the service of the kingdoms of the lands.”

9 So Shishak, king of Egypt, came up against Jerusalem and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king’s house, he took all away. He also took away the shields of gold which 10 Solomon had made. Then King Rehoboam made in their stead shields of bronze and put them in charge of the commanders of the 11 guard, who guarded the entrance of the king’s house. Thus as often as the king came to the house of the LORD, the guards came and took 12 them up and brought them back into the guardroom. But because he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, so as not to destroy him completely, and besides in Judah good conditions per-
13 sisted. So King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned, for he was forty-one years old when he became king and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD chose out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mother’s 14 name was Naamah the Ammonitess. But he did that which was evil, for he did not set his mind to seek the LORD.

15 Now the affairs of Rehoboam from first to last are they not written in the Records of Shemaiah the prophet, and Iddo the seer, according to genealogical enrollment? Also Rehoboam and Jeroboam were con-

¹⁶ stantly at war. Then Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David, and Abijah, his son, became king in his stead.

THE REIGN OF ABIJAH OF JUDAH, 13:1-22

⁴ Moreover Abijah drew up on Mount Zemaraim, which is in the hill country of Ephraim, and said,

⁵ "Hear me, O Jeroboam and all Israel: Ought you not to know that the LORD, the God of Israel, gave the kingdom over Israel to David ⁶ forever, even to him and his sons by a covenant of salt? Yet Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon, the son of David, rose up ⁷ and rebelled against his lord, and there were gathered together to him worthless men, base scoundrels, who strengthened themselves against Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was a youth and in- ⁸ experienced, and could not withstand them. And now you think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD under the sons of David; and you are a great multitude, and with you are the golden bulls which ⁹ Jeroboam made for you as gods. Have you not driven out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made you priests like the peoples of other lands? Whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams, even he may become a priest of ¹⁰ the no-gods. But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him; the sons of Aaron minister to the LORD as priests, and ¹¹ the Levites with their work; and they burn to the LORD every morning and every evening burnt-offerings and sweet incense, and bread is set in layers upon a clean table and the golden lampstand with its lamps to burn every evening, for we keep the charge of the LORD our ¹² God; but you have forsaken him. And see, God is with us at our head, and his priests with the trumpets of alarm to sound the alarm against you. O Israelites, do not fight against the LORD, the God of your fathers; for you will not succeed."

¹³ However, Jeroboam laid an ambush to come at their rear, so they ¹⁴ were before Judah and the ambush was behind them. Therefore when Judah faced them, behold the battle was in front and rear. Then they cried out to the LORD and the priests sounded with the trumpets, and the men of Judah gave a shout. And when the men of Judah shouted, God routed Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. And when the Israelites fled before Judah, God delivered them into their hand, so that Abijah and his people made a great slaughter among them, and the slain of Israel who fell were five hundred thousand picked men. Thus the Israelites were humbled at that time, and the Judeans prevailed, because they relied on the LORD, the God of their fathers. Moreover Abijah pursued after Jeroboam, and took certain cities from him, Bethel with its towns, Jesh-anah with its towns, and Ephron with its towns. Neither did Jeroboam recover strength again in the days of Abijah, but the LORD struck him down and he died.

But Abijah made himself strong and took for himself fourteen wives and became the father of twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. Now the rest of the records of Abijah, his ways and his words are written in the Midrash of the Prophet Iddo.

THE REIGN OF ASA OF JUDAH, 14:1—16:14

So Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and Asa his son became king in his stead. In his days the land was quiet for ten years. Moreover Asa did that which was right in the sight of the LORD his God, for he removed the foreign altars and the high places, and broke down the pillars and cut down the Asherahs. And he told Judah to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, and to obey the law and the commandment. He also removed out of all the cities of Judah the high places and the sun pillars; and the kingdom was quiet under him. Furthermore he built fortified cities in Judah, for the land was quiet, and he had no war in those years, for the LORD had granted him rest. For he said to Judah,

“Let us build these cities and surround them with walls and towers, gates and bars; while the land is yet at our disposal because we have sought the LORD our God; we have sought him, and he has given us rest on every side.”

So they built and prospered.

Now Asa had an army equipped with shields and spears: out of Judah three hundred thousand, and out of Benjamin, that carried shields and drew bows, two hundred and eighty thousand—all of them distinguished warriors. Now Zerah, the Ethiopian, came out against them with an army of a million men and three hundred chariots, and advanced to Mareshah. Then Asa went out to meet him, and they drew up the battle line in the valley of Zephathah at Mareshah. Asa also cried to the LORD his God and said, “O LORD there is none besides thee to help,

As between the mighty and him that is without strength.
Help us, O LORD our God;
For we rely on thee,
And in thy name we have come against this multitude.
O LORD thou art our God;
Let not man prevail against thee.”

Then the LORD routed the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, so that the Ethiopians fled. Thereupon Asa and the people who were with him pursued them to Gerar; so that there fell of the Ethiopians so many that there were none left alive, for they were shattered before the LORD and before his army. And they took a very large amount of booty. They also conquered all the cities in the neighborhood of Gerar, for a panic from the LORD was upon them, and they plundered all the cities, for there was rich plunder in them. In addition they captured the tents of cattle and drove away a very great number of sheep and camels; then they returned to Jerusalem.

At that time the spirit of God came upon Azariah, the son of Oded, so that he went out to meet Asa, and said to him,

“Listen to me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin. The LORD has been with you, because you have been true to him; and if you seek him, he will be found of you; but if you forsake him he will forsake you. Now for a long time Israel has been without the true God and without priestly instruction and without law; but when in their distress they turned to the LORD, the God of Israel, and sought after him, he was found of them. Now in those times there was no peace to him that went out or to him that came in, but great turmoils came upon all the inhabitants of the lands. And they were dashed in pieces, nation against nation, and city against city, for God discomfited them with all kinds of distress. But be strong and let not your hands slacken, for your work shall be rewarded.”

Now when Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he took courage and put away the abominations from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities which he had taken from Mount Ephraim, and he renewed the altar of the LORD that was before the porch of the LORD. Then he assembled all Judah and Benjamin together with those who sojourned with them out of Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon; for a very great number came over to him from Israel, when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10 So they assembled themselves at Jerusalem in the third month in the 11 fifteenth year of the reign of Asa; and they sacrificed to the LORD on that day, of the booty which they had brought, seven hundred cattle
12 and seven thousand sheep. Then they entered into a covenant to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, with all their mind and with full 13 determination, and that whoever would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, should be put to death, whether small or great, whether man 14 or woman. They also took oath to the LORD with a loud voice and 15 with shouting and the blasts of trumpets, and rams' horns. Thus all Judah rejoiced at the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and with all their will, so that he was found of them. And the LORD gave them rest on every side.

16 Moreover Maacah, the mother of Asa the king, he deposed from the position of queen-mother, because she had made an obscene object for an Asherah, and Asa cut down her obscene image and pulverized it
17 and buried it in the valley of the Kidron. But the high places were not taken away from Israel; however Asa's heart was perfect all his 18 days. Moreover he brought into the house of God the dedicated things of his father and his own dedicated things, silver and gold and 19 utensils. And there was no more war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

16 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign, Baasha, king of Israel, came up against Judah and fortified Ramah, to prevent anyone from going
2 out or coming in to Asa king of Judah. Then Asa brought out silver and gold from the treasures of the house of the LORD and the king's house and sent them to Ben-hadad, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying,

3 "Make an alliance between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. See, I have sent you silver and gold; come, break your alliance with Baasha, king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me."

4 Accordingly Ben-hadad listened to King Asa, and sent the commanders of his forces against the cities of Israel, and they conquered Ijon, Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the places of stores in the cities
5 of Naphtali. Now when Baasha heard the news he abandoned his 6 building operations at Ramah, and brought his work to an end. Then Asa the king took all Judah and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber with which Baasha had built, and with them he fortified Geba and Mizpeh.

7 At that time Hanani the seer came to Asa, king of Judah, and said to him,

“Because you have relied on the king of Syria, and have not relied on the LORD your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has 8 escaped out of your hand. Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubians a vast army with an enormous number of chariots and horsemen? Yet because you relied on the LORD he delivered them into your hand.
9 For the eyes of the LORD are directed swiftly to and fro throughout the whole earth in order to exert his strength in behalf of those who are devoted to him. You have acted foolishly concerning this matter, for from now on you shall have wars.”

10 Then Asa was vexed at the seer and put him in the house of the stocks, for he was in a rage with him because of this thing. Asa also tortured some of the people at the same time.

11 Now the records of Asa from first to last behold they are written 12 in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. Moreover in the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa became diseased in his feet; the disease was exceedingly painful, nevertheless in his disease he did not 13 seek the LORD, but the physicians. Then Asa slept with his fathers, 14 having died in the forty-first year of his reign. And they buried him in his own tomb which he had cut out for himself in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which had been filled with all kinds of spices, skilfully mixed; and they burned for him a very great funeral pyre.

THE PROSPERITY OF JEHOSEPHAT, 17:1-19

17 Now Jehoshaphat his son became king in his stead and strengthened
2 himself against Israel. And he placed troops in all the fortified cities of Judah and put garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of 3 Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken. Moreover the LORD was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in the earlier ways of David his 4 ancestor and did not seek after the Baals, but sought the God of his ancestor, and walked in his commandments, and not according to the 5 works of Israel. Therefore the LORD established the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah brought gifts to Jehoshaphat so that he had abun-
6 dant wealth and honor. Then his heart was exalted in the ways of the LORD, and again he put away the high places and the Asherahs out of Judah.

7 Also in the third year of his reign, he sent his princes Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah to teach in the cities of 8 Judah; and with them the Levites, Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah, the Levites; together with Elishama and Jehoram, the 9 priests. Thus they taught in Judah, having with them the book of the law of the LORD; and they went about throughout all the cities of Judah and taught among the people.

10 Now the terror of the LORD was on all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, so that they did not make war on Je-11 hoshaphat. Also some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat tribute, even a mass of silver; likewise the Arabs brought him flocks: seven thousand seven hundred rams, and seven thousand seven hundred he-12 goats. Thus Jehoshaphat kept on becoming more and more powerful,
 13 so that he built in Judah castles and store-cities. Moreover he had a large amount of stores in the cities of Judah, and soldiers, distin-
 14 guished warriors, in Jerusalem. This was their roster according to their families: of Judah, the commanders of thousands, Adnah the commander, and with him three hundred thousand distinguished war-
 15 riors; and next to him Jehohanan the commander, and with him two 16 hundred and eighty thousand; and next to him Amasiah, the son of Zichri, who had volunteered for the service of the LORD, and with 17 him two hundred thousand distinguished warriors. Also of Benjamin: Eliada a distinguished warrior, and with him two hundred 18 thousand furnished with bow and shield, and next to him Jehozabad, 19 and with him a hundred and eighty thousand, equipped for war. These were those who served the king, besides those whom the king placed in the fortified cities throughout Judah.

THE CAMPAIGN OF JEHOSHAPHAT AND AHAB AGAINST RAMOTH-GILEAD, 18:1-34

18 Now when Jehoshaphat had attained very great riches and honor,
 2 he made a marriage alliance with Ahab. And after some years he went down to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab killed a great number of sheep and cattle for him and those who accompanied him, and he
 3 induced him to go up with him to Ramoth-gilead. Accordingly Ahab, king of Israel, said to Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, "Will you go with me to Ramoth-gilead?"
 And he said to him,

- "I am as you are and my people as your people; I will join you in the war."
- 4 Then Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel,
"Seek now at once the word of the LORD."
- 5 Thereupon the king of Israel assembled the prophets, four hundred men, and said to them,
"Shall I go to Ramoth-gilead to battle or shall I forbear?"
And they said,
"Go up; for God will deliver it into the hand of the king."
- 6 Then Jehoshaphat said,
"Is there not here a prophet of the LORD besides, that we may inquire of him?"
- 7 Thereupon the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat,
"There is yet one man through whom we might inquire of the LORD, but I hate him for he never prophesies good concerning me, but always evil: that is Micaiah, the son of Imla."
But Jehoshaphat said,
"Let not the king say so."
- 8 So the king of Israel called one of the eunuchs and said,
"Bring quickly Micaiah, the son of Imla."
- 9 Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, were sitting each on his throne arrayed in robes of state, and they were sitting at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were engaged in ecstatic prophecy before them. Then Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, made for himself horns of iron and he said,
"Thus the LORD has said, 'With these you shall thrust at Syria until they are destroyed.'"
- 10 So all the prophets prophesied, saying,
"Go up to Ramoth-gilead and prosper, for the LORD will deliver it into the hand of the king."
- 11 Accordingly the messenger who went to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying,
"Behold the prophets with one accord have spoken good to the king. Now, I pray you, let your message be as one of them and speak good."
- 12 But Micaiah said,
"As the LORD lives, what my God says that will I speak."
- 13 Now when he brought him to the king, the king said to him,
"Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle or shall I forbear?"

And he said,

“Go up and prosper for the LORD will give it into your hand.”

15 Then the king said to him,

“How many times must I adjure you that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?”

16 Then he said,

“I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd; and the LORD said, ‘These have no master; let them return each to his house in peace.’”

17 Thereupon the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat,

“Did I not say to you that he would not prophesy good concerning me but only evil?”

“Therefore, hear the word of the LORD. I saw the LORD sitting upon his throne and all the army of the heavens was standing on his right hand and on his left. And the LORD said, ‘Who will entice Ahab, king of Israel, so that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?’

20 Then one said one thing and another another, until a spirit came forth and stood before the LORD and said, ‘I will entice him,’ and the LORD

21 said to him, ‘Wherewith?’ And he said, ‘I will go forth and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ Now therefore behold the

22 LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of these your prophets, for the LORD has spoken evil concerning you.”

23 Then Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, approached and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said,

“In which direction did the spirit of the LORD proceed from me to speak to you?”

24 And Micaiah said,

“Behold, you will see on the day when you go to hide yourself in an inner chamber.”

25 Then the king of Israel said,

“Seize Micaiah and take him back to Amon, the governor of the city, and to Joash, the king’s son; and say, ‘Thus the king has said, ‘Put this fellow in the prison and feed him on bread and water scantily until I return victorious.’”

27 But Micaiah said,

“If you do indeed return victorious, the LORD has not spoken by me.”

And he added,

“Give ear all of you peoples.”

28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, went up 29 to Ramoth-gilead. Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will disguise myself and go into the battle, but do you put on your own robes.”

So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into the battle.
30 Now the king of Syria had charged the commanders of his chariots,
saying,

“Fight neither with small nor great, except only with the king of Israel.”

31 Therefore when the commanders of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat,
they said,

“It is the king of Israel.”

And they surrounded him to fight against him. But Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him, in that God diverted them from 32 him. For when the commanders of the chariots saw that it was not 33 the king of Israel, they turned from pursuing him. But a certain man drew his bow at a venture and shot the king of Israel between the jointed pieces and the breastplate; then he said to the charioteer, “Wheel about and take me out of the army for I am badly wounded.”

34 However, as the battle grew fiercer that day, the king of Israel held himself upright in his chariot facing Syria until evening; but about sunset he died.

JEHOSHAPHAT'S PIETY AND ITS VINDICATION, 19:1—21:1

19 Then Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, returned to his house in Jerusa-2 lem in peace. Moreover Jehu, the son of Hanani, the seer, went out to meet him and said to King Jehoshaphat,

“Should you help the wicked, and love those who hate the LORD?

3 For this reason wrath has come upon you from the LORD. Nevertheless there is still some good in you, in that you have put away the Ash-erahs from the land and have made up your mind to seek God.”

4 Now Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem and again he went forth among the people from Beersheba to Mount Ephraim and brought 5 them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers. He also appointed judges in the land in all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city.
6 Moreover he said to the judges,

“Consider what you do, for you do not judge for man but for the 7 LORD, who is with you in the pronouncing of judgment. Now therefore let the fear of the LORD be upon you; take heed and act, for there is no injustice in the LORD our God, nor respect of persons, nor taking of bribes."

8 Moreover Jehoshaphat established in Jerusalem some of the Levites, and the priests, and the heads of families of Israel for the judgment of the LORD, and for civil disputes. And they returned to Jerusalem. He also commanded them, saying,

10 "Thus you shall act in the fear of the LORD, in faithfulness and with singleness of mind. And every case which comes to you from your kinsmen who dwell in their cities, between law and commandment, statutes and ordinances, you shall warn them that they be not guilty towards the LORD, and so wrath come upon you and upon your kinsmen; thus do and you shall not be guilty. And behold, Amariah the priest is the authority over you in every matter of the LORD, and Zebadiah, the son of Ishmael, is the prince of the house of Judah in all the king's matters; the Levites are notaries before you. Be strong and act, and the LORD be with the upright."

20 Now afterwards when the Moabites and the Ammonites and some of the Meunites came against Jehoshaphat to battle, some came and told Jehoshaphat, saying,

"A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea from Edom; and behold they are in Hazazon-tamar (that is Engedi)."

3 Then Jehoshaphat feared and set himself to seek the LORD and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. Accordingly Judah assembled to seek the LORD, even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5 Thereupon Jehoshaphat stood up in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem in the house of the LORD, before the new court, and said,

7 "O LORD, the God of our fathers, art thou not God in the heavens? and thou art ruler over all the kingdoms of the nations, and in thy hand is power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee. Didst not thou, O our God, dispossess the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and give it to the descendants of Abraham thy friend forever? So they have dwelt therein and built for thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying, 'If evil shall come upon us, the sword in judgment, pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house and before thee (for thy name is in this house), and cry out to thee in our affliction, and thou wilt hear and save.' And now, behold, the Ammonites, the Moabites, and the people of Mount Seir, whom thou wouldst not let Israel invade when they came out of the land of Egypt, for they turned aside from them and did not destroy them; ¹¹ see now, how they reward us, by coming to drive us out of thy possessions, which thou hast caused us to possess. O our God, wilt thou not judge them? For we have no strength before this vast multitude that is coming against us, nor do we know what to do, but our eyes are upon thee!"

¹³ Meanwhile all Judah stood before the LORD with their infants, their wives, and their children.

¹⁴ Then upon Jahaziel, the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, the Levite of the descendants of ¹⁵ Asaph, came the spirit of the LORD in the midst of the assembly, and he said,

"Give attention, all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and you King Jehoshaphat; 'Thus the LORD has said to you, "Fear not, nor be dismayed before this vast multitude; for the battle is not ¹⁶ yours, but God's. Tomorrow go down against them. See, they are coming up by the ascent; and you shall find them at the end of the ¹⁷ valley before the desert of Jeruel. It is not for you to fight in this battle; take up your position, stand still and see the deliverance of the LORD, who is on your side, O Judah and Jerusalem. Fear not neither be dismayed; tomorrow go forth against them, for the LORD is with you." ' ' "

¹⁸ Then Jehoshaphat bowed his face to the earth, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before the LORD to worship ¹⁹ the LORD. Thereupon the Levites, of the descendants of the Kohathites, and of the descendants of the Korahites, stood up to praise the LORD, the God of Israel, with an exceedingly loud voice.

²⁰ So they rose up early the next morning and went forth to the desert of Tekoa. And as they went forth, Jehoshaphat halted and said,

"Hear me, O Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, believe in the LORD your God, so shall you be established. Believe in his prophets, and so shall you prosper."

²¹ And when he had taken counsel with the people, he appointed singers to praise the LORD in holy array, as they went before the troops, and say,

"Give thanks to the LORD; for his grace is everlasting."

²² Now when they began to sing and praise, the LORD set an ambush against the Ammonites, Moabites, and the people of Mount Seir, who ²³ had come against Judah, so that they destroyed themselves. For the Ammonites and Moabites took up a position against the inhabitants of Mount Seir to wipe out and completely destroy them. And when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, each helped to destroy his neighbor.

24 And when Judah came to the Watch Tower of the Desert and looked for the multitude, there were only dead bodies fallen to the 25 earth, and none had escaped. Accordingly when Jehoshaphat and his people came to carry off the spoil they found a very large number of cattle, goods, garments, and precious jewels, which they stripped off for themselves, more than they could carry; and they were three days taking away the spoil, it was so much.

26 At length on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the Valley of Beracah for there they blessed the LORD; therefore the name 27 of that place has been called the Valley of Beracah to this day. Then all the men of Judah and Jerusalem, with Jehoshaphat at their head, returned to re-enter Jerusalem with joy, for the LORD had made them
28 rejoice over their enemies. So they came to Jerusalem with harps, 29 lyres, and trumpets, to the house of the LORD. Moreover a terror from God came upon all the kingdoms of the countries, when they 30 heard that the LORD fought against the enemies of Israel. So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet, for his God gave him rest on all sides.

31 Now Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi. He also walked in the way of his father Asa, and did not turn from it,
32 doing that which was right in the sight of the LORD. However, the high places were not removed nor had the people as yet directed their 33 hearts to the God of their fathers. Now the rest of the records of Jehoshaphat from first to last, behold, they are written in the Records of Jehu, the son of Hanani, which are inserted in the Book of the Kings of Israel.

35 Now later Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, allied himself with Ahazi-36 ah, king of Israel, who did very wickedly. For he united with him to make ships to go to Tarshish, and they made the ships in Eziongeber.
37 But Eliezer, the son of Dodavahu of Maresah, prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying,

"Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD will surely break up your enterprise."

Accordingly the ships were wrecked so that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

21 Then Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and he was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Jehoram his son became king in his stead.

THE MISFORTUNES OF JEHORAM, 21:2-20

2 Now Jehoram had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Michael, and Shephatiah; all these were sons of 3 Jehoshaphat, king of Israel. Moreover their father gave them rich gifts of silver, of gold and of precious things, with fortified cities in Judah, but the kingdom he gave to Jehoram, because he was the 4 first-born. Now when Jehoram had become established over the kingdom of his father, and had made himself strong, he put all his brothers to the sword together with certain of the nobles of Israel.
5 Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he
6 reigned eight years in Jerusalem. He also walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for his wife was Ahab's daughter, accordingly he did that which was evil in the sight
7 of the LORD. However the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he made with David, and as he had said he would give a lamp to him and to his sons for all time.

8 In his days Edom revolted from the rule of Judah, and set up a 9 king of its own. Then Jehoram passed over with his commanders, and all his chariots with him. And he rose up by night and defeated the Edomites that surrounded him, and the commanders of the 10 chariots. So Edom has been in revolt from the rule of Judah to this day. Then Libnah revolted at the same time from his rule, because he had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers.

11 He also made high places in the mountains of Judah, and led the inhabitants of Jerusalem into unfaithfulness to the LORD, and led Judah astray. Then there came to him a writing from Elijah the prophet, saying,

“Thus the LORD, the God of David your ancestor, has said, ‘Because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father, 13 nor in the ways of Asa, king of Judah, but have walked in the way of the kings of Israel and have led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to practice unfaithfulness, as did the house of Ahab, and also have slain your brothers of your father's house who were better than your-14 self, now the LORD will strike down with a great plague your people, 15 your children, your wives, and all your property; and you yourself shall suffer severely from a disease of your bowels, until your bowels shall waste away from day to day because of the disease.' ”

16 Then the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philis-17 tines and the Arabs, who live beside the Ethiopians, so they came up against Judah, and invaded it, and carried away all the possessions that were found in the house of the king, together with his sons and his wives, so that no son was left to him, except Jehoahaz his young-18 est. Then after all this the LORD afflicted him with an incurable 19 disease of the bowels, so that gradually as time went on, at the end of a period of two years, his bowels had wasted away because of his disease and he died in great pain. And the people made for him no such 20 funeral pyre to compare with the pyre of his fathers. He was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he departed without being lamented and they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchre of the kings.

AHAZIAH AND ATHALIAH, 22:1-12

22 Then the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his stead; for the marauding band that came with the Ara-bians to the camp had slain all the older sons. So Ahaziah, the son of 12 Jehoram, became king of Judah. Forty-two years old was Ahaziah when he became king and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his 13 mother's name was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri. He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counsellor 14 in doing wickedness. Moreover he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD as did the house of Ahab, for they were his coun-15 sellors, after the death of his father, to his destruction. He also followed their counsel and went with Jehoram, the son of Ahab, king of Israel, to make war on Hazael, king of Syria, at Ramoth-gilead.
 16 And the Arameans wounded Joram. Accordingly he returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which they had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael, king of Syria. And Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram, the son of 7 Ahab, in Jezreel, because he was sick. Now the destruction of Ahazi-ah was of God, in that he went to Joram, and after his arrival he went out with Jehoram to meet Jehu, the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD 8 had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab. Now when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he found the princes of Judah and the sons of the kinsmen of Ahaziah ministering to Ahaziah and 9 slew them. Then he sought Ahaziah. And they caught him, while he was hiding himself in Samaria, and they brought him to Jehu and slew him and buried him; for they said,

“He was the son of Jehoshaphat who sought the LORD with all his heart.”

And the house of Ahaziah had no one who had sufficient strength to rule.

- 10 Now when Athaliah, the mother of Ahaziah, saw that her son was dead she arose and drove out all the royal family of the house of 11 Judah. But Jehoshabeath, the daughter of the king, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the sons of the king who were about to be slain, and put him and his nurse in a bedchamber. Thus Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah), hid him from 12 Athaliah, so that she did not slay him. Accordingly he was with them in the house of God six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

JEHOIADA'S REVOLT AGAINST ATHALIAH, 23:1-21

- 23 But in the seventh year, when Jehoiada felt himself strong enough, he took the commanders of hundreds, Azariah, the son of Jeroham, Ishmael, the son of Jehohanan, Azariah, the son of Obed, Maaseiah,
2 the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat, the son of Zichri. And they went about Judah, and assembled the Levites from all the cities of Judah,
3 and the heads of the Israelite families, and came to Jerusalem. Then all the assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he said to them,

“Behold, the king's son shall reign, as the LORD spoke concerning
4 the sons of David. This is the thing that you shall do: a third of you, the priests and Levites, who come in on the sabbath shall be keepers
5 of the thresholds; and a third shall be in the king's house, and a third at the Gate Jesod; and all the people shall be in the courts of the house
6 of the LORD. But let none enter the house of the LORD except the priests and the ministering Levites; they shall enter for they are holy;
7 but all the people shall keep the charge of the LORD. Moreover the Levites shall surround the king, each with his weapons in his hands; and whoever enters the house let him be slain. Thus they shall be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out.”

- 8 So the Levites and all Judah did exactly as Jehoiada the priest commanded; each brought his men, both those who were to enter on the sabbath, and those who were to go out on the sabbath; for Jehoiada 9 the priest did not dismiss the divisions. Then Jehoiada the priest delivered to the commanders of hundreds the spears, bucklers and shields 10 that had belonged to King David, which were in the house of God.

Moreover he stationed all the people, each with his weapon in his hand from the right side of the house to the left side of the house, by the 11 altar and by the house around the king. Then they brought out the king's son and put the crown and the testimony upon him and declared him king, and Jehoiada and his sons anointed him and said,

"Long live the king!"

12 But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and prais-13 ing the king, she came to the people to the house of the LORD. Accordingly when she looked, there was the king standing by his column at the entrance, and the commanders and the trumpeters beside the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, and the singers with musical instruments, leading the praise, then she tore her garments and said,

"Treason! Treason!"

14 Then Jehoiada the priest brought out the commanders of hundreds who were over the army and said to them,

"Bring her out between the ranks; and whoever follows her let him be put to the sword."

For the priest had said,

"Do not slay her in the house of the LORD."

15 So they laid hands on her, and as she came to the entrance of the horse-gate to the king's house, they slew her there.

16 Then Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people 17 and the king, that they should be the LORD's people. Accordingly all the people went to the house of the Baal and destroyed it; and his altars and his images they completely shattered, and Mattan, the priest of the Baal, they slew before the altars.

18 Jehoiada also appointed watchmen of the house of the LORD under the authority of the priests and the Levites whom David had apportioned over the house of the LORD, to offer up the burnt-offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the law of Moses, with gladness and with 19 song, according to the direction of David. Moreover he stationed the gatekeepers over the gates of the house of the LORD, that no one who 20 was unclean in any respect should enter. Then he took the commanders of hundreds and the nobles and those who ruled the people and all the people of the land, and brought down the king from the house of the LORD. And when they had come through the upper gate to the house of the king, they placed the king upon the throne of the king-

21 dom. Then all the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet. Thus they put Athaliah to the sword.

JOASH GUIDED ARIGHT BY JEHOIADA, 24:1-16

24 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zibiah, of Beersheba. Moreover Joash did that which was right in the sight of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada the priest. Jehoiada took for himself two wives, and he became the father of sons and daughters.

4 Now after this it occurred to Joash to restore the house of the LORD. Accordingly he assembled the priests and the Levites, and said to them,

“Go out to the cities of Judah and collect of all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year; but do you hasten the matter.”

6 However, the Levites did not hasten. Then the king summoned Jehoiada the chief and said to him,

“Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and Jerusalem the tax of Moses the servant of the LORD, and of the assembly of Israel for the tent of the testimony?”

7 For the wicked Athaliah and her sons had wrought havoc in the house of God, and had made use of all the consecrated things of the house of the LORD for the Baals. So the king gave command and they made a chest and set it outside at the gate of the house of the LORD. Then they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem that they should bring in for the LORD the tax that Moses the servant of God laid upon Israel in the desert. Accordingly all the princes and all the people were glad and brought in and cast into the chest until it was full. Moreover at whatever time the chest was brought to the appointed officials of the king by the Levites and they saw there was much money, the king's scribe came and the deputy of the chief priest and emptied the chest and took it up and returned it to its place. Thus they did day by day and took in a very large amount of money. Then the king and Jehoiada gave it to those who carried out the work of construction on the house of the LORD, and they hired masons and carpenters to restore the house of the LORD and also workers in iron and bronze to repair the house of the LORD. So the workmen toiled and thus the work of restoration went forward in their hands. And they set up the house of God according to its design, and strengthened it. Then when they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, who used it to make utensils for the house of the LORD, even vessels for the service and for making the offering, and spoons and vessels of gold and silver. So they offered burnt-offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

- 15 But when Jehoiada became old after a long life, he died. A hundred and thirty years old was he when he died. And they buried him in the city of David with the kings, because he had done good to Israel and toward God and his house.

THE WICKEDNESS OF JOASH, 24:17-27

- 17 But after the death of Jehoiada, the princes of Judah came in and 18 did obeisance to the king, and the king listened to them. Then they forsook the house of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and served the Asherahs and the idols, and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this their guilt. Yet he sent prophets to them to bring them back to the LORD, who testified against them; but they would not give ear.

- 20 Then the spirit of God took possession of Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, so that he stood above the people and said to them, "Thus God has said, 'Why have you transgressed the commandments of the LORD, so that you cannot prosper? Because you have forsaken the LORD, he has also forsaken you.'"

- 21 But they conspired against him, and at the command of the king 22 they stoned him to death in the court of the house of the LORD. Thus Joash the king did not remember the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done him, but slew his son! And when he died, he said, "May the LORD see and punish!"

- 23 It was a year later that the army of the Arameans came up against him and penetrated Judah and Jerusalem and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and all their spoil they sent to 24 the king of Damascus. For with few men the army of the Arameans came, but the Lord delivered a very great army into their hands, because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers, so they 25 executed judgment upon Joash. Accordingly when they departed from him—for they left him in very great suffering—his own servants conspired against him, because of the murder of the son of Jehoiada the priest and slew him on his bed. Thus he died, and they buried him in the city of David, but they did not bury him in the sep-

- ²⁶ ulchres of the kings. These were the conspirators, Zabad, the son of Shimeath, the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad, the son of Shimrith, the ²⁷ Moabitess. Now about his sons and the many prophetic utterances against him, and the rebuilding of the house of God, behold, it is written in the midrash of the Book of Kings. And Amaziah, his son, became king in his stead.

AMAZIAH'S MISDEEDS, 25:1-28

- ²⁵ Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was ² Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. Moreover he did that which was right in ³ the sight of the LORD, yet not with a perfect heart. Now when the kingdom was firmly in his grasp, he slew his servants who had murdered the king his father. However, he did not kill their children, but did as it is written in the law of the book of Moses, which the LORD commanded, saying,

“The fathers shall not die for the sons, and the sons shall not die for the fathers, but each man shall die for his own sin.”

- ⁵ Moreover Amaziah assembled Judah, and appointed them according to their families under commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, even all Judah and Benjamin, and numbered them from twenty years old and upward, and found them to be three hundred thousand picked men fit for the army, able to handle spear and ⁶ shield. He also hired a hundred thousand seasoned warriors from ⁷ Israel for one hundred talents of silver. But a man of God came to him, saying,

- “O king, let not the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is ⁸ not with Israel, even all the Ephraimites. But go by yourself, take the initiative, be courageous for battle, for God will not allow you to fall before the enemy, for God has power to help and to cast down.”

- ⁹ Then Amaziah said to the man of God,

“But what shall I do about the hundred talents I have given to the armed band of Israel?”

And the man of God said,

“The LORD is able to give you much more than this.”

- ¹⁰ Then Amaziah separated them, namely, the armed band that came to him out of Ephraim, that they might return home. But their anger burned fiercely against Judah, and they returned home in hot anger, ¹¹ Amaziah, however, strengthened himself and led forth his people to the Valley of Salt and slew ten thousand of the men of Seir.

- 12 And ten thousand did the Judeans carry away alive and they brought them to the top of a crag, and cast them down from the top 13 of the crag, so that all of them were dashed to pieces. But the men of the band whom Amaziah had sent back without allowing them to go with him to battle fell upon the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth-horon, and slew of them three thousand and took a large amount of spoil.
- 14 Now after Amaziah returned from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the people of Seir and set them up to be his gods, and bowed himself down to them and sacrificed to them.
15 Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against Amaziah and he sent to him a prophet, who said to him, “Why have you sought after the gods of the people who have not delivered their own people out of your hand?”
- 16 Now as he spoke to him, he said to him,
“Have we made you the king’s counsellor? Desist; why should they strike you down?”
- Then the prophet desisted and said,
“I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not hearkened to my counsel.”
- 17 Then Amaziah, king of Judah, took advice and sent to Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, the king of Israel, saying, “Come, let us face one another.”
- 18 But Joash, king of Israel, sent to Amaziah, king of Judah, saying,
“The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, ‘Give your daughter to my son as wife,’ but a wild 19 beast of Lebanon passed by and trod down the thistle. You say to yourself, you have indeed conquered Edom; and now your heart has stirred you up to seek for renown. Remain at home; why should you court disaster, so that you will fall and Judah with you?”
- 20 But Amaziah would not hear, for it was of God in order to deliver them into the hand of the enemy, because they had sought after the 21 gods of Edom. Then Joash, king of Israel, went up and they faced 22 each other at Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah. And Judah was 23 defeated before Israel and they fled each to his home. Joash, king of Israel, also took Amaziah, king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem; and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner 24 Gate—four hundred cubits. Moreover he took all the gold and silver and all the utensils that were found in the house of God with Obed-edom, together with the treasures of the king's house and the hostages, and returned to Samaria.

- ²⁵ Amaziah, the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived after the death of ²⁶ Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, fifteen years. Now the rest of the records of Amaziah from first to last are they not indeed
²⁷ written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel? Also from the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish; but ²⁸ they sent after him to Lachish and slew him there. Thereupon they brought his body upon horseback and buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

UZZIAH'S VICTORIES, 26:1-15

- ²⁶ Then all the people of Judah took Uzziah who was sixteen years
² old and made him king in the place of his father Amaziah. He built Eloth and restored it to Judah after the king slept with his fa-
³ thers. Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem; and the name of his mother
⁴ was Jechiliah of Jerusalem. He also did that which was right in the sight of the LORD according to all that Amaziah his father did.
⁵ Moreover he proceeded to seek God in the days of Zechariah who instructed him in the fear of God. And in the days that he sought the LORD, God prospered him.
⁶ Moreover he went out and fought against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Gath and the wall of Jabneh and the wall of Ash-
⁷ dod and built cities among the Philistines. For God helped him against the Philistines and against the Arabs who dwelt in Gur-
⁸ baal, and the Meunites. The Ammonites also gave tribute to Uzziah; and his fame extended even to the entrance to Egypt; for he became increasingly strong.
⁹ Moreover Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Corner Gate and at the Valley Gate and at the angles of the wall and fortified
¹⁰ them. He also built towers in the desert and hewed out many cisterns; for he had large herds, both in the lowland and in the plain, and he had farmers and vinedressers in the hills and in the fruitful fields, for he was a lover of the soil.
¹¹ Furthermore Uzziah had a force of fighting men trained in the army by detachments according to the number of their reckoning made by Jciel the scribe and Maaseiah the notary, under the direction of ¹² Hananiah, one of the king's commanders. The entire number of heads

13 of families, seasoned warriors, was two thousand six hundred, and under their command was a powerful army of three hundred and seven thousand five hundred fighting men of great strength, to help the 14 king against the enemy. Moreover Uzziah equipped them, even the entire army, with shields, spears, helmets, coats of mail, and bows, 15 with stones for slinging. Also he made in Jerusalem machines skillfully devised, which were placed upon the towers and on the corners, with which to shoot arrows and great stones. And his fame spread far and wide, for he was marvellously helped until he became strong.

UZZIAH'S SIN, 26:16-23

16 But as soon as he was strong he became so puffed up that it ruined him. And he trespassed against the LORD his God, for he went into 17 the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. Then Azariah the priest went in after him with eighty priests of the LORD, 18 men of courage, who opposed Uzziah the king and said to him,

“It is not for you Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who have been consecrated to burn incense. Withdraw from the sanctuary, for you have trespassed and that shall not be to your honor before the LORD God.”

19 Then Uzziah was enraged and he had a censer in his hand to burn incense. And while he was enraged with the priests, the leprosy broke out on his forehead before the priests in the house of the LORD beside 20 the altar of incense. Accordingly as Azariah the high priest together with all the priests faced him, behold he was leprous on his forehead. So they hurried him from thence, as he also made haste to go out, be-21 cause the LORD had smitten him. Moreover Uzziah the king was a leper to the day of his death and dwelt in a house apart, being a leper, for he was cut off from the house of the LORD, while Jotham his son took charge of the king's household, ruling the people of the land.
 22 Now the rest of the records of Uzziah, from first to last, Isaiah the 23 prophet, the son of Amoz, has written. So Uzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the cemetery which belonged to the kings, for they said, “He is a leper.”

And Jotham his son became king in his stead.

THE REIGN OF JOTHAM, 27:1-9

27 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Jerushah, the daughter of Zadok. He did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Uzziah his father had done; however, he did not enter into the temple of the LORD. And the 3 people were still perverse. He built the Upper Gate of the house of 4 the LORD, also on the wall of Ophel he built extensively. Moreover he built cities in the hill country of Judah, and in the forests he built 5 castles and towers. He fought also with the king of the Ammonites and conquered them. And the Ammonites gave him that year a hundred talents of silver and ten thousand measures of wheat and ten thousand measures of barley. The Ammonites rendered to him the 6 same amount the second year and the third year. So Jotham became powerful because he established his ways in the sight of the LORD his 7 God. Now the rest of the records of Jotham and all his wars and his doings, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel 8 and Judah. He was twenty-five years old when he became king and 9 he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. So Jotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and Ahaz his son became king in his stead.

THE REIGN OF AHAZ, 28:1-27

- 28 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. However, he did not do that which was 2 right in the sight of the LORD, like David his ancestor; but he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and also made metal images for the 3 Baals. Moreover he burned incense in the valley of the son of Hinnom, and burnt his sons in the fire according to the abominable practices of the nations whom the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites. 4 He sacrificed and burnt incense on the high places and on the hill-tops and under every spreading tree.
- 5 Therefore the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria, and he defeated him and carried away a great multitude of his people as captives, and brought them to Damascus. He was also delivered into the hands of the king of Israel, who defeated him 6 with great slaughter. For Pekah, the son of Remaliah, slew in Judah a hundred and twenty thousand in one day, all of them valiant men, 7 because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. Moreover Zichri, an Ephraimite hero, slew Maasciah, the king's son, and Azrikam, the commander of the palace, and Elkanah, who was next to the king.
- 8 Now the Israelites carried away captive of their kinsmen two hundred thousand, women, sons, and daughters; they also took from them an immense amount of spoil, and brought the spoil to Samaria.

9 But a prophet of the LORD was there, Obed by name. And he went out to meet the army that was coming to Samaria, and he said to them,

“See, because of the wrath of the LORD, the God of your fathers, against Judah, he has delivered them into your hand. But you have 10 slain them with a fury that has reached up to the heavens. And now you think to subdue the Judeans and Jerusalem to be your bondmen and bondwomen; but are not you yourselves guilty of crimes against 11 the LORD your God? Now therefore, listen to me and restore the captives whom you have taken of your kinsmen, for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you.”

12 Then some of the chiefs of the Ephraimites, Azariah, the son of Johanan, Berechiah, the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah, the son of Shallum, Amasa, the son of Hadlai, stood up to oppose those who came 13 from the war. Moreover they said to them,

“You shall not bring the captives hither, for what you purpose will bring upon us guilt against the LORD, to add to our sins and our guilt, for our guilt is very great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel.”

14 So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the princes 15 and the whole assembly. Then the men already mentioned by name arose and took the captives and clothed all the naked from the spoil, and having clothed them, provided them with sandals, gave them to eat and drink, anointed them, and carried all of them who were feeble on asses, and brought them to Jericho, the city of palm trees, to their kinsmen, and returned to Samaria.

16 At that time King Ahaz sent for the king of Assyria to help him.
17 For the Edomites had come again and attacked Judah and carried 18 away captives. The Philistines also had raided the cities of the lowland and the South of Judah and had captured Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Soco with its towns, Timnah with its towns, and 19 Gimzo with its towns, and were living there. For the LORD brought Judah low because of Ahaz, king of Israel, because he had acted wantonly with Judah and had behaved very treacherously toward the 20 LORD. Moreover Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria, came to him, but 21 he proved a burden to him instead of giving him strength. For Ahaz plundered the house of the LORD and the house of the king and of the princes and gave it to the king of Assyria, but it failed to help him.
22 And in the time of his distress he acted still more treacherously against

23 the LORD—this same King Ahaz. For he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus who overcame him and he said,

“Because the gods of the kings of Syria helped them, therefore, I will sacrifice to them, that they may help me.”

24 But they were the ruin of him and of all Israel. Moreover Ahaz gathered up all the utensils of the house of God and cut them in pieces and closed the doors of the house of the LORD and made him altars in 25 every corner of Jerusalem. And in every city of Judah he made high places to burn incense to other gods and provoked the anger of the 26 LORD, the God of their fathers. Now the rest of his records, and all his doings from first to last, behold, they are written in the Book of 27 the Kings of Judah and Israel. So Ahaz slept with his fathers and they buried him in the city, even in Jerusalem, for they did not bring him to the sepulchres of the kings of Israel. And Hezekiah, his son, became king in his stead.

HEZEKIAH'S CLEANSING OF THE TEMPLE, 29:1-36

29 Hezekiah became king at twenty-five years of age and reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Abijah, 2 the daughter of Zechariah. He did that which was right in the sight 3 of the LORD according to all that David his ancestor had done. In the first year of his reign in the first month, he opened the doors of the 4 house of the LORD and repaired them. He also brought in the priests and the Levites and gathered them together in the open space on the 5 east. Then he said to them,

“Listen to me, O Levites, sanctify yourselves and reconsecrate the house of the LORD, the God of your fathers, and carry out the filth 6 from the holy place. For our fathers acted treacherously and did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD our God, and forsook him and turned away their faces from the habitation of the LORD and turned 7 their backs. They have also closed the doors of the porch and put out the lamps, and have not burned incense nor offered burnt-offerings 8 in the sanctuary of the God of Israel. Therefore the wrath of the LORD was against Judah and Jerusalem, and he has delivered them to be an object of terror, astonishment and derision as you see with 9 your own eyes. For now our fathers have fallen by the sword, our 10 sons, our daughters, and our wives are in captivity for this. Now it is in my heart to make a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, 11 that his fierce anger may turn away from us. My sons, do not now be negligent, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before him to minister to him, and that you should be his ministers and burn incense."

- ¹² Then the Levites arose, Mahath, the son of Amasai, and Joel, the son of Azariah, of the sons of the Kohathites and of the Merarites, Kish, the son of Abdi, and Azariah, the son of Jehallelel, and of the ¹³ Gershonites Joah, the son of Zimmah, and Eden, the son of Joah; also of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeuel; and of the sons of Asaph, ¹⁴ Zechariah and Mattaniah; and of the sons of Heman, Jehuel and ¹⁵ Shimei; and of the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel. Then they assembled their kinsmen and sanctified themselves and went in according to the command of the king by the words of the LORD to ¹⁶ cleanse the house of the LORD. The priests also went into the inner court of the house of the LORD to cleanse it and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the LORD into the court of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took it to carry it ¹⁷ outside to the Brook Kidron. Now they began on the first day of the first month the work of sanctifying and on the eighth day of the month they came to the porch of the LORD, and they sanctified the house of the LORD in eight days; and on the sixteenth day of the first month ¹⁸ they completed the work. Then they came to Hezekiah, the king, within the palace and said,

"We have cleansed the entire house of the LORD, and the altar of burnt-offering with all its utensils, and the table for that which is ¹⁹ arranged in layers with all its utensils. Moreover all the utensils, which King Ahaz in his reign had cast aside when he acted faithlessly, we have restored and sanctified, and they are now before the altar of the LORD."

- ²⁰ Thereupon Hezekiah the king rose up early in the morning and assembled the princes of the city, and went up to the house of the LORD. ²¹ And they brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven he-goats for a sin-offering on behalf of the kingdom and the sanctuary and Judah. And he ordered the sons of Aaron the priests to offer them ²² on the altar of the LORD. So they slaughtered the bulls and the priests received the blood and dashed it against the altar, and they slaughtered the rams and dashed the blood against the altar, they also slaughtered ²³ the lambs and dashed the blood against the altar. Moreover they brought near the he-goats for the sin-offering before the king and the ²⁴ assembly, and they laid their hands upon them. Then the priests slaughtered them and made a sin-offering with their blood on the altar to make atonement for all Israel, for the king ordered the burnt-offering and the sin-offering for all Israel.

25 And he stationed the Levites in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, harps, and lyres, according to the commandment of David and Gad, the king's seer, and of Nathan the prophet, for the command 26 was from the LORD by his prophets. Thus the Levites stood with the 27 instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets. Thereupon Hezekiah bade them offer the burnt-offering upon the altar. And when the burnt-offering began, the song in honor of the LORD began also, and the trumpets, accompanied by the instruments of David, king
28 of Israel. Then all the assembly bowed themselves, and the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded; all this continued until the burnt-
29 offering was finished. And when they had made an end of offering, the king and all who were present with him bowed themselves and 30 worshipped. Moreover, Hezekiah the king and the princes bade the Levites to praise the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. So they sang praises with gladness and bowed their heads and worshipped.

31 Then Hezekiah spoke up and said,

“Now that you have consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near and bring sacrifices and thank-offerings, and every generous-minded man burnt-offerings.”

32 Moreover the number of burnt-offerings which the assembly brought in was seventy bulls, a hundred rams, two hundred lambs;
33 all these were for a burnt-offering to the LORD. The consecrated 34 things were six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep. But the priests were too few to prepare all the burnt-offerings. Therefore their kinsmen, the Levites, helped them till the work was completed and until the priests had sanctified themselves, for the Levites were 35 more upright in heart to sanctify themselves than the priests. There were also burnt-offerings in abundance, together with the fat of the thank-offerings, and with the libations for every burnt-offering. So 36 the service of the house of the LORD was set in order. Thus Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced, because of that which God had prepared for the people, for the thing was done suddenly.

HEZEKIAH'S PASSOVER, 30:1-27

30 Then Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD to Jerusalem, to keep the passover of the LORD, the God of Israel. For the king and his princes and all the assembly in Jerusalem
3 had decided to keep the passover in the second month. For they could not keep it at that time because the priests had not sanctified themselves in sufficient numbers, neither had the people gathered themselves together to Jerusalem. Accordingly the thing seemed good in the eyes of the king and all the assembly. So they passed a decree to send a proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beersheba even to Dan, that they should come and keep the passover in honor of the LORD, the God of Israel in Jerusalem; for they had not kept it in such great numbers, according to the record. So the couriers went with the letters from the king and his princes through all Israel and Judah, according to the bidding of the king, saying,

“O Israelites! turn again to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, that he may turn to the remnant which is left of you from the hand of the kings of Assyria. Also be not like your ancestors and your kinsmen who acted unfaithfully toward the LORD, the God of their fathers, so that he gave them over to devastations, as you see. Now be not stubborn, as were your fathers, but yield yourselves to the LORD, and enter into his sanctuary which he has sanctified forever, and serve the LORD your God, that he may turn his fierce anger from you. For by your returning to the LORD, your kinsmen and your sons shall find compassion in the presence of their captors so that they shall be allowed to return to this land, for the LORD your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you if you return to him.”

So the couriers passed from city to city through the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, even to Zebulun. But they laughed them to scorn and mocked them. Nevertheless some men from Asher and Manasseh and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. Also the hand of God was upon Judah to give them one heart, to do the bidding of the king and the princes by the word of the LORD.

So a great crowd of people assembled at Jerusalem to keep the feast of unleavened bread in the second month—a very great assembly. Then they rose up and took away the altars that were in Jerusalem and all the altars for incense they took away and cast them into the Brook Kidron. And they slaughtered the passover on the fourteenth of the second month. And the priests and the Levites were ashamed and sanctified themselves, and brought burnt-offerings into the house of the LORD. Moreover they stood in their place as was their custom, according to the law of Moses the man of God: the priests dashed the blood received from the hand of the Levites. For there was a large number in the assembly who had not sanctified them-

- selves; therefore the Levites had charge of the slaughtering of the passover lambs for everyone who was not clean in order to consecrate
- 18 them to the LORD. For a great number of people, chiefly from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not purified themselves, yet they ate the passover otherwise than as it is written, for Hezekiah had prayed for them, saying,
- 19 "The kind LORD pardon everyone who has set his heart to seek God, the LORD, the God of his fathers, though he be not clean according to the purification of the sanctuary."
- 20 And the LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people. So the 21 Israelites that were found in Jerusalem kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with great gladness. And the Levites and the priests
- 22 praised the LORD day by day, with all their might. Accordingly Hezekiah spoke encouragingly to all the Levites who had shown good skill in the service of the LORD. And they ate the offerings of the sacred season seven days offering sacrifices of thank-offerings, and giving thanks to the LORD, the God of their fathers.
- 23 Then the whole assembly decided to keep another seven days, and 24 so they kept seven days more with gladness. For Hezekiah, king of Judah, presented to the assembly a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep, and the princes presented to the assembly a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep. And a great number of priests sanctified them-
- 25 selves. Then all the assembly of Judah together with the priests and the Levites and all the assembly, that came out of Israel, and the sojourners, who came out of Israel, and who dwelt in Judah, rejoiced.
- 26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem; for since the time of Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel, there had been nothing like this in
- 27 Jerusalem. Then the priests and the Levites arose and blessed the people; and their voice was heard and their prayer came up to his holy habitation, even to the heavens.

HEZEKIAH'S WORK OF REFORM, 31:1-21

- 31 Now when all this was finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and broke in pieces the pillars and cut down the Asherahs and broke down the high places and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, also in Ephraim and Manasseh, until they had made an end of them. Then all the Israelites returned to their cities, each one to his own possession.
- 2 Moreover Hezekiah appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites according to their divisions—each of the priests and the Levites according to his service—for burnt-offering and for thank-offerings, to minister and to give thanks and praise in the gates of the camp

3 of the LORD. The king's portion from his possessions was for burnt-offerings, for the morning and evening burnt-offerings, as well as for the burnt-offerings of the sabbaths, the new moons, and the set
4 feasts, as it is written in the law of the LORD. Moreover, he charged the people who dwelt in Jerusalem to provide the portion of the priests and the Levites, that they might devote themselves to the law of the 5 LORD. Now as soon as the order was known, the Israelites gave generously the first-fruits of grain, wine, oil and honey and all the produce of the field, and the tithe of everything they brought in abundantly.
6 And the Israelites and Judeans who dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought in the tithe of cattle and sheep, and the tithe of the dedicated things, which were consecrated to the LORD their
7 God, and laid them in heaps. In the third month they began the foundations of the heaps and finished them in the seventh month. And when Hezekiah and the princes came and saw the heaps, they blessed 9 the LORD and his people Israel. Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps. Accordingly Azariah, the chief priest of the house of Zadok, said to him, as follows:

“Since they began to bring the oblation to the house of the LORD, there has been sufficient and there has been a large amount left, for the LORD has blessed his people; and there has been left this great store.”

11 Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the LORD; and they prepared them. Then they faithfully brought in the oblation and the tithe and the dedicated things, and Conaniah the Levite was the overseer in charge of them, and Shimei his brother 13 was next to him in authority. And Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah, were overseers under the authority of Conaniah and Shimei his brother, by the appointment of Hezekiah the king and Azariah, the ruler of the 14 house of God. And Kore, the son of Imnah, the Levite, the keeper of the east gate, was in charge of the voluntary offerings of God, to 15 distribute the oblations of the LORD and the most holy things. Also under him was Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, Shecaniah, in the cities of the priests, faithfully to distribute to their kinsmen
16 by divisions to great and small alike, with the exception of those registered of males from three years old and upward—that is to everyone who entered the house of the LORD for his daily portion of their

17 service in their offices according to their divisions. Now in regard to the registration of the priests, it was according to their families; moreover the Levites from twenty years old and upward were registered in 18 their offices by their divisions. There was also the purpose of registering all their children, their wives, their sons, and daughters throughout all the assembly, for they devoted themselves faithfully to the holy 19 things. But for the sons of Aaron the priests, who were in the territory of the common lands of their cities—in every city there were men who were designated by name to distribute portions to every male among the priests and to everyone registered among the Levites. 20 Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah; and he did that which 21 was good and right and true before the LORD his God. Moreover every work that he began in the service of the house of God, both in the law and in the commandment, in order to seek his God, he did with all his heart and prospered.

SENNACHERIB'S INVASION, 32:1-23

32 It was after these things and this loyalty, that Sennacherib, king of Assyria, came, and invaded Judah and besieged the fortified cities and 2 meant to take them. When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come 3 determined to attack Jerusalem, he decided in council with his princes and his leading men to stop the water of the fountains that were with- 4 out the city, and they helped him. Indeed a great crowd of people collected and stopped up all the fountains and the torrent that coursed through the midst of the land, saying,

“Why should the kings of Assyria come and find abundant water?”

5 He also took courage and built up all the wall that had been broken down, raised up towers on it, and reared another outside wall, and strengthened Millo in the city of David, and made weapons and 6 shields in great quantity. Then he set commanders of war over the people and gathered them together to him in the open space at the gate of the city and spoke reassuringly, saying,

7 “Be strong and of good courage, fear not, neither be dismayed because of the king of Assyria, nor because of all the multitude that is 8 with him for there is greater with us than with him. With him is an arm of flesh but with us is the LORD our God to help us and to fight our battles.”

And the people were reassured by the words of Hezekiah, king of 9 Judah. After this Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, sent his servants to Jerusalem, while he himself with all his forces was before Lachish, to Hezekiah king of Judah and to all Judah who were at Jerusalem, saying,

- 10 "Thus Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, has said, 'On what are you 11 trusting that you are awaiting the siege in Jerusalem? Is not Hezekiah leading you on in order to give you over to die by hunger and thirst, saying, "The Lord our God will deliver us out of the hand of 12 the king of Assyria?" Has not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars and said to Judah and Jerusalem as follows,
"You shall worship before one altar and upon it you shall sacrifice."
13 Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the people of the lands? Were the gods of the nations of the lands able to de-14 liver their land out of my hand? Who was there among all the gods of those nations which my fathers put under the ban who was able to deliver his people from my hand, that your god should be able to 15 deliver you out of my hand? Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you nor mislead you in this way, and do not believe him, for no god of any nation or kingdom has been able to deliver his people from my hand and from the hand of my fathers, how much less shall your gods deliver you out of my hand.' "

- 16 His servants also spoke yet more against the LORD God, and against 17 his servant Hezekiah. Moreover he wrote letters insulting the LORD, the God of Israel, and inveighing against him as follows:

"Just as the gods of the nations of the lands have not delivered their people out of my hand, so the God of Hezekiah shall not be able to deliver his people out of my hand."

- 18 They also shouted with a loud voice in the Jewish language to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall to frighten and terrify 19 them that they might take the city. Moreover they spoke of the God of Jerusalem as of the gods of the peoples of the earth, which are the work of men's hands.

- 20 Then Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, 21 prayed concerning this and cried to the heavens. Therefore the LORD sent an angel who destroyed all the seasoned warriors, together with the leaders and commanders in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned in disgrace to his own land. And when he went into the house of his god, they who were his own offspring slew him there with the 22 sword. Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib, king of Assyria, and from the 23 hand of all their enemies, and gave them rest on every side. Many also brought gifts to the LORD to Jerusalem and precious things to Hezekiah, king of Judah, so that from that time on he was exalted in the eyes of all the nations.

A FINAL ESTIMATE OF HEZEKIAH, 32:24—33

- 24 In those days Hezekiah became mortally ill, and he prayed to the 25 LORD, and when he was entreated by him, he gave him a sign. But Hezekiah made no return according to the benefit bestowed on him, for his heart was lifted up, therefore wrath came upon him and upon 26 Judah and Jerusalem. However, Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD did not come upon them in the days of Hezekiah.
- 27 Now Hezekiah had enormous wealth and honor, and he provided himself with treasuries for silver, gold, precious stones, spices, shields, 28 and all kinds of artistic articles, storehouses also for the increase of grain, wine, and oil, and inclosures for all kinds of cattle and for 29 flocks. Moreover he made him cities and had vast possessions of sheep
30 and cattle, for God gave him very great riches. It was Hezekiah who stopped the upper springs of Gihon and directed the waters straight down on the west side of the city of David. And Hezekiah
31 prospered in all his works. However in the case of the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon who were sent to him to inquire about the sign that was done in the land, God forsook him in order to try him, that he might find out all that was in his heart.
- 32 Now the rest of the records of Hezekiah and his good deeds, behold they are written in the Vision of Isaiah, the son of Amoz, the prophet, 33 in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the ascent of the sepulchres of the descendants of David, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem paid him honor when he died. And Manasseh his son became king in his stead.

THE REACTION UNDER MANASSEH AND AMON, 33:1—25

- 33 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he
2 reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. Moreover he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD according to the abominations of the 3 nations which the LORD had dispossessed before the Israelites. He also turned and rebuilt the high places which Hezekiah his father had torn down, and he set up altars for the Baals and made Asherahs and

4 worshipped all the powers of the heavens and served them. Moreover he built altars in the house of the LORD of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem shall my name be forever."

5 He built altars to all the powers of the heavens in the two courts of 6 the house of the LORD. He also burned his children in the fire in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, and practiced augury and sorcery, and appointed mediums and wizards. He did great evil in the sight of 7 the LORD to arouse his anger. Moreover he set the carved image of an idol which he had made in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son,

"In this house and in Jerusalem which I have chosen out of all the 8 tribes of Israel I will put my name forever. Neither will I again remove the feet of Israel from the land which I have appointed for your fathers, if only they will observe to do all that I have commanded them even all the law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses."

9 But Manasseh seduced Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to do evil more than the nations which the LORD had destroyed before the Israelites.

10 Moreover the LORD spoke to Manasseh and to his people, but they 11 gave no heed. Therefore the LORD brought against them the commanders of the army of the king of Assyria and they took Manasseh
12 in chains and bound him in fetters and brought him to Babylon. But when he was in distress, he besought the LORD his God and humbled 13 himself greatly before the God of his fathers. He also prayed to him, and he was entreated of him and heard his supplication and restored him to his kingdom in Jerusalem. Then Manasseh knew that the LORD was indeed God.

14 Now after this he built an outer wall of the city of David on the west side of Gihon in the valley, even to the entrance at the Fish Gate, so that it inclosed Ophel; and he raised it up to a very great height. He also placed competent commanders in all the fortified cities of Judah.

15 Moreover he put away the foreign gods and the idol out of the house of the LORD and all the altars which he had built in the mount of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem and cast them out of the 16 city. Then he rebuilt the altar of the LORD and sacrificed upon it sacrifices of thank-offerings and of thanksgiving, and ordered Judah to 17 serve the LORD, the God of Israel. Nevertheless the people still sacrificed on the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

- 18 Now the rest of the records of Manasseh and his prayer to God, as well as the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, behold they are among the Records of the
- 19 Kings of Israel. His prayer also, and how God was entreated of him, and all his sin and his guilt, and the sites on which he built the high places and set up the Asherahs and the carved images, before he humbled himself, behold they are written in the Records of the Seers.
- 20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the garden of his house. And Amon his son became king in his stead.
- 21 Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he
- 22 reigned two years in Jerusalem. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD as Manasseh his father had done. And Amon sacrificed to all the carved images which Manasseh his father had
- 23 made, and served them. Moreover he did not humble himself before the LORD as Manasseh his father humbled himself. Thus Amon multiplied offenses. Therefore his servants conspired against him and
- 25 murdered him in his own house. But the people of the land slew all the conspirators against King Amon. And the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.

THE DEUTERONOMIC REFORM, 34:1-13

- 34 Josiah was eight years old when he became king and he reigned
- 2 thirty-one years in Jerusalem. Moreover he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the ways of David his ancestor and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left.
- 3 Now in the eighth year of his reign, while he was still a lad, he began to seek after the God of David his ancestor, and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the
- 4 Asherahs, the carved images, and the metal images. Thus at his direction they broke down the altars of the Baals, and the sun-images that stood high above them he hewed down, and the Asherahs, the carved images, and the metal images, he demolished and reduced to dust and strewed it on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them.
- 5 Also he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and purged
- 6 Judah and Jerusalem. Likewise in the cities of Manasseh and Ephraim and Simeon and as far as Naphtali, in their ruins round about,
- 7 he destroyed the altars and beat the Asherahs and the carved images to powder and hewed down all the sun-images throughout all the land of Israel, and then returned to Jerusalem.
- 8 Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, in order to purge the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah, the commander of the city, and Joah, the son of Joahaz, the recorder, 9 to repair the house of the LORD his God. So they came to Hilkiyah the high priest, and gave the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites, the keepers of the threshold, had gathered from Manasseh and Ephraim and from all the remnant of Israel, 10 and from all Judah and Benjamin, and returned to Jerusalem. They in turn gave it to the workmen who were responsible for the house of the LORD; and the workmen who did the actual work on the house of 11 the LORD dispensed it to restore and repair the temple; to the carpenters they gave it and to the builders, that they might buy hewn stone and timber for framing and for beams for the structures which the 12 kings of Judah had destroyed. Moreover the men worked faithfully on the task; and the overseers over them were Jahath and Obadiah, the Levites, of the descendants of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites to direct it. And the Levites—all 13 who were skilful with instruments of music—were over the burden-bearers, and directed all the workmen in any sort of service; and some of the Levites were scribes, notaries, and gate-keepers.

14 Now when they brought out the money that had been brought to the house of the LORD, Hilkiyah the priest found a book of the law of 15 the LORD given by Moses. Accordingly Hilkiyah spoke up and said to Shaphan the scribe,

“I have found a book of law in the house of the LORD.”

16 And Hilkiyah delivered the book to Shaphan. Then Shaphan brought the book to the king and also reported to the king, saying,

17 “All that has been committed to your servants, they are doing, and they have emptied out the money that was found in the house of the LORD and have delivered it into the charge of the overseers and the workmen.”

18 Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying,

“Hilkiyah the priest has given me a book.”

And Shaphan read out of it before the king.

19 But as soon as the king heard the words of the law, he tore his garments. Then the king commanded Hilkiyah, and Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Achbor, the son of Micaiah, and Shaphan, the scribe and Asaiah, the king's servant, saying,

21 “Go, inquire of the LORD for me and for those who are left in Israel and Judah concerning the words of the book that has been found, for great is the wrath of the LORD that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD to do according to all that is written in this book."

22 So Hilkiah and those whom the king mentioned went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tokhath, the son of Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe, who dwelt in Jerusalem in the second 23 quarter, and they spoke to her about this. Accordingly she said to them,

"Thus the LORD, the God of Israel, has said, 'Say to the man who 24 has sent you to me, "Thus the LORD has said, 'Behold I am about to bring evil upon this place and upon its inhabitants, even all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of 25 Judah. Because they have forsaken me and burned incense to other gods in order that they might arouse my anger with all the work of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be poured out upon this place
26 and it shall not be quenched.' " ' But to the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus shall you say to him, "Thus the LORD, the God of Israel has said, "As regards the words which you have 27 heard—because your heart was sensitive and you humbled yourself before the LORD, when you heard my words against this place and against its inhabitants and have humbled yourself before me, and have torn your garments, and wept before me, I also have heard you," " ' is 28 the oracle of the LORD. " "Behold I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace, neither shall your eyes see all the evil which I am about to bring upon this place and upon its inhabitants." " "

29 And they brought back word to the king. Then the king sent and 30 gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. And the king went up to the house of the LORD together with all the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests and Levites and all the people, both small and great, where he read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant, that was found in the 31 house of the LORD. Accordingly the king stood in his place and made a covenant before the LORD to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments, his testimonies, and his statutes with all his heart and with full determination, to perform the words of the covenant that 32 were written in this book. Then he caused all who were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin to adhere to the covenant. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of 33 their fathers. Moreover Josiah put away all the abominations out of all the lands that belonged to the Israelites, and made all who were found in Israel to serve, even to serve the LORD their God. All his days they did not depart from following the LORD, the God of their fathers.

JOSIAH'S PASSOVER, 35:1-19

35 Now Josiah kept a passover to the LORD in Jerusalem; and they
 2 slew the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. Accord-
 3 ingly he set the priests in their offices and encouraged them for the 4 service of the house of the LORD. He also said to the Levites who 5 taught all Israel, who were holy to the LORD,

“Put the holy ark in the house which Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel, built. It shall no more be a burden on your shoulders.

4 Now serve the LORD your God and his people Israel, and prepare your-5 selves after your fathers' houses by your divisions, according to the 6 prescription of David, king of Israel, and according to the prescription 7 of Solomon his son. And stand in the holy place according to the 8 divisions of the families of your kinsmen the common people, and for 9 each a part of a Levitical family. Thus slay the passover and sanctify yourselves and prepare it for your kinsmen to keep it according to the word of the LORD by Moses.”

7 Thereupon Josiah presented to the common people flocks, lambs and kids—all of them for the passover offerings to all who were present, to the number of thirty thousand, and three thousand bulls—these 8 were from the king's property. His princes also distributed as a voluntary gift to the people, to the priests and to the Levites; Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the rulers of the house of God, gave to the priests for the passover offerings—two thousand and six hundred 9 lambs and three hundred cattle. Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nathanel his kinsmen, and Hashabiah and Meiel and Jozabad, the chiefs of the Levites, distributed to the Levites for the passover-offerings, five thousand lambs and five hundred cattle.

10 So the service was established and the priests stood at their posts, and the Levites by their divisions according to the king's command.
 11 Thus they slew the passover, and the priests sprinkled the blood from 12 their hands, while the Levites skinned the victims. Then they removed the burnt-offerings that they might distribute them according to the divisions of the families of the common people, to offer to the LORD as it is prescribed in the book of Moses. And so they did with 13 the cattle. Moreover they boiled the passover on the fire according to

- the ordinance; while they boiled the holy offerings in pots, in caldrons, and in pans, and carried them quickly to all the common people.
- 14 And afterward they prepared for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the sons of Aaron, were occupied in offering up the burnt-offerings and the fat pieces until night; therefore the Levites prepared it for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron.
- 15 Then the singers, the sons of Asaph, were at their posts according to the command of David and Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, the king's seer. And the gatekeepers were at each gate; they had no need to depart from their service, for their kinsmen the Levites prepared
- 16 it for them. Accordingly all the service of the LORD was established the same day that they kept the passover and offered burnt-offerings upon the altar of the LORD according to the command of King Josiah.
- 17 Thus the Israelites who were present kept the passover at that
- 18 time and the feast of unleavened bread seven days. Indeed there was no passover like that kept in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet; neither did any of the kings of Israel keep such a passover as did Josiah; and the priests and the Levites and all Judah and Israel
- 19 were present, together with the inhabitants of Jerusalem. In the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign was this passover kept.

THE DEATH OF JOSIAH, 35:20-27

- 20 After all this, when Josiah had restored the temple, Necho king of Egypt went up to fight at Carchemish on the Euphrates. And Josiah went out to intercept him. But he sent messengers to him, saying,
- 21 "What have we to do with each other, king of Judah? I come not against you this day, but to fight with another house, and God has said to me to make haste; cease then to provoke God who is with me, that he do not destroy you."
- 22 Nevertheless Josiah refused to turn away his face from him but presumed to wage war with him and would not listen to the words of Necho from the mouth of God. So he went to fight in the valley of
- 23 Megiddo. Then the archers shot at King Josiah, and the king said to his servants,
- "Take me away for I am badly wounded."
- 24 So his servants took him away from the chariot and made him ride in the second chariot that he had and brought him to Jerusalem where he died, and he was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers, and all
- 25 Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. Jeremiah also chanted a dirge for Josiah and all the singing men and singing women repeat in their chants concerning Josiah to this day. And they made them a custom in Israel; and behold they are written in the Lamentations.

26 Now the rest of the records of Josiah and his pious acts, according 27 to that which is prescribed in the law of the LORD, and his acts from first to last are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

THE LAST DAYS OF THE KINGDOM OF JUDAH, 36:1-23

36 Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz, the son of Josiah, and
2 made him king in his father's stead in Jerusalem. Joahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king and he reigned three months in 3 Jerusalem. Thereupon the king of Egypt deposed him at Jerusalem and he fined the land a hundred talents of silver and a hundred talents
4 of gold. The king of Egypt also made Eliakim, his brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem and changed his name to Jehoiakim. Then Necho took Joahaz his brother and brought him to Egypt.

5 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-one years. And he did that which was
6 evil in the sight of the LORD his God. Against him came up Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and bound him in fetters to bring him to 7 Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar also carried some of the utensils of the house of the LORD to Babylon and put them in his temple in Babylon.
8 Now the rest of the records of Jehoiakim and his abominations which he did and that which was found in him, behold they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son became king in his stead.

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old when he became king and he reigned in Jerusalem three months and ten days. He also did that which was 10 evil in the sight of the LORD. Then the following spring King Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babylon, with the choice vessels of the house of the LORD, and he made Zedekiah, his brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

11 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he 12 reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. He also did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD his God. He did not humble himself before 13 Jeremiah the prophet at the word of the LORD. Moreover he also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God. But he became obstinate and stubbornly refused to turn to the 14 LORD, the God of Israel. Also all the chiefs of the priests and the people proved utterly faithless in accord with all the abominations of the nations, and they polluted the house of the LORD which he had sancti-

- ¹⁵ fled in Jerusalem. Still the LORD, the God of their fathers, eagerly sent to them by his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling-place, but they mocked God's messengers and despised his words and derided his prophets, until the wrath of the
- ¹⁶ LORD arose against his people till there was no remedy. Therefore he brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and spared neither youths nor maidens, neither the aged nor the decrepit. He
- ¹⁷ delivered them all into his hand. Also all the utensils of the house of God both large and small, together with the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king and his princes—all these
- ¹⁸ he brought to Babylon. Moreover they burned the house of God, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem, and all its palaces they burned with
- ¹⁹ fire and all its choice vessels were given to destruction. Those who escaped the sword he carried captive to Babylon, where they became slaves to him and to his sons until the dominance of the kingdom of
- ²⁰ Persia, in order that the words of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled until the land had enjoyed its sabbaths. All the days of the desolation it kept sabbath, to complete the seventy years.
- ²¹ In the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accomplished, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, king of Persia, so that he issued a proclamation throughout his kingdom and also put it in writing, as follows,
- ²² "Thus Cyrus, the king of Persia, has said, 'The LORD, the God of the heavens, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has commissioned me to build him a house in Jerusalem which is in Judah. Whosoever there is among you of all his people, the LORD his God be with you, and let him go up.' "

THE BOOK OF EZRA

THE DECREE OF CYRUS AND THE RETURN, 1:1-11

- 1 Now in the first year of Cyrus, king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accomplished, the LORD aroused the spirit of Cyrus, king of Persia, to issue a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and also to put it in writing, as follows,
- 2 "Thus Cyrus, king of Persia, has said: All the kingdoms of the earth has the LORD, the God of the heavens, given me; and he himself has commissioned me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is
- 3 in Judah. Whoever there is among you of all his people who desires to go, may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD, the God of Israel, he is
- 4 the God who is in Jerusalem. Moreover if anybody is left in any place where he now sojourns, let the men of his place aid him with silver and gold and goods and beasts of burden as well as with voluntary offerings for the house of God which is at Jerusalem."
- 5 Then the heads of families of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, even all whose spirit God had aroused to go up to
- 6 build the house of the Lord which is at Jerusalem, arose. Moreover all those who were about them supplied them with utensils of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts and with precious things, besides all that was voluntarily offered. Also King Cyrus brought forth
- 7 the utensils of the house of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had
- 8 brought from Jerusalem and had put in the house of his gods. Thus Cyrus, king of Persia, brought them out under the charge of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them out to Sheshbazzar, the prince of
- 9 Judah. And this is the number of them, thirty golden basins, a thousand silver basins, twenty-nine censers, thirty golden bowls, two
- 10 thousand four hundred and ten silver bowls, and a thousand other vessels.
- 11 All the vessels of gold and silver were five thousand four hundred. All these Sheshbazzar brought up, when the exiles were brought up from Babylon to Jerusalem.

LISTS OF THE RETURNING EXILES, 2:1-70

- 2 Now these belonged to the province, that went up out of the captivity who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of

Babylon, had carried away to Babylon; and they returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his city, those who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, Baanah.

30 the descendants of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five; the descend-

32 The priests: the descendants of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua
33 were nine hundred and seventy-three; the descendants of Immer, 34 one thousand and fifty-two; the descendants of Pashhur, one thousand 35 two hundred and forty-seven; the descendants of Harim, one thou-
36 sand and seventeen.

40 The Levites: the descendants of Jeshua and Kadmiel, of the de-

41 scendants of Hodaviah, seventy-four; the singers of the descendants 42 of Asaph, one hundred and twenty-eight; the descendants of the gatekeepers were: the descendants of Shallum, the descendants of Ater, the descendants of Talamon, the descendants of Akkub, the descendants of Hatita, the descendants of Shobai, in all one hundred and thirty-nine.

43 The temple servants were: the descendants of Ziha, the descend-
 44 ants of Hasupha, the descendants of Tabbaoth, the descendants of 45 Keros, the descendants of Siaha, the descendants of Padon, the descendants of Lebanah, the descendants of Hagabah, the descendants of 46 Akkub, the descendants of Hagab, the descendants of Shamlai, the 47 descendants of Hanan, the descendants of Giddel, the descendants of 48 Gahar, the descendants of Reaiah, the descendants of Rezin, the de-

55 The descendants of Solomon's servants were: the descendants of 56 Sotai, the descendants of Hassophereth, the descendants of Peruda, the descendants of Jaalah, the descendants of Darkon, the descendants of 57 Giddel, the descendants of Shephatiah, the descendants of Hattil, the 58 descendants of Pochereth-Hazzabaim, the descendants of Ami, all the temple servants, and the descendants of Solomon's servants, were three hundred and ninety-two.

59 Now these were they who went up from Telmelah, Telharsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer; but they could not show their fathers' 60 houses nor their descent, whether they were of Israel: the descendants of Delaiah, the descendants of Tobiah, the descendants of Nekoda, 61 six hundred and fifty-two; and of the priests: the descendants of Habaiah, the descendants of Hakkoz, the descendants of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai, the Gileadite, and was 62 called by their name. These sought their register among those who were reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found; therefore they 63 were excluded from the priesthood, as polluted. Also the governor forbade them to eat of the most holy things, until there stood a priest with Urim and Thummim.

64 The whole assembly together was forty-two thousand three hun-
65 dred and sixty, besides their male and female slaves of whom there 66 were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six; their mules, two hundred and 67 forty-five; their camels, four hundred and thirty-five; their asses, six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

68 Now some from the heads of families, when they came to the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, voluntarily offered for the 69 house of God to set it up in its place. They gave according to their ability into the treasury of the work sixty-one thousand darics of gold, and five thousand minas of silver, and one hundred priests' garments.
70 So the priests and the Levites, and some of the people and the porters, the singers, and the temple servants dwelt in their cities and all Israel in their cities.

THE RENEWAL OF WORSHIP AT JERUSALEM, 3:1-6

3 Now when the seventh month arrived, and the Israelites were in their cities, the people gathered themselves together as one man to 2 Jerusalem. Then Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and his kinsmen the priests, and Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and his kinsmen arose and built the altar of the God of Israel to offer burnt-offerings on it, as 3 prescribed in the law of Moses, the man of God. So they set up the altar in its place, for fear was upon them, because of the peoples of the lands, and they offered upon it burnt-offerings to the LORD, even 4 burnt-offerings morning and evening. Moreover they kept the feast of booths as it is written and offered the fixed number of burnt-offer-5 ings day by day according to the direction for each day; and afterward the continual burnt-offerings and the offerings at the new moons, and of all the sacred festivals of the LORD, that were consecrated, and for everyone who offered a voluntary offering to the 6 LORD. From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt-offerings to the LORD; although the foundation of the temple of the LORD was not yet laid.

THE FOUNDATION OF THE TEMPLE LAID, 3:7-13

7 But they gave money to the masons and to the carpenters, and food, and drink, and oil to the Sidonians and the Tyrians to bring cedar trees from Lebanon by sea to Joppa, according to the grant that they had from Cyrus, king of Persia.

8 Now in the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and

Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and the rest of their kinsmen the priests and the Levites, and all who came from the captivity to Jerusalem, made a beginning and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and upward to have the oversight of the work of the house of the 9 LORD. Then Jeshua stood up with his sons and his kinsmen, Kadmiel and his sons, Judeans, to have together the direction over the execution of the work in the house of God; the sons of Henadad, with 10 their sons and their kinsmen the Levites. Now when the builders had laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, they stationed the priests in their official robes with trumpets and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals to praise the LORD according to the directions 11 of David, king of Israel. And they sang responsively in praising and giving thanks to the LORD, saying,

“For he is good, for his grace is forever over Israel.”

And all the people raised a great shout when they praised the LORD
 12 because the foundation of the house of the LORD had been laid. But many of the priests and the Levites and heads of families and the old men, who had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice, while many shouted 13 aloud for joy, so that the people could not distinguish the sound of the shout of joy from the sound of the weeping of the people, for the people shouted with a great shout, and the sound was heard a great distance away.

OPPOSITION TO THE BUILDING OF THE TEMPLE, 4:1-24

4 Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the
 2 exiles were building a temple for the LORD, the God of Israel, they approached Zerubbabel and the heads of families, and said to them,

“Let us build with you; for we seek your God, as you do, and we have been sacrificing to him since the days of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, who brought us up here.”

3 But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of families of Israel said to them,

“You have nothing in common with us in building a house to God; but we ourselves will together build to the LORD, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus, the king of Persia, has commanded us.”

4 Then the people of the land constantly weakened the hands of the 5 people of Judah and terrorized them out of building, and hired counsellors against them to frustrate their counsel, all the days of Cyrus, king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius, king of Persia.

- 6 Moreover in the reign of Xerxes, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.
- 7 Now in the days of Artaxerxes wrote Bishlam, Mithredath, Ta-beel, and the rest of his companions to Artaxerxes, the king of Persia; and the script of the letter was written in Aramaic and interpreted in
- 8 Aramaic. Rehum, the commander, and Shimshai, the scribe, wrote a
- 9 letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king as follows. Then wrote Rehum, the commander, and Shimshai, the scribe, and the rest of their associates, the Dinaites and the Apharsathchites, the Tarpelites, the Apharsites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the people of Susa,
- 10 the Dehaites, the Elamites, and the rest of the peoples whom the great and noble Ashurbanipal transported and settled in the city of Samaria
- 11 and in the rest of the province beyond the River. Now—this is a copy of the letter that they sent to Artaxerxes the king:
- 12 “Your servants, the men of the province beyond the River. And now be it known to the king that the Jews who came up from you to us have reached Jerusalem. This rebellious and bad city they are rebuilding and have completed its walls and repaired the foundations.
- 13 Therefore be it known to the king, that if this city be rebuilt and its walls finished, they will not pay tribute, custom or toll, and immediately it will injure the kings. Now because we eat the salt of the palace and it is not fitting for us to behold the king’s dishonor, therefore
- 15 we have sent and informed the king, that search be made in the book of the records of your fathers; for you will find in the book of the records and learn that this city is a rebellious city and one that causes damage to kings and provinces and that the Jews have stirred up sedition in it from ancient times, for which cause this city was laid
- 16 waste. We make known to the king that, if this city is rebuilt and its walls finished, you will have as a result no portion in the lands beyond the River.”
- 17 The king sent a message to Rehum, the commander, and to Shimshai, the scribe, and to the rest of their associates who dwelt in Samaria and in the rest of the province beyond the River:
- 18 “Greeting, and as follows: The letter which you sent to us has
- 19 been plainly read before me. I also gave command and search has been made, and it has been found that this city from ancient times has been rebellious against kings and that rebellion and sedition have
- 20 taken place therein. Moreover there have been mighty kings over Jerusalem who have ruled over all the country beyond the River and 21 tribute, custom, and toll were paid to them. Now give command that these men cease and that this city be not rebuilt until a decree shall be issued by me. Also be careful that there be no neglect about this, why should the damage increase to the detriment of the kings?"

23 Then when the copy of King Artaxerxes' letter had been read to Rehum and Shimshai, the scribe, and their associates, they went in haste to Jerusalem to the Jews, and by force and compulsion made 24 them stop. Thus the work on the house of God which is at Jerusalem came to an end, and it ceased until the second year of the reign of Darius, king of Persia.

THE TEMPLE REBUILT AND DEDICATED, 5:1—6:22

5 Now the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, the son of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of 2 the God of Israel who was over them. Then Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, arose and began to build the house which is at Jerusalem; and with them were the prophets of God supporting them.

3 At that time Tattenai, the governor of the province beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai and their associates came to them, and spoke to them thus,

"Who gave you a permit to build this house and finish this sanctuary? And who are the builders who are doing this work?"

4 Accordingly then we told them what the names of the men were, 5 who were building this structure. But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, so that they did not make them cease until a report should come to Darius, and then a written reply be returned concerning it.

6 The copy of the letter that Tattenai, the governor beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai and his associates the Apharsachites, who 7 were beyond the River, sent to Darius, the king. They sent a dispatch to him, wherein was written as follows:

8 "To Darius, the king, all hail. Be it known to the king that we have gone into the province of Judah, to the house of the great God, which was built with huge stones and timber laid on the walls; and this work is being thoroughly done and is prospering in their hands. 9 Then we asked those elders, and said to them thus, 'Who gave you a 10 permit to build this house and to complete this building?' We also asked them their names, in order to inform you, that we might write 11 the names of the men who were at their head. And accordingly they returned us answer as follows, 'We are the servants of the God of the heavens and earth and we are rebuilding this house that was built 12 many years ago, which a great king of Israel built and finished, but after our fathers had aroused the wrath of the God of the heavens, he gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this house and carried the people away

13 to Babylon. However in the first year of Cyrus, king of Babylon, 14 Cyrus, the king, made a decree that this house of God be rebuilt. And the gold and silver vessels also of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple that was at Jerusalem and brought to the temple in Babylon, those Cyrus, the king, took out of the temple in Babylon, and they were delivered to one Sheshbazzar by name, 15 whom he had made governor. And he said to him, "Take these vessels, go, put them in the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house
16 of God be rebuilt in its place." Then this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God that is in Jerusalem. And since that time even until now it has been building, and it is not yet finished.'
17 Now therefore, if it please the king, let search be made in the king's treasure-house there at Babylon, whether it be so, that a decree was issued by Cyrus the king to rebuild this house of God at Jerusalem; and let the king send to us his good pleasure concerning this matter."

6 Accordingly Darius, the king, issued a decree, and search was made in the house of the archives where the treasures were stored there at 2 Babylon. And at Ecbatana, in the castle that is in the province of Media, a roll was found and in it was written:

3 "A record: In the first year of Cyrus, the king, Cyrus, the king, issued a decree: 'Concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, let the house be rebuilt, the place where sacrifices are offered and let its foundations be laid; its height shall be sixty cubits and its breadth
4 sixty cubits with three courses of huge stones and a course of new
5 timber, the expenses to be paid out of the king's treasury. Also let the gold and silver utensils of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple at Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and brought to the temple which is at Jerusalem, each to its place; and you shall put them in the house of God.'

6 "Now therefore, Tattenai, governor of the province beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai, and their associates the Apharsachites, who
7 are beyond the River, withdraw from there. Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of

8 the Jews rebuild this house of God in its place. Moreover I make a decree in regard to what you shall do for these elders of the Jews for the building of this house of God: that out of the king's funds from the tribute of the province beyond the River the expenses be paid in 9 full to these men, and that without delay. And whatever is needed, both young bulls and rams and lambs for burnt-offerings to the God of the heavens, wheat, salt, wine and oil according to the word of the priests at Jerusalem, let it be given to them day by day without fail,
10 that they may offer appeasing sacrifices to the God of the heavens,
11 and pray for the life of the king and of his sons. Also I make a decree that any man who alters this command, a beam shall be pulled out from his house and he shall be impaled upon it, and his house shall 12 be made a refuse-heap for this. And the God who has caused his name to dwell there shall overthrow any king or people who shall put forth his hand to alter this or to destroy this house of God at Jerusalem. I, Darius, have issued a decree, let it be executed to the letter."

13 Then Tattenai, the governor of the province beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai, and their associates did precisely as Darius, the king,
14 had directed. Also the elders of the Jews built and prospered, through the prophesying of Haggai, the prophet, and Zechariah, the son of Iddo. Thus they built and finished it, according to the command of the God of Israel and according to the decree of Cyrus and Darius
15 and Artaxerxes, the king of Persia. So this house was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king.

16 Then the Israelites, the priests, the Levites, and the rest of the returned exiles, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with 17 joy. Moreover they offered at the dedication of this house of God a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and twelve he-goats for a sin-offering for all Israel, according to the number of 18 the tribes of Israel. They also set the priests in their divisions and the Levites in their courses, for the service of God at Jerusalem, as it is prescribed in the book of Moses.

19 Moreover the returned exiles kept the passover upon the fourteenth 20 day of the first month. For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves to a man, all of them were ceremonially clean. And they slaughtered the passover for all the returned exiles, both for their 21 kinsmen the priests and for themselves. Then the Israelites who had returned from the captivity, and everyone who separated himself from the uncleanness of the peoples of the land to join them in order 12 to seek the LORD, the God of Israel, ate, and kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with gladness; for the LORD had made them joyful, and had turned the heart of the king of Persia to them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

EZRA'S MISSION TO JERUSALEM, 7:1-28

7 Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes, king of Persia, there went up Ezra, the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of 2 Hilkiah, the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub,
3 the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, the son
4 of Zerariah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, the son of Abishua,
5 the son of Phineas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief
6 priest. This Ezra went up from Babylon; and he was a scribe skilled in the law of Moses, which the LORD, the God of Israel, had given; and the king granted him all his request, because the hand of the 7 Lord his God was upon him. Moreover some of the Israelites, and of the priests, the Levites, the singers, the doorkeepers, and the temple servants went up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of Artaxerxes, the 8 king. Accordingly he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which 9 was in the seventh year of the king. For on the first day of the first month he began the journey up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he arrived at Jerusalem, since the good hand of his 10 God was upon him. For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of the Lord, to keep it, and to teach in Israel statutes and ordinances.

11 Now this is a copy of the letter which King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the priest, the scribe, learned in matters of the commands of the LORD and of his statutes in Israel:

12 "Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Ezra the priest, learned in the law
13 of the God of the heavens, heartiest greetings. And now I make a decree that anyone of the people of Israel, or their priests or Levites in my realm, who is willing to go to Jerusalem, shall go with you.
14 Because you have been sent by the king and his seven counsellors to investigate concerning Judah and Jerusalem in accordance with the 15 law of your God which is in your hand, and to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counsellors have freely offered to the God
16 of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem, with all the silver and gold that you shall find in all the province of Babylon, together with the voluntary offerings of the people and the priests offered willingly for

17 the house of their God which is at Jerusalem; accordingly with this money you shall faithfully buy bulls, rams, lambs, with their cereal-offerings and their libations, and shall offer them on the altar of the 18 house of your God which is in Jerusalem. Moreover whatever shall seem good to you and to your kinsmen to do with the rest of the silver
19 and the gold, so do according to the will of your God. And the utensils that have been given you for the service of the house of your God, 20 deliver before the God of Jerusalem. And whatever things besides are required for the house of your God, which you shall have occasion to bestow, you shall give it out of the king's treasury.

21 "Moreover I, even I, Artaxerxes, the king, do make a decree to all the treasures of the province beyond the River, that whatever Ezra the priest, learned in the law of the God of the heavens, shall require of you, let it be faithfully done, up to a hundred talents of silver, a thousand measures of wheat, a hundred baths of wine, a hundred
23 baths of oil, and salt without reckoning. Whatever is commanded by the God of the heavens, let it be faithfully done for the house of the God of the heavens; for why should there be wrath against 24 the realm of the king and his sons? Also be it known to you that it is unlawful for you to impose tax, tribute, or toll on any priests, Levites, singers, doorkeepers, temple servants or menials of 25 this house of God. Moreover do you Ezra, according to the wisdom of your God that is in your grasp, appoint governors and judges who may judge all the people beyond the River, all such as know the laws
26 of your God, and instruct any who do not know them. And whoever will not obey the law of your God and the law of the king, let strict judgment be executed upon him, whether it be death, or punishment, or confiscation of goods, or imprisonment."

27 Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD
28 which is at Jerusalem, and has extended grace to me before the king and his counsellors and all the distinguished princes of the king. And I was strengthened since the hand of the LORD my God was with me, and I gathered leading men from Israel to go up with me.

EZRA'S COMPANY AND EQUIPMENT, 8:1-36

8 Now these are the heads of families, and this is the genealogy of those who came up with me from Babylon in the reign of Artaxerxes,
2 the king: Of the descendants of Phinehas, Gershom; of the descendants 3 ants of Ithamar, Daniel; of the descendants of David, Hattush, the son of Shecaniah; of the descendants of Parosh, Zechariah, and with 4 him were reckoned by genealogy a hundred and fifty males; of the descendants of Pahath-moab, Eliohenai, the son of Zerariah, and 5 with him two hundred males; of the descendants of Shecaniah, the 6 son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; and of the descendants of Adin, Ebed, the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty 7 males; of the descendants of Elam, Jeshaiiah, the son of Athaliah, and 8 with him seventy males; of the descendants of Shephatiah, Zebadiah, 9 the son of Michael, and with him eighty males; of the descendants of Joab, Obadiah, the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and 10 eighteen males; of the descendants of Bani, Shelomith, the son of 11 Josiphiah, and with him a hundred and sixty males; of the descendants of Bebai, Zechariah, the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight 12 males; of the descendants of Azgad, Johanan, the son of Hakkatan, 13 and with him a hundred and ten males; of the descendants of Adonikam, those who came last, and these are their names: Eliphelet, Jeuel, 14 and Shemaiah, and with them sixty males; and of the descendants of Bigvai, Uthai and Zabbub, and with them seventy males.

15 Accordingly I gathered them together to the river that flows toward Ahava, and there we encamped three days, while I inspected the people and the priests and found there none of the descendants of Levi.
16 Then I sent for Eleazer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, leading men; also for Joiarib 17 and Elnathan, who were teachers. And I sent them forth to Iddo, the chief of the place Casiphia. And I put in their mouths the words they were to speak to Iddo and his kinsmen the temple servants at the place
Casiphia, namely, that they should bring us ministrants for the house 18 of our God. Moreover because the good hand of our God was with us, they brought us a man of discretion, of the descendants of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, and Sherebiah, with his sons and his 19 kinsmen, eighteen; and Hashabiah and Jeshaiiah of the descendants 20 of Merari, their kinsmen and their sons, twenty; and of the temple servants, whom David and the princes had given for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty temple servants: all of them were 21 mentioned by name. Then I proclaimed there a fast at the river Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God to seek of him a safe journey for us and for our little ones and for all our pos-22 sessions. For I was ashamed to ask of the king an armed force and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way, because we had said to the king thus,

"The hand of our God is with all who seek him for good, but his power and his wrath are against all who forsake him."

23 So we fasted and besought our God for this; and he was entreated by us.

24 Then I set apart twelve of the chiefs of the priests, even Sherebiah,
25 Hashabiah and ten of their kinsmen with them, and weighed to them the silver, and the gold and the utensils, even the offering for the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes
26 and all Israel there present had offered. Thus I weighed into their hands six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and utensils of silver a 27 hundred talents, of gold one hundred talents; and twenty bowls of 28 gold of a thousand darics; two vessels of fine burnished bronze, precious as gold; and I said to them,

"You are holy to the LORD, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and gold are a voluntary offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers.
29 Watch and keep them until you weigh them before the chiefs of the priests and the Levites and chiefs of the families of Israel at Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the LORD."

30 So the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver and the gold and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of 31 our God. Then we departed from the River Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month to go to Jerusalem.

And the hand of our God was upon us and he delivered us from 32 the hand of the enemy and the liar in wait by the way. And when 33 we arrived at Jerusalem, we remained there three days. Then on the fourth the silver, the gold, and the vessels were weighed in the house of our God into the hands of Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the priest; and with him was Eleazar, the son of Phinehas, and with them were 34 Jozabad, the son of Jeshua, and Noadiah, the son of Binnui, the Levites. The whole was numbered and weighed, and the weight of ev-
35 erything was recorded. At that time those who had come from the captivity, the returned exiles, offered burnt-offerings to the God of Israel, twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, twelve he-goats for a sin-offering; the whole was a burnt-offering 36 to the LORD. Moreover they delivered the king's commission to the king's satraps and to the governors of the provinces beyond the River. And they gave support to the people and the house of God.

THE EXPULSION OF FOREIGN WIVES, 9:1—10:17

9 Now when these things had been completed the princes approached me and said,

“The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, from their abominations, even from the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they have taken wives of their daughters for themselves and their sons, so that the holy race has mixed itself with the peoples of the lands, and the hands of the princes and the rulers have been foremost in this inconstancy.”

3 Now when I heard this thing, I rent my garment and my mantle, and tore the hair from my head and my beard, and sat down appalled.

4 Then were assembled to me all who trembled at the words of the God of Israel, because of the inconstancy of the exiles gathered about me

5 as I sat appalled until the evening oblation. But at the evening oblation I arose from my self-abasement, and having torn my inner garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees and spread out my hands

6 to the LORD my God and said,

“O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God, for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads and our

7 guilt has grown even to the heavens. Since the days of our fathers even to this day we have been involved in great guilt, and for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, captivity, plunder, and 8 confusion of face as it is this day. And now for a little while there has been favor from the LORD our God, in that he has left us an escaped remnant and given us a stake in his holy place that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reinvigoration in our bond-

9 age. For we are slaves; yet in our bondage our God has not forsaken us, but has extended to us grace in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us a reinvigoration to raise up the house of our God, to repair its

10 ruins, and to give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken thy

11 commandments, which thou hast commanded by thy servants the prophets, saying, “The land which you go to possess is an unclean land because of the uncleanness of the peoples of the lands, through their abominable rites, which have filled it from one end to the other with 12 their uncleanness. Now therefore do not give your daughters to their sons, nor take their daughters as wives for your sons, nor seek their peace nor their prosperity forever, that you may be strong, and enjoy 13 the good of the land and cause your children to inherit it forever.'

Now after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and our great guilt, inasmuch as thou, O our God, hast punished us less than our 14 iniquities deserve, and hast given us a remnant such as this, shall we again break thy commandments, and make marriage alliances with the peoples who perform these abominable rites? Wouldst thou not be enraged at us until thou hadst consumed us, until neither remnant nor 15 survivor was left? O LORD, the God of Israel, thou art righteous; for we are left a remnant that has escaped as it is this day. Behold we are before thee in our guilt, for none can stand before thee because of this."

10 Now while Ezra was praying and making confession, weeping and casting himself down before the house of God, there was gathered together to him out of Israel a very great assembly of men, women,
2 and children; for the people wept bitterly. Then Shecaniah, the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra,

"We have acted unfaithfully against our God and have married foreign wives of the people of the land, yet now there is hope for Israel concerning this thing. Now therefore let us make a covenant
3 with our God to put away all the wives and those born of them, according to the counsel of my lord and of those who tremble at the 4 command of our God, and let it be done according to the law. Arise, for it is your task, and we are with you; be strong and act."

5 Then Ezra arose and made the chiefs of the priests, the Levites and all Israel swear that they would do according to this proposal.

6 So they took oath. Thereupon Ezra rose up from before the house of God and went into the chamber of Jehohanan, the son of Eliashib, and when he came there he neither ate bread nor drank water, for he continued to mourn because of the unfaithfulness of the exiles. Then they issued a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all the 7 returned exiles to gather themselves together at Jerusalem; and that
8 whoever did not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the elders, all his property should be confiscated and he himself be excluded from the assembly of the exiles.

9 Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered themselves to Jerusalem within the three days (this was in the twentieth day of the ninth month). And all the people sat in the open space before the house of God, trembling on account of the occasion itself and also

¹⁰ because of the pouring rain. Thereupon Ezra the priest arose and said to them,

¹¹ "You have broken faith and have married foreign wives to increase the guilt of Israel. Now therefore make confession to the LORD, the God your fathers, and do his will and separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from the foreign wives."

¹² Then all the assembly answered and said with a loud voice,

¹³ "It is necessary to do as you have said concerning us. But the people are many, and it is the rainy season, and we cannot stand outside, and this is not a task of one day or two, for we have lamentably transgressed in this matter. Let now our princes represent the whole assembly and let all those in our cities who have married foreign wives come at appointed times and with the elders of each city and its judges, in order to turn aside the fierce wrath of our God from us because of this matter."

¹⁵ Only Jonathan, the son of Asahel and Jahzeiah, the son of Tikvah, opposed this, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite supported them. Then the returned exiles took action thus: Ezra the priest and certain heads of families according to their fathers' houses, and all of them by their names were selected; and they held a sitting on the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter. Accordingly they finished dealing with all the men who had married foreign wives by the first day of the first month.

LISTS OF MEN MARRIED TO FOREIGNERS, 10:13-44

¹⁸ Now among the descendants of the priests who had married foreign women were found the sons of Jeshua, the sons of Jozadak, and his clansmen: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah. And they gave their hand that they would divorce their wives; and their guilt-offering was a ram of the flock for their guilt. Also the sons of Immer: ²¹ Hanani and Zebadiah; of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, ²² Shemaiah, Jehiel and Uziah; of the sons of Pashur: Elioenai, ²³ Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasa; of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (the same is Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and ²⁴ Eliezer; of the singers: Eliashib and Zaccur; and of the doorkeepers, Shallum, Telem, and Uri.

²⁵ Finally of Israel: of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Izziyah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazer, Malchijah, and Benaiah; of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Elijah; ²⁷ of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Za-

²⁸ bad, and Aziza; of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, ²⁹ Athlai; of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, ³⁰ Sheal and Jeremoth; of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, Chelal, ³¹ Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh; of ³² the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, ³³ Benjamin, Malluch, Shemariah; of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, ³⁴ Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, Shimei; of the sons
³⁵ of Bani: Maadai, Amram, Joel, Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhi, Vaniah, ³⁶ Meremoth, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Mattenai, Jaasu; of the sons of ³⁷ Binnui: Shimei, Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah, Machnadebai, Shashai, ³⁸ Sharai, Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, Shallum, Amariah, Joseph; ³⁹ of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Iddo, Joel, ⁴⁰
⁴¹ ⁴²
⁴³ Benaiah. All these had taken foreign wives; and they cast off the ⁴⁴ wives and the children.

THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH

NEHEMIAH'S PRAYER FOR JERUSALEM, 1:1-11

1 The account of Nehemiah, the son of Hacaliah.

Now it happened in the month of Chislev, in the twentieth year,
2 as I was in the citadel of Shushan, that Hanani, one of my kinsmen, came, together with certain men from Judah, and I asked them concerning the Jews who had escaped, who were left from the captivity
3 and concerning Jerusalem. Accordingly they said to me,

“The survivors who are left from the captivity there in the province are in great misery and reproach, and the wall of Jerusalem is broken down and its gates have been destroyed by fire.”

4 Now when I heard these words, I sat down and wept and mourned certain days; and I fasted and prayed before the God of the heavens,
5 and I said,

“I beseech thee, O LORD, the God of the heavens, the great and terrible God, who keeps his gracious covenant with those who love
6 him and keep his commandments. Let thine ears now be attentive and thine eyes open, to hear the prayer of thy servant, which I am making before thee, day and night, for the Israelites thy servants, while I confess, concerning the sins of the Israelites, which we have sinned against thee, as I myself also and my father's family have sinned.
7 We have acted corruptly against thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the ordinances, which thou didst
8 command Moses, thy servant. Remember now the word which thou didst command Moses, thy servant, saying, ‘If you trespass, I will scatter you among the peoples; but if you return to me, and keep my commandments and do them, though your outcasts be under the remotest skies, yet will I gather them thence and bring them to the place that
9 I have chosen, there to cause my name to dwell.’ Now these are thy servants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power
10 and by thy mighty hand. O LORD, I beseech thee, let thine ear now be attentive to the prayer of thy servant and to the prayer of thy servants, who delight to fear thy name; and prosper, I pray thee, thy servant this day, and grant him mercies in the sight of this man.”

NEHEMIAH SENT TO JERUSALEM AS ROYAL COMMISSIONER, 2:1-10

2 Now I was cupbearer to the king. Accordingly it was in the month Nisan in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, the king, when the wine was served, that I took up the wine and gave it to the king. And I

2 had not formerly been sad. Therefore the king said to me,
 "Why is your countenance sad, since you are not ill? This is nothing else but sorrow of heart."

3 Then I was exceedingly frightened, and I said to the king,
 "Let the king live forever: Why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' sepulchres is desolate, and its gates have been destroyed by fire."

4 Thereupon the king said to me,
 "For what then do you make request?"

5 So I prayed to the God of the heavens. And I said to the king,
 "If it please the king, and if your servant is acceptable in your sight, that you would send me to Judah to the city of my fathers' sepulchres, that I may rebuild it."

6 Then the king said to me, the queen also being seated beside him,
 "For how long will your journey be? And when will you return?"

7 However it pleased the king to let me go; for I proposed to him a time limit. Moreover I said to the king,

"If it please the king, let letters be given me to the governors of the provinces beyond the River, that they may let me pass through until I come to Judah, and a letter to Asaph, the keeper of the king's park, that he may give me timber to furnish the beams for the gates of the citadel, which belongs to the temple, and for the walls of the city, and for the house that I shall enter."

And the king granted my request, according to the good hand of my God that was upon me.

9 Then I came to the governors of the provinces beyond the River, and gave them the king's letters. Moreover the king had sent with me army officers and horsemen. But when Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite slave heard of it, it caused them great irritation that a man had come to seek the welfare of the Israelites.

NEHEMIAH BEGINS REBUILDING THE CITY WALLS, 2:11-20

11 So I came to Jerusalem and was there three days. Then I arose in the night, I and a few men with me, and I told no man what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem, neither was there any beast

13 with me except the beast on which I rode. Accordingly I went out by night through the Valley Gate, even toward the Serpent's Well and to the Refuse Gate, and I examined in detail the walls of Jerusalem, 14 which were broken down, and its gates destroyed by fire. So I passed on to the Fountain Gate and to the King's Pool, but there was no 15 place for the beast that was under me to pass. Then I went on up in the night by the valley carefully examining the wall, whereupon I 16 turned back and entered by the Valley Gate and so returned. And the rulers did not know whither I had gone or what I had been doing, neither had I as yet told it to the Jews nor to the priests nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers nor to the rest who did the work.

17 Then I said to them,

"You see the serious condition in which we are, how Jerusalem is desolate and its gates are destroyed by fire. Come and let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no longer an object of reproach."

18 Then I told them of the good hand of my God that was with me, and also of the king's words that he said to me. Thereupon they said, "Let us arise and build."

19 So they took courage for the good work. But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the Ammonite slave, and Geshem the Arabian heard it they derided and despised us, and said,

"What is this thing that you are doing? Are you about to rebel against the king?"

20 Then I answered and said to them,

"The God of the heavens, he will prosper us, therefore we his servants will arise and build; but you have no portion nor right nor memorial in Jerusalem."

THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE WORK, 3:1-32

3 Then Eliashib the high priest arose with his kinsmen the priests and built the Sheep Gate; they sanctified it and set up its doors, even to the Tower of the Hundred they sanctified it, and to the Tower of 2 Hananel. And next to him the men of Jericho built. And next to them Zaccur, the son of Imri, built.

3 The sons of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they laid its beams 4 and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars. Next to them Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, made repairs; and next to them Meshullam, the son of Berachiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs. And next to them repaired Zadok, the son of Baana. Next to them repaired the Tekoites; but their nobles did not bend their necks in the service of their lord.

6 The Old Gate Joiada, the son of Paseah, and Meshullam, the son of Besodeiah, repaired. They laid its beams and set up its doors, and 7 its bolts, and its bars. Next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon and Mizpeth belonging to the goldsmiths; and next to him Hananiah, one of the perfumers, re-
8 paired. Next to them repaired Uzziel, the son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths; and next to him Hananiah, one of the perfumers, re-
9 paired. Thus they fortified Jerusalem even to the broad wall. Then next to them Rephiah, the son of Hur, the ruler of half the district
10 of Jerusalem, repaired. Next to them repaired Jedaiah, the son of Harumaph, opposite his house; and next to him Hattush, the son of Hashabneiah, repaired. Malchijah, the son of Harim, and Hasshub, the son of Pahath-moab, repaired another section even to the Tower
12 of the Furnaces. Next to him Shallum, the son of Halohesh, the ruler of half the district of Jerusalem, together with his daughters, re-
13 paired. The Valley Gate Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired; they built it and set up its doors, its bolts, and its bars, as well
14 as one thousand cubits of the wall to the Refuse Gate. The Refuse Gate itself Malchijah, the son of Rechab, the ruler of the district of Beth-cherem, repaired; he built it and set up its gates, its bolts, and its bars.

15 The Fountain Gate Shallum, the son of Colhozeh, the ruler of the district of Mizpeth repaired; he built it and covered it, and set up its doors, its bolts and its bars, he too built the wall of the pool of Siloam by the King's Garden even to the stairs that go down from the city
16 of David. After him Nehemiah, the son of Azbuk, the ruler of half the district of Bethzur, repaired to the place opposite the sepulchres of David, even to the artificial pool and the House of the Heroes.
17 After him repaired the Levites, including Rehum, the son of Bani; next to him Hashabiah, the ruler of half the district of Keilah, re-
18 paired for his district. After him their kinsmen, Bennui, the son of Henadad, the ruler of half the district of Keilah, repaired. Ezer, the son of Jeshua, the ruler of Mizpeth, repaired next to him another sec-
20 tion opposite the ascent to the armory at the corner buttress. After him Baruch, the son of Zabbai, repaired in the direction of the hill another section from the corner buttress to the entrance of the house 21 of Eliashib, the high priest. After him Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired another section, from the entrance of the

- 22 house of Eliashib even to the end of the house of Eliashib. And after 23 him the priests, the men of the Plain, repaired. After them Benjamin and Hasshub repaired opposite their house; and after them Azariah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, repaired beside his house.
24 After him Binnui, the son of Henadad, repaired another section, from 25 the house of Azariah to the corner buttress and to the corner. Palal, the son of Uzai, repaired opposite the corner buttress and the upper tower that extends out from the king's house, which is toward the court of the guard. After him Pedaiah, the son of Parosh, repaired.
26 (Now the temple servants dwelt in Ophel as far as the place over the 27 Water Gate eastward and the projecting tower.) After him the Tekoites repaired another section opposite the great projecting tower as far as the wall of Ophel.
- 28 The priests repaired above the Horse Gate, each one opposite his 29 own house. After them Zadok, the son of Immer, repaired opposite his house. And after him Shemaiah, the son of Shechaniah, the keeper 30 of the East Gate, repaired. After him Hananiah, the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section.
After him Meshullam, the son of Berachiah, repaired opposite his 31 chamber. After him Malchijah, one of the goldsmiths, repaired as far as the house of the temple servants and the merchants, opposite 32 the Gate of the Muster and the ascent of the corner. And between the ascent of the corner and the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and the merchants repaired.

OPPOSITION TO THE BUILDING ENTERPRISE, 4:1-9

- 4 Now when Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he 2 was enraged and very indignant and derided the Jews. Accordingly he spoke before his kinsmen and the army of Samaria and said,
"What are these feeble Jews doing? Will they fortify themselves? Will they sacrifice? Will they finish it in a day? Will they revive the stones out of the rubbish heaps, although they are burned?"
3 Now Tobiah the Ammonite was with him, and he said,
"Even that which they are building, if a fox should go up he would break down their stone wall."
4 "Hear, O our God—for we are despised—and turn back their reproach upon their own head, and make them an object of plunder in 5 a land of captivity, and cover not their iniquity and let not their sin be blotted out from thy sight, for they have provoked thee to anger before the builders."

6 So we built the wall; and all the wall was joined together to half 7 its height, for the people had a mind to work. But when Sanballat, and Tobiah and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the restoration of the walls of Jerusalem was going forward so that the breaches began to be stopped, they were in a great 8 rage. Accordingly all of them conspired together to come and make 9 war on Jerusalem, and make confusion therein. But we made supplication to our God, and set a watch as a protection against them day and night.

MEASURES OF PROTECTION, 4:10-23

Then Judah said,

10 "The strength of the burden-bearers is overtaxed, for there is much rubbish; so that we are not able to go on with the wall."

11 Moreover our adversaries said,

"They shall neither know nor see, until we come into their midst, and slay them and cause the work to cease."

12 And when the Jews came who dwelt beside them, they said to us ten times,

"From all the places where they dwell they will come up against us."

13 Therefore I assigned some of the lowest parts of the space behind the wall in the exposed places, and appointed the people according to 14 families with their swords, their spears, and their bows. And when I saw, I arose and said to the nobles and to the rulers and to the rest of the people,

"Be not afraid of them. Remember the LORD, who is great and terrible, and fight for your kinsmen, your sons and your daughters, your wives and your houses."

15 Now when our enemies heard that it was known to us, and that God had frustrated their counsel, we all returned to the wall, each to 16 his own task. Moreover from that day forth while half of my men went on with the work half of them held the spears, the shields, the bows and the coats of mail; and the rulers supported all the house of 17 Judah. The builders on the wall and those who bore burdens were also armed, each with one hand carried on the work and with the 18 other held his weapon; and each of the builders had his sword girded 19 by his side as he built. And the trumpeter was by me. Moreover I said to the nobles and to the rulers and to the rest of the people,

"The work is great and far-extended, and we upon the wall are ²⁰ separated far from each other. In whatever place you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally to us there; our God will fight for us.”

²¹ Thus we went on with the work, while half of them held the ²² spears from the beginning of dawn until the stars came out. Also at that time I said to the people,

“Let each man with his servant lodge within Jerusalem, that they may be a guard to us by night and ready for the work by day.”

²³ So neither I, nor my kinsmen, nor my servants, nor the men of the guard who escorted me, none of us took off our clothes, each kept his weapon in his hand.

NEHEMIAH REBUKES THE RICH OPPRESSORS BY PRECEPT AND EXAMPLE, 5:1-19

⁵ Now there arose a great outcry of the people and their wives against ² their Jewish kinsmen. For there were those who said,

“We are giving our sons and our daughters in pledge in order to secure grain that we may eat and live.”

³ There were also those who were saying,

“We are giving our fields and our vineyards and our houses in pledge that we may secure grain because of the famine.”

⁴ There were those too who were saying,

⁵ “We have borrowed money for the king’s tribute. Now our flesh is as the flesh of our kinsmen, our children are as their children; but here we are bringing our sons and our daughters into slavery, and some of our daughters are already enslaved; neither is it in our power to help it, for others possess our fields and our vineyards.”

⁶ Then I was exceedingly angry when I heard their complaint and ⁷ these assertions. Thereupon after thinking it over, I contended with the nobles and governors and said to them,

“You are taking interest each of his own kinsmen.”

⁸ So I held a great assembly against them. And I said to them,

“We have, according to our ability, redeemed our Jewish kinsmen who have been sold to the nations; and would you yourselves even sell your kinsmen and should they sell themselves to us?”

⁹ Then they were silent and had nothing to say. Therefore I said,

“The thing that you are doing is not good. Ought you not to walk in the fear of our God, because of the reproach of the nations our ¹⁰ enemies? For I also, my kinsmen and my servants, lend them money ¹¹ and grain. Let us, I pray you, leave off this interest. Restore now to them at once their fields, their vineyards, their olive yards, and their houses, the hundredth part of the money, the grain, the wine, and the oil that you exact of them.”

12 Then they said,

“We will restore and will require nothing of them; we will do precisely as you say.”

Then I called the priests and made them take oath to do according 13 to this promise. Also I shook out the bosom of my garment, and said, “So may God shake out every man from his house and from the fruit of his labor who does not keep this promise; even thus may he be shaken out and emptied.”

And all the assembly said,

“Amen.”

And they praised the LORD, and the people did according to this promise.

14 Moreover from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year and even to the thirty-

15 I nor my kinsmen had eaten the bread due the governor. But the former governors who were before me laid a heavy burden on the people, and took of them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver, also their servants domineered over the people. But I did

16 not do so, because of the fear of God. Also I was occupied with the work of this wall, and we bought no land; and all my servants gath-

17 ered there for the work. Moreover the Jews and the rulers, a hundred and fifty men, besides those who came to us from the surround-

18 ing nations, were at my table. Now that which was prepared for each day was one ox and six choice sheep and fowls. They were prepared for me, and once in ten days skins of wine in abundance. But even so

I did not exact the bread due the governor, because the service was 19 burdensome upon this people. Remember to my credit, O my God, all that I have done for this people.

FUTILE EFFORTS TO FRUSTRATE NEHEMIAH, 6:1-19

6 Now when it was reported to Sanballat and Tobiah and to Geshem, the Arabian, and to the rest of our enemies, that I had rebuilt the wall and that there was no breach left in it—though even at that time I

2 had not set up the doors in the gates—Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying,

“Come and let us meet together in one of the villages in the plain of Ono.”

3 But they intended me harm. So I sent messengers to them, saying,
"I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down; why should the work cease, while I leave it and come down to you?"

4 But they sent to me four times in this manner, and I replied in the 5 same manner. Then Sanballat sent his servant to me in the same 6 manner a fifth time with an open letter in his hand, in which was written,

"It is reported among the nations, and Geshem affirms it, that you and the Jews are planning to rebel, therefore you are rebuilding the 7 wall, and that you would be their king, and that you have also appointed prophets to preach of you at Jerusalem, saying, 'There is a king in Judah.' And now it will be reported to the king according to these words. Come now, therefore, and let us take counsel together."

8 Then I sent to him, saying,

"No such things as you say have been done, but you have invented them in your own mind."

9 For they all would terrify us, saying,

"Their hands shall be weakened from the work, that it may not be done."

But do thou strengthen my hands.

10 Moreover when I went to the house of Shemaiah, the son of De-laiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was confined at home, he said,

"Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us shut the doors of the temple, for they are coming to slay you, and they are going to slay you by night."

11 But I said,

"Should a man like me flee? And how should any one like me enter into the temple to save his life? I will not enter."

12 Then I perceived clearly that God had not sent him; but he declared his prophecy concerning me because Tobiah and Sanballat had 13 hired him, that I might be afraid and act accordingly and sin; and furnish them an evil report, in order that they might reproach me.

14 Remember, O my God, Tobiah and Sanballat according to these their works, and also the prophets, Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who would have frightened me.

15 So the wall was finished in the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-16 two days. And when all our enemies heard, all the nations round about us feared and fell decidedly in their own esteem, for they perceived that this work had been done with the help of our God.

17 Moreover in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters to 13 Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came to them. For many in Judah were under oath to him, because he was the son-in-law of Shechaniah, the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam, the son of Berachiah. Also they were praising his good deeds before me and reporting my words to him. Then Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

LISTS OF THE POPULATION OF JUDEA, 7:1-73

7 Now when the wall had been rebuilt and I had set up the doors, and the doorkeepers and the singers and the Levites had been appointed, I put Hanani my brother and Hananiah, the commander of the castle, in charge of Jerusalem; for he was a faithful man and 3 feared God more than many. Then I said to them,

“Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot, and while they are still on guard let them shut the doors and bar them; and appoint watches of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, each to his watch and each opposite his own house.”

4 Now the city was wide and large; the people therein were few and 5 the houses were not built. Accordingly my God put it into my mind to gather together the nobles and the rulers and the people, in order to reckon them by genealogies. And I found the book of the genealogy of those who came up first. And I found written therein:

6 These are the inhabitants of the province, who went up out of the captivity of those who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had carried away, and who returned to Jerusalem 7 and Judah, each to his city, who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah. The number of men of the people of Israel was:

8 The descendants of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two; the descendants of Shephetaiah, three hundred and seventy-9 two; the descendants of Arah, six hundred and fifty-two; the descendants of Pahath-moab, of the descendants of Jeshua and Joab,
 10 two thousand eight hundred and eighteen; the descendants of Elam,
 11 one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; the descendants of Zattu, 12 eight hundred and forty-five; the descendants of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty; the descendants of Binnui, six hundred and forty-13 eight; the descendants of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-eight; the descendants of Azgad, two thousand three hundred and twenty-two;
 14 the descendants of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-seven; the de-

 19

20 scendants of Bigvai, two thousand sixty-seven; the descendants of 21 Adin, six hundred and fifty-five; the descendants of Ater, of Heze-22 kiah, ninety-eight; the descendants of Hashum, three hundred and 23 twenty-eight; the descendants of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-24 four; the descendants of Hariph, one hundred and twelve; the de-25 scendants of Gibeon, ninety-five; the men of Bethlehem and Netoph-26 ah, one hundred and eighty-eight; the men of Anathoth, one hundred 27 and twenty-eight; the men of Beth-azmaveth, forty-two; the men of 28 Kirjath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-29 three; the men of Rama and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one;
30 the men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two; the men of 31 Bethel and Ai, one hundred and twenty-three; the men of the other 32 Nebo, fifty-two; the descendants of the other Elam, one thousand 33 two hundred and fifty-four; the descendants of Harim, three hun-34 dred and twenty; the men of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five;
35 the men of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-one;
36 the descendants of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred and thirty.

39 The priests were: the descendants of Jedaiah, of the house of 40 Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three; the descendants of Immer, 41 one thousand and fifty-two; the descendants of Pashur, one thousand 42 two hundred and forty-seven; the descendants of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

43 The Levites were: the descendants of Jeshua, namely, of Kadmiel
44 of the descendants of Hodevah, seventy-four; the singers: the de-45 scendants of Asaph, one hundred and forty-eight; the doorkeepers:
the descendants of Shallum, the descendants of Ater, the descendants of Talmon, the descendants of Akkub, the descendants of Hatita, the descendants of Shobai, one hundred and thirty-eight.

46 The temple servants were: the descendants of Ziha, the descend-
47 ants of Hasupha, the descendants of Tabbaoth, the descendants of 48 Keros, the descendants of Sia, the descendants of Padon, the descendants of Lebana, the descendants of Hagaba, the descendants of Sal-49 mai, the descendants of Hanan, the descendants of Giddel, the de-50 scendants of Gahar, the descendants of Reaiah, the descendants of Re-51 zin, the descendants of Nekoda, the descendants of Gazzam, the de-52 scendants of Uzza, the descendants of Paseah, the descendants of Besai, the descendants of the Meunites, the descendants of Nephushesim, 53 the descendants of Bakbuk, the descendants of Hakupha, the descend-
54 ants of Harhur, the descendants of Bozlith, the descendants of Me-

55 hida, the descendants of Harsha, the descendants of Barkos, the de-56 scendants of Sisera, the descendants of Temah, the descendants of Neziah, the descendants of Hatipha.

57 The descendants of Solomon's servants were: the descendants of 58 Sotai, the descendants of Sophereth, the descendants of Perida, the descendants of Jaala, the descendants of Darkon, the descendants of 59 Giddel, the descendants of Shephatiah, the descendants of Hattil, the 60 descendants of Pochereth-hazzebaim, the descendants of Amon. All the temple servants and the descendants of Solomon's servants were 61 three hundred and ninety-two. And these were they who went up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer; but they could not show their fathers' lineage nor their descent, whether 62 they were of Israel. These were the descendants of Delaiah, the descendants of Tobiah, the descendants of Nekoda, six hundred and 63 forty-two. Also of the priests: the descendants of Hobaiah, the descendants of Hakkoz, the descendants of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai, the Gileadite, and was called by their 64 name. These sought their register among those reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found; therefore they were deposed from the 65 priesthood as unclean. And the governor said to them, that they should not eat of the most holy things, until a priest stood up with the Urim and Thummin.

66 The whole assembly together was forty-two thousand three hun-
67 dred and sixty, besides their male and female slaves of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. They also had 68 two hundred and forty-five singing men and singing women. Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six; their mules, two hundred 69 and forty-five; camels, four hundred and thirty-five; asses, six thou-70 sand seven hundred and twenty. Now some from among the heads of families gave to the work. The governor gave to the treasury a thousand darics of gold, fifty basins, five hundred minas of silver, and 71 thirty priests' garments. And some of the heads of families gave into the treasury for the work twenty-two thousand darics of gold and two 72 thousand two hundred minas of silver. And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty-two thousand darics of gold, and two 73 thousand minas of silver, and sixty-seven priestly garments. So the priests, the Levites, and the doorkeepers, the singers, the common people, the temple servants, and all Israel dwelt in their cities.

THE JEWS BIND THEMSELVES TO THE OBSERVANCE OF EZRA'S
LAW, 8:1—10:39

- 8 And when the seventh month drew near, the Israelites were in their cities, and all the people gathered themselves together as one man to the broad place that was before the Water Gate, and they told Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the LORD had² commanded Israel. Then Ezra the priest brought the law before the assembly of men and women, and all that could hear discerningly,³ upon the first day of the seventh month. Moreover he read from it before the open place that was before the Water Gate from daylight until midday, in the presence of the men and women and of those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the⁴ book of the law. Now Ezra the scribe stood upon a raised wooden platform which they made for the purpose; and beside him stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiyah, and Maaseiah, on his right hand, and on his left Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum,⁵ Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam. Then Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people—for he was above all the people—⁶ and when he opened it all the people stood up. Thereupon Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God. And all the people answered, "Amen, Amen," with uplifted hands as they bowed with their faces to the⁷ ground and worshipped the LORD. Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites instructed the people in the law, and⁸ the people remained in their place. Thus they read in the book of the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense so that they understood the reading.
- 9 Then Nehemiah, who was the governor, and Ezra the priest, the scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people,
"This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn nor weep."
For all the people wept when they heard the words of the law.
- ¹⁰ Thereupon he said to them,
"Go your way, eat the fat and drink the sweet, and send portions to him for whom nothing is prepared, for this day is holy to the LORD; and do not be depressed, for the joy of the LORD is your refuge."
- ¹¹ So the Levites quieted all the people, saying,
"Be still, for the day is holy, and do not be depressed."
- ¹² Then all the people departed to eat and drink and to send portions and to make a great celebration, for they had understood the words which had been made known to them.

13 Now on the second day the heads of families of all the people, the priests and the Levites were gathered together to Ezra the scribe, in 14 order to comprehend the words of the law. And they found written in the law how the LORD had commanded by Moses that the Israel-
 15 ites should dwell in booths at the feast of the seventh month; and that they should announce and make a proclamation throughout all their cities as well as in Jerusalem, saying,

“Go forth to the mountain and bring olive foliage and leafy branches of wild olive and myrtle and palm branches, and branches of thick trees to make booths, as it is written.”

16 So the people went forth and brought them and made for themselves booths, each upon the roof of his house and in their courts and in the courts of the house of God and in the open place at the Water Gate
 17 and in the open place at the Gate of Ephraim. Thus all the assembly of returned exiles made booths and lived in the booths; for since the days of Joshua, the son of Nun, to that day the Israelites had not done
 18 so, and there was very great gladness. Accordingly, day by day, from the first to the last day, he read in the book of the law of God. And they kept the feast seven days, and in the eighth day, there was a sacred assembly according to the ordinance.

9 Now on the twenty-fourth day of this month, the Israelites were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth and earth upon their heads.
 2 Moreover the descendants of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners, and stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their
 3 fathers. And they stood up in their place and read in the book of the law of the LORD their God a fourth part of the day; and a fourth
 4 part they confessed and worshipped the LORD their God. Then Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, stood on the stairs of the Levites and cried with a loud voice to 5 the LORD their God. Also the Levites Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah said, “Arise and bless the LORD your God from everlasting to everlasting; and blessed be thy glorious name which is exalted above all blessing and praise.”

And Ezra said,

6 “Thou art the LORD, even thou alone; thou hast made the heavens and the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and all things upon it, the seas and all that is in them, and thou preservest them all
 7 and the host of heaven worships thee. Thou art the LORD God, who didst choose Abraham and brought him out of Ur of the Chaldees,

- 8 and didst give him the name of Abraham, and didst find his heart faithful before thee and madest a covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Girgashites, to give it to his descendants, and hast fulfilled thy words, for thou art righteous.
- 9 “Moreover thou didst see the affliction of our fathers in Egypt and 10 hear their cry by the Red Sea, and didst show signs and wonders upon Pharaoh and upon all his servants, and upon all the people of his land; for thou knewest that they acted insolently toward them; and 11 didst get thee a name as it is this day. Thou didst also divide the sea before them, so that they passed through the sea on the dry land; and thou didst cast their pursuers into the depths as a stone into the mighty waters.
- 12 “Furthermore by a pillar of cloud by day thou leddest them, and by a pillar of fire by night thou didst illumine the way in which they 13 should go. Thou camest down also upon Mount Sinai, and spakest with them from the heavens, and gavest them right ordinances and true
14 laws, good statutes and commandments, and madest known to them thy holy sabbath, and gavest them commandments and statutes and a 15 law by Moses thy servant, and gavest them bread from the heavens for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rock for their thirst, and commandest them that they should go in to possess the land which thou hadst sworn to give them.
- 16 “But they and our fathers acted arrogantly and stubbornly and 17 heeded not thy commandments, and refused to listen, neither were mindful of thy wonders which thou didst among them, but acted stub-
18 bornly, and set their head to return to their bondage in Egypt. Yea, when they had made for themselves a molten bull and said, ‘This is thy God that brought thee out of Egypt,’ and wrought great blas-
19 phemies, yet thou in thy great mercy didst not forsake them in the desert; the pillar of cloud departed not from over them by day to lead them in the way, nor the pillar of fire by night to illumine the way in 20 which they should go. Thou gavest also thy good spirit to instruct them, and withheldst not thy manna from their mouth, and gavest 21 them water for their thirst. Yea, forty years didst thou sustain them in the desert, and they lacked nothing: their clothes did not wear out nor did their feet blister.
- 22 “Moreover thou gavest them kingdoms and peoples, which thou didst allot according to their territory, so they possessed the land of 23 Sihon, king of Heshbon, and the land of Og, king of Bashan. Thou didst also increase their children as the stars of the heavens, and broughtest them into the land concerning which thou didst say to their 24 fathers, that they should go in to possess it. So the children went in and possessed the land, and thou didst subdue before them the Canaanite population of the land, and didst give them into their hand, with their kings and the peoples of the land, that they might do with them

25 as they would. Accordingly they took fortified cities and a fertile land, and possessed houses full of all good things, and cisterns hewn out, vineyards, oliveyards, and fruit trees in abundance. So they ate and were filled, and became fat and lived bountifully in thy great
26 goodness. Nevertheless they were disobedient and rebelled against thee and cast thy law behind their back and sl w thy prophets, who testified against them to turn them again to thee, and committed great
27 blasphemies. Therefore thou didst deliver them into the hands of their adversaries, who tormented them. Then in the time of their distress, when they cried to thee, thou heardest from the heavens and according to thy manifold mercy thou didst give them deliverers who saved
28 them out of the hand of their adversaries. But as soon as they had rest, they did evil again before thee; therefore thou didst leave them in the hands of their enemies, so that they ruled over them, yet when they again cried to thee, thou didst hear from the heavens, and many
29 times didst thou deliver them in accordance with thy mercy, and didst testify against them, in order to restore them to thy law. Yet they acted insolently and did not heed thy commandments, but sinned against thy ordinances—which if a man keep he shall live—and turned a stubborn
30 shoulder and acted obstinately and would not listen. Yet many years thou didst bear with them, and didst testify against them by thy spirit through thy prophets; still they would not listen. Therefore 31 thou gavest them into the hands of the peoples of the lands. Nevertheless in thy manifold mercy thou didst not annihilate them nor forsake them, for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 “Now therefore, our God, the great, the mighty and the terrible God, who keepest covenant and grace, let not all the distress seem insignificant before thee, that has come on us, on our kings, our princes, our priests, our prophets, our fathers, and on all thy people, since the 33 days of the kings of Assyria to this day. However thou art just in all that has come upon us; for thou hast exemplified the truth, but we 34 have done wickedly, neither have our kings, our princes, our priests, nor our fathers, kept thy law nor observed thy commandments nor thy 35 testimonies with which thou didst testify against them. For they did not serve thee in their kingdom and in spite of thy great goodness which thou didst bestow on them, and the large and fat land thou gavest them, they have not turned from their evil deeds. Behold, we this day are slaves, and as for the land that thou gavest to our fathers to enjoy its fruit and its good gifts, we are only slaves in it. Moreover it yields a large income to the kings whom thou hast set over us because of our sin; also they have power over our bodies and over our cattle according to their pleasure, and we are in great distress.

“Now in view of all this we make and sign a binding covenant and our nobles, our Levites, and our priests are enrolled upon the sealed document.”

Those included in the sealed document were Nehemiah, the governor, the son of Hachaliah, and Zedekiah, Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, Pashur, Amariah, Malchijah, Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah; these were the priests. And the Levites were: Jeshua the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, Kadmiel; also their kinsmen, Shechaniah, Hodaviah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah, Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, Hodijah, Bani, Beninu. The chiefs of the people were: Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, Hariph, Anathoth, Nobai, Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, Pelatiah, Hanan, Ananiah, Hoshéa, Hananiah, Hasshub, Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, Ahiah, Hanan, Anan, Malluch, Harim, Baanah.

“Moreover the rest of the people, the priests, the Levites, the doorkeepers, the singers, the temple servants, and all those who had separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and insight, are supporting their kinsmen, their nobles, and take oath, under penalty of a curse, to walk in the law of God which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our lord, and his ordinances and his statutes; and that we refuse to give our daughters to the peoples of the land nor will we take their daughters as wives for our sons; and that, if the peoples of the land bring wares or any grain on the Sabbath day to sell we will not buy of them on the sabbath or on a holy day; and that in the seventh year we will leave the land fallow and refrain from the exaction of any debt.

32 "We also lay upon ourselves the charge to give the third part of a 33 shekel yearly for the service of the house of our God, for the bread that is arranged in layers, and for the continual burnt-offering, for the sabbaths, the new moons, the fixed festivals, and the holy things and for the sin-offerings to make atonement for Israel, and for all the work of the 34 house of our God. Moreover we cast lots, the priests, the Levites, and the people concerning the wood-offering, to bring it into the house of our God, according to our fathers' houses, at appointed times year by year, to burn upon the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the 35 law; and to bring the first produce of our ground and the first of all fruit of every kind of tree year by year to the house of the LORD; 36 also the first-born of our sons and of our cattle, as it is written in the law, and the firstlings of our herds and our flocks, to bring to the house 37 of our God to the priests who minister in the house of our God; and that we will bring the best product of our kneading troughs, the fruit of every kind of tree, the wine and the oil, to the priests in the chambers of the house of our God; and the tithes of our ground to the Levites; and that they, the Levites, shall take the tithes in all the 38 cities dependent on our agriculture; and that the priest, the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites, when the Levites tithe, and the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithes to the house of our God, to 39 the chambers into the treasure house. For the Israelites and the members of the Levites shall bring the gifts of grain, of wine, and of oil, into the chambers, where are the vessels of the sanctuary, and the priests who minister and the doorkeepers and the singers, and that we will not neglect the house of our God."

THE POPULATION OF JERUSALEM, 11:1—12:26

11 Also the princes of the people cast lots, to bring one out of every ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, while nine-tenths remained in 2 the other cities. The people also blessed all the men who volunteered to dwell in Jerusalem.
 3 Now these are the chief men of the provinces who dwelt in Jerusalem; but in the cities of Judah every man dwelt in his own possession in their cities; Israel, the priests, the Levites, the temple servants, 4 and the descendants of Solomon's servants. Also in Jerusalem dwelt some Judeans and some Benjaminites. Of the Judeans: Athaiah, the son of Uzziyah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son 6 of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel; of the descendants of Perez, all the descendants of Perez who dwelt in Jerusalem were four hundred

5 and sixty-eight able men. And Maaseiah, the son of Baruch, the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of the Shilonite.

7 These are the Benjaminites: Sallu, the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maase-
8 iah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiiah. And his kinsmen were 9 able-bodied warriors, nine hundred and twenty-eight. And Joel, the son of Zichri, was appointed over them; and Judah, the son of Has-senuah, was second in charge of the city.

¹⁰₁₁ Of the priests: Jedaiah, the son of Joiarib, Jachin, and Seraiah, the son of Hilkiyah, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God, and their kinsmen who did the work of the house, eight hundred and twenty-two; and Adaiah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of 12 Zechariah, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah, and his kinsmen, chief men of families, two hundred and forty-two; and Amasai, the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of 13 Immer, and his kinsmen, able-bodied warriors, one hundred and twenty-eight; and Zabdiel, the son of Haggadolim, was appointed over them.

15 And of the Levites: Shemaiah, the son of Hasshub, the son of 16 Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; and Shabbethai and Jozabad, of the chief men of the Levites, who were in charge of the 17 outside work of the house of God; and Mattaniah, the son of Mica, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, was the chief who led the song of praise for the prayer, and Bakbukiah was second among his kinsmen; and Abda, the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.
18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred and eighty-four.

19 Also the doorkeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their kinsmen, who 20 kept the watch at the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two. And the rest of Israel, of the priests, the Levites, were in all the cities of 21 Judah, each man in his own inheritance. Moreover the temple servants dwelt in Ophel; and Ziha and Gishpa were over the temple servants.

22 Now the overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi, the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mica, of the sons of Asaph, the singers, over the work of the house of God.
23 For there was a command from the king concerning them, and a fixed 24 provision for the singers, as each day required. Moreover Pethahiah, the son of Meshezabel, of the descendants of Zerah, the son of Judah, was the king's agent in all matters concerning the people.

25 Now as to the villages with their fields, some of the Judeans dwelt in Kirjath-arba and its dependent towns, in Dibon and its de-26 pendent towns, in Jekabzeel and its villages, in Jeshua, in Moladah, 27 in Bethpelet, in Hazar-shual, and in Beersheba and its dependent 28 towns, and in Ziklag and in Meconah and its dependent towns, in 29 En-rimmon, in Zorah, in Jarmuth, Zanoah, Adullam and their vil-30 lages, Lachish and its fields, Azekah and its dependent towns. So they encamped in the region between Beersheba and the valley of Hinnom.
31 The Benjaminites also dwelt at Geba, Michmash, Aija, Bethel, and its 32 dependent towns, at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, Hazor, Ramath, Git-33 taim, Hadid, Zeboim, Naballat, Lod, and Ono, the valley of the 34 craftsmen. And of the Levites, certain divisions belonged to Judah 35 and to Benjamin.
36

12 Now these are the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerub-
2 babel, the son of Shcaltiel and Jeshua, Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, Ama-
3 riah, Malluch, Hattush, Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, Iddo, Gin-
4 nethoi, Abijah, Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, Shemaiah and Joiarib,
5 Zedaiah, Sallu, Amok, Hilkiyah, Jedaiah. These were the chief men
6 of the priests and of their kinsmen in the days of Jeshua.
7

8 Moreover the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah and Mattaniah, he and his kinsmen were in charge of the thanksgiv-9 ing. Also Bakbukiah and Unno, their kinsmen, stood opposite them in the execution of their official duties.

10 Now Jeshua was the father of Joiakim, and Joiakim was the fa-
11 ther of Eliashib, and Eliashib was the father of Joiada, and Joiada was the father of Jonathan, and Jonathan was the father of Jaddua.

12 And in the days of Joiakim the priests, the heads of families, were:
13 of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; of Ezra, Meshullam;
14 of Amariah, Jehohanan; of Malluchi, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Jo-
15 seph; of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai; of Iddo, Zechariah; 16 of Ginnethon, Meshullam; of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of 17 Moadiah, Piltai; of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan;
18 of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, 19 Eber; of Hilkiyah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.
20

22 As for the Levites, in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua, were recorded as heads of families, also the priests until the 23 reign of Darius the Persian. The descendants of Levi, heads of families were recorded in the Book of Chronicles, even until the days of 24 Johanan, the son of Eliashib. Also the chief men of the Levites were: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua, Bennui, and Kadmiel and their kinsmen opposite them to praise and give thanks, according to the 25 command of David, the man of God, watch succeeding watch. Mattaniah, and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, Akkub were 26 porters keeping watch at the stores of the gates. These were in the days of Joiakim, the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.

THE DEDICATION OF THE CITY WALL, 12:27-47

27 Now at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with all gladness, with thanksgiving and with song,
28 with cymbals, harps and lyres. So the members of the guilds of singers were gathered together from the plains of the Jordan and from the environs of Jerusalem and from the villages of the Netophathites, 29 also from Beth-gilgal and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth; for the singers had built for themselves villages round about Jerusalem. Accordingly the priests and the Levites purified themselves; and they purified the people and the gates and the wall.

31 Then I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and I appointed two great companies that gave thanks, and the one went to the 32 right upon the wall to the Refuse Gate. And behind them went Hoshaiiah and half of the princes of Judah, and Azariah, Ezra, and 33 Meshullam, Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, and certain of 34 the priests' sons with trumpets: Zechariah, the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son
35 of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, and his kinsmen, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David, the man of God. And Ezra the scribe was 37 before them. And by the Fountain Gate, they went straight up the stairs of the city of David at the ascent of the wall above the house of David, even to the Water Gate on the east.

38 Now the other company that gave thanks went to the left, and I after them, with half of the people upon the wall, above the Tower of 39 the Furnaces, even to the Broad Wall, and above the Gate of Ephraim and by the Old Gate and by the Fish Gate and the Tower of Hananel and the Tower of The Hundred, even to the Sheep Gate; and they 40 halted in the Gate of the Guard. So both companies that gave thanks halted at the house of God, and I, and the half of the officials with

41 me; and the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, 42 Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets; and Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer, and the sing-43 ers raised their voices following Jezrahiah their leader. And they offered great sacrifices that day and rejoiced; for God had made them rejoice with great joy, and the women also and the children rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard far away.

44 Moreover on that day men were appointed over the chambers for the treasures, for the gifts, for the first fruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them, for the chiefs of the cities, the portions of thank-giving for the priests and the Levites. For Judah rejoiced in the 45 priests and the Levites who served. And they kept the charge of their God, and the charge of the purification, as did the singers and the gatekeepers, according to the command of David and of Solomon 46 his son. For in the days of David and Asaph of old there was a chief 47 of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. Moreover all Israel, in the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah, gave the portions of the singers and the gatekeepers, as each day required; and they set apart what was for the Levites, and the Levites set apart what was for the sons of Aaron.

NEHEMIAH'S REFORM MEASURES, 13:1-31

13 On that day they read in the book of Moses in the hearing of the people, and it was found written therein that no Ammonite or Moab-2 ite should ever enter into the assembly of God; for they did not meet the Israelites with bread and water, but hired Balaam against them to 3 curse them; but our God turned the curse into a blessing. Accordingly when they heard the law they separated from Israel all the mixed multitude.

4 Now before this, Eliashib the priest, who was appointed over the 5 chambers of the house of our God, being related to Tobiah, had prepared for him a great chamber, where formerly they had put the cer-cal-offerings, the incense, the vessels, and the tithes of grain, the wine, and the oil, which were given by command to the Levites, the 6 singers, and the gatekeepers, and the gifts for the priests. But during all this time I had not been at Jerusalem; for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes, king of Babylon, I went to the king. But after some 7 time, I asked leave of the king. And I came to Jerusalem and I discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in preparing him 8 a chamber in the court of the house of God. And it greatly displeased me; therefore I cast all of Tobiah's household property out of the 9 chamber. Then I spoke and they cleansed the chambers, and I brought back there the vessels of the house of God, with the cereal-offerings and the incense.

10 I also learned that the portions of the Levites had not been given them; so that the Levites and the singers who conducted the service 11 had fled each to his own field. Then I contended with the rulers and said,

"Why is the house of God forsaken?"

So I gathered them together and restored them to their posts.
12 Thereupon all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the wine and 13 the oil to the store-rooms. Moreover I appointed in charge of the treasuries: Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah; and next to them was Hanan, the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah; for they were considered faithful, and it was their 14 task to distribute to their kinsmen. Remember me, O my God, concerning this and wipe not out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for its services.

15 In these days I saw in Judah men treading wine presses on the sabbath and bringing in heaps of grain loaded on asses, also wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of burdens which they brought into Jerusalem on the sabbath day; and I protested on the day when they sold provisions.
16 Tyrians also dwelt therein, who brought in fish and all kinds of wares, 17 and sold them on the sabbath to the Judeans and in Jerusalem. Then I contended with the nobles of Judah and said to them,

"What evil thing is this that you are doing, and thereby profaning 18 the sabbath day? Did not your fathers do this and did not our God bring all this misfortune upon us and upon this city? Yet you are bringing more wrath upon Israel by profaning the sabbath."

19 Accordingly when the gates of Jerusalem began to be in darkness, before the sabbath, I commanded and the gates were shut; and I gave orders that they should not be opened until after the sabbath. And I put some of my servants in charge of the gates, that none should bring 20 in a burden on the sabbath day. So the traders and sellers of all kinds 21 of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice. Then I warned them and said to them,

"Why do you lodge before the wall? If you repeat it, I shall arrest you."

22 From that time on they came no more on the sabbath. Moreover I gave orders to the Levites that they should purify themselves and that they should come and guard the gates, to keep the sabbath day holy. Remember, O my God, this also to my account and have compassion upon me according to the greatness of thy grace.

²³ In those days also I saw the Jews who had married women of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab, and their children spoke half in the language of Ashdod, and none of them could speak in the Jews' language, but according to the language of each people. Therefore I contended with them and cursed them and beat some of them and pulled out their hair and made them swear by God, saying,

"You shall not give your daughters to their sons nor take their daughters as wives for your sons or for yourselves. Did not Solomon, king of Israel, sin by these means? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, and he was beloved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel; nevertheless foreign wives were the cause of his sin; and shall it be reported of you that you do all this great evil, and break faith with our God in marrying foreign women?"

²⁸ Now one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib, the high priest, was the son-in-law of Sanballat, the Horonite; therefore I chased him from me. Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and of the Levites. ³⁰ Thus I cleansed them from all foreigners and established the duties for the priests and the Levites, each for his own task, and for the wood-offering at appointed times, and the firstfruits. Remember it, O my God, to my credit.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER

QUEEN VASHTI'S DISMISSAL, 1:1-22

1 Now it was in the days of Xerxes—that is, the Xerxes who reigned from India even to Ethiopia, over a hundred and twenty-seven prov-2inces. In those days when King Xerxes sat on the throne of his king-3dom, which was in the castle in Shushan, in the third year of his reign, he made a feast for all his princes and his servants. The com-4manders of the army of Persia and Media, the nobles and rulers of the provinces were before him, while he showed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the precious things of his great majesty 5many days, even a hundred and eighty days. And when these days were completed, the king made for all the people who were present in the castle at Shushan, both great and small, a seven days' feast in 6the court of the garden of the king's palace. There was white stuff of cotton, and blue hangings, fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rings and columns of marble; couches of gold and silver were upon a pavement of porphyry and marble and mother-of-7pearl and precious stones. And they served them in golden beakers and no two were alike and the royal wine was abundant according to 8the liberality of the king. The drinking also was according to the law; none could compel, for so the king had decreed to all the officers of his house, to do according to each man's pleasure.

9 Also Vashti the queen made a feast for the women in the royal 10palace which belonged to King Xerxes. On the seventh day, when the king's heart was joyous with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven eunuchs 11who ministered in the presence of Xerxes the king, to bring Vashti the queen before the king with the royal crown, to show the peoples 12and the princes her beauty, for she was beautiful. But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's command by the eunuchs; therefore the king was greatly enraged and his anger burned within him.

13 Then the king said to the wise men who knew the times—for so the king was accustomed to speak before all who knew law and gov-14ernment; and those next to him were Carshena, Sethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media who saw the king's face and held the first place in the kingdom—

15 "What shall we do to Queen Vashti according to law, because she has not done the bidding of King Xerxes by the eunuchs?"

16 Then Memucan replied before the king and the princes,

"Vashti the queen has not done wrong to the king only, but also to all the princes and to all the peoples, that are in all the provinces of 17 King Xerxes. For this behavior of the queen will be reported to all women, making their husbands contemptible in their sight, when it shall be said, 'King Xerxes commanded that Vashti the queen be

18 brought before him; but she did not come.' Even this day the princesses of Persia and Media who have heard of the queen's behavior will relate it to all the king's princes and there will be a surfeit of contempt and

19 rage. If it please the king, let there go forth from him, and let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes so that it may not be altered, that Vashti the queen come no more before King Xerxes, and that the king give her royal position to another who is better than 20 she. So when the king's decree which he shall make shall be published throughout all his kingdom—great though it is—all the women will give honor to their husbands both to high and low."

21 Accordingly the proposal seemed good in the sight of the king and the princes, and the king did according to the counsel of Memucan;

22 and he sent letters to all the royal provinces, into every province according to its form of writing and to every people according to its language, that every man should be master in his own house and should speak whatever seemed proper to him.

ESTHER, THE JEWESS, CHOSEN QUEEN, 2:1-18

2 After these things, when the wrath of King Xerxes was pacified, he remembered Vashti and what she had done and what was decreed

2 against her. Then the king's servants who ministered to him said,

3 "Let beautiful young maidens be sought out for the king, and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom that they may gather together all the beautiful young maidens to the castle in Shushan, to the harem under the custody of Hegai, the king's eunuch, keeper of the women, and let the cosmetics for their beautifying be

4 given them. And let the maiden who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti."

And the proposal pleased the king, and he did so.

5 There was a certain Jew in the castle at Shushan whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjaminite, who had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captives who had been carried away with Jechoniah, king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, had carried away. Moreover he had brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother; and the maiden was fair and beautiful and when her father and mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter.

So when the king's command and his decrees were reported, and when many maidens were gathered together to the castle in Shushan under the custody of Hegai, Esther was also taken into the king's palace under the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women. Moreover the maiden pleased him and she met with kindness at his hands, and he hastened to give her cosmetics for beautifying herself, with her portions, and seven picked maidens who were to be given her from the king's palace. And he removed her and her maidens to the best apartments in the harem. Esther had not made known her people nor her kindred; for Mordecai had charged her that she should not make it known. Moreover Mordecai used to walk to and fro every day before the court of the harem, to learn how Esther was and how she was faring.

Now when the time for each maiden came to visit King Xerxes, after it had been done to her according to the law for the women twelve months—for so long the days of their beautifying lasted, six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with spices and with preparations for beautifying of the women—in this wise the maiden came to the king; whatever she mentioned was given to her to go with her from the harem to the king's palace. In the evening she went in and in the morning she returned to the second harem to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch, who kept the concubines. She did not again visit the king, unless the king delighted in her and she was summoned by name. Now when the turn of Esther, the daughter of Abihail, the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her for his own daughter, came to visit the king, she asked for nothing except what Hegai, the king's eunuch, the keeper of the women, prescribed. And Esther won favor in the sight of all who saw her.

So Esther was taken to King Xerxes into his royal palace in the tenth month, that is, the month Tebet, in the seventh year of his reign. Moreover the king loved Esther more than all the women, and she won favor and kindness in his presence more than all the maidens;

so that he set the royal crown upon her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. Then the king made a great feast for all his princes and his servants, even Esther's feast; and he made it a holiday for the provinces and gave gifts, according to the liberality of the king.

MORDECAI'S OPPORTUNITY, 2:19—23

Now when the maidens were gathered together a second time Mordecai was sitting in the gate of the king. Esther had not as yet made known her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her, for Esther kept the command of Mordecai just as when she was being reared by him. In those days, as Mordecai was sitting in the king's gate, two of the king's eunuchs who guarded the threshold, Bigthan and Teresh, became enraged and sought to do violence to King Xerxes, but the plot became known to Mordecai, who revealed it to Esther the queen; and Esther told the king in Mordecai's name. Accordingly the matter was investigated and when it was found to be so, they were both hanged on a tree; and it was written in the book of the chronicles in the king's presence.

HAMAN'S CRUEL PURPOSE, 3:1—15

After these things King Xerxes promoted Haman, the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, and advanced him and placed his seat above all the princes who were with him. Thus all the king's servants who were in the king's gate bowed down and did obeisance to Haman; for the king had so commanded concerning him. But Mordecai would not bow down nor do obeisance. Then the king's servants who were in the king's gate, said to Mordecai,

“Why do you transgress the king's command?”

Now when they thus spoke to him daily and he did not listen to them, they told Haman, to see whether Mordecai's conduct would stand, for he had told them that he was a Jew. So when Haman saw that Mordecai did not bow down nor do obeisance to him, Haman was filled with rage. But he thought it beneath him to lay hands on Mordecai alone; for they had told him Mordecai's race. Therefore Haman sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Xerxes, even the people of Mordecai.

In the first month, which is the month Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Xerxes, one cast Pur, that is, the lot, before Haman from day to day and from month to month, to the twelfth month, which is the month Adar. And Haman said to King Xerxes,

“There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the peoples throughout all the provinces of your kingdom, and their laws are different from every other people; neither do they observe the king’s laws; therefore it is not fitting to leave them alone. If it please the king, let it be prescribed that they be destroyed; and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the hands of those who do the accounting, that they may bring it into the king’s treasuries.”

10 Then the king took his signet ring from his hand and gave it to 11 Haman, the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the Jews’ enemy. The king also said to Haman,

“The silver is yours and the people too, to do with them as seems good to you.”

12 Then the king’s scribes were summoned on the thirteenth day of the first month, and it was written according to all that Haman commanded to the king’s satraps and to the governors who were over every province and to the princes of every people, to every province according to its script, and to every people according to their language. In the name of King Xerxes it was written and it was sealed with 13 the king’s signet. These letters were sent by couriers into all the king’s provinces, to destroy, slay and wipe out all the Jews, both young and old, infants and women in one day, even upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar, and to take 14 the spoil of them as plunder. A copy of the writing to be given out as a decree in every province was published to all the peoples that they 15 should be ready for that day. The couriers went forth in haste at the king’s command, and the decree was given out in the castle at Shushan. And the king and Haman sat down to drink; but the city of Shushan was perplexed.

MORDECAI’S APPEAL TO ESTHER, 4:1-17

4 Now when Mordecai knew all that had been done, Mordecai tore his garments and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city and cried out with a loud and bitter lamentation.
2 And he came even before the king’s gate; for none might enter the 3 king’s gate clothed with sackcloth. Moreover in every province wherever the king’s command and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting, weeping and wailing; and many lay
4 in sackcloth and ashes. And Esther’s maidens and her eunuchs came and told her; and the queen was exceedingly distressed. And she sent garments to clothe Mordecai that he might take off his sackcloth; but

5 he did not accept them. Then Esther called for Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs, who had been appointed to attend her, and ordered
 6 him to go to Mordecai, to learn what this was and why it was. So Hathach went forth to Mordecai to the broad place of the city which 7 was before the king's gate. Then Mordecai told him all that had happened to him and the exact sum of money that Haman had promised
 8 to pay to the king's treasuries for the destruction of the Jews. He also gave him a copy of the writing of the decree that was given out in Shushan to destroy them, that he might show it to Esther and inform her and charge her to go in to the king to implore him and to make request before him for her people.

9 So Hathach came and told Esther the words of Mordecai. Then Esther spoke to Hathach, and gave him a message to Mordecai, saying,
 11 "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that whoever, whether man or woman, comes to the king into the inner court who is not summoned, there is one law for him, that he be put to death, except those to whom the king shall hold out the golden scepter, that he may live; but I have not been summoned to come to the king these thirty days."

12 Accordingly they told Mordecai Esther's words.

13 Then Mordecai bade them return answer to Esther,

"Think not to yourself that you will escape inside the royal palace 14 any more than all the rest of the Jews. For if you altogether remain silent at this time, then relief and deliverance will rise up for the Jews from another quarter, but you and your father's house will perish; and who knows whether you have not come to the kingdom for such a time as this."

15 Thereupon Esther bade them return answer to Mordecai,

16 "Go, gather together all the Jews that are to be found in Shushan and fast for me, and neither eat nor drink for three days, night or day. I also and my maidens will likewise fast and so will I go to the king, which is not according to the law; and if I perish, I perish."

17 So Mordecai went his way and did just as Esther commanded him.

HAMAN'S RISE AND FALL, 5:1—7:10

5 So it came about on the third day that Esther put on her royal robes, and stood in the inner court of the king's palace directly opposite the king's apartment. And the king was sitting upon his royal throne in 2 the royal palace opposite the entrance of the palace. And when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court she met with favor in his sight, and the king extended to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. So Esther drew near and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Thereupon the king said to her,

“What is your wish, Queen Esther, and what is your request? It shall be given you even to the half of the kingdom.”

4 And Esther said,

“If it please the king, let the king and Haman come today to a banquet that I have prepared for him.”

5 Then the king said,

“Bring Haman in haste that he may fulfil Esther’s wish.”

So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

6 Accordingly the king said to Esther at the banquet of wine,

“What is your petition? And it shall be granted you; and what is your request, even to the half of the kingdom? and it shall be performed.”

7 Accordingly Esther answered and said,

8 “My petition and my request is: If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to grant my petition, and to perform my request, let the king and Haman come to my banquet that I shall prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do as the king has said.”

9 Then Haman went out that day joyful and glad of heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the king’s gate, and he neither stood up nor moved for him, Haman was filled with wrath against Mor-

10 decai. Nevertheless Haman restrained himself and returned home,

11 and sent and brought in his friends and Zeresh his wife. Thereupon Haman recounted to them the glory of his riches and the multitude of his children and every instance where the king had promoted him, and how he had advanced him above the princes and the servants of 12 the king. Haman also said,

“Even Esther the queen has permitted no man to come in with the king to the banquet that she has prepared but me, and tomorrow also I am invited by her together with the king. Yet all this suffices me not so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king’s gate.”

14 Then Zeresh his wife and all his friends said to him,

“Let a gallows fifty cubits high be erected and in the morning speak to the king that Mordecai may be hanged thereon. Then go in merrily with the king to the banquet.”

And the idea pleased Haman; and he had the gallows made.

6 On that night sleep forsook the king, and he commanded to bring the book of records of the chronicles, and they were read before the 2 king. And there was found written what Mordecai had told concerning Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, of those who guarded the threshold, who had sought to lay hands on King Xerxes.

3 Whereupon the king said,

"What honor and dignity have been bestowed on Mordecai for this?"

Then the king's servants who ministered to him said,

"Nothing has been done for him."

4 At this juncture the king said,

"Who is in the court?"

Now Haman had entered the outer court of the king's house to request the king to hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared 5 for him. Accordingly the king's servants said to him,

"Behold, Haman is standing in the court."

And the king said,

"Let him enter."

6 So Haman came in. And the king said to him,

"What shall be done to the man whom the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman said to himself,

"Whom would the king delight to honor more than myself?"

7 Therefore Haman said to the king,

8 "For the man whom the king delights to honor, let royal garments be brought, which the king has worn, and a horse which the king has 9 ridden, and on the head of which a royal crown is set. And let the garments and the horse be delivered to one of the king's most noble princes, and let them clothe the man whom the king delights to honor and cause him to ride on horseback through the streets of the city, and proclaim before him, 'Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor.'"

10 Then the king said to Haman,

"Make haste, and take the garments and the horse, as you have said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew who sits in the king's gate. Let nothing fail of all that you have spoken."

11 So Haman took the garments and the horse and clothed Mordecai and caused him to ride through the streets of the city and proclaimed before him,

"Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor."

12 Then Mordecai returned to the king's gate. But Haman hurried

13 home, mourning and with his head covered. Haman also related to Zeresh his wife and to all his friends all that had befallen him. Then his wise men and Zeresh his wife said to him,

“If Mordecai before whom you have begun to fall be of the Jewish race, you will make no headway against him but will surely fall before him.”

14 While they were still speaking with him, the king’s eunuch arrived and hurriedly brought Haman to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

7 So the king and Haman went in to drink with Esther the queen.

2 And the king said again to Esther on the second day of the banquet of wine,

“What is your petition, Queen Esther? And it shall be granted you. Indeed what is your request even to the half of the kingdom? And it shall be performed.”

3 Then Esther the queen answered, saying,

“If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it please the king, let my life be given me at my petition and my people at my request; for we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. But if we had been sold as male and female slaves, I would have held my peace since the distress would not have been worthy of disturbing the king.”

5 Then King Xerxes spoke and said to Esther the queen,

“Who is he and where is he who dares presume in his heart to do so?”

6 Thereupon Esther said,

“An adversary and an enemy, this wicked Haman.”

7 Then Haman was terrified before the king and queen. And when the king arose in his wrath from the banquet of wine and went into the palace garden, Haman stood up to beg for his life from Esther the queen; for he saw that evil was determined against him by the king.

8 Accordingly when the king returned from the palace garden to the apartment of the banquet of wine, Haman was prostrate upon the couch upon which Esther was. Then the king said,

“Will he violate the queen in my presence in the house?”

9 And as the words left his lips they covered Haman’s face. Then Harbonah, one of the eunuchs who was before the king said,

“There are also the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman has made for Mordecai, who spoke good for the king, standing in the house of Haman.”

And the king said,

“Hang him thereon.”

- 10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king’s wrath abated.

THE TRIUMPH OF ESTHER AND MORDECAI, 8:1-17

- 8 On that day King Xerxes gave the house of Haman, the Jew’s enemy, to Esther the queen. And Mordecai came before the king, 2 for Esther had told what he was to her. Then the king took off his ring, which he had taken from Haman and gave it to Mordecai. And 3 Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman. Moreover Esther spoke yet again before the king, and fell at his feet and besought him with tears to avert the evil plan of Haman, the Agagite, and his 4 scheme which he had against the Jews. Thereupon the king held out to Esther the golden scepter. So Esther arose, and stood before the 5 king. And she said,

- “If it please the king, and if I have found favor in his sight, and the thing seem right before the king, and I am pleasing in his sight, let it be written to reverse the letters devised by Haman, the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, which he wrote that the Jews who are in 6 all the king’s provinces might be destroyed. For how can I endure to see the calamity that will come upon my people? Or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?”

- 7 Then King Xerxes said to Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew,

- “Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, because he laid his hands upon the 8 Jews. Write also concerning the Jews as it please you, in the king’s name and seal it with the king’s signet; for the writing which is written in the king’s name and sealed with the king’s signet, may no man reverse.”

- 9 Then the king’s scribes were called at that time in the third month, which is the month Sivan, on the twenty-third day; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded the Jews, and the satraps and the governors and princes of the provinces which are from India to Ethiopia, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, to every province according to its script and to every people according to its language, and to the Jews according to their script and according 10 to their language. He also wrote in the name of King Xerxes, and sealed it with the king’s signet and sent the letters by swift couriers on

- 11 horseback, riding on steeds bred of the royal stud; wherein the king granted to the Jews who were in every city to gather themselves together and to fight for their lives, to destroy, to slay and to wipe out all the armed forces of the people and provinces that would attack them, their little ones and women, and to take the spoil of them as
- 12 plunder upon one day in all the provinces of King Xerxes, namely, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar.
- 13 A copy of the writing, that the decree should be given out in every province, was published to all the peoples, and that the Jews should
- 14 be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies. So the couriers riding on the royal steeds went out, being hastened and pressed on by the king's command; and the decree was given out in the castle at Shushan.
- 15 Moreover Mordecai went from the presence of the king in royal garments of blue and white stuff, and with a great crown of gold, and with a robe of fine linen and purple. And the city of Shushan
- 16 shouted and was glad. The Jews had light and gladness and joy and
- 17 honor. Likewise in every province and in every city, wherever the king's command and his decree came, there was gladness and joy for the Jews, a feast and a holiday, and many from among the peoples of the land became Jews; for the fear of the Jews had fallen upon them.

THE JEWS TURN UPON THEIR FOES, 9:1-16

- 9 Now in the twelfth month, which is the month Adar, on the thirteenth day of the same, when the king's command and his decree was about to be enforced, on the day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to lord it over them, whereas the contrary happened so that the Jews
- 2 themselves got the mastery over those who hated them, the Jews gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Xerxes, to lay hands on such as sought their hurt; and no one could stand before them, for the fear of them had fallen upon all the
- 3 peoples. Moreover all the princes of the provinces and the satraps and the governors and they who did the king's business aided the Jews, be-
- 4 cause the fear of Mordecai had fallen upon them. For Mordecai was great in the king's palace and his fame spread throughout all the prov-
- 5 inces; for the man Mordecai constantly grew more powerful. So the Jews vanquished all their enemies with the drawn sword, and with slaughter and destruction, and had their own way with those who
- 6 hated them. Likewise in the castle in Shushan the Jews slew and de-
- 7 stroyed five hundred men. They also slew Parshandatha, Dalphon,

⁸ Aspatha, Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai and ¹⁰ Vaizatha, the ten sons of Haman, the son of Hammedatha, the Jews' ¹¹ enemy; but they did not lay their hand on any spoil. On that day the number of those that were slain in the castle at Shushan was reported ¹² to the king. And the king said to Esther the queen,

“The Jews have slain and destroyed in the castle at Shushan five hundred men, and the ten sons of Haman; what must they have done in the rest of the king’s provinces! Now what is your petition, and it shall be granted you? and what is your request further, and it shall be performed?”

¹³ Then Esther said,

“If it please the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to do tomorrow according to this day’s decree, and let Haman’s ten sons be hanged upon the gallows.”

¹⁴ Accordingly the king ordered it so to be done. And a decree was ¹⁵ given out in Shushan; and they hanged Haman’s ten sons. Likewise the Jews who were in Shushan gathered themselves together on the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and slew three hundred men in ¹⁶ Shushan; but they did not lay their hands on the spoil. Also the other Jews who were in the king’s provinces gathered themselves together and fought for their lives and had relief from their enemies, and slew of those who hated them seventy-five thousand; but they did not lay hands on the spoil.

THE FEAST OF PURIM, 9:17-31

¹⁷ On the thirteenth day of the month Adar and the fourteenth day
¹⁸ of the same, they rested and made a day of feasting and gladness. But the Jews who were in Shushan assembled themselves together on the thirteenth and on the fourteenth, and on the fifteenth day of the same ¹⁹ they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness. Therefore the Jews who are village dwellers, who live in the unwalled towns, make the fourteenth day of the month Adar an occasion of gladness and feasting and holiday-making, and a day in which they send portions of food to each other.

²⁰ Moreover Mordecai wrote these things and sent letters to all the Jews who were in all the provinces of King Xerxes, both near and ²¹ far, to enjoin them that they should keep the fourteenth day of the ²² month Adar and the fifteenth day of the same yearly, as the days wherein the Jews had rest from their enemies, and the month which was changed for them from sorrow to gladness and from mourning to a holiday, that they should make them days of feasting and gladness and of sending portions to one another, and of gifts to the poor.

23 So the Jews adopted as a custom what they had begun to do, and 24 what Mordecai had written to them. For Haman, the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews to destroy them, and had cast Pur, that is the lot, to consume
25 and to destroy them. But when the matter came before the king, he commanded by letters that his wicked scheme which he had devised against the Jews should come upon his own head, and that he and his 26 sons should be hanged on the gallows. Hence they called these days Purim, after the name of Pur. Therefore because of all the words of this letter, and of that which they had seen concerning this matter, and 27 that which had come to them, the Jews ordained and took upon them and upon their descendants and upon all those who joined themselves to them, so that it should not fail, that they should observe these two days as feasts according to the written command and according to the
28 time appointed every year, and that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city; and that these days of Purim should not lapse from among the Jews nor the remembrance of them be cut off from their
29 descendants. Then Esther, the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai, the Jew, wrote with all authority to confirm this second letter of Purim. Also the latter sent letters to all the Jews, to the hundred 30 and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Xerxes, containing the words of peace and truth, to confirm these days of Purim in their
31 appointed times, according as Mordecai, the Jew, and Esther, the queen, had imposed them upon them, and as they had ordained for themselves and for their descendants, in the matter of the fastings
32 and their cry of lamentation. The command of Esther also confirmed these matters of Purim; and it was written in a book.

THE POWER OF MORDECAI, 10:1-3

10 Now King Xerxes laid a tribute on the land and the isles of the 2 sea. And all the acts of his power and of his might, and the full account of the greatness of Mordecai to which the king advanced him, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings
3 of Media and Persia? For Mordecai, the Jew, was next in rank to King Xerxes, and great among the Jews, and a favorite with the mass of his fellow-countrymen, for he sought the good of his people and voiced the welfare of his entire race.

THE BOOK OF JOB

JOB'S CALAMITIES, 1:1—3:1

1 There was a man in the land of Uz whose name was Job; and that
 2 man was perfect and upright, and he feared God and shunned wick-
 3 edness. Now there were born to him seven sons and three daughters.
 And his property was seven thousand sheep and three thousand camels and five hundred yoke of oxen and five hundred she-asses and a very 4 large number of slaves. So that man was the greatest of all the people of the East. His sons would go and hold a feast in the house of each one on his day; and they would send and invite their three sisters 5 to eat and drink with them. When the days of feasting had gone round, Job would send and sanctify them, and he would get up early in the morning and offer sacrifices according to the number of them all; for Job said,

“Perhaps my children have sinned,
 And cursed God in their thoughts.”

Thus would Job do always.

6 Now one day when the heavenly beings had come to stand in the 7 presence of the LORD, and the Satan too had come among them, the LORD said to the Satan,

“Whence do you come?”

And the Satan answered the LORD, saying,

“From roaming in the earth and from going to and fro therein.”

8 And the LORD said to the Satan,

“Have you noticed my servant Job,

That there is none like him in the earth,

A man perfect and upright, who fears God and shuns wickedness?”

9 But the Satan answered the LORD, saying,

“Has Job feared God for nothing?

10 Hast thou not hedged him round about,

And his house and all that belongs to him?

Thou hast blessed the labor of his hands;

And his wealth has spread abroad in the land.

11 But now, put forth thy hand,

And touch whatsoever he has:

He will curse thee to thy face!"

12 And the LORD said to the Satan,

"Well, all that he has is in your power;

Only upon himself you shall not lay your hand."

Then the Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

13 Now one day when his sons and daughters were eating and were 14 drinking wine in the house of their oldest brother, a messenger came to Job, saying,

"While the oxen were plowing,

And the she-asses grazing close by,

15 The Sabeans fell upon them and seized them;

They smote the servants with the edge of the sword;

And I only have escaped alone to tell you."

16 While he was yet speaking, another came, saying,

"The fire of God fell down from the heavens,

And burned up the flocks and the servants and consumed them;

And I only have escaped alone to tell you."

17 While he was yet speaking, another came, saying,

"The Chaldeans formed three divisions,

And swooped down upon the camels and seized them,

And smote the servants with the edge of the sword;

And I only have escaped alone to tell you."

18 While he was yet speaking, another came, saying,

"As your sons and your daughters were eating

And were drinking wine in the house of their oldest brother,

19 A mighty wind came from beyond the wilderness,

And smote the four corners of the house,

So that it fell upon the young folks and they died.

And I only have escaped alone to tell you."

20 Then Job arose and tore his mantle and shaved his head and fell to 21 the earth and worshipped; and he said,

"Naked did I come forth from my mother's womb,

And naked shall I return thither.

The LORD gave and the LORD has taken away;

Blessed be the name of the LORD."

22 Notwithstanding all this, Job did not sin; nor did he charge anything unseemly against God.

2 One day when the heavenly beings had come to present themselves before the LORD, and when the Satan too had come among them to

2 present himself before the LORD, the LORD said to the Satan,

“Whence do you come?”

The Satan answered the LORD, saying,

“From roaming in the earth and from going to and fro therein.”

3 And the LORD said to the Satan,

“Have you noticed my servant Job,

That there is none like him in the earth,

A perfect and upright man, who fears God and shuns wickedness?

He still holds fast to his integrity,

Though you incited me against him, to ruin him without cause.”

4 Then the Satan answered the LORD, saying,

“Skin for skin!

All that a man has will he give for his life.

5 Now, just put forth thy hand,

And touch his bone and his flesh:

He will curse thee to thy face!”

6 And the LORD said to the Satan,

“Behold, he is in your power; but preserve his life.”

7 Then the Satan went forth from the presence of the LORD, and

8 smote Job with a bad leprosy from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head; so that he took a potsherd with which to scrape himself as he

9 sat in the midst of the ash-heap. So his wife said to him,

“Do you yet hold fast to your integrity?

Curse God and die!”

10 But he said to her,

“You speak as one of the foolish women might speak.

Should we, indeed, receive good from God,

And should we not receive evil?”

Notwithstanding all this, Job did not sin with his lips.

11 When the three friends of Job heard all this disaster that had befallen him, they came each from his place, Eliphaz the Temanite,

Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite; for they had ar-

12 ranged together to come to condole with him and to comfort him.

When they lifted up their eyes from afar, they did not recognize him;

13 so they raised their voices and wept. Then they tore, each one, his mantle, and they cast dust over their heads toward the heavens. Then they sat down with him upon the ground for seven days and seven nights; and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his affliction

3 was very severe. Afterwards Job opened his mouth and cursed his day.

JOB'S LAMENT THAT HE WAS EVER BORN, 3:2-26

- 2 Then Job spoke, saying,
3 "Perish the day wherein I was born,
And the night which said, 'A man is conceived.'
4 May that day be darkness;
May God on high not search for it;
May light not shine upon it;
5 May the blackest darkness reclaim it;
May a cloud drop down thereon;
May the blackening of the day terrify it.
6 That night—may blackness seize it;
May it not rejoice among the days of the year;
Into the number of the months may it not come.
7 So, that night—may it be barren;
May no sound of joy enter it.
8 May they curse it who curse the day,
Who are skilled in arousing Leviathan.
9 May the stars of its twilight be darkened;
May it wait for light and there be none;
And may it not see the eyelids of the dawn.
10 Because it did not shut the doors of my mother's womb,
And so conceal trouble from my eyes.
11 "Why did I not die at birth,
Come forth from the womb and expire?
12 Why did the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should suck?
13 For then I had lain down and been quiet,
I had slept; then were I at rest
14 With kings and counsellors of the earth,
Who rebuild ruins for themselves;
15 Or with nobles who have gold,
Who fill their houses with silver.
16 Or like a hidden untimely birth I should not be,
Like babes that never saw light.
17 There the wicked cease from troubling;
There the tired out are at rest.
18 The prisoners also are at ease;
They hear not the voice of the overseer.

- 19 The small and the great are there,
And the slave is free from his master.
- 20 "Why is light given to the wretched,
And life to the bitter of spirit;
21 Who long for death, but it comes not,
And hunt for it more than for buried treasures,
22 Those who would rejoice exultingly,
And would be glad, if they could find the grave?
23 To a man whose way is hidden,
Whom God has fenced in?
24 For my sighing comes in place of my food,
And my groans are poured forth like water.
25 If I entertain a fear, then it comes upon me;
And what I was afraid of befalls me.
26 I am not at ease, nor am I quiet,
Nor am I at rest; for trouble keeps coming."

THE DEBATE BETWEEN THE FRIENDS AND JOB, CHAPTERS 4-31

THE FIRST CYCLE, CHAPTERS 4-14

THE SPEECH OF ELIPHAZ, 4:1—5:27

- 4 Then Eliphaz, the Temanite, replied, saying,
2 "If one should venture a word with you, would you be bored?
Yet who can refrain from speech?
3 Verily, you have instructed many,
And you have strengthened drooping hands.
4 Your words have upheld the one who was falling,
And you have supported the bending knees.
5 But now that it comes upon you, you lose heart;
It touches you and you are dismayed.
6 Is not your religion your confidence,
And the integrity of your ways, your hope?
7 Recall now—who that was innocent ever perished?
And where were the upright cut off?
8 As I have seen, those who plow guilt
And sow sorrow reap it.
9 Through the breath of God they perish,
And through his angered spirit they are destroyed.
10 The roar of the lion and the voice of the roarer—
And the teeth of the young lion are knocked out.

- 11 The lion perishes for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness are scattered.
- 12 "Now to me there came a word stealthily,
So that my ear caught just a whisper from it,
13 In thoughts from visions of the night,
When sound sleep falls upon men;
14 Fear fell upon me, and trembling,
And filled all my bones with dread.
15 And a breath swept over my face.
The hair of my flesh stood on end.
16 It stood: but I could not discern its appearance.
A form was before my eyes.
I heard a gentle voice:
17 'Can a mortal be righteous before God,
Or a man be pure before his Maker?
18 Even in his servants he does not trust, -
And his angels he charges with error.
19 How much less them that dwell in houses of clay,
Whose foundation is in the dust,
Who are crushed before the moth!
20 Between morning and evening they are crushed;
Without anyone noticing, they perish forever.
21 If their tent-rope is torn up within them,
Do they not die, and not with wisdom?'
- 5 "Call now; is there anybody to answer you?
Or to which of the holy ones will you turn?
2 Indeed, vexation slays the fool;
And passion kills the simpleton.
3 I have observed the fool taking root;
But I cursed his habitation suddenly.
4 His children were far from safety,
And were crushed in the gate with none to rescue them.
5 Their harvest, the hungry did eat,
And even from thorns he took it.
And snares gaped for their wealth.
6 Surely misfortune does not come forth from the dust,
Nor does trouble sprout forth from the ground;
7 But man is born for trouble,
Even as sparks fly upward.

- 8 "I, however, would seek for God,
And to God I would state my case,
9 Who does great things past searching out,
Wonders beyond number;
10 Who sends rain upon the surface of the earth,
And sends forth water upon the surface of the fields;
11 Setting the lowly on high,
And mourners are exalted to safety;
12 Who frustrates the plans of the crafty,
So that their hands accomplish no success;
13 Who catches the wise in their own tricks,
So that the counsel of schemers is confused;
14 In the daytime they meet with darkness,
And at noon they grope as in the night;
15 So that he saves the needy from the sword of their mouth,
And from the hand of the strong.
16 Then there is hope for the poor,
And iniquity shuts its mouth.
- 17 "Happy, indeed, is the man whom God reproves;
So do not reject the instruction of the Almighty.
18 For he wounds, but he binds up;
He smites, but his hands heal.
19 In six dangers he will rescue you,
And in seven, evil will not touch you.
20 In famine, he will redeem you from death;
And in war, from the power of the sword.
21 During the scourge of the tongue you will be concealed,
And you will not be afraid of destruction when it comes.
22 At destruction and at famine you will laugh,
And you will not fear the beasts of the earth;
23 For you will have a covenant with the stones of the field,
And the beasts of the field will be at peace with you.
24 And you will know that your tent is prosperous;
And when you inspect your homestead, you will miss nothing.
25 You will know also that your descendants are many,
And your progeny like the grass of the earth.
26 You will come to the grave in ripe old age,
As a shock of grain comes up in its season.

- 27 "There it is! We have investigated it; it is so!
Hear it, and know it for your very self!"

JOB'S REPLY TO ELIPHAZ, 6:1—7:21

- 6 And Job replied, saying,
2 "Oh that my vexation were carefully weighed,
And that my calamity were also laid on the scales!
3 For then it would be heavier than the sand of the seas.
Therefore my words are wild.
4 For the arrows of the Almighty are with me,
And their poison my spirit is drinking.
The terrors of God beset me.
5 Does the wild ass bray over grass?
Or does the ox low over his fodder?
6 Is a tasteless thing eaten without salt?
Or is there taste in the slime of purslain?
7 My appetite refuses to touch them!
They are like uncleanness of my food.
8 "O that my request might come to pass,
And that God would grant my hope!
9 O that God would consent to crush me,
That he would let loose his hand and cut me off!
10 Then I should still have the consolation—
And I would exult in pain unsparing—
That I had not hidden the words of the Holy One.
11 What is my strength that I should wait?
And what is my end that I should be patient?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones?
Is my flesh bronze?
13 Verily, there is no help in me,
And effective aid is removed far from me.
14 "To him who is dissolving there should be kindness from his friend,
Though he forsake the fear of the Almighty.
15 My friends have been faithless like a torrent,
Like the bed of rivers which pass away,
16 That run black because of ice;
In them the snow hides itself.

- 17 When it becomes hot, they are cut off;
When it warms up, they dry up from their place.
- 18 The caravans divert their route;
They go up into the waste and perish.
- 19 The caravans of Tema look,
The companies of Sheba wait for them;
20 They are ashamed because they trusted.
They come to them and they are disappointed.
- 21 So now have you become to me;
You see a terror, and you are afraid.
- 22 Have I said, 'Give to me,'
Or 'from your substance offer a bribe for me,'
23 Or 'rescue me from the hand of an enemy,'
Or 'from the hand of brigands ransom me'?
- 24 Teach me, and I will be silent.
Make clear to me wherein I have erred.
- 25 How forceful are honest words!
But what does your reproving reprove?
26 Do you mean to reprove words?
But for wind are the words of one in despair.
- 27 Even upon an orphan you would cast lots,
And you would bargain over your friend!
- 28 "Now, be pleased to look me in the face,
And to your faces, I will not lie!
29 Turn back, now; let there be no injustice.
O, turn again! My justification is in it.
- 30 Is there injustice in my tongue?
Or, is my palate insensible to calamities?
7 Is there not hard labour for man upon earth,
And are not his days like the days of a hireling?
2 Like a slave who longs for the evening,
And like a hireling who waits for his wages,
3 So I am made to possess months of emptiness,
And nights of trouble are allotted me.
- 4 When I lie down, I say, 'When can I arise?'
But the evening is prolonged;
And I am satiated with tossings until dawn.
- 5 My flesh is clothed with worms and clods of dust;
My skin hardens and runs.

- 6 My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle,
And they come to an end without hope.
- 7 Remember that my life is a breath;
My eye will not again see good,
- 8 The eye of him who looks at me will not see me.
Thine eye will be upon me, but I shall not be.
- 9 A cloud dissolves and it is gone;
So is the one who descends to Sheol; he will not ascend.
- 10 He will not return again to his house;
Nor will his place recognize him again.
- 11 I, then, will not restrain my mouth;
I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;
I will complain in the bitterness of my being.
- 12 Am I the sea, or a dragon,
That thou appointest a watch over me?
- 13 When I think my couch may comfort me,
Or my bed relieve my complaint,
- 14 Then thou dost terrify me with dreams,
Thou dost startle me by nightmares;
- 15 So that I prefer strangling,
Death rather than my bones.
- 16 I refuse; I shall not live forever.
Let me alone! For my days are but a breath.
- 17 What is man that thou shouldst magnify him,
And shouldst set thy mind upon him,
- 18 And shouldst inspect him every morning,
And test him every moment?
- 19 How long wilt thou not look away from me,
Nor let me alone till I swallow my saliva?
- 20 Have I sinned? What do I unto thee, O thou keeper of man?
Wherefore dost thou make me a target for thyself,
So that I am become a burden to thee?
- 21 Wherefore dost thou not forgive my transgression,
And make my guilt to pass away?
For soon I shall lie down in the dust;
And thou wilt search for me, but I shall not be."

THE SPEECH OF BILDAD, 8:1-22

- 8 Then Bildad, the Shuhite, replied, saying,
2 "For how long will you utter such things,

And the words of your mouth be a strong wind?
3 Does God pervert justice?
Or the Almighty pervert the right?
4 If your sons have sinned against him,
He has but delivered them into the power of their transgression.
5 If you yourself would seek God,
And make supplication to the Almighty—
6 If you were but pure and straight,
Then, indeed, he would bestir himself in your behalf,
And he would protect your righteous dwelling;
7 And though your beginning were small,
He would make your end very great.
8 But inquire now of the previous generation,
And apply yourself to what their fathers discovered;
9 (For we are of yesterday, and we know nothing;
For our days upon the earth are but a shadow.)
10 Will they not teach you and speak to you,
And bring forth words from their minds?
11 “Will papyrus grow where there is no mire,
Or the rush grow tall without water?
12 While it is still in its greenness and not plucked,
Before any other herb, it withers.
13 So are the paths of all who forget God,
And the hope of the irreligious man perishes;
14 For his confidence breaks,
And the object of his trust is a spider’s house.
15 If he leans upon his house, it will not stand;
If he lays hold of it, it will not endure.
16 Green is he before the sun;
And over his garden his shoots go forth;
17 Over the roof his roots are intertwined;
He penetrates between the stones;
18 If he be destroyed from his place,
Then it will repudiate him, ‘I have not seen you.’
19 That, then, is the joy of his way!
And from the dust another springs forth.
20 Verily, God will not reject a perfect man,
Nor will he lay hold of the hand of evil-doers.
21 He will yet fill your mouth with laughter,

- And your lips with shouting.
22 Those who hate you will be clothed with shame;
And the tent of the wicked will not be."

JOB'S REPLY TO BILDAD, 9:1—10:22

- 9 Then Job replied, saying,
2 "Of course, I know that it is so.
But how can a man be right with God?
3 If he should be willing to debate with him,
He could not answer him once in a thousand times.
4 The wisest of mind and stoutest in strength—
Who ever resisted him and succeeded?—
5 Him, who removes mountains, they know not how,
Who overturns them in his anger;
6 Who shakes the earth from its place,
And its pillars are shattered;
7 Who speaks to the sun, and it does not rise;
And he seals up the stars;
8 Who stretched out the heavens by himself,
And treads upon the billows of the sea;
9 Who made the Bear, Orion,
The Pleiades, and the Chambers of the South;
10 Who does great things past finding out,
And wonders without number.
- 11 "Lo, he passes by me and I see him not,
And he glides past and I do not perceive him.
12 If he should break through, who could turn him back?
Who could say to him, 'What are you doing?'
13 God will not turn back his anger.
Under him the helpers of Rahab bowed;
14 How much less could I answer him,
Or choose my words with him,
15 Whom, though I be innocent, I could not answer?
I should be making entreaty to my judge!
16 Were I to call and he to answer me,
I could not believe that he would give ear to my voice;
17 For he crushes me with a tempest,
And multiplies my wounds without cause.
18 He does not let me draw my breath,

- But surfeits me with bitterness.
 19 If it were a question of the strength of the mighty, there is he!
 And if of judgment, who could summon me?
 20 Though I be innocent, my mouth would declare me guilty;
 Though I be perfect, he would declare me crooked.
 21 I am perfect; I do not know myself; I loathe my life.
 22 It is all one—therefore I say,
 The perfect and the wicked he destroys.
 23 If the scourge kills instantly,
 He mocks at the despair of the guiltless.
 24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked.
 He covers the faces of its judges.
 If it is not he—who then is it?
 25 My days are swifter than a runner;
 They speed away; they see no good thing.
 26 They follow one another like boats of papyrus,
 Like a vulture swooping upon prey.
 27 If I say, 'I will forget my complaint,
 I will change my appearance and be cheerful';
 28 I fear all my pains.
 I know that thou dost not hold me innocent.
 29 I am declared guilty.
 Why, then, should I toil in vain?
 30 If I should wash myself in snow,
 And clean my hands with lye,
 31 Then thou wouldst plunge me into the cesspool,
 And my clothes would abhor me.
 32 For he is not a man like myself whom I could answer,
 That we could come together in the court.
 33 O that there were an umpire between us,
 That he might lay his hand upon both of us,
 34 That he might turn aside his rod from upon me,
 And that fear of him might not terrify me;
 35 That I might speak and not be afraid of him.
 For I am not so with myself.
 10 "I myself loathe my life.
 I will make complaint freely;
 I will speak of my own bitterness,
 2 I will say unto God, 'Do not condemn me;

- Tell me why thou dost quarrel with me.
3 Does it seem good to thee that thou shouldst oppress,
That thou shouldst reject the work of thine own hands,
And shine upon the counsel of the wicked?
4 Hast thou eyes of flesh,
Or dost thou see as men see?
5 Are thy days like the days of a mortal,
Or thy years like the years of a man,
6 That thou seekest for my guilt,
And searchest for my sin,
7 Although thou knowest that I am not guilty,
And none can deliver from thy hand?
8 Thy hands did form me and make me;
And afterwards wouldst thou turn and destroy me?
9 Recall, now, that thou didst make me like clay;
And wilt thou return me to the dust?
10 Didst thou not pour me out like milk,
And curdle me like cheese?
11 With skin and flesh thou didst clothe me,
And with bones and muscles thou didst knit me together.
12 Life and love hast thou exercised with me,
And thy watch-care has preserved my spirit;
13 While these things thou didst hide in thy heart.
I know that this is in thy mind:
14 If I sin, then thou wilt watch me,
And wilt not absolve me from my guilt.
- 15 “If I be guilty, woe is me.
And if I be innocent, I may not lift up my head,
Being sated with shame and drenched with misery.
16 Should it lift itself up, thou wouldst hunt me like the lion,
And thou wouldst again deal wondrously with me.
17 Thou wouldst renew thy witnesses before me.
And thou wouldst increase thine anger with me,
And new hardships for me.
18 Wherefore didst thou bring me forth from the womb?
I should have expired and no eye have seen me.
19 I should have been as though I had not been.
From the womb to the grave I should have been carried.
20 Are not the days of my life few?”

- Let him leave me alone, that I may cheer up a little,
 21 Before I go not to return,
 To a land of darkness and blackness,
 22 A land of shadow, like gloom,
 Of blackness without order,
 And when it shines, it is like gloom.”

THE SPEECH OF ZOPHAR, 11:1-20

- 11 Then Zophar, the Naamathite, replied, saying,
 2 “Should not one of many words be answered?
 Or is a man of ready lips in the right?
 3 Shall your boastings put men to silence?
 And when you scoff, is no one to rebuke you?
 4 For you have said, ‘My teaching is pure,
 And I am clean in thy sight.’
 5 But would that God might speak,
 That he might open his lips with you,
 6 And tell you the secrets of wisdom;
 For insight is a wonderful thing.
 Know then that God reckons not against you all of your guilt.
 7 Can you find out the limits of God?
 Or can you attain unto the boundary of the Almighty?
 8 It is higher than the heavens—what can you do?
 Deeper than Sheol—what can you know?
 9 Longer than the earth is its extent,
 And broader than the sea.
 10 If he glide by and deliver up,
 And call an assembly, who can turn him back?
 11 For he knows worthless men;
 And he sees iniquity and gives heed to it.
 12 But an inane man will get intelligence,
 When a wild ass’s colt is born a man.
 13 “If you would apply your mind,
 And spread out your hands unto him!
 14 If iniquity be in your hand, put it far away.
 Let not perversity dwell in your tent.
 15 Then, indeed, you might lift up your face without blemish,
 And you would be steadfast, and would not fear.
 16 For then you would forget trouble,

- You would recall it like waters that have passed on.
17 And life would rise up brighter than the noon-day;
Darkness would be like the morning;
18 And you would trust because there was hope,
And you would search and in confidence go to rest;
19 You would lie down, with none to disturb.
Many would pay court to you.
20 But the eyes of the wicked will grow dim;
And refuge will fail them;
And their hope is an expiring breath.”

JOB'S REPLY TO ZOPHAR, 12:1—14:22

- 12 Then Job replied, saying,
2 “No doubt but you are the people,
And wisdom will die with you!
3 But I too have a mind as well as you,
I am not inferior to you!
Who has not things like these?
4 I am become ‘a laughing-stock to his friend,’
One whom God answered when he called;
A laughing-stock is the righteous, the perfect one.
5 For the unfortunate there is contempt in the thought of him who is prosperous,
Ready for those whose feet slip.
6 The households of spoilers prosper,
And those who provoke God are secure,
Those whom God brings into his power.
7 “But now ask the beasts and let them teach you,
And the fowl of the heavens and let it tell you,
8 Or speak to the earth and let it teach you,
And let the fish of the sea recount to you.
9 Which among all these does not know
That the hand of the LORD has done this,
10 In whose hand is the life of every living thing,
And the breath of all human beings.
11 Does not the ear try words,
And the palate taste its own food?
12 ‘With the aged is wisdom,
And length of days is understanding.’

- 13 With Him are wisdom and power,
 He has counsel and understanding.
 14 If he destroys, it cannot be rebuilt;
 When he shuts up a man, it cannot be reopened.
 15 If he restrains the waters, they dry up;
 If he send them forth, they overturn the earth.
 16 With him are strength and sure insight;
 The misled and the misleader are his,
 17 Who makes counsellors walk bare foot,
 And renders judges foolish.
 18 He looses the bond of kings,
 And binds a waist-cloth on their loins.
 19 He makes priests walk bare foot,
 And overthrows them that are permanent.
 20 He deprives the self-confident of speech,
 And takes away the discretion of elders.
 21 He pours contempt upon nobles,
 And he brings low the pride of the learned.
 22 He uncovers the depths of darkness,
 And brings forth dense darkness to the light.
 23 He makes the nations great, and he destroys them;
 He expands the nations, and leads them away.
 24 He takes away the intelligence of the chiefs of the people of the earth,
 And makes them wander in a pathless waste.
 25 They grope in darkness with no light,
 And he makes them wander like a drunken man.
- 13 "Lo, my eye has seen it all;
 My ear has heard and understood it.
 2 I too know just as much as you;
 I am not inferior to you.
 3 But I would speak to the Almighty,
 And I desire to argue with God.
 4 But you—forgers of lies,
 Worthless physicians are you all.
 5 Oh, that you would keep strict silence,
 And that it might be your wisdom!
 6 Hear, now, my argument;
 And listen to the pleadings of my lips.

- 7 Is it for God that you speak falsehood,
And for him do you speak deceit?
- 8 Will you be partial toward him?
Or will you strive for God?
- 9 Will it be well when he shall examine you?
Or will you deceive him as one deceives a man?
- 10 He will severely rebuke you,
If you are secretly partial.
- 11 Should not his majesty terrify you,
And awe of him fall upon you?
- 12 Your maxims are proverbs of ashes;
Your defences are become defences of clay.
- 13 Keep silent before me, that I myself may speak,
Whatever may befall me.
- 14 I will take my flesh in my teeth,
And my life I will take in my hand.
- 15 Lo! He will slay me; I have no hope;
Yet I will defend my ways to his face.
- 16 But this will be my deliverance,
That an impious man would not come before him.
- 17 Listen closely to my speech,
And my declaration in your hearing.
- 18 See, now, I draw up my case;
I know that I am innocent.
- 19 Who is there to contend with me?
For then I would keep silence and die.
- 20 Yet two things do not do to me—
Then I will not conceal myself from before thee.
- 21 Remove thy hand from upon me,
And let not the dread of thee terrify me!
- 22 But call, and I will reply;
Or I will speak, and do thou answer me.
- 23 How many are my iniquities and sins?
Tell me my offense and my sin.
- 24 Wherefore dost thou hide thy face,
And reckon me as thy foe?
- 25 Wilt thou scare a driven leaf,
And chase the dry stubble,
- 26 That thou writest bitter charges against me,
And dost make me inherit the faults of my youth,

- 27 And putttest my feet in the stocks,
And watchest all my paths?
Thou drawest a line about the soles of my feet.
- 14 "Man, that is born of woman,
Is of few days and full of trouble.
2 Like a blossom he comes forth and is withered,
And he flees like the shadow and does not endure.
28¹ And he wastes away like a rotten thing,
Like a garment which the moth has eaten.
3 Yet upon such an one thou openest thine eye,
And bringest me into judgment with thyself.
4 O that there were a pure one among the impure! There is not one.
5 If his days are decreed,
And the number of his months is with thee;
If thou hast established his bounds so that he may not pass over,
6 Look away from him that he may cease,
Until he enjoy, like a hireling, his day.
- 7 "For there is hope for the tree;
If it be cut down, then it will sprout again,
And its shoots will not cease.
8 If its root becomes old in the ground,
And its trunk dies in the soil,
9 At the scent of water it will bud,
And put forth shoots like a young plant.
10 But man dies, and is powerless.
And man expires, and where is he?
11 Water departs from the lake,
And a stream parches and dries up;
12 So man lies down and does not rise.
Until the heavens are no more they will not awake,
Nor will they be roused from their sleep.
13 O that thou wouldst hide me in Sheol,
That thou wouldst conceal me until thy wrath turn,
That thou wouldst set me a time and remember me!
14 If a man dies, does he live?
All the days of my service I would wait

¹ This verse does not belong in chap. 13 where it is placed in the Hebrew text.

- Until my turn should come;
15 Thou wouldst call and I would answer thee;
Thou wouldst yearn for the work of thy hands.
16 But now thou dost number my steps;
Dost thou not watch over my sin?
17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag,
And thou dost plaster over my guilt.
18 But if a mountain falls, it crumbles away;
And a rock moves from its place;
19 Water wears away stones;
Its torrent sweeps away the soil of the earth;
So thou destroyest the hope of man.
20 Thou dost overpower him forever and he passes on.
Thou dost change his looks and send him away.
21 His children come to honor, but he does not know it;
And they sink into insignificance, but he does not perceive them.
22 But he grieves over himself,
And he mourns over himself.”

THE SECOND CYCLE OF THE DEBATE, 15:1—21:34

THE SPEECH OF ELIPHAZ, 15:1—35

- 15 Then Eliphaz, the Temanite, replied, saying,
2 “Should a wise man answer with windy knowledge,
And fill his breast with the east wind?
3 Should he argue with speech that is not profitable,
And words which are of no value?
4 Yet you destroy reverence,
And you do away with meditation before God.
5 For your guilt instructs your mouth,
And you choose the tongue of the crafty.
6 Your own mouth condemns you, and not I;
And your own lips witness against you.
7 Were you the first one that was born a man?
Were you brought forth before the hills?
8 Do you listen in the secret council of God?
And have you a monopoly of wisdom?
9 What do you know that we do not?
What do you understand that is not ours?
10 The gray-headed and aged are with us,
Older than your father in days.

- 11 Are the consolations of God too slight a thing for you,
And a word that deals gently with you?
12 Why does your heart carry you away,
And what do your eyes suggest,
13 That you turn your breath against God,
And send forth words from your mouth?
- 14 "What is man, that he should be pure,
And the child of a woman, that he should be innocent?
15 Lo, he puts no trust in his holy ones,
And the heavens are not pure in his eyes;
16 How much less one who is loathsome and foul,
A man who drinks down wickedness like water!
17 I will tell you; listen to me!
And this that I have seen I will relate,
18 What the wise declare,
Without hiding it, from their fathers,
19 To whom alone the land was given,
And no alien passed among them.
20 All the days of the wicked he writhe in pain;
And but few years are in store for the tyrant.
21 Dreadful sounds are in his ears;
In the midst of peace, the spoiler comes upon him.
22 He does not believe that he will return from darkness;
And he is watched for by the sword.
23 He wanders about for bread; 'where is it?'
He knows that a day of darkness is ready at hand.
24 Distress and anguish terrify him;
They overpower him like a king ready for the fray,
25 Because he has stretched out his hand against God,
And conducts himself arrogantly toward the Almighty.
26 He runs upon him with a stubborn neck,
With the thick bosses of his shields.
27 For he has covered his face with his fat,
And amassed fat upon his loins.
28 And he has dwelt in ruined cities,
In houses wherein no one lives,
Which are destined for ruins.
29 He will not get rich, nor will his wealth endure,
Nor will he strike root in the earth.

- 30 He will not turn aside from darkness;
The flame will shrivel his shoots,
And his blossom will be blown away by the wind.
31 Let him not trust in emptiness, being misled,
For his reward will be emptiness.
32 Before his time it will be fulfilled,
And his palm-branch will not be fresh.
33 He will mar, like a vine, his green grapes,
And he will cast, like an olive, his blossom.
34 For the assembly of the godless is barren,
And fire devours the tents of bribery.
35 They conceive trouble and bring forth misery,
And their womb prepares deception.”

JOB'S REPLY TO ELIPHAZ, 16:1—17:16

- 16 Then Job replied, saying,
2 “I have heard many things like these.
Troublesome comforters are you all!
3 Is there any end to words of wind?
Or what provokes you that you answer?
4 I too could speak like you,
If you were in my place.
I could compose words against you,
And I could shake my head at you.
5 I could strengthen you with my mouth,
And the comfort of my lips would assuage.
6 If I speak, my suffering is not restrained;
And if I am silent, what departs from me?
7 But now, he has tired me out.
Thou hast laid waste all my company,
8 And thou hast shrivelled me up; it has become a testimony!
And my leanness has risen against me; it answers to my face.
9 His wrath has torn and attacked me;
He has gnashed upon me with his teeth.
My enemy looks daggers at me.
10 They gape upon me with their mouths;
In scorn they smite my cheeks.
They mass themselves together against me.
11 God delivers me over to the unjust,
And into the hands of the wicked he surrenders me.

- 12 I was at ease, but he broke me up.
And he seized me by the neck and smashed me;
And set me up as his target.
- 13 His arrows encircle me about;
He splits my kidneys without mercy;
He pours my gall on the ground.
- 14 He breaks me with breach upon breach;
He runs upon me like a warrior.
- 15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my sores;
And I have laid my horn in the dust.
- 16 My face is flushed from weeping,
And black shadows are on my eyelids;
- 17 Although there is no violence on my hands,
And my prayer is pure.
- 18 O earth, cover not my blood,
That there be no place for my cry.
- 19 Yet now; lo, my witness is in the heavens,
And he who testifies for me is on high.
- 20 My thoughts are my intercessors.
Unto God my eye weeps,
21 That one might plead for a man with God,
Even as with a man for one's friend.
- 22 For a few years will come,
And I shall go the way that I shall not return.
- 17 My spirit is broken, my days are snuffed out;
The grave is mine.
- 2 Surely mockery is with me,
And my eye dwells on their obstinacy.
- 3 Give surety for me, now, with thyself.
Who is there that will strike hand in mine?
- 4 Because thou hast closed their mind against reason,
Therefore thou wilt not exalt them.
- 5 He who denounces friends for a portion—
The eyes of his children will fail.
- 6 He has made me a byword of the peoples,
And one before whom men spit am I become.
- 7 My eye is dim because of grief,
And all my members are like a shadow.
- 8 The upright are amazed at this,
And the innocent bestirs himself against the godless;

- 9 But the righteous will hold to his way,
 And the clean-handed will grow stronger.
 10 But all of you, return and come now:
 I shall not find a wise man among you!
 11 My days have passed on; my plans are broken,
 The desires of my heart.
 12 They turn night into day,
 And declare light near in the face of darkness.
 13 If I wait for Sheol as my house,
 If I spread out my couch in darkness,
 14 If I address the pit, 'You are my father,'
 And say to the worm, 'My mother and my sister,'
 15 Where then is my hope?
 And who will see my prosperity?
 16 Will they go down to Sheol with me?
 Or shall we descend together to the dust?"

THE SPEECH OF BILDAD, 18:1-21

- 18 Then Bildad, the Shuhite, replied, saying,
 2 "How long will you set snares for words?
 Understand, and afterwards we will speak.
 3 Why are we estimated like beasts?
 Why are we stupid in your eyes?
 4 You who tear yourself in your anger—
 Is the land to be forsaken on your account,
 Or the rock to be moved from its place?
 5 "Now, the light of the wicked goes out,
 And the flame of his fire does not shine.
 6 The light grows dark in his tent;
 And his lamp goes out above him.
 7 His strong steps are narrowed,
 And his own counsel casts him out.
 8 For he is hurled into the net by his own feet,
 And he walks upon a pit-fall.
 9 A trap seizes him by the heel;
 A snare lays hold upon him.
 10 A noose is concealed for him in the ground,
 And a springe for him upon the path.
 11 All around terrors startle him,

- And dog his footsteps.
 12 His strength is famished,
 And calamity is ready at his side.
 13 By sickness his skin is consumed.
 The first-born of death devours his limbs.
 14 He is snatched away from his tent in which he trusted,
 And thou dost march him to the king of terrors.
 15 There dwells in his tent nothing of his,
 Brimstone is strewn upon his habitation.
 16 His roots dry up under him,
 And his branches are cut off from above.
 17 Memory of him perishes from the land,
 And he has no name upon the surface of the plain.
 18 They drive him from light into darkness,
 And chase him from the world.
 19 He has no kith nor kin among his people,
 Nor is there a survivor in his haunts.
 20 At his day younger men will be appalled,
 And horror will seize upon older ones.
 21 But such are the dwellings of the wicked,
 And such is the place of him who knows not God."

JOB'S REPLY TO BILDAD, 19:1-29

- 19 Then Job replied, saying,
 2 "How long will you torment me,
 And crush me with words?
 3 Now ten times you abuse me;
 You wrong me shamelessly.
 4 But suppose, indeed, I have erred;
 With myself my error dwells.
 5 If, indeed, you magnify yourselves against me,
 And argue my disgrace against me,
 6 Know, then, that God has overturned me,
 And has inclosed me in his net.
 7 Lo, I cry 'Murder,' but I am not answered;
 I call for help, but there is no justice.
 8 My way he has walled up that I may not pass on;
 And upon my paths he sets darkness.
 9 My glory he has stripped from upon me,
 And has taken the crown off my head.

- 10 He has broken me down on every side, and I am gone;
And he has torn up my hope like a tree.
- 11 His anger burns against me,
And he reckons me as one of his focs.
- 12 His troops also come,
They cast up their way against me,
And they have encamped around my tent.
- 13 He has put my brothers far from me;
And my friends are wholly estranged from me.
- 14 My intimates have ceased to be,
And my cronies have forgotten me.
- 15 The guests of my house and my maids reckon me a stranger;
An alien am I become in their eyes.
- 16 I call my servant, but he will not answer;
With my mouth I must implore him.
- 17 My breath is offensive to my wife;
And I am loathsome to my brothers.
- 18 Even the urchins despise me;
When I arise, they turn their backs upon me.
- 19 All the men of my circle abhor me;
And those whom I have loved have turned against me.
- 20 My bone cleaves to my skin,
And I am escaped with my flesh in my teeth.
- 21 "Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you, my friends,
For the hand of God has struck me!
- 22 Wherefore do you pursue me like God,
And are not satisfied with my flesh?
- 23 Would, then, that my words were written!
Would that they were inscribed in a scroll!
- 24 That with an iron pen and lead
They were hewn in the rock forever!
- 25 But I myself know that my Vindicator lives;
And as a later one he will arise upon the earth;
- 26 And afterward he will rise up with me as my witness,
And endorsing me, I shall see God;
- 27 Whom I shall see on my side,
And my eyes will see unestranged.
My emotions are spent within me!
- 28 If you say, 'How we will pursue him,

- For the root of the matter is found in him!
 29 Tremble for yourselves before the sword;
 For such things are crimes deserving the sword;
 That you may know that there is judgment.”

THE SPEECH OF ZOPHAR, 20:1-29

- 20 Then Zophar, the Naamathite, replied, saying,
 2 “Therefore, my thoughts answer me;
 And because of the agitation within me,
 3 I hear the rebuke that would put me to shame,
 And my intelligent spirit replies to me.
- 4 “Do you know this as from of old,
 Since man was placed upon earth,
 5 That the triumph of the wicked is but short,
 And the mirth of the ungodly is but for a moment?
 6 If his pride mount up to the heavens,
 And his head touch the clouds,
 7 He will perish forever like his own dung;
 Those that saw him will say, ‘Where is he?’
 8 Like a dream he will fly away and they will not find him,
 And he will flee like a vision of the night;
 9 The eye that saw him will see him no more,
 Nor will his place see him again.
 10 His sons will conciliate the poor,
 And his own hands will give back his wealth.
 11 While his bones are full of his youth,
 With him it will lie down in the dust.
- 12 “If wickedness be sweet in his mouth,
 If he hide it under his tongue;
 13 If he be sparing of it and will not let it go,
 But withhold it in his palate;
 14 His food in his bowels is turned Into the gall of asps within him.
 15 He swallows down riches but vomits them up;
 God drives them forth from his belly.
 16 He sucks the poison of asps;
 The tongue of the adder slays him.
 17 Never shall he gaze upon rich meadows,

- Upon valleys of honey and clotted milk.
18 He gives back the product of toil and cannot consume it;
He does not rejoice in proportion to the wealth he gains by trade.
19 Because he has oppressed and forsaken the poor,
And has seized a house that he did not build;
20 Because he knew no peace of mind,
But in his greed spared none,
21 And there is nothing left of his meal;
Therefore his prosperity will not endure.
22 In the fullness of his abundance he will be in straits,
All the force of trouble will come upon him;
23 May his belly be filled!
He will send forth upon him the heat of his anger,
And rain down his war upon him.
24 He will flee from the weapon of iron;
And the bow of bronze will pierce him through!
25 He draws it forth and it comes out of his back,
And the glittering sword out of his gall.
Terror comes upon him.
26 All darkness is stored up for his treasures,
A fire that is not blown will devour him;
It will feed on what is left in his tent.
27 The heavens will disclose his guilt,
And the earth will rise up against him.
28 The increase of his house will go into exile,
Like things melting away in the day of his wrath.
29 "This is the portion of a wicked man from God,
And the inheritance allotted him from God."

JOB'S REPLY TO ZOPHAR, 21:1-34

- 21 Then Job replied, saying,
2 "Listen closely to my speech,
And let this be your consolation to me.
3 Suffer me while I speak,
And after I have spoken, you may jeer.
4 "Is my complaint regarding man?
Or, why should I not be impatient?
5 Look at me and be dumbfounded,
And lay your hand upon your mouth.

- 6 "When I think of it, I am amazed;
And shuddering lays hold of my flesh.
- 7 Why do the wicked live,
Grow old, and amass wealth?
- 8 "Their children are established in their presence along with them,
And their offspring before their eyes.
- 9 Their houses are safe from terror;
And the rod of God is not upon them.
- 10 "His bull genders without fail,
His cow brings forth without miscarriage.
- 11 They send forth their little ones like a flock,
And their children skip about.
- 12 "They sing to the timbrel and harp,
And they make merry to the sound of the flute.
- 13 They complete their days in prosperity,
And in a moment they go down to Sheol.
- 14 "Yet they say to God, 'Depart from us;
We do not want to know thy ways.
- 15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve him?
And what does it profit us that we pray to him?'
- 16 "Behold, their prosperity is not in their power;
The counsel of the wicked is far from me.
- 17 "How often is it that the lamp of the wicked is put out,
Or that their calamity comes upon them?
That he apportions snares in his anger,
That they are like straw before the wind,
Or like chaff that the whirlwind carries away?
- 18 " 'God stores up his trouble for his sons!'
Let him requite it unto him himself that he may know,
That his own eyes may see his ruin,
And that he may drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
- 19 For what does he care about his house after him,
When the number of his months is reckoned up?
- 20 "Can anyone teach God knowledge?
He judges the highest!

- 23 One man dies at the height of his powers,
Wholly at ease and satisfied;
24 His vessels are full of milk,
And the marrow of his bones is moistened.
25 Another dies in a mood of bitterness,
Never having enjoyed good.
26 They both lie down in the dust
And the worm covers them over.
- 27 "Indeed I know your plans,
And the purposes you meditate against me.
28 For you say, 'Where is the house of the noble?
And where is the tent of the dwellings of the wicked?'
- 29 "Have you not asked those that pass by on the road?
And do you not recognize their evidence,
30 That the wicked is spared in the day of disaster,
That they are led away on the day of wrath?
- 31 "Who declares his way to his face?
And who requites to him what he has done?
32 He is led along to the grave,
And watch is kept over the tomb.
33 The clods of the valley are sweet to him;
And all men follow after him,
Even as they are innumerable before him.
- 34 "How then do you offer me futile comfort?
For your answers are nothing but pretexts."

THE THIRD CYCLE, 22:1—31:40

THE SPEECH OF ELIPHAZ, 22:1—30

- 22 Then Eliphaz, the Temanite, replied, saying,
2 "Can man be of value to God,
That a wise man should be of value to him?
3 Is it of any concern to the Almighty that you are righteous?
Or is it of any gain to him that you should make your ways perfect?
4 Is it because of your piety that he chastens you,
And enters into judgment with you?

- 5 Is not your wickedness great?
There is no end to your guilt.
- 6 For you take pledges of your brothers for nothing;
You strip the clothes off the naked;
- 7 You do not give the thirsty water to drink;
And you withhold food from the hungry;
- 8 But the man of power may have the earth,
And the favoured man may dwell therein.
- 9 Widows you have sent empty away,
And the arms of the fatherless are crushed.
- 10 Therefore snares are round about you,
And terror will suddenly overwhelm you;
- 11 Or darkness so that you cannot see,
And a flood of water will cover you.
- 12 "Is not God high as the heavens?
And see the top of the stars, that they are high.
- 13 Yet you say, 'What does God know?
Can he judge through deep darkness?
- 14 Thick clouds conceal him so that he cannot see,
And he walks upon the vault of the heavens.'
- 15 Will you keep to the old path,
Which wicked men have trod,
- 16 Who were snatched away before their time,
Whose foundation was poured out like a river;
- 17 Who said to God, 'Depart from us,'
And, 'What does the Almighty do for us?'
- 18 Yet it was he who filled their houses with good things.
The counsel of the wicked be far from me!
- 19 The righteous see and are glad,
And the innocent scoffs at them:
- 20 'Surely our enemies are destroyed,
And their surplus the fire has devoured.'
- 21 "Acquaint yourself, now, with him and be at peace;
Thereby will your increase be good.
- 22 Receive instruction, now, from his mouth,
And place his words in your heart.
- 23 If you return to the Almighty and humble yourself,
If you put injustice far from your tent,

- 24 And lay gold in the dust,
And gold of Ophir among the rocks of the wadys;
25 The Almighty will be your gold,
And your shining silver.
26 For then you will delight yourself in the Almighty,
And you will lift up your face unto God.
27 You will pray to him and he will hear you.
And you will fulfil your vows.
28 You will decide a matter, and it will stand for you;
And light will shine upon your ways.
29 For God will abase the high and proud,
And will deliver him that is lowly of eye.
30 He will free the innocent man,
And he will be freed through the purity of his hands.”

JOB'S REPLY TO ELIPHAZ, 23:1—24:25

- 23 Then Job replied, saying,
2 “Today also is my complaint defiant.
His hand is heavy upon my groaning.
3 O, that I knew where I might find him,
That I might come to his dwelling!
4 I would set my case in order before him,
And I would fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the words he would answer me,
And understand what he would say to me.
6 Would he contend with me in his great strength?
No; but he would pay heed to me.
7 Then an upright man would argue with him;
And I should deliver myself forever from my judge.
8 Lo, I go forward, but he is not;
And backward, but I perceive him not;
9 On the left I seek him, but cannot see him;
I turn to the right, and do not behold him.
10 When he knows my manner of life,
When he has tested me, I shall come forth like gold.
11 My foot has held fast to his step;
I have kept to his way, and not turned aside,
12 To the command of his lips, and do not recede.
I have treasured up in my breast the words of his mouth.
13 But he has chosen and who can turn him back?

- And what he himself desires, he does.
 14 For he will complete what he has decreed for me;
 And many such things are in his mind.
 15 Therefore I am dismayed before him;
 When I consider, I am in terror of him.
 16 But God has weakened my heart;
 And the Almighty has overwhelmed me;
 17 For I am overcome because of darkness,
 And blackness has covered my face.
- 24 "Why are not times stored up by the Almighty?
 And why have not those who know him seen his days?
 2 Men remove boundaries;
 They steal flocks and pasture them;
 3 They lead away the ass of the fatherless;
 They take as a pledge the ox of the widow;
 4 They turn aside the needy from the way;
 Moreover the needy of the land hide themselves.
- 5 "Indeed, like wild-asses in the wilderness,
 They go forth to their work, seeking for food;
 The steppe furnishes them bread for the children.
 6 They make harvest in the field by night;
 And they glean the vineyard of the wicked.
 7 Naked they pass the night without clothing,
 And they have no covering against the cold.
 8 They are drenched by the rain from the mountains,
 And for lack of refuge they cleave to the rocks.
 9 They snatch the fatherless from the breast,
 And they take the infant of the poor as security.
 10 Naked they go about, without clothing,
 And hungry, they carry sheaves.
 11 Within walls they make oil;
 They tread the wine-presses, but are thirsty.
 12 From the city the dying groan,
 And those who are wounded call for help;
 But God does not hear their prayer.
- 13 "They are enemies of the light;
 They do not know its ways;
 Nor do they dwell in its paths.

- 14 At daylight the murderer arises,
That he may kill the poor and needy;
And in the night he is like the thief.
- 15 The eye of the adulterer watches for the twilight,
Saying, 'No eye shall see me;'
And he puts a veil over his face.
- 16 He digs through houses in the darkness;
By day they shut themselves up;
They do not know light.
- 17 Furthermore, midnight is morning to them,
For they are acquainted with the terrors of midnight.
- 18 [“They are accursed in the sight of the heavens;
Cursed is their portion in the earth.
No treader turns toward their vineyard.
- 19 Drought and heat snatch away snow water;
So does Sheol those who have sinned.
- 20 The womb forgets him; the worm sucks him;
He is no longer remembered;
And untruth is broken like a tree.”]
- 21 “He feeds on the barren woman with no child,
And he does no good to the widow.
- 22 He prolongs the life of the mighty by his power;
He arises with no hope of life;
- 23 But he gives him confidence and he is sustained;
And his eyes are upon their ways.
- 24 [“They are exalted for a little, and then they are not;
And they are brought low and like all things they are plucked off;
And like the top of the ear of grain they are cut off.]
- 25 If it is not so, then who will prove me wrong,
And show my speech to be nothing?”

THE SPEECH OF BILDAD, 25:1-6, AND 26:5-14

- 25 Then Bildad, the Shuhite, replied, saying,
2 “Dominion and fear are with him;
He dispenses prosperity in his high places.
- 3 Is there any limit to his troops?
And upon whom does not his light arise?

- 4 How can a man be justified with God?
Or how can he be pure that is born of a woman?
- 5 Verily, even the moon does not shine brightly,
Nor are the stars bright in his eyes.
- 6 How much less man that is a maggot,
And the son of man that is a worm.
- 26^s "The shades quake,
The waters and their inhabitants from beneath;
6 Sheol lies bare before him;
And Abaddon has no covering.
7 He stretches out the north over the void,
He hangs the earth upon nothing.
8 He binds up the water in his clouds,
And the cloud is not split under its weight.
9 He enclosed the front of his throne,
Spreading out his cloud over it.
10 He inscribed a circle upon the surface of the water,
Unto the limits of light and darkness.
11 The pillars of the heavens tottered,
And were dazed at his rebuke.
12 Through his power the sea was stilled,
And by his skill he smote through Rahab.
13 By his wind the skies were cleared;
His hand slew the fleeing serpent.
- 14 "Behold these are the outskirts of his way;
And how slight a whisper do we hear of him!
But the thunder of his power, who could comprehend?"

JOB'S REPLY TO BILDAD, 26:1-4 AND 27:1-6

- 26 Then Job replied, saying,
2 "How you have helped him that was powerless;
And saved the arm that was not strong!
3 How you have counselled him that was without wisdom,
And abundantly made known sound wisdom!
4 Whom have you told mere words,
And whose breath issued from you?"¹
- 27 Then Job again took up his discourse, saying,
2 "As God lives, who has put away my right;

¹ For 26:5-14, see on this page after 25:6.

- And the Almighty, who has embittered my disposition;
3 (For my breath is yet all in me,
And the breath of God is in my nostrils;)
4 My lips do not speak untruth,
Nor my tongue utter deceit.
5 Far be it from me that I should justify you;
Till I die I will not put my integrity from me.
6 I will hold on to my innocence and will not let it go.
My conscience does not reproach any of my days."

THE SPEECH OF ZOPHAR (?), 27:7-23

- 7 "May my enemy be like the wicked,
And my adversary like the unjust.
8 For what is the hope of the irreligious when he cuts off,
When God draws out his life?
9 Will God hear his request,
When trouble comes upon him?
10 Does he delight in the Almighty?
Does he call upon God at all times?
11 I will teach you concerning the power of God;
What is with the Almighty I will not hide.
12 Indeed you yourselves have all seen;
Wherefore, then, are you wholly futile?
13 This is the lot of a wicked man with God,
And the heritage which tyrants receive from the Almighty.
14 If his sons be many, they are for the sword;
And his offspring have not enough bread.
15 Those who survive him are buried in death,
And there will be no widows to weep.
16 Though he heap up silver like dust,
And prepare clothes like the clay;
17 He may prepare—but the righteous will wear it;
And silver—the pure will divide it.
18 He has built his house like a spider's web,
And like a booth that the watchman makes.
19 He lies down rich, but does so no more;
He opens his eyes, and it is gone.
20 Terrors overtake him like water,
A storm snatches him away in the night.
21 The sirocco picks him up and he goes,

- And it whirls him away from his place.
 22 And God hurls at him unsparingly;
 From his hand he flees precipitously.
 23 Men clench their fists at him,
 And hiss him from his place.”

THE PRAISE OF WISDOM, 28:1-28

- 28 “Surely there is a mine for silver,
 And a place where they refine gold.
 2 Iron is taken from the dust,
 And from the stone copper is smelted.
 3 Man sets an end to darkness,
 To the full limit he searches out
 The ore from the blackness and dense darkness.
 4 He breaks open a shaft far from the traveller;
 In places forgotten by men’s feet,
 They hang far from men, they swing to and fro.
 5 The earth—bread comes forth from it,
 But underneath it is turned into what looks like fire.
 6 Its stones are the source of sapphires,
 And it has dust of gold.
 7 The path to it no bird of prey knows,
 Nor has the vulture’s eye seen it.
 8 The beasts of prey have not trodden it,
 Nor has the lion passed upon it.
 9 Man puts forth his hand to the rocks;
 He turns the mountains upside down.
 10 He cleaves rivers in the rocks;
 And all precious things his eye sees.
 11 He binds up the streams that they do not flow;
 And what is hidden he brings forth to the light.
 12 “But where can wisdom be found?
 And where is the place of understanding?
 13 Man knows not the way of it,
 Nor is it found in the land of the living.
 14 The abyss says, ‘It is not in me’;
 And the sea says, ‘It is not with me.’
 15 Pure gold cannot be given for it,
 Nor can silver be weighed out as its price.

- 16 It cannot be bought with gold of Ophir,
With precious onyx and sapphires.
17 Gold and glass cannot equal it,
Nor can articles of fine gold be exchanged for it.
18 No mention may be made of coral and crystal;
The acquisition of wisdom is above that of corals.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia does not equal it;
Nor can it be valued in terms of pure gold.
- 20 "Whence does wisdom come?
And where is the place of understanding?
21 It is hidden from the eyes of all the living,
And from the fowl of the heavens it is concealed.
22 Abaddon and Death say,
'With our ears we have but heard the report of it.'
23 God understands its way,
And he knows its location.
24 For he looks to the ends of the earth;
Beneath the whole heavens he sees.
25 When he made a weight for the wind,
And meted out the waters by measure;
26 When he made a law for the rain,
And a way for the thunderbolt;
27 Then did he see it and declare it;
He established it and investigated it.
28 Then he said to man:
'Behold the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom;
And to depart from evil is understanding.'"

JOB'S REPLY TO ZOPHAR, 29:1—31:40

- 29 Then Job again took up his discourse and said:
2 "Oh that I were as in months of old,
As in the days when God guarded me;
3 When his lamp shone over my head,
And by its light I walked in darkness;
4 Even as I was in the days of my prime,
When the friendship of God was over my tent;
5 When the Almighty was still with me,
And my young ones were around me;
6 When my goings were bathed in curds,

And the rock poured out for me streams of oil.
7 When I went forth from my gate up to the city,
And prepared my seat in the square,
8 Young men saw me and withdrew,
And old men arose and stood;
9 Princes stopped talking,
And placed their hands upon their mouths.
10 The voice of the nobles was silent,
And their tongues clove to their palates.
11 For when the ear heard, it called me happy;
And when the eye saw, it testified for me:
12 That I delivered the poor who cried for help,
And the fatherless, and him that had no helper.
13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me,
And the heart of the widow I made glad.
14 I put on righteousness, and it clothed me;
Like a robe and a turban was my justice.
15 Eyes was I to the blind,
And feet was I to the lame.
16 I was a father to the needy;
And I investigated the cause which I did not know.
17 I broke the talons of the wicked,
And I drew the prey out of his teeth.
18 And I said, 'I shall die with my nestlings,
And make my days as many as the sand;
19 My root open to the water,
And dew lying on my boughs,
20 My glory new with me,
And my bow renewed in my hand.'
21 For me men listened and waited,
And kept silence for my counsel;
22 After my speech, they did not reply,
And my word dropped upon them.
23 They waited for me as for the rain,
And opened their mouths as for the latter rain.
24 I laughed at them when they did not believe,
And the light of my countenance they could not cast down.
25 I chose their way and sat as chief,
And I dwelt like a king in a host,
Like one who comforts mourners.

- 30 "But now they laugh at me,
Those who are younger than I,
Whose fathers I disdained
To set with the dogs of my flock.
2 The strength of their hands, too—of what use is it to me?
Within them manly vigour has perished;
3 With want and hunger they are spent;
They gnaw the dry ground,
The source of dearth and desolation;
4 They pluck salt-wort by the bushes,
And their food is the root of the broom:
5 From the group they are driven forth,
(Men cry out against them as against the thief.)
6 To dwell in a gully of the wadys,
In holes of the earth and rocks;
7 Among the bushes they howl,
Beneath the scrub they huddle together:
8 Worthless and nameless,
They are scourged out of the land.
- 9 "And now, I am become their song,
And I am a by-word unto them.
10 They loathe me, they stay far from me,
They do not refrain from spitting in my face.
11 Because he has loosened my bowstring and humiliated me,
They have cast off restraint in my presence.
12 On the right they rise up in swarms;
And they grade up against me their ways of destruction.
13 They break up my path,
They help on my ruin,—
Men who have no helper.
14 As through a wide breach they advance;
Under the crash they roll on.
15 Terrors are turned upon me;
My honour flees like the wind,
And like a cloud my welfare has passed away.
16 But now my grief pours itself out upon me;
The days of my trouble lay hold of me.
17 The night racks my bones from upon me;

- And my bare bones cannot lie down.
18 With great force he seizes me by the clothing;
He lays hold of me by the neck of my tunic;
19 He hurls me to the ground;
And I am made like dust and ashes.
- 20 "I cry to thee for help, but thou dost not answer me;
I stand, and thou dost not heed me.
21 Thou art turned into one that is cruel to me;
With the strength of thy hand thou dost attack me.
22 Thou dost pick me up, on the wind thou dost cause me to ride;
And thou dost dissolve me in the uproar.
23 For I know that thou wilt turn me over to Death,
And to the house of assembly for all living.
24 Yet will not a man in trouble stretch forth his hand,
Or in his misfortune utter a cry for help for such things?
25 I have certainly wept for him whose times were hard;
I was grieved for the needy.
26 But I hoped for good, and evil came;
And I waited for light, but darkness came.
27 My bowels rumble and are not silent;
The days of my affliction have come to meet me.
28 I go about in black, without the sun;
I arise in the assembly, calling for help.
29 I have been a brother to jackals,
And a companion of ostriches.
30 My skin has grown black upon me,
And my bones burn from the heat.
31 And my harp has become mourning,
And my flute the voice of those who weep.
- 31 "I made a contract for my eyes:
How, then, could I give heed to a virgin?
2 And what is the portion of God from above,
And the heritage of the Almighty from the heights?
3 Is it not calamity for the unrighteous,
And disaster for wrong-doers?
4 Does he not see my ways,
And number all my steps?
5 If I walk with falsehood,

- And my foot hastens toward deceit;
6 (Let him weigh me in just scales,
And may God know my integrity!)
7 If my step turn from the way,
And my heart walk after my eyes,
And a spot stick to my hands;
8 May I sow, but another eat;
And may my crops be uprooted!
- 9 "If my heart be enticed after a woman,
And I lie in wait at the door of my friend;
10 May my wife grind for another man,
And may others bend over her!
11 For that is a crime,
And it is a heinous sin.
12 For it is a fire that would devour unto Abaddon;
And it would uproot all my increase.
- 13 "If I set at nought the cause of my manservant or my maidservant
When they strove with me;
14 Then what shall I do when God arises?
And when he inquires, what can I answer him?
15 Did not he who made me in the body make him?
And did not one prepare us in the womb?
- 16 "If I withheld from the desire of the poor,
And caused the eyes of the widow to grow dim;
17 Or ate my portion alone,
And the fatherless did not eat of it,—
18 For from my youth he reared me like a father,
And from my mother's body he led me,—
19 If I saw any perishing for lack of clothing,
And there was no covering for the needy;
20 If his loins did not bless me,
And from the fleece of my sheep he did not keep himself warm;
21 If I shook my fist at the fatherless,
Because I saw my help in the gate;
22 May my shoulder-blade drop from the shoulder,
And my arm be broken from the socket.
23 For calamity from God was a terror to me,

- And because of his majesty I was powerless,
24 If I made gold my confidence,
And called fine gold my trust;
25 If I rejoiced because my wealth was great,
Or because my hand came upon great riches;
26 If I looked upon the great light when it shone,
Or the moon moving along majestically,
27 And my heart was secretly seduced,
And my hand kissed my mouth;
28 That too were a heinous crime,
For I had been false to God on high.
- 29 "If I rejoiced at the calamity of him who hated me,
And was elated when evil came upon him;—
30 I did not let my palate sin
By calling down curses upon him.
31 Verily the men of my household said,
'Is there anyone that has not been satisfied from his meat?'
32 The stranger did not lodge in the street;
I opened my doors to the wayfarer.
- 33 "If I covered up my transgressions from men,
Hiding my guilt in my bosom;
34 Because I dreaded the great crowd,
And the contempt of the clans terrified me,
So that I was silent, not going forth from the door.
- 35 "O that one would listen to me!
Here is my signature! Let the Almighty answer me!
And the scroll which my opponent has written,— 36 Surely I would carry it upon my shoulder.
I would wind it around me as my diadem.
37 The number of my steps I would declare,
Like a prince would I present it.
- 38 "If my land cried out against me,
And its furrows also wept;
39 If I ate its product without paying,
And snuffed out the life of its owners;
40 Instead of wheat, let thorns grow up;
And weeds instead of barley."

The words of Job are finished.

THE INTERLUDE OF ELIHU, 32:1—37:24

32 Then these three men ceased answering Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes. Then the anger of Elihu, the son of Barachel, the Buzite, of the clan of Ram, was kindled; against Job was his anger kindled, because he held himself in the right, rather than God. 3 And against his three friends was his wrath kindled, because they had 4 found no answer, and so had put God in the wrong. And Elihu had awaited Job while they were speaking, because they were older than 5 he. When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of the three men, his anger was kindled.

THE FIRST SPEECH OF ELIHU, 32:6—33:33

6 Then Elihu, the son of Barachel, the Buzite, replied, saying:
7 "I am of few days, while you are aged;
Therefore I feared and was afraid
To show you my knowledge.
8 I thought days should speak,
And many years should teach wisdom.
9 However, it is a spirit in man,
And the breath of the Almighty, that makes them intelligent;
10 It is not the old that are wise,
Nor the elders who understand justice.
11 Therefore I say 'Hear me;
I will declare my knowledge, even I.'
12 "Behold, I waited for your words,
I listened for your wisdom,
Until you should find words;
13 And unto you I gave heed.
But indeed there is no one confuting Job,
No one of you that answers his words.
14 Lest you say, 'We have met with wisdom;
God may rout him not man';
15 He has not arrayed words against me;
And with your arguments I will not answer him.
16 "They are dismayed; they answer no more;
Words have failed them.
17 And am I to wait, because they do not speak,
Because they stop, and answer no more?

- 18 I also will answer my share,
I too will declare my knowledge.
- 19 For I am full of words,
The spirit within me constrains me.
- 20 Behold, my bosom is like wine that has no vent;
Like skins of new wine it is ready to burst.
- 21 Let me speak, that I may get relief;
Let me open my lips, and reply.
- 22 "Let me not be partial toward anybody,
Nor flatter any man;
- 23 For I do not know how to flatter;
Else would my Maker soon take me away.
- 33 "But hear now, O Job, my words;
And listen to all my sayings.
- 2 Lo now, I have opened my mouth;
My tongue in my palate has spoken.
- 3 My words are straight from my heart;
And the knowledge of my lips they speak sincerely.
- 4 The spirit of God made me,
And the breath of the Almighty gave me life.
- 5 If you can, answer me;
Draw up before me; take your position.
- 6 Behold, I am just like you with God;
From clay I too was nipped off.
- 7 Lo, dread of me will not overwhelm you;
Nor will care of me be heavy upon you.
- 8 "Yet you have said in my hearing,
And I heard the sound of the words:
- 9 'I am pure, without transgression;
Clean am I, and without guilt.
- 10 Behold, he finds pretexts against me;
He holds me as his enemy.
- 11 He sets my feet in the stocks,
He watches all my paths.'
- 12 "But in this you are not right; I will answer you;
For God is greater than man.
- 13 Why do you make accusations against him,

- That 'he answers none of my arguments'?
14 For God speaks in one way,
And in two, though one heeds it not.
15 In a dream, a vision of the night,
When sound sleep falls upon men,
In slumbers upon the bed;
16 Then he uncovers the ear of men,
And seals up their instruction,
17 To turn man aside from his work,
And to hide pride from man;
18 That he may hold him back from the pit,
And his life from passing into Sheol.
19 And he is chastened with pain upon his bed,
And the strife of his bones is perpetual;
20 So his life loathes bread,
And his appetite the daintiest food.
21 His flesh wastes away out of sight,
And bare are his bones which were not seen.
22 And so he himself draws near to the pit,
And his life to the destroyers.
- 23 "If there be by him an angel,
A mediator, one of a thousand,
To declare to man what is his right;
24 And if he be gracious to him, and say:
'Deliver him from going down into the pit;
I have found a ransom;
25 Let his flesh become fresher than a child's,
Let him return to the days of his youth';
26 Then he prays to God and he accepts him;
And he sees his face with joy;
And he restores to a man his righteousness.
27 He sings to men and says:
'I sinned and I distorted that which was straight,
And he did not requite it to me.
28 He rescued me from going down into the pit;
And my life gazes upon the light.'
- 29 "Lo, all such things does God do Twice, three times with a man;

- 30 To turn him back from the pit,
That he may see the light of life.
- 31 Give heed Job; listen to me,
Be silent, while I speak.
- 32 If you have anything to say, answer me;
Speak, for I desire to acquit you.
- 33 If not, then do you listen to me.
Keep silent, that I may teach you wisdom.”

ELIHU'S SECOND SPEECH, 34:1-37

- 34 Then Elihu replied, saying:
- 2 “Hear, O wise men, my words,
And you learned ones, give ear to me;
3 (For the ear should test words,
Even as the palate tastes food).
4 Let us choose for ourselves what is right,
Let us know among us what is good.
5 For Job says, ‘I am innocent,
And God has taken away my right.
6 Against my right shall I lie?
Incurable is my wound—and no fault of mine.’
- 7 “What man is there like Job?
He drinks up scorn like water!
8 And he walks in company with doers of evil,
And goes with wicked men.
9 For he says, ‘A man gains nothing
By being on good terms with God.’
- 10 “Therefore, O men of understanding, hear me:
Far be it from God to do wickedness,
And from the Almighty to do wrong.
11 But a man's work he requites to him,
And he makes it befall each according to his way.
12 Of a surety then God does not put in the wrong,
And the Almighty does not distort the right.
- 13 “Who gave him authority over the earth?
And who gave him charge of the whole world?
14 If he were to withdraw his spirit to himself,
And to gather in his breath to himself,

- 15 All flesh would expire at once,
And man would return to the dust.
- 16 "If you have insight, hear this;
Give ear to the sound of my words.
17 Can one who hates right govern?
Or can you declare guilty the mighty just one;
18 Him who says to a king, 'You villain!'
And to nobles, 'You wicked!'
19 Him who is not partial to princes,
Who does not favour the prosperous above the poor;
For they are all the work of his hands?
- 20 "In a moment they die, and in the middle of the night
People are shaken violently and pass away;
The mighty are removed by an unseen hand.
21 For his eyes are upon the ways of a man,
And all his steps he sees.
22 There is no darkness and no dense blackness
Where doers of evil can hide themselves.
23 For he does not make an appointment for a man
To go unto God in judgment.
- 24 "He breaks down the mighty, without investigation;
And he sets others in their place.
25 Therefore he knows their works,
And overturns them in the night and they are crushed.
26 Therefore he shatters the wicked;
He smites them in the sight of the public.
27 Because they turned aside from following him,
And heeded none of his ways;
28 So that they caused the cry of the poor to come unto him,
And the cry of the needy he heard.
- 29 "Should he keep quiet, who may condemn?
And should he hide his face, who may see him?
He watches over a nation and over man alike,
30 Setting up a godless man as king,
Because of the stubbornness of the people.
- 31 "For unto God has he said,
'Forgive me, I will not act wickedly;

- 32 In addition to what I see, do thou teach me;
If I have done wrong, I will do so no more?'
- 33 Will he requite it according to your standard,
That you reject it?
For you must choose, and not I;
And what you know, declare.
- 34 "Men of understanding will say to me,
And a wise man who listens to me:
35 'Job speaks without knowledge,
And his words are without discernment.'
36 Would that Job might be tried unto the end,
For his answers among wicked men.
37 For he adds rebellion unto his sin.
He clenches his fists at us,
And he multiplies his charges against God."

ELIHU'S THIRD SPEECH, 35:1-16

- 35 Then Elihu replied, saying:
2 "Do you consider this to be just,
Do you say, 'it is my righteousness before God?'
3 That you say, 'what does it profit me?
What do I gain more than if I had sinned?'
- 4 "I will answer you with words,
And your friends along with you.
5 Look to the heavens, and see;
And gaze upon the clouds—they are higher than you!
6 If you have sinned, how does it affect him?
And if your offenses be many, what do you do to him?
7 If you are righteous, what do you give to him?
Or what does he take from your hand?
8 Your wickedness concerns a man like yourself,
And your righteousness, a human being.
- 9 "Because of many deeds of oppression men cry out;
They call for help because of the strength of the mighty.
10 And nobody has said, 'Where is God my Maker,
Who gives songs in the night,
11 Who teaches us more than the beasts of the earth,
And makes us wiser than the fowl of the heavens?'

- 12 Then they cry, but he does not answer,
Because of the pride of the wicked.
- 13 "But God will not hear falsehood,
Nor will the Almighty look upon it.
14 How much less when you say you do not behold him;
The case is before him, and you wait for him.
15 And now because his anger does not punish,
And he does not notice folly much,
16 Job opens his mouth emptily,
He multiplies words without knowledge."

ELIHU'S FOURTH SPEECH, 36:1—37:24

- 36 Then Elihu spoke again:
2 "Wait for me a little, that I may show you
That there are yet things to be said in God's behalf,
3 I will fetch my knowledge from afar,
And ascribe righteousness to my Maker.
4 For of a truth my words are not false;
One who is perfect in knowledge is with you.
- 5 "Lo, God is mighty and does not despise,
Mighty in strength of understanding.
6 He will not keep the wicked alive;
And he grants the right of the poor.
7 He does not withdraw his eyes from the righteous,
But with kings on the throne
He makes them sit forever, and they are exalted.
- 8 "And if they are bound in chains,
And they be caught in the cords of trouble,
9 Then he makes known to them their works,
And their transgressions, that they magnify themselves.
10 And he uncovers their ear to instruction,
And commands that they turn from wrong.
- 11 "If they hear and serve him,
They fulfill their days in prosperity and their years in pleasure.
12 But if they do not hear, they pass away into Sheol,
And they expire without knowledge.
13 The impious in heart lay up anger;

- They do not call for help when he chastises them.
14 They die in youth,
And their life ends prematurely.
- 15 "He rescues the poor through his poverty,
And uncovers their ear through their oppression.
16 Furthermore, he enticed you from the mouth of straits,
And instead, you have unlimited room,
And your table is filled with fat.
17 And you are full of the judgment of the wicked,
Judgment and justice lay hold of you.
- 18 "But beware, lest he allure you with riches,
And let not a heavy bribe mislead you.
19 Will your wealth that is without stint compare,
Or all your reinforcements of strength?
20 Long not for the night,
That peoples may go up in their place.
21 Be careful that you turn not to wrong;
Because for this you were tried by suffering.
- 22 "Lo, God is exalted in his might;
Who is a teacher like him?
23 Who has ever appointed unto him his way?
Or who has said, 'Thou hast done injustice'?
24 Remember that you extol his work,
Whereof men have sung.
25 All men have beheld it,
Man looks upon it from afar.
- 26 "Lo, God is exalted, and we cannot know;
The number of his years is unsearchable.
27 For he draws up the drops of water;
They distill rain for his mist,
28 Which the clouds pour down;
They drop down upon many men.
29 Can anyone understand the spreading out of the clouds,
The crashings of his covert?
- 30 "Lo, he spreads his mist about him,
And covers the tops of the mountains.

- 31 For therewith he judges peoples;
He gives food in abundance.
- 32 He covers his two hands with lightning,
And commands it concerning the mark.
- 33 The thunder declares regarding him,
The cattle also concerning what is coming up.
- 37 "At this also my heart is disturbed,
And leaps from its place.
- 2 Listen closely to the roar of his voice,
And the rumbling that goes forth from his mouth.
- 3 Beneath the whole heavens he lets it loose,
And his light is unto the corners of the earth.
- 4 After it, a sound roars;
He thunders with his majestic voice;
And he delays them not when his voice is heard.
- 5 "God thunders with his wondrous voice,
Doing great things that we cannot understand.
- 6 For he commands the snow, 'Fall to the earth,'
The downpour and the rain, 'Be strong.'
- 7 He seals up the hand of every man,
That all men may know his work.
- 8 Then the wild beast goes into its lair,
And dwells in its dens.
- 9 "From the South comes the whirlwind;
And from the North, the ice.
- 10 By the breath of God ice is formed,
And the broad waters are congealed.
- 11 Also with moisture he loads the cloud,
He scatters abroad his lightning-cloud.
- 12 And they encircle and turn about by his counsel,
That they may do all that he commands them,
Upon the surface of the populous earth;
- 13 Whether it be for chastisement to the earth,
Or for mercy, that he causes it to find its mark.
- 14 "Give ear to this, O Job;
Stand still and consider the wonders of God.
- 15 Do you know when God does his work,

- And causes the light of his cloud to shine?
 16 Do you know regarding the balancings of the cloud,
 The wonders of the one perfect in knowledge?
 17 You whose clothes are hot,
 When the earth is still because of the southwind,
 18 Can you beat out with him the skies,
 Hard as a molten mirror?
- 19 "Tell us what we shall say to him!
 We cannot draw up a statement because of darkness!
 20 Shall it be told him that I am speaking?
 Or if a man talk will he be swallowed up?
 21 And now men saw not the light;
 It was obscure in the skies;
 But the wind passed over and cleared them.
 22 From the north golden brightness comes,
 Over God splendor appears.
 23 But we have not found the Almighty.
 Great is he in strength and justice;
 And abounding in righteousness, he will not afflict.
 24 Therefore do men fear him.
 He does not consider any that are wise of heart."

JOB'S INTERVIEW WITH THE LORD, 38:1—42:6

THE FIRST ADDRESS OF THE LORD, 38:1—39:30

- 38 Then the LORD answered Job from the whirlwind, saying,
 2 "Who is this that obscures counsel
 By words without knowledge?
 3 Gird up, now, your loins like a man,
 That I may question you, and do you instruct me.
- 4 "Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
 Declare, if you have insight.
 5 Who fixed its measurements, for you should know?
 Or who stretched a line over it?
 6 Upon what were its bases sunk,
 Or who laid its cornerstone,
 7 When the morning stars sang together,
 And all the gods shouted for joy?

8 "Who enclosed the sea with doors,
When it burst forth issuing from the womb,
9 When I made the cloud its covering,
And dense darkness its swaddling-band;
10 When I imposed upon it my decree,
And established its barrier and doors;
11 And said, 'Thus far shalt thou come and no farther,
And here shall thy proud waves be stayed'?

12 "Have you ever in your life commanded the morning?
Or assigned its place to the dawn,
13 That it should lay hold of the corners of the earth,
And the wicked should be shaken out of it?
14 It changes like clay under the seal,
And is dyed like a garment.
15 Their light is withdrawn from the wicked,
And the arm of the proud is broken.

16 "Have you gone to the sources of the sea,
Or walked in the hollows of the deep?
17 Have the gates of death been revealed to you,
Or can you see the gates of darkness?
18 Have you considered the breadth of the earth?
Tell, if you know all this.

19 "Which is the way where light dwells,
And which is the place of darkness,
20 That you may take it to its border,
And that you may perceive the paths to its house?
21 You know, for you were born then,
And the number of your days is great!

22 "Have you been to the storehouses of snow,
Or do you see the storehouses of hail,
23 Which I have reserved against the time of distress,
Against the day of war and battle?
24 Which is the way to where light is distributed?
Where does the east wind spread itself over the earth?
25 Who cleaved its channel for the torrent,
And a way for the thunderbolts,
26 To send rain on a land without people,

- On the steppe where there is no man;
27 To satisfy the waste ground and desolate,
And to cause the blade of grass to spring up?
- 28 "Has the rain a father?
Or who brought forth the dew drops?
29 From whose womb did the ice come forth?
And who gave birth to the hoarfrost of the skies,
30 When the waters congeal like a stone,
And the surface of the deep is frozen solid?
- 31 "Can you bind the chains of the Pleiades,
Or loosen the girdle of Orion?
32 Can you send forth Mazzaroth in its season,
And lead forth the Bear with its satellites?
33 Do you know the laws of the heavens?
Or do you appoint the arrangements of the earth?
34 Can you lift your voice up to the clouds,
That a flood of waters may cover you?
- 35 "Can you send forth the lightnings that they may go
And say to you, 'Here we are!'
36 Who put wisdom in the inner parts,
Or who gave insight to the mind?
37 Who counts the clouds by wisdom?
And who tilts the waterskins of the heavens,
38 When the dust runs into a mass,
And the clods stick together?
- 39 "Do you hunt prey for the lioness,
Or satisfy the hunger of young lions,
40 When they crouch in dens,
Or lie in wait in the thicket?
41 Who provides its prey for the raven,
When its young ones cry unto God,
And wander without food?
- 39 "Do you know the time when the mountain-goats bear young?
Do you watch the travail of the does?
2 Do you number the months that they fulfill,
And know the time that they bear,

- 3 When they kneel down, bring forth their young,
Deliver their offspring?
- 4 Their young are robust, they grow up in the open,
They go forth, and do not return to them.
- 5 "Who sent forth the wild ass free?
And who loosened the bonds of the mustang,
6 Whose range I made the steppe,
And his dwellings the salt-marshes?
7 He laughs at the roar of the city;
The shouts of the driver he does not hear.
8 He explores the mountains, his pasture,
And searches after everything green.
- 9 "Is the wild-ox willing to serve you?
Or will he pass the night at your crib?
10 Can you bind the wild-ox to the furrow with cords,
Or will he harrow the valleys after you?
11 Do you trust in him because his strength is great?
And do you leave your hard-won gains to him?
12 Do you believe in him, that he will return your grain,
And gather it to the threshing-floor?
- 13 "Is the wing of the ostrich joyful,
Or has she a kindly pinion and feathers,
14 That she leaves her eggs on the ground,
And warms them on the dust,
15 And forgets that the foot may crush them,
Or the beast of the field trample them?
16 She is hard to her young as though not her own;
For nothing is her labour; she has no anxiety.
17 For God has made her oblivious of wisdom,
And has not given her a share in understanding.
18 When she flaps her wings aloft,
She laughs at the horse and his rider.
- 19 "Can you give strength to the horse?
Can you clothe his neck with power?
20 Do you make him leap like the locust,
With majesty and terrible snorting?
21 They paw in the valley and exult in strength;

- Going forth to meet the battle.
 22 He laughs at terror and is not frightened;
 Nor does he turn back from the sword.
 23 Against him rattles the quiver,
 The flashing spear and the javelin.
 24 In quivering excitement he devours the ground,
 And does not stand firm when there is the sound of the trumpet.
 25 As often as the trumpet sounds he says 'Aha';
 And smells the battle from afar,
 The thunder of the captains and the war-cry.
 26 "Is it by your understanding that the hawk soars,
 And spreads his wings toward the south?
 27 Or does the vulture fly high at your order,
 When he sets his nest aloft?
 28 He occupies the cliff and makes a lodging
 Upon the peak of the cliff and the rocky hold.
 29 Thence he searches for food,
 His eyes look afar off.
 30 His brood gorge themselves with blood;
 And wherever the slain are, there are they."

THE SECOND ADDRESS OF THE LORD, 40:1, 2

- 40 Then the LORD answered Job, saying:
 2 "Will the fault-finder argue with the Almighty?
 He who chides God, let him answer for it."

JOB'S SUBMISSION, 40:3-5

- 3 Then Job replied to the LORD, saying:
 4 "Behold, I am insignificant; what can I answer thee?
 I put my hand over my mouth.
 5 I have spoken once, and I will not reply;
 Yes, twice; but not again."

THE CLOSING ADDRESS OF THE LORD, 40:6—41:26

- 6 Then the LORD answered Job from the tempest, saying:
 7 "Gird up your loins, now, like a man;
 I will ask you, and do you instruct me.
 8 Will you, indeed, break down my right?
 Will you make me guilty that you may be innocent?

- 9 Or have you an arm like God,
And can you thunder with a voice like his?
10 Deck yourself, now, with majesty and eminence,
And clothe yourself with glory and splendour.
11 Scatter abroad the rage of your wrath;
And look upon everyone that is proud and abase him.
12 Look upon everyone who is proud and bring him low;
And crush the wicked where they stand.
13 Bury them in the dust likewise;
Bind up their faces in the hidden place.
14 Then I indeed will praise you,
That your own right hand can deliver you.
- 15 "Behold, now, the hippopotamus which I made along with you.
He eats grass like the ox.
16 Behold, now, his strength in his loins,
And his might in the muscles of his body.
17 He stiffens his tail like a cedar.
The sinews of his thighs are knit together.
18 His bones are tubes of bronze,
His limbs are like bars of iron.
19 He is the chief of the ways of God.
Let him who made him bring near his sword!
20 For the mountains bring him their produce,
And all the beasts of the field play there.
21 Beneath the lotus bushes he lies down,
In the depths of reed and swamp.
22 The lotus bushes screen him as his shade,
The willows of the brook surround him.
23 If the river press upon him, he is not disturbed;
He is confident when the Jordan swells to his mouth.
24 Can one seize him by his eyes?
Can one pierce his nose with traps?
- 25 "Can you draw up Leviathan with a fish-hook,
Or can you press down his tongue with a cord?
26 Can you put a rush-line through his nose,
Or pierce his jaw with a hook?
27 Will he make many entreaties to you,
Or will he speak soft words to you?

- 28 Will he make a bargain with you,
That you may take him as a servant for life?
- 29 Can you play with him as with a bird,
And bind him for your maidens?
- 30 Will traders bargain over him?
Will they divide him among merchants?
- 31 Will you stick his hide full of darts,
Or his head full of harpoons?
- 32 Lay your hand upon him;
Think of the struggle; you will not do it again!
- 41 Behold his hope is disappointed.
At the very sight of him he is laid prostrate.
- 2 Is he not too fierce for one to stir him up?
Who then is he that can stand before me?
- 3 Who has ever come before me that I should repay him?
Under the whole heavens it is mine.
- 4 I will not be silent about his limbs,
And the account of his power and the grace of his structure.
- 5 Who has stripped off his outer clothing?
Who can come within his double coat-of-mail?
- 6 Who has ever opened the doors of his face?
Round about his teeth there is terror.
- 7 His back is made of rows of shields,
Closed up like a tight seal;
- 8 One is so close to another
That no air can come between them.
- 9 Each sticks to his fellow;
They cling together and cannot be separated.
- 10 His sneezing flashes forth light,
And his eyes are like the eyelids of the dawn.
- 11 From his mouth flames go forth,
Sparks of fire escape.
- 12 From his nostrils smoke comes forth,
Like a pot on a blown fire and rushes.
- 13 His breath kindles live coals,
And flame goes out of his mouth.
- 14 Strength dwells in his neck,
And before him despair dances.

- 15 The flakes of his flesh cleave together,
Firm upon him and immovable.
16 His heart is hard like a stone,
Hard as a nether mill-stone.
17 When he rises up the gods fear,
Because of panic they are beside themselves.
18 When one approaches him with the sword it does not hold,
Nor does the spear, the javelin, or the dart.
19 He estimates iron as but straw,
And bronze as rotten wood.
20 The arrow does not put him to flight;
Sling-stones are turned to chaff for him.
21 The bludgeon is reckoned as but chaff,
And he laughs at the whiz of the lance.
22 His lower parts are like sharp potsherds,
He prints a threshing-sledge upon the mud.
23 He makes the deep boil like a pot;
He makes the sea like a jar of ointment.
24 Behind him he makes a shining path;
One would think that the deep was hoary.
25 There is not his like upon earth,
One made without fear.
26 Everything that is high fears him,
Who is king over all proud beings.”

JOB'S RETRACTION, 42:1-6

- 42 Then Job replied to the LORD, saying:
2 “I know that thou canst do all things;
And no plan is too difficult for thee.
3 [Who is this who hides counsel without knowledge?]
Therefore I have declared, without understanding,
Things too wonderful for me, without knowing.”
4 [Listen now, while I speak;
I will question you, and do you instruct me.]
5 I had heard of thee by the hearing of the ear;
But now my eye has seen thee.
6 Therefore I retract and repent,
In dust and ashes.

THE EPILOGUE, 42:7-16

7 After the LORD had spoken these words to Job, then the LORD said to Eliphaz, the Temanite, .

“My anger is hot against you and your two friends, because you
8 have not spoken regarding me what is true, as my servant Job has. So now take for yourselves seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up a burnt-offering for yourselves, and my servant Job will pray for you; for his plea will I accept, that I deal not harshly with you, because you have not spoken regarding me what is true, as my servant Job has.”
